Eisenhower to Head European Army US Sends More Men

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Dec. 19—(AP)—The 12 Atlantic Alliance nations announced today Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will begin early in 1951 to organize an international army to keep the peace in Europe. A communique issued at the end of a two-day conference said the Atlantic Pact Chiefs also agreed on plans for German participation in "an integrated force under a centralized command." The 12 nations including Canada earlier had approved the appointment of Eisenhower as the Supreme Commander for the international force.

President Truman said today additional American armed forces will be sent to Europe as soon as possible to join the combined forces under Gen. Eisenhower's command.

Truman made the announcement at a press conference shortly after naming Eisenhower as supreme commander of the integrated European defence force.

Doesn't Specify Number

Truman wouldn't say, however, how many American soldiers will be included in the new command, or how soon they will be sent.

Eisenhower will have the same position in Europe that Gen. Douglas MacArthur now has in the Far East, Truman added.

The man who led the western Allied forces to victory in the Second World War was named by President Truman at the request of the foreign and defence ministers of the 12 pact members, now meeting here to organize the force.

Along with the formal approval of Eisenhower, who had been suggested as leader by practically everyone connected with the formation of Europe's defences, the pact members met today to approve finally a series of other decisions creating the new international army, to include German ground and air units.

To Have 55 Divisions

The program adopted Monday in defiance against threats from Russia at rearming Germany would violate existing treaties, calls for an intenational force of 35 to 60 divisions, plus air and sea arms. It aims at a total force of 1,000,000 men by the end of 1953.

Under the plan, western Germany again will be allowed her own air force.

The program provides also that the West German Republic will contribute some 25 combat units of 6,000 ground troops each to this Western bulwark against Soviet aggression in Europe.

In return, the Bonn Government will be given political and

Canadians Land On Cold Little Island

PUSAN, Korea, Dec. 19 (CP)—Bone-chilling winds whipped today across an islet off the South Korean coast where Canada's first combat ground troops in the fight against Communism were bivouacked under canvas.

The 2nd Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, marched directly to the little island after disembarking earlier in the day from the troopship which brought them from Seattle. The cold weather of this southeast coast port was a drastic change from the warmth which the troops enjoyed for much of the voyage.

From the pier where the Patricias were given a perfunctory welcome by Pusan's army authorities—the grim position of the United Nations forces in the north precluded extensive ceremonies—the youthful Canadians were taken to their tented quarters on the nearby island. The men are to sleep under canvas, 18 to a tent. Two schoolhouses will be used as regimental headquarters, kitchens and messes.

Hope It's Temporary

Whether the tent city will be the battalion's permanent quarters while they undergo final field training for action could not be determined immediately. The impression spread today among the men that the accommodation would be temporary, and many felt that the unit soon would be headed north.

The battalion commander, Lt.-Col. J. M. Stone of Salmon Arm, B.C., is to confer with Lt.-Gen. Walton Walker commander of the United States Eighth Army in northwest Korea, later this week on the status of the Canadian troops. The conference will determine whether the Patricias will remain in this rear area to train, or move on.

As the chill Korean winds caused the Canadians to shiver while shaving in zero weather—ablutions are performed outdoors—many had cause to regret the fad that spread through their ship, the Pvt. Joe P. Martinez, during the 24-day Pacific voyage. Most of the battalion had shaved their heads en route.

Big Christmas For Brave Boy

ALTOONA, Pa., Dec. 19 (AP)—Tommy Ebbert is going to have a wonderful Christmas before he hears about the greatest tragedy of his life.

The plucky 11-year-old is recover in hospital from severe burns. He is kept happy by all the visitors, gifts and attention he gets.

Tommy does not know his mother, brother, three sisters and grandmother burned to death in the fire that sen him o the hospital.

He thinks they do not visit him because they have no way of getting the 10 miles into town from their house which no longer exists.

Tommy and his father, Warren Ebbert, are the only survivors of the fire. The father, in another ward of the hospital, said:

"Tommy's not to know about the others until after Christmas."

Charge Police Chief Careless Driving

NEWMARKET, Dec. 19 (CP)—George Slugg, justice of the peace, said today a charge of careless driving has been laid against Police Chief Jack McLaren of Sudbury. The case is scheduled to be tried Thursday in magistrate's court here.

The charge arose from an accident Dec. 11 at nearby Langstaff, involving the chief's automobile, an oil truck and a parked car. The chief is reported to have told investigators that, a er he stopped his car for a traffic light, his foot slipped off the brake and onto the accelerator, so that the car came in collision with the truck.

Bank Robber Hanged For Slaying Farmers

SIMCOE, Dec. 19 — (CP). — Joseph Herbert McAuliffe 32, bank robber and machine-gun slayer of two tobacco farmers who pursued him, was hanged early today for their murder.

He apparently looked on death as coldly as on life. He refused a drink of whisky before going to the scaffold and made no request for any special "last meal."

His execution was the first in Norfolk County jail in 36 years.

Last June 21 McAuliffe staged a $23,000 bank robbery at nearby Langton. Two of the men who took after him, Arthur Lierman, 31-year-old tobacco grower, and his share grower, William Goddyn, 34, were shot down by McAuliffe.

Backs To Sea Allies Give Ground

Major U.N. Airport Abandoned Under Red Pressure

TOKYO, Dec. 19—(AP)—Allied naval, air and ground forces slammed tons of steel today at Chinese and Korean Communists pressing down on the slim Hungnam beachhead in northeast Korea.

The Allies slowly were giving ground with their backs to the sea.

A delayed field dispatch said the United States Air Force abandoned Yonpo airfield, Hungnam's major airport, Sunday. The dispatch had been withheld for security reasons. Army engineers destroyed supplies and disabled aircraft that had to be left.

A U.S. 10 Corps Intelligence Officer said advance combat elements of three wholly-reorganized Red Korean divisions had replaced the Chinese Communists on the right flank of the beachhead. He estimated the force at 7,000 to 8,000 men.

Can't Get Started

"Prisoners say they are trying to hit us in force, but every time the officers get men massed for an attack, our artillery scatters them," said Col. William Quinn. "They just can't get started."

Refugee reports said Chinese Reds were looting abandoned Hamhung, big North-east Korea industrial city six miles inland from Hungnam. Terrified Korean civilians were reported to be streaming north and south from the looted city.

Allied warships slipping through the Sea of Japan's icy waters off Hungnam port pounded 37 concentrations of Chinese and Korean Communists. The big naval guns dispersed one column

TORONTO, Dec. 19—(CP)—A bold and indiscriminate thief Monday night walked into the home of Crown Attorney David Humphrey in suburban York township and walked out with a quantity of the family's silverware. Police said they suspect it was the same thief who minutes later walked into another home on the same street, and walked out of there with all the presents under a Christmas tree.

Canadian Toy Firms Make 13,225,000 Playthings

OTTAWA, Dec. 19 — (CP) — Canadian toy manufacturers this year have produced 13,225,000 playthings.

And right now Santa Claus probably is loading most of it into the pack he has set aside for Canadian children, because only a "limited quantity" is headed for export.

In fact, there has been a decided decrease in export of Canadian-made toys. The figure has been halved to $131,416 from the $262,740 worth of playthings exported in the January-September period of 1949.

P. L. Jones, the Trade and Commerce Department's toy expert, says the dollar shortage is the cause. Many outside markets now are closed "because toys are considered non-essential."

Canadian-made dolls have been hard-hit. The toy people say 3,000,000 baby dolls, cuddly dolls, flaxen-haired beauties, and just plain teddy bears, have been manufactured this year by Canada's 400 toy firms. But the Bureau of Statistics figures show a falling-off in doll exports from $166,264 between January, 1949, to $53,606.

At the same time Canada imported $93,796 in British-made dolls. So far she has imported more mechanical toys from the United States than from any other country. A total of $244,048 was brought in between January and September, 1950, compared with $176,643 in the corresponding period a year ago.

A total of $226,874 in mechanical toys was imported from Germany. In the corresponding 1949 period, German imports totalled $292,972. Japanese mechanical toy imports were down to $90,909 compared with last year's $235,248.

What Canada has exported this year in the way of toys has gone laregly to Britain—$28,614 as compared with last year's $57,860.

Ottawa Pathologist Testifies

Head Blows Wouldn't Break Pop Bottle

OTTAWA, Dec. 19 —(CP)—The blows Francis J. Sullivan suffered on his head were not sufficiently severe to break a pint-size soda water bottle, Dr. Max Klotz testified today.

The Ottawa pathologist who performed the autopsy on the body of the Ontario Government lawyer was recalled to the witness box at the request of Roydon Hughes, defence counsel for Mrs. Marion Sullivan, the Toronto matron charged with the murder of her husband.

Dr. Klotz previously had stated that he believed Mr. Sullivan died as a result of "blunt force" delivered to the head.

Police arrested Mrs. Sullivan after finding pieces of a broken soda bottle in her luggage.

Showing Dr. Klotz the reconstructed bottle, Mr. Hughes asked him whether he believed the blows suffered by Mr. Sullivan were sufficient to break the bottle—that is, whether the bottle had been used to administer the blows.

Mr. Hughes questioned him again as to whether Angioma, a brain affliction from which Mr. Sullivan suffered, could not have caused him to stagger, fall and injure himself about the head and body.

Dr. Klotz said he did not believe the injuries were self-inflicted. Bruises were found on Mr. Sullivan's head, face, shoulders and knees.

Detective James Cairncross, who assisted in the police investigation, said Mrs. Sullivan appeared very nervous when questioned by police.

He found it "very strange" that Mrs. Sullivan rarely referred to her husband by name. Most of the time she called him "he" or "my husband."

Mr. Hughes asked whether it was not true that the police officers asked Mrs. Sullivan what were her sex relationships with her husband.

Detective Cairncross said all that was asked was whether her sex relationships with her husband were normal.

So far as he knew, there had been no suggestion that her sex relationships with her husband were "improper."

U.N. Fingers Crossed on China

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Dec. 19—(AP)—United Nations diplomats hope Communist China will answer their plea not to break off Korea cease-fire negotiations today. Admitting this may be just wishful thinking, they nevertheless have their fingers crossed that a reply may come before Communist China's envoy, Wu Hsui-chuan, leaves for Peiping. He is scheduled to take off via British Overseas Airways Corporation plane at 4:30 p.m. EST to fly home via London and Moscow. The U.N.'s three-man cease-fire commission announced Monday that it had appealed to the Chinese Communist regime to continue negotiations and had offered to travel anywhere—including to Peiping—to keep the talks going.

The three—L. B. Pearson, Canada's External Affairs Minister, Sir Benegal N. Rau of India and Nasrollah Entezam of Iran, president of the General Assembly—acted after Wu, in the name of his government turned down the first appeal.

Wu declared a Korea cease-fire would only be an Anglo-American device to gain time for troop reinforcements, and Communist China couldn't even consider advising its so-called volunteers to leave Korea until American troops got out, Formosa was turned over to the Reds and Peiping admitted to the League of Nations.

The U.N.'s 60-member political committee met Monday morning, heard the commission report on its appeal and recessed until an answer should be received.

Paradoxically, although Wu turned down the cease-fire appeal, he also insisted that he was not authorized to discuss it.

Diplomats hope, therefore, that before his contemplated departure today he may get a cable from home either authorizing him to stay here for talks, or telling him to invite the commission to Peiping.

Commission members are sticking close to their telephones in hopes of getting such word. They have no formal meeting scheduled.

62 Sudbury Teachers Agree To Resume Negotiations

TORONTO, Dec. 19—(CP)—Sixty-two of Sudbury's 69 secondary-school teachers, who recently submitted resignations effective December 31, will resume negotiations with the Sudbury Board of Education—probably this Thursday. The Ontario School Trustees' Council announced Monday that the Sudbury Board and the 62 teachers have agreed to make another attempt to solve their salary differences.

The Council, during a meeting at which both the Sudbury Trustees and the teachers were represented, earlier had reproved the teachers for the resignation move.

H. E. Dickinson of St. Marys, chairman of the council, was appointed to act as negotiator in the new discussions. He will go to Sudbury on Thursday.

The council, recently formed to co-ordinate the work of five different trustee groups in the province, passed a resolution deploring mass resignations "as a matter of principle." It said that it was prepared "to take action to prevent such occurrences" in future. No hint was given how this could be done.

Answer Conciliation

Mr. Dickinson said "the answer to this type of situation is conciliation with the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation."

It was announced Saturday that a board of reference, with Judge James M. Cooper of Sudbury, would be set up to consider the dispute.

The Sudbury High School Board has applied to the Department of Education for the Board of Reference but its letter of application has apparently been held up in the Christmas mail pile-up. It has been learned, however, that the department is willing to appoint the board.

Trustees said Monday they believed the board would merely decide whether the resignations are legal and if not, the teachers would be bound to stay at their jobs. The trustees added that the board would not decide on any salary scale.

$50,000 Fire Razes Warehouse

OTTAWA, Dec. 19 — (CP).—A two-alarm fire early today caused damage estimated at $55,000 when it raged through the combined warehouse and garage of the Ottawa-Montreal Express Company, gutting the one-storey building.

The blaze broke out at 2:30 a.m. EST and firemen immediately turned in a second alarm as the flames swept through the building. No one was injured.

Four trucks, including one large tractor-trailer, fully loaded, and ready to leave on morning runs, were destroyed. Three other trucks were driven from the garage to safety by drivers who turned in the alarm.

Cause of the fire was not immediately determined. It was brought under control by firemen shortly after 3 a.m.

Fear was held for a time that the flames would reach a 500-gallon gasoline tank located beneath the burning garage. However, streams of water averted a possible explosion of the tank, and also kept the flames from spreading.

Wildcat Strike Halts Buses

WINDSOR, Dec. 19—(CP)—A short-lived wildcat strike halted bus service in Windsor for 2½ hours early today after members of Division 616, Street Railwaymen's Union (AFL) voted down a contract settlement offer.

No strike vote was taken by the union membership at a special meeting called at 2:30 a.m. to vote on the offer of the Sandwich, Windsor and Amherstburg Railway.

A group of employees threw up picket lines around company garages, however, and threw bus schedule into turmoil until drivers were ordered back to work by union leaders.

Auto workers heading for early-shift jobs stood shivering on street corners, unaware of the sudden strike. The city's 250 buses were back in operation at 7:30 a.m.

"It was a wildcat strike, strictly illegal and against all advice of the union," said Division President Henry Scott shortly after the strike began.

Maritimes Battling Worst Winter Snow

MONCTON, N.B., Dec. 19 (CP)—Transportation services slowly came back to life in New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island and Nova Scotia today after the heaviest snowstorm of the winter.

Snowplows bucked their way through drifts around Moncton, restoring some train and bus runs, filled in by Monday night's 10-inch snowfall. Other sections remained paralyzed as snow-clearing equipment bogged down.

Communications between Prince Edward Island and the mainland were disrupted by the storm Monday night and had not been restored by noon today.

Justice Rules 40-Hr. Week Effective June 1, Pay Cheques Unreduced

Kellock Rejects Claim of Same Treatment For Hotel, Water Transport Depts., Latter Receive Statutory 4-Cent Increase

OTTAWA, Dec. 19—(CP)—Mr. Justice R. L. Kellock, government arbitrator in the railway wage dispute, today awarded a further three cents an hour increase to most of the rail workers who went on strike last August. The arbitrator also decided that the five-day 40-hour work-week with pay unreduced from the present 48 hours will go into effect June 1 next. The award gives about 122,000 employees a total increase of seven cents an hour.

They received four cents through the Federal legislation that ended the nine-day strike. The four-cent increase went into effect last Sept. 1 and the new boost is retroactive to that date.

The effective date for the five-day 40-hour week is the date sought by the unions in their last negotiations with the companies last summer.

Rejects Claim

While the unions gained these two major points, the arbitrator rejected their claim that a group of about 2,700 employees in the railways' hotel and water transportation departments be given the same treatment as the larger group.

The smaller group received the statutory four-cent increase Sept. 1 and Mr. Justice Kellock gave them no more than that.

He ordered a one-year contract for the hotel and water transport employees and two-year contracts for the others, who consist of non-operating employees — that is, thoes who do not actually operate trains.

The railways have estimated the cost of implementing the 40-

Railway Highlights

OTTAWA, Dec. 19—(CP)—Following are highlights in the report of Mr. Justice R. L. Kellock, government arbitrator in the railway wage dispute:

1. A further increase of three cents an hour awarded to 122,000 non-operating employees of railways, boosting their pay by a total of seven cents an hour from last Sept. 1.

2. The five-day 40-hour work-week with pay unreduced from the present 48 hours to go into effect June 1, 1951, the date requested by the unions.

3. The railways' water transport and hotel employees receive no more than the four-cent increase awarded them by federal legislation which ended a nine-day general rail strike last summer.

4. The contract with the water transport and hotel employees will run for one year from Sept. 1.

Guilty On 20 Charges Man Jailed Nine Years

TORONTO, Dec. 19 —(CP)—Kenneth Hobman, 27, convicted on 20 separate charges, today was given a nine-year sentence by Magistrate O. M. Martin in York County Court. The magistrate said the sentence could have been life imprisonment.

Hobman was arrested Dec. 4 following a mile-long chase through winding York Township streets during which two shots were fired. His car went out of control and rammed the fronts of three houses and Hobman was overpowered by police as he brandished a fully-loaded pistol.

He received six years for breaking and entering, three years consecutive for having an offensive weapon. He was also given concurrent sentences of two years on nine charges of false pretences, five years on four charges of forgery and four charges of theft and two years for dangerous driving.

Most Serious Case

REGENSBURG, Germany, Dec. 19—(AP)—A United States High Commission Court Monday sentenced Oldrish Mihola, 22-year-old Czech spy, to seven years in prison. The prosecutor said it was probably the most serious espionage case thus far in the U.S. zone of Germany.

Railway Union Chiefs Say Decision Vindicates Men

MONTREAL, Dec. 19 (CP). — Frank Hall and A. R. Mosher, joint chairmen of the negotiating committee representing railway employees, said in a joint statement today that Mr. Justice R. L. Kellock's arbitration railway decision is "substantial vindication of the employees' case."

The union leaders' statement, made on behalf of 122,000 railway workers affected by the report, said:

"The representatives of the employees regard Mr. Justice Kellock's arbitration decision as substantial vindication of the employees' case. Request for a wage increase of seven cents per hour has been met in full. The unions had previously offered to accept the five-cent 40-hour week effective June 1, 1951, and, therefore, the arbitrator's decision supports their position on that score.

"We regret, however that Mr. Justice Kellock did not apply the full wage increase and the five-day 40-hour week to the hotel and water transport employees. We feel that the substantial justice and merits of the case in this regard warranted the same consideration to these as to the other employees. It was also our view that parliament intended there should be no discrimination in reaching and applying the final terms of settlement, and it will be the intention to pursue this aspect of the matter further.

"The fact that the over-all agreement is to remain in effect for two years, as well as the situation respecting hotel and water transport employees, point up the urgent necessity for government imposition of price controls. The living standards of the workers must not be allowed to deteriorate as a result of ever-increasing living costs. We urge the government to immediately impose controls on the price of basic commodities."

Chinese Suspend Currrency Deals

HONG KONG, Dec. 19—(AP)—Communist China today was reported to have suspended all transactions in the currencies of the United States, Canada and the Philippines.

The action, reported in a special dispatch to the pro-Communist newspaper Ta Kung Pao, was seen as a move toward severance of economic relations with the three countries.

The newspaper said the Shanghai Bank of China Monday:

1. Suspended all payments in American, Canadian and Philippines currencies "either from deposits or transfers, pending further decision".

2. Ceased to accept deposits in those currencies.

3. Suspended all letters of credit already issued on American, Canadian and Philippines banks. It also declined to negotiate any future such transactions.

Says U.S. Must Revise Backing Of Chiang

NEW DELHI, Dec. 19 (AP).—Indian government officials today indicated they believe the United States must revise its Far Eastern policy, including its backing of Chiang Kai-shek's hold on Formosa, if a cease-fire is to be obtained in Korea.

These qualified informants said Peiping's icy reception of United Nations moves for an end to the Korean fighting demonstrates that only a change in the American diplomatic position offered a prospect of a successful approach to the Chinese Reds.

The sources said Prime Minister Nehru's government was becoming increasingly discouraged over the prospect of the UN cease-fire committee negotiating an agreement to halt the Korean war.

They explained, however, that India's government feels there still is some hope of peace through negotiations — at Lake Success or elsewhere—by individual government representatives rather than through the formal efforts of the UN committee.

Buckhorn People Seek Award For Postmaster

Residents of Buckhorn and district, proud of their plucky postmaster, 65-year-old Sam Woods, want to reward him for rescuing seven-year-old Billy Pearson, who fell into Buckhorn Lake on Friday afternoon.

Though not in the best of health, Mr. Woods instantly leaped off the bridge into the icy water, tied lowered tow-rope around the floundering boy, and remained in the water while the boy was pulled to safety by Bert Calvert, also of Buckhorn.

Then Mr. Woods was rescued by the combined efforts of Mr. Calvert and three unidentified men in a truck. He was in the lake about seven minutes in all.

Sugest Award

Some of the residents have suggested that the postmaster be recommended for an award given by a nationally-known firm for acts of outstanding heroism.

Mr. Woods, a lay preacher at Buckhorn Presbyterian Church, was on his way to sort mail when he saw young Billy slip through the railings of the bridge into the water, about 15 feet deep at that point, near the south end of the bridge.

Without hesitation he jumped into the lake, which is free of ice there because of the current. At about the same time Mr. Calvert was approaching in his car from the north end of the bridge. Mr. Calvert sized up the situation, stopped his car, and in little more than a minute, produced a tow-rope from the trunk.

From the bridge he lowered it to the struggling man and boy.

Might Have Drowned

"If it had not been for Mr. Calvert and his rope they might both have drowned," observed one witness.

Mr. Calvert and his wife then took Mr. Woods home for a change of clothing. But that was only part of the work done by the Calvert family.

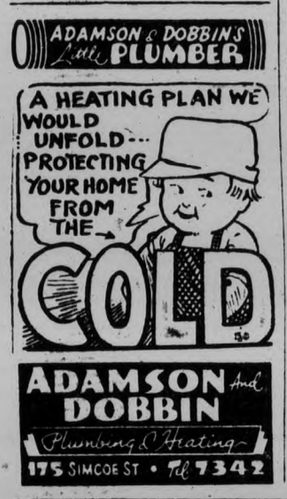

Twelve-year-old Arlene and her chum, Isobel Fulton, also 12, part supported and part carried Billy to his grandmother's home, a quarter of a mile away. This was accomplished while Mr. Calvert and the other three men were trying to haul Mr. Woods up over the rail of the bridge.

Both Mr. Woods and young Billy are reportedly none the worse for their housing in the cold water.

Dollar Higher

MONTREAL, Dec. 19 (CP) — The American dollar today opened at 5½ per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, 1/16 higher than Monday's close. That is it took $1.05½ Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.95-5/16, also 1/16 higher.

Oshawa Has Adopted Peterborough Scheme

OSHAWA, Dec. 19 (CP) — A pension plan for civic employees was approved Monday night for city council. Similar to the one now used in Peterborough, it will go into force Jan. 1.

The plan, providing for retirement at 60 years, provides for pensions based on the rate of earnings.

An employee with at least 20 years' service will get a retirement allowance equal to 35 per cent of his average earnings for the three years prior to retirement, plus one-half per cent a year for service in excess of 20 years. Persons who retire after less than 20 years will have a pension of 1¾ per cent for each year of service.

Will Be Limited

The informants would not disclose the precise size of the tactical air force envisaged for the Germans, but they made it clear that it will be limited.

The force, they said, will be made up mainly of fighter planes, but will include some light bombers. It will provide the German combat teams the close air support they would need in action.

UK May Buy Canadian Jets

BRUSSELS, Dec. 19 (CP). — Britain has under consideration a plan to have Canada supply the RAF with American-designed F-86 Sabres, the world's fastest jet fighters, it was learned Monday.

The F-86 jets now are reaching the production stage in Canada. Built by Canadair in Montreal, the Sabres may be in the assembly-line stage within a year. It is understood Britain would like 400 of the jets, which have reached a top speed of 670 miles an hour.

In the first engagement since arriving at a Korean airbase, one of the F-86s shot down a Russian-made MIG-15 in a dogfight Sunday near the Manchurian border.

Britain's big problem is how to finance the purchase.

It is understood Prime Minister Attlee broached the subject informally during his recent visit to Ottawa. No commitment was made at the time and the topic was taken under advisement.

Navy and Marine airmen pounded 22 Red troop concentrations within a 60-mile radius of Hungnam. They claimed they killed or wounded 800 Communists.

A total of 25,000 Reds were pressing against the Allied lines on the coastal plain and another 75,000 or more were reported swarming down from the mountains.

On the ground, 3rd division troops fighting out of frozen foxholes hurled back four Communist attacks Monday night and before daylight Tuesday.

Fanatical Attacks

A 10th corps spokesman said the Reds attacked in darkness with fanatical fury.

At no point on the dwindling defence arc around Hungnam port —the last allied position of any consequence in North Korea — were the Reds able to break through.

The western Korean front was quiet. The U.S. Eighth Army was not in direct contact with the enemy Tuesday.

The 10th Corps spokesman said there were signs of a Communist build-up in strength to push the allied forces out of Hungnam.

The American battleship Missouri and heavy cruisers St. Paul and Rochester City cut through the icy Sea of Japan waters off Hungnam port. Coveys of destroyers paced alongside.

Their guns joined in throwing a curtain of steel around the small defence arc.

Do Their Part

Carrier Task Force 77, under Rear Admiral E. C. Ewen, added the sting of its planes to the allied firepower protecting Hungnam.

British carrier pilots from the Theseus flew protective air cover.

Four spanking new American F-86 Sabre jet fighters tangled with 12 Russian-built MIG-15 jets Monday near Sinuiju in northwest Korea.

It was the second time the fastest operating jets had met in combat.

Maj.-Gen. Earle E. Partridge, Fifth Air Force commander, said the four American Sabre jets drove off the 12 MIGs after damaging one of the Russian-built planes. He said the MIG pilots showed no desire to fight.

In their first engagement Sunday, also near Sinuiju, an American Sabre jet pilot shot down an MIG.

Allied bombers hit the enemy around the clock, pounding 100 enemy targets.

Bombers Active

B-29 medium bombers slammed 160 tons of explosive on targets at the North Korean capital of Pyongyang, Wonsan port, Chongju and the Conchon area.

Other planes attacked rail transport, troops and barracks throughout North Korea. Land-based airmen claimed they killed 635 Communist troops.

Airmen scouting enemy preparations reported huge movements of refugees and civilians behind the enemy lines.

MacArthur's headquarters said prisoner information showed the resurgent Korean Reds now have 150,000 troops organized north of parallel 38. Other Koreans were reported training for combat in Manchuria, where they are safe from allied planes.

Seek Missing Tugboat With 12 Men Aboard

BUFFALO, NY, Dec. 19 (AP). —The coastguard said Monday night a search for the tugboat Sachem with 12 men aboard was in progress on Lake Erie between here and Erie, Pa.

The Sachem, owned by the Dunbar and Sullivan Dredging Company of Buffalo, left about 7 a.m. EST Monday for Dunkirk, and should have arrived there around noon, a coastguard spokesman said. Dunkirk is 45 miles south-west of Buffalo.

Two planes from the Niagara Falls Naval Reserve station and a coastguard auxiliary plane from Buffalo flew over the area Monday night, but did not sight the tugboat.

The coastguard said it had a report that an inbound steamer, the Venus, had seen a vessel of the Sachem's description Monday morning, apparently heading directly west toward Point Abino, Ontario.

Put British Troops On Execution Hill

SEOUL, Dec. 19 (AP).—A British officer said tonight British troops are posted on "execution hill" to prevent "malicious people from coming in and bopping off more people."

On the hill just outside the city the South Korean Republic government has been executing civilians convicted of collaborating with Communists. There was no indication of interference with legal executions.

Korean President Syngman Rhee said none have been executed who did not receive a fair trial.

British troops became involved about four days ago when members of the Northumberland Fusiliers camped nearby watched the execution of 37 persons and protested.

hour week and the seven-cent increase would be $110,000,000 a year on the assumption they would be passed on to their employees generally. Cutting out the hotel and water transport employees would still leave this more than $100,000,000.

Seek Rate Increases

The railways have indicated they will immediately seek freight rate increases as the result of the additional expenditure.

The arbitrator, a Supreme Court justice who was appointed in October to write final terms of settlement under the August legislation, did not deal with a demand for the check-off of union dues made by two of 15 unions in the dispute.

This had been sought by the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees (CCL) and the Brotherhood of Express Employees (CCL) which have a total of 34,000 members and were the only two all-Canadian unions involved. The others all were international bodies.

No Overtime

In connection with the 40-hour week, the arbitrator ruled there should be no overtime pay rates up to 48 hours per week for the first three months after June 1, 1951. This was in line with the latest offer of the unions in negotiations.

The companies had agreed to the 40-hour week, but only to start next Sept. 1.

Their final offer on wages had been a four-cents-an-hour increase effective last Sept. 1.

Thus, the arbitrator gave the men, above what the company offered, roughly $17,600,000 a year in hourly pay plus the cost of the 40-hour week between next June 1 and Sept. 1.

Higher Living Costs

Mr. Justice Kellock based the wage increase award largely on increased living costs and on a comparison between the wage positions of railway workers and those in other Canadian industries.

He said railway workers now were in a disadvantageous position as against workers in durable goods industries, both as to hourly wages and hours of work.

Without a rail wage increase, he said, the probability was that this position would become "increasingly disadvantageous."

By next June 1, he said, railway workers under his award would be earning on the average $1.29 cents an hour for 40 hours a week, or $51.72. Durable goods workers would be making $51 at $1.20 an hour for 42.5 hours.

While the rail employee would be earning slightly more per week for less work, the justice said, he noted that the paths of the two groups in the past had crossed and recrossed.

Advantage Overtaken

While the full seven-cent award would apparently put the rail worker in a more advantageous position than had been the case in recent years as against the durable goods employee, the "tendency will be for this advantage to be overtaken during the unexpired term of the (rail) contracts . . ."

In making the award to the non-operating employees, Mr. Justice Kellock observed that he understands it will inevitably influence a settlement in connection with claims of the 31,000 operating employees of the railways—those who run the trains.

These employees have been engaged in separate negotiations with the railways for several months, with the talks suspended during Mr. Justice Kellock's inquiry. It was understood the discussions were to start up again once his report was filed.

Settles Issue

In rejecting the claims of the hotel and water transport employees for the same treatment as the bulk of the employees, the arbitrator settled an issue on which neither side had budged during the long negotiations. The unions were insistent that this group be included, while the companies wanted to deal with it separately.

The hotel workers involved are all Canadian National Railways employees (Canadian Pacific Railway hotels are under provincial jurisdiction), while the water employees consist of 700 with the CPR and 350 with the CNR.

Of the hotel workers, Mr. Justice Kellock took the view they belonged to a separate industry from the operation of a railway and, further, were generally paid wages in line with highest pay in hotels of similar standing in each community.

No Case Attempted

Also, he said, no case for the 40-hour week had been attempted on behalf of the hotel employees. The 40-hour week was not in operation in any Canadian hotel.

The arbitrator said the basis of argument was essentially the same for the water transport employees, who are employed on the Pacific Coast and an inland lakes in British Columbia.

Mr. Justice Kellock came to the conclusion the water transport operations must be regarded as a separate industry and in competition with local operators. He said there had been no evidence indicating wages paid the water transport employees were lower than local wages paid in the area, or lower than they should be.

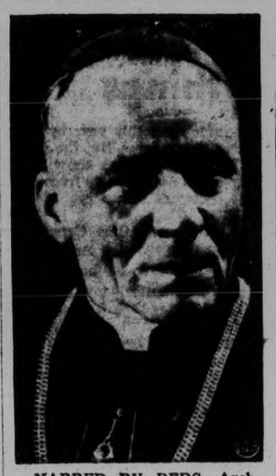

Foreman Electrocuted Two Workers Burned

SAULT STE. MARIE, Dec. 19 —(CP). — Ralph Davidson, 32, of Sault Ste. Marie, a foreman at the Chromium Mining and Smelting Corporation, was electrocuted and two fellow workers were badly burned in an accident which cut off power here for more than 20 minutes.

Few details of the accident are available. Plant manager H. R. Brown said Davidson was electrocuted when he went to the assistance of S. Smeigel who had fallen off the plant roof on top of high tension wires. Smeigel was severely burned before they both fell to the ground. The third worker, Robert Wrickman, suffered buns when he too fell off the roof and touched the wires."

The trio were said to be cleaning ice off the roof at the time.

Smeigel and Wrickman were rushed to hospital. Police say the plant's Safety Committee immediately started an investigation.

Doucett Makes Appeal For Careful Driving

TORONTO, Dec. 16 (CP). — An appeal for careful driving during the Christmas season was issued Monday night by Highways Minister Doucett of Ontario. He said that, in the past, the day before Christmas has been the worst of the year for traffic accidents.

Traffic deaths last month numbered 71, as against 105 in October. In each month, 16 children were killed.

Korean Troops Hope Send Yule Telegrams

PUSAN, Korea, Dec. 19 (AP)— Canadian fighting men in Korea hope to be able to send Christmas telegrams to friends and relatives at home.

The telegrams will go by airmail from this southeastern Korean port to Kure, Japan, from where they will be sent to Canada by radio beam.

Thus the members of the 2nd Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, will be enabled to express their thanks for Christmas mail, now being distributed here. Seventy-four bags of parcels were handed out today.

Truck Driver Drowns In Plunge

ROUYN, Que., Dec. 19 (CP). — A truck driver was drowned and his companion was rescued Monday when their truck plunged through the ice on the Duparquet river, 30 miles north of Rouyn.

Camille Lavoie, 46, of nearby Ste. Anne De Roquemaure was drowned in the icy water after he and Gerard Fournier, 46, of Ste. Anne De Roquemaure fought clear of the sinking truck.

Rescuers hauled Fournier to safety with a rope but were unable to reach Lavoie.

Industrials Climb Steadily On Exchange

TORONTO, Dec. 19 (CP) — Industrials climbed steadily as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today.

Gains ranged to more than a point with a wide list of leaders ahead. Papers, steels, utilities, agricultures, constructions, refining oils and manufacturing companies showed a majority of advances in the groupings. Foods and liquors tended lower and textiles and retail stores were mixed.

Base metals advanced on an average although several leaders were lower. Consolidated Smelters, Hudson Bay, Silver Standard, Quemont and Steep Rock paced the group higher with gains up to 75 cents.

Western oils advances ranged to 35 cents.

Golds, unlike the rest of the market, declined. In the senior list Lake Shore and McIntyre eased fractions and among junior producers Campbell, Conwest, Malartic and Preston dipped pennies.

40,000 Commuters Stalled By Accident

NEW YORK, Dec. 19 (AP).— Forty thousand commuters and many long-distance travellers faced long delays early today as the main line of the New Haven Railroad and a branch of the New York Central were blocked by a trailer-truck crash.

These tracks also are used by the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad for its commuter and main lines from New England into New York City.

A truck blocked all four tracks after crashing through an embankment railing above the tracks in the Bronx. The vehicle caught fire and burned the driver beyond recognition.

Young Adults Elect Officers

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 19. — (ENS)—The Young Adults Club of St. John's United Church held their annual Christmas meeting in the church basement on Thursday.

The business part of the meeting resulted in new officers being named for the coming year. These will be: honorary president, Rev. D. M. Smith; past president, Ruth Thompson; president, Thornton Watters; first vice president, Everette Steele; secretary, Pearl McComb; attendance secretary, Laura Atkinson; treasurer, Clayton Robertson; assistant treasurer, Stanley Ferguson; pianist, Bruce Barnum; assistant pianists, Elaine Watson, Cozette Archer and Francis Nicholls; song leader, Ruth Thompson; press reporter, Ken Kingston; group leaders, 1— Eleanor Sandercock; 2— Cozette Archer; 3—Henry Oliver; 4—Jean Archer.

The group enjoyed a quiz program, in which each member was called to the stage to answer questions, for which he was rewarded or fined, depending on his answer.

Santa distributed presents from a Christmas tree in the hall. Prior to the closing, Everette Steele moved a vote of thanks to the retiring president, Ruth Thompson. The newly elected president, Thornton Watters, paid tribute to Ruth's work, and asked the co-operation of all member in 1951. The retiring president expressed her thanks to all for the assistance she had received, during the season which was drawing to a close.

Britain Foregoes Marshall Aid

By giving up Marshall aid a full year before such action was planned, Britain gives the best kind of assurance that she is determined to stand on her own feet and direct her own business. It is a bold act and one which inspires admiration by its courage. A loophole still remains which will allow Britain to return to Marshall aid if that should be necessary; however, everybody hopes that no such backward step will have to be taken. Britain has worked hard for this moment of financial independence: in five years she has increased her volume of exports to five times the pre-war figure, while keeping her imports at 80 per cent. of the pre-war figure. That has meant a lot of belt-tightening and tooth-gritting. More than any other country receiving Marshall aid, Britain has slaved to do without it.

* * *

Not everyone admires Britain's action. In Europe, for instance, it is being suggested that the British anxiety to be quit of Marshall aid is evidence that Britain does not want to be associated with the rest of Europe—that she considers her first line of defence to be the Channel rather than the River Elbe. It is probably true that Britain does not like to be in the same boat with a group of nations some of whom are not doing their utmost to regain financial independence; it is certainly not true that Britain is trying to disassociate herself from the defence of Europe. Britain has always stood apart from modern Europe, politically; as one of the very few nations which never came under the rule of Napoleon she has good reason to do so; we do not feel that it can be said, however, that Britain has ever shown herself indifferent to European freedom.

* * *

Britain's anxiety to give up the American handout as soon as possible cannot help but impress the American Congress; a businesslike nation appreciates another nation which behaves in an independent, proud and businesslike fashion. And there is another possible effect of this action: when Congress votes appropriations for foreign defence aid in four or five months' time, Britain may receive special treatment, for Congress knows that Britain will use the money to excellent advantage. When, on January 1, Marshall aid to Britain ceases, there will be no sudden bump in Britain's economy; it is a year since Britain depended on Marshall dollars to balance her sterling-area trade accounts; for the past year Marshall dollars have gone to swell Britain's dollar reserves. And for some time to come machinery and raw materials which have been bought and paid for in the U.S.A. will go on arriving in Britain.

* * *

The announcement of the cessation of Marshall aid came from the present Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. Hugh Gaitskell. It is fitting, however, that we should remember that it is the outcome of a great deal of hard work and brilliant planning by Sir Stafford Cripps, who was forced by ill health to retire from that position before the move could be made.

Hypocrisy At Christmas

As Christmas approaches our attention is forcibly drawn to the message of Christmas: Peace on earth, goodwill toward men. It is to be heard and read everywhere, and we are all presumed to subscribe to it. But as we look about us, we must recognize that international politics at present is uncommonly short on goodwill. Belligerence, suspicion, mistrust and downright hatred are far more common than goodwill or tolerance; great numbers of people talk as though another great war were an inevitable and even a desirable thing. They would deny, of course, that they considered a war desirable, but they would not hesitate to say that they would prefer a war to any compromise with Communism, which appears to them as a fiend-like thing. They make a virtue of their belligerence, proclaiming the old nonsense—so often disproved—that peace can only be bought at the cost of war. The truth is that one war usually begets another.

Is this hypocrisy? Well, if it is not, what other name can be given to it? There are agencies which are working hard for peace and international understanding; United Nations is the greatest of these. It is true that there are agencies within United Nations—and Russia is the greatest of these—which complicate and obstruct the quest for peace. But Russia does not publicly espouse Christianity, which is the religion of peace and brotherly love, nor, may we say, has Russia ever declared herself so powerfully for war as have some of the self-styled Christian nations. Russia has never, for instance, threatened to use the atomic bomb.

We do not call attention to this hypocrisy because it is new, or because we think it clever to do so. We call attention to it simply as a continuing evidence of the sharp division between man's aspirations and his accomplishment. For nearly two thousand years we have given a scanty respect to a religion of peace, and during that time we have known very little peace. Christmas is a good time to ask ourselves when we mean to begin? A beginning will mean relinquishing our present luxuries of hatred and suspicion, of threats and empty pride.

Candle-Lighting Services

Last Sunday in various Peterborough churches 'candle-lighting' services were held. There will be others of a similar nature next Sunday. Even though candles are not lit during the service in the church, but before-hand, these pre-Christmas services provide the opportunity and settings for good Christmas music. Judging from the programs advertised and one candle-lighting service we attended last Sunday, these festivals of Christmas music are good in both intention and presentation.

When these programs are compared with past ones it is evident that Christmas music in Peterborough has improved vastly during the last score of years. Twenty years ago the rich store of carols was almost unknown and unexplored in Peterborough. Sentimental versions of Holy Night and spectacular arrangements of Hark, The Herald Angels Sing were considered tops. The First Noel was a major congregational effort. Now the Coventry Carol, Falan Tiding, the Russian Jesu, Jesu Gently Sleeping, and other fine carols, ancient and modern, English and continental, are well-known, well-sung and beloved.

The days are thankfully gone when Good King Wenceslas and Night of Nights were the limits by which Peterborough's Christmas music was generally bounded. The advance in taste, repertoire and appreciation has been notable. This is due in part to recordings for the gramophone, and to good choirs singing good carols over the radio, but also to the efforts of choirs and their leaders who, rejecting Tin Pan Alley trash, have turned to authentic carols such as are contained in the Oxford Book of Carols and to composers who write music, not slush.

Hungary Bans Sherlock Holmes

Hungary's Minister for People's Culture (an odd designation of his office in view of what he does) has through the 'People's Library Centre' issued a list of nearly 5,000 prohibited books. Trucks were sent to bookshops and libraries to collect the newly-banned books and take them to the incinerator for burning. The longest list of banned authors, other than Hungarian writers, is of British authors; forty-eight of them are on the list, and in most cases, all their works.

Among the horrible subversive British writers whose works have been consigned to Hungarian flames are these instigators of riot and rebellion: Ouida, Rider Haggard, Hall Caine, A. J. Cronin, P. G. Wodehouse (the creater of Jeeves and Psmith), Daphne du Maurier, Hilaire Belloc, Arnold Bennett, James Hilton, J. B. Priestley, Rudyard Kipling, Edgar Wallace and—hard as it is to believe—Oliver Goldsmith whose Vicar of Wakefield has been condemned. Louisa M. Alcott's Little Women have been condemned as agents of the Capitalist West.

The most astonishing name to find on the proscribed list is Conan Doyle, whose entire output has been banned. So Sherlock Holmes joins the "fascist beasts". But Sherlock Holmes is a hard man to kill, as even Conan Doyle found out. We fully expect to hear reports that he has risen from the ashes of the Hungarian book pyre and is sleuthing around for traces of the Little Women, Goldilocks and Pinocchio, who were also burnt. But if the great Sherlock should turn his powers to find traces of culture in the new Hungary, we think that even he will be baffled.

By the way, the booksellers whose stocks were burnt did not suffer a total loss. In fact the Government paid them for the volumes burnt, at the rate of $1.50 for each hundredweight of them. Thus Hungary sets a precise cultural value on the works of the forty-eight British writers and a host of other foreigners also banned, writers like Tagore, Proust and Lin Yu Tang.

NOTE AND COMMENT

When an agricultural writer said that "the angleworm is the farmer's best friend" the Ottawa Citizen retorted that this distinction should be reserved for the Hon. James Gardiner. Though no worm, he knows all the angles.

Christmas In Our Time

By IVOR BROWN

THE darker grows the state of the world the more does man snatch at Christmas, which, at least in its role of secular holiday, grows larger and larger and longer and longer. Every year the gentry who get into the red robes and the cotton wool beards of Father Christmas in the Toy Fairs of the great Department Stores, seem to clock in earlier and earlier. As soon as we have banged off our Guy Fawkes crackers we are confronted with the Christmas ones. In the middle of the autumn apprehensive paragraphs about the turkey supply begin to appear and the public is reassured about the number of little conifers available for domestic afforestation.

THERE is no need to complain sourly about over-doing Christmas. If the public did not like fussing over Christmas presents from the middle of autumn onwards, the shop keepers would not waste money and materials on the catalogues and illuminations, the tinsel and the trimmings; nor would they keep the mummers of Santa Claus on their pay-rolls week after week.

✧ ✧ ✧

BUT it is curious to reflect how Christmas has swollen. Shakespeare gives it but cursory mention and Dickens, who is supposed to have glorified and, as we say, "put across" Christmas in the biggest possible way, was dealing with a feast which would seem lamentably brief and in some ways meagre by our standards of prolonged celebration and widespread donation.

THERE was no general giving of presents then. When the Pickwick party went to Dingley Dell they took some victuals, oysters which sound good and appropriate and a large codfish which sounds extremely dull and unChristmaslike to us: but they did not load the coach with gifts for general dispersal. On Christmas Eve they feasted long and royally, but there was no general handing round of parcels in decorative wrappings and so none of the awful heart-burnings over persons forgotten.

✧ ✧ ✧

MOREOVER, the Pickwickians left the Dell on the morning after Christmas; no Boxing Day and then another day and then the gradual emergence that we make in our leisurely way from the long revels and the subsequent torpors. They might well have slept all day on Christmas instead of going skating, for in the middle of Christmas Eve, after a prodigious wedding-breakfast, which left certain partakers under the table, they were supposed to have taken a twenty-five mile walk. Dicken's fancy ran riot madly here, for the country was hard tramping owing to frost and snow. How did these genial topers walk twenty-five miles in the four hours before darkness? Six miles an hour with those paunches? And then they danced most of the night. I wonder.

SCROOGE'S little Mr. Cratchit had no "day after" either. On the morning after Christmas he was expected to be more punctual than ever at the office, or a little earlier, just to make up for wasted time. Things flared up a little on Twelfth Night, an occasion which has dwindled in public affection and is now hardly noticed. But the long Christmas Snooze, which leaves most of our streets empty and silent for several days, was not for our Victorian ancestors.

✧ ✧ ✧

WE, in fact, have elaborated Christmas to an extent which would have staggered Dickens. Preparations for it now go on for about half a year. Christmas Numbers of magazines are planned at mid-summer and Christmas books, with the present congestion of printing and binding, are an all-year pre-occupation of the publishers. I suppose the B.B.C. has been planning its Christmas fusillade of chestnuts since June.

✧ ✧ ✧

PANTOMIMES are not quite so long in performance, which is a blessing to most parents. But they certainly have longer runs and sometimes run on almost till Easter. By the time Dick Whittington has finally put off his pheasant-feather cap and long suede boots, the managers are deciding as to what young lady will wear them in the following December.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE cause of the great Christmas spread-over is partly and frankly commercial. Every salesman naturally looks to Christmas sales and is eager to stimulate that supposedly hilarious exchange of books and calendars, cigars and slippers and haberdashery of all kinds. But, as I said, the public are not just oozened or bullied into this. They are ripe for the persuasion. Even the soaring prices of our time drag the willing purchasers in undismayed pursuit.

✧ ✧ ✧

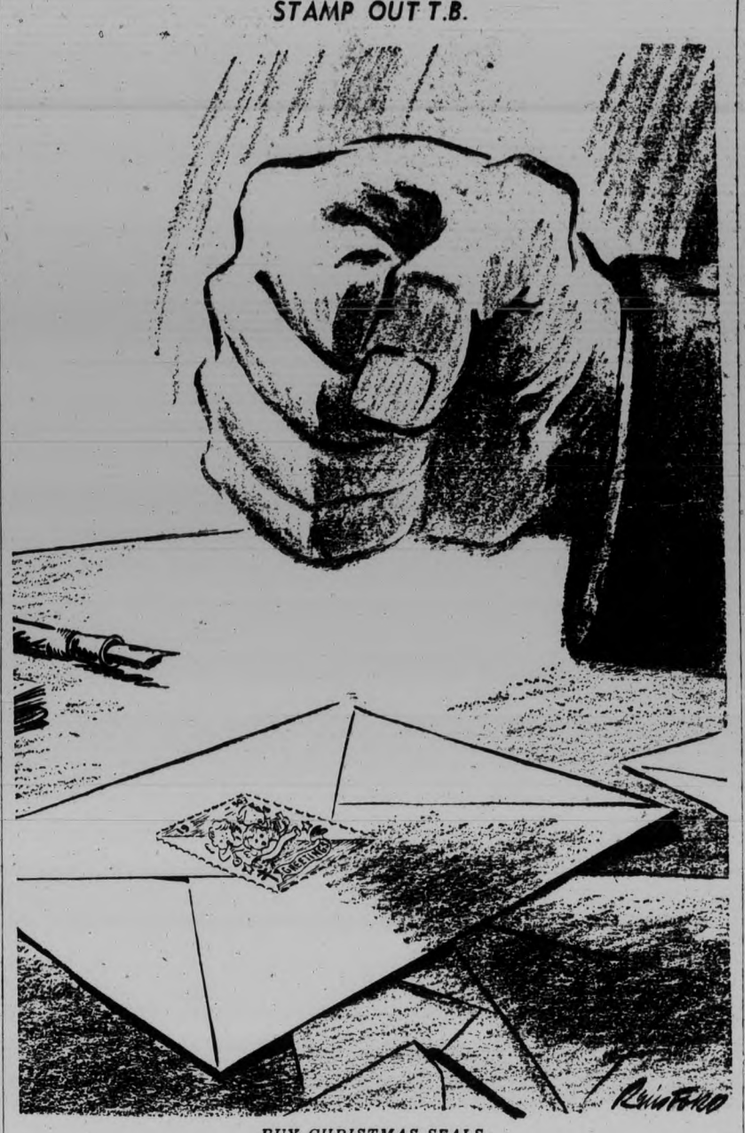

THE longer the fast, the more welcome the feast. No British children now remember what it was to buy sweets in bulk; not for eleven years has the British housewife been able to order a joint of the size and quality desired. In a world of take-what-you-can-get Christmas does not provide the old gay surfeit; but it is a break in the gray monotony of making-do. As a newspaperman I cannot admit that the public like a couple of days with no papers, but since the news nowadays is nearly always bad news, people may reasonably rejoice in a temporary absence of information from the storm centres. Happy the days when no Parliament sits and no statesman utters.

NO doubt, from the sterner civic point of view, it is wrong to be thus "escapist". But Christmas grows bigger and longer and more widely beloved because occasional escape becomes more and more essential to balance; it even contributes serenity. Our long sleepy Christmas stretching to nearly a week may be bad for the liver, but it is extremely good for the nerves.

Letters To The Editor

DISPUTES CATHOLIC'S POINT OF VIEW

Sir: Re "Catholic's" letter in a recent issue of your paper, the following is written—in Christian charity—to put Catholic right as well as information for all interested.

Catholic says, "That the Roman Catholic church is the same religion as that established by the Apostles."

In this regard, I would be glad if "Catholic"—or anybody else—will point out in the New Testament where the disciples taught the use of incense, prayers for the dead, masses, purgatory, the use of rosaries, the assumption of Mary, indulgencies or where we are enjolned to call our spiritual leaders "father" etc. etc.

As to the first Pope, this honour goes to Linus, the son of King Caractacus. Despite denials, Clement, the third Bishop of Rome, says Linus was the first, and he should know those who preceded him. Peter is second on the list. Linus is mentioned by Paul in 1st Tim. 4: 21.

As to the first church. Sir Henry Spellman in his "Concillia" states "that of all the churches whose origin I have investigated in Britain—the Church of Glastonbury is the most ancient."

Bishop Fuller went a step further and wrote "If credit be given to ancient authors this Church of Glastonbury is the senior church of the world."

When Spain claimed to be the first Christian country, the Roman Catholic councils of Pisa, Constance and Basle decided in favour of Britain. These counsels have never been rescinded.

The scholarly Cardinal Baronius in his "Ecclesiastical Annuls" tells us of a manuscript in the Vatican which affirms that Christianity was brought to Britain by the disciples of Christ in 35 A.D. While Augustine reported to Pope Gregory that in "The western confines of Britain (Glastonbury) there was a church constructed by no human art—but by the hands of Christ Himself for the salvation of his people." In the Doomsday Book it is called the secretum dei—or secret of our Lord. No, no, earthful friend, Rome was not of Apostolic origin. Paul rebukes her for her highmindedness. In the 11th Chapt. of Romans, she is likened to a wild olive—grafted—into the good olive tree Israel. Very very much more could be said—but we must forbear trusting it will be received in the spirit of Christ.

DO NOT MISS BUTTER

Sir: Permit me to reply to "A Nurse" re margarine. She must be a farm girl with an axe to grind—that is, boost the sale of butter. If the dairy men are so concerned about our health why not lower the price of butter. I wonder if "Nurse" would buy butter at that price if she had to buy a pound every other day? We have a large family and have been using margarine since it first came out and find it just as pleasing to the taste as butter. None of our children or ourselves have suffered any ill effects. The elderly lady's rash could have been caused by something else. Perhaps she has an allergy.

Why not use lard? My dear lady, lard isn't near as palatable or nourishing as margarine. Leading manufacturers of margarine claim milk as one of the ingredients. We don't miss the butter at all. There are other sources of calcium besides butter, and if butter is only used as a spread it couldn't contribute a great deal of calcium. In the case of some people, their systems don't absorb the calcium no matter how much they take in food.

Thanking you, I remain,
Yours sincerely,
MARGARINE USER.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And the child grew, and waxed strong in spirit, filled with wisdom: and the grace of God was upon him.

Now his parents went to Jerusalem every year at the feast of the passover. And when he was twelve years old, they went up to Jerusalem after the custom of the feast. And when they had fulfilled the days, as they returned, the child JeJesus tarried behind in Jerusalem; and Joseph and his mother knew not of it . . .

And it came to pass, that after three days, they found him in the temple, sitting in the midst of the doctors, both hearing them, and asking them questions. And all that heard him were astonished at his understanding and answers.

And when they saw him, they were amazed: and his mother said unto him, Son, why hast thou thus dealt with us? behold, thy father and I have sought thee sorrowing. And he said unto them, How is it that ye sought me? wist ye not that I must be about my Father's business?

And Jesus increased in wisdom and stature, and in favour with God and man. (Luke 2: 40-43, 46-49, 52.)

Mayor Houde's Cool Head

(Brantford Expositor)

In the best keep-cool tradition, Mayor Camillien Houde of Montreal acquitted himself admirably under dangerous circumstances the other evening.

He had been speaking for about 15 minutes at an election meeting held on the third floor of a school building, at which about 1,500 people were present, when someone shouted "Fire!"

Instantly most of those in the hall sprang to their feet and commenced jostling and pushing . . . Panic was on the verge of downright disaster when the Mayor took charge of the situation. Seizing a microphone, he raised a loud and commanding voice to order the audience to keep calm, and to walk, not run, toward the exits. And His Worship added with confidence that there was no immediate danger. Neither was there—except for the impending panic! The Mayor remained even as the odor of burning became stronger and stronger. Gradually the hall cleared, and the Mayor personally conducted the last dozen or so to safety.

The fact that the incident did no harm whatever to Mayor Houde's successful electorial campaign should be a matter of deserving satisfaction.

Canadian Economy Marks Up Records During Year

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Dec. 19—(CP)—The fruits of prosperity were showered on Canada with unsurpassed generosity in 1950, and officials believe that if all goes well, the shower may be continued well into 1951.

Grim problems of surpluses have disappeared into the darkening clouds of war. If anything, the demand for goods in 1951 may become so great that there simply will not be enough to go round.

The crucial shortage is in steel, wrought by a sudden swing in the economic machine to gird for defence. Even with controls there is no certainty that the shortage in steel will be overcome. Sharp cuts in many civilian goods Canadians like to buy are in prospect.

Canadians got an inkling of this in the dwindling days of 1950. Compulsory steel controls—a step the government took with the greatest reluctance — were clamped on to block sales for non-essential construction.

Will Forge Ahead

But even with these shortages, and others which are beginning to show up in aluminum, nickel and other strategic metals, Canada is not expected to fall back from the records in trade, capital investment, national income and gross national production she built up in 1950.

A slackening in civilian construction, forced by controls, is expected to be taken up with a quickening in defence building. Controls on exports of certain strategic goods are expected to be countered with an expanding domestic market.

Numerous Records

The records Canada chalked up in 1950 were spread throughout the economic realm. Unemployment was pared to the bone. Jobs went begging in agriculture. Wages to a growing labor force swept to $8,200,000,000 from $7,700,000,000 in 1949.

Capital investment shot up to a record $3,700,000,000; and the gross national product, sum total of all goods and services produced, to a record $17,000,000,000, a gain of $1,000,000,000 over the previous year.

Because of dollar import restrictions exports to Britain slipped about $250,000,000, but this was more than taken up with a $400,000,000 climb in sales to the United States.

And probably most significant of all, Canada achieved a near-balance in her trade with the U.S The traditional annual imbalance of about $500,000,000 which normally put a crimp in Canada's dollar reserves was chopped down to about $100.000,000.

This imbalance may disappear altogether in 1951, with the big rearmament drive in the United States calling for greater and greater supplies of raw materials.

Frees Dollar

The Canadian economy in 1950 was so strong, so buoyant that the government could, without batting an eye, free the dollar for the first time since the beginning of the second World War.

This bold, imaginative step, taken mainly to put a halt to inflationary speculation that Canada's devalued dollar would be brought up to par, earned Canada the respect of the money markets of the world.

The dollar, devalued 9.1 per cent in 1949 in relation to the U.S. dollar, immediately shot up about five per cent shortly after it was freed on Sept. 30. Officials predicted it would go even higher.

In freezing the dollar, the government achieved its goal. The speculators, who had rushed millions of dollars of "hot money" onto the Canadian scene on the chance of making a quick profit, showed no rush to cash in their chips. The speculative investments remained.

Social Benefits

A new social security plan has been put in operation by the Peterborough-Lindsay hotelmen's association it was announced here today. The plan carries $1,000 life insurance on employees. $20 a week for employees off work, hospital and surgical benefits to both employees and their families. The Continental Casualty Co. was awarded the policy.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

It's rather rugged trying to knock off the old daily pillar—or piffle, if you insist—a few days before Christmas. Too many other interests in the festive season. Cards arriving daily, decorations going up, intriguing packages lying around, things to be sent or picked up—much too much on the mind. One wonders if Uncle Willie would get wise if he received back that sour tie he tried to hang on one last Christmas. Or if that locked trunk in the attic is kid-proof. Many more worries, too. Oh, yes, and there's still the matter of making a living. So on with the column.

* * * * * *

Members of the YMCA and also members of leagues and teams which bowl at the "Y"—girls and men—may bowl off from now till New Year's Day with the top 10 then battling it out for three prizes. A turkey for the top trundler, a chicken for the runner-up, and candy for the third party. Some of the rollers are at it now, and others interested can drop in almost any time and take a stab at a spot in the list of 10 qualifying. Lots of chicken rolls these days for the hundreds of regular bowlers weekly decorating the various alleys (bowling alleys, of course) in the city.

Queen's Play Eagles

Queen's Combines of Kingston play the Eagles at 8.30 tomorrow eve in Civic Arena, an OHA senior "B" tussle. Battling away for first place in the group, the Eagles look for stiff opposition from the revamped Queen's crew. McKelvey, Kim, Bender and a former St. Patrick's College goalie have been added to the Carr-Harris lineup and the students have pulled a few upsets recently in games with Nylons and Belleville. They've looked good here, too, in previous appearances, and might well clip the Eagles. The men of Magee take nothing for granted in this close race, and will shoot the works before a hefty gallery, no doubt.

* * * * * *

And so the senior puck schedule grinds along. It's a big 80-game one which started the end of October and runs till the end of February. Yes, two months to go yet, and no team too outstanding after two months of play up to now. Eagles and Petes are alternately leading, but Nylons and Redmen are right on their heels, with Queen's now making a bid to climb toward a playoff spot. Gananoque has a brief interlocking schedule with games counting for senior "B" teams, but the Gans themselves will draw an OHA intermediate "A" bye. Top four clubs in the six-team setup will tangle in group semi-finals early in March. One schedule change affecting us now has Petes playing at Nylons on Jan. 5, not tomorrow. There will be no games here Christmas or New Year's nights.

IOOF-ers Rule Roost

Oddfellows looked right impressive here last night in nudging out a 4-3 junior "B" verdict o'er the Belleville Rockets. Standing, in elsewhere, shows Bun Kingdon's crew atop the heap again by two points over Lindsay. It was a fast, clean but hard-hitting fray before hardly 200 fans. Wasson, Armstrong and Shearer tossed the torso enthusiastically. The line of West, Wyatt and Floyd travelled at a speedy clip, while Buckton, Douglas, the Robinsons, Stewart, Clapper and Bigford all toiled hard. Red Wasson shone again in goal—he has a three-goal average in 10 games. The Rockets made it a fight every inch of the way. A good hockey game.

Two local teams, Brintons and St. Peter's, have entered the enlarged Trent Valley Hockey League. Haven't any info yet on SPS, but Jack Harris will coach (and play when needed) Brintons, the team getting in some drills at Civic Arena. They'll play "home" games at Hastings. Either 12 or 14 teams in the loop, split into northern and southern sections. The northern one will probably comprise the two Peterborough entries, Frankford, Stirling, Marmora, Norwood and Campbellford. Each section will have its own playoff system — more on that again — with winners then meeting for the league title. Play starts right after New Year's Day. OMHA puckists may compete, but OHA players must have a written release ere participating.

Three big mat bouts tonight at the Brock, topped by Lord Athol Layton vs. Hi Lee....PMLA windup dinner is tonight at Bill's Place at 6.30....Petes didn't play last eve in Belleville, the Quinte crew having the game laid over until Jan. 8....The locals worked out last p.m., instead, and have another drill early Wednesday evening ... Port Hope beat Lakefield last night, and Doug Hunter of the latter team suffered a back injury which put him in the hospital.... It was a stiff bodycheck, followed by a collision with another player while off balance; the injury is not believed too serious....The Lakefield players should soon hit their true stride as they expect ice for home practices and games within the next few days....Outdoor rinks here and around the district should be ready shortly, too, with this snappy weather prevailing ... PMHA tilts Thursday, starting at six: Trojans vs. SPS bantams, Trojan midgets vs. Martin-Hewitt, Trojan juves vs. Lakefield, Empress bantams vs. Wolves, SPS midgets vs. Marines, and Clapper's vs. IOOF juveniles... Secretary Bill Snyder of the OBA is ill in a Hamilton hospital....But that's enough chatter for one day.

Develops New Plan For All-Star Awards

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 19 (AP) President Ron Cook of the United States Hockey League has come up with a new plan for deciding league all-star awards. Directors have approved his proposal.

This is how it will work: The coach of each of the league's six teams will select the best man from his club for each of the six positions, and also choose his most valuable player and best rookie.

These lists will be turned over to press and radio men in each league city. These men will make the final selections, with each city allowed two votes, one for press and one for radio.

Players chosen by them for the first all-star team will get $200 each, while second-team choices will get $100 each.

The league's most valuable player, outstanding rookie, and top goalkeeper also will get $200 apiece.

PAT FLANAGAN, above, who hooks up with Al Korman in the opening bout of tonight's mat card at the Brock Arena. Chief interest centres in the main bout which brings together the sensational Lord Athol Layton and Sky-Hi Lee. This match should be a standout with two of the biggest men in wrestling in action. The semi-final will see Wee Willie Davis tangling with Les Ryan. This will be the last show until after the Christmas holidays and should draw a capacity crowd.

Bethany Team Holds Banquet

BETHANY, Dec. 19 (ENS). — The North Durham Baseball League held a banquet in the Town Hall last week for the bethany team, winners of the league. Out of 16 scheduled games the boys won 13 and lost three. In the semi-finals they ousted Janetville. On the finals with Blackstock they took two games straight.

Howard Lancashire, Millbrook, as chairman, congratulated the team on their success and fine sportsmanship displayed throughout the series. In the unavoidable absence of Dr. J. Wright of Millbrook, Mr. Lancashire also proposed the toast to the team, which was replied to by Coach J. C. Cumimskey.

John Burns, captain of the Janetville team, who were winners the previous year, presented the Duncan Trophy, which is competed for annually and which was accepted by Reg. Edmunds, captain of the Bethany boys.

Alex Kay Speaks

William Hannah, who has been the official scorekeeper in all the ball games, for more years than he cares to tell, introduced the guest speaker, Alex Kay, a former fell-known baseball umpire, who handed out the decisions here many years ago, describing him as "a grand friend to baseball and the fairest, squarest man to stand behind a catcher on a Bethany diamond." Mr. Kay, a lecturer for the preservation of wild life for the Department of Lands and Forests, spoke on his favorite hobby, "Wild Bird Life and their Habins," also paying tribute to the earlier baseball teams of Bethany, who had been equally successful as members of the East Peterborough League; and to Dr. J. J. Hamilton, who promoted the purchasing of the Bethany Athletic Park, organized the first team in 1909, and who has held each of the offices in turn in the Bethany Athletic Association and was manager of the teams for many years. "Baseball is the finest sport we have. Obey the rules of baseball and you cannot help having good citizens. A community is on the right track when it sponsors a baseball team," said Mr. Kay.

Roy Jarvis presented the 15 members with gift certificates for new jackets and crests, which had not arrived in time for the banquet.

The chicken dinner was served by the Women's Institute and the tables were most attractive with Christmas decorations.

IOOF Captures First Place By Edging Rockets, 4 to 3

Bob Wyatt's smart goal at 13.10 in the final period of last night's junior "B" hockey match at Civic Arena, settled a piping struggle 4-3 in Oddfellows' favor and gave Bun Kingdon's boys undisputed leadership of the group with 13 points.

Avenging last Wednesday's 3-2 defeat on Quinte ice, the flying Triple Link crew racked up the sixth win in their last seven starts and gave their small group of faithful supporters dozens of thrills as they played hard, fast and clean (though rugged) hockey to outdo their game and clever opponents in every kind of going. Seven penalties, the least of the season, for one Oddfellow game, with but two to the Kingdon team, helped the Links to victory.

West Helped

Dean West, who played a hard game throughout, earning three scoring points, a flip-flop 18-footer through a maze of legs that completely fooled goalie Tripp. The latter played a fine game opposing the brilliant Red Wasson. Red made several superb stops in the first and third particularly, with Oddfellows having a wide margin in the second both in play and on shots on goal.

Ken Floyd earned the plaudits of the crowd for an outstanding performance both ways last night, his best of the season. His brilliant goal from West and Wyatt in the first started his team to victory and he worked most of the game on two separate lines, also assisting Buckton and Douglas.

Rockets Battle

Rockets flew back hard in the second half of the first period after Armstrong's screen shot beat Tripp to give Links a two goal lead at 7.50 and led by the Desjardins line and Carey, Brown and Henhawcke, the visitors drew on even terms with the locals at the end of the frame by dint of some hard work and a measure of sound opportunism. West featured the extremely fast second chapter with a spectacular tally early as he took a pass near the enemy blue line, swooped in on Tripp, drew him aside and plunked the disc neatly into the open side.

Though outplayed, as Oddfellows missed a dozen goals by inches as they stormed the rival cage, fate favored Rockets near the three-quarter mark. Carey edged in on a scramble close to Wasson and poked a short screened angle drive into the net to again square the hectic duel and the battle for first place.

Hit 'Em Hard

Led by Armstrong and Wasson and ably assisted by Jim Shearer, Don Clapper and Don Bigford, the defence continued to body incoming Rockets hard in the third while forwards Ab Buckton, Bill Stewart, the Robinson brothers and Jim Douglas were doing yeoman feats on the front line along with the first line of Wyatt, West and Floyd. Finally, sustained drive and the law of averages fittingly rewarded the gallant team with that all-important marker. Gary Robinson deserves special mention as he toiled the latter stages in a rather dazed condition after a terrific check by Houle in the first caught him off balance at centre-ice and crashed him causing a painful head injury.

Belleville: Goal, Tripp; defence, Trumble, Green; centre, Desjardins; wings, Strahan, Mason; alts., Houle, Doran, Gilmour, Henhawcke, Carey, Brown, Furland, Mantle, Barclay.

IOOF—Goal: R. Wasson; defence, Shearer, Armstrong; centre, West; wings, Floyd, Douglas, Buckton, Stewart, G. Robinson, B. Robinson, Clapper, D. Wasson, Batley.

Referee—Dit Rowden, Port Hope; linesman, Pete Nigh, Peterbroough.

First Period
IOOF—Floyd (West, Wyatt) 7.30
IOOF—Armstrong (Wyatt) 7.50
Belleville—Henhawcke (Desjardins) 12.07
Belleville—Brown 17.05
Penalties—Trumble, Turland, Desjardins, Mantle, Wyatt.
Second Period
IOOF—West (Shearer) 2.47
Belleville—Carey 13.08
Penalties—None.

CURLING NOTES

By HERB MARTIN

We have taken such a ribbing lately about this so-called nine-end, that we think it is about time for an explanation. This incident happened away back when we had the six-day open bonspiels. In those days visiting clubs would bring along their own stones and brooms. As soon as their stones would arrive, our bonspiel committee would tag each stone with a great big sticker (it would go half-way around the stone). If you came from Port Hope, your stones would have this big Port Hope tag on it. They were generally black letters with a white background. They were easily read and there could be no mistake—no reading Orillia for Cobourg.

This particular game was being played on No. 4 ice at the south end of the rink, and when this eighth end was finished there were nine Oshawa stones touching the rings—no other stones in the rings. There was great confusion. One side claimed a dead end, the other side claimed a nine-end. The umpire was called and he looked over the situation and said: "Sure enough there are nine Oshawa stones on the rings—so I guess nine it is."

Was it a proper decision? Was it a legal end? If it will help you any, we will tell you that there was another Oshawa rink playing on ice No. 5. Now you take it from here. That's a true story, and we are sticking with it.

Detroit Has Chance This Week To Take Over NHL Leadership

MONTREAL, Dec. 19 (CP). — Detroit Red Wings will have a chance this week to dislodge Toronto Maple Leafs from first place of the National Hockey League, standings.

Holders of the Stanley Cup, the Wings are a mere three points behind the Leafs, and also have played three games less.

This week, Detroit will clash with the third-place Chicago Black Hawks, Montreal Canadiens and the cellar-dwelling New York Rangers. Toronto will be playing against Montreal and Boston Bruins, and should get tough opposition from the Montrealers who have just broken a long run of defeats.

Toronto now has 42 points—18 wins and six deadlocks. They have lost seven games. Detroit has won 17, tied five and lost six. Black Hawks are third with 28 points, two more than Canadiens. Boston follows with 21 and Rangers are in the cellar with 20.

Well Represented

In the individual scoring race, five Torontonians hold the first five positions.

Max Bentley still clings to first place with 11 goals and 21 assists for a total of 32 points. Three points behind is Ted Kennedy with nine markers and 20 assists. Kennedy now is only one assist short of Bentley's pace-setting record for the season.

Leading goal getter is Tod Sloan whose 27 points are made up of 16 goals and 11 assists. team-mate Sid Smith is threatening his mark, having racked up 15 goals. Smith's 11 assists put him in fourth place with 26 points tied with linemates Cal Gardner who has reversed totals of 11-15—26.

First non-Torontonian among leading marksmen is Gordie Howe of Detroit who has an even 12-12 for a total of 24 points. During the week he unseated Maurice Richard of Montreal and Chicago's Roy Conacher.

Detroit's Terry Sawchuk is top team-average goalie with the least goals scored against him. In 28 games, he allowed 55 pucks past him for an average of 1.96. Turk Broda of Toronto is leader in the shutouts division with five.

Demarco Leading AHL For 2nd Week In Row

NEW YORK, Dec. 19 (AP). — For the second straight week, Buffalo's brilliant center, Ab Demarco, leads the American League in all three scoring departments.

Statistics released today showed Demarco with 53 points on 22 goals and 31 assists—all top marks.

His closest competitor is teammate Grant Warwick, with 38 points on eight goals and 30 assists.

Jackie Gordon of Cincinnati is No. 3 in scoring, with 37 points, one more than Hershey's George Sullivan and Providence's Ray Laplante, tied for fourth place, with 36 points each. Figures include games of Sunday, Dec. 17.

Among the goal tenders, Pittsburgh's Gil Mayer is tops. The diminutive netminder has allowed only 54 goals in 27 games for an average of 2.00. He has chalked up three shutouts.

Ivan Irwin, Cincinnati's husky defenceman, continues to pace the loop in penalties, having served 83 minutes in the penalty box.

Two Horses Share Honors At Dufferin

TORONTO, Dec. 19 (CP). — Bert Patch, Jr., owned by A. A Greer of Glamis, Ont., and driven by H. McLean, and Balbo Siskiyou, owned by William Innis of Toronto and driven by Paul Masse shared honors in the featured fifth race, a classified pace, Monday at Dufferin Park.

In the first heat Bert Patch, Jr., was rated along in third place while following the pace set by Teddy B. Woollen. Gaining steadily in the stretch drive, Bert Patch Jr., just edged the pacesetter in a photo finish.

Balbo Siskiyou paced to the front at once in the second event, followed by Walworth. He held this position despite a challenge by Redstone on the stretch turn, and won without being extended Perryman, owned by Mrs. V. Lutman of Toronto and driven by Vic Lutman, won both heats on the fourth race, a classified trot.

Hubert Milot Dies

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Dec. 19 (AP).—Hubert C. Milot, father of professional hockey in Rhode Island, died Monday night. He was 62. In the early 1920s, Milot originated the idea of the Rhode Island Auditorium and interested Providence business men in building the arena. He managed the arena in its first year, and then purchased the Quebec franchise and entered a Providence team in the old Canadian-American League, which he had helped to found.

Britain Makes Dismal Showing Against Other Lands In '50 Sport

By EDWIN S. JOHNSON

LONDON, Dec. 19 —(CP)— A young man of iron nerves saved Britain from near-eclipse in the 1950 chase for top honors in international sport.

He was Reggie Harris of Manchester, winner of the world's professional sprint cycling championship at Liege, Belgium.

Harris has been voted by the Sports Writers' Association, as the man who during the year contributed most to raise the prestige of British sport. His triumph gave the United Kingdom its lone world title.

Close behind came the silver-thatched Jack Holden, who despite his 43 years, added the British Empire Games and European Marathon championships to his list of track victories.

Many Disappointments

The year's balance-sheet, however, disclosed a top-heavy run of disappointments for the homebreds.

Most shocking setback from a prestige standpoint was the failure of the English representatives in the World's Professional Soccer Tournament at Rio de Janeiro last spring. Their defeat by Spain and the United States brought indignant demands for revision of the system of player-selection and training technique.

The reaction was much the same when England took it on the chin from the touring West Indies cricketers in last summer's series of test matches. It was the first test triumph for the visitors against the motherland.

US Stars

United States tennis stars once again dominated the Wimbledon scene, Budge Patty, of San Francisco, upset the pre-tournament dope by winning the men's singles and Louise Brough, for the second year running took the women's title back to Beverley Hills, Calif.

All three of the country's major golf crowns also fell to the invaders. The British open was retained by South Africa's brilliant Bobby Locke. Frank Stranahan, Toledo, O., walked off with the amateur title, while the French stylist, Vicomtesse L. de Saint Sauveur wrapped up the ladies' championship.

Turf Honors

To France also went the lion's share of 1950 turf honors. Marcel Boussac, textile magnate, set the pace as owner and breeder. His thoroughbreds won only 11 races during the English season but they included three of the classics— the Derby, with Galcador, St. Leger, with Scratch II and the Oaks which went to the filly, Ambiguity. All told his runners won £57,044 ($171,130) in purses. The remaining classic, the 2,000 Guineas, was won by the Aga Khan's Palestine.

The distinction of leading the jockeys remained with Britain's 46-year-old Gordon Richards. It marked the 23rd time he had won the championship in 29 years of racing. By bringing home 201 winners during the season he boosted his all-time winning total to 4,167, a feat without parallel in racing history.

Other Successes

Overseas challengers continued the march of success in the world amateur figure-skating chamionships. Dick Button, of Englewood, NJ, retained his mastery in the men's division, hs third straight victory while Alena Vrzanova, 19-year-old Czechoslovakian star, successfully defended the crown she took over after Canada's Barbara Ann Scott turned professional.

Canadian athletes once again played a prominent role in the country's sports parade.

A party of curlers, representing every province in the dominion, except Newfoundland, came to Scotland for a series of challenge matches. They returned home after a rugged tour of rock-tossing, surfeited with Scottish hospitality, but none of the major prizes.

The powerful Edmonton Mercurys, however, erased this setback by regaining the world amateur hockey crown for Canada. The Canucks raced through their seven tournament fixtures with comparative ease. It was the 12th world title won by a team from the dominion since 1924.

Good Start

RIVERPORT, N. S. (CP). — Lobster fishermen report good catches since the start of the lobster season Dec. 1. The first few days were exceptionally good and with favorable weather boats averaged about 200 lobsters each. Strong winds and heavy seas later cut this yield.

MERCY MISSION BY 'COPTER—Commander Frank N. Virgilio, medical officer aboard the USS Manchester off Korea, was hoisted to a helicopter for transfer to another ship, where he saved the life of a severely injured seaman. PCVS Students Start Exams

Collegiate pupils will be faced with a short series of examinations, part of the mid-term set, before they leave school for the Christmas holidays. Wednesday morning most of the classes will write the first in three; other classes will have only two, while one class, Industrial Arts II, has one paper to write.

For a numebr of students the Christmas holidays will begin on Thursday noon when they have completed their two or three examinations. Others will conclude their pre-Christmas work at 2:30, 3 or 3:30 p.m., deepnding upon the length of the afternoon examination.

As in the Public Schools the Collegiate will celebrate Premier Frost's half-holiday Friday, postponed from December 8. The schools are usually closed early in the afternoon of the day preceding the Christmas holidays. Therefore the half-holiday will be observed Friday morning.

Several years ago the Collegiate began to hold three of the mid-term examinations before Christmas and the remainder during the last week of January.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Tommy Henrich, a member of the New York Yankees since 1937 and one of baseball's most feared batsmen, has decided to hang up his glove rather than play on an injured knee. He accepted a job on the coaching staff of the world champions.

Tommy, known as "old reliable" for his timely hitting and slick play in right field and at first base, played little last season and was taken off the eligible list for the world series between the Yanks and Philadelphia Phillies.

The knee, injured in the spring pained him severely each time he had to make a quick turn or stop. Surgeons gave him only half-hope that an operation would effect any real improvement. So, at 34, the old Massilon, O., boy has chosen to call it a career. He will be the fourth man on manager Casey Stengel's coaching staff.

Had he wished, Henrich could have had the job of managing the Yankees' Kansas City club in the American Association. He preferred, first, to learn all he could about managing from Stengel.

The 5,795-ton freighter Stanbridge, back in Manchester after months of coal-running on the St. Lawrence river, wants a new crew —of footballers.

During their stay in Canada, the ship's football team—founded and captained by ex-Southport part-time player Thomas Green—won victories against teams in Montreal and in Nova Scotia's Cape Breton county.

Now, scheduled to sail in the spring, for a further seven months in Canada, the ship needs a new team. More than half the side are going on leave and are not signing on again.

Enos Slaughter of St. Louis Cardinals was sued for divorce Monday. His wife, Mrs. Mary Kathryn Slaughter, charged "indignities amounting to cruelty."

She added he has been quarrelsome, nagging and abusive, threatened her with physical violence and has kept her in a state of fear and anxiety.

She married the outfielder May 19, 1947. It was Slaughter's third marriage.

Time is running out on jockey Joe Culmone in his drive to break the all-time riding record set by Walter Miller in 1906. Culmone needs 18 more winners to tie Miller's record of 388.

Only 11 racing days are left in the year and Culmone must average better than three winners every two days to break the 44-year-old record.

The 19-year-old riding sensation booted home his 370th winner of the year Saturday, shortly before he was spilled aboard New Wonder in the fifth race.

Culmone said he hoped to return to the saddle today.

Three New York Giants right-handers—Jim Hearn, Sal Maglie and Larry Jansen—dominated the National League pitching scene in 1950, both in earned-run average and in percentage, according to official averages released today.

Toiling for a third-place club, Hearn posted a glittering ERA of 2.49 to lead the pack in what generally is considered the final gauge of pitching excellence. Maglie, former Mexican Leaguer ran him a tight second with 2.71

Ewell Blackwell, cincinnati's rubber arm, deprived the Giants' trio of a clean sweep by placing third at 2.97 per game, but Jansen came next at 3.01 to make it three out of four for Leo Durocher's staff.

Maglie, who began the season as a relief pitcher, posted the highest winning percentage with his 18 victories and four defeats for .818, followed by Hearn's 11-4 for .733. Hearn was obtained from the St. Louis Cards in midseason. Jansen's 19-13 won and lost record landed him in ninth place.

Lightweight champion Ike Williams, 144, Trenton, N. J., won a unanimous decision Monday night as he pounded Rudy Cruz, 138, Los Angeles, with ease in a 10-round non-title bout at Philadelphia Arena.

Cruz, who was outpointed by Williams in 1948, earned this crack at the 135-pound champion by recently beating Ike's stablemate, Arthur King of Toronto. But he never had a chance with Williams.

The Trenton puncher received cards of 8-2, 7-2-1 and 9-1 from the two judges and the referee.

Remember When—

Donors To Arena All Listed In Index

"Although I was told by Al Cameron to throw out the card index of the list of donors to the Civic Arena building fund, I did not do so," said Dick Ouimet in a comment today on the report of the statement by Ald. H. Dodds about that record at the final meeting of the council last week.

"Mr. Cameron was then the secretary-treasurer of the fund and committee, and was accountant at the Bank of Montreal," Mr. Ouimet said.

"I thought I might as well keep that alphabetical list, and I still have it at home. It occurred to me that possibly some one might ask for it some time, and this seems to be the time. I might wrap up the cards and send them to Ald. Dodds, because I don't think anyone else in the city has the slightest interest in them."

"Some one might ask what it is all about. When we were appealing to the public for donations to the rink, and getting them, we wrote them into the treasurer's book—that is the name of each donor, the amount given to the arena, the date and number of the credit slip. That was a complete record even to the twenty-five cent pieces youngsters contributed.

Avoid Duplications

"As the campaign went on, and we wanted to avoid duplications of call, for instance, some one might ask: Did so-and-so give anything? and we would have to look in the bok and waste time because the names were not in alphabetic order.

"That is why we decided to put in the card index system, which was simply a duplicate of the entries in the treasurer's book. It was a convenient way of saving time on such references to names in our record.

"When the campaign was over I asked Mr. Cameron what we ought to do with the card index. He told me we didn't need it and might as well throw it out with some odds and ends we had no further use for.

"The record book was audited by Mr. Edward Humpage, who is the city auditor, and it is still in the possession of the Civic Arena Committee which is appointed annually. That is all there is to this matter. I think an experienced man like Alderman Dodds with eight years in the council would know that all he had to do was to bring this matter to the attention of the arena committee rather than to the city council.

"Anyway, as I said, for some notion at the time I kept the card index. Three years have gone by and no member of the arena committee has ever mentioned the alphabetic list. It is of no use to me, but I feel rather satisfied now that I did take it home with me, for any question like this that might arise, instead of throwing it away, as Al Cameron suggested," Mr. Ouimet said.

Believe Dawson To Write King Biography

OTTAWA, Dec. 19 (CP)—Dr. R. MacGregor Dawson, professor of political economy at the University of Toronto, is reported to be the choice of the executors as biographer of the late former Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

Fred A. McGregor, one of the literary executors who was assisting the former prime minister on his memoris before Mr. Mackenzie King died and has been constantly engaged on his papers since, said Monday he was not in a position to make an announcement at the moment.

However, it was learned on good authority that the executors have agreed on the choice of Dr. Dawson and that his selection will be announced in a few weeks.

Well Known Writer

Dr. Dawson is a well known writer on Canadian affairs. His latest book is The Government of Canada published in 1947.

The former prime minister was working on his memoirs and the editing of his voluminous letters and documents, assisted by a staff headed by Mr. McGregor, when his last illness forced him to give it up. He died last July 22.

Through McGill University the Rockefeller Foundation provided a fund to pay for the costs of staff and research to assist in preparation and publication of his memoris and papers.

In his will the prime minister appointed four literary executors with authority to decide which of his papers and diaries should be published. In addition to Mr. McGregor, they are Norman A. Robertson, clerk of the privy council and secretary to the cabinet; John W. Pikersgill, principal private secretary to Prime Minister St. Laurent who served Mr. Mackenzie King in the same capacity for many years, and Dr. W. Kay Lamb Dominion archivist.

Fenella WI Holds Christmas Meeting

FENELLA, Dec. 19—(ENS)—The Caristmas meeting of Fenella Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. N. C. Leach, with 22 members and six visitors present. The president, Mrs. F. George, presided. The meeting opened with the Ode, followed by the Lord's Prayer in unison.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

An exhibit of home-made candy took place with Mrs. B. McDonald getting first prize and Mrs. Frank George second prize. It was moved and seconded that the candy be sent to the Children's Shelter at Port Hope.

Miss Freda Tapscott, social worker from the Children's Aid, Port Hope, was guest speaker and gave a talk on work done by the shelter. A vote of thanks to Miss Tapscott was given by Mrs. Gordon Jewell. It was also moved and seconded that the institute give a donation of $10 to the Children's Aid.

Mrs. Eldridge Sherwin, program convener, was in charge of the following Christmas program: reading by Mrs. W. H. Sandercock; solo, Silent Night, by Mrs. Ross Macklin; and a reading by Mrs. B. McDonald. Then an exchange of Christmas gifts was made.

George B. Ellis

TRENT RIVER, Dec. 19 — Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at Trent River United Church for the late George E. Ellis, who died in his 75th year. Mr. Ellis was a lifelong resident of Trent River and an employee of the Fishing Tackle Co. for 27 years.

Rev. Vanderburg, Rev. Esler of Havelock, Rev. Latimer, Campbellford, and Rev. Greenwood, of Belleville, officiated.

Mr. Ellis is survived by his widow, Bessie McCoy, two daughters (Mildred), Mrs. J. A. Fisher of Toronto, (Thelma) Mrs. D Innes, Peterborough; two sons, Rev. Donald W., Calumet, Que., Carl E., Toronto; one brother, Mr. S. W. Ellis, of Trent River.

Friends from out of town who attended the service were from Toronto, Peterborough, Norwood, Havelock, Campbellford and Belleville.

Prize For Best Story

TORONTO, Dec. 19 (CP) — A joint project of the Toronto Firefighters' Association and the Toronto Men's Press Club, $1,000 is being offered in prizes for the best news stories and news pictures of fires within Toronto published in the three Toronto daily newspapers during the year. "It is our hope to make people more aware of the causes and dangers of fires, the losses of life and property which result from them," said D. A. Dunlop president of the Firefighters' Association.

Anniversary Coins Being Turned Out By Mint

OTTAWA, Dec. 19 (CP)—First of the 1951 five-cent pieces, commemorating the 200th anniversary of the discovery of nickel, rolled out from the mint Monday.

Finance Minister Abbott officially minted the first coin, designed by Stephen Trenka, Hungarian-born sculptor from Thornhill, in a government contest for a $1,000 prize. Trenka's design, which portrays a nickel refinery, was picked from about 10,000 entries.

The Finance Department said it is hoped to have a supply of the new coins distributed to banks across Canada ready to be issued Jan. 2.

BIG FUND

The trust fund administered by the Federal Indian Affair Branch amounts to more than $19,000,000.

Hungarian DP Pulled Vagrant Stunt Too Often

OSHAWA, Dec. 19 (CP). — "Racz and the magistrates" opened Dec. 1 in Toronto.

Bela Racz, 28, a Hungarian displaced person, was nabbed wandering about armed with a .22-calibre rifle "to protect me in a strange country." Magistrate O. M. Martin gave him $2, set him free, wished him good luck. Racz, who claimed he was a doctor, said he was headed for a job on a friend's farm.

They played act two in Stratford. Police found Racz, "the victim of a holdup man," tied to a telephone pole. (The cops now think he tied himself up.) Magistrate A. F. Cook dismissed a charge of vagrancy and set him free—with a blessing, but no money.

Monday in Oshawa, they rang down the curtain. Racz's story: he was beaten and robbed in a local park. The charge: still vagrancy. From Magistrate F. S. Ebbs, Racz got—three months.

4 New Cars Damaged When Hit By Train

PRESCOTT, Dec. 19 (CP). — Four of five new 1951 model (Chevrolet) automobiles being transported to Ottawa aboard a transport truck were heavily damaged Monday when the truck collided with a Canadian Pacific Railway train at a level crossing a mile north of here.

Damage to the cars and to the transport truck, was estimated at $10,000. Jerry Downs of Kingston, driver of the transport, escaped injury.

The train, a freight, was en route from Ottawa to Prescott at the time of the crash.

3 Defendants In Lawsuit Get Surprise

TORONTO, Dec. 19 — (CP) — Three defendants in a lawsuit over eight acres of farmland near Windsor said Monday through their counsel that they knew nothing of the case until one of them read about it in a newspaper.

Mr. Justice F. H. Barlow in weekly court dismissed the action brought by Camille Parent, of Tecumsen against Floyd A. Baillargeon, James Pitre and Louis Beausoleil, of Windsor and district. Parent sought possession of the dispuled eight acres, $1,500 from each defendant and the costs of the case.

Parent appeared before Mr. Justice G. A. Gale Nov. 29, swore that he personally served notices on the defendants who were not represented in court, and asked for judgment on his statement of claim that the defendants had taken possession of part of his land.

Asks Investigation

Mr. Justice Gale adjourned the hearing until Monday so that the notice of motion and statement of claim could be served on the defendants by a sheriff.

A. M. Ferris, counsel for the defendants, Monday produced affidavits to the effect that Baillargeon did not know of the case until he read the Osgood Hall notes in a Toronto paper Nov. 30 and that Pitre and Beausoleil were not notified until Dec. 9.

Mr. Justice Barlow suggested that the Attorney-General's Department investigate the conflicting affidavits submitted by Parent and the defendants.

SILENT MUSTER—Their fighting's over, but they lie under peaceful rows of white crosses, and the days when they manned the ranks in military formation are not forgotten by Maj.-Gen. A. P. Dreary Christmas In Store For Bethlehem

BETHLEHEM, Dec. 19 (AP).—Another dreary Christmas is in store for the Arab residents of this village where Christ was born.

More than 40,000 Arab refugees are crowded into wind and rain-swept tents in the cold, grey Judean hills surrounding Bethlehem. A number live in hillside caves dug centuries ago. Some are jammed into the small stone houses in this ancient and holy place.

Even without the refugees, Bethlehem would not be a cheerful place. Ninety per cent of its normal population of 12,000 has been without work since the Palestine conflict erupted 30 months ago.

Many Bethlehem residents worked lands now part of Israeli territory. Others who worked for the British mandate administration in Palestine have been without jobs since Britain pulled out.

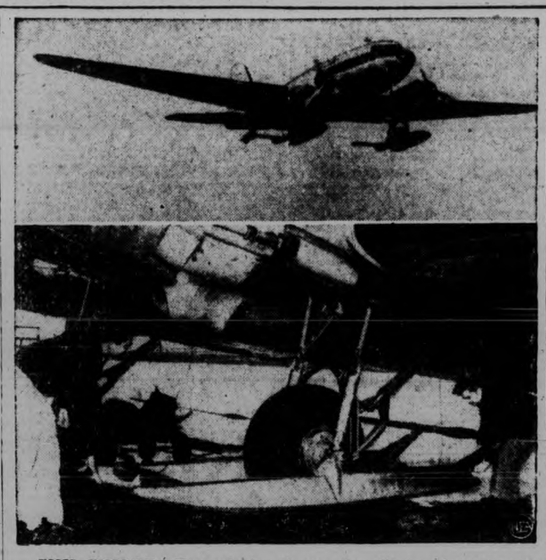

Few Pilgrims

Despite the Roman Catholic Holy Year, there are few pilgrims coming to the birthplace of Christ these days. The times are too troubled and travel too uncertain. Normally the tourist trade provides work for many.

Every now and then a crowd of refugees will stage a protest demonstration, but there is a feeling of futility and lack of hope.

Butrus Abu Khalil, acting mayor of Bethlehem, says:

"I don't see what will happen. The United Nations is continually shelving the refugee question. I hope the example of Christ, whose birth we are observing very shortly, will arouse the conscience of the world."

Rubber, Plastic Bagpipes Latest In Christmas Toys

By The Canadian Press

A weird, waling sound may be the first thing you hear Christmas morning.

Rubber and plastic bagpipes, made in England but—to the unitiated—indistinguishable from the highland variety, have made their squealing appearance on department-store toy counters.

Properly primed, they'll play anything from "Jingle Bells" to "Flowers of the Forest," if the family can endure the ordeal of listening while the youngsters—and probably their father—get the hang of them.

The pipes are one of the more unusual 1950 Christmas toy innovations, A Canadian Press survey showed. Another was a plastic Humpty-Dumpty that falls apart and can be put together—with a little concentration—by one small substitute for all the king's horses and all the king's men.

Miniature TV Sets

Sme youngsters will boast their own miniature television sets, with a set of small rotating slides projected on the screen in magic-lantern fashion.

Most of the old stand-bys are back, although lead soldiers and other types of military toys tend to take second place to cowboy outfits, complete with six-shooters.

Miniature farm yards including everything from a barn to a milking stool, small-scale airports and gas stations are featured in a large assortment of educational toys. Elaborate construction sets, the ever-popular electric trains and building blocks for younger children are prominently displayed.

Dolls and their accoutrements remain at the top of the list for girls. St. John's, Nfld., stores report a brisk business in a large doll that sleeps, eats and says "mama."

Relaxation of import restrictions has brought new varieties of foreign-made toys.

German mechanical models, some run by remote control, have appeared in Regina. A small German-made tank that emits sparks is being displayed in Ottawa.

American British, French, Swiss, Czecoslovak and Japanese articles also are prominent.

Currency devaluation has brought a price drop of 20 to 25 per cent in British toys but many American imports are somewhat higher in price.

Busy Season

SYDNEY, N. S. (CP). — The busiest pre-Christmas rush "in recent years" is reported by T. L. Connolly, manager of the National Employment Office here. Demand for extra employees at Christmastime is brisk. Bonuses to steel and coal workers boosted trade.

Havelock School Has 171 Pupils

HAVELOCK, Dec. 19 (ENS).—Principal R. D. Buchanan reported to the Public School Board at its December meeting that he had inspected all classes and found improvement in all the grades. The fence on the south side of the playground had been broken down, he said.

The truant officer's report showed that the school was open 22 days in November with an enrollment of 171 and an average attendance of 159.68. The perfect aggregate was 3,705 and the actual aggregate was 3,513, a percentage of 94.82. There had been one transfer and two admissions.

The matter of fencing the school ground was discussed and the secretary was asked to obtain prices on fencing. Caretaker J. Beatty was authorized to purchase necessary tools, pencil sharpeners and dustbane.

The meeting adjourned until January 8.

McNichol, Trent River and Mrs. Albert Kuno, Havelock, won prizes. The hostess served lunch. Other guests present were Miss Rosie Ruttan, Mrs. Ross Pollock, Mrs. George Brooks, Mrs. Eric Little.

Bethany Sunday School Holds Christmas Party

BETHANY, Dec. 19 (ENS) — St. Paul's Anglican Church held their annual Christmas party for the Sunday school members on Friday evening. Seventy-five were present for the supper and the program which followed with Rev. T. S. Gault acting as chairman. Sharon Bigelow gave a recitation, followed by a chorus from the primary class "Away in a Manger," accompanied by Catherine Reynolds at the piano. Murray Smith recited "Just For Christmas."

The junior class gave a pageant in costume "The Birth of Christ," with Dianne Bigelow taking the part of Mary; Murray Smith as Joseph; Brenda Rowan and Waltraud Rajski as the Angels; Tommy Rayson, Donald Smelt and Melvin Smelt as the three kings. They sang "We Three Kings of Orient Are" accompanied by their teacher, Mrs. Carl Smith.

Glen Smith sang "The Thing" Tommy Rayson and Howard Morton each gave recitations. Dianne Bigelow and Brenda Rowan in charming costumes sang "Santa Claus is Coming to Town" accompanied by Robert Sisson.

The intermediate girls, trained by Mrs. Morgan Bigelow sang "While Shepherds Watched" accompanied by Mrs. Chas. Reynolds.

Santa Claus arrived in time to distribute the gifts from a well laden tree for each member of the school and a special gift for the superintendent, Hope Rayson, and for each teacher. Prizes for best attendance throughout the year were awarded to Dianne Bigelow and Howard Morton.

Euchre Party Raises $150 For Hall Fund

TRENT RIVER, Dec. 19 (ENS) —The Trent River Community Hall was packed to the limit on Friday night for the turkey and Christmas cake draw and euchre party in aid of the Community Hall Fund. There were 17 tables of euchre played with the following prize-winners: Mrs. Irene Christie, Mrs. O. Eggleton, Mrs. Thomas Brown, Bill Forsythe of Havelock, R. McCulloch, Campbellford, Mrs. I. Christie. Melville Wight, president of the club, was chairman for the drawing of the lucky tickets. The winners were: Turkey, Ray Wrightly, of Havelock; three-layer Christmas cake, Graydon Bell, Campbellford; chicken, Mrs. Ella Thompson, Toronto. Proceeds for the evening's entertainment and draw was about $150. The ladies served sandwiches, cake and tea.

Campbellford Plow Gets Initial Workout

CAMPBELLFORD Dec. 19 — (ENS)—Campbellford's new snow plow received its initiation over the weekend, when it worked overtime clearing streets of the fairly heavy snowfall. The heavy white mantle settled on the town early Sunday morning, and provided a setting fitting for the season. Trees and wires were heavily laden with the snow, but no trouble was reported. Streets were slippery, but no accidents occurred.

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 19 (AP)—As 1950 comes to a finish, it shapes up as Errol Flynn's year for headlines.

Earlier this year, Flynn remarked to me: "For the life of me, I can't understand why a quiet, reserved fellow like myself should be involved in the news so often."

Despite his professed innocence, Flynn managed to say and do things that kept him more frequently in the news than any other movie star. It started early in the year with his engagement to Romanian Princess Irene Ghika.

Flynn provided one of the quotes of the year when he was asked in Europe about reports that his marriage plans would be hastened. His reply to reporters: "The reports are premature. The Princess hasn't yet learned to cook."

A Good Egg

In May, he brought his foreign fiancee to Hollywood while he made a picture. "She's a good egg," he commented. "And she's got brains. It's about time I picked one with brains, don't you think?"

In August, Flynn was hailed into court over his alimony to first wife Lili Damita. A lawyer asked if he wasn't one of the world's most popular actors. Said Flynn: "Modesty forbids me to answer."

Shortly afterward, Flynn startled everybody by announcing his engagement to his leading lady, Patrice Wymore. But what about the princess? he was asked. "It's up to the lady to announce a broken engagement," he replied.

Wedding News

He returned to France to make a picture. Then followed the wedding news. There was a hassle over finding a church that would permit the marriage of a divorced man. The search failed and the pair took their vows Oct. 23 in the Monaco city hall at Monte Carlo. They answered "oui" as 3,000 natives chattered outside.

Nor was the honeymoon a quiet one. A storm interrupted the cruise of the Flynn yacht. The honeymoon was also disturbed by a suit filed by a 16-year-old French girl who alleged that Flynn had lured her aboard his yacht a year previous and attacked her in the shower.

As the end of the headlined year approached, gossips reported that Flynn again would be in the news. There were whispers that all was not well with the new marriage.

Find Darts Latest Craze Sweeping Quebec Towns

By DOUGLAS AMARON

SHERBROOKE, Que., Dec. 19—(CP)—An Englishman, transplanted to Quebec's eastern townships, would find himself quite at home these days. His favorite indoor sport—darts—has taken hold in unprecedented fashion, bringing more than the usual Christmas smiles to the dart and dart-board salesmen and the Canadian equivalent of publicans.

Inter-town competition has reached such a peak that on one recent Sunday afternoon close to 150 persons from North Hatley, Sherbrooke, Magog and Cowansville gathered at Hillcrest Lodge, best-known as a ski centre, to cheer on 72 players matching throws for the E.T. team and doubles championships of 1950.

Sherbrooke credits interest in darts here to Eddie Bush of Collingwood. Bush, a big defenceman, played hockey in Sherbrooke last season. He had played darts overseas during the war.

Through his efforts a board was set up in a sample room in one of the local hotels, a "Five O'clock Club"—so-called because that is the hour the boys usually gather after work—was formed and the darts bug took its first bite.

Flourished Well.

Eddie retired from senior hockey this year, went back to his home in Collingwood, but the darts game he introduced has flourished as never before.

There are two or three inter-town competitions every week, with as many as 30 players from each team taking part. For the E. T. championship, six teams entered their six best pairs and round-robin series was played. Magog won the title.

This tournament was really big league. Six boards were in use at a time for the championship; a ladies' tournament was played on a seventh board and an eighth was available for practice. Two score-keepers kept the results chart up to date and a public address system kept the spectators in the picture.

Now players are buying their own boards and setting them up at home and they're getting their wives interested in the game.

Shut Beverage Rooms 6:30 On Saturday

All eight hotel beverage rooms and the Canadian Legion beverage room will close Christmas and New Year week-ends.

The beverage rooms will close at 6:30 p.m. next Saturday and the following Saturday, to open again the following Tuesday morning at the regular opening time at noon.

This was announced today when the Liquor Licence Board approved a petition signed by all the hotels requesting the special closing hours.

Oak Hall To Become Convalescent Hospital

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Dec. 19 (CP)—Oak Hall, palatian home of Lady Oakes and the late Sir Harry Oakes, overlooking the falls, has been placed at the disposal of the Greater Niagara Hospital Trust. It will be used as a hospital for chronic and convalescent cases and is expected to relieve present congestion at the Greater Niagara Hospital.

Announcement of the gift by the federal health department was made today by Dr. W. H. McMillan, Liberal member of parliament for Welland.

The mansion, standing in beautifully-laid out grounds of 13 acres, was donated by Lady Oakes to the federal government three years ago with the idea of it being a great museum, but that was found to be impracticable. Lady Oakes now has given permission for it to be given to the hospital trust for use as a hospital.

It contains a swimming pool and its own water and telephone system.

Get Special Engine For Forest Fires

TORONTO, Dec. 19 — (CP) — A rugged little fire engine designed specifically for bush fires has been developed by the Ontario Lands Department, is was announced Monday.

The engine, mounting dual pumps on a three-quarter-ton truck chassis, was given a 1,000-mile road and field test this fall. It now is in storage at Parry Sound and will undergo further tests next spring.

The truck's special features — four-wheel drive, rubber fenders, two-way short-wave radio—adapt it to rough isolated terrain. Fully equipped, it weighs three tons and carries 197 gallons of water. A high-pressure low-volume system is designed to utilize its full capacity.

Department officials said its future use depends on the result of next spring's province-wide tests.

Americans Try To Buy Vacation Village

LONDON, Dec. 19—(CP)—William (Billy) Butlin, British resort owner, announced Monday that a representative of a group of United States business men is in London to discuss purchase of his partially-completed luxury "Vacation Village" in the Bahamas.

Butlin, a native of South Africa who once toured Canada's carnival circuit with his parents, has made a fortune out of running English resort villages but his camp on Grand Bahama Island has been on the verge of bankruptcy.

He refused to identify the American representative or his backers but said none of them had any connection with gambling interests.

There have been published reports that Florida gamblers were planning to take over the project and fly customers from the U.S. mainland in chartered planes.

New UK Meat Ration To Cause Difficulty

LONDON, Dec. 19 — (CP) — Food Minister Maurice Webb warned British consumers and butchers Monday that the nation's newly-reduced meat ration would cause many difficulties."

He called on the meat handlers "to do all within their power to help during the difficult period immediately ahead."

Last Wednesday Webb announced a one-third cut in present meat ration effective Jan. 1 following suspension of meat shipments from Argentina.

The cut, second to be announced in a week will drop the ration to only 10 pence (12 cents) worth of fresh meat and two pence worth of corned beef. The one-third cut followed another reduction last Monday which dropped the ration from one shilling and six pence to one shilling and two pence.

2,000 In West Face Famine Because Of Snow

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., Dec. 19 (CP)—Travel conditions said to be the worst in 70 years are threatening 2,000 Northern Saskatchewan residents with food shortages, a government official said Monday.

George Burgess, welfare officer returning from an arduous trip to Northwestern Saskatchewan, said many residents of the scattered settlements in the winter-gripped area will have only fresh fish to eat unless fresh supplies are taken in.

Floyd Glass, Jr., manager of the Saskatchewan Government Airways, said food and Christmas supplies for the settlements depends on hunters, trappers and fishermen marking out runways on solid portions of lakes and rivers for aircraft. That involved tramping down the snow with snowshoes and marking the fringes with evergreen boughs.

Trucks that usually take through supplies from Green Lake 115 miles northeast of Prince Albert, have bogged down in deep snow.

23 Inches Of Snow

An estimated 23 inches of snow has fallen. It has made landing operations by aircraft hazardous. Lake and river surfaces are fluffy and churned. The Beaver and Churchill Rivers are believed unsafe for landing for the rest of the winter.

The heavy fall has insulated the ice surface, depressing it below the water level or preventing formation of sufficient thickness.

Christmas and other supplies are piling at Fort Black. There is no way to move them for distribution to Isle Le Crosse, 176 miles northwest of here.

Whites, Metis and Indians have appealed to the Provincial Highways Department for assistance. Men are working "round the clock" to get the roads open, Mr. Burgess said. He said travel over the Green Lake-Beauval road is limited "to maybe one mile an hour and takes one gallon of gas an hour."

Commercial fishing also is suffering, he said. Catches are piling up with neither truck nor planes able for transport to railhead.

Elected Reeve

ST. CATHARINES, Dec. 19 (CP)—James W. Walker, deputy-Reeve of Grantham township, was elected reeve by acclamation at a nomination meeting here Monday night, his election was made possible when Reeve Ivan D. Buchanan, also nominated to the post withdrew. The post of deputy-reeve was also filled by acclamation when Councillor Keith D. Walker was the sole nominee. Eight of the candidates will contest for three seats on council in the Jan. 1 voting.

Begin Tests

TORONTO, Dec. 19 (CP) — A $35,935 March-of-Dimes grant will enable scientists at the University of Toronto to test the effectiveness in animals of a high-strength poliomyelitis antiserum as a protection against the disease, it was announced Monday night. The project will be headed by Dr. Andrew J. Rhodes, associate professor of virus infections.

PCI Choral Club Leads Carolling

PCVS' choral club and concert band led the students through a program of favorite Christmas carols Monday at the senior assembly. The girls' club under the direction of M. J. Curtis conducted the first portion of the program and the band under bandmaster Albert Croasdale the second half.

A girls' trio, Phyllis Hart, Ruth Grandy and Margaret Lang sang O Holy Night during the intermission. Miss Lang presented Mr. Curtis with a gift on behalf of the choral club which is composed of 65 girls.

Some of the carols the students sang with the choral club included It Came Upon A Midnight Clear, God Rest You Merry Gentlemen and O Little Town of Bethlehem. The club sang The Holy City and I Wonder As I Wander. The students sang seven carols with the band accompaniment, Joy to the World, While Shepherds Watched, Hark the Herald Angels Sing, Silent Night, The First Nowell, Good King Wenceslas and O Come All Ye Faithful.

Place Wreath

TORONTO, Dec. 19 (CP) — Members of Osgoode Hall Young Liberals Club placed a wreath on the grave of Mackenzie King Monday, commemorating his birthday. A brief service of prayer was held at the graveside, conducted by A. W. Maloney, club president, and Ray Tower, treasurer.

Order Investigation

TORONTO, Dec. 19 (CP)—An investigation has been ordered into the death of Sydney Mandel, 25, who was asphyxiated Monday in his northwest Toronto basement apartment by gas fumes seeping from a nearby main. It is the fifth time in 10 years that fumes have claim lives of people in the area.

Find Soviet Embassy Uses 'Scab' Plumbers

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (AP). —James B. Carey, president of the CIO Electrical Workers, said Monday night the Soviet embassy used non-union plumbers to install fire hose "presumably as a defence precaution against a possible bombing of Washington."

Carey said that the Soviet embassy had been employing "scab" labor in alteration work. He said this indicated that Russia is "no friend of organized labor."

100 Flee Flames

MONTREAL, Dec. 19 (CP) — A two-alarm fire Monday night destroyed a two-storey building in downtown Montreal and forced about 100 persons to flee their homes which adjoined the Clark Street structure. The building housed two refrigeration firms—Trans-Allied Refrigeration Company, Ltd., and the Coronet Refrigeration Sales. Damage was unofficially estimated at $50,000.

General Manager

OTTAWA, Dec. 19 (CP) — C. A. R. Snell, 46, of Winnipeg and Montreal, has been appointed general manager of the Canadian Commercial Corporation, on loan from the Canadian National Railways, it was announced here Monday. In a statement, Trade Minister Howe said "Mr. Snell will assist the managing director of the corporation, W. D. Low, to deal with the many pressing problems of procurement in connection with the expanded defence program."

Farm Home Burns

WINCHESTER, Dec. 19 (CP)—The farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Gregoire was razed Monday and the couple barely managed to escape with their five children when an overheated stove pipe caused an $1,800 fire. The blaze swept through the frame home rapidly, destroying the family's belongings. Winchester is 30 miles southeast of Ottawa.

Glass Splinters In Suitcase of Mrs. Sullivan Bring Arrest For Murder

OTTAWA, Dec. 19 (CP). —The murder hearing of Mrs. Marion Sullivan, 50-year-old Toronto woman, today goes into its fifth day in Ottawa's dingy police court with a dozen witnesses yet to be heard before the Crown completes its case.

Mrs. Sullivan is charged with the slaying of her 52-year-old lawyer husband, Francis J. Sullivan, who was chief solicitor for the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests. His bruised and scratched body was found in a Chateau Laurier Hotel bedroom here early on the morning of Nov. 18.

Police say an autopsy show that he had been beaten to death by blows on the head.

Mrs. Sullivan listened intently Monday to the lengthy testimony of detective-sergeant Albert Leblanc, who said that but for the finding of pieces of broken glass in her luggage, she might never have been charged with the murder of her husband.

Sgt. Leblanc related how police were not called into the case until the results of the autopsy showed Sullivan had been beaten. Meanwhile, Mrs. Sullivan had left the city by car for Toronto, and Sgt. Leblanc issued a provincial police call to have her brought back to Ottawa for questioning.

Glass Splinters Downfall

After she came back, he said she made three signed statements to police. On the strength of the first two of these, he said police were prepared to release her. But then Inspector Borden Hobbs, who also was working on the case, discovered a brown package containing pieces of broken glass in Mrs. Sullivan's luggage.

Asked why she had hidden the broken pieces of the bottle in her luggage, Mrs. Sullivan had said she had bought and paid for it and could do with it as she pleased.

Sgt. Leblanc said Inspector Hobbs then inspected Mrs. Sullivan's fingernails and under the nail of the third finger of the left hand had found some dried skin. Mrs. Sullivan explained that when she found the body of her husband on the floor when she awoke in the hotel room during the night of Nov. 17, she found blood dripping from one of the ears and had wiped it away, probably lodging some skin under the nail in the process.

Appeared Shocked

Sgt. Leblanc said a third statement was taken from Mrs. Sullivan after she had been warned that anything she might say could be used against her. He said Mrs. Sullivan appeared shocked that she was to be charged with murder.

R. K. Laishley, assistant defence counsel, began reading from one of the three statements taken from Mrs. Sullivan but was interrupted by Magistrate Glen Strike.

The magistrate warned newspapermen covering the hearing that they must publish nothing from the statements unless Mrs. Sullivan was committed for trial. The magistrate will decide on the question of committal when the hearing is completed.

Sgt. Leblanc, in reply to questioning, said the police did not use "threats or promises" to get the statements from Mrs. Sullivan.

Sailor Loses $2,200

TORONTO Dec. 19 (CP)—John Koren, a Great Lakes sailor, told police he was taken for $2,200 in $100 bills by a smooth-talking pair of men he met early Monday. The sailor said the pair told him they would give him $600 for every $1,000 he could show, so he drew $2,500 from his downtown bank. A card game started and Koren was soon out $2,200. Police arrested Manny Britstone Monday night and charged him with theft of the $2,200.

Electric Power Distribution Back To Normal

Utilities substation is back to normal distribution of electric power, operating partly by temporary arrangement, R. L. Dobbin, manager, said today.

The damaged section of the switchboard has been effectively repaired, and the station is now carrying on in its accustomed way.

The fire has been forcing the Commission to get ready to order new switchgear equipment, instead of making a somewhat reluctant approach to an expediture of around $200,000.

Replacement of the entire board of switches in the Aylmer St building had been considered as an investment of approaching necessity, but there was no immediate pressure behind it. But, the fire added the note of compulsion, and it is likely that the Utilities Commission will order the equipment early in the new year.

The linemen will be kept busy all winter on work that could not be overtaken before winter arrived.

In the waterworks department, the outdoor extensions have been halted for the present. Several small jobs remain, but the water line into the Cobourg Housing project on High St. hill has been set over until spring.

Daily Challenge To Locomotives

Races with trains at level crossings in the city may be a big thrill to the motorist, but as a steady diet it's too much for the train engineer, a CPR engineer complained to city police today.

Twenty to 30 times a day the engineer sees cars crossing the railway tracks in front of his train going against wig wag and flasher signals.

The crossings on George and Aylmer streets are the worst, he said. At these level crossings drivers slip across in front of huge engines every day knowing it takes some time for the steel wheels of the huge trains to slide to a stop on the smooth steel tracks.

Deputy Chief Constable John Naples agreed that going through signal lights at train crossings was just as much an offence against traffic regulations as going through a red light at a street intersection.

D. F. Drummond Fractures Hip

Well-known retired merchant, D. F. (Dunc) Drummond, 759 George St., fell Sunday night while winding a clock before going to bed and fractured his hip.

In his 91st year and alone in the house, Mr. Drummond was found lying on the floor about two hours after the accident by neighbors, who noticed lights on. He was admitted to the Civic Hospital where today his condition is said to be improving.

Mr. Drummond is owner of the Hamilton store on Simcoe St. At one time he was in a farm implement partnership with Senator J. J. Duffus in the Peterborough district.

Road Subsidy To County Remains Pegged

The worsening international situation may prevent the Department of Highways from giving municipalities extra financial help for the upkeep of their roads and bridges.

That was the warning given the county roads committee and the suburban area commission Monday by the Hon. G. H. Doucett, Minister of Highways and Public Works. The minister was making his annual visit to Peterborough county, and in a brief informal meeting he reviewed department policy in general terms.

"It all depends on the international situation," was the reply to the question of whether or not the department would raise the ceiling on the approved expenditure for each municipality.

The department now pays a subsidy on the municipality's appropriation, providing this does not go beyond a figure which it approves in advance. In Peterborough county the amount is $160,000. The department will pay a 50 per cent subsidy on roads and an 80 per cent subsidy on bridges up to this expenditure. Over it the municipality bears the cost alone.

Most municipalities — Peterborough county being one of them—feel that this is not enough money for the upkeep of their roads and bridges. The price of materials is going up. So they are asking the department to raise the ceiling on their approved appropriation.

Stop Bridge Building

The prospect is a "gloomy" one, said Mr. Doucett. Because of the war threat steel allocation has been cut off. Bridge building will be eliminated except where "most essential."

This year Ontario municipalities will have spent $45,000,000, said Mr. Doucett. There are now 1,076,000 registered motor vehicles in Ontario, an increase of 18,000 since March 1, 1950. This increase was not confined to any one district in the province but was general, he said.

TAR POT FIRE

Firemen were called to the Canadian Sealright Co. plant, Aylmer St., Monday night when a tar pot on a hot plate boiled over and the tar ignited. There was little damage and firemen extinguished the blaze with a hand pump.

WITHHOLD GRANT

Belleville council is not going to pay its fair board the $450 grant that was put in the estimates for the year. The fair is in good fiancial condition and doesn't need the money, say the aldermen, "so there is no reason why the city should subsidize it."

PLAYER HURT

Douglas Hunter, Lakefield hockey player, was admitted to the Civic Hospital late Monday night with an injured back. The injury was sustained when he received a stiff bodycheck followed by a collision with another player while off balance in a game with Port Hope. He was reported to be resting comfortably this morning.

BOUGHT ONE TICKET

M. Hart, 701 Park St., winner of the Lakefield Curling Club car Saturday night, bought just one ticket. He didn't splash with dollar purchase of a book of them. His investment was the 25c on the basis of one being as good as a million, when it is the one. George Graham, of Lakefield, won the door prize at the curling carnival, and a quilt went to Mrs. H. McCracken, of Lakefield.

Imming Trial Adjourned To June Court

The trial of Paul Imming, Lake St., facing nine charges of forgery and false pretences, in conection with an alleged $100,000 car finance swindle, was adjourned to the next general sessions of the peace in June as a result of the death Sunday of Judge Dilly B. Coleman, 60, of Whitby.

Judge J. A. McGibbon, Lindsay, was presiding over the Peterborough county court for this sitting because of the recent illness of Judge S. L. Smoke.

Judge McGibbon said he was faced with the dilemma of his duty as a friend of Judge Coleman clashing with his duty to the court. However he said he thought it would not best meet the ends of justice to start the trial of Imming immediately.

He pointed out that if the trial were started Monday, it would have to be adjourned to Wednesday to allow him time to go to the funeral. Another adjournment would be necessary Monday and Tuesday, Christmas and Boxing Day.

Counsels Agree

Both Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw and defence counsel W. J. Arthur Fair, K.C., agreed these interruptions would not be fair to either side.

Judge McGibbon, Mr. Bradshaw and Mr. Fair all said the death of Judge Coleman was a loss to the judiciary of Ontario.

When Judge Coleman was on the bench, a unique condition existed in that all the judges of the district, which included Peterborough, Victoria, Haliburton, Northumberland, Durham and Ontario counties were members of the class of 1913-16, Judges McGibbon pointed out.

Judge McGibbon asked all in the court room to rise and observe one minute's silence in memory of Judge Colman.

Coffee Shop Owner Starts Fund For Caldwell Sisters

David House of The Coffee Shop at the corner of Water and Hilliard streets presented $32.84 Tuesday night to the Caldwell sisters whose sketchy living quarters nearby were partly damaged by fire last Thursday.

"I put a glass bowl on the counter," Mr. House said today confirming a report from the neighborhood, "clipped out the Examiner story of the fire and pasted it on the bowl with a sign to catch the eye of customers, and we got that amount. It was mostly made up of small offerings of 25 cents and so on from people who came into the shop. A lot of them were young folks, regulars at our coffee shop".

This collective gift was inspired by the family attachment of four sisters and a young brother who have been living in a renovated garage and cabin on the lot adjoining 887 water St., in the north end of the city.

Serious Setback

The reporter's account of the fire which destroyed bedding and clothing indicated a serious setback to a gallant family group who have been trying to keep together in adversity. Their mother is dead, and the father is said to be living in Toronto.

The older girls, 17 and 19 years of age, are employed as ward aides at Peterborough Civic Hospital. The younger girls and brother are attending school. This family group is apparently being together as a unit by the efforts of the two older sisters. Their circumstances touched the sympathy of the Coffee Shop customers, and Mr. House said he understood that neighbors had contributed bedding to replace the furnishing lost in the fire last week.

"What they really need is better living quarters," Mr. House said.

Clerk Expects Busy Poultry Markets

A fairly large poultry market is expected Wednesday morning and extra large Christmas market Saturday by market clerk Harry Gabbutt.

A number of farmers, he said, plan to bring their turkeys, geese ducks and chickens to market on Wednesday. He expected that turkeys and geese would out-number the chickens which do not sell as readily during the Christmas season.

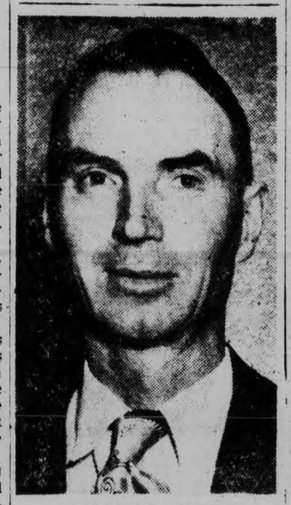

Sales on the market to date are running about the average, he commented. The amount of fowl from the district producers is also average.

Saturday Big Day

Saturday will be "The day on the market. Mr. Gabbutt expects this market to be the busiest of the year. People, he said, wait until the last minute to make purchases and from the slow buying on last Saturday's market, the produce will be plentiful this week. Christmas fowl was plentiful at the close Saturday and most of it was taken home for this week.

Wednesday's market will be entirely outside. The market building will be decorated Wednesday morning for the Chamber of Commerce—Peterborough Business Men's Association Christmas tree which will be on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons. The Saturday market will be in the building as well as outside. If Wednesday is as cold as today, Mr. Gabbutt expects the market to be smaller.

Prices for fowl on the market are not much different than last year, according to Mr. Gabbutt. Turkeys are selling from 60c a pound to 75c, geese from 55c to 60c and ducks, a little scarce, from 50c to 55c a pound. Chickens vary from 45c to 55c depending upon the quality.

KENNETH JUNKIN

Harvey Recount Elects Kenneth Junkin

A single vote was the margin of the win Kenneth Junkin of Bobcaygeon scored over his opponent, Kenneth Hunt, for councillor in the recount held Monday afternoon before Judge S. L. Smoke. This makes Mr. Junkin Harvey township's fourth councillor.

At the election held December 4 both Mr. Junkin and Mr. Hunt polled 170 votes. But at the recount held in Judge Smoke's chambers Monday it was found that one ballot for Mr. Junkin had been overlooked at poll 2.

Mr. Junkin is now beginning his fourth term on the Harvey Council, while Mr. Hunt is a newcomer to township politics.

Following is Harvey's full 1951 slate of officers: Charles Flynn, reeve; councillors: Tom Gordon, Charles Johnston, James Irwin and Kenneth Junkin.

Had the two still been tied after the recount, Mrs. Bruce Hall of Buckhorn, township clerk and returning officer, would have been required to cast the deciding vote.

Here is a breakdown of the count by polls:

	Hunt	Junkin
Poll No. 1	90	40
Poll No. 2	20	52s
Poll No. 3	44	31
Poll No. 4	16	48
Total	170	171

Four ballots were spoiled but they would not have affected the outcome in any case. Three of them included the names of both candidates, and the other included neither.

Mayor Proclaims Boxing Day

By resolution of the Council of the City of Peterborough, passed on Dec. 14th, 1950, I have been authorized to proclaim Boxing Day, December 26th, 1950, as a Civic Holiday in the City of Peterborough.

MAX J. SWANSTON, Mayor.

Visit To Oslo Highlight Of RCN Cruise

When AB Harold Keene left his College St. home in Peterborough in 1948 to join the navy, he left a 98-year-old city which was preparing to build a city hall to be dedicated in the city's centennial year.

On September 26 of this year, he landed in Oslo, Norway, from the destroyer Micmac, and saw a 900-year-old city building a $9,000,000 city hall.

Harold is now home on 15 days leave, and has to report to Halifax and the Micmac again December 30. This fall, he sailed on the Micmac which was accompanying the aircraft carrier Magnificent and the other destroyer Huron on an 81-day cruise visiting ports of North Atlantic Pact nations.

On August 23, the three Canadian ships left Halifax, and on September 1 docked at Londonderry, Ireland, where the ships took part in exercises with parts of the British fleet.

From Londonderry the ships went to Rosyth, Scotland, where they spent four days before leaving for Oslo. After six days in Oslo, capital of Norway, they travelled to Gothenburg, capital of Sweden.

Two Days in Copenhagen

They left Gothenburg on October 5 after a two-day visit for Copenhagen, spent three days there, and went on to Amsterdam. The Magnificent separated from the two destroyers and went to Rotterdam and Portsmouth while the destroyers visited Antwerp and Cherbourg after Amsterdam.

Outside Cherbourg, the "Maggy" rejoined the destroyers, and from the French port they went to Lisbon, Portugal. After a three-day visit in Lisbon the ships went on to Gibraltar where they joined the British Home Fleet for exercises lasting three days.

They left for Bermuda November 9 and arrived there November 20 for re-fuelling. Leaving there November 22 they arrived in Halifax November 27, one day late because of heavy storms between Bermuda and the home port.

The storm wasn't altogether to blame for their late arrival, Harold said. At Bermuda, the ships were joined by the frigates La Heloise and Swansea, which could not make much headway against the heavy seas, which ran 60 feet high at times.

Barring a trip to Paris, made while the ships were at Cherbourg Harold said the high spot of the trip was the visit to Oslo. The whole city has been rebuilt since the Germans occupied Norway and is one of the most modern cities in the world.

In Paris, about 150 members of the three crews visited the Eiffel Tower, the Folies Bergeres and a number of French restaurants.

Harold said it was difficult to judge how well off the Parisians were because of the great numbers of tourists in the city, but as far as he could see, Europeans were fairly well off.

The high spot of the trip was Paris, Harold said, and although he was glad to be back in Canada, the return to Halifax was a letdown.

Killed When Truck Hit Car Thought Lindsay Route To Toronto Shorter—Wife

Claude Lindstrom, Nptheline Mines, died because he thought the way to Toronto by way of Lindsay was shorter than by Port Hope and turned around to go by way of Lindsay, evidence revealed today at the preliminary hearing of a charge of motor manslaughter against Allen Dillon, Oshawa, driver of the heavy truck which met in collision with the Lindstrom car at the Chemong turn Nov. 17. Both John Dexter, Levack, Ont., who was a passenger in the car with Lindstrom, and Mrs. Lindstrom said the three of them started out Highway 28 by way of Lansdowne St. But when they got a short distance out the highway, Lindstrom decided to go by way of Highway 7 through Lindsay because he thought it was shorter. Lindstrom turned around, went through Peterborough and out the Chemong road.

Lindstrom was killed instantly when thrown out by the crash which sheared the roof off his car.

Dexter, who had been working at the Nepheline Mines, said when they arrived in Peterborough, he and Mrs. Lindstrom went to a hotel and had four glasses of beer. Lindstrom joined them later with another friend who had come from the mine with them, Stanley DeWolfe, 647 Park St.

Had Two Beers

He said Lindstrom had only one or two glasses of beer. As far as he knew Lindstrom had had nothing more to drink that day.

Dexter said he was sitting with his left arm on the back of the seat facing toward the other two in the car. He didn't see the approaching truck until it was nearly upon them. He said Lindstrom had just started into the turn, when he apparently saw the truck and turned sharply to his right to try to go behind the truck which was coming south out of the Chemong Rd. into the highway.

Dexter saw the truck for only an instant slightly to the side of the car, but he got the impression it was loaded with coal. He then flung his left arm in front of his face and put his right hand on the handle of the door. He was tossed out of the car by the impact and landed on the highway.

Stunned

He was stunned for a short time and suffered a gash on his right hand, a cut on his left wrist and had a cut on the side of his head.

He said he was not sure if the truck hit their car or their car hit the truck. He had little idea of the speed except that he thought it was about 50 miles an hour. He said there were no brakes applied in the car before the crash as far as he could tell.

Mrs. Lindstrom then took the stand. She had a long scar which started above her right eye and went on up into her hair.

She said Dexter had just lit her cigaret before the crash.

Roaring Out of Road

"The truck came roaring out of the road at the side," she said, "going very fast, it seemed." She said the truck didn't stop.

Just before the crash her husband "gave me an awful whack as he swung the wheel to go up the road."

"I remember seeing the engines. There was one flash. I thought we were going to miss it," she said.

She said as she was sitting in the car she was facing a trifle to the right. She first saw the truck on the south side of the side road which cuts off the Chemong road to the west to join the Lindsay highway west of the turn.

At that point the Lindstrom car was "just nicely started in the bend."

Must Have Turned

She said she wasn't sure if their car changed its speed before the crash. Cross-examined as to whether her husband had actually got the car turned at all before the crash, Mrs. Lindstrom said "He must have got turned. As he started to turn I could see the truck out of the right hand side window. The last glimpse of the truck was through the windshield." It was then directly in front of her windshield, she said.

She was unconscious for some little time. When she came to she was sitting alone in the car. There were people around the scene. After she got out of the right door she sat on the right runinng board of her car and saw Dexter standing up a little distance down the road. The Lindstrom car was mostly on the pavement pointed into the ditch in a westerly direction. Through the car Mrs. Lindstrom could see the truck tipped over in the ditch.

The case adjourned until the afternoon.

Building permits issued in Smith township this year by William Telford are estimated at $473,434 in new realty value, within the municipality. He completed review of the year and listing of new properties this morning.

Work for which permits were issued this year were: 41 dwellings; 38 summer cottages; two motels, one on the Lakefield highway and the other on the Chemong Highway; two schools at Bridgenorth; two storehouses; one tinshop, factory on No. 7 highway; one body shop; Bridgenorth fire hall, three boat houses, one substation, the big Hydro job near Lily Lake; and two garages.

Number of summer cottages on township shores were more than 800 last year, and the total is approaching 900, according to Mr. Telford's count.

Smith water front extends along Chemong, Buckhorn Lakes, Deer Bay, Lovesick Lake, Stony Lake, Clear Lake.

"Our total for 1950 was not quite up to the amount of the building in the township in 1949" Mr. Telford said, "but it was still quite an active year."

Welfare Officer Expects Surplus

The city's welfare committee should finish the year with a credit balance as reported by A. G. Metheral, welfare officer, to the committee of which Ald. P. J. Anglesey is chairman.

November distribution of relief amounted to $3,818.14 as compared with $3,296.19 in that month last year. The number of persons receiving assistance was 194 last month as against 200 in Nov., 1949.

Total welfare costs for 11 months was $41,044.50; salaries and other administration expenses bring the total to $48,091.70.

Ontario government assumes $17,871.57 of the cost for 11 months; leaving the amount chargeable to the Peterborough taxpayers at $30,033.13.

Welfare appropriation for the year was $37,800 leaving $7,579.87 to the credit of the department for December.

Urges Ontario Establish Price Controls

TORONTO, Dec. 19 (CP). — Ontario government price controls on milk and rents were urged Monday night by Miller Stewart, president of the Ontario CCF Association.

In a free-time provincial affairs broadcast over a CBC Ontario network, Mr. Stewart said uncontrolled "selfishness" on the part of great corporations is making life "very hard" for Canadians.

Speaking on the same program, Robert Thornberry, CCF member of the legislature for Hamilton Centre, said a recent report by Mr. Justice W. D. Roach of the Ontario Supreme Court on the Workmen's Compensation Act vindicated a stand taken by the CCF for years.

Mr. Stewart asked why, when Canada "showed the way to the entire world in 1941," the federal government now hesitated to apply controls at a time when defence expenditures threatened to cause new price rises.

The policy of "wait and see if United States controls bring down our prices" is based on a "childishly sublime faith in the so-called self-regulating market called self-regulating market—the pricing mechanism that is supposed to be ruled by enlightened selfishness."

Milk and rents were two things the provincial government could put under price control if the Dominion government did not act.

United Church Expands In '49

TORONTO, Dec. 19 (CP). — The United Church of Canada showed expansion in all departments in 1949, it reported in the church year book issued recently.

An additional 30,000 new members were received into the church, bringing total membership to 806,179, the church reported. More than $22,500,000 was raised by 2,648 pastoral charges during the year, an increase of about $2,000,000 from 1948.

Ministers' salaries paid totalled $5,011,391 compared with $3,515,876 in 1940, the low mark following the depression years. Total number of persons under pastoral care was 1,916,908 in 1949, an increase of 55,000 over the previous year.

At the end of the year, total value of church property stood at $125,994,207 and total liabilities of congregations at $3,738,748.

Fraserville Women Re-elect Mrs. R. Lobb

FRASERVILLE, Dec. 19 (ENS) —The WA of Fraserville United Church held its annual meeting at the home of Mrs. Keith Larmer. The president, Mrs. R. B. Lobb, presided. The Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Keith Larmer. Plans were made for the annual congregational meeting to be held on January 10. the election of officers, which resulted as follows: President, Mrs. R. B. Lobb; vice-president, Mrs. W. G. Waterman; secretary, Mrs. J. O. Pue; treasurer, Mrs. Keith Larmer; quilt committee, Mrs. P. Moncrief and Mrs. Arthur Hewitt; flower and fruit committee, Mrs. R. B. Lobb and Mrs. K. Moncrief.

The meeting was closed and supper served.

Wins Appeal In Stabbing Case

TORONTO, Dec. 19 (CP) — Mrs. Rae Leland, 40, sentenced last April to 12 years for manslaughter in the fatal stabbing of her landlord following a drinking party in an east-end rooming house, was freed Monday by the Ontario Court of Appeal.

Her husband, Keith, 45, tried jointly at the Spring Assizes on the same charge, was acquitted at that time.

His widow testified that both couples had been drinking. Her husband went upstairs to quiet the Lelands when he suddenly called out he had been stabbed. He never regained consciousness.

The appeal court criticized the trial judge, Chief Justice J. C. McRuer of the Ontario Supreme Court, for "inaccuracy, prejudging and misapplication of rules of evidence."

Chief Justice McRuer had said in sentencing Mrs. Leland: "human life is very sacred and the public expects the court to administer the law. You stabbed a man in the throat and brought about his death."

Cold Halts Shipping

PORT ARTHUR, Dec. 19 (CP) —Sub-zero weather has halted all shipping in the harbor and nipped off an expected herring harvest before fishermen got started. The herring run usually starts about Dec. 1 but not this year. "We think the herring are arriving out there now but we can't get at them," said one leading commercial fisherman.

Canada Starting New Period Of Expansion

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Canada, from most indications, is starting upon a new period of expansion which may equal that which she has experienced since 1939.

Since that year it is estimated that she has increased her production by 75 per cent, while she has added some 3,000,000 to her population.

Perhaps the biggest question mark in this picture of growth is whether Canada has enough people to carry it out.

Most of her ordinary working force now is at work, and extra needs can be met only through increased efficiency of both men and machines; through finding whatever extra working force there may be, perhaps chiefly among women; and through what people she may get through immigration, if time remains to get them.

Develop New Resources

In the years since 1939, and especially in the last two or three years, Canada not only has expanded production from her previously-known resources, but has found new ones from which to expand further, notably oil, iron ore and some other minerals.

Every grim piece of news which we read these grim days only confirms that Canada must produce more, and the needs are only beginning to be disclosed.

The mobilization of the United States will undoubtedly accelerate fast from here in. We will not necessarily follow exactly every step which that country may take; but whether we do it her way or in some way of our own, we shall probably be doing, so far as results are concerned, about the same thing.

Reject Wage Demands

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (AP) —General Electric Corporation and Westinghouse Corporation Monday rejected demands by the United Electrical Workers for immediate talks on a new wage increase. The CIO union, which won increases of approximately 10 to 12 cents an hour from General Electric and Westinghouse last summer, has asked for new wage boosts in advance of the prospective wage-price freeze.

Union Blacklists Hotels For Cutting Down Staff

TORONTO, Dec. 19 (CP)—W. M. Murdoch, secretary of the Toronto Musical Protective Association, said Monday all Sheraton hotels in Canada have been "blacklisted" by both the association and the parent American Federation of Musicians (AFL).

He said union orchestras now performing at Sheraton hotels in Quebec will withdraw when their present contracts expire. Union men already have been withdrawn from all Ontario Sheraton hotels.

Commenting on a statement in Montreal by J. C. Udd, president of Sheraton Ltd., Mr. Murdoch said a dispute at the King Edward Hotel here touched off the blacklisting.

When Sheraton took over the hotels from the Cardy Interests last winter, 16 musicians at the King Edward were given notice, Mr. Murdoch said. The union protested and the hotel agreed to keep the musicians on until the end of May when the summer season started.

The company then offered to keep eight men, later increasing it to 11, Mr. Murdoch said.

Don't Want Concession

He said the union held out for the original 16 men, "in fairness to competing hotels," because if concessions were made to the King Edward the union would be morally obligated to re-negotiate contracts in force with all other hotels.

Commenting on Mr. Udd's statement that the hotel was operating its entertainment facilities at a loss, Mr. Murdoch said "all hotels do that."

When the company refused to keep all the musicians, the association blacklisted the King Edward and withdrew its men. The international union followed with a ban against all Sheraton hotels.

A few union men are still employed at the Mount Royal Hotel in Montreal, and the Alpine Inn at Ste. Marguerite Que. No union men have been employed at the Laurentian Hotel in Montreal for some time, Mr. Murdoch said.

The company's hotels in Ontario include the King Edward, the General Brock, Niagara Falls; Royal Connaught, Hamilton; Prince Edward, Windsor; and Lord Elgin, Ottawa.

Havelock Group Gives Concert

HAVELOCK, Dec. 19 (ENS).—The annual Sunday school Christmas concert of Knox Presbyterian Church was held on Friday evening and was well attended. The Rev. R. D. Duncanson officiated as chairman for the program of which Mrs. Fred L. McKenzie was convener. Mrs. George Sisco was the pianist.

Two special items on the program were a one-act play "Heck Says It" presented by the Bible class under the direction of Mr Duncanson and a skit "Out! The Window Is Down," presented by the following members of the Young Women's Association: Mesdames G. Sisco, J. Milburn, C. Scott, J. Scott, T. Watson and Miss Beverley Bennett.

Other items were: selections by the Rhythm Band comprising members of the primary class; recitations by Ronnie Rutherford, Barbara Ann Scott, Bonnie Rutherford, Bobby Watson, Carolyn Anderson, Bobby Rutherford; a vocal trio by the McNeely brothers; a nursery rhyme novelty with Carol Rutherford and Robert McKenzie taking the leading parts; a pantomime "Bless Be the Tie That Binds," presented by Dorothy Graham and Sheila Seabrook; a vocal trio by Misses Joan Graham, Beverley and Shirley Bennett; the Christmas Vision by the senior choir; three choruses by the school. The closing number was an acrostic "Good Night" by the beginners' class.

Havelock YWA Holds Christmas Meeting

HAVELOCK, Dec. 19 (ENS).—The Christmas meeting of the Young Women's Association of Knox Presbyterian Church was held at the home of Mrs. R. B. Sayers.

The devotional period was led by the vice-president, Mrs. F. McKenzie, the scripture lesson read by Miss Essie McQuigg, and two carols were sung.

It was decided that the Association would assume the expense of purchasing gifts for the children of the Sunday school to be distributed at the annual Christmas concert.

Miss E. McQuigge, Mrs. F. Bennett and Mrs. B. Curtis were appointed a committee to arrange the programs for 1951. It was also decided to be responsible for the sale of the 1951 church calendars.

A skit was presented by six members, and two contests were enjoyed after which Santa Claus arrived to distribute gifts.

Mrs. F. McKenzie and Mrs. G Kennedy were the program conveners. Lunch was served at the close by Mesdames G. Sisco, G. Kennedy and R. Sayers.

Sunday School Classes At Marmora Hold Party

MARMORA, Dec. 19—(ENS)—St. Andrew's United Sunday school held its Christmas party in the church hall on Friday evening. Member of the Women's Association served an appetizing supper, following which E. C. Prentice, superintendent, presided over an impromptu program which included the singing of a number of carols by the school and individual numbers by scholars.

At the appointed time, Santa Claus made his appearance to assist in the distribution of the Christmas treat and gifts from the tree.

WMS Elect '51 Officers At December Meeting

HASTINGS, Dec. 19—(ENS)—The Christmas meeting of the WMS of Trinity United Church was held on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Arnold Poole. Eleven members were present and roll call was answered with a verse on love.

The Christmas program was taken by the leader, Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe, assisted by H. E. Oliver. Mrs. R. Collins, stewardship secretary, received the offering. Mrs. Poole assisted by Mrs. Cecil Oliver served lunch.

Hold Euchre Party

COTTESLOE, Dec. 19 (ENS).—The South Dummer UFWO held their regular euchre party and dance last Friday night in South Dummer school. First prizes were carried away by Mr. and Mrs. Charles McMillan, second prizes by Mrs. Orval Watts and Mr. Jack Baker. After lunch dancing was enjoyed by all, music supplied by Miss Roberta Brooks, Mr. Charles McMillan and Leona.

Something to remember

This is one of a series of words and expressions whose origins and meanings are published in the interest of a better understanding, use and knowledge of the English language.

"THE APPLE OF THE EYE"

Something uncommonly dear to us is often referred to as "the apple of our eye."

Literally, this "apple" of which we speak means the pupil of the eye because in ancient times the pupil was thought by all to be a round solid ball very much like an apple. Because of this we speak of "the apple of our eye" when we mean something or someone extremely dear to us.

Seaway Plan Power Possibilities

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18—(CP)—The Niagara and St. Lawrence Rivers together with New England streams, are capable of providing some 5,000,000 kilowatts in now-undeveloped power, President Truman's water resources policy commission estimated Monday.

The commission noted in a formal report that Truman mentioned the power possibilities of the area when he urged Congress last Feb. 9 to push the St. Lawrence seaway and power project.

At that time, the commission said, Truman "called attention to the possibility of low-cost power for the northeast through interconnection of the 2,000,000 kilowatts of undeveloped base-load hydro-electric power in the Niagara and St. Lawrence Rivers with the 3,000,000 kilowatts of undeveloped peak-load hydro-electric power in New England streams."

A total of approximately 25,000,000,000 kilowatt-hours a year of electrical energy is involved, the commission added.

Under Study

The possibilities of harnessing the various rivers and streams will be under study during the next two years by a special government committee.

A preliminary study of the possibilities of combining the St. Lawrence with New England power, the commission reported, shows that development of the international section of the St. Lawrence, interconnected and coordinated with about 1,166,000 kilowatts in some 52 developments on other north-east streams would provide a total of 1,866,000 kilowatts of dependable power capable of supplying an average of nearly 10,000,000 kilowatt hours a year delivered to load centres at not more than 0.6 cents per kilowatt hour.

Delay Ratification

Nine years ago Canada and the United States signed an agreement for joint development of the St. Lawrence River's power resources and a seaway which would enable heavier tonnage to move between the Atlantic and the Great Lakes, but US Congress has held up ratification.

Recently, however, powerful voices have been raised in favor of going ahead with the project.

President Truman said in a September 15 message to the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Association that the project is needed to make a "major contribution to our growing economic strength."

As for the Canadian position, the Dominion's Transport Minister, Lionel Chevrier, and other Cabinet members have hinted in public addresses that Canada may consider going ahead with the St. Lawrence project herself if it continues to be stalled in US Congress.

Police Discount Idea Of Foul Play

MONTREAL, Dec. 19—(CP)—The Montreal Missing Persons Bureau said Monday the brothers Frank and Alec Balazo, aged 29 and 27 respectively, sought since Wednesday, may have been seen at Midland, Ont.

Their family, however, continued to believe foul play was connected with their disappearance although police discounted the belief.

Det.-Lieut. Bill Phillips, head of the Missing Persons Bureau, said an unidentified seaman, who saw the Balazos' pictures in a Montreal newspaper Friday, "thought" he had seen them in Midland.

Australia's 77th Fighter Squadron Wins High Praise; Have Flown 2,000 Combat Sorties

TOKYO, Dec. 19 (Reuters) — Pilots of Australia's 77th fighter squadron, the first and only Commonwealth squadron to operate from Korean bases so far, have flown more than 2,000 combat sorties.

As a result of its work, the squadron has won high praise from Lt.-Gen. George E. Stratemeyer, commanding general of Far East air forces.

There was a sprinkling of veterans among the pilots of No. 77 squadron when the North Koreans struck across the 38th parallel, but the great majority were youngsters with no previous combat experience.

The squadron's main role in Korea has been direct and indirect support of ground forces. In the early stages they were called on to provide fighter escorts to bomber formations. But with the rapid elimination of the small enemy air force, this duty became unnecessary and the squadron was switched to direct support as well as armed reconnaissance behind the enemy lines.

The flights are briefed at base on weather and intelligence information and are told to contact a controller in a certain combat area. A ground controller attached to the infantry force, or an air controller flying a light trainer, pinpoints targets fo the attacking Mustangs.

Striking evidence of the devastating effect of close support operations by the United Nations fighter aircraft came from a captured North Korean colonel during the early fighting.

"A single fighter strafing a North Korean column," he said, "brings terror into the heart of every man in the column."

When the Pacific War ended, the 77th Squadron was assigned for duty in Japan as part of the Commonwealth Occupation Force By the end of 1949, all British squadrons had been withdrawn from Japan with the sole exception of No. 77 which remained at Iwakuni in Southern Japan. Though on occupation duty, it had continued intensive war training.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Final Batch of Cookies Before Christmas Festival

Optimistic and trusting readers are asking still for recipes to appear in this column before Christmas day. I am glad I received the mail in time to get these under the wire.

Swedish cookies and Kipferl are among the top five on the Hit Parade of Cookies—according to the Moore Poll.

I have to make them every Christmas time for my cookie pirates—if I want to keep peace.

Swedish Cookies

One-half cup butter, ¼ cup sugar, 1 egg yolk slightly beaten, 1 cup flour, 1 unbeaten egg white, ¾ cup finely chopped nuts—those may be black walnuts, hickory nuts, fliberts, pecans or walnuts. Cream butter well, add sugar, cream well. add yolk, beat well, then add the flour and work it in. Form into ¾-inch balls between your palms which should be slightly buttered. Drop in bowl containing egg white, lift out and roll in nuts. Place on greased cookie sheet, press almost flat with bottom of glass. Bake 5 minutes at 30 deg. Fahr. Remove from oven and make depression in centre. (I do this with my thumb, but it is hot work. Over the years my thumb has become practically fireproof.) Bake 15 minutes longer. They should be very pale. Fill depression with tart jam or jelly. Wild raspberry jam and red currant jelly are best.

NOTE: When you want to reduce expenses, these cookies may be rolled in finely chopped peanuts. It gives them an entirely different flavor—especially if you use marmalade or pineapple jam for the centres.

Kipferl

One-half cup shortening or butter or margarine, ¾ cup icing sugar, 3 egg yolks, ¾ cup ground blanched almonds, 2¼ cups sifted all-purpose flour, ⅛ teaspoon salt. Cream the shortening or butter until light and fluffy, then cream in the sugar gradually. Add the almonds, flour and salt and mix well. Take small bits of the dough and roll on floured board, or between palms into pencil-shaped pieces that are two inches long and tapering at each end. Arrange on greased cookie sheets in crescent shapes. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. for about 10 minutes. These amounts make about 5 dozen. They may be rolled in icing sugar while still slightly warm.

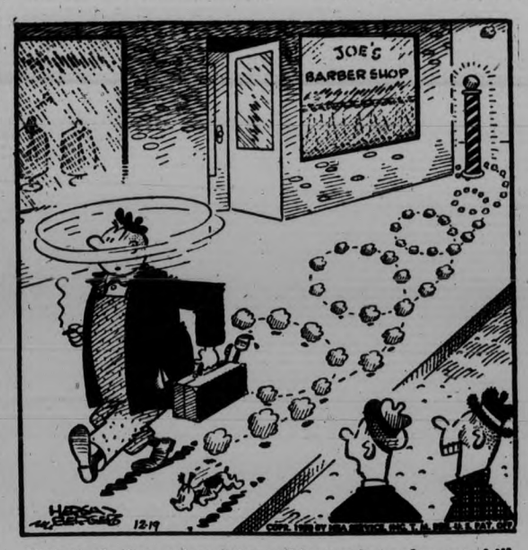

The following little morsels I am making to put in Christmas gift parcels. I almost have to make them in the middle of the night, and take them to my room, to keep them.

Pecan Meringue Dreams

One-half cup butter or margarine or shortening, ¼ cup icing sugar, 2 eggs, 1½ cups firmly packed brown sugar, 2 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon baking powder, 1 cup coarsely chopped pecans, ½ cup moist shredded cocoanut. Cream the shortening and sugar until fluffy and light. Work the 1 cup flour into them. Spread this shortbread mixture onto two greased pans about 8x8x2 inches. Spread with following batter. Beat the 2 eggs light and add brown sugar. Add the 2 tablespoons flour, baking powder sifted together. Mix smooth then add nuts and cocoanut. Spread over top of first mixture. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. for from 30 to 40 minutes, but do not burn. Cut into 2-inch squares with sharp knife when removed from oven. Remove from pan when cold.

Buckhorn WI Holds Christmas Party

BUCKHORN, Dec. 19 — The Buckhorn WI held their annual Christmas party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Shearer with a splendid attendance of members and visitors.

The president, Mrs. M. B. Hall, occupied the chair. The roll call was answered by a suggestion for a Christmas decoration or gift.

Plans were made for the sending of Christmas baskets and cards to the aged, sick and shut-ins.

Miss Nicholls, as convener, took charge of the meeting at the conclusion of the business period.

"The Christmas Story" was told in songs, pictures and suitable scripture passages readings. Those taking part were: Miss Miss Nicholls, Mrs. Dunsford, Mrs. Shearer, Miss Melba Pavey and Miss Lenore Armstrong.

The guest speaker was Mr. Kenneth Stewart, who took as his subject, "The First Christmas Worship," contrasting it with the present day worship.

The meeting closed with the singing of Christmas carols.

Christmas crackers were passed around, after which the hostess and her assistants served lunch.

Meet At Brookdale Home

Group Two of the WMS of George St. United church held a Christmas meeting at the home of the leader, Mrs. Wm. Woollard, Brookdale. The call to worship was a poem called "Bethlehem" Minutes of the last meeting were read and arrangements made for January. Roll call was answered with a quotation or text on Christmas. Mrs. J. Telford read the Christmas story as related by St. Luke. Mrs. Woollard then led in prayer. A Christmas reading, "The Tranquil Beast," was ably given by Mrs. H. Bamforth. Two Christmas carols were sung. A very tasty lunch was served by Mrs. H. Crowe and Mrs. E. Vance. A social hour followed.

Welsh Society Dinner

Annual Christmas dinner of St. David's Welsh Society was held Monday at the YWCA. Twenty members were present and spent a happy evening with carol singing and an exchange of gifts. They were entertained by All Saints' Junior Choir, led by Mrs. J. Howard, singing a group of old English carols. Welsh members Mrs. J. Henderson and Mrs. C. Armstrong sang a duet and Mrs. E. King a solo, both selections being Christmas numbers. Miss Margaret Flowers was pianist. A Christmas cake was donated by Mrs. E. E. Young and offered as a draw prize. Winner was Mrs. H. Bell. President Mrs. M. Pakenham presided for the evening. Christmas greens and candles decorated for the occasion.

Matchett, temperance Mrs. D. Chambers, telephone Mrs. E. Stewart, supply Mrs. F. Savigny, press Mrs. R. Stewart, social Mrs. E. Thompson.

Lunch was served and a social hour spent.

Rotarians' Ladies Guests at Christmas Party

Rotary Club members entertained their wives and friends at Ladies' Night Monday evening in the Kawartha Room of the Empress Hotel. Approximately 200 Rotarians, Rotary-Anns and guests enjoyed a turkey dinner which was complemented by colorful paper hats and holly corsages for the ladies.

The tables were beautifully decorated with Christmas favors and lighted candles.

President Hugh Waddell welcomed the guests and presided at the dinner. Max Comstock, chairman of the entertainment committee acted as master of ceremonies for the program.

The highlight was a duet "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" by Rotarians Ross Dobbin and Claude Elliott in honor of the visiting ladies. Guest artists were Mrs. James Goldie, Mrs. Chester Carson, both vocal soloists, Mrs. L. Rawson, accordionist, and Mr. Bob Aspinall, coloist.

Organ and piano duets of Christmas music were played by Charlie Allen and Harry Northrop. Mr. Northrop and Mr. Allen also played for Christmas carols with Jack Smith leading the singing.

Birthday presentations were made to the following Rotarians whose birthdays coincided with the date of the party: Gordon Munro, Frank Montgomery, Past President V. J. McElderry, Ted Weir and Director Syd Black.

At the end of the program all the ladies paraded to receive their Christmas gifts, a beautiful English china cup and saucer.

Guests of the evening included: Dr. and Mrs. J. Dawson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pope, Dr. and Mrs J Wishart, Mrs. Alma Belleghem, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cochrane, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Harrison, Frank Scholes, Miss Laura Davidson, Miss Helen Munro, Mr. and Mrs. George Rishor, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Maw, Dr. and Mrs. Harry Hamilton, Dr. and Mrs. Lou Calvert, Miss Joyce Dewart, Mrs William Mitchell, Miss Barbara Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lillico, Frank Patterson and Miss Ruth Kingan, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Rickards.

Ornamental Club And Y Swimmers Give Water Show

The Green Splash Christmas swim show of the YWCA and Ornamental Club swimmers on Monday evening drew an appreciative audience which viewed the performance from the decorated balcony.

Guest performer was Miss Joan Fitzgerald who is overcoming the paralysis of her legs with swimming under direction of Miss Audrey Hustwitt.

A cute novelty number by the Y juniors was titled "I'm a little white duck," Marion Weyer taking the part of the duck, Karen Wood, a green frog, Patsy Cunningham, the black bug, and Carol Howe, Margo Huffman and Ann Gariepy the red snakes, with Gail Wood as a lily pad.

Solos by Ornamentalists Beverley Rumary and June Storey in costume were "Rudolph" and "Sleigh ride of the Snow Queen." Fantasia Mexicana was done by Jean Millard and Norma Grant and "Jingle Bells" by Norma Delaney, Shirley Moldaver and Betty Welch.

Mary Jo Dorsett and Joan Lynch joined these seven club members in the "Raindrop Serenade" ornamental number.

The YW speed team of Patsy Cunningham, Carol Howe, Nancy Butler, Diane and Elinora Standish, Lynn Dorris, Gail Wood and Meredith Morgan performed. An exhibition of diving was presented by eight of the Y girls.

Life saving and novelty candle and balloon races were held with all the swimmers taking part.

Swimming director Miss Hustwitt and Ornamental Club coach Mrs. Pansy Forbes prepared the program.

MR. AND MRS. JOSEPH M. GEAR of Peterborough who were married Friday at the parsonage of Murray St. Baptist Church. The bride is Edna Dolores, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ephgrave, 854 George St. The groom is son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Gear of St. John's Newfoundland.

Pleasing Program Given Evening Auxiliary

Christmas meeting of St. Paul's Evening Auxiliary WMS was held Monday evening at the church, president Mrs. J. McLeod extending welcome and season's greetings. Devotions were taken by Miss Margaret Reid. A special offering was taken for the Christmas basket.

Mission Band members under leadership of Mrs. H. K. Bletcher presented a pleasing program of carols and recitations. Miss Marion Gledhill performed an Indian dance, accompanied at the piano by Tommy Caldwell. Before retiring, these entertainers were thanked by Miss Isabel Sutherland.

Guest soloist Mr. Jack Telford sang two numbers and was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. V. Read. Guest speaker was Mr. James Dutton who gave an informative talk on how work of the church is done, giving a brief picture of the General Assembly and other departments.

At conclusion Mr. Dutton officiated in the installation of a new slate of officers, as follows:

Honorary president, Mrs. C. G. Boyd; president, Mrs. J. McLeod; vice presidents, Miss Verna Johnson, Mrs. R. McIlmoyle; treasurer, Miss Eva Roberts; secretary, Miss Marjorie Nesbitt; study convener, Miss Margaret Reid; worship Miss Isabel Sutherland; social, Mrs. R. Barrie; press, Mrs. M. Smith; Glad Tidings, Mrs. E. Watson; telephone, Mrs. H. Frederick; welcome and welfare, Mrs. S. Hall; pianist, Mrs. V. Read.

Miss Mary Ross moved a vote of thanks to the guests of the evening. Carol singing and a social half hour concluded the evening.

DOROTHY DIX

Lost Job, Hang On to Girl Young Man In Love Advised

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am 25 year old. Have been out of college five years and have had a good job until two weeks ago when I lost it. I am very much in love with a girl, but since I am out of work I feel constrained when I am with her because she also works and makes good money. When I am with her my pride will not even let me mention my plans for the future, as we used to do when I had a good job. Will my being out of work at this time cause her to lose her respect and love for me, she knowing all the time that I am doing everything in my power to get work? I have always had a situation above the average and that is the kind I have been looking for since, because when you start falling down the steps it is hard to stop. Please advise me about my girl, for I am afraid if I don't get a job soon that it will have its weight with her, or any other woman as far as that goes. B. W.

ANSWER: You pay your sweetheart a very poor compliment when you assume that she will lose her affection for you because you have lost your job. If she is that kind of a girl and her only interest in you is what you make and what you can give her, you will be lucky to be rid of her at any price.

Most Women Want to Help

You don't know much about the hearts of women if you don't know that there is something of the eternal mother in every real woman that draws her closer to her man when he is in trouble than she ever is when he is prosperous. She wants to comfort him, to help him. She wants to lighten his worries and anxieties by sharing them, and to strengthen him and put fresh hope in him by her belief in him.

Your pride and your sense of independence are fine and admirable, but they are making you treat your girl cruelly when it causes you to shut up like a clam about your feelings and to quit talking and planning about your future. It makes her feel that you no longer love her and that you have shut her out of your confidence. That isn't giving her a far deal. She has a right to know just how you stand so far as she is concerned, and that you are just waiting until you get on your feet again to get married and set up that little home that you spent so many happy hours planning.

Anyway you are taking your loss of a job entirely too tragically. A chap who is as industrious and determined to have work as you are will get it. Perhaps you will get something better than you had before. That often happens, and what we think was a misfortune proves a blessing in disguise.

DEAR MISS DIX: After having been married only seven months, my husband and I realize that we had made a terrible mistake and that we could never get along together. Nothing wrong. We just made each other miserable. So we decided to end it and go our separate ways. We felt it would be wrong to have children when there was no love between us and bring them up in a home that was full of strife and quarreling. I went back to my people, but my parents are furious with me. They say that I have made a wreck of my life and that I have disgraced the family. Won't allow me to go out anywhere. Treat me as a black sheep. What am I to do?

WORRIED TWENTY

ANSWER: Most divorcees get a rather frosty welcome when they come back home after having made a hash of their marriages, so your experience is not exceptional. If you will look at it from your parents' point of view you will see that there is a good deal to be said on their side. They had looked forward, when their children got married, to having their home to themselves and their money to spend on themselves that they couldn't have when they had to buy you pretty clothes and entertain for you and see that you had a good time. And then, of course, they don't exactly enjoy all the gossip about your divorce.

But your parents are wrong in the way they are meeting the situation. If you have any trade or profession, they should get you a job. If you have no trade or profession, they should have you taught one. If they won't help you to help yourself, strike out on your own. You have no right to sponge on them, and you will be happier working than idle. Retrieve the mistake you have made. Don't let one folly ruin your life.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am considered ugly by people, but when I look in the mirror I don't look so bad to myself. Has an ugly boy a chance with an attractive girl?

LONESOME BOY

ANSWER: If you are handsome in your own eye, it doesn't matter how homely you appear to others. Anyway, a boy's looks don't matter to a girl, provided he is neat and well groomed and is interesting to talk to.

Canadian-trained Woman Manager Of Historic Hall

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

KING'S LYNN, Norfolk, England (CP)—What is believed Britain's oldest theatre now has the country's youngest woman manager.

She is 23-year-old, Canadian-educated Enid Vandyk, recently-appointed manager of St. George's Hall, King's Lynn. Last used as a theatre in 1814, St. George's is undergoing redecoration and will be opened by the Queen in July, 1951.

Enid, formerly secretary to Benjamin Britten, ranking British composer, is also manager of the 1951 King's Lynn festival.

"I'm hoping to direct many Canadians around its points of interest," Enid told The Canadian Press.

Former Evacuee

"It will be a reversal of old times," she added, remembering her arrival in Canada as a 13-year-old war evacuee, sent to school at Edghill, Windsor, N.S.

The theatre, dating from 1406, was built as a guildhall under royal charter from Henry IV, and has known many uses including courthouse, corn exchange, sailmaker's shop and armoury. Its theatrical history started in 1442 and tradition has it that Shakespeare acted there in 1593. Haydn's "The Nelson Mass" was performed there for Lord Nelson and Lady Hamilton after the battle of the Nile.

Largest Hall

Largest and most completely surviving guildhall in Britain, the theatre was saved from demolition by the late A. P. D. Penrose and presented to St. George's Arts Trust for rebuilding as a theatre. This is being carried out as closely as possible along the lines of the previous building and the fine trussed rafter roof has been retained and secured.

Redecoration is financed by grants and donations. Queen Elizabeth and Queen Mary have generously contributed and two seats will be named in their honor.

Only seven miles from Sandringham, the King's estate in Norfolk, King's Lynn and the theatre expect many royal visits. Part of the township's Festival of Britain program includes trips to Sandringham gardens and church, opened to the public for two to three days.

Canadian visitors to Britain find much of interest in King's Lynn, birthplace of George Vancouver, British sailor who discovered Vancouver island in 1792. Part of the birthplace, a two-storey cottage, is still in existence and open to visitors. The customs house where Vancouver's father worked is still in use.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

What's Right

You are inviting guests for a sit-down dinner.

WRONG: Tell them to come "around seven or so."

RIGHT: State a definite time. Say "seven o'clock." If the time is at all vague, some guests may show up late enough to make it difficult to wait dinner for them.

FAIR—Mr. and Mrs. Russell Fair of Indian River (nee Lowis Crowder) wish to announce the birth of a son, Peter Russell, at Civic Hospital, December 15, 1950.

4—Receptions

On the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. J. Knights, 545 Chamberlain Street, will be at home to their friends and neighbours on Sunday, December 24 from 2.30 to 5 p.m. and from 7 to 10 p.m.

5—Deaths

GORDON, Roland J.—Suddenly at his residence, 120 Lock Street, Monday, December 18, 1950, Roland J. Gordon, son of the late Clement Gordon and Leonice LaPlante, dear brother of Mrs. John Martyn and Miss Eva Gordon, of Peterborough. Resting at the Lane Funeral Home, 243 Hunter Street, until 8:45 Thursday a.m., thence to Sacred Heart Church for requiem mass at 9 o'clock. Interment St. Peter's Cemetery.

LYNCH, Daniel J.—Suddenly at the residence of his brother, John Lynch, lot 6, concession 6, Asphodel Township, Monday, December 18, 1950, Daniel J. Lynch, son of the late John Lynch and Margaret McGuire, dear brother of John, and uncle of Wilfred Lynch and Mrs. Joseph Powers of Asphodel. Funeral from the residence of his brother, 8 40 a.m. Wednesday, to Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church, Hastings, for requiem mass at 9 o'clock. Interment Mount Carmel Cemetery. (Arrangements by Duffus Funeral Home.)

6—In Memoriams

MURRAY—In loving memory of Mrs. Clarence Murray, who passed away Dec. 22, 1946.
Your memory to us is a keepsake,
With which we will never part,
Though God has you in His keeping,
We have you in our hearts.
—Sadly missed by her aunt and uncle.

SUCEE—In loving memory of Mrs. Richard Sucee, who passed away 14 years ago today.
Oft I think of you dear mother,
And my heart is filled with pain,
Oh, this earth would be a heaven
Could I hear your voice again.
—Ever remembered by daughter Janie.

SUCEE—In loving memory of mother, Dec. 19, 1936.
No one knows how much we miss you
No one knows the bitter pain
We have suffered, since we lost you
Life has never been the same.
In our hearts your memory lingers,
Sweetly tender, fond and true.
There is not a day dear mother,
That we do not think of you.
—Ever remembered by Stella and Tom.

7—Cards of Thanks

Mrs Howard Ford, Mrs. Stanley Johnston, and Mr. Thomas Ford, wish to express their sincere gratitude and appreciation to the Sisters, nurses and staff of St. Joseph's Hospital; the attending doctors, clergymen, McConnell and Warner Funeral Home, St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, and organizations, Women's Institute and all kind neighbours and friends for their many, many kindnesses, flowers, gifts, cards and messages during Mr Ford's illness and in the bereavement of their dear one.

Mr Alex Hall, of Lakefield, wishes to thank his doctor, nurses of the Civic Hospital and friends for flowers and cards during his illness.

The family of the late Mr. Wilbert H Peel wish to express their sincere thanks to all St. James' Church groups, Loyal Order of Moose No. 813, Corinthian Lodge No. 13, Women's Club, attending doctor, kind friends and neighbours for flowers, fruit, letters, cards, visits and acts of kindness, during his illness at St. Joseph's Hospital and at home. Grateful thanks to all for the many, many expressions of sympathy and beautiful floral offerings, and to Rev. Mr. Craik for his spiritual uplift during our recent loss of a dear husband, father and brother.

112 Children Given Gifts At AA Party

More than 300 people attended the Alcoholics Anonymous Christmas party held in St. Mary's Hall, Immaculate Conception Church, on Monday night.

Jim Burn and Frank Hamon acted as joint master of ceremonies for the program. Ted Bradshaw presented a magician's act and Herb Mullins entertained with a comedy violin act. Monsignor J. J. O'Sullivan and the Rev. Robert MacDonald of St. Alphonsus Church spoke briefly and welcomed the guests.

A total of 112 children were presented with gifts, bags of candies and nuts and oranges from a decorated Christmas tree by Santa Claus.

Parked Car Hit

A parked car was struck by another car driven by George Bouck, 484 Weller St., as he was travelling north on Aylmer St. Sunday night.

The parked car, owned by C. R. J. Carney, 288 Charlotte St., was parked on the west side of the street facing south in front of 163 Aylmer St.

The left front corner of the Bouck car collided with the left front fender of the Carney car. The impact drove the Carney car 22 feet north and up over the curb. Considerable damage was done to both cars.

6,000 Greet Santa Claus In Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 19 — (ENS)—Santa arrived in Campbellford in all his glory Saturday afternoon, when a crowd estimated at 6,000, double the population of the town, turned out to see the annual Santa Claus parade, sponsored this year by the Campbellford Rotary Club.

The parade was described by outside observers as one of the best between Toronto and Montreal, with its clowns, story book and nursery rhyme characters as well as comic strip heroes who rode on over 30 decorated floats. Service clubs and organizations in the town spent many hours getting trucks decorated for the occasion, as did lodges and businessmen.

The Campbellford Citizens Band led the parade, with Mayor J. E. Ayrhart and Fred Rutherford riding in a buggy drawn by two prancing ponies. Mr. Rutherford was responsible for the organization of the affair. The Havelock Kiltie Band supplied lively highland marches, and was much appreciated by the crowd.

Describes Floats

An announcer at the corner of Bridge and Front streets described each float as it passed his truck, over a PA system consisting of four huge loud-speakers suspended on wires over the intersection.

Humpty-Dumpt, Little Red Ridinging Hood, The Big Bad Wolf, The Three Little Pigs, The Three Bears, Superman and a host of others were represented in the procession which took close to a half hour to pass. Costumes were rented from a Toronto firm, and many were the same as had been worn in the Toronto parade. Even Rudolph the Rednosed Reindeer was there, in a cage drawn by a jeep. The kiddies seemed to get quite a thrill out of seeing the fawn with a red painted nose.

Extra Police Needed

Extra police were required to handle the huge crowds and the hundreds of automobiles which streamed into the town from all directions. Members of the Ontario Provincial Police from Brighton and Cobourg handled this job.

One outstanding feature of the parade was the authenticity of the floats, and the costumes. None appeared makeshift, and the settings were correct to the finest detail. Long John Silver, standing at the mast of his famous ship was a fine example of this.

AS 6,000 WATCHED, SANTA CLAUS rode into Campbellford Saturday. The old gnome himself is not shown in these pictures, but some of his helpers—Mayor J. E. Ayrhart and Fred M. Rutherford in a buggy, and some Indians chanting—were snapped. The parade was described by some observers as the best between Toronto and Montreal.

Sunday School Presents Annual Concert

HAVELOCK, Dec. 19—(ENS)—The Sunday school auditorium of the United church was filled for the annual Christmas concert when all the classes participated inn the program and the Rev. F. R. Vanderburgh officiaed as chairman.

The beginners' class, about 25 in number, sang "Away in a Manger." A recitation, "Little Jack Horner," was given by two boys and two girls, and a solo was sung by Renata Pakelis.

Bruce Melville's primary class followed with a chorus and four recitations by Kenneth Williams, Sonya Robertson, John Chiles and John Agnew.

The junior class, under the direction of Mrs. John Beatty, presented the pantomine, "O Little Town of Bethlehem," with Mrs. Beatty singing the carol. Those taking part were Jo-Ann Kennedy, Margaret Ann Stevenson, Marie West, Eleanor Wilde, Helen Anderson, Ferne Emery, Donna Johnson, Anne Hubbel and Elva Adams. A recitation was also given by Marie West.

Six intermediate girls, under the direction of Miss Elva Gerow, pantomimed "Silent Night." Those taking part were: Betty Toms, Keitha McMullen, Glenna Ellis, Joan Sexsmith, Viola Marlett and Gail Sanderson, Lorraine Thompson, Sandra Vansickle and Jean Kennedy. A piao solo was rendered by Betty Toms.

The following boys, under the direction of their teacher, Fred Rogers, presented a skit, "Here She Goes and There She Goes." Richard Vanderburgh, Glenn Ellis, Kenneth Johnson, Scott Sayers, Larry Sayers, Clifford Chase, Reginald Scott, Neal and Eldon McArthur.

Other numbers were: A vocal duet by Edith and Lorraine Thompson; a recitation by James Hoard; a vocal duet by Evelyn and Margaret Ann Stevenson.

Active Force Recruiting Here

Recruiting in Peterborough for the Canadian Army active force will be carried on today and Wednesday att he Armouries by Capt. J. P. MacDowell. This is the third time in three months that Capt. MacDowell, Queen's Own Rifles of Canada and Eastern Ontario recruiting officer, has been in the Peterborough area with a mobile recruiting unit.

As in his two previous trips, he is interviewing single men between the ages of 17 and 29 years and married men with a trade. In August, Capt. Roy Leamen, now of the Armouries A. and T. staff, recruited here for the active and special forces.

Capt. MacDowell was scheduled to begin operations here Monday morning, but was detained. About 15 local men visitcd the Armouries throughout the day wishing to apply for active service. The recruiting officer said that he expected to have good results today.

Commenting on the Eastern Ontario area for recruits, he said that he obtains more recruits from the Peterborough area than any other district in Eastern Ontario.

Following his drive here, Capt. MacDowell will spend the remainder of the week in Belleville.

Mrs. J. Graham Heads Mount Pleasant WA

MOUNT PLEASANT, Dec. 19—(ENS)—The Christmas meeting of the Mount Pleasant Women's Association was held at the home of Mrs. Ira Lowe, with the president, Mrs. Hubert Lowes presiding.

After singing "Away in a Manger" Rev. E. L. Linstead offered prayer and took charge of the devotional. He gave a very inspiring talk on "Christmas". Christmas he said means Christ, love, gift of God and love of God to men.

Roll-call was answered by 27 members, with a Christmas verse.

Splendid reports of the year's activities were given by the secretary and treasurer, the visiting sick committee and the card and flower committee.

The retiring president thanked the members for the support given her during her term of office and asked Mr. Linstead to conduct the election of officers for 1951: President, Mrs. J. Graham; vice president, Mrs. G. McLean; recording secretary, Mrs. D. Lawson; corresponding secretary, Mrs. I. Lowe; treasurer, Mrs. H. Baker; financial secretary, Mrs. A. Bland; organist, Mrs. J. Fee; official board rep., Mrs. Graham; visiting committee, Mrs. J. Lawson, Mrs. D. Hayes, Mrs. W. Walker; cards and flower committee, Mrs. H. Jamieson, Mrs. K. Morden, Mrs. I. Althouse and Mrs. H. Lowes.

Gifts were presented for Christmas cheer.

A special feature was the presentation of a life membership to Mrs. Norman Fee, a charter member of the WA and who is leaving the community to reside in Peterborough.

Mrs. Graham spoke on behalf of the members of Mrs. Fee's work in the WA and Mrs. J. Lawson presented Mrs. Fee with her pin.

Mrs. Fee, completely taken by surprise thanked the members and invited each to visit her in her new home.

The Christmas program included: duet, Silent Night, by Mrs. W. Walker and Mrs. E. Whitmore; Christmas Spirit by Mrs. W. H. Lowes; Softly the Night by Mrs. J. Lawson; Christmas Eve by Mrs. Thomas Graham.

In the candle-lighting service which followed, acknowledgments of Christ's gifts, as the five symbols of Christmas, joy, love, light, peace and hope, were given by Mrs. H. Jamieson, Mrs. M. Jones, Mrs. A. Tully, Mrs. N. Fee and Mrs. G. McLean respectively, while Mrs E. McLean lit a candle to each of these attributes of Christ, each candle lighting was followed by the singing of a carol on that special theme.

Tea hour hostesses were Mrs. T. C. Morden, Mrs. H. Jamieson and Mrs. Lowe.

Assisting in the service were Mrs. E. McLean and Mrs. S. Blake.

Christmas Concert

APSLEY, Dec. 19—(ENS)—The first Christmas concert was held in Trinity Church by the staff and pupils of the Sunday school. The main entertainment was a travelogue with views given by Miss Gladys Langton of Peterborough who visited the British Isles during the summer. Each Sunday school pupil received a gift. A beautiful bouquet of mums was presented to Miss Langton for her kindness in presenting this travelogue. A bouquet of roses was sent to one of the teachers, Mrs. Ross Reynolds, who is ill.

Expect 5,000 To Visit Santa

An estimated 5,000 children are expected to visit Santa Claus Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons at the market hall. There St. Nick will speak with the children from 3 p.m. until 5 p.m. upon his throne. The Christmas tree is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and the Peterborough Business Men's Association.

The children will be asked to line up at the north entrance to the building and file upstairs to see Santa. He will be assisted by a clown and a jester in giving out popcorn and horns. Christmas music will be broadcast throughout the hall.

Friday is expected to be the peak day, as children will be taking advantage of Premier Frost's half holiday to visit Santa for the last time before Christmas.

Hastings Women Re-elect Mrs. Baker

HASTINGS, Dec. 19—(ENS)—There was a large attendance at the Christmas meeting of St. George's Anglican WA held on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. D. P. Childs. The president, Mrs. C. M. Baker, opened the meeting with a Christmas hymn.

The annual election of officers resulted in Mrs. C. M. Baker being re-elected president; Mrs. Ellery Smullin and Miss Clara Williams as first and second vice presidents; Mrs. Wm. McGrayne, secretary; Miss D. P. Plant, treasurer; Mrs. E. Radford, Jr., Litle Helpers and ECD treasurer; Mrs. Robert Glass, Living Message secretary; Miss D. P. Child, press reporter; and Mrs. John Dainard, social secretary.

Then followed a pleasant Christmas program beginning with a poem by Edna Jaques, and Mrs. F. E. Birdsalls gave a reading. Then came the lighting of the Christmas candles and Mrs. F. E. Birdsall finished this part of the program with another reading. A trio, Mrs. C. M. Baker, Mrs. R. Glass and Mrs. J. R. Jones sang and Mrs. D. P. Child closed closed the meeting with a song.

A social period followed and refreshments were served.

William R. Field

Pallbearers at the funeral Monday afternoon of William R. Field, 78, 215 Princess St., who died Saturday at his home, included Frank Leether, Albert Bromley, Wilfred Jones Sr., Robert Wilson and Percy Luther.

Mr. Field was born in England, but came to Canada in 1906. He was a Boer War veteran.

The funeral service was at the Comstock funeral home, the Rev. E. W. Rowland of Grace United Church officiating. Burial was in Little Lake Cemetery.

Marmora News

Under auspices of Marmora Agricultural Society a dance was held in the town hall Friday evening.

Mrs. J. Sproule visited her husband in Belleville General Hospital on Saturday.

Weekend guests included: Mr. and Mrs. Alex Archer and daughter Linda, of Peterborough, with relatives here; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Williams and family, of Peterborough, with Mrs. E. Rose and Mrs. C. Jones; Joseph Moloney, of Peterborough, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Moloney; Miss Dorothy Logan, of Peterborough, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Redmond Logan.

Santa's Parade Provided By Windsor Man

By ALAN DONNELLY.

WINDSOR (CP).—The man who brings big-time Christmas parades to small-town youngsters is Ben J. Matlock, 47-year-old Windsor jack of all trades.

His home-made Santa parade, rented to big and small communities, has just returned from a tour that took it as far east as Ottawa.

The idea for the Christmas caravan, born of local needs four years ago, grew too big for one city and has become a string of 22 floats, with 27 communuities on its visiting list.

The collection of floats, portraying nursery rhymes, fairy-tale figures and Santa Claus himself, means three things to Mr. Matlock.

Santa As Agent

It's a profit making venture. But it is also an outlet for his abilities as an idea-man and carpenter, and it gives him the opportunity as "Santa's agent" to bring the Christmas spirit to thousands of youngsters.

"This parade is certainly something to the kids," he says. "Even if it is fiction, I think it's still a story worth telling in our times."

Mr. Matlock formed his plan to build a parade for Windsor when a parade being imported from the United States came to grief in a storm at Buffalo. Giant balloon figuress hit by the storm, arrived here a tattered wreck.

Share Costs

The Windsor Retail Merchants' Association took his idea up and paid him a $3,500 rental fee to start building. But construction costs piled up and Mr. Matlock wrote to surrounding towns offering to rent the parade.

Sixteen towns accepted the first year and the tour left by highway Nov. 6, 1948. Much of the slim earnings that year were put back into new floats. Now the cost is spread over a larger number of communities.

Innovations are added each year. Mrs. Santa Claus, riding a Diesel train, is new this Christmas. This float also provides two other services—a reception centre where Santa greets children and a dressing room for the troupe of 14.

On the last two tours, the travellers often had to use service station washrooms for dressing. The new float has its own washroom and tiny kitchen. Sleeping quarters are built into other floats.

Sometimes the community has its own Santa Claus, but often Mr. Matlock substitutes for the Christmas Saint, and gets a lot of enjoyment for 4½ hours.

Mr. Matlock's huge library of nursery tales provides ideas for the actual figures, which are developed and built in his workshops.

New Zealand Relaxes Controls On Imports

AUCKLAND, N.Z., Dec. 19—(CP)—The New Zealand government Monday announced a major relaxation of import controls on goods from soft-currency countries.

The government's action—exempting 87 items from all import-licensing requirements and increasing 1951 allocations on 37 other items—frees from import control the large proportion of New Zealand's imports from soft-currency countries.

The government also announced that the position of imports from dollar sources is under review and modifications in present restrictions may possibly be made early next year.

The present relaxation of controls results largely from an increase in New Zealand's overseas funds owing to the recent phenomenal advance in wool prices.

Short Freedom

GALT (CP).—"Lindy," a year-old spaniel, jumped from a taxi while being taken to the vet's for examination and hit the high road. She was found three days later on a farm near the city, bedraggled and hungry but none the worse.

Christmas Sales Volume For 1950 To Set All-Time Record

By The Canadian Press

Canadians this year are spending more money than ever on Christmas gifts — and showing more than usual interest in getting their dollars' worth.

Storekeepers across the country report sales volume ahead of last year's record by an estimated two to five per cent. But—

A Sarnia, Ont., merchant says "more sales pressure" is needed this year; a Quebec City retailer adds that the most noteable feature of 150 shoppers is that they are "value conscious;" in a number of other cities the trend is toward practical gifts.

Not all shoppers are counting pennies, though, a Canadian Press survey shows. Two large Toronto furriers are doing well with expensive fur coats some carrying $12,000 price tags.

One said: "It's the best year yet. Money isn't scarce—not with the women anyway."

A famous jewelry firm with branches in several cities has a line of expensive French evening bags ranging from $200 to $300 offered for the first time. These are having a "tremendous" sale.

Newfoundlanders are shopping briskly. Stores are crowded and the emphasis seems on luxury gifts, although there is little extravagant buying. Home furnishing sales are at peak volume.

Early Buying Slow

Mild weather slowed early-season buying in New Brunswick. Practical gifts are in demand in Halifax and shoppers there are displaying caution in purchases. Wearing apparel is popular for gifts.

Winnipeg retailers say Christmas business is as good as or better than last year. Druggists are especially enthusiastic about their sales volume. An official of one large store said quite a few married couples are buying single large items such as furniture, instead of individual gifts for each other.

Shoppers were out early this season in oil-rich Alberta cities. The buying there is described as a "sustained spree." There are few shortages and volume is ahead of 1949.

Saskatchewan stores are braced for a last-minute rush. So far, buying has proceeded in "fits and starts." Ready-to-wear clothing stores said sales are better than last year.

Montrealers are stocking up on favorites such as shirts, ties, socks slippers gloves, handkerchiefs, scarves and shaving lotion for men; costume jewelry, cosmetics, sweathers and lingerie for women. British leather goods shoes, purses and baggage are in good supply and favorites with buyers.

This year again, many stores have "men only" nights in their women's wear departments. Special sales help aid the shy male in his purchase of intimate items of ladies' apparel.

Expect Big Boost In Steel Imports

OTTAWA, Dec. 19 (CP)—Canadian imports of steel from the United States will be boosted substantially as the result of agreement reached between Trade Minister Howe and U.S. officials at Washington, trade department officials said Monday.

These officials said the immediate arrangements made for a flow of steel products were satisfactory, but more important were the long-range effects of the agreement reached last week.

The conferences between Mr. Howe and Commerce Secretary Sawyer of the U.S., these informants said, established the intent of the United States and Canada to co-operate closely in developing their production programs.

Under a method already in effect, Canada has equal priority with U.S. plants for steel to be used in defence work. The new agreement, officials explained today, sets up a basis for the allocation to Canada of the remaining steel left after defence requirements are met.

Christmas time is family time

The joyous family reunion is a tradition in our Canadian celebration of Christmas. The gaily decorated Christmas tree, loaded with gifts . . . the holly wreaths . . . the laughter and excitement . . . the tantalizing aroma that heralds the Christmas dinner . . . all affirm that Christmas time is family time.

During the past year Calvert has paid tribute to the various racial groups which comprise the great Canadian Family. At this Christmas season of happy family gatherings we wish to salute all Canadian families with the words written by Calvert himself over three hundred years ago: "May all happiness attend you".

Cabinet Likely To Send Units and Arms To Europe

OTTAWA, Dec. 20—(CP)—Canada's capital, exulting over the Eisenhower appointment, looked forward today to Cabinet decisions that are expected to send Canadian ground and air units and more arms to bolster his new European command. It will be no particular surprise here if Canada's Special Army Force, 10,000 strong, and a wing of three R.C.A.F. fighter squadrons are on guard in Britain and on the continent next year.

Decisions of that magnitude are looming ahead of the Cabinet, and its ministers have postponed today's regular Wednesday meeting until Thursday so they can start out by hearing Defence Minister Claxton report on the Brussels meeting of the Atlantic Pact nations.

The pact meeting concluded in Brussels after naming Gen. Dwight (Ike) Eisenhower to command an integrated all-round force. Mr. Claxton is due back in Ottawa tonight or Thursday.

Move Air Squadron

The RCAF chose Tuesday to announce that the first Canadian fighter squadron posted abroad since the war will be airlifted to England next month. It will set up headquarters at Odiham, Hampshire, a base well known to Canadians of the last war.

It will participate with the RAF in European exercises in 1954.

The cabinet will hear not only from Mr. Claxton on the Atlantic Pact developments, warmly welcomed here, but from Trade Minister Howe on another vital front—the Washington front. Mr Howe returned Saturday after talks with U.S. officials about the vast American mobilization plans.

Gen. MacArthur Orders News Censorship

TOKYO, Dec. 20 (AP).—Gen. MacArthur's headquarters today imposed the right of censorship over all news of Korean military operations, without calling it an act of censorship.

A memorandum from MacArthur's public information officer, Col. M. P. Echols, said news dispatches and photographs must be submitted in Korea or Japan for security "screening" and clearance by military authorities before being sent out.

The brief announcement did not specify any penalty for evasion or violation.

The order was effective immediately. The Tokyo headquarters press advisory division immediately became swamped with copy. The division up to then had operated solely as a guiding influence on news involving security.

Didn't Always Work

From the beginning of the Korean war June 25 correspondents were placed on their honor not to disclose information that might help the Communists. This voluntary system didn't always work Some so-called news "beats" resulted from rather loose individual interpretations by war correspondents on what constituted security.

Since early in the campaign some of the press had asked for the imposition of formal censorship—not only to provide real security on important military

Cancel Celebrations For Shah's Wedding

TEHRAN, Iran, Dec. 20 (CP).—Iran has alerted guards along the frontier—most of which is with Russia—and cancelled celebrations due next week for the Shah's wedding.

A government spokesman said the "extremely grave" international situation was the reason.

Prime Minister Haji Ali Razmara, disclosing the frontier precautions to the Senate, said the frontier would be defended if attacked. The world was nearer war than ever, he said, appealing for unity.

The Shah, Mohammed-Zeza Pahlevi, is to marry Soraya Esfandiari, 19-year-old daughter of an Iranian dignitary and a German mother, Dec. 27.

An official spokesman said the Shah is so concerned over the threat of war that he decreed the present is no time for lavish regal fetes.

Bandits Raid Jewelry Store Get Big Haul

$10,000 In Rings, $650 In Cash Daylight Holdup Loot

TORONTO, Dec. 20—(CP)—Two bandits escaped with several thousand dollars worth of jewelry and $650 in cash today in a daring daylight holdup of a North Toronto jewelry store.

The bandits, both described as "dirty-faced," entered the St. Clair Avenue jewelry store owned by Sam Strauch, bound and gagged the proprietor with adhesive tape and disappeared into the crowds of Christmas shoppers on the street.

Mr. Strauch said the two men entered his store about 10.30 a.m. While one bandit grabbed and bound the proprietor, the second emptied several trays of diamond and wedding rings from the store showcase.

No Insurance

The owner said the thugs escaped with close to $10,000 worth of rings and watches plus $650 in cash that he had just made up for a bank deposit. The loss was not covered by insurance.

After the men fled from the store, Mr. Strauch managed to hobble into the street and was released from his bonds by a passerby.

Police said neither bandit displayed a gun, but that one man kept his hand in his pocket as though holding a weapon.

Police said the men apparently did not use an automobile in their escape.

Operation Kiddie Car Flies Out 964 Waifs

SEOUL, Dec. 20 (AP)—Nearly 1,000 Korean street orphans were air lifted to an island sanctuary off South Korea today in "Operation Kiddie Car."

Fifteen twin-engine American transport planes landed at nearby Kimbo air base to fly the war waifs out of the combat zone.

There were 964 kids in all, ranging in age from six months to 11 years. Most had been saved from gutter death by American troops.

Scores of small pilgrims of distress were covered with sores and their bodies were still shrunken from starvation. Some gestured at their mouths to show their hunger and mumbled "chop chop." The planes carried a 15-day supply of rations but the children couldn't be fed until they were aloft.

Most of the orphans were too weak to show much interest in their plane ride. Some cried dully.

Wage Ceiling Formula

US Government Promises To Match Price Control

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 (AP)—The government today promised a voluntary wage-ceiling formula "as soon as possible" to match the honor-system price control newly put into effect for all industry in the United States.

The economic stabilization agency summoned into a meeting here the management and union leaders of more than 1,000,000 automobile workers for talks which may provide a clue to the coming wage restraints on all labor.

The agency meantime hoped for a wave of voluntary price roll-backs—mostly at the mill, mine and factory level—in accordance with its price-profits formula announced Tuesday night.

But if compliance does not come voluntarily, ESA administrator Alan Valentine warned, compulsory price ceilings will be clamped on and the standards may be "more rigorous" than those set forth now.

There is ample indication that ESA considers the voluntary formula a stop-gap. If it restrains inflation until March, the infant agency may be ready to enforce mandatory controls wherever needed.

The call for a voluntary price freeze came as the cost of living index appeared heading for a new all-time high.

Latest figures by the U.S. Bureau of Statistics showed wholesale prices for the week ended Dec. 12 were 10.3 per cent higher than just before the outbreak of fighting in Korea.

So it appears certain that prices will stay above the pre-Korea level even if there is a roll-back to th elevel of Dec. 1.

The new "fair pricing standards" call for a rollback of any price increase made by a factory or mine since Dec. 1, if the increase brings the company's net profits above the average dollar profits, before taxes, in the years 1946 through 1949.

No Juvenile Crime

DURHAM, Ont., Dec. 20—(CP)—For the second successive year no juvenile crime was reported in this town near Owen Sound. This was disclosed when Police Chief F. W. Illingworth delivered his 1905 police departlivered his 1950 police department report to town council. The report also said that there had been only 17 convictions registered under the Ontario Liquor Control Act during the year, as against 33 in 1949. The police department recommended to council that a police commission be formed in the town.

Red Chinese Silent To UN Appeal

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Dec. 20 (AP).—The United Nations cease-fire commission for Korea was bogged down today by the silence of Communist China.

There still was no answer to a direct appeal sent to Peiping last Saturday asking for a meeting to talk over a truce in Korea as a step to Far East peace.

Negotiators L. B. Pearson, Canadian External Affairs Minister, Sir Benegal N. Rau of India and the U.N. Assembly President, Nasrollah Entezam, after two meetings Tuesday, said they are "considering what further steps can be taken." They may hold another meeting today.

The commission sent its appeal directly to Peiping after Communist Chinese envoys, here to discuss the case of Formosa, said they were not empowered to talk about the Korean cease-fire proposal.

Ready For Quick Call

The UN Assembly political committee meanwhile is standing by for a quick call if there are developments on the cease-fire question. Peiping's envoys left New York Tuesday night by plane for London and Moscow. Wu Hsiu-chuan, head of the misssion, issued a statement wishing the American people a merry Christmsa and a happy new year, and charging that "Anglo-American ruling circles" rejected a Chinese Communist plan for peace in the Far East.

Russia's UN ambassador, Jakob A. Malik, and two aides, Polish and Czechoslovak delegates saw Wu and his party off.

Wu's statement called for an end to the fighting in Korea before there was a cease-fire agreement saying 'any device which reverses this process is nothing but trickery and a plot".

Before he left, Wu was seen by Rau and by UN secretary-general Trygve Lie. All were mum on what was discussed.

Canada Ends Ban On Exports

OTTAWA, Dec. 20 (CP). — Canada has ended a temporary suspension of non-strategic exports to Hong Kong, a government spokesman disclosed today.

The suspension of all export permits to Hong Kong, Communist China and Korea was announced Dec. 9, following United States action to ban the shipment of civilian, as well as strategic goods, to Red China and adjacent areas, including Hong Kong.

The little British colony off the Chinese mainland has protested that the U.S. move has crippled it economically.

The spokesman said Canada recently held discussions with the U.S. and agreement was reached to honor Canadian export permits covering non-strategic commodities, earmarked for Hong Kong, at U.S. ports.

Suspension of export permits to the Chinese mainland still is in effect. The spokesman said it would be reconsidered when shipments to China becomes practical.

At the moment, the question was "academic" because there were virtually no ships moving to China from Canada or the U.S.

UN Troops Holding Reds At Bay

Grim Gunners Blast Chinese Soldiers, Escape Route Open

TOKYO, Dec. 20—(AP)—Beachhead defenders of the United States 10th Corps held pressing Communist forces at bay tonight all along the Allies' deliberately - reduced Hungnam port area in northeast Korea. The planned withdrawal was proceeding under protective fire of artillery and the guns of warships standing in to shore. The corps now holds a relatively-small slice of land only a few square miles in area around Hungnam harbor.

The big job of keeping the Red troops from massing for an all-out attack on the Americans fell to the gunners lobbing tons on tons of shells at the Chinese and Korean Communists trying to push the 10th Corps elements into the sea.

While the gunners held off the enemy hordes, there was no way of telling how long they could keep back the pressing thousands creeping ever closer to the Allied toehold on the beach.

Pleased With Efforts

Maj.-Gen. Edward M. Almond, 10th Corps commander, said he was pleased with the battle waged by his men and their naval surface and "flying artillery" support.

Marine and Navy pilots hit 24 enemy troop concentrations and claimed to have inflicted 1,300 casualties on the Chinese and the North Koreans. Eight thousand Red Koreans have reinforced the estimated 100,000 Chinese swarming down on the beachhead.

With nearby Yonpo airfield abandoned, American wounded were rushed to the water's edge in jeeps and then sped by boat to a well-lighted naval hospital ship in the busy harbor.

Across the Korean peninsula in the west, US Eighth Army troops fought minor engagements with

Atom Spy Wants Keep UK Citizenship

LONDON, Dec. 20 (Reuters) — Dr. Klaus Fuchs, jailed atom spy, has written to Home Secretary James Chuter Ede saying that he wants to keep his British nationality.

Attorney-General Sir Hartley Shawcross disclosed this today when the deprivation of citizenship committee met here to discuss whether German-born Fuchs should retain his naturalized British citizenship.

Fuchs, former scientist at Britain's atomic research station, was jailed last March for 14 years for giving atomic secrets to Russia. Fuchs worked in Canada during the Second World War.

Sir Hartley said it would be up to the committee to decide Fuchs' future as a citizen.

Fuchs said that he was writing the letter "lest silence on my part should be interpreted as indication that even now I do not appreciate the values and obligations of citizenship of this country."

'Missing' Soldiers Safely Back At Camp

PETAWAWA MILITARY CAMP Dec. 20 — ((CP). — A squad of soldiers on a compass-training scheme, previously reported missing in snow-covered bush country near this camp, were back in barracks this morning, wondering what all the fuss was about.

The group left camp Tuesday afternoon on a compass march in charge of a lance-corporal. Though they may have been a little late getting back, authorities said there never was any concern about them being "lost."

Doing Their Best To Avoid Parched Wails U.S. Cities Planning New Year's Eve Gaiety

NEW YORK, Dec. 20—(AP)—New Year's Eve, by falling on a Sunday this year, promises parched wails instead of wassailing in many parts of the United States.

But the usual gay evening and agonizing morning are on tap in others, Sabbath or no.

Philadelphia's night spots will be closed New Year's Eve because of Pennsylvania's "blue laws" that forbid Sunday liquor sales.

At the other end of the scale, New Orleans expects to adhere to its policy of selling liquor at all hours and all times, and a Reno, Nev., observer said liquor would flow there in a 24-hour river.

Boston belied its blue-nose reputation by scheduling Sunday night parties with liquor. Prices ranged up to $50 a couple for dinner at the Copley Plaza hotel—but with no dancing until midnight.

Various public places, faced with dry laws, arranged what they called Saturday night 'pre-view" parties in hopes of capturing the New Year's Eve spirit 24 hours early.

The general tendency across the United States appeared toward making Sunday the big night, where local laws permit.

Germans Demand More To Fight In Western Army

BRUSSELS, Dec. 20—(AP)—West Germans made it clear to the Big Three today that they want more than they have been offered, in return for taking part in an international military organization to protect the western world. The Atlantic council decision will go before the West German government soon, and the Germans likely will drive a sharp bargain. Bonn dispatches said the three Allied High Commissioners for Germany probably would meet Thursday with Konrad Adenauer, the West German Republic's Chancellor (Premier), to inform him of the results of the conference which placed Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower at the head of a projected International Army of 1,000,000, to include German units.

Members of Adenauer's own dominant party, the Christian Democrats, predicted negotiations over Germany's role in the Western army would be long drawn-out.

Scold Opposition

The Christian Democrats scolded the Socialist opposition leader, Kurt Schumacher, for rejecting the Allied proposals too soon, and accused him of playing politics with "a matter of life and death."

Here in Brussels, where the 12 member nations of the Atlantic Pact reached their historic decisions Tuesday, it was reported that the Germans might be offered representation on Eisenhower's staff, but would not be allowed either a foreign ministry or a defence ministry of their own—at least not for the time being.

Germans have been demanding participation in Western European defence plans on a basis of full equality with the other nations.

The Atlantic Pact nations are the United States, Canada, Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands, Luxembourg, Denmark, Italy Portugal Iceland and Norway.

Offer Peace To Russia

Meanwhile the big Western powers held out o..ers of a peace to Russia.

Britain, France and the United States have accepted in principle Russia's proposal for a Big Four conference on the unification of Germany. The three Western powers are known to have stipulated, however, that the Russians discuss the whole range of problems that have been causing East-West friction. Russia proposed the conference to discuss only the unifying and neutralizing of Germany.

The three countries have prepared similar notes to be dispatched shortly to the Kremlin.

The Big Three foreign ministers approved the notes Tuesday night. Today the foreign ministers of Belgium, Luxembourg and The Netherlands were to get a look at them—more or less a gesture of international etiquette to the Report Attempt Blow Up School

MEAFORD, Ont., Dec. 20 (CP) —Board of education officials today closed the high school boiler room to all but the caretaker following a reported attempt to "blow up" the school by shutting off boiler valves.

The attempt was reported by caretaker Frank Harding, who said he found the valves shut off when he went to investigate the low temperature in the school. He said the affair was either "a joke, sabotage, or utter carelessness," and that had the boiler exploded "it would have blown the school high, wide and handsome."

British Halt Execution Of 40 Prisoners

WITH BRITISH TROOPS IN KOREA, Dec. 20 (Reuters)—Two British officers halted the execution of about 40 prisoners by South Korean military police. It was the first time British forces had done so.

The officers, who acted under orders of the commander of the 29th British Brigade, broke in on the executions and saved 17 persons from death.

Orders to halt the shootings came from the brigade commander Brig. Thomas Brodie. The executions were being carried out a few hundred yards from brigade headquarters.

Brodie said: "I am not going to have people executed on my doorstep. My officers will stop executions in my area, or in view of my troops."

Line Forms To The Right

Will Wash Hands of 'Thing' Half US Claims Metal Ball

ALBUQUERQUE, Dec. 20 (AP) —Dr. Lincoln Lapaz is ready to wash his hands of the "thing."

The head of the New Mexico Institute of Meteoritics studied the 18-inch metal sphere for about a month then asked reporters to help him find who owned it.

Today he had so many would-be owners he was ready to forget the whole thing.

First to lodge a claim was the Navy Research Department at Washington. They said they used similar set-ups to gather information of cosmic rays.

But the Univeristy of Minnesota said no. Officials in Minneapolis identified the object as part of a research project sponsored by them in New Mexico about a year ago.

Then a terse message from White Sands proving ground in New Mexico demanded that Dr. Lapaz return the sphere to them at once.

The fourth group claiming the sphere was a group of military men, "all experts who cannot be identified," who accompanied Dr. Lapaz Tuesday on a trip into the area where the sphere was found about a month ago by deer hunters.

Dr. Lapaz said he will probably turn the sphere over to the latter group "unless some of the others can provide more positive identification than the messages received so far include."

Flames Raze Home, 2 Businesses

Wakened In Night Residents Escape, But Save Nothing

HAVELOCK, Dec. 20 (ENS) —Five persons—including a family of four—were forced to flee their burning home and two businesses were destroyed early today as a result of a $24,000 fire in Havelock that burned a large frame building to the ground. Cause of the fire is unknown.

The property is owned by Mrs. Mae Hill of Havelock and is only partly covered by insurance.

Richard Groves, his wife, and two children—Fred, age 8, and Carol, age 4, were forced to flee the dwelling only partly clothed. The fifth evacuee was Olive Gratton, a waitress in Grove's restaurant who also helps around the house.

By the time the alarm had been turned in and the volunteer fire department arrived the building was a mass of flames. Realizing they were unable to save the blazing structure the firemen concentrated on preventing the flames from spreading to the restaurant and dwelling of Thomas Patterson, 20 feet to the east.

Get One Break

Had there been a strong wind the whole block, situated on No. 7 Highway, would probably have been destroyed.

As it was the fire destroyed the two-storey Graves residence, the newly-furnished restaurant that they operated on the east side of the building, and a shoe repair business, operated by Mrs. Hill's son Percy in an extension on the west side.

Nothing was reported to have been salvaged from the living quarters, restaurant or shoe repair shop.

Parisian Raps Quebec French

QUEBEC, Dec. 20 CP) — Criticism of the French spoken in Canada by a Parisian music critic has aroused the feeling of Mayor Lucien Borne of Quebec and of members of the city council.

Notes expressing indignation have been sent to the French consulate here and to the magazine Paris-Match following a council meeting.

Music critic Raymond Castans, reviewing a concert by the Trapp family, wrote in part in the Nov. 18 edition:

"When they sang 'Il est ne le Divin Enfant' in French, with the air of persons who understanding nothing of the words they pronounce, it was very beautiful. It was also amusing.

"Then they sang another song in French, but it was in French from Canada. This time, we were the ones who could understand nothing."

"How come," Mayor Borne exclaimed, "that great French intellectuals who visit us understand us very well?"

Taxi Goes Through Ice Seven Escape Death

VIRGINIATOWN, Ont., Dec. 20 (CP) — Taxi driver Yvon Rioux, formerly of Rouyn, Que., came back from a bush trip Tuesday without his taxi and with a story of near-death for himself and six passengers. They had spent the previous night in a lumber camp after a close escape when the taxi broke through seven-inch ice on a McFadden township lake near the Quebec border.

In the taxi were Joe Tassier, his wife and three children and one other passenger. Rioux, the last one out said he had to leap over a widening gap as the taxi slid down into 12 feet of water. He was driving his passengers to a bush camp when the accident occurred.

Want To Close Radio Stations If Attacked

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20—(AP)—The United States Congress was asked Tuesday to give the government powers, in case of air attack on American cities, to close down broadcasting stations which could be used by an enemy to guide planes or missiles.

The defence department requested passage of the law which would apply to radio, television or other broadcasting stations in the United States.

A defence official told a reporter the law is an "urgent necessity" during what he called a "time of strained international relationships when a surprise attack on the United States is a possibility".

Would Strengthen Law

The proposal also would strengthen an existing law which allows the government to take over radio stations in emergencies.

The commercial transmitters can be used by aircraft for "homing in" on the transmitters from distances as much as 2,000 miles, depending on the power of the transmitter.

There was no immediate comment in Ottawa on the Washington report that Congress is being asked for power to close broadcasting stations in case of attacks on American cities.

It was recalled, however, that during blackouts and "brownouts" on the Pacific coast during Japanese submarine scares during the Second World War, radio stations in most coast cities left the air at various times at the command of civilian defence authorities.

St. John's Boys' Choir To Sing Over Radio

The boy choristers of St. John's Anglican Church under the direction of Fred Mann will present their annual radio program of Christmas music on radio station CHEX tonight at 9:30.

This program is a public service with the particular wish to bring Christmas music to the sick, aged and shut-ins of the city. Tonight will mark the ninth presentation of the boy choristers' Christmas program.

The selections will include solos, duets, small ensembles and full choruses. Fifteen boys will take part in the program. They will be accompanied by Mr. Mann at the piano.

Digging Out After Bad Storm

HALIFAX, Dec. 20—(CP)—Gale warnings were in force along Newfoundland's west coast today, while Canada's other Maritime provinces repaired damage to communications systems and shovelled snow after a two-day storm, and the crew of the Mary H. Hirtle hud'led on Codroy Island near Port Aux Basques last night after escaping from their doomed ship by breeches buoy. Two other vessels, the Suncrest and one so far unidentified, are ashore on Fix Island in Port Au Port Bay, but the crews are safe. As the storm quit the Maritimes, linemen worked round the clock to repair communication systems which collapsed in Nova Scotia's Annapolis Valley, when ice four inches thick weighed down telephone and telegraph lines. Four hundred poles along the Dominion Atlantic Railways between Kentville and Yarmouth went down, and another 40 collapsed under the ice weight between the valley towns of Waterville and Middleton, a distance of 22 miles.

12 Inches of Snow

The southeastern section of New Brunswick had 12 inches of snow, and telephone and telegraph wires were down in many parts. Prince Edward Island had a heavy snowfall but the only casualty was a mailman's horse, electrocuted when it stepped on a blown-down live power line.

The motor vessels Terra Nova and Western Explorer were on their way to Codroy Island to pick up the Mary Hirtle's crew. The unidentified vessel, out of Curling, Nfld., sent a message by marine telephone that the crew was safe.

Another Newfoundland vessel, the schooner Ivey and Muriel, which was reported missing at the height of the storm, later put in at Agauthuna, Nfld., with two dories missing, swept overboard by mountainous seas. The schooner La Parie arrived at Port Au Port minus a motorboat which she had in tow.

Suggest 4 Names To Commission

Three of the four recreation commission members whose terms expire this month, R. J. Bolton, A. E. Borland and Arnold Olmstead, have accepted another term. Their names will be submitted to the city council for re-appointment.

A fourth member, Mrs. R. Whalon, whose term also expires, declined another term. Members voiced their regret on her retirement and commended her work on the playgrounds during the past several years.

Mrs. Whalon added that she wished to recommend Mrs. Mollie Craig, an instructor for the Peterborough Ski Club, as her successor. Mrs. Craig's name will be included in those submitted to the city council if she wishes.

T. J. Allen thanked Ald. Hurrell Dodds on behalf of the commission for his time and effort as a representative of the city council on the commission. He added that the commission regretted his withdrawal.

While submitting the names for appointment to next year's commission, a reminder will be sent to the city council and the Board of Education to appoint representatives for next year.

Truck In Line-up Swerves; Crash

A truck and car collided at noon today on George St. just north of King George St. when the truck swerved into the wrong lane of traffic to avoid crashing into the rear of a car ahead that was stopping in a line of traffic.

Driver of the truck, Robert Wood, Keene, was travelling south about sixth in a line of traffic. The cars ahead of him stopped for a car which was waiting for a break in uncoming traffic to make a left turn into King George St.

Wood saw he could not stop in time and swerved his car out into the east half of the road and met in collision with a car driven north on George St. by John A. Sullivan, Hastings.

The left door and panel behind the door were smashed in and the frame post bent on the car. Only damage to the truck was a dent in the front left fender and in the bumper. Both vehicles were insured.

Traffic Officer Claire McGillen investigated.

Father-in-Law Kills Young Mother Of Six

SMITHVILLE, Ont., Dec. 20—(CP)—Police described as murder and suicide the deaths Tuesday of a 32-year-old mother of six and her father-inlaw. Dead are Mrs. John Podwinski, beaten with a hammer when she went to milk cows on a farm near here, and William Podwinski, 62, who hanged himself in the hayloft.

Husband of the slain woman, working at a Grimsby canning factory when the tragedy occurred, was at the side of his wife before she died.

"She told me that he hit her with a hammer," said the anguished husband. He said his father had spent two months in a mental hospital at Hamilton and only recently had come to live with him.

The mother, blood-spattered and near death, was found by their two pre-school-age children who ran a mile to neighbors.

Failed To Plug Gun Charge Dismissed

A charge under the Game and Fisheries Act of failing to have his repeater shotgun permanently plugged against Ray Vincent, Havelock, was dismissed in police court Tuesday.

Game Warden Ray Simpson testified Vincent was stopped at a road block three miles north of Havelock. He had a repeater shotgun that was not plugged when Deputy Warden Earl Trotter searched the car.

Vincent said the shotgun was locked in a tool box in the back of the car. He said the night before he had examined the wooden plug he had put in his new gun and found it wet.

Fearing it would rust the magazine, he took the plug out and put his shotgun back together temporarily. The plug was locked in a suitcase with his ammunition, but he couldn't show it to the officers at the road block because he had no key with him for the suitcase.

When Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C. dismissed this charge, Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw offered no evidence in the same charge against Eric A. Emery, 92 Princess St.

Butcher Knife Slips Cuts Man In Stomach

A butcher, Vernon Lavoie, McDonnel St., stabbed himself accidentally today when a knife he was using slipped and cut him in the stomach.

He was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital where Dr. Bob Young dressed the wound and released him.

The knife did not penetrate into the abdominal cavity and the wound is not expected to have any serious consequences.

Change Name Shelter To Home

The Children's Aid Society Shelter has been given a new name. The Shelter is now to be known as the Children's Home. The changing of the Shelter's name was decided at the Board of Directors' meeting Tuesday afternoon.

When one of the board members objected to the name "shelter, Miss Rachcael Young, superintendent of the Children's Aid Society, said that she had been dissatisfied with this name for a long time.

"The name shelter implies that we only provide the children with a roof over their heads, and enough food and clothing," stated Miss Young. "However we do try to make the shelter as much like a home as possible for the youngsters and that entails a great deal more than the bare essentials."

The first action in this regard will be taken immediately. The board authorized Mrs. C. Pilon, secretary to contact the Bell Telephone Co. and ask that the name Shelter be changed to Children's Home in the 1951 telephone directory.

Benelux countries, who, with Britain and France, form the West European Union.

These five foreign ministers at their meeting today were expected to commit their defence units to the international force which the 12-country Atlantic Council announced Tuesday would be formed in western Europe under Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's command.

1953 Target

As planned at the two-day meeting of foreign and defence ministers of the Atlantic Treaty signers, the force would include German units in the land, sea and air arms. The council's target is a 1,000,000-man force by the end of 1953 to defend a line from the Arctic to the Mediterranean.

Canada's contribution to western Europe defence will likely be both in men and materials. Defence Minister Claxton, representing Canada at the meetings, said only the Dominion government "soon will give consideration to the part Canada will take in the integrated force."

He added that any decisions will be subject to approval by the Canadian parliament.

There was no indication of the number of troops Canada will make available. Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent has said that Canada's 10,000-man special force is available for service where necessary.

Absorb Headquarters

Assignment of the forces of the west European union to the new international command would mean absorbing the Fontainbleau headquarters of Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, who heads the joint command set-up of the five powers. Lord Montgomery, however, may move in as a deputy of Eisenhower.

The Atlantic Council's historic decisions now will be placed before the West German Chancellor, Konrad Adenauer. He and most other German leaders have voiced determination not to arm the Germans unless they get complete equality with the Atlantic powers.

The 12 pact countries were reported ready to give the Germans representation on Eisenhower's staff, but not to allow them to create a foreign ministry, or defence ministry of their own—at least not for the moment.

depends on whether he is busy with his duties as a member of the United Nations cease-fire committee on Korea.

Beween now and when Parliament meets in January or February, the cabinet is expected to lay down a broad program for house approval.

The expectation here is that it will call for:

1. Commitment to Europe of the army's special force, probably as a small, two-brigade division, and of an RCAF fighter wing.

2. More arms aid for Europe beyond the $300,000,000 already approved.

3. Greater mobilization powers for the government so it won't have to fall back on the sweeping War Measures Act.

4. Possible national registration in connection with the 1951 census.

Industrials Level Off From Early Advances

TORONTO, Dec. 20 (CP). — Industrials leveled off from early advances as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today.

Gains ranged to more than a point as trading slowed to the quietest its been since the end of August. Steels, utilities, agricultures, foods, liquors, refining oils and textiles showed a majority of gains in the industrial groupings. Liquors held the spotlight with distillers Seagrams jumping 2⅜ and Walkers up $1.75.

Base metals eased in narrow trading. Hudson Bay and Normetal bucked the trend with small gains.

Senior golds slipped fractions with Giant Yellowknife, Teck Hughes and Hollinger lower. Junior producers were mixed and quiet.

7 a.m. Car Collision Ho-Hum

Two cars collided at Parkhill and Water Sts., as one car was making a left turn this morning about 7.15 a.m.

Carl Curry, 292 Woodbine Ave., driving south on Water St. had almost completed a left turn into Parkhill Rd. when his car met in collision with a car driven west on Parkhill Rd. by Winston Williams, 698 Elcome Crescent.

The impact took place about 19 feet south of the north curb of Parkhill Rd. Traffic Officer Clare McGillen investigated.

Flames Raze

The outbreak was discovered between 1.30 and 2 a.m. today when Mrs. Groves awoke and noticed a "scorching smell." She investigated and found fire in the children's bedroom, located in the second storey of the residence.

Nothing Saved

By the time the Groves had roused Percy Hill—who lives in the house west of his mother's property—that his shoe repair business was in danger, the flames were leaping high in the air. And the intense heat prevented the salvaging of any shoes or tools or machinery from his store; any further clothing, furniture or personal possessions from the Groves' home; or any of the stock from the restaurant.

Mrs. Percy Hill received the evacuees in her home. All but young Fred had escaped with no more than a topcoat pulled over their night clothing. The two children were then sent to Mr. Groves' parents in Madoc.

Miss Gratton went to an address in Belmont township.

Nobody was injured, but the shock of the fire and the loss of her home proved too much for Mrs. Groves. She had to be taken to the Havelock nursing home where she is now resting quietly.

All Hard Hit

The Groves are newcomers to Havelock and have been operating the restaurant and grill since July. Recently they had put in lunch counters; and their loss was increased because of a large amount of Christmas stock on hand.

Mrs. Mae Hill, owner of the building, lost some furniture and a supply of linen she had stored there. The fire destroyed the equivalent of her life's savings.

The building is basically an old-fashioned two-storey frame dwelling with an L-shaped wing on the east side. This was extended in a one-storey addition out to the highway and was used for the Groves' grill and restaurant.

Percy Hill's shoe repair shop was a one-storey addition on the west side of the building that also extended out to the highway. The fire destroyed the whole structure with the exception of a small part of the east wall.

Recently it was covered with insul brick and repainted, and was reportedly in good repair.

An Eighth Army spokesman said there had been a two-day lull in that sector and all enemy troops there had been identified as North Koreans.

Turk Back Attack

Fifteen miles east of Kaesong, west of Chunchon, another South Korean force stopped and turned back 200 North Koreans trying to cross the Imjin River.

Gen. MacArthur's late Wednesday war summary said Eighth Army units in the Hwachon sector held all their positions Tuesday in a series of skirmishes. Hwachon is about 20 miles north of Chunchon and is north of Parallel 38.

The general headquarters summary said enemy units west of Hwachon were dispersed with small-arms and artillery fire. Another enemy unit in an area east of Hwachon was partly destroyed by United Nations troops.

MacArthur's communique said reports from prisoners showed that North Korean divisions, although badly hurt after the mid-September Inchon landing, had managed to keep some cohesion.

Salute Friends

OTTAWA, Dec. 20 (CP). — The Air Force will salute 1,000 of its best friends Thursday with a Christmas message from Air Marshal W. A. Curtis, Chief of the Air Staff. He will send out his annual greeting by short-wave wireless from RCAF headquarters at 9 p.m. EST to some 1,000 radio hams, coast-to-coast members of the air force amateur radio system.

Alberta Fog Delays Planes

EDMONTON, Dec. 20 — (CP). —Dense fog over Northern Alberta Tuesday caused a fatal air crash and disrupted at least 14 scheduled flights of three air lines.

Gordon Lapinsky, travelling salesman from Camrose, Alberta, died in hospital at Lloydminster, Sask., a few hours after his Tiger Moth plane crashed in a forced landing attempt in heavy fog. The crash occurred near McLaughlin, Alta., about 25 miles south-west of the Alberta-Saskatchewan border town.

Snowmobiles were pulled into service o haul supplies to 2,000 residents in scattered communities of North-western Saskatchewan.

Heavy snow and continued mild weather has blocked roads and made airplane trips hazardous, threatening the area with depleted supplies and lack of Christmas provisions and mail.

The ski-equipped snowmobiles can't carry gasoline, however, and a shortage of that commodity is feared in some districts.

Japan Refuses To End Red-Control Measures

TOKYO, Dec. 20 (AP) — The allied council for Japan today overruled a Russian demand for repeal of Communist-control measures taken in this occupied country since the outbreak of the Korean war.

Maj.-Gen. A. P. Kislenko, Soviet representative, assailed Gen. MacArthur's directives outlawing the Communist party newspaper Akahata and a dominant left-wing labor council.

William J. Sebald, American chairman of the council, said adoption of the Soviet recommendations "would, in fact, amount to handing over the government of Japan to the dictatorship of the Communist party," and "that will not be done."

Town Council Ends Year In Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 20 — (ENS).—A special meeting of Campbellford town council was held Monday evening, to finish a number of items which had to be looked after before the end of the present term.

Council moved that the mayor issue a proclamation that December 26 be a legal holiday, and also that the proclamation carry a suggestion that stores in the town remain open on Wednesday, December 27, on which day they would normally close.

Only one tender for the rental of the weigh-scales was received. This was from a Mr. Clarke, who put in a tender of $150, with a note attached stating that weighing of cattle for shipment had fallen off due to the local community auction sales. He operated the scale last year at a higher rental. His tender was accepted.

Permission was granted the high school area board to use the Council chambers for their meeting on January 10.

Mr. J. C. Birmingham, town engineer and tax collector, in a report to the council, said that he had collected all but about $5,000 of all taxes due, which made this the best year in his 16 years of experience.

Bonus To Police

F. M. Rutherford, chairman of the police committee said that in view of the fact that the local policemen had done a good job during the year, and that the expenditures of the department was below the estimate, a bonus be given to the two policemen. Some discussion resulted regarding amounts of the bonus and many members thought the amount given the two policemen be equal, but on recommendation of the committee, a grant of $100 was given to Chief Constable George H. Hardy and $75 to Constable W. E. Cargin. The clerk and the treasurer each received a bonus of $100. Deputy Reeve Mason said he would like to see the amounts equal, but the motion carried, with three members voting against it.

Mayor J. E. Ayrhart said that he had enjoyed working with the present council and said that it was the most successful year since he had been in office.

A by-law providing for the appointment of two trustees to the High School Area Board received its third reading and A. K. Loucks and George Nicholls were named to this post. Mr. Loucks will serve for two years while Mr. Nicholls will serve for one. Each man will be retired when his term of office expires.

A suggestion by Councillor Free that some of the street names in the town be changed before the new street signs are erected resulted in considerable discussion. Council members in general were in favor of the idea, but some believed the cost involved in such an undertaking would be prohibitive.

Mr. Birmingham pointed out that it cost the town over $400 to change the name of one street a number of years ago, and this street was no more than 50 feet in length and had no houses on it. A number of confusing situations exist in the town at present. One street running in a comparatively straight line will have as many as four or five different names over its length.

One street for example, starts out being called Hastings Road, and after a few blocks it becomes Sebastopol St., then Tice St., then Bridge St., and finally Center St. Another starts out as Grand Road and changes a few times until it is finally known as River Road at the north end. It was also suggested that names such as Thirty Foot Land, and Rear Street be changed. Council agreed such changes were entirely sensible and logical, but more information regarding the cost involved will be required.

Council adjourned after passing the pay sheet.

URANIUM PROSPECTOR—Gilbert Adelard LaBine, Toronto, is the prospector who discovered the huge pitchblende deposits at Great Bear Lake in the Northwest Territories which became the world's greatest source of radium and, later, uranium. His find, and formation of the Eldorado Mining Company, made him a millionaire. His re-opening of the Great Bear Lake mine in 1942, on request of the government, contributed greatly to the development of atomic energy and the atom bomb.

HIGH EXPLOSIVES rip through several spans of a railroad bridge outside Hamhung as withdrawal of United Nations forces was covered by rearguard action against the threatening Chinese Communist troops.

Infant's Funeral

INFANT'S FUNERAL—W DARTFORD, Dec. 20 (ENS)—Margaret Ann, four-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Ward, 695 Cameron St., Peterborough, died at Peterborough Civic Hospital last Saturday. Funeral service was held from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ward, Dartford on Monday. Rev. H. G. Lester officiated, speaking very comforting words to the bereaved parents. Her little white casket and floral tributes were carried by her cousins, Teddy, Denton, David and Tommy Ward. Hymns used were "Safe In The Arms Of Jesus" and "When He Cometh." Interment was in Mount Pleasant Cemetery, Campbellford.

Letters Slow Repeal Of Gas Bylaw

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 20 — (ENS).—A petition to Campbellford council to have the by-law regulating the hours of retail gasoline outlets was held up by three last minute letters from gasoline station operators, wishing to have their names removed from the petition. The petition requires one-third or more signatures of all operators to have the law repealed.

Solicitor N. A. MacColl said that Council could repeal the by-law without a petition if they were satisfied that at least one-third of the operators wanted it repealed. Mayor Ayrhart said he did not believe the gasoline operators, or at least a number of them knew just what they did want. "First," he said, "we have a petition to pass a by-law, then a petition to repeal it, then a few days later some of the operators have changed their minds about the repeal and decide to leave things as they are."

The mayor appointed a committee consisting of councillors Free, Nicholas and Rutherford to interview all gasoline service station operators in the town and find out just what they do want in the matter. Some of the parties concerned have stuck to their original desires, either for or against the law, but others have been jumping from one side to the other for reasons known only to themselves.

It was pointed out that in view of the fact the signatures on the letters from the operators asking to have their names removed from the petition for the repeal of the by-law were not witnessed, council could take no action in the matter. Council said the proper thing for these men to do would be to present themselves before counucil and explain their action, or to have a new petition drawn up. Reeve Locke said he believed the garage operators should be billed for the expense the council has gone to in preparing the by-laws and repealing them only to draw up new ones.

A Triumph of Law, A Triumph For Liberty

Four years ago a man in the province of Quebec was sentenced to one month in jail on a charge of seditious libel for distributing a pamphlet issued by a religious sect called 'Jehovah's Witnesses'. He appealed the case, and through a variety of court channels it reached the Supreme Court of Canada, the highest court in the land, the court of last resort in criminal matters. This week the Supreme Court, by a majority decision, acquitted the man, Aime Boucher.

* * *

That this outwardly unimportant case of a man sentenced to a month in jail for distributing a pamphlet could be carried to the Supreme Court, there to be reviewed and decided by that august body of men learned in the law, is a triumph for the processes of law in this country. That the case did reach the highest tribunal in the land indicates its importance. A matter of principle was involved—the liberty of a citizen. As Lord Mansfield remarked in his judgement in Rex versus Bembridge in 1783, 'he law does not consist in particular instances, though it is explained by particular instances and rules, but the law consists in principles which govern specific and individual cases as they happen to arise.

* * *

Boucher was charged with seditious libel because he distributed the Jehovah's Witness pamphlet called "Quebec's Burning Hate." Mr. Justice Rand in his judgment said that there were passages in the pamphlet that did offend but freedom in thought and speech and disagreement in ideas and beliefs, on every conceivable subject, "are the essence of our life". Chief Justice Rinfret, who dissented from the majority verdict and thought that Boucher should undergo a new trial rather than be acquitted outright, said: "Obviously pure criticism, or expression of opinion, however severe or extreme, is, I might almost say, to be invited".

* * *

The acquittal of Boucher was a triumph for liberty of the individual—civil liberty, which is a combination of principles and laws which acknowledge, protect, and favour the dignity of man. The case and the judgement are important to all Canadians, for the liberty of one man is the measure of the liberty of the whole nation.

We hold no brief for the Jehovah's Witnesses. We are prepared to admit that some of their practices are a nuisance in Ontario, and offensive in Quebec (where the judgement will have many repercussions; Boucher was only one of hundreds of Witnesses arrested for their activities). But we are jealous for the civil liberty of Boucher as one Canadian citizen, because his liberty or the lack of it is ours. We hail this appeal before the Supreme Court of Canada, and the decision which the court has given, as a triumph of the just processes of our law and a re-affirmation of the civil liberties which are the right of all Canadians under the law.

Something impelled us to turn to the dictionary for the word toboggan: probably to make sure the pesky word has two g's and one b, not two b's and one g. We found out more than that in our Shorter Oxford English Dictionary (condensed into 2,500 quarto pages). The editors of the dictionary put the date 1829 to it; that is the first time, as far as they had been able to discover, when the word first appeared in written English. It is a Canadian word taken from the Indian, so we feel it not disrespectful to point out to the learned past and present scholars who compiled the dictionary that they give a wrong impression by their dating.

Toboggans have been known and used by white people in Canada for nearly three centuries. Although British writers in the United Kingdom may not have known the word or used it in print, our English-speaking Canadian ancestors, many of whom were literate, wrote the word, in letters 'home', and it appeared in print in such early newspapers as the Royal St. John Gazette, founded 1783, and the Upper Canada Gazette, later the York Gazette, founded in 1792.

The dictionary defines a toboggan as "a light sledge consisting of a thin strip of wood turned up at the front, used by the Canadian Indians for transport over snow; now, a similar vehicle, sometimes with low runners, used in the sport of coasting, especially down prepared slopes of snow or ice." Obviously the dictionary-makers never saw a Peterborough-made toboggan nor had a ride on one in these parts.

Mail Early, Shop Early

Many of our contemporaries have long ago advised their readers to mail their Christmas parcels and letters early, and to shop early. We have omitted to do so, in the press of other matters to comment on, like the municipal elections, the health of the Koreans and the malaise of the U.S.A. Anyway, we have a disinclination to advise anybody to do anything. But now in this week of Christmas placidity, we find time to say that, all things considered, it seems wise foresight to mail early and shop early. In fact, we have a wall-eyed admiration for people who do so much so soon.

We have found ourself in the unenviable spot of having to pay 30 cents to air mail our Christmas cards to Britain and Tahiti, and to go worriedly into a shop with a hastily-prepared Christmas list and say: "Here, pick out something for Aunt Susie, Nephew Needlewump and these other six. We'll be back at five. Wrap 'em, will you please?"

If we had faith in our beliefs, we would shop, not at this late date, but at a later one Saturday afternoon. By then everybody but us will have finished his shopping, the clerks will be standing around twiddling their thumbs, and we would be able to buy in peace and quiet. And we should, at this late date, mail our cards on Friday evening, not earlier. The Post Office department is so successful in its propaganda to indoctrinate the people with the wickedness of posting late and the virtues of posting earlier, that undoubtedly by Friday night and Saturday there will be so many P.O. hands with so little to do, that our cards will get special attention and expedition. We also have a feeling that the Post Office people are so proud of doing a good and complete job, that they will take our last-minute cards as a major challenge and get them cleared out prestissimo. But we must not say all these things in public; other people might get the notion that one of the better times to shop and post is in the unhurried last minute, when the second-last minute rush is over. If they did, our system would break down.

Drunkenness And Poverty

In 1913 there were 37,033 men and 15,116 women imprisoned for drunkenness in Britain: in 1948 the figures were 1,775 men and 446 women.

Obvious reasons for the decline in drunkenness in Britain are the increased taxes on liquor of all kinds, allied to the weakening of the liquor—particularly the beer—itself. But there are other, deeper and more creditable reasons to be found in the improvement in the standards of living of working men and women in Britain, and for these improvements the Labour Government must be given a large share of the credit. Not all the credit can go to Labour; Conservative and Liberal governments have also done much to improve the lot of the British poor; but what the Labour Government has done since the end of the war accounts for many things.

People get drunk, as a general thing, because they are unhappy. The cause of their unhappiness may be deep, or it may be easily discovered. Poverty is certainly one of the commonest and most degrading causes of unhappiness. While it was true that the British poor were poor because they drank, it was even more true that they drank because they were poor. Drunkenness was a cheap release from a multitude of vexations and miseries.

We have criticised the present British government for many things, but we have never once criticised it for its attempts to abolish the poor, to use Bernard Shaw's phrase. When hand-to-mouth living can be wiped out entirely, many social evils will disappear and others, like drunkenness, will dwindle to the point where they are relatively unimportant.

NOTE AND COMMENT

During the approaching festive season, remember the oyster, who is silent even when stewed.

The Toronto Star announces that it will choose "the ten worst jokes of the year". Will it publish their pictures, too?

The new jewelled bathing suits, we read, show Oriental influence. And in addition, of course, quite a lot of non-Oriental epidermis.

Ottawa now moans that Barbara Ann Scott does not think her native city "good enough" for her. Hell hath no fury like a home-town scorned.

The Ottawa Citizen refers to Toronto, quite seriously, as "a gay place". Well, well, it all depends on where you sit. Toronto looks gay to Ottawa; Ottawa looks gay to Peterborough; Peterborough looks gay to Lindsay; and Lindsay looks gay to the people in the Arctic.

ON THE MARGIN

The Young Mr. Boswell

BOSWELL'S LONDON JOURNAL 1762-1763. (British Book Service).

THE romantic and scarcely believable story of the recovery of the Boswell papers after a century and a half a neglect is known by this time to everyone who cares for the history and literature of the eighteenth century. The Yale scholars who have these treasures in their care have lost no time in getting this first volume of the new Boswelliana on the market, and a rich and meaty book it is. This is the journal which Boswell kept during the year which his father allowed him in London, in order that he might try his aptitude for a fashionable, literary life, and see whether or not he could get himself a commission in the Guards. As a picture of the life of the time it is second only to the same author's life of Samuel Johnson in respect of being an earlier work, written by a man whose acquaintance did not embrace so many great names. I shall not attempt to fake a scholarly review of the book; those who want that must look elsewhere; I shall simply say that I have read it with the greatest delight, and that it did everything a book could do to while away the weary days of a bad bout of 'flu.

Boswell's passion for self-revelation needs no extended comment here. He was compelled by his nature to record every significant thing that he did, and to record it in such a way that we laugh at him and love him for it. He sets down naively his yearning for what he calls "conduct"—the demeanour and aplomb of a fine gentleman; he never attained it. He records grubby traffickings with prostitutes, and one amour on the highest romantic level with equal satisfaction and detail. He lets us know how keenly he enjoyed having his landlord wash his feet; he rejoices in a series of minute economies. He describes in detail his Ideal woman—a monster of sensibility, yet a lively bedfellow for James Boswell. He records his good deeds with unction. He tells us how, after becoming too familiar with his landlord's family and singing a song for them, he thought himself "a low being". He gives us a series of admirable pictures of his friends, including a study of that terrible old bore Thomas Sheridan (the father of Richard Brinsley S.) who loved to explain to anyone who would listen precisely why David Garrick would never be a great actor. But no one is a bore when Boswell describes him; the man himself is so much alive, so keenly interested in everything about him, that even bores grow interesting under his pen.

If you are still thinking about Christmas presents, and if you want to give not a few hours, but many years of pleasure to some friend of bookish tastes, this is your gift. I have read it with delight; I shall re-read it many times, and I shal watch with eagerness for the appearance of the other volumes which appear as the Boswell papers are edited. Boswell, after a century and a half in the shadow of Dr. Johnson, is at last appearing as one of the liveliest, most indiscreet, and most gifted of British diarists and letter-writers.

It is not often that an unmistakeable great book appears. This is such a book. You will read it eventually, and I suggest that you do so at once. What is the sense in postponing such a pleasure? R.D.

THE TRAPP FAMILY BOOK OF CHRISTMAS SONGS (McClelland & Stewart).

THIS unusual and charming book is a collection of Christmas carols and folksongs from Europe and America, which are performed by the famous Trapp family choir; the editor of the book is Father Franz Wasner. Many readers of this review will have heard the choir and Father Wasner within the last five years. There are many collections of Christmas songs and they vary greatly in merit. This is an excellent collection, containing enough "old favourites" to satisfy the people who are suspicious of anything which may be new to them (however old it may be in years) and enough unusual and out-of-the-way carols to please people who are fully acquainted with The Oxford Book of Carols and want something new.

This book is a handsome one, which makes it particularly suitable as a gift. The music appears to have been set down by hand; the staves are red and the notes black and the typographical layout is attractive without being merely pretty. The harmonizations and accompaniments to the tunes, by Father Wasner, are musically distinguished, although his treatment of such familiar airs as "Greensleeves" and "Adeste Fideles" will disturb ears which have grown used to other arrangements. Father Wasner's editing is not sentimental—indeed, it is austere in many instances—but it is highly individual, and the present reviewer found it stimulating. One regrets, however, some proudish editing of words.

Many complaints have been heard of late that our Christmas is becoming too strongly materialist in spirit, and that its sacred origin is in danger of being pushed out of sight. There is some reason for alarm, certainly. But nothing more successfully combats a material spirit at Christmas than family music, and the singing of the songs of Christmas. To know, and to possess spiritually, a number of fine carols, is to have built a bulwark against a too grossly material enjoyment of the festive season; music of this kind drives out "Rudolf the Red Nosed Reindeer" and "Santa Claus is Comin' to Town"; the two cannot exist side by side. If you have friends who consider music an inseparable part of the Christmas festival, or if you do so yourself, this book will be a valuable addition to your library of carol books; if you have no others, this one will be a good one to begin with. It is a keen pleasure to find a book of this high order making its appearance at this time. R.D.

THE PICTURE GALLERY OF CANADIAN HISTORY, Vol. 3, by C. W. Jefferys (Ryerson).

THE three volumes of pictures, of which this is the third, comprise a wonderfully interesting collection of Canadiana. It is only recently that we in Canada have learned not to be shamefaced about our past; we have discovered the interest and romance of old objects, and we have begun to preserve what formerly we allowed to fall into ruin. Mr. C. W. Jefferys has given a lifetime of study to the pictorial side of Canadian History, and in these books he has brought the past to life in a fashion which combines historical accuracy with a high degree of artistic merit. These books should certainly be within the reach of every Canadian child, and for an adult they open new and delightful avenues of history. I have never seen a project quite like this, and in Canada it is as solitary as it is valuable. The nation is permanently in Mr. Jefferys' debt. R.D.

Letters To The Editor

COMMUNISTS, UNIONISTS AND CHRISTIANS

Sir: The Communists are blaming the United States as the aggressors in the Korean war, the warmongers, the ones who are preparing to attack Russia, and also dominate and control the world. Now we will see what actually did happen in Korea. For the last five years the Communists have been training and equipping a strong army with Russian made guns and tanks, the top officers of these armies were trained in Russia. For those five years these armies were being built into a powerful fighting unit for full entry into South Korea and trimmed with a red flag. They knew the South wasn't equipped and trained to resist an aggressive war for very long, which soon showed by the speed they made in overcoming the resistance of the South armies. Their plan was to win the war before any help from another country could land forces strong enough to stop them. But through the intervention of the United Nations the help got there but not much too soon.

The whole world knows how the U.S. soldiers fought against overwhelming odds until other United Nations sent reinforcements strong enough to turn the tide of battle and drive them back over their own side of the border in disorder and defeat. The war in Korea could have been avoided. The United Nations sent a commission to Korea in 1948 to try and bring about an election for all of Korea, but they could not contact the North Korean Government. Why? The Communists knew they could not win a democratic election, and they also knew their armies were strong enough to take the South, so they chose war instead of an election.

Now we will see what C. S. Jackson said about the Korean war a few weeks ago at the C.G.E. gate at Peterborough. The American armies should pull out of Korea and let the Koreans fight it out for the kind of government they wanted. That doesn't sound very much like peace does it? It would also have been another country for Russia and another starting place for an invasion of another Pacific island.

It also meant that as soon as they were strong enough in another country let them fight it out for the kind of government they wanted without any interference from any outside nation. Doesn't sound very peaceful does it?

And this is the way they hope to win and dominate the world by taking every country from within. How? By spreading confusion and discontent among the workers, posing as benefactors of labour, talking about new contracts, higher wages, a higher standard of living, and at the same time carrying out a campaign against free enterprise.

Negotiating for new contracts and at the same time trying to kill the very system that is giving the workers the highest standard of living of any country in the world.

I appeal to all working people, all people everywhere to look around you and see what is happening in the world today. Do not let the false veil of Communism be pulled over your eyes any longer, cast it off and see them in their true light.

The East German youth has been instructed (Communists) to scuttle Christmas as an obsolete bourgeois affair and concentrate instead on the birthday of Prime Minister Stalin. Stalin's birthday is four days before Christmas, he will be 71.

As tribute to Stalin 4,000,000 members Communist trade unions in Communist Germany will work extra shifts without pay. These Communist leader who are working so hard to get signatures on the peace petition are asking their youth to reject the birthday of the Prince of Peace, and honour the birthday of one whose chief aim is to destroy all Christianity throughout the world. They have lost all meaning of the word peace.

The world now has come to the crossroads where every individual must choose the road which he is going to follow. We cannot sit on the sidelines any longer and watch the drama that is now being played. The Christian peoples of the world must all stand together or fall, because the struggle in the world now is atheism against Christianity.

Yours, etc.,
D. B. HICKS.

Omemee.

THE EARLY POPES

Sir: In answer to a letter in your paper of December 11, signed "Catholic (Not Roman)" I would just like to ask a question. If he met someone on the street who asked to be directed to a Catholic church, would he send them to the Methodist, Baptist, Anglican, etc. church? Or if he were asked if he were Protestant or Catholic, what would he say? The answers are obvious. So why claim a title you have no right to claim. "Catholic" means "universal". Please use your dictionary.

As to proof that the Catholic church can trace her pedigree from the time of the Apostles, and to the teachings of the Apostles, as well as all other proofs re the claims of the Catholic church our learned correspondent can find all that in a book called "The Faith of Our Fathers" by Cardinal Gibbons. I don't intend to take up valuable space in this paper for any more replies because the answers are all in the above mentioned book. As to proof that St. Peter was our first Pope (even governments of countries have a head so why not churches) here is just the beginning of the list of Popes, and the proof is in the archives at Rome:

1—St. Peter—suffered martyrdom on 29th June, 67 A.D.
2—Linus—67 AD. to 78—martyr.
3—Cletus—78 A.D. to 90—martyr.
4—Clement—90 A.D. to 100—martyr.
5—Anacletus—100 A.D. to 112—martyr.
6—Evaristus—112 A.D. to 121—martyr.
7—Alexander—121 A.D. to 132—martyr.
8—Sixtus—132 A.D. to 142—martyr.
9—Telesphorus—142 A.D. to 154—martyr.
10—Hyginus—154 A.D. to 158—martyr.

I hope this is sufficient, for the sake of space, because the list goes on right down to the present time. The first thirty-one (all but Dionysius) were martyrs, that is, killed for their faith, but in spite of persecution down through the ages, the church founded by Christ when he said to Peter "Thou art Peter and upon this rock I will build my church", still flourishes. (Surely you can find the above in your New Testament.)

I think I have taken up enough space now. My first letter was motivated by a previous letter from a correspondent in Havelock. I wrote it in defence of our church, not merely out of a desire to start a controversy. I have had my say and will reply no more.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space. I remain,

Yours sincerely,
"CATHOLIC".

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

I am the Lord: that is my name: and my glory will I not give to another, neither my praise to graven images. Behold, the former things are come to pass, and new things do I declare: before they spring forth I tell you of them....

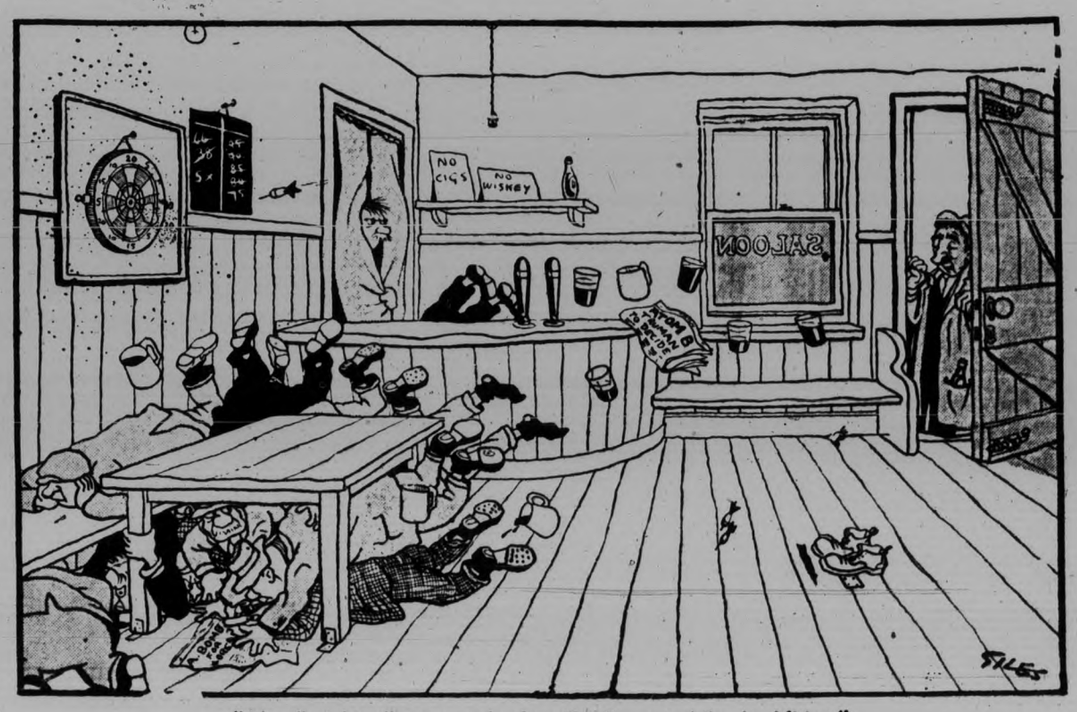

And I will bring the blind by a way that they knew not; I will lead them in paths that they have not known: I will make darkness light before them, and crooked things straight. These things will I do unto them, and not forsake them. (Isa. 42: 8, 9, 16.)

The Lord will perfect that which concerneth me: thy mercy, O Lord, endureth for ever: forsake not the works of thine own hands. (Ps. 138: 8.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find: knock, and it shall be opened unto you: for every one that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh it shall be opened. (Matt. 7: 7, 8.)

Want Canada To Be Given Bigger Share Of Trade

By BURCHELL O. WILLS.

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana, Dec. 20 — (CP). — While Britain's declared victory in her battle for economic independence is perhaps a matter for Empire-wide rejoicing, the feeling is widespread in import trade circles here that Canada deserves a bigger share of the West Indies' import trade.

Although Canada is this colony's best customer, the United Kingdom is enjoying the bulk of import trade from British Guiana.

Some importers, anxious to show some gratitude to Canada, eagerly await the inauguration early next year of the "token imports scheme."

This plan, announced in Canada and in the colonies some time ago, will enable British Caribbean colonies to buy from North America a larger supply of goods than at present.

Latest British Guiana trade statistics, covering the 10-month period ended October 31, show that Canada bought $23,000,000 worth of the colony's export goods in that time. Britain bought only $11,000,000. Total value of the exports was $41,000,000.

Sales Low

On the other hand, Canada's sales to British Guiana amounted to only $6,184,280, less than one-seventh of the $45,000,000 worth of imports, of which Britain shared $21,446,737.

Announcement that Britain will take no more Marshall Plan from the United States after January 1 came during a visit to British Guiana of C. Rex Stollmeyer, West Indies Trade Commissioner to Canada.

Mr. Stollmeyer told exporters here that British Guiana rum is not properly boosted in Canada. It was noted that rum exports for the 10-month period had a substantial drop—rfom $3,238,000 for the similar period of 1949 to $2,257,000 for 1950.

Lindsay Edges IOOF, 7 To 5 In Overtime Junior Tussle

Red Mitchell's Lindsay Kinsmen edged Oddfellows 7-5 in overtime at home last night to tie for the junior "B" hockey group leadership in a stiffly contested struggle, before a good crowd.

Each team has won six games and tied one for a total of 13 point to date, though the Scugog boys have two games in hand.

Despite defeat, Jim Morrow possibly emerged the individual star of the game with three sparkling goals for the hat trick in a fine display, though Brian Robinson ran him a close second with an outstanding show of stick wizardry.

Penalties Hurt

Two majors to Wasson and Douglas in the second and a loudly protested minor to Armstrong depleted Oddfellows' vaunted scoring power much of the second period when edged 2-1 after an even first frame. But the defensive stand of the Oddfellows (under acting coach Len Symonds) when shorthanded, was amazing as Kinsmen failed to achieve a safe margin at that point. Continuing to outplay their rivals in the third while at full strength, Links tied the score late in the frame, after each squad had tallied twice. Brian Robinson broke from centre, split the defence and rifled home the picture goal of the night—a blazing 20-footer high into the twine, to force overtime.

A Little Edge

Lindsay earned the nod in the hectic extra session when defenceman Lucas drilled a sharp 15 footer past Wasson at 1.34 on a neat passing play with Shenkeland Sinclair. Kinsman added another in the dying seconds but play was close all the way between the tiring squads. It was Oddfellows' second hard tussle in two nights.

Outstanding for Lindsay were Corley, Powell, Baker, Green, Lucas, Dysart, Vasey and Walling, with Sherrington, Schenkel and Sinclair playing well also. For Oddfellows, the entire team performed well in addition to the above - mentioned stars. They gave their level best and lost a close one packed with thrills of every kind, only after a hard battle. It was a wide-open game, fast and very rugged, between two evenly-matched teams.

Lindsay. Goal, McGuire; defence, Lucas, Walling; centre, Powell; wings, Schenkel, Sinclair; alts., G Vasey, Dysart, Spratt, Corley, Baker, Green, Collins, Sherrington.

IOOF: Goal, R. Wasson; defence, D Wasson, Clapper; centre, West; wings, Wyatt, Morrow; alts., Douglas, Floyd, Buckton, B. Robinson, Hefternan, Stewart, Armstrong, Shearer.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

After a week's layoff here, senior hockey returns to the Civic Arena scene at 8.30 tonight. It'll be the Queen's Combines of Kingston playing the Peterborough Eagles, and the feathers may fly ere the final gong goes. The bolstered Combines are making a driving try to get back into playoff contention, and they'll give the top-place Eagles a hard fight in this fray. Mick Magee's men are ready for them and expecting a stiff scrap, but hoping to take the decision and keep up there in the scrambly race. The game should draw a hefty Christmas midweek crowd of fans.

* * * * * *

Bill Crowley continues to lead the Eagles in scoring with 13 games played. He has potted the puck past opposing netters 16 times and aided on 11 more for a total of 27 points in a flashy showing to date. He's staying out of the sin bin this season and playing mighty fine hockey. Joe Rochetta is next with 17 points and line-mate Dootch Vitarelli has 16. Three others, Andy Milne, Freddy Mortimer and Bert Hill, are up there with 15 points apiece, and Bob Parnall has clicked for 13 so far. All those who have played more than a couple of games have been in on some of the scoring, though a few forwards haven't done too much yet. Team has played 14 games.

* * * * * *

Dugan Leading Petes

Petes have been in 15 tilts up to now, and Arn Dugan is still the leading sniper. The fancy-skating blond forward has netted the disc 18 times and assisted on 14 more goals for a grand total of 32 points. An excellent performance, following a big summer as leading OLA scorer. Honey Tompkins, Jake Wade and Chum Fryia are also potent marksmen with 20 points apiece, while Gus Leonard has 17, and both Junior West and Freddy Garvey 14 each. Every player in the lineup has been in on two or more goals, though (like Eagles) a few of the forwards haven't been giving rival goalies any real headaches.

Followers of the Peterborough Minor Hockey Association can view any or all of six schedule games tomorrow night in the arena, commencing at six chimes. They go like this: Trojan bantams vs. St. Peter's, Trojan midgets vs. Martin-Hewitt, Trojan juves vs. Lakefield Lions, Empress bantams vs. Otonabee Wolves, St. Peter's midgets vs. Marines, and Clapper's juveniles vs. the Oddfellows. Referees are: Romhanyi and Bell six to nine, Leggett and Lawless from nine till midnight. Plenty of keen puck action is promised throughout the evening, and these stars of tomorrow deserve lots of fan support.

IOOF Drops A Toughie

Playing their second tough junior "B" game in two nights, the local IOOF-ers last eve dropped a 7-5 overtime decision in Lindsay. The verdict put the Scugog squad in a first-place tie with the Oddfellows, who aren't listed to play again till a week Friday. Play was rapid and rugged throughout between the well-matched young hustlers, but the homesters had enough left in the extra inning to sink a pair. Jim Morrow and Brian Robinson starred for the Kingdon crew, with the others giving it all they had. Oddfellows are dishing up fine hockey these days and aren't up there in a top-place tie by accident. But then it's a close, close race, with every club in the group very much in the hunt so far.

Things happened along the Rue Brock last night to enliven the three-bout mat card. The ring broke, a bell wasn't heard, and a winner was declared a loser. Most confusing to the customers. Too much weight (including hefty Referee Bert Maxwell) cracked some boards to cause a delay. The roaring crowd drowned out the bell once to fool a lot of folks. And the ref was roughed up ('tis always inadvertently by Pat Flanagan) so he got mad and gave the bout to the other guy, who was losing. One Al Korman. That was the semi-final. The prelim was being held up for busted boards but Willie Davis wouldn't desist after the bell, so the duke was handed to Les Ryan. And Lord Athol Layton—complete with Gerald—won the main fracas over bull-voiced Hi Lee. Quite an evening up there.

In the first heat, Easter Jester, owned by R. C. Mallion of Buffalo and driven by Johnny Chapman, spurted to the lead at the quarter pole and never lost the lead.

Court Orr, owned by M. Featherstone of Burlington, and driven by Eddie Wheeler, took the lead in the home stretch and was hard pressed to stave off the fast-closing Dr. Holman.

Court Orr stood best in the summary with a 3-1 showing.

Dr. Holam, owned by Wells and Hess of Morrisburg, and driven by Percy Robillard, finished second in both heats.

V-Day Todd, owned by S. Somerville of Orangeville and driven by James Somerville, and Counsel III, owned by Eddie Jones of Oswego, N. Y., and driven by Bob Forbes, shared honors in the fourth race, the co-feature.

Steve Birklacich, 20-year-old defenceman with the amateur New York Rovers will join St. Paul of the United States Hockey League for a professional try-out.

The St. Paul club announced Birklacich will fly to Milwaukee and be in the line-up tonight. Birklacich can play three games with a professional team on a try-out basis without injuring his amateur status. He played last year with the Guelph Biltmores.

The Saints said Birklacich will replace Bob Dawson, who is on the injured list.

Marines Enter "B" Team In Cage Loop

A strong Peterborough entry has been made in the lakeshore intermediate "B" league this year, the Peterborough Marines. For the past month the cagers have been working out with the intermediate "A" team at the YMCA and the PCVS gyms under Coach Gord McIntyre.

Peterborough was to have opened a week ago at Whitby but the game was postponed. Other results of games to date: Oshawa Irish downed Whitby 43-26; Cobourg beat Oshawa Grads 34-31; Oshawa Grads won over Port Hope 40-20.

Coach McIntyre will have oodles of scoring power. Jim Thorburn, for a number of years with the Outboard Marines' "A" squad, is with the Bees. He has Ted Payne, Bill Trimm, Rocky Kidd, Neil Thompson, Doug MacPherson, Bill Dadson and Fred Plato. A number of these players are former Marine intermediate "A" players as well.

Thompson is expected to be an outstanding performer with Coach Bev Goulding's PCVS senior "A" team this year. Plato has been whistling through the YMCA house league with high scores each night some into the 20s. Several others will be signed.

Most of the Peterborough home games will be Saturday nights in the YMCA gym. City league games are expected to precede each lakeshore game.

The local squad will open in Cobourg on January 3 and will play their first home game on January 6 with the Oshawa Grads as the opposition.

The schedule is:

Jan. 3—Peterborough vs. Cobourg; Bowmanville vs. Oshawa Irish.
Jan. 4—Whitby vs. Port Hope.
Jan. 6—Oshawa Grads vs. Peterborough.
Jan. 9—Cobourg vs. Whitby.

Layton Gets Top Mat Bout As Confusion Holds Reign

Lord Athol Layton beat Hi Lee in the main mat bout at the Brock Arena last night in a card that saw some confusion for the fans. The prelim wasn't quite over when some ring boards gave way under huge Wee Willie Davis, the latter acting up after the gong, and the award then going to Les Ryan. There was considerable delay before the semi-final went on and then an angry referee aawrded that one to Al Korman, who was beaten. In the final, a sneak rush by Hi Lee and a bell that wasn't heard too plainly confused the crowd, many not knowing the bout was over at the finish.

A Quick Fall

This happened when Layton, 257 pounds, beaten by the 288-pound Lee in 19 minutes for the first fall with a rolling body slam, came back to win the second in jig time, just 20 seconds. Lee again tried to jump the bell, but this time Athol was ready and slammed him down, applying a hard armlock to pin his shoulders for the count. He climbed out of the ring, but returned when the furious Lee challenged him, saying the bell had not gone. It did sound, but not heard too well in the roar of the crowd as Lee was trying to jump Layton ahead of time. The bell went went just as they met. His "ludship" got back into the ring, survived a series of chokes, eye rasps, and punches by the villainous and unpopular Texan, and worked in some judo to set up Lee for a reverse armlock and hip swing to slam him for a popular fall.

Referee Groggy

Pat Flanagan, 228, beat Al (Krusher) Korman, 232 pounds of rough stuff, but lost the semi-final in 20 minutes. Al played it the hard way and got away with plenty, but Pat evened it up finally in his innocent-appearing way and got in some stuff on Referee Bert Maxwell as well. He was warned twice by the ref for tossing Korman his way—as Pat gave out with a crowd-pleasing colorful display of open mat work—and the third time Maxwell was downed, he got up groggily and awarded the bout to Korman. The loser left the ring fresher and much more popular than the winner of the lively session and the pudgy and angry official. The fair-sized crowd liked the tussle.

Ring Gives Way

Les Ryan, 231 pounds, got the prelim overlb. 276- Wee Willie Davis a few minutes before the bout was scheduled to finish. When a couple of boards cracked under the pressure of the active heavies, the ref stopped it. Davis then went berserk and tore after Ryan, yanking him around in his dressing-gown fiercely. When it was finally broken up, Maxwell gave the bout to Ryan as the fans cheered. Both went at it earlier in rugged style, and Wee Willie had some supporters—one going up to the ring with advice for the Hollywood husky. It was wild and woolly for quite a space, with the referee caught in the middle. Hard blows were thrown and plenty of noise heard before the ring floor gave way.

PMLA Finishes Season With Enjoyable Dinner

Peterborough Minor Lacrosse Association wound up the year with a dinner at Bill's Place last night, nearly two dozen officers, managers and coaches enjoying the affair. Plans are being made to hold the annual meeting early in the new year to present reports, elect officers and prepare for another big season.

Ken Kingston, president of the PMLA—which took care of some 250 boys last summer, under head coach Jerry Fitzgerald—expressed thanks to all who had helped him make the season a success. He paid particular tribute to the men who donated their services as managers and coaches from spring until fall. He congratulated the OLA junior "B" championship team also.

President Bob Peirson of the local senior "A" lacrosse club, and Walter Murphy, hard-working executive member of the PMLA, were others who spoke briefly to the gathering.

"NO CONTEST"

The fifth race at the Fairgrounds Track in New Orleans on Tuesday was declared "no contest" by track officials after a false start in which 11 of the 12 horses ran the full distance.

Workmen were repairing an electrical circuit in the starting gate when the starting bell accidentally sounded. Starter Ruby White did not have the starting button in his hand at the time. All bets on the race were refunded.

Wings Blast Hawks 6-1 Crowd Leafs For NHL Lead

By The Canadian Press.

Detroit Red Wings, rolling merrily along on their second long unbeaten streak of the season, are crowding Toronto Maple Leafs for the lead in the National Hockey League.

Coach Tommy Ivan's crew Tuesday night made it seven victories in their last eight starts by trouncing Chicago's injury-riddles Black Hawks 6-1 before a Detroit crowd of 10,038.

The victory lifted the Wings to within one point of the idle Leafs who tonight have a chance to regain their slim advantage in a clash at home with the fourth-place Montreal Canadiens.

The Wings, who haven't been beaten since Dec. 6—they were tied once—spotted the Hawks a goal by veteran Adam Brown, then rapped home six markers almost at their leisure.

They made things thoroughly miserable for their former teammate, goalie Harry Lumley, by peppering him with 36 shots, 18 of them in the first period while Terry Sawchuk in the Detroit net was handling three drives.

Defence Scores

The Detroit rearguard again demonstrated its strength on the offence, three defencemen sharing scoring honors with the forwards.

They were Bob Goldham, Leo Reise and rookie Clarence Raglan. Ted Lindsay, Jim Peters and Gordie Howe connected for the other markers.

The Leafs, meanwhile, called up Fern Flaman from Pittsburgh of the American League for tonight's game.

Flaman, a hard-hitting rearguard, will be seeing action with the Leafs for the first time since he was obtained from Boston Bruins in a trade last month. He will replace High Bolton, injured at Boston last weekend.

The Canadiens also have a new face in their line-up—Bert Olmstead who was acquired in a trade with Detroit for Leo Gravelle. Both are forwards.

Tonight's only other scheduled game sends the Bruins into New York for a tussle with the Rangers.. It'll be a battle to keep out of the cellar for the fifth-place Bruins are only one point ahead of the basement-dwelling New Yorkers.

St. Kitts Trip Guelph In 5-3 Triumph

By The Canadian Press.

The leadership in the junior "A" division of the Ontario Hockey League has been a tough spot to hold but in recent games the Toronto Marlboros have built up a fairly-solid five-point margin over Barrie Flyers.

Marlies are idle tonight but Flyers have a chance to cut into the distance between them and the Dukes when they meet the not so tough Waterloo Hurricanes. The Hurricanes are still looking for their first win in 23 starts.

In other games scheduled for tonight Toronto St. Michael's meet the Generals in Oshawa and Stratford takes on the Windsor Spitfires.

Three-way Deadlock

The Oshawa game could break up a triple tie for third place in the 10-team loop. St. Catharines moved into the three-way deadlock Tuesday night by downing Guelph Biltmores 5-3 in St. Catharines. Besides the Teepees, Oshawa and Guelph also are on the third rung.

The Teepees notched three of their counters with Biltmores a man short. They piled up a 4-0 lead before Guelph got on the score sheet but coach Alf Pike, playing five forwards in the latter part of the game, had 1,100 St. Kitts fans worried when he whittled the advantage to 4-3. But a Guelph penalty turned the tide when Buddy Boone tapped in the insurance marker while Harry Howell served his second penalty of the period.

St. Kitts other marksmen were Wayne Brown, Skip Teal, Jim Robertson and Gord Lomer. Dean Prentice, Ron Murphy and Gerry Theberge scored for Guelph.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press.

Tuesday night's lone National Hockey League game produced little change in the individual scoring race which is headed by Toronto's Max Bentley with 32 points. Bentley's 21 assists top the league.

Gordie Howe of Detroit picked up a goal against Chicago to move within a single point of Sid Smith and Cal Gardner, both of Toronto who are tied for fourth place with 26 points.

Ted Kennedy, Toronto, occupies second place with 29 points, followed by the league's leading scorer, Tod Sloan of Toronto, who has 16 goals and 11 assists.

Turk Broda, Toronto goal tender, tops his department with five shutouts while team-mate Gus Mortson and Lindsay of the Red Wings have spent the most minutes in the penalty box—58 each.

Name Colorful Howie Morenz Greatest Player In Half Century

By JACK SULLIVAN.

TORONTO, Dec. 20 (CP). — Howie Morenz, who had color in his every motion and whose brilliance stood out in an era of colorful and brilliant players, has been chosen the greatest hockey player of the half century.

The accolade went to the great Montreal Canadiens' centre by sports editors and sportscasters participating in a Canadian Press half-century poll. They named 11 men, whose careers date from the days of the storied Ottawa Silver Seven at the turn of the century to the present day but the hurtling Habitant who died March 8, 1937, when he was only 34, was placed at the top by a wide margin.

THE STRATFORD STREAK —The late Howie Morenz, great centre of Montreal Canadiens, is the top hockey player of the half-century according to Canadian sports writers. Whether he was the fastest speed merchant of them all is still argued but there is no argument about his greatness. He played short tours with Chicago Black Hawks and New York Rangers but is remembered for his playing with Montreal.

It was a far different story in the search for the greatest hockey team of the last 50 years—a dead heat between the Silver Seven team which beat everything in sight 40-odd years ago and Toronto Varsity Grads of 1926-27 the club that won the Allan Cup that year and the Olympic title at St. Moritz in 1928.

Here again the balloting brought memories of famous clubs —amateur and professional—and of the greats who played for them. In all, 15 teams were named, teams that won the Stanley, Allan and Memorial Cups, representative of every decade from 1900 to the present.

Howie's life-time pro record from 1923-24 to 1936-37 produced 270 goals and 197 assists for a 467 point total. He won the Hart Trophy (most valuable player to his team) in 1928, 1931 and 1932 and in 1931 and 1932 was named to the Canadian Press all-star team.

After 11 seasnns with Canadiens he was traded in a three-cornered deal with Chicago Black Hawks and Montreal Maroons and went to the Hawks. Then he was traded to New York Rangers midway through the 1935-36 campaign and settled into semi-obscurity.

The experts said he was finished but Cecil Hart, the man who signed him to his first pro contract, returned to Canadiens as manager in 1935-36, wanted to re-create the old spirit of the flying Frenchmen and bought Morenz from Rangers for a song.

He whipped around like the Morenz of old until the night of Dec. 26, 1936, when the point of his skate penetrated the boards. He lost his balance, fell. The imbedded skate held fast and his leg was broken.

Dies Suddenly

A nervous breakdown complicated his illness but he was rallying from this when complications set in and he died suddenly in hospital on the night of March 8.

But hockey hadn't forgotten Morenz. He was made a member of the Hall of Fame shortly after it was set up in 1943.

Two of the Canadien teams he played with received votes in the ballot for the greatest hockey club of the half century—the 1924 and 1930 cluubus, both Stanley cup-winning combinations.

But Morenz—who learned to skate on the frozen river Thames near his Mitchell, Ont., birthplace and who carved a deep niche in the game's history—stole the poll. He won over such greats as Fred (Cyclone) Taylor of the Silver Seven; Frank Nighbor, poke-checking artist with the old Ottawa Senators; rough and rambunctious Eddie Shore of Boston Bruins; Nels (Ole Poison) Stewart of great Montreal Maroon teams; Newsy Lalonde and Aurel Joliat of Canadiens; Syl Apps, Toronto; and the present-day Maurice Richard of Canadians; Milt Schmidt, Bruins, and Toronto's Turk Broda.

Morenz polled 27 votes, Richard four, Taylor three, Nighbor two and the others one.

Began At Stratford

Morenz began his hockey career at Stratford, signed his first pro contract for $1,600 with Canadiens in the 1923-24 season and almost immediately became a million-dollar box-office attraction. His great, reckless speed and headlong rushes set turnstiles clicking wherever he played.

He was a big factor in Canadiens' Stanley Cup triumph his first season. He became the Babe Ruth of hockey and at various times was tabbed the Canadien comet, the hurtling Habitant, the Mitchell meteor and the Stratford streak. Hard-driving and gallant, he hurtled through some of the toughest defence combinations in the game and never in his long career had a fight on the ice.

Some voters didn't stipulate the year for the Silver Seven team they selected—they would go for any year it was in existence. And the vote ended with the Varsity Grads and Silver Seven tied with four votes each. The remainder of the ballot reads like a history of Canada's national winter game.

There were the Stanley Cup teams of Canadiens in 1944 and 1946; Toronto Leafs of 1931, 1942 and 1949; Boston Bruins of 1930 and 1941; Montreal Maroons of 1935; Ottawa Senators of 1909, 1921-22-23 and New York Rangers of 1928 and 1933.

Also named were Allan Cup champion Winnipeg Vics, 1912; Toronto Granites, 1923; Port Arthur Bearcats, 1926; Moncton Hawks, 1934; and the Memorial Cup champion Winnipeg Falcons of 1921 and Toronto St. Michael's, 1947.

One vote went to the 1906-07 Kenora Thistles, a team with the then Brandon bank clerk, Art Ross, and the late Si Griffiths and Tom Phillips on the lineup.

Mrs. Rae Stewart WA President

CAVAN, Dec. 20 (ENS).—The Women's Association of Ebenezer United Church met at the home of the president Mrs. Rae Stewart on Friday afternoon.

The program was in keeping with the Christmas season and was followed by the election of officers for the coming year resulting in president Mrs. Rae Stewart; vice-president, Mrs. Stanley Sharpe; secretary, Mrs. Percy Stewart; recording treasurer, Mrs. Bruce Sharpe and financial treasurer, Mrs. A. Bidgood.

It was decided to send Christmas parcels to the less fortunate children of the community.

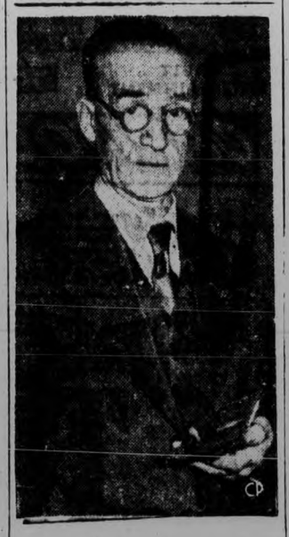

The hostess served lunch.

May Reorganize Schools

NEW YORK, Dec. 20 (AP).—Oscar R. Ewing, federal security administrator, said Tuesday night the government may turn high schools into basic-training grounds for future American soldiers. He said the federal government is "thinking in terms of stimulating the reorganization of high school curricula so that there will be a consistent program of military and technical training."

Wants To Go Abroad

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 (AP).—Paul Robeson asked the federal district court here Tuesday to order the State Department to stop preventing him from going abroad. The Negro singer, who told a Communist-sponsored world peace conference in Paris last April that American Negroes would never go to war against Russia, informed the court that the department cancelled his passport last July. A passport is necessary to leave the country.

"EXAGGERATED" REPORT —Victor Lord, spruce and lively at 72, denies that his was the skeleton found in a seldom-used shed in Montreal nearly four years ago. After his wife's death in 1945, the blacksmith left Montreal without informing friends, and went to work in the bush north of Pembroke, Ont. The skeleton was found Jan. 29, 1947, and was identified as Lord by his landlady and friends. He didn't know he was officially "dead" until he applied for a government pension. After Lord produced documents and witnesses to prove his identity, the Montreal coroner declared the previous identification of the skeleton in error and sent the case back to the police.

Dies At 106

ADILENE, Kas., Dec. 20 (AP).—J. B. Edwards, pioneer cattle man and one-time close friend of "Wild Bill" Hickok, died Tuesday at the age of 106. Edwards, who was medically rejected for service in the American Civil War, worked in his garden until 100 and he walked downtown every day until his 102nd birthday.

Successful Euchre

The Separate School on Highway 7 held another successful euchre party on Friday night. Ladies' first prize winner was Mrs. Rose Mathews. Second was a tie between Mrs. Delaney and Mrs. Alexis English with Mrs. Delaney winning on the draw; men's prizes went to Claude Waldon and Tom Quinlan. There were 11 tables.

Lunch was served by the ladies.

Cabinet Plans To Discuss Price Freeze

OTTAWA, Dec. 20 (CP) — Trade Minister Howe said Tuesday the government, as yet, has made no decision to follow the United States action calling for a voluntary price freeze on all goods and services.

However, he added in an interview, the United States action, anonuced in Washington Tuesday, will be discussed at a meeting of cabinet Thursday.

Asked if he thought any Canadian action might then follow, he replied:

"We will have to wait and see."

He emphasized that Canada's constitution is different from that in the United States. Action taken in one country might not be constitutional in the other.

However, the government did have authority under the Essential Materials (Defence) Act to freeze prices of materials entering into defence production, though, up to the moment, no steps had been taken to do so.

MAYOR-ELECT — Fred J. Hume, electrical contractor and part owner of the New Westminster Royals hockey team, was elected mayor of Vancouver. He is shown with a broad victory smile after an overwhelming win over Mayor Charles Thompson. Mr. Hume was mayor of New Westminster for nine years before moving to Vancouver..

Many At Millbrook Church Supper

MILLBROOK, Dec. 20 (ENS)—About 200 sat down on Thursday to the annual Christmas supper of St. Andrew's Sunday School to which the parents as well as the children had been invited. The children's games, before the supper, were supervised by Mrs. John Ridge and Miss Frances Dawson.

After supper carols were sung, led by the Sunday School orchestra, and four films were shown by Mr. Wilfrid Elson.

Santa Claus arrived and gave gifts from the gaily decorated tree to all pupils in the primary, junior and intermediate classes.

Elizabeth Ann McKnight, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George McKnight, celebrated her tenth birthday with a party on Thursday. Those who attended were: Helen Wright, Verdyn Perkin, Lenore Ouellette, Nancy and Susan Innis, Helen Ingham, Muriel Mae Husser, Janet Hobbs, Dorothy Dawson and David McKnight.

Mrs. James Widdis of Regina and her son, Mr. Charles Widdis of Louvan, Sask., have returned after spending five weeks with relatives in the district.

U.S. STEPS ON GAS IN TANK RACE—The U.S. Army is stepping up its tank-production program, but isn't going to fall for any bridge-and-road-busting behemoths such as the Russians are rumored to have. Tank designers are concentrating on light and medium tanks, with emphasis on harder-hitting firepower. Production has started of the still unveiled T-41 (T for test model)—a tank "superior to anything in a comparable class." The T-41 isn't intended for battling other armor, but is for fast reconnaissance and protecting the flanks for infantry. The American Locomotive Company has a $100,000,000 order for 500 of the secret M-47 landcruiser, a modified and improved version of the M-46 Patton tank, which successfully battled Russian T-34's in Korea. Pictures above compare U.S. and Russian models.

May Anchor Down Seats For Safer Air Travel

LONDON —(CP)— A new idea for making air travel safer is being considered by Britain's ministry of supply.

Under the plan, aircraft seats would be attached to a cable. This in turn would be fastened to the floor and anchored to the tail unit.

The basic feature is to prevent seats being torn from their moorings, one of the causes of the high mortality rate in air crashes.

Musicians Strike

NEW YORK, Dec. 20 (AP). — A musicians' strike against New York City hotels and nightclubs will be called prior to the New Year's Eve celebration, a union spokesman said Tuesday. Samuel Suber, president of the American Federation of Musicians (AFL), told a press conference it was being called because of a breakdown in contract negotiations.

Omemee Santa Rides Fire Reel

OMEMEE, Dec. 20 —(ENS)— Hundreds of people crowded Omemee streets Saturday afternoon to watch the Santa Claus parade, sponsored by the Omemee business men.

Following police escort, the Village Council, mounted on the old fire engine, led the parade, while Santa and his attendants rode in state on the new one and exchanged greetings with excited throngs of children.

Then came the contestants. In the junior entries for decorated bicycles or tricycles with riders in costume, Gail Downey won first in the guise of a scarecrow, and Terry Ruttle got second. Donnie Mitchell got the prize in senor entries. Muriel Downey, as Aunt Jemima, won the junior comic costume prize. Fancy dress costume, junior, was won by Neil Young, with Carson Morrison coming second. Garry and Garfield Whitney got first for decorated vehicle other than bicycles, tricycles or baby carriages, and second went to Douglas Givins.

The remainder of the program was in Coronation Hall, where all the children received a treat and everyone a free picture show. Reeve H. Deyell acted as chairman. The judges of the contests were Mrs. S. Moyer, Mrs. G. N. Earle and Miss Marion Rea. Cash prizes were given for lucky draws and special prizes were given to the oldest lady present, Mrs. Geo. Carew; the lady coming farthest, Mrs. Grigor, from London, Ont.; the youngest baby, Barbara Ann Boyce; and the most recent bride, Mrs. Emery Shea.

CLOSE WATCH — Ballot boxes from the recent closely-contested Windsor mayoralty election are guarded by police on a 24-hour basis, pending court decision on a recount asked by defeated candidate Mayor Arthur J. Reaume. Winner, by 38 votes, was Thomas R. Brophy, law student and former newspaper man. Constable Howard Watkins points to the seals on the city hall closet holding the boxes.

Movie Column

Latest Movie Brings End Of World

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 20 (AP)— Not content with having flown to the moon, George Pal is now causing the end of the world.

Pal is no flying saucer pilot or evangelist. He is a miracle worker in another field—motion pictures. Born in Hungary, he studied to be an architect but graduated at a time when there were no jobs. He was fascinated with American cartoon films like Felix the cat and went into the cartoon field in Europe.

Soon the ambitious draftsman grew tired of the tedious work of drawing thousands of flat figures. For a novelty, he began to make animated films by the use of puppets.

Fanciful Movie

Pal came to America in 1939 to produce puppetoons for Paramount. They achieved success but recently he was forced to abandon them because of rising costs. This year Pal produced a film called "Destination Moon," a fanciful but seemingly authentic account of what inter-planetary flight would be like.

The film was produced for about $600,000 and is expected to bring in $3,000,000 in the United States alone. It started a cycle of science fiction movies.

This week Pal started filming a new project called "When Worlds Collide." It will be the ultimate in movie catastrophes making the 'San Francisco" earthquake and "The Last Days of Pompeii" seem minor-league.

"The story starts with the approach of a planet and a star toward the earth" Pal told me. "Many people fear that it means the end of the earth, but others do not become alarmed and claim the other worlds will bypass the earth.

"Well, the planet does bypass, although it causes huge tidal waves, earthquakes and volcanoes. After that comes the star and it strikes the earth and destroys it."

Human Story

The picture will have a human story about a group of people who believe the worlds will collide and try to make some plans for it. They devise a space ship and select 800 candidates for passengers.

"They are chosen for their mental and physical well-being and because they are best in their fields such as carpentry, medicine, etc.," said Pal.

"Would a newspaperman be included?" I asked.

"There might be one among the et ceteras," he added slyly. "Of course there is only room for 40 people aboard, so they are chosen from the 800 by the democratic process of drawing names."

DRAMA AWARD — Michael Meiklejohn, of Ottawa, has been given a special drama award for his outstanding work in the development of drama in Canada. Drama adviser of the health department's fitness division, Mr. Meiklejohn is a governor of the Dominion Drama Festival and a director of the Ottawa Drama League. He is well known as an actor and a producer with the Ottawa League.

Korean Republic Publishes Evacuation Plan

SEOUL, Dec. 20—(AP)—The Republic of Korea today published a nine-point over-all program for the evacuation of the civilian population from military areas, including the capital of Seoul.

The program, similar to ones that have been drawn up for several American cities, are to be put into effect only if the military situation justifies such evacuation.

The program was announced by South Korea's Ministry of Social Affairs. It covered the government plan for the relief of refugees as well as the evacuation of civilians.

This step was not new in itself. The government previously had published a program for the evacuation of Kaeson, the city between the capital of Seoul and the former Red capital of Pyongyang, now held by the Chinese Reds.

Something to remember

This is one of a series of words and expressions whose origins and meanings are published in the interest of a better understanding, use and knowledge of the English language.

"GO SCOT FREE"

Going "scot free" is generally accepted as meaning to escape punishment or reprimand; to be let off without payment.

The word "scot" comes to us direct from Old English, where it meant a payment or tax or one's share of a monetary burden. Looking further, we find it to be the same word as "shot," which meant quota or reckoning. This word, too, has survived and we still speak of "paying the shot." Literally, then, when we "go scot free" we are being freed of payment or tax or our share of the costs.

Chlorination Machine To Dispose Of Odors

COBOURG, Dec. 20—(ENS)—Chlorination equipment has been installed at the sewage disposal plant in order to eliminate the odours about which residents in that area complained so much last summer. The chlorination machine cost $5,200 and until the warm weather arrives its effectiveness in removing the objectionable smells will not be known. The chlorine is injected into the raw sewage before it goes to the clarifiers.

A Warm Welcome

NEW YORK, Dec. 20 (AP). — The Empress of Scotland, flagship of the Canadian Pacific Steamships, Limited, arrived here Tuesday from Liverpool, escorted by a United States navy destroyer, several coast-guard cutters, police launches and other harbor craft. The 660-foot, 26,300-ton vessel is the first of the company's vessels to return to cruise service since the war. It was her first appearance in New York as a passenger vessel.

Princess Has Daughter

CAIRO, Dec. 20 (AP).—Princess Fawzia, sister of King Farouk gave birth Tuesday night to a daughter, a palace communique announced. The 29-year-old princess, regarded as one of the world's most beautiful women, is the wife of Ismail Shirine Bey. Egyptian diplomat and aide-de-camp of the king. She is the former wife of the Shah of Iran, from whom she was divorced in 1948.

Build 922 Schools

OSHAWA, Dec. 20 (CP). — Premier Frost said Tuesday that in the last five years 922 schools, accommodating 110,710 pupils, have been built in Ontario, at a cost of $81,800,000. Speaking at the formal opening of Oshawa's $700,000 Central Collegiate Institute, he said Ontario has made more progress in education in recent years than in any comparable period in the province's history.

Santa Arrives On Rooftop In Warkworth

WARKWORTH, Dec. 20 (ENS)—Saturday was the big day for the children of Warkworth and vicinity when Santa Claus visited the village. Arrangements for his visit were made by the Warkworth Branch of the Canadian Legion and the Business Men's Association, assisted by the White School Branch of the Women's Institute. At 2 p.m. a large crowd of spectators gathered at the intersection of Front and Bridge Streets watching the long line of floats and fancy costumed youngsters and oldsters assemble for the big parade. The Community Band, under the direction of their leader, J. J. Minicola, of Peterborough, played several Christmas carols while the procession was forming in line.

Santa appeared on the flat roof of the telephone office. Quickly an extension ladder from the fire truck was run up by several clowns. Santa began to descend much to the joy of the children. He was given a seat of honor in one of the floats and the parade started out through the business section marching to the music of the band until they reached the town hall where a short program was presented with the Rev. J. M. Ritchie as master of ceremonies.

Three of the Girl Guides sang a song and then Sally Somers and Margaret Ann Ritchie, two of the guides, favored with a piano duet. Margaret Thomson favored with a piano solo. The Girl Guides sang a chorus and Mrs. David Merrill recited the poem, "The Orphans." Gaith Allen, a fine young piano student, favored with a selection while much merriment was enjoyed when the chairman swung one of the young ladies in costume on to the stage stepping to the rhythm of the piano selection.

Another one of the up-and-coming youngsters in the person of Marlene Wartman favored with a piano solo and then four of the clowns tried to sing "Jingle Bells."

Mother Goose was called on next and then Marjorie Honey as "Overall Jim" and Betty Young in the costume of "Sunbonnet Sally" sang a duet accompanied on the piano by Ida Honey.

The judges, Mrs. Roy McNally, Miss E. Partridge and Mrs. G. Nelson, decided that Charlie Tripp should be awarded the first prize with his "Goat and Sleigh," and the little Kelly Bros. were awarded second prize for their decorated wagon.

Then Santa started to give out his gifts to the long line of kiddies and the day's program came to a happy close.

Much credit for the success of the event is due to Harold Buttars, president of the Business Men's Association; Gerald Greenly of the Legion; Frank Buckley, high school teacher; the Girl Guides and Boy Scouts and their leaders, and the local band.

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Dec. 20 (AP) — State Secretary Dean Acheson of the United States said today the Atlantic army created in Brussels this week is the only way to maintain peace in Europe.

Acheson told reporters at Melsbroek airport, before he left for Washington, that "I have insisted ever since we began the Atlantic Treaty that the only way to maintain peace is to build up sufficient strength so that you don't have a power vacuum with the possibility of aggression into it."

Told by reporters that some smaller members of the Atlantic Pact feel the organization of an Atlantic military arm is moving too swiftly to be effective, Acheson exclaimed:

"My God! What we have done has been too short and too slow."

Acheson declined to predict what Russia's reaction would be to the formation of an international army.

Forum Discusses New School

HASTINGS, Dec. 20 (ENS)—The Home and School Association in conjunction with the Public School Board held an open meeting in the town hall on Thursday. Mrs. J. G. Thompson, president, acted as chairman and the meeting opened with the singing of "O Canada," with Mrs. Cliff Scriver at the piano.

Mrs. E. Chambers of Peterborough, vice president of the Home and School Federation, was the first speaker and speaking as a member of H. & S. encouraged the study of child problems.

The school reflects the growth and character of the community. The school should change with the times and should be as attractive as a good ome.

L. W. Humphries, chairman of the school board, thanked the people for coming and stated that the meeting had been called to acquaint the public with the conditions the school board is up against.

C. M. Baker, member of the school board, spoke stating the purpose of the meeting was for questions on a new school. A new school is a necessity. Alterations on the school would cost too much, he declared. A four-roomed school would be approved and the proposed cost would be $80,000, said A. A. Martin, school inspector. He explained that the grant at the present time is 60 per cent and that nine mills on the assessment would more than cover the expenditure. James Craig, Peterborough architect, gave a short talk outlining how present schools are built.

Department store owners report the biggest Christmas for many years. Publishers of educational books for children, reports record sales across the country.

Truman Proclamation War Hysteria–Moscow

MOSCOW, Dec. 20 — (AP). — Pravda today branded President Truman's proclamation of a state of emergency in the United States as "a new explosion of war hysteria."

The Communist Party newspaper termed the President's statement a "demonstration that the present government of the United States intends to continue to carry out its already-bankrupt aggressive policy." It added that "other than further failures, nothing can come of this."

The paper called on the Russian people to intensify their vigilance "towards the aggressive powers and especially towards all their international intrigues."

The editorial was the first comprehensive Soviet comment on the Presidential proclamation of last Friday.

Old Man Returns To Seoul As Thousands Flee South

By HAL BOYLE

SEOUL, Dec. 20—(AP)—An old man with a heavily-loaded pack frame on his back trudged painfully over a new Korean foot bridge across the Han River into Seoul. He came from the south, and at that moment he was the only one coming from that direction. But hundreds of panicky Seoul citizens were fleeing back in the direction from which he was returning.

They were alarmed at the prospect that Chinese Reds would sweep down and take this capital of the South Korean Republic. They were headed toward the port of Pusan at the southern tip of the peninsula. And many hoped they could cross the sea and go on to Japan. They wanted to do anything to get themselves and their families away from war.

As the old man plodded wearily off the bridge into Seoul another old man stepped forward to meet him. The second old man was white-haired and distinguished, with a serene face that didn't reflect his 75 troubled years of living.

Why Come Back?

"Why are you coming back to Seoul when so many are leaving?" said President Singman Rhee to the first old man.

The elderly cousin answered the head of his government with a simple democracy of the aged who have lived a long time and worn out the distinction of caste or class or wealth or poverty that disturbs the young.

"When the enemy crossed our border last June 1 I started for Pusan," he said. "It took me three months to get there. Our country was very confused. It was a difficult time.

"Then when our troops threw the enemy back I started to walk back again to our capital. This time I travelled faster. It has taken me only two months on the road to get here."

President Rhee gestured at the thousands of burdened refugees going southward out of Seoul and his face was sad.

Would Stay In Seoul

"Why don't you now turn around and go away again with these people?" he asked. There was a trace of bitterness in his question, because in his heart this is where Rhee feels his goal of a unified Korea can be acheived—by standing steadfast in Seoul, his present capital.

The old peasant looked impassively at the retreating backs of his fellow civilians. There was no criticism in his gaze. But he said:

"I spent five months going down that road and back again. This time I will not go. I would rather stay. And if I must die I would rather die in my home where I have lived."

He shouldered his pack and moved on.

Tito's Deputy Jailed

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Dec. 20 (AP)—Premier Tito's former deputy minister of finance Tuesday was sentenced to eight years' imprisonment for embezzling state funds and attempting to flee the country. The deputy, Obrem Blagojevic, was arrested in 1949 while trying to cross into Albania.

OTTAWA, Dec. 20 (CP). — Cmdr. C. P. Edwards, Deputy Minister for Air Services in the Transport Department, has been granted one year's extension of service, Prime Minister St. Laurent announced last night. Cmdr. Edwards reached the retirement age of 65 Dec. 11.

Find Plane Wreckage

BANGALORE, India, Dec. 20 —(Reuters). — Farm workers Tuesday night found the burned-out wreckage of the Air India DC-3 which crashed in the Nilgiri Hills last week. All 20 persons aboard were dead.

Canada Hopes To Double UK Immigrants

LONDON, Dec. 20 (CP)—Canada hopes to double her intake of British emigrants next year, L. G. Cumming, superintendent of Canadian Immigration Service in London, said Tuesday.

The target for 1951 would be between 20,000 and 25,000 against about 12,000 this year.

Canada's labor shortage, Cumming said, had become particularly severe during recent months with the result that the demand was no longer confined to engineering and technical men. All types of workers were needed.

Factors contributing to the situation were not only traced to industrial expansion caused by the prevailing world crisis, but a growing conviction that 15,000,000 inhabitants represented serious under-population.

Cites Examples

"One Toronto paper alone is carrying 27 columns of situations-vacant notices daily," Cumming said. "Bricklayers are getting $22 a day for a five-day week. Even office boys are in demand at $25 a week.

The argument that high wages were offset by high living costs did not apply, he said.

He cited instances of British girls who had gone to Canada as office workers and who had found it possible to save enough within a year for a trip home.

Cumming expressed belief that Canada's need for more emigrants would not lessen during the next 25 years.

Purse Of Money Given Wm. Hewitt's Family

BONARLAW, Dec. 20 (ENS)—A number of friends and neighbors of Wm. Hewitt and family gathered on Tuesday evening at their home and presented them with a purse of money. Ronald Brown made the presentation on behalf of the friends and an address was read by Wm. E. Neal expressing sympathy regarding the accident in which Mr. Hewitt was involved and wishing Mr. and Mrs. Hewitt and family a Merry Christmas and prosperous New Year.

Miss Mary Neal is in Toronto visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Neal.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Neal were Mr. and Mrs. Norris Putnam, of Toronto.

Friends of Allan B. McComb are sorry to learn that he is a patient in Belleville General Hospital as a result of a fall on Saturday.

Morley Barlow is spending a few days in Toronto.

Prime Minister Dies

MALTA, Dec. 20 (AP)—Enrico Mazzi, 65, prime minister of this British colony, died today. Mazzi, leader of Malta's pro-Italian Nationalist party, took over the post last September when Dr. Paul Boffa and his Labor cabinet resigned.

Hard Water

MOOSE JAW, Sask. (CP). — Moose Jaw's water is getting harder. The amount of sodium sulphate now is four times as great as in 1949. Chemists say a source saturated with sodium sulphate must have found its way into the city water supply.

Hates Capitalism

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 20 (AP) —President Juan D. Peron called in a speech Tuesday for the destruction of world capitalism. He said Argentina occupies a third position, halfway between capitalism and Communism. Peron said "capitalism is undoubtedly the worst evil of the 19th and 20th centuries."

Experts Worried Over London's Water Supply

LONDON, Dec. 20 (Reuters)—Experts concerned with providing London's 10,000,000 persons with an adequate water supply are alarmed by the mounting demand —already averaging 50 gallons a head each day.

For generations a large part of the supply has come from a huge natural reservoir in the chalk beds lying below the city. But for 100 years water has been withdrawn at a rate in excess of natural replenishment, so that the static level of water under central London has fallen steadily by one to three feet each year.

Many projects to safeguard the future of London's water have been discussed. They included a proposal that water should be pumped from the mountains of Wales or from the Severn River in Western England. But the cost of these schemes would be too high and they could not be carried through quickly enough to meet the developing need.

One current project, however, will help the eastern suburbs, where the problems of supply are most urgent. A five-foot pipeline is to be laid through a tunnel nearly 23 miles long from the Thames Valley where more water is available.

Seek Over-All Plan

Scientists are still busy seeking a satisfactory over-all plan.

One expert, in a recently-published technical paper, put forward an ambitious scheme to draw water from the Upper Thames Valley through a 30-mile system of subterranean tunnels which would discharge it diectly into fissured chalk beds under the city.

This idea, which might cost between £18,500,000 and £23,100,000, would recharge London's water basin to counteract the present drain.

The author urged the merits of underground water supplies, as against surface reservoirs, for a city as vulnerable in war as London, and the advantage that there would be no loss through evaporation.

Search For Peace Lives On In Korea After Six Months

Christmas Day—the day of the Prince of Peace—marks the six months anniversary of the start of the Korean war. The action-packed six months have seen what started as a "police action," which the Western World hoped to confine to Korea, flame into a fearful crisis that threatens to engulf the world in a third all-out war. Here are illustrated monthly highlights from the invasion of South Korea by North Korean armies to the intrusion into the picture of the gigantic Chinese Communist military machine.

RED DAGGER was plunged into unprepared South Korea June 25. Bewildered Americans were jarred out of peaceful Sunday pastimes, wondered what it meant. Two days later President Truman ordered US military forces to South Korea's aid.

OUTNUMBERED and outgunned GI's were forced into bitter retreat down the peninsula as well-planned Communist offensive gained momentum. Enemy armor played havoc with United Nations' troops—until Yanks got some tanks of their own.

PUSAN HARBOR was chief supply port for Allies bottled up in the famous "Pusan Perimeter." Backs to the wall, UN soldiers fought desperately for time as fresh troops and vital supplies poured into Korea's only deep-draft harbor.

MASTER STROKE was the successful landing at Inchon, port of Seoul, designed by UN Commander Gen. Douglas MacArthur. It cracked the backbone of the North Korean Army which scattered northward in confusion with Allies in hot pursuit.

HAPPY WARRIORS plant Old Glory on the ice-covered Yalu River boundary of Manchuria. Military potential of the North Korean Army was reduced to nothing as UN army smashed toward the frontier. Looked like it was all over but the shouting.

BIG BROTHER showed his hand as hundreds of thousands of fanatic Chinese Reds poured across the border. Vanguard of the million-man army stopped the Allies cold, cutting off their advance units. Another heart-breaking retreat was underway.

WITH UN forces fighting desperately to hold precarious lines, UN delegates struggled to obtain a cease-fire truce. Red China's representative Gen. Wu Hsiuchuan devoted his speeches to sneers as Peking laid down harsh peace terms.

Fail To Identify Dog In Damage Action

COBOURG, Dec. 20—(ENS)—Failure to identify the dog sufficiently resulted in the dismissal of an action for damages brought by Mrs. Madeline Brooks against Maurice McEntee. Mrs. Brooks claimed that she had been bitten last May. However, the bulk of the defence evidence was that the dog had been tied up on the day the plaintiff was bitten. John Cuningham, local gartener, sait he was working near the McEntee home on the date referred to and noticed that the dog was tied up. The case was heard in Division Court with Judge M. A. Miller presiding.

Pleads Guilty Case Dismissed

In spite of his plea of guilty, Hector McMahon, R.R. 5, Peterborough, was found not guilty in police court Tuesday of a charge of carrying an offensive weapon in the form of a hunting knife.

Monday McMahon pleaded guilty to and was convicted of a charge of causing a disturbance by fighting on George St. Saturday night. A second man, Ralph Dionne, R.R. 4, Peterborough, pleaded not guilty and was found not guilty of a charge of causing a disturbance.

A third man, Douglas Hayton, 251 Engleburn Ave., pleaded guilty to the same charge Monday and was fined $10 and costs.

Constable Andre Dalton, testifying against Dionne, said he found Dionne in a nearby restaurant, his clothes dishevelled and breathing hard. When he and Constable Robert Menzies put Dionne in the police truck with Hayton and McMahon, the three started to argue.

When they were being taken to the police cells, McMahon made a lunge at Dionne to try to hit him. In the cell a fight broke out and Constable Dalton opened the cell door just in time to see Hayton getting up from a prostrate Dionne.

Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., said he thought the court should not draw an inference from this evidence that Dionne had been involved in a street fight.

Testifying against McMahon, Constable Dalton said in searching McMahon before putting him in a police cell, he found a hunting knife in his clothing.

McMahon said he had been out hunting during the day.

"I believe that is the truth, Your Worship," Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw interjected.

On this testimony, Magistrate Philp said: "In spite of the fact that the man pleaded guilty, the charge should be dismissed."

Resent Decision By Parks Dept. On Free Rinks

Peterborough's five city-operated rinks caused a short hot session at the recreation commission Tuesday night when members voiced resentment that the commission was not asked what rinks were needed.

Alex Sinclair, recreation director, said that at the meeting to decide the rinks to be operated, he had asked for the same number as last year and at the same places.

Wilfred Langan said: "It's our job to see where the rinks are needed and I resent the decision on whether they are needed or not by the parks department."

Chairman R. J. Bolton added that two things were evident: (1) that all plans this year were made by the parks department, and (2) that the reason for the decrease in the number of rinks is a shortage of funds in the parks department. He added that the children will get only three or four times skating at Civic Arena during the winter under the present plan.

Flood Vacant Lots

Remarking that little could be done this year, T. J. Allen reminded the commission that some years ago the Fire Department would flood rinks in vacant lots once or twice a week if the people banked the snow for walls and kept the rink operating. This suggestion, said Clare Collins, chairman of the male sports committee, may solve the rinks problem for this year.

The whole discussion arose from Mr. Collins report on male sports for this year. He said that the committee had felt for some time that it was its responsibility to record and draw the attention of the city council to the lack of sufficient ice space. He added that the committee recommends to next year's committee to press the need before the city council in the hope that some definite steps will be taken towards the completion of the community centre.

An alternative, he suggested, was that at even a sacrifice of a few outdoor rinks, a definite sum be set aside for the next few years for the city to accumulate a fund to build another covered rink.

The motion was passed that the parks deparment be advised that the commission should decide where the rinks be placed throughout the city and an estimate of the number of rinks will be given the parks department so it can make some allowance for them in its 1951 budget.

Questions Right To Rent New Auditorium

The Peterborough Board of Education are seeking legal advice on their right to rent the auditorium at Queen Mary School. The city planning board have zoned that district for residential, not commercial purposes.

This complication arose as a result of a letter written to the planning board by C. L. Upper, 602 Hopkins Ave. After noting a long list of complaints by Mr. Upper the planning board passed the letter along to the Board of Education.

Mr. Upper questioned the right of the Board to use public school property for commercial purposes in an area of the city that had been zoned exclusively for residences.

He said that the extra traffic and noise, as well as other factors connected with the summer theatre, had deteriorated the value of his property.

These included disturbances late Saturday and Sunday when stage properties were being shifted or loaded onto trucks; the preparation of scenery on Sundays; the parking problem for local residents when the playgoers blocked up laneways with their cars and even parked on grass boulevards; and the noise caused by the arrival and departure of the playgoers.

The Peterborough Summer Theatre has already applied for a run from June 25 to September 8. But the Board of Education will not negotiate with the group until they have had legal advice.

There is the possibility of an injunction being taken out enjoining the theatre group from operating.

Five Workers Given Watches

Five employees of the Outboard Marine Manufacturing Company were presented with watches at the annual Christmas party on Monday evening by president C. B. Neal. Those who had completed 15 years service to win the awards were E. McKinstry, W. Milliken, J. Murphy, H. Pinn and R. Stephenson.

More than 200 employees, children were entertained with movies, a sing-song led by William Warren and a door prize outboard motor draw conducted by vice-president L. L. Tremblay; it was won by Findlay Scott.

Besides the usual gift-giving, there were six special draw prizes for children and two for adults for a goose and a turkey. Reginald Reid acted as master of ceremonies and Robert Johnston provided music at the piano.

A PIG DROPPED IN

While driving north to a hockey game at Apsley on Tuesday evening "Mac" McIntyre of Lakefield was hailed to a stop by a lady standing on the roadside. "Anybody lost a pig?" panted the lady. Mac didn't know but asked for details. Apparently a short while before the lady was startled in her kitchen by a fat porker squealing at her door and she locked it in her shed until the owner showed up. While they were talking he did. The porker had apparently jumped out of the truck somehow and being of considerable weight, was soon missed from the load. As Mac drove away the owner was trying to reload his pig and all were again happy, except the pig.—N.N.

Hughes Applies For $28,650 Paid Into Court

Application is being made to a judge in Osgoode Hall, Toronto, for an order that the $28,600 deposited in court by the city be paid to Thomas Hughes.

Mr. Hughes is owner of property fronting on Monaghan Road south which the city has begun proceedings to expropriate for the Board of Education's proposed Collegiate Institute.

A review of the action so far was given the Examiner today by A. E. McDougall who is associated with W. J. Arthur Fair, solicitor for Mr. Hughes.

"The city council passed the expropriation bylaw in September, 1949," Mr. McDougall said. "Hughes filed his claim for compensation in an amount which he believed the conditions warranted. There was some correspondence regarding a settlement, and an offer was made by the city which Mr. Hughes considered altogether too low.

Application Made

"Early in September, application was made to Judge Smoke for an order that the city be allowed to pay into court an amount of money which in the opinion of the judge would be sufficient to satisfy the compensation for the land and the judge ordered payment of $28,600 which amount was paid into court.

"Since then, the city have been trying to persuade Hughes to accept a lesser amount, but as the amount paid into court is considerably less than Hughes' estimate of what would be reasonable compensation in the expropriation and Hughes has refused to make any reduction. However, after fully consideration he agreed to accept the amount paid into court in order to get the matter settled, and to avoid the costs of an arbitration in which the city would be liable for payment of a good portion of such costs.

"Even though the city paid into court the amount set by Judge Smoke, they have not been willing to agree to Hughes' acceptance of this amount to allow the property and paying Hughes off", at the same time they are insisting upon taking possession of the property and paying Hughes off."

Miss Audrey Hatherly of the Y.W.C.A. was the winner of the top prize of $25 at Peterborough Junior Farmers' Christmas party at the Normal School Tuesday night. Richard Van Camp of Blackstock won the second prize of $15 in merchandise given by Dewart Milling Company. R. E. Chamberlain of Bridgenorth drew an electric iron. Other winners were: R. Silbert of Keene, Miss Vera Quinn, Douro; Edward Westington, South Monaghan; Gordon Darling, 53 Park St.; E. Hosking, 232 Brock St.; Jack Walsh, Hastings RR3; Burritt Mann, Bridgenorth; Ronald Moncrieff, Fowler's Corners; Mrs. J. Quinn, RR 10, Peterborough; and George Swift, 211 Hunter St.

Tickets were drawn by Wilson Gemmell. The Juniors had depleted their treasury on activities which they promoted this year, especially in the club affairs for younger members of Peterborough rural community, and put on the draw to improve their financial position.

Two Films Shown

Burritt Mann and Don Milburn were in charge of the party program. It included two Christmas films, and an interesting talk by Neil McFarlane relating his experiences and observations in the southern States with the Massey-Harris Company, particularly in the cropping of cotton, rice and soybeans.

Mr. McFarlane said is was evident that the condition of the Negroes was improving, especially in the expansion of educational opportunity.

Keith McIntyre led in the singing of Christmas carols, with Mrs. G. Telford, of Bridgenorth, at the piano.

Present Quartet

The Juniors presented their own double quartet composed of Misses Evelyn Franks, Mary McFarlane, Mayme Cathcart and Marjorie Clark, and Deb Coward, John Stewart, Keith McIntyre and Robert Bell.

An exchange of simple gifts from the Christmas tree was a Santa Claus incident that provided a lot of merriment.

The party was thoroughly enjoyed by the company of 125 young people, including some of the younger club members who were greeted as prospective Juniors. The social program continued until about midnight, and in every way was the most successful of Juniors' active year of 1950.

Former Bookkeeper Charged With Theft

TORONTO, Dec. 20 (CP) —Preliminary hearing of a theft charge against Mrs. Gretta Angelotti, former bookkeeper for Morrow Brothers Florist Shops, opened in a suburban North York court yesterday.

Mrs. Angelotti is charged with theft of $988 by conversion during her employment with the florist firm, which operates shops in Toronto and Peterborough. Lloyd Morrow, co-owner of the firm, said he gave Mrs. Angelotti the money last September to deposit in the bank but that it was never deposited.

Mr. Morrow said Mrs. Angelotti later sent him $500 when the firm was in financial difficulties.

Oshawa Driver To Stand Trial Lindstrom Death

Allan Dillon, 20, Oshawa, will defend himself against a charge of motor manslaughter before the next general sessions of the Supreme Court in February, Magistrate W. R. Philp KC ruled Tuesday in bailing Dillon for trial on $2,000 bail.

The charge was laid in connection with the motor accident death of Claude Lindstrom, 43, Scarboro, at the Chemong turn Nov. 17.

Lindstrom's car met in collision with a truck loaded with hot asphalt, having a total weight of more than 11 tons. In the car with Lindstrom were his wife, May, and a friend John W. Dexter, 26, of Levack, Ont. Both were injured.

In testifying at the preliminary hearing, Dexter said Lindstrom had started out to Toronto via Highway 28 toward Port Hope, but changed his mind a short distance out, because thought it was shorter to drive by way of Highway 7 through Lindsay. Because of this he turned his car around, drove through Peterborough and started out the Chemong highway. He got only about three miles as far as the Chemong turn.

Brakes Failed

Provincial Constable Alvin Russell told the court Dillon said to him that his brakes had failed. Corporal Lloyd McClure testified he inspected the Chemong road north of the turn and discovered a patch of oil which he believed could have been brake fluid about 300 feet north of the turn.

He tried to pick some up with a blotter but was unsuccessful. He said there were numerous patches of oil on the road, but he had no way of knowing whether they were the light oil used as brake fluid.

Contable Russell placed the point of impact by a seven-inch gouge in the road 65 feet south of the point where the west edge of the Chemong road meets the north edge of Highway 7 as it turns west toward Lindsay. The gouge was three feet, three inches from the west edge of the pavement.

He said the truck was apparently veering toward the west at the time of the collision and would have crossed a south extension of the west edge of the Chemong road.

The constable said he could not test the brakes of the truck because the copper tubing of the brake fluid was twisted. He saw no skid marks on the road from either vehicle.

Be-Jugged Holiday Drivers May Be Jugged If Caught, Will Spend "Cooler" Christmas

Drinking drivers will get no sympathy from police over the Christmas and New Year weekends and are likely to find themselves in jail, Chief Constable John Thompson warned today.

He said city constables will remain on duty extra hours to check driving in the city.

Last year several drivers who were drinking became involved in accidents despite the warning of the police department. They found that the police meant what they said.

Closer Check

This year, said Chief Thompson his officers will be checking even more closely. Police have no desire, he said, to spoil celebration of the holiday. But he points out that if close checking can prevent accidents and death or injuries to people, police will be making a real contribution to the holiday.

Drivers who bend the elbow too often are not only a menace to themselves, but passengers in their cars, people in other cars and people walking on the streets. If a man goes out to celebrate Christmas with a bottle on the hip he had better be walking, or take a bus or taxi, the chief warned.

Drivers who dip into jugs might very easily find themselves in the jug.

Would Retain Centennial Year Committee

Retention of the Centennial Year Committee for the purpose of promoting Peterborough events was suggested by Mayor M. Swanston today as an idea for the council of 1951 to consider at an early meeting.

"I mention it now so that the members will have a chance to give some thought to it," His Worship said. "The council itself will no doubt express its appreciation of the fine work done by that committee. Instead of letting them disband I think we might ask them to consider remaining in existence and usefulness.

"Centennial committee have shown that they can do things the council can't very well do, and I have a notion they might feel like carrying on as a group to plan or promote holiday and other community affairs in the interest of the city."

This year of the municipal centenary of the city was near its close, Mayor Swanston said, "and the special committee has done such a fine job that if the council can keep them together I think they could be of future use without too much demand on their time".

The members of centennial committee are: W. G. Ovens, chairman, James Hamilton, Robertson Davies, Ross L. Dobbin, Robt. J. Bolton, and E. A. Outram who was secretary.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

T. B. STAMPS

The sale of T.B. stamps as conducted by the Peterborough County Tuberculosis Association, totals $4,651.48 it was reported today.

GAVE WRONG ADDRESS

Elmer Tripp, who was fined $50 and costs when he pleaded guilty in police court Monday to a second offence drunk charge, gave police an incorrect address, 244 Wolfe St. He is listed in the city directory as living at 270 Reid Street.

FUNERAL THURSDAY

The funeral of Roland Gordon, who died suddenly at his home, 120 Lock Street, Monday, will take place from the Lane Funeral Home, 243 Hunter St., Thursday at 8:45 a.m. to the Church of the Sacred Heart. Burial will be at St. Peter's Cemetery.

A CIVIC PARTY

Members of the city council with the members-elect and also the heads of civic departments had an end-of-the-year party at the Empress Hotel last night. Ald. Adam B. Sands was in charge of the arrangements. Buffet lunch was served. It was a pleasant occasion bringing together the executive and administrative groups.

LATE NOW FOR LIGHTS

The corner of Hunter and Aylmer Streets need not hang up its stockings for expected red and green lights this Christmas. This is one of the traffic control improvements which has been ordered but not yet received.

Chased By Youths Boy Hit By Truck

Chased out on the road by some boys from the Prince of Wales school yard, seven year old Bill Osborne, 636 Sherbrooke St., ran into a truck on Sherbrooke St. and was knocked down.

The boy had an injured left foot and left arm and was taken to the Peterborough Clinic. X-rays there showed no bones had been broken.

The truck was driven east on Sherbrooke St. by Roy Seymour, Cobourg. Seymour told police he was not sure whether he hit the boy before he was able to stop his truck. He looked back and saw the youngster lying on the road. He went back, picked him up and carried him to his home.

Named By Mayor Swanston Co-Ordinating Committee On Civil Defense For City

The members of Peterborough civil defense co-ordinating committee appointed by Mayor Swanston are: Ald. J. A. Dewart, Ald. Hugh F. Waddell, Ian F. McRae, Reg Faryon, W. G. Ovens, Ross L. Dobbin and James McGrath. This appointment of a general committee as the nucleus of defense organization was authorized by the city council who left the selection of members entirely to Mayor Swanston. "I think the council should be represented on that committee," Mayor Swanston said, "because the city will be expected to bear part of the cost in co-operation with the federal and provincial governments."

Ald. Dewart has a broad military background, and presumably Ald. Waddell may be re-appointed chairman of the finance committee of the council.

"I thought we should have the Canadian General Electric Company represented as our major industry equipped for the kind of production that would be needed if a serious emergency developed," Mayor Swanston said. Mr. McRea is a vice-president of the company and works manager in Peterborough.

"The Quaker Oats Company is our biggest food industry, and their president Mr. Faryon is also recommended because of his ability in matters of publicity.

Mr. Dobbin is recommended by his knowledge of the public utilities of Peterborough; Mr. McGrath is a member of the Trent Canal staff and is thoroughly acquainted with the water resources of the city and district.

Mr. Ovens as a former mayor has had so many contacts with the public and is so generally known that I asked him to act as representing the people of our community as a whole."

This co-ordinating committee will be a directing body who will have the responsibility of setting up sub-committees of the broad organization for civil defense.

Postal Workers Handle Million Letters

During the past five days 610,600 letters and cards originating in the city have passed through the cancellation machine at the post office. This means that post office workers have handled more than 1,000,000 letters and cards since Friday.

Although they are one day behind in the letter mail, Harry White postmaster, said he hoped that the worst is over for this year. He didn't think the rush would be as bad for the remainder of the week and will be caught up by Saturday.

This morning the postal clerks had about 130,000 cards and letters to sort. This included 20 bags of mail collected at city post boxes last night and this morning and about 70,000 more in the trays to be sorted.

Load Increasing

"The unfortunate thing about this," said Claire Stuart, assistant postmaster, "is that amongst the Christmas cards may be a dozen important letters. Every year the load of Christmas cards increases."

The totals through the cancellation machine for the past five days are: 122,700; 158,100; 78,200; 127,900; 123,700. Figures for the same days last year from December 15 to 19 are: 84,000; 113,00; 136,900; 85,900; 167,400. The in-coming mail is believed to be slightly less than that which passed through the cancellation machine.

Postal clerks have several worries—cards and letters without stamps, no return addresses and poorly wrapped parcels. Mr. Stuart warned that unstamped mail will cost the receiver double upon its arrival at its destination. A watch was one article discovered in the rush this morning. It was wrapped only in a letter envelope and will be returned to the sender.

500 To Santa

Letters to Santa Claus are estimated at 500. Those with postage are sent to Santa Claus at the stores while those unstamped are sent to the dead letter office in Toronto.

Parcel mail is heavier this year but the increase has been met. The number of parcels at the armouries (in-coming) and at the post office (out-going) is unavailable. Both offices are cleaned up to date.

To cope with the rush 102 extra employees have been hired to help with the sorting and delivering.

Noted Surgeon G. Breckenridge Buried In City

Funeral service for the late Dr. W. Grant Breckenridge, chief of orthopaedic surgery at Children's Memorial Hospital, Montreal, was held on Tuesday at the Comstock funeral home. Dr. Breckenridge died suddenly in Montreal on Friday at the age of 38. A funeral service preceeding the one in Peterborough was held at St. Andrew's Church, Westmount, on Monday.

The Peterborough service was conducted by the Rev. M. J. Aiken of St. Andrew's United church. Pallbearers were Robert Maybee, Hugh Waddell, Robert McClellan, Herbert Rye, Lionel Sorby and Dr. Wilfred Preston. Burial was at Little Lake Cemetery.

Born in Peterborough Dr. Breckenridge was the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Breckenridge, Pearl Avenue. He obtained his degree in medicine at Queen's University, Kingston, and interned in hospitals at Ottawa and Boston.

Dr. Breckenridge joined the Royal Canadian Navy in 1941 and, after serving in ships in the North Atlantic, headed the RCN hospital at Niobe, Scotland.

Dr. Breckenridge was also medical consultant to the Cerebral Palsy Association of Quebec and has taken a keen interest in the affairs of that organization.

He joined the Children's Memorial Hospital in 1946 and was chief of orthopaedic surgery and also head of the cerebral palsy clinic.

Dr. Breckenridge was a fellow of the Royal College of Surgeons. He was also a Mason and was a member of Royal Albert Lodge, of Montreal.

Survivors include his widow, the former Mary Egan; a son, John, three daughters, Mary Susan and Ann; his parents; a brother, Dr. R. A. Breckenridge of Akron, Ohio; and a sister, Mrs. William Agnew of Ottawa.

Canada Important Nation In UN Assembly In 1950

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER.

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Dec. 22 (CP).—The impact of Canada's role on world affairs as expressed through the United Nations continued to grow in strength during 1950.

As the year drew to a close, L. B. Pearson, Canada's External Affairs Minister, was appointed to a three-man U.N. committee, set up to seek mediation of the Korean war.

The choice of Pearson to the important committee indicated the stature he and Canada have attained among the leaders of the 60 nations which make up the world organization.

Canada took another leading role in the Korean problem by setting up a special force for service with the United Nations in Korea or elsewhere. In this move Canada led the way in plans for formation of an international army to fight aggression wherever it may occur.

Returns To Canada

The start of 1950 saw Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, who headed the Dominion's U.N. delegation during its two years on the U.N. Security Council, return to duties in Canada. The end of Canada's security council term also marked the beginning of another term for Canada as a member of the economic and social council.

R. G. (Gerry) Riddell, 42, formerly Pearson's special assistant, arrived at Lake Success, August, to take over as chief of Canada's permanent delegation. John Holmes of the External Affairs Department, had worked as acting head of the delegation until that time.

On UN Secretariat

During the year, two Canadians were appointed to important posts on the UN secretariat. Dr. Hugh L. Keenleyside, formerly Canada's Deputy Minister of Resources, and Maj.-Gen. Howard Kennedy, former Quartermaster-General in the Canadian Army, became top-ranking international civil servants.

Keenleyside, 51, was appointed head of the UN's technical assistance administration—a brand new post. The TAA was set up as an outgrowth of President Truman's "point four" program of aid to under-developed countries. In its final form, the TAA is to help two-thirds of the world lift itself from backward methods of industry, agriculture and health, among other aspects of life. For a beginning, Un members pledged $20,800,000 to the project.

Kennedy, a 57-year-old forestry specialist, arrived in the Middle East last April as director of a $53,000,000 UN relief and works program for Arab refugees of the Arab-Israeli war. Besides co-ordinating the direct relief and works programs to help the refugees, Kennedy had the diplomatic task of conferring with governments on the projects.

Include Opposition

With the opening of the UN General Assembly session September 19, a large Canadian delegation headed by Pearson, arrived in New York. For the first time in three years members of the Opposition Party in Canada's Parliament were among members of the delegation.

In his main policy speech at the session's opening, Pearson called for a "two-year moratorium on bellicose and violent speeches at the United Nations and a two-year attempt to do something effective about peace."

But by December 15 when the Assembly officially ended, the outlook for peace was dim, with Russia failing to accept the UN majority's initial efforts to mediate the Korean war.

Lingering hopes were held that Pearson, along with India's Sir Benegal Rau and Iran's Nazrollah Entezam, could find a way to avert a major conflict between Communist China and the United Nations.

Navy Makes Claim

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 (CP).—The United States Navy Tuesday put in a tentative claim to New Mexico's "thing"—a mysterious, 18-inch metal sphere which has puzzled scientists at the State University at Albuquerque for a month. A spokesman for the Office of Naval Research said the Navy has been sending similar objects to high altitude by balloons as part of cosmic ray research. He called it "a very, very good guess" that the Navy owns the "thing" deer hunters picked up in the mountains of New Mexico.

Get Salary Increase

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 20 (Reuters)—The Vatican Tuesday ordered a 30-per-cent salary increase in the new year for all its dependents, totalling more than 5,000 priests and laymen. The raise was understood to have been made possible largely because of the revenues collected during the Holy Year, which ends Christmas Eve.

Warkworth Merchants Hold Turkey Bingo

WARKWORTH, Dec. 20 (ENS)—A turkey bingo was held in Warkworth town hall under the auspices of Warkworth Business Men's Association.

There were 18 games played and the proceeds were to be used for community benefit.

The following were the turkey winners: Vince Doherty, Elton Greenly, Russell Pearson, Father Fitzgerald, Mrs. Gordon McCubbin, Bert Smith, Wm. Bowen, Fred Duncan, Mrs. Marwood Mitchell, Fred Duncan, Myrtle Hoey, Bert Nelson, Harold Bigelow, Mrs. R. Higham, Don Cook, Everett Samis, Beverley Reycraft, Mrs. John Gorman, Bobby Potter.

Had To Take Train

PRAGUE, Dec. 20 (AP)—American Ambassador Ellis O. Briggs returned to Prague by train Tuesday night because Czech authorities would not let him fly in. He came from Frankfurt, Germany, on the last leg of his trip from Washington where he has been consulting with the state department. The ministry of national defence gave no reason for refusing to permit the ambassador to fly in.

Let Pilgrims Through

JERUSALEM, Dec. 20 (AP).—Israel said Tuesday it will open the historic Bethlehem Road on Christmas Eve for Christian pilgrims. The old highway is barricaded at the Israel-Jordan border. It was opened last Christmas for the Jerusalem Consular Corps who celebrated Christmas midnight mass in Bethlehem's Church of the Nativity.

Soviet Rushing Build Big Navy

LONDON, Dec. 20 (AP)—The Soviet Union is rushing to build up a navy "already far in excess of the normal requirements of defence," Jane's Fighting Ships said today.

The authoritative year book said there are persistent reports that the Russians put into service last June a 35,000- to 37,000-ton battleship with towers for firing guided missiles.

Another of the same type was said to have been launched in March, with still a third under construction.

Jane's reported that 350 to 370 Russian submarines are believed already in service, with 120 more building.

"The capacity of Soviet ship building, now largely under the supervision of German specialists and bolstered by foreign labor, is reported to be twice that of 10 years ago," it added.

Ice In Miami

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 20 (AP).—Ice formed in some outlying sections around Miami today. In Miami proper the thermometer registered 40 degrees but in the outskirts it got down to 32.

Korea Christians Make Desperate Appeal For Help

By BILL BOSS

PUSAN, Korea, Dec. 20 (CP)—Korean Christians have addressed a desperate appeal for help to the United Church of Canada, a former University of Toronto student announced today.

David Chung, 32, a graduate student at Emmanuel College from 1947 to 1949, told of the appeal when he called on a former classmate, Capt. Roger Nunn of Scotland, Ont., protestant padre of the 2nd Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry.

Chung said Korean Christians fear the United Nations may evacuate the peninsula, leaving them at the mercy of the Communists. He had written the Very Rev. Willard Brewing, former United Church moderator, to appeal for help.

Of 16 ministers who had remained in Seoul when the North Koreans crossed the 38th parallel last June, six had been murdered, including Song Chang Kun, president of Chosen Christian College.

Chung said 62 ministers and assistant minister and 150 Christian families reached Pusan this week after fleeing before the current Communist offensive.

Chung appealed to Capt. Nunn to help them leave Korea for Japan and possibly Canada. Capt. Nunn said he would refer Chung's appeal to the Rev. William Scott of Toronto, who left Seoul for Canada only last May.

Chung said Korean Christians believe in the ultimate victory of the United Nations but fear that immediate strategy may imperil their lives.

Doubles Service

OTTAWA, Dec. 20 (CP).—The trucking industry told the government Tuesday that it has doubled its capacity to serve Canada since 1945 and said the threat of air raids makes the industry a more vital necessity than ever. The Canadian Automotive Transportation Association hammered at those and other points in calling on Trade Minister Howe to give truckers a fair share in the allocation of essential materials.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Serve Something Simple In Week Before Christmas

My official tasters plague me endlessly when I'm making Christmas cookies, but I vow that I am not much of a sampler—my hands always seem to be too occupied to be tasting things.

So nibbling does not account for my yen to serve very simple meals this week.

We are having Macaroni and Cheese tonight. I bought three hot house tomatoes to make something special of a big salad. The pineapple was small but cost only 15 cents and was ample. Did you people find those bargains in the stores?

Pre-Christmas Wednesday Menu

Extra Cheesy Macaroni Casserole, Generous salad bowl of lettuce, tomatoes, celery with garlic French dressing, shredded fresh pineapple, shortbread, (the overdone ones!), coffee.
Directions:

Extra Cheesy Macroni Casserole:

Cook one-half pound macaroni in large amount boiling salted water for 25 minutes. Drain well. Add about ½ cup cold water to it.

In another dish melt ¼ cup butter or margarine and add ¼ cup sifted flour, and when blended stir in 1¾ cups warm milk, and stir until thick. To this milk sauce add one-quarter to one-third pound grated cheddar cheese, and stir until cheese is melted. If the addition of the cheese makes the sauce too thick add a little milk.

Combine two-thirds of this sauce with the macaroni in a large casserole. Pour remainder of sauce over top and sprinkle over top another one-quarter or one-third cup of grated cheese. If desired to give it crusty top mix the cheese with one-quarter cup buttered crumbs. Sprinkle top with paprika and some salt. Sauce should be tasted to see if it is seasoned enough, for you may need to add salt.

The French Dressing that is an old standby for our family is made this way: In a covered jar or special French Dressing bottle mix 1/3 cup cider vinegar or lemon juice, 1 tablespoon paprika, 1½ teaspoons salt, dash of cayenne, small clove of garlic (or ½ teaspoon garlic salt) and 2 tablespoons sugar. Mix very well, then add 1 egg and beat or shake until thoroughly mixed, then slowly add 1 cup cold oil and beat or shake for 5 minutes. It is now ready to use but needs shaking just before using every time. This keeps for weeks in refrigerator if covered.

I have timed myself when preparing a pineapple. I have found the fastest method of paring and shredding is to wash the pineapple, scrubbing it with a hand scrubbing brush (for even if you do discard the skin the dirt on it gets on your hands—if it is dirty). With long sharp knife cut off piny top and about one-half inch slice from the bottom. Stand pineapple on board and starting at the shoulder of the pineapple, cut off long strips of skin right to the base, turning the pineapple as you work. Then holding pineapple over board, cut out eyes with sharp pointed knofe. Now stand pineapple in shallow bowl and with strong meat fork shred it by dragging fork through flesh. Most of the flesh may be shredded off this way to the core. Sprinkle with 1 tablespoon sugar. Cover and let stand 1 hour.

Pick Quilt Group At Apsley WI Meet

APSLEY, Dec. 20 —(ENS)— The December meeting of Apsley Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Hugh McColl with a splendid attendance. The main item of businss was the appointing of comitttees to choose and purchase material for quilts to be exhibited at the annual district meeting. At the conclusion of business the meeting was given over to Mrs. W. Lean and Marion Roberts.

Carol singing was enjoyed with Mrs. Herb Tucker leading. Two girls, Shirley Reynolds and Joan McCauley sang. A Christmas contest conducted by Mrs. Lean was won by Mrs. Norman Reddick.

The exchange of Christmas gifts followed. Mrs. McColl and Mrs. Robt. Reddick served lunch.

Exchange Gifts At Apsley Guild

APSLEY, Dec. 20—(ENS)—The Women's Guild of St. George's Anglican church met at Mrs. Chesel McColl's home for the Christmas meeting with a good attendance. After the devotional and business periods there was an exchange of Christmas gifts. This was followed by a very happy part of the meeting when Mrs. W. Everett in a few words asked Mrs. Jack McFadden to accept a pair of pillows. These were presented by Mrs. C. McColl. Mrs. McFadden has been a very active member of the guild as well as an active worker in all other church activities. At the close of the meeting Mrs. McColl and helpers served lunch. On this menu were Christmas cake and cookies.

Groups Entertain Children at Shelter

On December 1, eight children were in the shelter as reported by Mrs. D. T. Diplock, convener of house committee, at the Children's Aid Society Board of Directors' meeting Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Diplock also reported that the children had enjoyed several parties. They were entertained by the Mothers' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion, the George St. United Church CGIT, the St. James' United Church Sunday School and the Canadian Associated Travellers, per Mr. Meredith.

Donations were made to the shelter by Wm. Thompson, St. James' United Church, Mark St. WA, Junior Welfare eague, Connel's Store, Mrs. M. J. Rutherford, Mrs. L. Yeotes, 'Knights of Columbus, Thompson Bros., Miss H. A. Turner, Elizabeth Smellie Branch of Ex WD of the Army, Navy a Force; Mr. and Mrs. Keith Lech, Mrs. Shimer, Miss Greta Giles, Mrs. John Allen and Mrs. Storey.

What's Right

You are invited to dinner at seven o'clock.

WRONG: Feel you won't be putting your hostess out if you don't arrive until 7:15 to 7:20, since there will probably be drinks served before dinner, anyhow.

RIGHT: Be prompt in courtesy to your hostess.

Bethany WMS Elect Officers

BETHANY, Dec. 20 —(ENS)— Mrs. Clarence Rowan was hostess for the December meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church with 11 members present.

Mrs. L. Millby reported $133.40 had been raised for missionary work during the year. The secretary, Mrs. G. Waddell, gave a brief summary of the year's activities which had included 11 meetings held at the various members' homes; several ables packed for Overseas Relief and Home Missions; fruit and flowers sent to sick members; reports of other countries from the Watchtower Heralds; a special Easter service; the study of two books, "Growing With the Years" and "The United Church Re-Eenters Japan" the sale of Christmas and greeting cards. The silver anniversary had also been a special occasion in June.

The program took the form of a candle lighting service. Mrs. T. Jackson, acting as leader, was assisted by Mrs. Waddell Mrs. J. Hampson, Mrs. H. Jakeman, Mrs. H. Coppins and Mrs. M. Porteous. The candles represented joy, love, light of the world, peace and hope. The readings were interspersed with the singing of Christmas carols.

Rev. James Hampson presided for the election of officers, all of whom were appointed for a three year term. They are: president Mrs. T. J. Following the singing of a Christmas hymn, Rev. J. Hampson closed the meeting with prayer. The hostess served lunch.

Eleanor Day's Famous Hollywood Bread

CHRISTMAS DRESSING RECIPE

Yuletide! . . . Christmas! . . . the glorious season of rejoicing . . . of reunions . . . of specially prepared dinners.

Hollywood Bread lends distinctive grace to these memorable occasions. Poultry stuffings made with Hollywood Bread are truly superb. Try Eleanor Day's famous Christmas Dressing recipe.

Melt in a frying pan, two or three tablespoons of fat; add one tablespoon chopped onion, and saute until tender.

Add one cup Hollywood Bread crumbs, one teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper, one-half teaspoon each of sage, chopped celery, and parsley . . . and mix well.

Add one egg, slightly beaten, and mix well.

Then add one to two tablespoons of stock made off of the giblets.

Chopped walnuts, chestnuts or mushrooms may also be added.

This makes a loose, savory, light poultry stuffing.

Hammill-Crego Wedding

ROSENEATH, Dec. 20(ENS)— A pretty wedding was solemnized Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Crego, Roseneath, when their only daughter, Frances Laurene became the bride of William Lawrence Hammill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hammill, Singhampton, Ontario. The ceremony was performed beneath an arch of evergreens and colored lights. The Rev. R. C. White officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white chiffon velvet with fitted bodice and long pointed sleeves. Her veil was held in place by a pearl tiara. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Miss Joyce Hoskin was bridesmaid, wearing a gown of red nylon velvet with matching cap. She carried a bouquet of white roses.

The groom's attendant was Mr. Rex Crego, brother of the bride.

Wedding music was played by Miss Carolyn Atkinson. Before the ceremony Mr. Ambrose Atkinson sang "Because" and during the signing of the register, "Through the Years."

At the reception which followed the ceremony, the bride's mother, wearing wine crepe and accessories, assisted by the groom's mother, wearing navy crepe and black accessories, received the guests. Both mothers wore corsages of white carnations.

A buffet lunch was served by Misses Paulinen Down, Margaret Hoskin, Lorne Macklin and Betty McMillan.

Later the bride and groom left for a trip to eastern points. For travelling the bride chose a coffee colored suit, brown accessories, brown mouton fur topcoat and a corsage of yellow roses. They will live in Barrie.

DOROTHY DIX

Turn Children Against Fathers' Families

DEAR MISS DIX: Though I am threescore years and ten, I have yet to meet a mother who did not disparage her husband's family to his children and canonize the members of her own family. I have observed that few children love and respect their father's people as they do their mother's. It is unfair, dishonest and unjust for mothers to use this family propaganda on their children and prejudice them against their father's people. I would like to know what you think on this subject. A. C.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: My experience tallies with yours. I also have known but few mothers who did not deliberately or unconsciously proselytize their children in favor of their own families. Mother generally takes the children to see her family ten times where she takes them to see their father's once. Hence they grow up better acquainted and feeling closer to mother's people than they do to father's.

Dorothy Dix

Blames Them For Defects

Worse still, she always attributes every defect in her offspring to their father's side of the house. So completely do most mothers alienate their children from their father's families that many people have had the unique experience of never really getting acquainted with their paternal relatives until after they were grown, and then being surprised to find out that those whom they had been taught to believe inferior men and women were far superior to mother's family, and that instead of father's family being indifferent to them, they were eager to know them and help them.

The reason that mothers try to make their children prefer their families to their fathers' is just part of the mother effort to monopolize the children. The mother wants the children to love her family better than they do their father's, just as she wants them to love her better than they do their father. Of course, it is unfair and unjust, but there is no reasoning with mother love and jealousy and, fortunately, not all mothers are guilty of this crime. Many of them play fair and give father and his family their innings with the children.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a divorced woman with three small children who are living with my parents on a small farm. A bachelor wants to marry me and give my children a home and my father is urging me to take him because he says I may not get another opportunity to marry. But I am only 23 and he is thirten years older than I am and is dull and set in his habits. I have told him I didn't love him, but still he wants to marry me. Shall I sacrifice myself for my children? MARY

ANSWER: Don't marry any man you don't love for the sake of your children. Don't marry for any reason at all except love and because you want to be with a man. If he is dull and uncongenial and repulsive to you before marriage, he will be a thousand times more boring and distasteful to you after marriage. You have had one unhappy marriage. Don't risk another. You deserve a better break next time.

Nearly all sacrifices are futile and bring no happiness to anyone. Especially are the sacrifices that a woman makes when she marries a man she doesn't love in order to give her children a home. Such a marriage is generally a boomerang that flies back and destroys her.

It takes a mightly kind, good, generous man to take on the support of another man's children. So before any widow marries for the sake of getting a home for her children, she does well to find out all about the children's propective father, and how he is likely to treat them.

DEAR MISS DIX: How can I show a certain young man that I am interested in him without being too forward? E. M. S.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: When a girl is interested in a man she can't keep from showing him. It just breaks out on her like the measles. No man in the world is so dull as to know when he has made a hit with a girl. But if you think that you must make some active move why don't you invite him to your house to dinner or take him to some party as your guest? But don't make your designs too obvious, or that will scare him off. Invite some other young people to your home and just make the occasion so pleasant he will want to come back again.

New Officers Elected by Millbrook WMS

MILLBROOK, Dec. 20 (ENS)—The WMS of St. Andrew's United Church held their December meeting at the home of Mrs. John Ridge. The president, Mrs. R. Matchett, was in the chair, and was assisted in the responsive worship service by the Misses Maud Finnemore, Gertrude Clarry, Estella Hetherington and Mrs. H. R. Edmunds.

Mrs. Arnold Fallis, leader of the mission band, reported 32 members on the roll and an average attendance at meetings of 27. She also reported that the band had conducted the worship service at the band rally in St. James' Church last spring, and that a member of the Millbrook band, Helen Ingham, had won the Presbyterial poster contest.

Mrs. T. G. Husser reported that the 23 members of the CGIT met every week. Mrs. Wm. Buckham is assistant leader. The girls do handiwork and have worship services alternate meetings.

Mrs. J. Perrin of the nominating committee brought in the slate of officers for the coming year. Honorary presidents, Mrs. H. E. Smith and Mrs. John George; honorary treasurer, Miss Nellie Hetherington; president, Mrs. R. Matchett; first vice-president, Mrs. W. E. Ball; second vice-president, Miss M. Finnemore; secretary, Mrs. Fred Smith; treasurer, Mrs. H. R. Edmunds; press, literature and corresponding secretary, Miss Estella Hetherington; Christian stewardship, Mrs. I. Hatherly; temperance, Mrs. D. Lunn; supply committee, Miss Augusta Thornton, Mrs. John Rowland, Mrs. Arthur Fallis, Mrs. Weston Fallis and Mrs. Servright; mite boxes, Mrs. Alf. Coulter; missionary monthly secretary, Mrs. John Ridge; community friendship, Mrs. Ridge, Miss Luella Kennedy, Mrs. I. Hatherly, Miss Estella Hetherington, Mrs. Thorn and Mrs. Loftus Larmer; pianist, Miss Augusta Clarry.

Rev. T. G. Husser installed these officers.

A letter was read from Miss Elizabeth Hawkins, who volunteered for the mission field while principal of Millbrook Public School. She served for four terms in the mission fields of the West, first in educational work in Lamonte and later as a hospital visitor in Calgary.

Mrs. H. R. Edmunds, the treasurer, reported $200 had been raised and that they still hoped to reach their objective of $230.

At the close of the meeting candy was served.

6—In Memoriams

BRADSHAW—In loving memory of my dear father, Wm. Bradshaw, who passed away December 20, 1949

We cannot clasp your hand, father dear,
Your face we cannot see,
But let this little token
Tell that we still remember thee.
—Sadly missed by Mr. and Mrs. Willard Jamieson and family.

BRADSHAW—In loving memory of Mr. William Bradshaw, who passed away December 20, 1949.
Loving and kind in all his ways,
Upright and just to the end of his days,
Sincere and kind in heart and mind,
What a beautiful memory he left behind.
God called him home, it was His will
But in our hearts we love him still,
His memory is as dear today,
As in the hour he passed away.
—Ever remembered by daughter Vera and son McIntosh and family

NOKES—In loving memory of Elizabeth Nokes, who passed away December 20, 1945.
The world may change from year to year,
And friends from day to day,
But never will the one we love
From memory pass away.
—Always remembered by sons Arthur, Harry and families.

NOKES, Mrs. A.—In loving memory of a dear mother, who passed away five years ago today.
In our heart your memory lingers,
Sweetly tender, fond and true,
There is not a day dear mother,
That we do not think of you.
—Ever remembered by Lillian, Marjorie and Violet and families.

Candlelight Service Held At Coldsprings

COLDSPRINGS, Dec. 20 (ENS) —A candlelight service was enjoyed by a large audience in St. Paul's United Church, on Sunday evening.

The Christmas theme predominated, in music, story and decorations, with candlelight and lighted Christmas trees, complimenting the mood of the Yuletide music by the choir, under the direction of Miss Edith Hoskin, organist.

Rev. Mr. Brown interpreted the Christmas story, and explained the Christian symbols of Christmas.

Special music was given by the choir, who sang three anthems "Bethlehem of Judah" "Peaceful Night" and "The Christmas Lullaby". The junior choir of 16 voices sang "Away in a Manger".

The committee responsible for decorations were: Mesdames: C. Brooks, F. Shier, N. McIntosh, Miss E. Hoskin and Messrs. E. Morrison, C. Brooks, W. McMann and N. McIntosh.

Didn't Allow Half Road Man Fined $17

Found guilty in police court of failing to allow half of the road to an oncoming car which resulted in an accident on the old Buckhorn road in Smith township Oct. 28, Roy McIlmoyle, Apsley, was today fined $10 and $7.89 costs.

Allen Irvin, driver of the other car, testified he was driving north on the road about 7 p.m. with his wife and two small children.

Starting up a long grade, he saw a car come over the hill toward him. He dimmed his lights and drove on for some distance but the approaching car did not turn down its lights. He said he flicked his lights up again and then down.

Didn't Flick Lights

But the other car didn't flick its lights and seemed to be over the centre of the road on the east side. Irvin said he kept crowding over to his own side and just before the accident, his two right wheels were on the grass at the side.

The two cars collided. The left front tire of the Irvin car was torn off and the car slewed around and nosed into the west ditch. The McIlmoyle car ended up in the east ditch.

Irvin said McIlomyle had a bad gash on his knee and he suggested he go to a doctor.

Provincial Constable Archie Eady told the court the road was 20 feet wide at that spot. The start of a skidding mark made by the rim of the left front wheel of the Irvin car fixed the point of impact as six feet west of the east edge of the road.

Saw Lights Dim

McIlmoyle said he saw Irvin's car dim its lights and later flick them up. He said the other car didn't turn its lights down again. He said his lights were on the low beam and his switch was broken, making it impossible for him to turn his lights up.

He thought he was on his own side of the road, but because of the lights he thought both drivers were driving "more or less by guesswork."

A second charge of driving without a license was adjourned to Jan. 5.

Children's Aid Supervises 187 Children

There are 187 children under the supervision of the Peterborough Children's Aid Society as compared with 177 one year ago. This information was given by Miss Rachael Young, superintendent, in her report at the board of directors at their meeting Tuesday afternoon.

A total of 419 cases, involving 662 children, were known to the society during November. Of this number 19 came to the society during the month. A total of 514 visits were made and 160 office interviews held during November.

Two children were placed for adoption and a request received for adoption of a child in a relative's home. The adoption of three wards and two other children were returned to their own parents and supervision of a ward of another society was discontinued.

There were 36 hearings in family court. Four were in regard to juveniles, five wardship of children and the others were adult cases chiefly non-support and assault.

Miss Young reported that this year the society has a greater number of children to remember at Christmas than one year ago. 'The contributions of money are much less than one year ago, but we feel confident there will still be many who will still wish to help us," stated Miss Young.

George Edward Dixon

A resident of Lakehurst for 50 years, George Edward Dixon, 79, who died Sunday after a two weeks' illness, was buried Tuesday afternoon in Little Lake Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Earl Dixon, Bruce and Leslie Hall, and Harold, Bert and John Calvert.

The funeral was at the Nisbett funeral home, the Rev. Willard B. Day of the Church on the Rock, Burleigh Falls, officiating.

Young Artists To Display Work

The younger artists of Peterborough are going to have the opportunity to put their work on display for public inspection.

The work done by the Children's Art Centre at their Saturday classes at the Public Library will be open to the public at the library starting Friday. The exhibit will be on display until Jan. 10.

The children taking these classes range in age from six years of age to 15. The classes are under the direction of Miss Gertrude Cox.

The exhibit itself will consist of approximately 80 pictures done in poster paint and chalk. The subjects range from seasonal themes to pictures suggested by the children's own experience, and abstract designs.

The principal idea in these classes is to implant in the young artists a knowledge and feeling for painting. This is particularly the cases of the abstract work in which the children are taught the importance of balance and selection in color schemes.

All the work on display has been done by the children since the classes started eight weeks ago.

Talking On Street Man Suddenly Shot

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 20 (AP) — A man was mysteriously wounded by shotgun fire early today, police said, while he stood talking with friends on a South Philadelphia street.

Richard Lavery, 45, was at least the eighth person thus fired upon under baffling circumstances in the last seven weeks.

Authorities did not, however, immediately link this latest ambuscade with thee previous shootings laid to a "mad sniper" who has killed one person and wounded several others. Lavery suffered a chest wound.

Acquit Cabbie In Silver Theft

HAILEYBURY, Ont., Dec. 20. — (CP). — Arthur Kensett, 28-year-old New Liskeard taxi operator, was acquitted Tuesday on a charge of illegal possession of 800 pounds of silver high-grade ore which police seized near here last summer.

Early in December Earl Williams, Cobalt mechanic, was also acquitted on a similar charge by a non-miner jury.

And now, George Sadler, former Cobalt garage operator and presently a mechanic in New Liskeard, has been charged with the same offence. He will appear in magistrate's court here Friday.

District Judge John B. Robinson, presiding at the one-day non-jury trial of Kensett, said the accused was entitled to an acquittal, not because of a reasonable doubt indicated in the evidence, "but because the offence has not been proven and your explanation has been reasonable."

"The circumstances were particularly suspicious—but this offence has not been proved as charged," he said.

Businessmen Warned Of Phony Ad Salesmen

Men selling advertising space to city businessmen are not representatives of the Kawartha Police Association or the parent organization, the Police Association of Ontario, PC Donald Mackay, president of the local association, said today.

Two men are canvassing the city representing themselves as salesmen of the Police News, official publication of the Ontario Police Association, but they are in reality selling space in either the Police Review or the Police Gazette.

These men in no way represent local police officers, Constable Mackay said. At present, the Police News has no salesmen in this district, he added.

Christmas Story Told Campbellford Rotary

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 20 — (ENS).—The Rev. John McKibbin was the speaker at the special Christmas meeting of the Campbellford Rotary Club held in the parish hall on Monday noon.

N. Alex. MacColl introduced the guest, who chose for his Christmas talk, a story written by the Russian novelist Leo Tolstoi entitled "Pilgrimage to Bethlehem." A Meyers moved a vote of thanks to Rev. John McKibbin, and president A. K. Loucks extended the thanks of the club to the speaker.

The next meeting will be held on January 8 when the elected members of the councils of the Township of Seymour and the Town of Campbellford will be guests of honor.

Patrick Cleary

The funeral service of Patrick Cleary, who died in Peterborough Saturday, took place Tuesday morning in St. Mary's Church, Grafton. Requiem mass was said by Mr. Cleary's nephew, Rev. L. Cleary; Father Black was in the sanctuary.

Mr. Cleary was born in Percy township in 1877 on Christmas Day. He was the last surviving member of the family of the late Patrick Cleary and Ellen Doody.

Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery, Grafton. Graveside prayers were said by Father Black.

Miss V. Armstrong Dies

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 20 — (ENS).—Miss Victoria Feleana Armstrong, formerly of Campbellford, died suddenly on Saturday in New York. Miss Armstrong was an R.N. and a graduate of St. Luke's Hospital in New York City. The remains are being returned to Campbellford for burial.

Taxi Operator Has No Police Record

Geoffrey Feeley, refused a taxi operator's licence by the Police Commission last week, has no police record of convictions.

In his report to the Police Commission, Chief Constable John Thompson did not recommend eight taxi operators and on his advice licences were not granted to these eight men. The reason in each of the cases was that the applicants had not produced insurance policies demanded by the new taxi bylaw.

In the case of Feeley, an additional reason termed "Police record" was given. However this did not refer to any list of convictions of any crimes against Feeley. It referred to a repuptation that Feeley has with the police department.

Log Drops Off Truck Found On Aylmer St.

A 12-foot log which had fallen off a truck at McDonnel and Aylmer St., was found Tuesday afternoon.

Police said today that truck drivers are required by the Highway Traffic Act to secure their loads so that nothing will fall off while the truck is in motion.

The poplar log was 10 inches thick and could easily have caused serious damage to any car following the truck from which it fell.

Funeral Service Held For Mrs. Ellen Porter

The funeral of Mrs. Ellen Porter, who died last Friday at her daughter's home, Otonabee township, was held Monday at the family home. The Rev. H. B. Herrington of Keene United Church officiated.

Pallbearers were Harry Carter, John Hope, Fred Fife, William Breckenridge, Joseph Fitzgerald, John Henderson, and flower bearers were Ronald Porter, William Porter, Robert Lynch, Glen Stark. Burial was in Little Lake Cemetery.

LEADING HERDS

Two States, Victoria and New South Wales, between them have 60 per cent of Australia's vast sheep herds.

Gideon John Hierons

Pallbearers at the funeral Tuesday afternoon of Gideon John Hierons, 80, of 768 Orpington Rd., were James LeTourneau, Douglas and Richard Linsey, and Samuel, Allan and Thomas Parkes.

Mr. Hierons, a Peterborough resident for 31 years, died Sunday after a week's illness. He was a CGE employee for 20 years.

The funeral was at the Nisbett funeral home, the Rev. W. E. Kibblewhite of All Saints' Anglican Church officiating. Burial was in Little Lake Cemetery.

Fowl Plentiful On Farm Market

Near-zero temperature kept many buyers from the annual Wednesday morning market prior to Christmas. Turkeys and geese were plentiful but many remained unsold.

Turkeys varied in price throughout the morning. The general price for toms was 60c a pound, some of these weighing up to 32 and 35 pounds. The high for the toms was 65c while a few heavy birds went quickly at a low of 55c. Hens were steadier at 70c a pound although a few went as high as 75c and as low as 65c a pound.

Geese varied in price as retailers tried to find a steady level. Three prices stood, 65c, 60c and 55c a pound. The 55c a pound birds were of better quality than most of the more expensive fowl.

Ducks were scarce and equalled the geese in price at the 60-cent level. Chickens were fairly plentiful but most sales were in the other types of fowl. Prices here were again quite varied from 45c a pound to 55c a pound.

Christmas trees, numbering about 200, sold slowly. Balsam and spruce, some silver spruce, were offered at 75c and $1. A few of the larger trees sold for $1.50.

Eggs quivered in price. Pullet Grade A eggs, only a few, went at 50c a dozen. Medium eggs went from 50c to 60c a dozen and large eggs varied by 10c throughout the market from 55c to 65c. Extra large eggs were between 60c and 70c.

A few apples were sold. Some of the prices were: russets, $2; sweets, and greenings, $1.75; MacIntosh and spys, $2 up to $2.75 depending upon the quality.

Pope's Annual Message

Buy 133 Acres For Housing

OTTAWA, Dec. 20.—(CP). — The Federal and Ontario Governments have agreed to acquire 133 acres of land on the eastern outskirts of Kingston for the construction of residential housing accommodation, Resources Minister Winters announced today.

Shortage of serviced residential lots in Kingston has been acute, said Mr. Winters. The property to be purchased is situated in the path of likely city development.

Under terms of the agreement, the province will be responsible for acquiring title to the land and will arrange for sub-division and the design, engineering and installation of services.

When serviced, the building lots will be sold by Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation for use by builders and private individuals. The Federal Government will bear 75 per cent. of the cost of the project and the province the remainder.

The agreement is the seventh drawn up since amendments were made to the National Housing Act a year ago. Other agreements have covered projects at St. John's, Nfld., Vancouver, London, Windsor, Ottawa and St. Thomas.

1951 Officers Elected By Springville WMS

SPRINGVILLE, Dec. 20 (ENS) —A Sunday evening service held in Springville church took the form of a WMS Fall Thankoffering. Miss Grace Woodcock, returned missionary from Bolivia, showed slides. These pictures, together with her lecture gave a clear picture of her missionary effort. The gathering was also favored by a solo by Dianne Cullen and a quartette of band instruments played by the boys of the Salvation Army Junior Band. All were very much appreciated.

On Wednesday the WMS met at the home of Mrs. Donald Cathcart, where a lovely tree, fireplace, and Christmas decorations contributed a pleasing atmosphere. Mrs. Murray, president, was in the chair and opened the meeting with a Christmas call to worship. Mrs. Staples presented the financial report. A donation of $10 to the work carried on in Bolivia was made.

Mrs. George Whitfield and Mrs. Lloyd Whittington were appointed as group leaders. Mrs. Linstead agreed to take the Christian stewardship secretary work.

Following officers were elected: president, Mrs. O. Murray; vice-president, Mrs. B. Visee; secretary and press secretary, Mrs. B. Preston; treasurer, Mrs. S. S. Staples; temperance secretary, Mrs. W. Bowles; stewardship secretary, Mrs. E. Linstead; supply secretary, Mrs. A. Dunford; mission band leader, Mrs. Clifford Johnston; assistant band leader, Mrs. Raymond Kelk; pianist, Mrs. Bothwell; literature secretary, Mrs. A. Bidgood; missionary monthly secretary, Mrs. M. Cullen; friendship secretary, Mrs. M. Johnston; group leaders, Mrs. L. Whittington, Mrs. G. Whitfield, Mrs. A. Stevens, Mrs. B. Canadians Learning Much Tobacco Home Grown

By FORBES RHUDE,
Canadian Press Business Editor.

Tobaccos have so many names, often hinting of distant lands, that the average Canadian may not realize that most of what he smokes is produced right here at home, just like so many other things we used to import.

For tobacco growing, in the last 25 years, is one of the romances of Canadian agriculture and industry. It has taken light, sandy soils, once deemed virtually worthless for agriculture, raised from them crops now worth around $50,000,000, and saved that much in imports.

Most of it is used in Canada, and supplies more than 99 per cent of the tobacco in the 17,000,000,000 cigarets which Canadians smoke each year.

Ontario's Norfolk county, on eastern Lake Erie, known as the "new belt," is the biggest grower, but other producers are Essex county, known as the "old belt," at the western end of Lake Erie; Alliston, northwest of Toronto; Port Hope, east of Toronto; and Joliette, Que., north of Montreal.

Expect Scarcity

The 1949 crop of flue-cured tobacco, the type used in cigarets, was relatively high at 114,161,000 pounds, and this year's production should be close to that. But increased export demands are expected to create a scarcity next year, unless the yield can be raised to 130,000,000 pounds.

Today at Simcoe, in the heart of Norfolk county, directors of the Ontario Flue-cured Tobacco Marketing Association are meeting to consider what they should do about it, and to decide on 1951 acreages.

With declines in demand for cigars, chewing tobacco, cut tobacco and snuff, stocks of other types of tobacco, produced in much smaller quantities, appear to be adequate, or, for some types, even in excess of normal demand.

Christmas Holiday

TORONTO, Dec. 20 (CP). — Thirty-nine members of Canada's United Nations' forces bound for seven days' leave at homes in Montreal, Moncton, Halifax and other Maritime points, dipped down Tuesday night for five minutes at Malton Airport here for refuelling of the Trans-Canada Airlines plane. There were 35 Royal Canadian Regiment members and four Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry soldiers. The boys were full of high spirits and the plane was loaded with Christmas presents for families and friends.

Pleads Not Guilty To Drunk Driving

A drunk driving charge was laid against Leo Joseph Feeley, 271 Romaine St., in police court Tuesday following an accident on Lansdowne St. Monday afternoon.

Feeley pleaded not guilty to the charge and it was adjourned.

Feeley met in collision with a light pickup truck driven by John J. Grisdale, 380 Stewart St. Grisdale, driving west on Lansdowne St., met the Feeley car travelling east.

When police arrived Feeley's car was in the south ditch facing south.

Constable Douglas Stark, who investigated, reported that marks on the road indicated Feeley was on the wrong side of the road. The radiator was smashed, the right front fender ripped and smashed and the bumper battered on the Feeley car.

—About $300 damage was done to the Grisdale truck. Police reported Grisdale was driving without an operator's licence.

Montreal Pool Train Wrecked On Bridge Over St. Lawrence

2 Children Trapped In Apt. Fire, Water Supply Short

TORONTO, Dec. 21—(CP)—Two children were burned to death today and five families were made homeless when fire raged through a wooden apartment building at suburban Lakeview. The dead: Four-year-old David Boland and his brother Jimmy, 18 months. Firemen said the younger child died in his crib. David was last seen in the living-room of his parents' apartment in an emergency housing centre, set up for homeless Toronto families.

Many of the centre's 600 children and 400 adults were at home and gathered to watch firemen from three suburban areas battle the flames.

Bystanders said firemen were hampered by low water pressure as the fire roared through the flimsy building, trapping the children.

Parents Away

Their parents were both away when the fire, of undetermined origin, broke out. Mrs. Molly Boland had left for her job at a factory nearby and her husband, a night worker, was on his way home.

The children were being cared for by Mrs. Elsie Kearns, a neighbor.

"I left the (Boland) hut at five minutes to nine," Mrs. Kearns told reporters. "Little Jimmy was sleeping and David was walking around.

"I told him not to touch anything and walked across the line to my house to see how my three children were."

During the time she was absent, the blaze turned the building into an inferno.

Wilfred Bassett said he and some friends tried to enter the building but were driven back by flames and smoke.

"One big fellow climbed into a window and two of us had to grab his feet and yank him back," Bassett related. "He lost his head. If he'd gone inside he would have been overcome with smoke."

A 15-year-old girl, awakened by the housing centre's fire alarm, ran sleepily into the blazing block and tripped in the dense smoke. Her screams attracted some men who carried her to safety.

Chinese Reds Rolled Back At Beachhead

TOKYO, Dec. 21—(AP)— The Hungnam beachhead lay quiet today after Allied land-sea-air barrages had mown down and rolled back the Communists' most menacing attack on the perimeter.

Frozen bodies of Chinese and white-robed Korean Reds littered the snow-crusted east flank of the United Nations defence ring where the attack was made.

Communist survivors apparently were numbed to a standstill by the fury of the 'round-the-clock bombardment by allied warships, planes and land artillery.

Field dispatches reported the shattered survivors thrown back from the point of gravest peril to the allied forces holding their last sliver of northeast Korea around Hungnam on the Sea of Japan.

Quiet also was reported on the western Korean front.

Gen. MacArthur's headquarters reported meanwhile that the Chinese had suffered heavy losses — at a ratio of 10 to 1—during the darkest days of the U.N. retreat from most of North Korea, Nov. 27 to Dec. 12.

12,325 Casualties

The United Nations commander reported U.N. casualties in the Nov. 27-Dec. 12 period of 12,325, not including those suffered by Republic of Korea forces. All of the allied killed, wounded and missing during the two-week period were American except 1,011 from other U.N. forces.

Wilson Chooses Clay As Aide

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (AP) —Charles E. Wilson took office today as Director of Defence Mobilization and immediately appointed Gen. Lucius Clay and banker Sidney Weinberg as his assistants.

Wilson, former president of General Electric, told reporters of the two appointments at the White House ofter taking the oath of office in President Truman's presence.

Wilson said Clay and Weinberg will serve without compensation.

Wilson told reporters his immediate plans are to continue just what he is doing now—that is, surveying the job that must be done, and getting "just as many facts as I can."

Already, in another step toward cushioning the shock of the defence build-up on the country's economy, the government had asked 250 large corporations to give at least seven days' notice before raising prices on any major products.

Stop Mass Executions Koreans Promise UN

SEOUL, Dec. 21 (AP)—United Nations officials said today the Republic of Korea government has promised to stop mass executions of convicted persons. They said executions henceforth would be carried out individually and only in the cases of the "most heinous" crimes.

The promise was announced a day after Brig. of the British army Tom Brodie stopped some executions, saying he would "not have people executed on my doorstep." A British source said he intervened against the shooting of civilians after 23 had been "done in."

Brodie's Northumberland Fusiliers took over "Execution Hill," site of some shootings by government order, Tuesday in what was described as a move against such acts.

The UN Commission for the unification and rehabilitation of Korea said the government had pledged that henceforth "all executions will be carried out individually and not in groups" and that sentences for all but the "most heinous" crimes would be reduced to prison terms.

Railways Ask 5 Per Cent Freight Boost

Deferred Increase Of Unknown Amount Also Being Requested

OTTAWA, Dec. 21—(CP)—The railways applied today for an immediate general freight-rate increase of five per cent. and a deferred increase of an unspecified amount.

The proposed five-per-cent increase, estimated to yield the carriers $17,500,000 a year, is based chiefly on this week's final settlement of their wage-hours dispute with 124,000 employees, which added $30,800,000 a year to their wage bill.

Parliament granted a four-cent increase last September estimated to cost the railways $17,800,000, while the additional three-cents an hour granted by Mr. Justice Kellock will add an estimated $13,000,000.

With the general increase, the railways also asked the board of Transport Commissioners for an immediate 10-cents-a-ton increase in coal and coke rates, which have been dealt with on a cents-per-ton basis in post-war rate hoists.

To Offset Costs

The delayed-action increase was sought to offset the costs of a shortened work week going into effect next June 1, and the railways asked it also be made effective on that date.

They did not indicate what percentage rate increase they wanted and did not estimate the cost of the five-day, 40-hour week, though in negotiations with their unions they contended it would be more than $80,000,000 a year.

That would be the equivalent of a further rate boost of about 23 per cent if the carriers sought the full estimated amount. However, they reserved the right to specify the size of the further proposed increase later.

The increase sought today, in a joint application to the board by 22 members of the Railway Association of Canada, would be the third round of freight-rate boosts since the war.

Running Battle

It will extend a running battle between the railways and seven provinces — all except Ontario, Quebec and Newfoundland—that has been under way since late 1946.

Against the opposition of these provincial governments, the railways have obtained successive hoists of 21 and 20 per cent, the latter increase coming in graduated stages last year and early this year. It was disposed of finally only a few weeks ago by a Cabinet decision not to change it.

Basis of the new five-per-cent application is a seven-cents-an-hour wage increase obtained by non-operational railway employ-

Prime Ministers To Meet In London

LONDON, Dec. 21 (Reuters) — Representatives of some 450,000,000 people meet in London next month to discuss the affairs of the Commonwealth.

For 10 days Prime Minister Attlee and his government will play host to Prime Ministers or their delegates from eight Dominions whose territories sprawl around the world.

The last get-together of the Prime Ministers was in April, 1949, when they worked out a formula for India to remain within the Commonwealth family despite her avowed republican status.

No agenda has been drawn up for the forthcoming meeting, scheduled to begin Jan. 2, but far eastern affairs again are expected to be a main topic of discussion The Prime Ministers themselves will suggest the subjects to be taken up.

Make Western Hemisphere Gibraltar Hoover Demands

NEW YORK, Dec. 21 (AP) — Former President Herbert Hoover urged the United States Wednesday night to concentrate on fortifying the Western hemisphere as a "Gibraltar."

He called on his fellow countrymen to "arm to the teeth" to hold the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, with the island outposts of Britain, Japan, Formosa and the Philippines.

Hoover, speaking over radio and television, said it would be "sheer folly" to engage in land war with Communist hordes in Asia or the continent of Europe.

He urged the United States to "arm our air and naval forces to the teeth" to defend the frontiers he laid out.

Hoover said the Communists could never break through American sea and air power to invade the western hemisphere: "They can no more reach Washington in force than we can reach Moscow."

Making one of the most important addresses of his long public career, he said "it is clear that the United Nations are defeated in Korea."

It would be "inviting another Korea" to send more trops or money to Western European countries before they had armed themselves as a "sure dam against the Red flood."

Defence of western continental Europe rests primarily on the European countries themselves, said the 76-year-old Hoover.

"We have little need for large armies unless we are going to Europe or China,' he said. Land war with the Communist masses in Asia or Western Europe would be the graveyard of millions of American boys and would end in the exhaustion of this Gibraltar of western civilization."

In London, two prominent British newspapers today gave Hoover both barrels for his criticism of United States defence policy. Both the London Telegraph and the Manchester Guardian claimed the former president's views were "unfortunate" and "isolationism."

US Railways Given 3-Year Peace Pact

Unions Accept Contract For 23-Cent Increase, Other Raises

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 — (AP)—The White House today announced a three-year peace pact between the major railroads and four operating rail unions.

The agreement provides:

For 120,000 railroad yardmen —an immediate increase of 23 cents an hour, with another two cents on Jan. 1 and cost-of-living adjustments every three months beginning next April 1. The adjustments are to be made at the rate of one cent an hour for every rise or fall of one point in the government's consumers' price index.

For about 180,000 road service workers — an immediate increase of five cents an hour, also retroactive to Oct. 1, and another five cents effective Jan. 1, plus the same cost-of-living arrangement.

The settlement was announced by Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman, who took over negotiations in the months-long dispute after the government seized the railroads last August to avert a threatened country-wide strike.

Steelman said union leaders had agreed in principle after a 26-hour overnight conference to a moratorium on any further demands by the four unions.

The agreement will probably lead to quick restoration of the rail line operations to their owners. The army has been running the roads.

As drafted, the settlement represents a compromise between some of the union demands and what the railroads offered.

One of the chief demands of the trainmen, conductors, and firemen and enginemen was a 40-hour work-week without loss in the present 48 hours pay.

There was agreement in principle on this, but the compromise provides that the 40-hour work schedule would be put off at least until Jan. 1, 1952.

Cabinet Meets To Decide Canada's Policy

OTTAWA, Dec. 21 — (CP).—The Federal Cabinet went into session today to consider a greater Canadian preparedness program which is expected to reach the announcement stage a week from now.

The date for the opening of the 1951 session of Parliament also is likely to be considered, with a probable announcement a week from now. The opening date may be in January rather than February, as previously planned.

Today's meeting is not expected to reach any concrete decisions or lead to any immediate announcements.

But it is expected to be a sort of "groundwork" session, in which Price Minister St. Laurent and his ministers will whip together the government's programs in several fields, with the emphasis on defence into shape.

The final decisions likely will be aken at the next Cabinet session—Thursday, December 28 — with public announcements soon to follow, possibly at a press conference by Mr. St. Laurent.

Today's meeting began about 10:30 a.m. EST and will continue throughout the day, with a break for luncheon.

Important Session

In one of the most important meetings in some months, the cabinet expected direct reports from three key ministries. Decisions now may be possible on:

1. The size of land and air forces Canada will contribute to the defence of Europe, and the question of more arms aid for that trouble-spot over and above the $300,000,000 already authorized by parliament.

2. What action, if any, Canada will take in the field of price and other controls in the light of the voluntary "freeze" and other similar measures in the United States. Up to now the government has made clear it has no intention of inaugurating controls at this time.

Postpone Session

The cabinet session, a day late, was postponed from the regular Wednesday meeting time so that Defence Minister Claxton might report on the Atlantic Pact talks at Brussels where decisions were taken to set up a unified Western European defence force of 1,000,000 men.

External Affairs Minister Pearson, Canada's top man in the United Nations and now a member of the Korean war cease-fire committee, arrived back in Ottawa Wednesday and said he expected to report to the cabinet on the goings on at Lake Success and his hopes that peace may yet be secured in the Far East.

Third minister reporting was Trade Minister Howe, key man in Canada's defence production set-up.

Find Plane Wreckage

BAGUIO, Philippines, Dec. 21 — (AP) — The charred wreckage of a United States C-54 transport that crashed with 37 persons aboard was sighted today high up a rugged 9,324-foot mountain in central Luzon. Seach pilots reported no sign of life. There were 30 passengers and seven crew members aboard the plane.

$250,000 Fire Destroys Half of Ryley's Main Street

RYLEY, Alta., Dec. 21—(CP)—Prompt help from about 10 neighboring towns Wednesday night saved the rest of this northern Alberta town from a $250,000 fire which destroyed almost all of one side of its main street. As the blaze, reported to have been started by an explosion in a garage in the centre of the street, raged through half a dozen buildings, the neighboring towns dispatched their fire brigades to Ryley in a response to an appeal by Mayor John Kordich.

Burned to the ground were buildings housing a butcher shop, garage, hardware, machine agency, service station, electrical-appliance shop, grocery store and one restaurant. Another restaurant and an egg-grading station were badly damaged.

Bill Radick, a garage mechanic, suffered severe burns to the face, hands and arms and was taken to hospital at nearby Tofield. He was reported to have been sweeping the floor near an open tank of kerosene when it exploded in his face. He crawled out of the blazing garage through a window.

Three families were made homeless.

When the blaze was brought under control, after four hours of fire fighting in 15-above weather, there were an estimated 2,000 persons in the town which has a population of 500. Ryley is about 45 miles southeast of Edmonton.

"Fire hoses packed the main street like sardines in a can," said Mayor Kordich, proprietor of the 40-room Alberta hotel. The flames marched to within 60 feet of the structure.

The Canadian National Railways moved three water-tank cars along its track to within half a block of the blaze to feed the fire hoses. Water also was drawn from a 500,000-gallon town reservoir two blocks away.

The fire, worst in the town's history, was finally stopped after bulldozers moved away threatening buildings in the path of the flames, and others that were already burning. Firemen were prepared to use dynamite to pave a fire guard.

Stalin Observes 71st Birthday

LONDON, Dec. 21 (AP) — Today is Joseph Stalin's birthday—he's 71—and while his controlled press at home once again hailed him in extravagant prose, Communists in the ring of states around Russia pulled out all the stops attempting to outdo each other in praising him.

In Moscow, East Berlin, Prague, Sofia, Bucharest and Warsaw, the Communist press chorused praise of the man in the Kremlin in phrases like these:

"Greatest scientist of our time."

"Leader of the world peace camp."

"Defender of the worker."

"Great genius Stalin."

Other wordly matters in the press of the Communist states were pushed into the background —even the denunciations of the west.

Moscow's press reacted true to form.

Simo Chikovani had an article in Pravda: "In the name of Stalin." All the editorials and articles were pretty much alike. They were in favor of Stalin.

Europe's Defence In Three Zones

LONDON, Dec. 21 (Reuters)— Atlantic Pact defence ministers and military chiefs are considering the creation of three separate zones of defence stretching from Scandinavia to the Middle East, it was learned from a usually-reliable source here today.

Final plans will not be made until Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower arrives in Europe as Supreme Commander of the organization. But the lines along which they are likely to develop are:

2—A northern command spreading over Scandinavia and ports of the Baltic with a commander junior to Eisenhower and reporting through him to Atlantic Pact headquarters in Washington.

3—A Mediterranean command, responsibility for which would rest with the Commonwealth, Middle Eastern countries, and the two associate members of the Atlantic Pact, Greece and Turkey. This would probably be under a Commonwealth commander.

Berlin Cardinal Dies Reds' Outspoken Foe

BERLIN, Dec. 21 (AP). —Konrad Cardinal Von Preysing, 70, leading Roman Catholic prelate for Berlin and East Germany, died tonight.

The death of the Cardinal, an outspoken foe of the Nazis during the Hitler regime and later of the Russians, reduces the membership in the Roman Catholic church's Secred College of Cardinals to 52. At full strength it has 70 members.

Cardinal Von Preysing, Bishop of Berlin, was a constant target of Communist attack, and he counter-attacked strongly.

Harsh Campaign Under Way Against Anti-Reds In China

HONG KONG, Dec. 21 (AP)— The Chinese Communist regime apparently is setting the stage for a harsh new punitive campaign against "counter-revolutionaries" —its name for anti-Communists.

One tip-off came in early December when the officially-controlled newspaper Liberation Daily in Shanghai "scolded" the Red government for being too lenient toward "growing banditry and discontent among the masses."

The Communist newspaper disclosed that in the last 12 months 100,000 "bandits" had been wiped out and 10,000 Nationalist agents rounded up in 2,000 cases of underground activity.

But this was not enough, Liberation Daily said. It was time for Communist authorities to "come out of their state of complacency and peaceful thoughts and take sharper action...."

However, the record does not support the Communist paper's complaints of government laxity. In recent months the Chinese Communists have resorted to executions to stamp out the resistance movement. There have been mass executions.

Along with plugs for tougher action toward the resistance movement, the press of Shanghai and all of Communist-controlled China continues to belabor any and all things American.

A dandy chance to slap the United States came with the return this month of some Chinese students from the Unied States.

When interviewed by Hong Kong's Free Press, the students were complimentary toward the US and conditions there. But the Communist version was a different story.

Only Few Of 400 Aboard Suffer Injuries Blame Cracked Bearing

Canadien Players Have Narrow Escape Tossed Out Of Berths; Just Missed Plunging 60 Feet Off Bridge

VAUDREUIL, Que., Dec. 21—(CP)—The overnight Toronto-to-Montreal pool train was derailed today while crossing the Dorion bridge over the St. Lawrence river, some 35 miles west of Montreal, but injuries were slight and confined to a handful of the 400 passengers aboard. It appeared that only good fortune averted major disaster. All cars of the train remained on the bridge tracks but could easily have plunged 60-odd feet into the river.

Cause of the derailment of the train, operated by the Canadian National Railways, was given as a cracked bearing on the lead baggage car.

One of the injured was Al Jackson of Montreal, a sleeping car porter who was scalded by hot water in the club car.

Other injuries were minor and resulted from severe shakings-up.

In the derailment the cars never deviated from their forward path and the Dorion bridge is wide enough that even as the railway wheels churned through the ties the cars, from end to end all remained within the width of the bridge.

Not Over Edge

They never hung over the edge of the bridge though one car ended up so canted that passengers could see out windows and down through the bridgework to the river below.

The crack train blew for the bridge and had started high-balling across when the cracked bearing sloughed the baggage car off the rails.

Donald Gordon, Jr., son of the Canadian National Railways president and a passenger on the train, said the locomotive engineer applied brakes but the train momentum was such that there could be no immediate stop. The locomotive remained on the rails carrying along the two cars immediately behind it.

These two cars, running back of the engine, broke their coupling with the derailed car which, with the next four cars, hopped the rails and carved a tie-tearing path through the bridge-bed.

Get Cheques Early

TORONTO, Dec. 21—(CP) —The more than 100,000 persons in Ontario who receive old-age pensions or mother's allowances are getting their cheques early this month. Normally the payments are not due until the end of the month but the provincial welfare department has been working overtime to get them in the mails before Christmas.

UN Committee Requests 2nd Cease-Fire

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Dec. 21 (AP)—The United Nations has told the Chinese Communists that chances for talks on a general Far Eastern settlement—desired by the Reds—would be improved if Peiping heeded UN calls for a cease-fire in Korea.

In a second direct appeal to the Communist government, the three-man UN cease-fire committee said a pending Asian-Arab proposal for such negotiations would receive greater UN consideration if the Korean fighting was halted. L. B. Pearson, Canadian External Affairs Minister, is a member of the three-man committee.

The second message, sent to Peiping Tuesday night, gave no promise that the Far Eastern talks would follow a cease-fire. The United States strongly opposes linking the Korean fighting with such other Asian problems as Red China's demands for Formosa and for a seat in the United Nations.

Peiping as yet has made no reply to either the committee's first appeal for more cease-fire talks or to the second note. The Chinese Communist delegate to the UN, Wu Hsiu-chuan, left for home Tuesday after defeat of his demands for an end to United States activities in Formosa and Korea and withdrawal of all foreign troops from Korea.

Unless the Peiping position changes, the cease-fire committee is expected to report after New Year's Day that it cannot halt the Korean fighting.

Get Two Years For Pen Escape

KINGSTON, Dec. 21 (CP). — For escaping from penitentiary here, Allan Francis, 26, and Jean Bernard, 24, Wednesday were each sentenced to two years.

Francis was serving four years for car-theft, and receiving and Bernard 2½ years for theft, breaking and entering when they escaped in a heavy rain storm Nov. 4.

Bernard also was sentenced to two years on each of two charges of breaking and entering and theft arising from robberies at nearby Railton while he was at large.

He was recaptured in Sydenham more than 24 hours after his escape. Francis was picked up in Toronto 10 days later.

The terms imposed on Francis and Bernard Wednesday will follow the sentences they were serving at the time of their escape.

Celebrate Christmas With Railway Strike

WELLINGTON, N.Z., Dec. 21 Reuters)—Two trade unions today put a damper on Christmas celebrations here by announcing a general railroad strike to start Saturday midnight.

New Zealanders, who usually travel to the country and the beaches in sunny yuletide weather, will have to stay at home instead this year.

The strike call came 10 minutes after a breakdown in day-long negotiations with the government.

Armed Forces Short 8,000 Men

Hope Higher Pay Will Attract Recruits To Services

OTTAWA, Dec. 21—(CP)—The armed forces are still 8,000 men short of their manpower ceiling after more than four months of intensive recruiting backed by the emphasis of Korea and a darkening world picture, it was disclosed Wednesday.

The Defence Department, reporting that the forces could handle twice as many recruits as they have been getting, released figures showing that as of Nov. 30 the three regular services and the Canadian UN force had 61,000 men compared to a ceiling of 69,000.

At the present rate—around 1,000 men a month—it would be late next year before the ceiling was reached, a factor which is bound to occupy the minds of cabinet ministers in the weeks ahead for further expansion of Canada's defense effort is believed shaping up.

It has been anticipated that the present ceiling will be lifted although any such action at this stage, without something beyond voluntary recruiting to back it up, would be largely an academic move.

The big hope now is that the higher pay rates for the forces announced last week and the lure of service in Europe or elsewhere overseas will attract men who apparently don't want to serve at home.

To Stress Air Force

Combined with that is the feeling that the government will channel Canada's defence effort more and more into the air force with its smaller needs for manpower.

There has been speculation that the government will gun for armed forces 100,000 strong, but it is considered doubtful here that any such size is possible without some form of compulsory service. So far there is no sign of cabinet resorting to compulsory service.

Their recruiting pace has been hovering below 250 a week after standing between 400 and 500 in the early weeks of the drive even while the UN force was making its great appeal, too.

However, last week the figure hit 293 and headquarters is hopeful that the increased pay will move the figures steadily upward.

The UN force strength now is given as 10,391, including 656 officers and men posted from the regular army.

Mail Starting To Slack Off

Mail originating in Peterborough began to slack off today at the post office, postmaster Harry White reported. Despite this they are still behind in mail destined for Peterborough and district homes.

Letters and cards on the post office floor this morning were estimated at 71,000, a decided drop on Wednesday's count. Nearly 40,000 cards and letters awaited sorting in bags from the local post boxes and another 31,000 in trays. Collection from boxes is beginning to decrease. Wednesday afternoon an estimated 102,000 letters and cards waited for sorting and delivery. Most of these are on their way to their destinations today.

Mr. White said delivery and sorting of city mail is still behind, partly due to insufficient experienced help to handle the increase. Claire Stuart, assistant postmaster, added that they are gradually catching up on city mail deliveries and hopes to be up to date sometime Friday so that everything will be delivered by Christmas.

Wednesday's count through the cancellation machine of mail originating in Peterborough, was 94,200, bringing the total since Friday to 704,800. The metred mail is in addition to this count. Last year's machine count for December 20 was 69,500.

Parcels both incoming and outgoing were reported decreasing today.

5 Municipalities Meet Friday For Nomination

Five Peterborough county municipalities hold eir annual nomination meeting Friday. The other 10 have already run off their elections.

Smith township, the only municipality with three votes in the county council, has called its nomination meeting for 1 p.m. in the county council chambers. Nominations will be for reeve, deputy reeve, councillors and trustees.

Douro township ratepayers will meet in the township hall, also at 1 p.m. to nominate candidates for reeve, deputy-reeve and trustees for the township's two school areas.

Norwood village council decided to fall in line with other municipalities and hold its nomination meeting Friday as well. It will be at 7.30-8.30 p.m. in the Legion Hall.

The Asphodel township nominations will be in the Westwood town hall, 1 p.m. Friday. Ratepayers will nominate candidates for reeve; four councillors, and two trustees.

And the fifth municipality, Ennismore, will have its nomination meeting in the Ennismore township hall at 1 p.m.

All elections will be on New Year's Day.

OBITUARIES

MRS. GEORGE WALKER

An active member of St. Luke's Anglican Church, Mrs. George Walker, RR 9, Peterborough, died suddenly Wednesday at her residence. She was born in England the daughter of Charles A. Hope and the late Mrs. Hanna Hope and is the wife of George Walker.

Mrs. Walker has been for 37 years a resident of Peterborough. She was a member of St. Luke's choir for 20 years and an active member in the AYPA. She was a resident of Cornwall prior to moving to the Peterborough area.

Besides her father and husband, surviving are a sister, Mrs. James Forbes of Peterborough, three brothers, Reginald of Toronto, Horace and Cecil Hope of Peterborough.

The body is at the Comstock funeral home until Friday at 2 p.m. when the funeral will be held in St. Luke's Church, the Rev. W. J. Gilling officiating. Burial will be at Little Lake cemetery.

MRS. WELFORD DAWSON.

Mrs. Welford Dawson, the former Eliza Jane Fair, died Wednesday night at the home of her son Harold, in Otonabee. She had been ill only a short time and was in her 80th year. She was the widow of Welford Dawson, who died seven years ago.

Mrs. Dawson was born in South Monaghan, the daughter of the late James Fair and Elizabeth Rutherford. She leaves two sons Harold and William, one daughter, Mrs. George Hanbidge (Hazel), all of Otonabee; one sister, Mrs. Robert Thorne (Ida), of Peterborough, eight grandchildren and eight great grandgrandchildren.

Funeral service will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. at the home of her son Harold, Lot 20, concession 16, Otonabee. Burial will be in Little Lake Cemetery.

Railways Ask

ees—those who do not operate the trains—as the result of last August's nine-day general rail strike.

Corresponding Hoist

The railways said in today's application the increase is being extended to non-organized employees and that they are seeking the higher rates on the assumption that the operating employees—those who actually run the trains—will get a coresponding wage hoist.

If the operating group should negotiate greater wage hikes they indicated, they would expect to revise their freight-rate requirements upwards.

(The approximately $1,000 operating workers — those in the "running trades"—are to re-open suspended negotiations shortly. They are seeking wage increases of 30 cents an hour.)

In making the five-per-cent application, the railways based it on the financial requirements of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which the Transport Board has used for some years as the "yardstick" company for the making of freight rates.

They said that, according to a formula laid down by the Board in previous judgments, the CPR would have an estimated revenue "deficiency" of $9,937,000 this year after taking the wage increase into account.

Find Missing Boy

KITCHENER, Dec. 21 (CP), — Nine-year-old David Brown, missing five hours from his home here, was found unharmed in nearby Waterloo Tuesday night, after one of the biggest searches in the city's history. The lad was found by a Waterloo police sergeant. Mrs. C. H. Brown, the boy's mother, collapsed from shock during the search.

The pound sterling was $2.96¼, also unchanged.

Allies Begin Job of Coaxing Germans Into New Army

BONN, Germany, Dec. 21—(AP)—The western allies today embarked on the laborious task of coaxing troops from a West Germany united in demanding "full equality" with the west or no rearmament.

Cognizant of a golden opportunity for diplomatic horse trading, the Germans began talks with the three Allied High Commissioners determined to wring sizable concessions for any participation in the international defence force headed by Gen. Dwight Eisenhower.

The North Atlantic Pact powers—which do not include West Germany—decided at their Brussels meeting Monday that 150,000 German soldiers are wanted for the European Army which they plan to raise 1,000,000 men in two years.

But West German political leaders and newspapers have served notice they will have none of it unless:

1. Their country is accepted as an equal partner by its one-time conquerors.

2. German troop units are not significantly restricted in size or composition of command staff unless such restrictions apply to all member countries.

3. West Germany's status as an occupied enemy power is scrapped and the republic given full political independence.

Up To Them

Entrusted with the job of arguing the Bonn government into joining up are the high commissioners of the occupying powers, John J. McCloy of the United States, Sir Ivone Kirkpatrick of Britain and Andre Francois-Poncet of France.

They were authorized by the Big Three western foreign ministers to "explore the problem" of German defence contribution "as well as any changes in the present occupation arrangements which might logically attend" it.

France, a key member of the Contiental Atlantic Pact, is still almost as fearful of a revival of German militarism as she is of the Soviet Union.

A big question attending the negotiations is one over which the conferees have no control—the Russian reaction.

The Soviet Union last October warned she would not tolerate a revival of German militarism. She dispatched notes last week to France and Britain charging that their policies on German rearmament violate their treaties with the USSR.

Driving Home See House Burn

BELLEVILLE, Dec. 21.—Four adults and 10 children were homeless Wednesday night, staying with neighbors near the ruins of their seven-room Thurlow Township farmhouse, 12 miles north of here.

George Blair, 37, was driving home when he saw the glow of flame in the sky. Soon he recognized the silhouette of his own house. He stopped in a neighbor's driveway and called Belleville firemen.

In the car were Mrs. Blair, her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Minnie. The women had driven to Belleville to pick up their husbands. Both are employed by a scrap iron company. The children had been left in the care of the oldest Minnie girl, Eileen, 18.

Cause of the fire is still unknown. The frame building was heated by two coal stoves. At the first sign of smoke, Eileen had herded the other nine children outside. By the time firemen arrived, the farmhouse had been levelled to its foundation. Loss was estimated at $10,000.

Chinese Reds

Before that period, the defence department in Washington had listed American casualties in Korea at 31,028 through Nov. 24, including 5,307 dead.

The Chinese have been around the Hungnam beachhead in great force for days, but it was apparent today that the battling retreat of U. S. Marines and 10th Corps infantrymen farther north had badly crippled an estimated 10 Communist divisions.

Red efforts to reorganize their forces were progressing slowly — too slowly to hamper the planned withdrawal of American forces on Hungnam beach. U. S. losses there are reported extremely small considering the action involved.

AP correspondents Tom Lambert and Stan Swinton, in the beachhead, reported enemy activity on the Hungnam perimeter had field commanders worried, although they said they were certain that steady pounding by planes, field artillery and big naval guns had hurt the Reds badly.

The Far East air forces reported continuing attacks on Communist forces throughout the U.S. Eighth Army area in the northwest.

A top officer at MacArthur's headquarters in Tokyo vigorously denied reports that Communists had used gas grenades against the Hungnam troops. The report, he said, was wholly unconfirmed and doubted at headquarters because the Chinese Communists had had no training in gas warfare and had no gas masks.

British fliers from the carrier Theseus operating off the west coast reported a scarcity of targets along the main road and rail system connecting the North Korean capital of Pyongyang, Sariwon and Kumchon. They said there was an indication of night traffic along the snow-covered roads, but no traffic was observed during the day.

MacArthur said the allied withdrawal from the northwest front after the Sinanju battle "was not dictated by battle losses or the acceptance of defeat."

Must Guard Borders

BELGRADE, Dec. 21—(AP)—Premier Tito told Yugoslavia's fighting forces Wednesday night that they must be alert and in the best fighting trim to guard the borders against aggression. Tito issued an order of the day marking observance of Army Day on Friday.

No Panic

"It was a hell of a mess," said young Gordon. "But there was no panic and most passengers stayed in their berths or their rooms until advised to move."

The wreck scene looked like this: On the eastern end of the bridge—the Montreal side—the engine was uncoupled from the first two cars which pulled away from the derailed section.

Then there was a space of free, undamaged bridge and truck. Westward of that were the derailed cars. One stood upright on the damaged ties, the next was at 45 degrees tilt, part of it some seven feet below the tie-level in the trough the train carved and part of it about three feet above the ties.

The rest of the train hugged the ties.

Passengers Moved

The derailment occurred about 7.30 a.m. EST. Three hours later all passengers had been brought in to their Montreal destination by buses or other trains, some of them from the Canadian Pacific Railway, some from the CNR.

W. R. Wheatley of The Canadian Press staff in Montreal who was travelling on the train with Montreal Canadiens hockey team suffered bumps on the head and after being looked over by a doctor at Ste. Anne de Bellevue, said:

"We were all lucky, that the train stayed on the bridge. The tragedy would have been terrible if the cars had gone into the river."

Taxis and ambulances were arranged quickly by the train crew to take any passenger who had been bruised to doctors in Ste. Anne. Their main trouble was shock and shaking-up and they required little attention.

Charles Morrison of Toronto, a sleeping car conductor, confirmed the other passengers' stories of no panic.

"Everybody sure kept his head," said Morrison.

Harsh Awakening

Franke Selke, Jr. publicity man for Montreal Canadiens, said "It seemed the brakes were jammed on and everything was haywire. It's no way to get out of a bunk."

Maurice Richard, Elmer Lach and Kenny Mosdell, of the Canadiens, agreed they were lucky.

"Just by swinging the other way, and the train would have been in that cold-looking water," said Mosdell. "It was something like a small earthquake when the car stopped so suddenly."

A group of students from Queen's University, headed for their homes in the east for the Christmas holidays, took the derailment in stride.

Herb Thomas, of Quebec, said he was asleep when the derailment occurred and all he felt was "a shudder."

With pals Aubrey Russell, St. Stephen, N.B., Norman Patterson, Saint John, N.B., and Peter Swim, Lockeport, N.S., he strolled to the rear of the train after dressing and found out what had happened.

Buried To Windows

"That club car was truly a sight," he said. "It had buried itself in splintered ties and twisted rails right up to the windows."

Wrecking crews with cranes were sent to the scene immediately and it was indicated perhaps as much as 60 hours must elapse before the track is clear again.

The heavy cars, smashing and grinding their way through this at more than 40 miles an hour, left behind them nothing but ragged splinters of timbers and twisted steel.

The engineer of the smashed train said the first he knew something was wrong was when the automatic brakes went on. The engine continued to roll for about 60 feet beyond the trestle.

Industrials Mixed In Quiet Trading

TORONTO, Dec. 21 (CP). — Industrials were mixed in extremely quiet trading as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today.

Activity continued its slow streak of the past two weeks and volume for the first three hours of 625,000 shares was 97,000 shares more than the first three hours Wednesday.

Industrials moved sluggishly in dull dealings. The odd issue showed signs of life but the board was generally unchanged. Constructions, banks, textiles and manufacturing companies showed a majority of gains in the groupings and papers and refining oils were lower. Aluminum was a standout, jumping $5.75 reflecting expansion plans and contracts with Britain.

Plan To Start Third Fighter Squadron

OTTAWA, Dec. 21 (CP)—Canada's third regular fighter squadron will come into existence here shortly and be commanded by Flt.-Lt. Don Laubman, DFC, a 29-year-old Edmonton air ace who destroyed 15 German planes in the last war, it was announced today.

The air force said the new squadron will be called No. 416 and that Mustang fighter planes will start arriving here "within the next week or two" for its fighter pilots.

Renovation of former RCAF buildings at nearby Uplands Airport is under way now and a small advance party is on duty at the field, a wartime training base. The bulk of the station personnel will be posted there from other RCAF bases and schools next month.

Laubman completed two wartime operational tours and was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross and Bar. Since April, 1949, he has served with 410 Fighter Squadron, St. Hubert, Que., and has flown as leader of its Vampire aerobatic team.

Born in Provost, Alta., he joined the RCAF in 1940. He went overseas in 1943. In April, 1945, he was shot down and taken prisoner by the Germans.

The original of the squadron Laubman will command was formed at Peterhead, Scotland, in November, 1941, as a day fighter unit. It flew from the United Kingdom until the invasion, and moved into Normandy 10 days after D-Day.

Scott Baffled By Budget Of Young American Couple

By JACK SCOTT

I wrote a piece the other day inviting your opinion and experiences on today's problem of living decently within an average income. I'm hoping to find your comment in our next mail bag from home.

Meanwhile I've met an American family who make the figures I used in my colum look rather silly. This is a young couple, with three children. They were married 12 years ago. In that time on a civil service pay, they have saved more than $15,000 pay premiums on $35,000 life insurance and claim to have everything they want in life.

I'd guess that Ray and his wife are around 35, maybe a little older. He is a government civil engineer, classified as P-3, whatever that means, on a Columbia River irrigation project in Chelan County, Washington. The job pays $5,400 a year.

On Motor Trip

We met Ray and his family in a beach park just below Santa Barbara. He and his short, brisk-mannered wife and the three kids Barbara 10, Jerry 8, and Dianee Dee 7—were on a week-long motor trip in their new Studebaker through Southern California. Ray described it as both a birthday present for his wife and their annual holiday. They camped right out under the stars in sleeping bags atop air mattresses.

One night we got together to toast marshmallows over a beach fire. While the children were happily making themselves sick we got to talking about the cost of living.

Ray is one of these small, three-quarter-size fellows, with an air of complete, Napoleonic mastery of any situation or problem, knows to the penny every cent coming in and going out, and apparently a jack-of-all trades apart from his specialized work.

Compared Budgets

We got right down to comparing budgets and found, first, that there is not really much difference in the cost of living in Canada and the United States. Ray said he spends $340 a month, which gives him a hundred a month to put away as savings. Here is the monthly budget he works against:

Drugs, $10; groceries, $45; meat $5; cleaning, $5; greens, $2; newspapers, $3; milk, $20; children's expenses, $8; children and wife's clothes, $35; Ray's clothes, $8; fuel, $6; help for wife, $4; insurance, $50; telephone, $4; light, $8; furniture, $20; hobbies, $8; entertainment, $30; taxes, $15; gasoline, $20; car payment, $35.

Some of these items seemed strange to me.

Unusual Family

"Oh, we're a very unusual family, I'll admit," Ray replied in his chipper way. "Groceries, for example. Well, we live in a small town and we have a five-acre place that's almost a farm. Grow your own vegteables, keep two dozen chickens, which keeps us in fowl and eggs, and we kill a beef once a year. I generally get my limit of deer in the hunting season and we keep four deep freeze lockers full."

"The other items seem low, too, for a family of three youngsters," I said.

"Well, we don't go in for anything fancy. We don't smoke or drink or go to the movies. I let the children go once a week on Saturdays with the understanding that they won't buy any candy or gum. Ruins their teeth, you know. We take one trip a year and buy a new car every year and that's the sum total of our entertainment. That and my hobbies. I have a wire recorder, movie camera and projector."

"But even on clothes . . ." I began.

Little Social Life

"Clothes don't fret us none," Ray said jauntily. "I buy a $40 suit once every three or four years, a pair of shoes once a year, shirts and socks and things as I need them. My wife hasn't any more social life than I have so she doesn't need as many clothes as city women. She buys material and makes her own dresses. Had a nice muskrat coat from before she was married so that's taken care of."

I looked at Ray's wife to see if she accepted this. She smiled proudly and said, "Ray's right. It's the people who buy things they don't need who are finding it hard to make ends meet."

Ray says that he buys everything on cash, mostly from the mail order houses, and that, by devious arrangements, he was able to get many items wholesale.

Even so, I couldn't see how they'd got such a fat bank account.

"Well, we did it by work," Ray said "I not only have my regular job, I work in all my spare time at anything that comes along—surveying, fixing radios, carpentry, electrical work, what have you. When there wasn't much of this outside work the wife and I set to and built two houses. Sold one for $10,000 and the other for around $8,000 and made us a little money.

"Sure, I know everybody's complaining," he went on. "The fellows I work with can't understand how we do it. But its simple. You just work, work, work. That doesn't only increase your income, it keeps you too busy to spend money foolishly."

"We haven't denied ourselves a thing," his wife added. "We have a Bendix and an electric dryer and automatic dishwasher and, best of all, money in the bank."

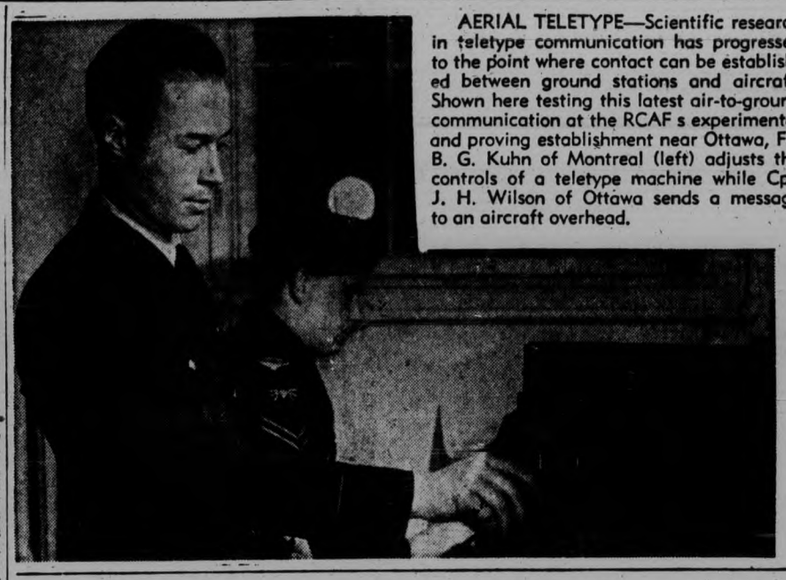

Well, that's the way one family managed it. Ray and his wife are a special breed, I suppose, but anybody who can win in today's struggle between debit and credit has my admiration.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out about 2 pints of bile juice into your digestive tract every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the digestive tract. Then gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

It takes those mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Effective in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills, 35¢ at any druggist.

Woman To Stand Trial, Charged With Conversion

TORONTO, Dec. 21—Charged with theft by conversion of sums totalling $3,388, Mrs. Gretta Longenotti was yesterday committed for trial before a higher court.

Mrs. Longenotti had been employed as a bookkeeper by Morrow Flowers of 1762 Avenue Rd., in North York. Two months after resigning, it was testified, she opened her own flower shop on Yonge St.

At the conclusion of a two-day preliminary hearing in North York police court, Magistrate Hollinrake overrode the objections of defense counsel, A. D. Dymen and ordered a committal.

The pretty blonde, in Canada only three years from England, was released on $2,500 bail. She had been in custody for a week.

Complainants in the case were Mrs. Longenotti's former employers, William and Lloyd Morrow. They testified that on one occasion she had failed to make a $988 bank deposit. Between November, 1949, and July, 1950, a further $2,400 disappeared.

M. W. Rashkis, an accountant consulted in July by the Morrow brothers, corroborated the evidence that $3,388 of the firm's money was missing.

Defense counsel Dyment asked for an acquittal on grounds of conflicting evidence. William Morrow had sworn on the original charge sheet that he had personally given Mrs. Longenotti the $988 bank deposit. Later, Lloyd Morrow had testified in court that it was he who handed the woman the money.

"The evidence of the complainants," he said, "is so conflicting that this has become a matter of incredibility."

Mrs. Longenotti, who came here from England with her husband, a chef, sat throughout the hearing, talking animatedly with her husband. She made no reply when asked by Magistrate Hollinrake if she had any statement to make.

Chiropractors In BC Treated As Doctors

TORONTO, Dec. 19.—(CP)—Ontario is unlikely to follow British Columbia's action in putting chiropractors on an equal footing with medical practitioners in workmen's compensation cases, it was learned yesterday.

The British Columbia Workmen's Compensation Board announced in Vancouver Tuesday that, beginning Jan. 1, workers receiving compensation may be treated by chiropractors without first obtaining permission from a medical doctor.

E. E. Sparling, chairman of the Ontario Workmen's Compensation Board, said chiropractors always have been allowed a certain amount of compensation work in the province. However, when their treatment was extended beyond a certain period, the board demanded that a medical doctor review the workman's case.

Ottawa Cracking Down On Butter Speculations

OTTAWA, Dec. 21 — (CP) — Dealers with more than a fortnight's supply of butter on hand are going to be out of luck if they try to buy any government butter.

An Agriculture Department official said Wednesday that the government has established the policy of not selling any of its butter stocks to dealers who already have more than two weeks' supply in warehouses.

The Policy is Twofold:

1. To prevent built-up of stocks by speculators who may boost the price when scarcities show.

2. To make certain that government butter is being piped into the trade in a slow, steady stream, geared to the program of equitable distribution across the country throughout the winter months.

Any dealer may buy government-held butter, said the official, whether he has purchased butter from the government in previous years or not.

Have No Secrets

All he has to do is apply to the Agriculture Department, show he has the cash and hasn't an oversupply of butter. Since most of Canada's storage butter is held in government-inspected warehouses the government can easily find out just how much a dealer has.

Most of Canada's butter is produced during the summer months. The government, supporting the market, purchased summer surplus at about 53 cents a pound and built up a stock of about 35,000,000 pounds.

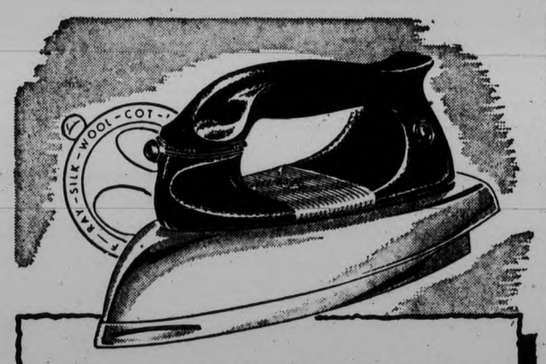

The storage stocks, held by both the government and the trade amounted to about 70,000,000 pounds, and the official said these were sufficient—and no more than just sufficient—to meet all of Canadas winter needs.

If any dealer went into the business of hoarding, building up heavy supplies, shortages would result and price likely would club. That was what the government was trying to prevent.

Currently, Canadian stocks of butter have dropped to below the 50,000,000-pound mark, with the government holding about 60 percent of the butter and the trade about 40 per cent.

Government butter is being sold to the trade at about 57 cents a pound. The price includes storage and freight charges.

Homes And Assistance For The Aged

Our attention has been drawn to an account in the most recent bulletin of the Ontario Welfare News of arrangements which are being made in some Ontario communities for the housing and assistance of the aged. Owen Sound has arranged for the provision of twenty to twenty-five apartments which will be available to old age pensioners and other necessitous persons; 10 per cent. of the cost of five apartment houses (containing six apartments each) has been put up by the community and the remainder of the money has been borrowed through Central Mortgage and Housing. A similar plan is now under way in Burlington. The apartments rent at $20 and $25 a month; the Lions Club and the Canadian Legion are interesting themselves in the project there.

* * *

The time has come when all communities will have to give some thought to providing accommodation of this sort. Everybody knows that the number of old people in the community is increasing; many old couples are not destitute, but they are in straitened circumstances, and the prospect for them is a bleak one; they must seek refuge in institutions which, because of segregation of sexes, will part them, or they must live in dwellings which for many reasons are unsuited to their needs. In Peterborough itself, as many people who are interested in the matter know, there are old couples, and single old people, living in cheerless and inconvenient places because they cannot afford anything better, and there is not much better accommodation to be had in any case. Common humanity dictates that something should be done to give them the kind of homes which they need.

* * *

In England, in earlier times, houses of this kind were provided by private charity; they were called almshouses, and they were usually rows of pleasant little one-storey houses which rented for a small sum because they were endowed. They were easy to keep clean, and because they were built in terraces the dwellers in them were able to keep an eye on one another, to summon help in emergencies, and to enjoy a measure of communal life, while having also the advantage of a private dwelling. But in our time the building of almshouses by private philanthropy is impossible; nobody has any money for it. Only communities and governments have money in sufficient sums to undertake such work. There have been instances of fine work of this nature done in England by the Cowley Fathers, an Anglican brotherhood, but we have nothing of that kind here. The fact is that low-rental homes for old people are needed, and that every community has its own problem to face in this respect.

* * *

To bring up such a matter at a time when the community is already heavily burdened may seem unwise; nevertheless, the need exists, and if any local agency or club is looking for a worthy project, here is a very necessary and pressing one. Admirable work has been done in the last twenty-five years to improve the lot of children; the problem of old age has still to be faced.

The Arbiter's Decision

After the railwaymen struck last August Parliament was called to deal with the situation. The railwaymen were ordered to go back to work and an arbiter, Mr. Justice Kellock was appointed. His decision on the wage rates and hours of work was to be final and binding on both union men and the railway companies. Parliament stipulated minimum settlement terms below which the arbiter could not go. Mr. Justice Kellock has now made his awards.

The importance of the matter has been dimmed by the Korean war which began at the time of the strike and which has continued to push the railway wage issue into the background. The issue was important enough to cause a strike which immobilized Canada, and to warrant a special session of Parliament. The settlement terms are important because they affect 122,000 workers and the economic structure of the country.

Mr. Justice Kellock's award gives the workers a little better deal than they were prepared to agree to immediately before the strike began. The employees have been granted a 40-hour five-day week beginning next June and a seven-cent-an-hour increase effective next September 1st. Hotel and water staffs, whose unions are affiliated with the other rail unions, have been excluded from the contracts. These are the chief terms of the arbitration award.

The 40-hour week was one of the chief causes of the break-down in negotiations which led to the strike. The companies were much opposed to it, claiming that a 40-hour week was not standard in Canada and would impose great difficulties on railway management and schedules. The railwaymen have now got their 40-hour work week, but at a time when the whole of industry and commerce in Canada must be geared higher to meet armament demands and the threat of war. It seems that, desirable as a 40-hour week may be in the eyes of the unions, it is now impossible. Canada cannot meet production and service demands which the deteriorating international situation make urgent, on a forty-hour week. Everybody will have to work overtime, even if, nominally, they are entitled to a 40-hour week.

A wage increase of seven cents an hour to 122,000 railway employees will be expensive to the railway companies. It will mean higher costs of transportation and shipping, and thus every household, business and industry will feel the effects. Whenever this country is preparing for war or waging war, railway business booms. Thus there is not likely to be any slump in railway business for the next two years at least (the term covered by the contract.) Therefore, the companies will not break their backs on the new wage rates. They will get the business to meet the costs, even though their charges will be higher.

The effect of the 40-hour week and the seven-cent wage increase granted to such a sizeable proportion of Canada's labour force is inflationary. The 40-hour week will mean that more men will have to be employed, or that there will be a great deal of overtime pay. The seven-cent increase in pay will cost each week in the neighbourhood of $350,000 as a minimum. Overtime hours will increase that extra cost. And by a process of osmosis these increases will go into other branches of railway work not included in the arbitration.

The awards seem fair both to the companies and the unions, taking into account the wage rates in other lines of work and the higher cost of living. But we must point out that the higher wages granted the rail workers will automatically increase the cost of living to all Canadians, including the railway employees. It is another big job in the inflationary spiral now winding itself about the economy of this country.

"Enthusiasm" Is A Nuisance

The judgement of the Supreme Court of Canada, which seems to uphold the right of Jehovah's Witnesses to distribute pamphlets of an outspoken and possibly inflammatory nature is a triumph for Canadian justice, as we said yesterday; it is a triumph, however, which it may take some time for the people of this country to assimilate. The Toronto Globe and Mail undoubtedly spoke for a majority of Canadians when it said: "It remains true that in all sections of the country the adherents of this particular organization adopt a very provocative manner of approach. The question which arises in people's minds is whether freedom to worship and hold particular beliefs includes freedom to publish and utter extreme and highly prejudiced attacks on the religious forms and beliefs of other people."

Yet we must remember that in this respect Jehovah's Witnesses are behaving precisely like the earliest Christians, who defied the law, pestered anybody who would listen to them, spoke and wrote in the most abusive terms of the organized religion of their time and seemed to think that they had done something praiseworthy whenever they got into trouble with the law. Christianity gained tolerance by the persistence and brassy aggression of its adherents quite as much as by the faith it taught.

The Jehovah's Witness sect is moved by a spirit which the eighteenth century identified and condemned as "enthusiasm"—a word which in those days meant "ill-regulated religious emotion or speculation". The Church of Rome, against which the sect is working in Quebec, dislikes "enthusiasm" profoundly; most Protestant churches dislike it with an almost equal fervour. It is interesting to note that an able Catholic scholar, Monsignor Ronald Knox, has just published a book called Enthusiasm in which he traces, with distaste, the many forms which that movement in religion has taken.

Can we, in Canada, permit "enthusiasm" in religion? If we really believe in democratic liberty, we must do so. But we might as well recognize that it goes against the Canadian grain, which mistrusts and discredits "enthusiasm" in virtually every phase of life. Jehovah's Witnesses are uninhibited proselytizers on behalf of Christianity, a faith which began with an "enthusiasm" which was equally unpopular in its early days. To condemn them seems to put us rather closer to the Emperor Nero than is fitting for a supposedly Christian people.

Christmas In Argentina

By J. HALCRO FERGUSON

WHILE people in the Northern Hemisphere hurry in from snowy or windy streets to the welcome warmth of firesides or central heating, Argentines prepare to celebrate Christmas in the rising heat of blazing midsummer. The swimming pools round Buenos Aires are crowded every week-end, and on trams and trains and buses the windows are kept open to let in a cooling breeze.

✧ ✧ ✧

BUT, though they live below the equator, Argentines are European by descent, and their Christmas customs reflect those of their ancestors from all over a continent 6,000 miles away. For weeks the shops have been gay with Germanic Christmas trees and artificial snow, and in the big stores along Buenos Aires' fashionable Calle Florida benevolent replicas of Santa Claus pat small children on the head in surroundings supposed to represent Lapland. Stationers stock Christmas cards—"Felices Fiestas", "Feliz Navidad"—almost equally pictorially divided between snowbound stage coaches and gauchos (cowboys) gathered round outdoor fires on the open pampa (Argentine prairie).

✧ ✧ ✧

AS in all Latin countries, Christmas really begins on December 24, which is generally, if not officially, treated as a half-holiday. In the cities the streets are crowded, shop-windows bright, and electric signs glitter with seasonal messages, while from behind the open doors and windows comes laughter mixed with the ecstatic squealing of children, out of bed even later than even complaisant local custom normally allows. But celebrations in cities have a certain sameness, and it is in the countryside, "the camp" as old residents call it, that the 24th achieves a truly Argentine character.

✧ ✧ ✧

I REMEMBER one Christmas on an estancia (ranch) some five slow hours by train across the flat pampa from Buenos Aires. As darkness fell, more swiftly than in Europe, we gathered on the grass some way from the house—the mayordomo or overseer, his assistant, a lady guest, the capataces (foremen), the colonos (tenant farmers), the peones (labourers) and myself. Under a clear star-lit sky a fire blazed to roast great chunks of beef, bottles of vino and wineskins passed from hand to hand, and the meal ended with a fruit salad, swimming in wine, taken from a great communal bowl. Afterwards someone brought out a guitar, and the peones took turns to sing extempore verses.

✧ ✧ ✧

AT half past eleven we piled into assorted vehicles—a hired taxi, an elderly car, two trucks and a sulky (gig)—and rattled and lumbered into the nearby town, where loudspeakers played traditional music at every corner, the checkerboard streets were strung with fairy-lights, and the parish church was floodlit for midnight mass. In my car-load, typical of an immigrant country like Argentine, was an Orthodox Greek, a Jew and an Anglican, but all of them crowded into the candle-lit church, already so packed that there was standing room only. The smell of incense, the clear voices of the choirboys, the murmur of Latin round the altar, took us into another world, an older world than the brash new country around us, until we emerged again into the sudden brightness and noise of streets which would normally at that hour have been silent.

ON Christmas Day itself, when most Argentines relax, the British community, 50,000 strong, comes into its own. The electric trains to the Buenos Aires suburb of Belgrano are full of the lilting accents of Anglo-Argentines, bound for the Christmas service at St. Saviour's. Protestant churches are not allowed to ring bells in Argentina, but inside an unseen phonograph defies the ban, and familiar hymns and carols are sung by children who have never known Britain. A loudspeaker brings the voice of H.M.. The King (for Argentina time is five hours behind Greenwich), and the service is over. The families disperse to drink iced gin-tonics on verandahs or lawns, idle away the afternoon playing games and listening to the Overseas Service of the B.B.C., and enjoy an out-of-season Christmas dinner with turkey, plum-pudding, crackers and Argentine champagne.

✧ ✧ ✧

WHEN Christmas has gone, two "fiestas" still remain, New Year and "Reyes". At New Year families across the land, wherever their ancestors came from, gather in patios (courtyards) with the radio on, to await the chimes of midnight. As they strike, those present, following an old Spanish custom, eat twelve grapes; one for each stroke of the clock, one for good luck in each month of the coming year. Then, in private houses and hotels, dancing begins, for tomorrow is a public holiday—which the Anglo-Argentines have to make do with in lieu of Boxing Day. Then on January 6 comes "Reyes", or Twelfth Night, which commemorates the arrival of the Three Kings with gifts for the infant Jesus.

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS also is a public holiday, and is the traditional date on which children receive the present which Santa Claus brings elsewhere. Argentine children, however, are very listo, or smart, and, having got the idea from the children of their immigrant neighbours, demand presents at Christmas too, not to mention New Year for good measure. Argentine parents, in fact, find the festive season even more costly than do their opposite numbers elsewhere, and await with resignation the day when their sons and daughters discover that the little girl next door, whose parents are Dutch, gets present from Sinterklaas on December 6 as well.

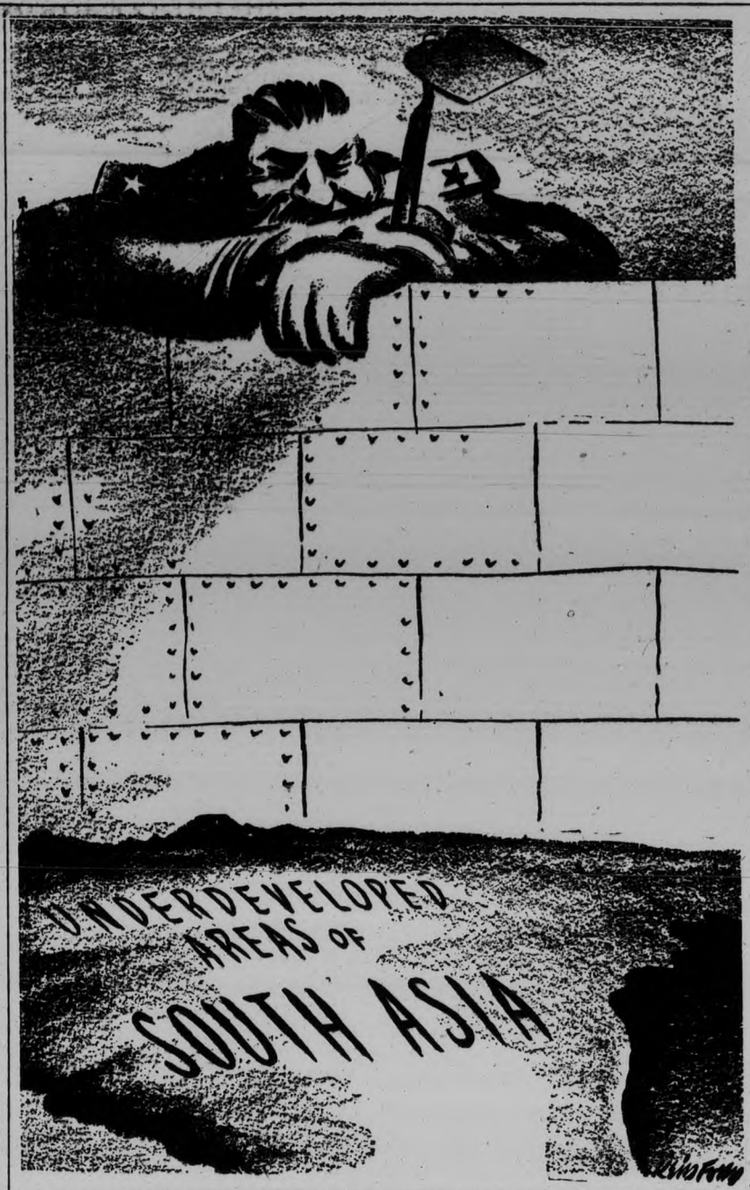

(Special to The Examiner from the London Observer.)

Fisherman's Luck

(KitchenerWaterloo Record)

Nova Scotia fishermen, a Halifax report relates, received $17,089,000 for 312,167,000 pounds of fish brought in during the first 10 months of 1950. That figures out to about 5½ cents a pound.

Judging by the ultimate price to the consumer, there is more money in "handling" the fish than in catching them.

Handel's Mighty "Messiah"

By SIR ERNEST MacMILLAN

BERNARD SHAW functioned from 1890 to 1894 as music critic for the London World. In this capacity, as in others, he castigated the British public unmercifully and throve on the antogonism he aroused. We can picture the feelings of respectable Victorians opening their morning paper to read: "Christmas, being the season of mirth, music, the great English Killjoy, with its intolerable hypocrisies, is gladly put away until it is time to return to work and duty and mental improvement and other unpleasantnesses; consequently my critical machinery has got out of gear somewhat. I might have kept off the rust by attending the regulation Christmas performance of The Messiah; but I have long since recognized the impossibility of obtaining justice for that work in a Christian country. Import a choir of heathens, restrained by no considerations of propriety from attacking the choruses with unembarrassed sincerity of dramatic expression, and I would hasten to the performance if only to witness the delight of the public and the discomfiture of the critics. That is, if anything so indecent would be allowed here. We have all had our Handelian training in church, and the perfect church-going mood in one of pure abstract reverence. A mood of active intelligenc would be scandalous. Thus we get broken in to the custom of singing Handel as if he meant nothing; and as it happens that he meant a great deal, and was tremendously in earnest about it, we know rather less about him in England than they do in the Andaman Islands, since the Andamans are only unconscious of him, whereas we are misconscious."

Passing over the impishly provocative Shavian manner, we can trace in this passage a profound respect for Handel, and those who best know The Messiah must agree that it has often in the past been a much misunderstood work. For more than a century "traditions" of all kinds clustered around it like barnacles. Many a composer and conductor has overloaded it with "additional accompaniments"—Mozart's being the basis for the subsequent ones—until surprisingly few musicians seem to know what Handel actually wrote. Thousands of singers and hundreds of players used to be assembled at such functions as the Crystal Palace festivals; doubtless they created inspiring effects in the more massive choruses, but such massed effects are quite unsuited, in the nature of things, to the pellucid delicacy of the lighter numbers and tend to necessitate too pedestrian a tempo for such choruses as the savage "He Trusted in God" or the dynamic "Let Us Break Their Bonds Asunder." The orchestral accompaniments were often given such casual attention that players lost interest; one remembers the classic story of the violinist who dreamed that he had gone to sleep during a performance of The Messiah—and woke to find that he had actually done so!

A VERY GREAT WORK

NEVERTHELESS, Handel's oratorios contain much superb music and The Messiah in particular must be assessed as one of the greatest works of all time. Its scriptural libretto, compiled by one Thomas Jennens, is a skilful piece of work, presenting the great drama of Divine Love and Redemption with a breadth of vision and universatility of application that far transcend mere narrative. Incidentally, it may be remarked that the popularity of The Messiah as contrasted with the comparative neglect of most of Handel's other oratorios may be due in large measure to its not being handicapped by any of the 18th century doggerel too often associated with some of Handel's finest musical inspirations.

True, there are some incongruities, but these are usually due to the practice of the composer, when working at high pressure, of adapting passages from earlier works of his own and sometimes (though not in The Messiah) of other composers. Handel, unlike Bach, was a cosmopolitan and a public figure. His musical background was at least as much Italian as German, and the effects of his long residence in England are seen not only in those magnificently massive climaxes and cadences that seem as sturdy as the British nation itself, but also in the Purcellian freshness of many of his lighter movements.

When listening to choruses like "For Unto Us" and "His Yoke Is Easy," it should be remembered that these are largely adaptations from a book of duets set to Italian words about nothing in particular and that they therefore call for a comparatively light bel canto style of treatment. Thus, great climaxes like those assocfated with the words "Wonderful, Counsellor, the Mighty God" (which do not appear in the duets and which belong rather to the English side of Handel) are thrown into high relief.

Many musicians are puzzled to know why, in "His Yoke Is Easy," the word "easy" is set to such a florid and technically difficult run; the fact is that Handel, working, as he usually did, in a tearing hurry (he is said to have written the entire work in less than a month) simply arranged a four-part chorus based on a duet of which the original words were "Quel fior' che al alba ride il sole poi l'uccide" (the flower that laughs in the dawn may be killed by the sun's heat); the cheerful little run was originally associated with the word "laughs". Yet the delicate grace of the musical phrase gives delight in itself, and the idea of a burden borne lightly and happily can be conveyed in performance by singers sufficiently flexible in technique.

CODA IS HEIGHTENED

ANOTHER chorus adapted from an Italian duet is "All We Like Sheep"; it is doubtless by intention that much of his chorus strikes a frivolous note, and the picture of the sheep wandering about in such gay fashion heightens greatly the tremendous coda set to the words "The Lord hath laid on Him the iniquity of us all," where we are brought abruptly face to face with one of the most solemn truths of the Christian religion. What dramatic work in musical literature affords a more startling contrast than the snarling mockery of "He trusted in God; let Him deliver Him," followed by the poignant "Thy rebuke hath broken His heart"—the finest recitative in the oratorio and perhaps in any Handelian work?

It is universally conceded that Handel had a rare feeling for the human voice. Rarely does he write a passage ungrateful to a singer (though it must be admitted that "O thou that tellest" lies badly for most contraltos), and his skill in laying out choral passages with a view alike to expression, balance and colour can be compared only with the feeling of a Tschaikovski for the orchestra.

Think of the overwhelming burden suggested by the opening bars of "Surely He hath borne our griefs," the exhilarating, bell-like pealing of "Lift up your heads, O ye gates" (which always reminds me of the west front of Peterborough Cathedral), the great alternating play of the four-voice parts in the missionary chorus, "Their sound is gone out into all lands"—"like flashing searchlights at sea" Sir Henry Coward used to say. The very first chord of the "Hallelujah" chorus is laid out in such a way as to suggest a blinding glory—and what a pity it is that so many conductors hurry over it without giving it a chance to produce its full effect! Still greater, perhaps the greatest piece of sheer choral virtuosity in music, is the final "Amen"; it is comparable only to the "Sanctus" of Bach's "B minor Mass" in its continually mounting affirmation of faith. In the "Hallelujah" chorus is pictured the fulfillment of the Kingdom of God on earth, but "Worthy is the Lamb," together with the following "Amen," is the chorus of the redeemed in Heaven; Handel's dramatic imagination was stirred as perhaps never at any other time.

In the forthcoming performances by the Mendelssohn Choir and other forces it will be the endeavour to present the work as I fancy the composer imagined it. It will be possible to build massive effects in the great moments without obscuring the lighter atmosphere of the smaller and more lyrical choral numbers. The orchestral accompaniments will be Handelian, and not Mozartean; nor will the brassy excrescences of Sir Michael Costa be tolerated. Mozart's additional accompaniments often have great charm but, though good Mozart, they are frequently not good Handel.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And, behold, there cometh one of the rulers of the synagogue, Jairus by name; and when he saw him, he fell at his feet, and besought him greatly, saying, My little daughter lieth at the point of death: I pray thee, come and lay thy hands on her, that she may be healed; and she shall live.

And Jesus went with him; and much people followed him, and thronged him...While he yet spake, there came from the ruler of the synagogue's house certain which said, Thy daughter is dead: why troublest thou the Master any further?

As soon as Jesus heard the word that was spoken, he saith unto the ruler of the synagogue, Be not afraid, only believe.....And he cometh to the house of the ruler of the synagogue, and seeth the tumult, and them that wept and wailed greatly.

And when he was come in, he saith unto them, Why make ye this ado, and weep? the damsel is not dead, but sleepeth. And they laughed him to scorn. But when he had put them all out, he taketh the father and the mother of the damsel, and them that were with him, and entereth in where the damsel was lying.

And he took the damsel by the hand, and said unto her, Talitha cumi: which is, being interpreted, Damsel, I say unto thee, arise. And straightway the damsel arose, and walked: for she was of the age of twelve years. And they were astonished with a great astonishment. (Mark 5: 22-24, 35, 36, 38-42.)

Names On A Map

(Ottawa Citizen)

Indicative of the size and newness of Western Canada, the giving of place names continues briskly in Saskatchewan. A while ago, agricultural scientists and the varieties of grain they developed were being honoured. There is now, for example, Saunder's Lake, after Dr. Charles E. Saunders of Marquis and Red Fife wheat fame; and Platt Lake, after A. W. Platt, the cerealist who developed sawfly-resistant Rescue wheat. Outstanding pioneers and medical doctors were also being remembered.

Since March 1, approval has been given to 116 place names, many of them in newly-mapped areas. The majority honour Saskatchewan servicemen who gave their lives in the Second World War. Others commemorate noted cabinet ministers, school inspectors, and clergymen. Rivers, islands, lakes, bays, and hills are being identified in this way.

Danger Time

(Sudbury Star)

Ontario's chief coroner, Dr. Smirle Lawson, looks upon the winter season as one of the worst for elderly people. It is not only because their hearts are taxed by snow shovelling, but also because of the additional strain of walking in storms, or even trying to keep a footing on slippery walks and streets.

There are plenty of youngsters who will be glad to earn pocket money by shovelling off the newly-fallen snow, and it is a good investment for our elderly people to hand the shovel to a young person who looks upon the task as little more than healthful exercise.

Continue Search For Lost Tug

A Coast Guard PBY plane had to abandon its efforts early Wednesday afternoon when visibility dropped to zero.

Meanwhile, the Coast Guard icebreaker Tupelo, which had been escorting freighters through ice in Pelee Island passage at the western end of Lake Erie, joined the icebreaker Acacia to probe this area for a trace of the tug.

The Sachem disappeared Monday morning after sailing with 11 men aboard for Dunkirk, 45 miles southwest of Buffalo.

Investigation of two reports Wednesday brought no clues to the Sachem's fate.

The PBY had reported sighting an oil drum tied to a wooden raft near Dunkirk light, but inquiry disclosed it was a buoy used to mark dumping for dredges off Dunkirk harbor.

Another report that possible wreckage had been spotted off Wanakah, 10 miles southwest of here, was written off as "strictly driwtwood."

Village May Lose Drinking Water

CORUNNA, Dec. 21 (CP)—One hundred families in this village 10 miles south of Sarnia may be without drinking water Jan. .

Their present supply comes from Dryden Nesbitt, Moore township farmer. Early in 1952 a new system is to be completed which will bring them water from a Canadian oil company pumping station.

Nesbitt, in anticipation of being put out of business by the new system, announced intention of quitting operations Jan. 9, a year ahead of schedule as far as his customers are concerned.

Nesbitt contended if the new system is to be built either Corunna ratepayers or the oil oil company should buy the system he now is operating. But neither the company nor the village have indicated a willingness to do this.

"We cannot intervene until the water is cut off," said village trustee W. G. Connolly, "then conditions prejudicial to public welfare and health may arise. Such conditions would obviously require action by us."

Resume Talks

WINDSOR, Dec. 21 (CP). — Contract talks resumed today between negotiating groups of the Sandwich, Windsor and Amherstburg Railway and Division 616, Street Railwaymen's Union (AFL), in their long-standing dispute on wages for Windsor bus drivers. Following the meeting, Division 616 president, Henry Scott said no concrete agreements had been reached but added: "things are going along smoothly."

Eagles Fatten Up Averages Downing Queen's, 20 to 3

In the most one-sided OHA senior "B" game of the season, the local league-leading Eagles clawed the tail-end Queen's Combines 20-3 here last night before a few hundred frost-bitten fans. Taking a 5-2 lead in the first frame, they rapped home four without an answer in the middle heat and then rolled in the third for an 11-1 margin. It was a fast fixture and fairly clean, though a bit of slashing cropped up in spots. Queen's drew six of the eight penalties, each side receiving one match misconduct.

The homesters had far too much punch for their game but overmatched opponents, sweeping in almost at will to score on Goalie McIntyre. After the first chukker, the visitors were never in the hunt, and it was just a matter of how many before time dragged itself out in the frosty setting. Eagles clicked well in all departments while Queen's looked strictly intermediate on last night's showing.

Fattened Averages

All the Eagles but Goalie Ross Nicholls got in on the scoring. Bill Crowley and Andy Milne led the way, each being in on seven, while Bert Hill figured in on six, Joe Rochetta five, Freddy Mortimer four, Bob Parnall and Toodie Greenlaw three each, Al Burns, Johnny Godfrey, Sixty Coombs and Dootch Vitarelli two apiece, with single points gained by Doug Mortimer and Jim Munroe. Johnny Carr-Harris, Andy Dunn and Ed Klym got the Queen's goals, an assist apiece going to Carr-Harris, Dunn, Don Murray, McKelvey and Sweetman.

Vitarelli drew a match misconduct in the second from Referee Jim Crombie of Bowmanville for pushing the latter around on a high-sticking penalty. Bender got a match misconduct in the third heat in a tangle with the referee after a slashing penalty, Bender drawing three trips to the sin bin in this stanza. Teams:

Queen's: Goal, McIntyre; defence, Sweetman and Graves; centre, D. Murray; wings, Carr-Harris and Dunn; alternates, Keenleyside, Ohlke, Klym, Shepherd, White, R. Murray, McKelvey and Bender.

Eagles: Goal, Nicholls; defence, Godfrey and Munroe; centre, Rochetta; wings, Vitarelli and Crowley; alternates, Parnall, Coombs, Greenlaw, Hill, F. Mortimer, Milne, Burns and D. Mortimer.

Referee: J. Crombie; linesman, H. Payne.

Summary:

First Period

Eagles—Vitarelli	1:51
Eagles—Milne	4:25
Eagles—Hill (F. Mortimer)	5:35
Eagles—Rochetta (Crowley)	8:26
Queen's Dunn (Carr-Harris, D. Murray)	9:09
Queen's—Carr-Harris (Dunn, McKelvey)	11:20
Eagles—Crowley (Rochetta)	16:45
No penalties.

Second Period

Eagles—Crowley (Godfrey, Rochetta)	5:00
Eagles—Crowley (Vitarelli)	6:33
Eagles—Coombs (Parnall)	9:00
Eagles—Crowley	14:52
Penalties—Carr-Harris, Burns, Vitarelli, White.

Third Period

Queen's—Klym (Sweetman)	1:03
Eagles—Milne (F. Mortimer, Hill)	1:14
Eagles—Rochetta (Milne, Munroe)	2:54
Eagles—Crowley (Milne, Godfrey)	5:03
Eagles—Coombs (Parnall, Greenlaw)	7:55
Eagles—Milne (Hill)	8:55
Eagles—D. Mortimer (Hill)	9:56
Eagles—Crowley (Rochetta)	10:39
Eagles—Greenlaw (Parnall)	14:00
Eagles—Milne (Burns, Greenlaw)	16:50
Eagles—Hill (F. Mortimer, Milne)	17:55
Eagles—F. Mortimer (Hill, Burns)	19:45
Penalties—Bender (3), Sweetman.

Jimmy McLarnin Outstanding Boxer Of 50 Years

By JACK SULLIVAN.

TORONTO, Dec. 21 (CP). — Jimmy McLarnin, the Vancouver newsboy who blazed a glorious fistic trail across the United States and retired a rich man at 29, is Canada's outstanding boxer of the half century. He received the nod by almost unanimous decision of the country's sports editors and sportscasters.

Idol of millions in his fist-swinging hey-day when he drew top billing in rings on the U.S. west coast, in Chicago and finally New York's Madison Square Garden, Yankee Stadium and Polo Grounds, McLarnin parlayed a slick left and burning ambition into the world's welterweight championship. He retired with something few boxers ever have—a whopping bank account.

The sports editors and sportscasters, asked by The Canadian Press to name the country's greatest boxer of the last 50 years, voted solidly for the well-to-do Jimmy. He received 32 of a possible 43 votes, the others going to heavyweight Tommy Burns, Sam Langford, Larry Gains and Lionel Conacher, and to British Empire lightweight champion, L'Il Arthur King.

Elected to the ring's Hall of Fame last spring, McLarnin, known across Canada and the U.S. as Baby Face, probably met and defeated more champions or future champions—13 all told—than any other fighter. Yet he had to wait nearly nine years before he could climb into the ring for a fight billed as a world-championship contest.

Made No Mistake

And Baby Face made no mistake that night of May 29, 1933, at Los Angeles when his big break came against young Corbett III, world's welterweight titleholder. He took the championship with a knockout at 2:37 of the first round—the shortest championship battle in the history of the division.

Just one day less than a year later he lost it to lightweight champion Barney Ross at New York and scaled the heights again September 17, 1934, with a 15-round decision over Barney. They met in the rubber match May 28, 1935, and Jimmy lost over 15 rounds.

Ross grew out of the welter division and Tony Canzoneri took over. Baby Face met him and lost, but reversed the decision October 25, 1936. His last bout was against Lou Ambers—a clean cut victory for the Canadian who had left Vancouver 13 years before with Charlie (Pop) Foster, his trainer - guardian - counsellor and still fast friend.

His list of ring opponents down the years reads like a boxing who's who — Pancho Villa, Kid Kaplan, Sid Terris, Sammy Mandell, Ross, Canzoneri, Ambers — all champions.

Belfast-born Jimmy, now 42, lives in Glendale, Calif., with his Vancouver-born wife, Lillian Cupitt, and three daughters.

Now it's caviar for the kid from the wrong side of the tracks who, at one time early in his career, existed on brussels sprouts. Now it is the cosy comfort of his own home for the youngster who lived in flea-bitten cheap hotels and boarding houses while the man who made him — Pop Foster—tried to line up fights.

RE-JOINS RCAF—Bob Parnall, classy forward with the Eagles (who mauled Queen's 20-3 here last night), has joined up again with the RCAF with the rank of flying officer. He will leave here Jan. 5 but expects to play out of Trenton for a time with his team.

Boxer In Critical Condition After Knockout

NEW YORK, Dec. 21 (AP). — Al (Sonny Boy) West, 21-year-old Negro boxer from Washington, hovered in "very critical condition" today after a knockout loss to young Percy Bassett of Philadelphia Wednesday night at St. Nicholas Arena.

Surgeons performed an emergency brain operation on the stricken lightweight, who was carried unconscious from the ring.

West was losing but still appeared strong until Bassett tagged him with a straight right to the head after 29 seconds of the seventh round of a scheduled 10. On the cards of all three officials West had won only one round. Referee Harry Ebbets also had one even. Sonny Boy, moving backwards as he was hit, fell flat on his back, his head hitting the ring canvas with a thump. He did not regain consciousness.

Dr. Vincent Nardiello, New York State Athletic Commission physician, administered a stimulant in the ring. After West was carried downstairs to his dressing room in the basement of the old arena, Nardiello gave him another injection. Then the ambulance hustled him to hospital.

Has Operation

Shortly after arrival at the hospital, West was rushed to the operating room. Nardiello reported that neurological findings indicated a blood clot. Nardiello and Dr. James Daniels, a brain specialist, performed the operation.

Only 895 fans were in the arena, but many thousands saw the bout which was carried on a television and radio network.

It was in this same area that Lavern Roach of Plainview, Tex., was fatally injured when knocked out by Georgie Small of Brooklyn last Feb. 23.

Bassett, winner of 47 of 49 fights and his last 19 in a row, rocked West in the fifth round, driving him across the ring with a series of rights. But West came back in the sixth and shook up Bassett. The end came suddenly in the seventh.

Tigers Whip Dutchmen In 5-2 Triumph

By The Canadian Press.

Hamilton Tigers, who have been sharing third place in the Ontario Hockey Association's major series some time now with Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, won the No. 3 spot for themselves Wednesday night.

The Tigers, playing at home, won by a popular 5-2 margin over the Dutchmen. In two contests in the OHA's junior division scores also were 5-2, Barrie Flyers defeating Waterloo Hurricanes and Windsor Spitfires clipping Stratford Kroehlers.

The Hamilton boys, now seven points behind the league-leading and deadlocked Toronto St. Mike's and Marlies, gave goalie Boat Hurley a busy time in the Dutchie nets but the former Stratford junior batted out rubber with more than average success.

He didn't stop the shots however of Harold Hursley, who got two by him, Johnny Conick, Harvey Fraser and Tom Smelle. Art Hurst and Dinny Flanagan were the Dutchie Marksmen.

Get Better Hold

In the junior contest at Barrie, the Flyers got a better hold on the league's runner-up spot, three points back of the topspot Toronto Marlies, by firing in all their counters pronto-like in the first period. It was Hurricane's 24th game without a win.

Leo Labine, Lionel Barber, Bill Hagan, Paul Emms and Real Chevrefils scored for Barrie. Waterloo's third period goals came from George Watters and Gerry Horton.

Windsor climbed past Guelph, Oshawa and St. Catharines with its hometown victory over Stratford. The Spitfires with 27 points now are one point up on the threesome in fourth place.

Still Without Coach

It was Spits' fourth straight victory, still operating without the services of coach Jim Skinner out because of an indefinite suspension.

Erwin Grosse and Eddie Joss paced Windsor with two goals apiece and Jim Anderson got the other. Bob Bailey and Larry Lemenchick got Stratford's counters, the first two goals of the game.

Because of exams the visit of Toronto St. Michael's two Oshawa scheduled for Wednesday night, was postponed.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press.

Max Bentley of Toronto widened his lead in the National Hockey League's individual scoring race Wednesday night, picking up two goals to bring his totals to 13 goals and 21 assists for 34 points. Bentley's assists are the highest total so far this season.

Tied in second place are linemates Tod Sloan, Ted Kennedy and Cal Gardner with 29 points apiece. Sloan continues to pace the snipers with 17 goals.

The leaders:	G	A	Pts.
M. Bentley, Toronto	13	21	34
Kennedy, Toronto	9	20	29
Sloan, Toronto	17	12	29
Gardner, Toronto	12	17	29
S. Smith, Toronto	15	11	26
Howe, Detroit	13	12	25
Richard, Montreal	14	9	23
Lindsay, Detroit	10	13	23

Name New Coach

Raymond (Buddy) Parker Wednesday was named coach of the Detroit Lions in the National Football League.

Parker succeeds Alvin (Bo) McMillin, who resigned Tuesday as head coach and general manager of the Detroit team.

Parker came to Detroit last season as backfield coach after 13 years with the Chicago Cardinals as a player and coach. He started his professional career with Detroit as a player in 1935.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

As mentioned a few days ago, the enlarged Trent Valley Hockey League will operate in two sections, north and south. Local and district clubs will go in the northern group. First four teams in each group at schedule's end make playoffs. First round series will be best of three games, and second round best of five. The two sectional champs then clash in a best of five series for the Bata Trophy (now held by Marmora) and the league title. OMHA puckists may play in the TVL but not OHA-ers, unless they get a written release first. The 10-minute overtime period has been brought back in case of tie games.

* * * * * *

Belleville Redmen play the Petes at 8.30 tomorrow (Friday) night in Civic Arena, an OHA senior "B" fixture. That should be a real week-end attraction for puck fans, and likely a large number will be on deck for this scrap. Coach Wally Bent has been bolstering his speed merchants from Greater Belleville, and they'll prove tough onions for the local crew. Coach Drake Jopling wasn't too well satisfied with his defence when they lost last time here to the Eagles, and he's experimenting on the back division, besides putting his charges through stiff workouts and making 'em hustle. Yes, it ought to be a fine fray.

* * * * * *

His Job Is To Defend

A defenceman's job primarily is to defend his goal. Sure that's elementary and you might say sarcastically: "How did you know?" Well, the fact was brought home forcibly to us when Maple Leafs played a rousing exhibition here early this season. Sifting next to the timers' and scorer's box were Hap Day and Joe Primeau. Naturally, they watched the work of the two goalies and noted who scored and who assisted on goals, but they also jotted down in notebooks which defence pair was out there when a goal was scored on their side. We heard them commenting on the guilty defensive duos every time there was a tally. And they weren't joking.

* * * * * *

Of course it is a fact that every player on a team must do his part. Defencemen must help out to some extent on the attack, just as forwards must check back fast and try to steer rival puck carriers either into the defence or into a corner. And the goalie is the final "rap" guy, so he must be good—even when not getting too much support. Yet, the basic job for forwards is to score goals and for defencemen to keep opponents from scoring. Do it anyway possible short of drawing penalties, but keep the rival puck carrier far enough out so that the goalie has time to take care of his shot if he gets it away in line for the net. Coaches Drake Jopling and Mick Magee of the local teams both played a lot of defence, and they know the blue-line answers.

Eagles Were A-Soaring

The Eagles were flying high at Civic Arena last night, and Queen's looked far from a senior "B" squad at the end of that 20-3 walloping. Eagles acted like group leaders while the best one could say for their opponents is that they possibly looked like tail-enders. They tried hard, and even tried to rough it up at times, but the Magee men were travelling at top speed, too busy fattening their batting averages to mix it up. Bill Crowley, who scored six goals and aided on another, will soon make local oldtimers forget his illustrious dad, who starred here many years ago. Andy Milne was another high scorer, as were Bert Hill and Joe Rochetta. They were all in on it, apart from Goalie Ross Nicholls. A slim crowd saw the slaughter.

* * * * * *

Playing manager Bob Parnall gave a good account of himself. We mention him particularly because Bob is returning to the RCAF early in the new year, as a flying officer. Second of the ex-Legion team, Bob Greenlaw going a few months back. Parnall will be stationed at Trenton for a time and expects to play for the Eagles quite frequently this winter, though he won't act as club manager. A likeable and capable chap, Bob has a fine sports background here in rugby, golf, softball and hockey. Played on two OHA senior "B" championship clubs, taking time off in between to serve for the Air Force in the second world war. We all wish him well and hope he'll get in the season with the team.

Dese, Dem And Dose

Gananoque beat Belleville Redmen 9-7 last night in overtime; Queen's edged the Gans several nights earlier... The Nylons-Queen's tilt the other eve was postponed.... Senior "B" standing is in tonight .... Oshawa took the Port Hope junior hockeyists 9-6 in their recent clash ... Results of these out-of-town OHA games aren't always coming in on time ... After tomorrow, both Eagles and Petes are idle until next Wednesday; our juniors lay off even longer... Six PMHA tilts tonight at the arena, commencing at six of the clock.... George (Red) Sullivan of Hershey is fourth top AHL sniper with 36 points, just two out of a second-place tie. Don Ashbee of Buffalo has climbed a lot and now has 30 scoring points ... Max Bentley is the only high NHL scorer to date this season who does as well on the road as at home ... We've been right so far on votes for Canadian Press on half-century stars, picking Morenz in hockey and McLarnin in boxing ... Lot of sports equipment being sold around town in this Christmas rush, one hears ... As Jim Ellery says, everyone wonders what "the thing" is, but it might well be a puck, since goalies are always shouting: "Get the thing out of here!"

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

National League players broke or tied nine fielding records during the 1950 baseball season.

The honor of turning in the most remarkable defensive display went—without argument — to Wes Westrum of the New York Giants who catching his first season as a regular, committed only one error in 139 games to set a new league fielding mark of .999.

In breaking the old mark of .998 set by Earl Grace of the 1932 Pittsburgh Pirates, Westrum handled a total of 680 chances, participated in 21 double plays and was credited with 21 assists. The latter two feats were high among the league's backstops.

Gil Hodges of Brooklyn set a new double play mark for first basemen by participating in 159, and his teammate, Jackie Robinson, did the same for second basemen with 133. Hank Thompson, the Giants' freshman third baseman, set a new standard for that position by figuring in 43 twin killings.

Morenz, who died in 1937, was named Canada's best hockey player of the half century in a Canadian Press poll of sports editors and newscasters.

"Cyclone," who ran third in the balloting, said: "that's all right by me. Howie was everything they say he was."

The great hockey pair never played against each other—"he was just starting when I was hanging up my skates," said Taylor. "He was a dynamic and forceful player. You can just say he was a real player."

Lester Patrick of the famous hockey family wasn't surprised at the award.

"Howie was really tops," said Patrick, the man who once coached Morenz.

"He was colorful—supercolorful. He had a magnetic personality and he was easy to handle and no trouble at all to get along with."

Willie Shoemaker, still hopeful of overtaking Joe Culmone as the leading jockey of the year, rode two winners at Fair Grounds Track Wednesday to move within 10 victories of the idle pacemaker.

Shoemaker had seven mounts at the New Orleans course and registered astride Gen. Custer ($6) and Show Place ($7.20). Those triumphs gave the Texas lad a total of 360 winners for the season, compared to Culmone's 370. Culmone has not ridden at Tropical Park since being injured in a spill last Saturday.

Senior "B" Standing

Following is the OHA senior "B" group standing to date:

	Won	Lost	Tied	Pts.
Eagles	10	4	1	21
Petes	9	5	1	19
Nylons	8	6	0	16
Belleville	6	9	0	12
Queen's	3	12	0	6
Gananoque	1	1	0	2

(Gananoque is an intermediate "A" club playing a short interlocking schedule in this group.)

James (Tod) Sloan, regarded as the world's greatest jockey in the 1890s, died at Los Angeles 14 years ago today. The famed originator of the "monkey crouch" style of riding, the 59-year-old jockey died penniless after having gone through a fortune.

Rangers Fit To Be Tied Chalk Up 13th Deadlock

By MEL SUFRIN,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

New York Rangers are probably fit to be tied today. And if they have any active supporters left, they're probably just as peeved.

Reason? The New Yorkers played another tie game Wednesday night, their 13th of a 70-game National Hockey League schedule which isn't even half finished.

A small father-and-son night crowd of 7,461 suffered the frustrations of one of those too-common tie games while watching Rangers and Boston Bruins wind up 4-4—the fourth split between the teams this season. It also frustrated the hopes of New York fans seeing their team pull out of last place. The tie game leaves the Rangers still one point behind the Bruins.

There was nothing indecisive about the outcome of the other NHL game Wednesday night. At Toronto, the Leafs extended their first-place margin with a resounding 6-1 victory over the fourth place Montreal Canadiens.

Lopsided Game

The lopsided game, before 12,639, marked the first appearance in a Toronto uniform of Fern Flaman, a defenceman from Dysart, Sask., traded earlier this season by Boston Bruins.

Flaman made his presence felt early, scoring the first goal. Later he took an equally-prominent part in a four-minute fight, tangling with Tommy Manastersky, rookie Montreal defenceman, while Harry Watson was slugging it out with Calum McKay, aggressive Montreal forward. The brawl took place in the third period and all watched the end of the game from the penalty box with majors.

Max Bentley, the league's leading point-getter, padded his totals with two goals for the Leafs, who now have a three-point lead over the second-place Detroit Red Wings. Other Toronto goals were by Tod Sloan — his 17th—Cal Gardner and Harry Watson. Maurice (Rocket) Richard got Montreal's only goal.

Turk Broda was in the nets for Toronto, handling 20 shots compared with 23 for Gerry McNeil.

Ezinicki Active

Another of the principals of the Boston-Toronto trade, Bill Ezinicki, played a prominent part in the game at New York. Ezinicki got two goals for the Bruins and assisted on another by Woody Dumart. Bill Quackenbush, traded to the Bruins in 1949 by Detroit, got the tying goal in the third period.

Boston had a 2-0 lead in the first period before Zellio Toppazzini, Buddy O'Connor and Tony Leswick sent the Rangers into the lead. Ezinicki tied it up in the second period and Nick Mickoski gave New York a 4-3 lead.

Veteran centre Milt Schmidt got an assist on each of the Boston goals.

Cincinnati Downs Indianapolis By 4-2

By The Canadian Press.

Cincinnati Mohawks Wednesday night cut Cleveland Barons' lead in the American Hockey League to two points by downing Indianapolis Capitals 4-2 while Cleveland Barons dropped a 5-3 decision to Springfield Indians.

Cleveland leads the western division of the circuit. Indianapolis is in last place.

Hershey Bears, leading the eastern division, went down before Pittsburgh Hornets 8-2. The Bears lead Buffalo Bisons, idle Wednesday night, by only a single point.

In the fourth game played Wednesday night, Providence Reds edged St. Louis Flyers 6-5. Providence is in third place in the eastern division.

Mount Pleasant Public School Gives Concert

MOUNT PLEASANT, Dec. 21—(ENS).—Filled to capacity with a score and more people standing was the Women's Institute hall on Tuesday evening for the annual Christmas public school concert.

The concert opened with "O Canada" followed by an opening chorus by the school. Following is the program:

Chairman's address, Rev. E. L. Linstead; "The Christmas Story" was illustrated by the children in three scenes; song by Alex Ruth, "Bless This House"; recitation by Frances Gardiner, "A Christmas Wish"; recitation by Beth Wilson, "A Christmas Sleepy-head"; a play, "Stolen Watermelons" in two acts, with the following cast: Harvey, Malcolm Fee; Lemuel, Allen Martin; Edward, Ray Stranaghan; Robert, Roy Best; junior drill, "Wooden Soldiers"; recitation by Ellen Morden, "The Week Before"; recitation by Jimmy Whitmore, "A Question"; "Some Future Citizens of Our Town" by eight boys; recitation by Mary Lowes, "Dolly's Promise"; recitation by Janice Tully, "A Schemer"; solo by Gordon Bland, "Frosty the Snowman"; a play, "Christmas Stockings," with the following cast: Mr. Preston, Kent Lee; Mrs. Preston, Shirley Martin; Jean Preston, Marjorie Lowes; Jack Prestan, Gary Carr; Albert Long, Malcolm Fee; Mrs. Moore, Marie Mitchell; John Moore, Erroll Ruth; Gladys Moore, Ray Stranaghan. Recitation by Teddy Vale, "A Christmas Tree Farm"; windmill drill; recitation by Tommy Lawson, "A Christmas Telephone"; recitation by Joan McCullough, "Too Young or Too Old"; piano solo by Christina Bland; play, "Slight Mistake" with the following cast, Pat, Alex Ruth; Elsie, Kathleen Vale; Jim, Harold Lowes; doctor, Erroll Ruth; recitation by Betty Mitchell "A Christmas Eve Thought"; recitation by Barbara Whitmore "Hanging Up the Stockings"; solo by Gordon Bland, "Rudolph"; "Hiding Presents," a skit with Mr. Morris, Kent Fee; Mrs. Morris, Shirley Martin; Sarah Morris, Marjorie Lowes; Bob Morris, Alex Ruth; Uncle Jack, Gary Carr; song by the school.

"God Save the King" brought the program to a close, when "Jingle Bells" sounded a welcome to "Old Santa" who greeted several of the children personally and proceeded to distribute the gifts from the tree.

Rev. E. L. Linstead was chairman and in his remarks complimented the teacher and the pupils on the morals stressed throughout the program with the Christmas spirit uppermost.

Mr. McKnight expressed his thanks to the large crowd who had attended and to all who had assisted in any way.

Ex-Matron-in-Chief Miss E. Rayside Dies

LANCASTER, Ont., Dec. 21—(CP)—Miss Edith C. Rayside, CBE, 78, first matron-in-chief of the Canadian Army Nursing Service and one-time superintendent of nurses at Montreal General Hospital, died Wednesday.

She died at the home of her sister, Mrs. James McGillis, in this eastern Ontario town where she was born.

She was appointed matron-in-chief of the Canadian Army Nursing Service in 1917 following her return from serving in France and England during the First World War.

Miss Rayside was an honorary president of the Nursing Sisters Association of Canada.

The funeral will be held Friday.

WITH EVERY LAURENTIAN ski spot boasting ideal skiing conditions, due to the recent snowfalls, the influx of American tourists, which normally doesn't begin until after Christmas, is already far advanced of former seasons and all indications point to the biggest and best season in the last seven years. The war situation in Korea, which many believed would keep American skiers off Canadian hills this year, hasn't affected the annual trek of Americans. In the above photo instructor Alf Binnie teaches a group of interested young enthusiasts some of the fine points of skiing at Jasper-in-Quebec, St. Donat.

Nominate Joe Wright, Sr., In Poll Outstanding Oarsman Of 50 Years

By JACK SULLIVAN

TORONTO, Dec. 21 (AP)—The late Joe Wright, Sr., rowing's "grand old man," a battling champion and a deep-throated, hard-driving coach who shaped raw recruits into title-winning crews, today received added glory: selection as Canada's outstanding oarsman of the last 50 years. The honor came just two months after his death.

It would have done "the governor's" heart good to be in on one of the most gruelling fights of the 22-question Canadian Press half-century poll. The 86-year-old oarsman, who died last Oct. 18, took it by one vote over Bobby Pearce, Canada's imported Australian of a later generation.

The sports editors and sportscasters, who voted in the CP ballot, named five others, but it was a two-man race fro mthe gun. The pollsters couldn't see any 50-year "greats" in the present-day crop as the returns showed a solid swing for the old-timers.

The final result gave Wright 15 votes against Pearce's 14. Other votes were scattered.

There was the great Jake Gaudaur world professional sculling champion from 1896 to 1901, who died at his Atherley, Ont., home April 6, 1937; Eddie Durnan of Toronto who held the professional single sculls championship of North America from 1905 to 1926 and who died in the mid-30s; and Con Riley, of the Winnipeg Rowing Club who stroked his club's four-oared crew to victory in the Steward's Cup at the English Henley in 1910—the only time a sweep-oar title came to Canada from the world-famous Henley.

Riley, still active in Winnipeg, won nine national titles in the United States between 1901 and 1912.

Latter-Day Nominees

Latter-day nominees were Joe Wright, Jr., and Jack Guest, Sr., both of Toronto, whose sculling careers date from the 20s.

Young Joe won the world-famed Diamond Sculls in 1928 (his dad coached him), just two years before Guest again captured the honor for Canada. Wright tried for this prized possession from 1927 to 1930 and Guest from 1928 to 1930. They got together as a pair in the 1928 Olympics at Amsterdam and were beaten out by Americans in the final.

The younger Wright held three United States championships in 1927—the quarter-mile, Association and Championship Singles; was Canadian titleholder in the quarter and championship singles at the Canadian Henley in 1930; quarter-mile and Canadian titleholder in 1931; and retired in 1933 after winning the quarter-mile title at Port Dalhousie in 1933.

In the final analysis, it boiled down to "Old Joe," as he was affectionately known, and Pearce, an Olympic and British Empire Games winner for his native country, Diamond Sculls winner, world professional sculling champion and now a naturalized Canadian and a lieutenant at Hamilton in the Royal Canadian Navy.

Brought Glory

Joe Wright, Sr., added a glorious chapter to the history of rowing in Canada and the United States.

He stroked the Toronto Argonaut Rowing Club to victory in the 1885 United States National at Albany, N.Y., and 20 years later stroked a double blue crew to win a Royal Canadian Henley took two heats of the Grand Challenge in England in 1906 when he was 42 years old and when he was 44 played senior football with Argos on the same team with his son, George.

He excelled in boxing (he won the Canadian amateur heavyweight championship when he was 35), wrestling track and field, baseball and football (he played in senior ranks with Argos for 18 years) but his big love was rowing.

He became one of the most famous rowing coaches in the world, looking after Pennsylvania University crews from 1916 to 1926. At one time he took eight Argo men, seven of whom had never before sat in a shell, and worked them all winter on rowing machines. They won titles at the Royal Canadian Henley and the United States national championships the following summer.

He bellowed and yelled at rookie oarsmen and his tactics paid off, not only in wining crews but he gained the admiration and admiration of his men. A glance at young Joe's record speaks plenty for the methods used by "The Governor."

Greetings AND BEST WISHES.

To all our friends, old and new . . .

We all join in wishing Christmas Joys to those whom we have served!

May health and happiness await you in 1951!

Chrysler Raises 1951 Car Prices Not Affect 50's

WINDSOR, Dec. 21 (CP). — Price increases on its 1951 passenger cars were announced on Wednesday by the Chrysler Corporation of Canada. The increases range from 4.83 to 6.43 per cent, and do not affect the 1950 models.

E. C. Row, Chrysler general manager, noted very substantial increases in all the company's costs in the last two years, during which the company had not increased prices. The new models, not yet released to dealers, contain a number of improvements which also increase costs, he said.

First 1951 models would be delivered in January, and the new prices would be applied then. They will affect Plymouth, Dodge, De Soto and Chrysler cars, all made by the company.

Health Officer Speaks To Bailieboro Women

BAILIEBORO, Dec. 21 (ENS)—December meeting of the Bailieboro Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Edwin Eagleson on Tuesday afternoon. Guest speaker was Dr. Groutes, acting health doctor for Northumberland and Durham, who gave an address on the duties of the public health unit. Representatives of the Children's Aid Society were present and accepted large boxes of gifts for the shelter, consisting of baby layettes, sweaters, bootees, dresses, etc., donated by the Institute members.

It was decided to send $5 to the Toronto Children's Christmas Fund. It was announced that $52.30 had been realized from the three euchre parties.

Tickets were sold on a Christmas cake made by Mrs. George Fletcher.

The roll call was answered by suggestions for Christmas decorations. Mrs. Gray gave a reading on "Mourning Veil" and Miss Hazel Armstrong had charge of a contest.

Primitive Army Wins In Korea Red Troops Use Hills As Route To Outflank Allies

Viewed from the northen bank of the Yalu River the Chinese invasion of North Korea could not have been the easy manoeuvre that some have suggested, writes a London Times correspondent lately in Korea.

Military science has not been reduced to a simple arithmetical sum. Large armies have been defeated by smaller formations in the past, and, it is to be hoped by the West, will be defeated again. Had the Chinese commanders depended solely upon overwhelming force the turning of the campaign would not have been as drastic as it has proved.

Allied Strength

Advancing upon the Manchurian frontier was an army of seven well equipped United States divisions and two independent combat teams (brigade groups), at least five South Korean divisions, two British Commonwealth brigades, and 5,000 Turkish troops. Not by any comparison was it a contemptible force for the front concerned. It numbered about 200,000 men, excluding the many thousands of South Korean police and organized patriots available for anti-partisan work in rear areas. Its strength in automatic weapons, artillery, tanks, and aircraft should, according to accepted military thinking, have gone far towards providing an adequate balance to the disparity in numbers. Certainly superiority in weapons will have to furnish such a balance in future if the restricted manpower of the west is to equal any threat from Communist countries.

To attack and defeat this formidable host (it should be remembered that allied army commanders in the Second World War rarely had such a force at their disposal) the enemy had little more than his numerous infantry columns. In his speech before the House last Thursday (December 7) Mr. Shinwell said that 200,000 men were launched. Chinese artillery pieces and tanks were as few as their aircraft. In fact, the attacking army belonged largely to an era which was thought to have ended with the introduction of the machinegun.

Effect of Hills

In the Korean campaign, as always, factors other than men, weapons, and machines were involved. From Kanggye to Pusan the hills rise in serried ranks, close enough to confine mechanical traffic to the occasional and indifferent roads, but low enough to permit free movement of sturdy foot-troops across them. Such hill country is traditionally the haunt of guerrilla groups and partisans, who still remain the model of most Communist armies. The narrow Korean valleys which were the lines of advance of the United Nations army, with their bald paddyfields and raised roads, were what soldiers call 'killing grounds." They afford little or no cover, no room for manoeuvre, and the roads can be cut at will. The terrain in Korea, as the United Nations troops had already learned to their cost, is a staunch ally of the men in the hills.

Korean villages are generally useless as strong-points. As picturesque as a willow-pattern plate, they are frail structures of wood and paper, sited for the convenience of their peasant occupants rather than for defensive purposes. Little assistance from North Koreans could be expected by the United Nations forces. The retribution of the South Korean military authorities, and the frequent hangings of alleged Communists ordered by its summary courts, had alienated many people north of the 38th parallel.

Resented Bombings

Aerial bombing has created a large homeless population, sullen and resentful. An inferior and often lacking civil administration had left grave security problems in towns and cities. These must have been tangible military factors for the politically minded Chinese commanders. On the other hand, North Korean Communists were ranging the hills; and the North Korean Army, "destroyed" in the south, was reforming political control of many areas.

With this terrain and in this political climate, the United Nations mechanized columns, helpless off the roads and alien among the local population, were at a grave disadvantage. For the Chinese the hills were a friendly, if a choppy, sea, on which their troops would have the mobility of a fleet, a mobility which would enable them to outflank these road-bound columns. The Chinese have of course, had their administrative difficulties. Hardy as their soldiers are, they need two rice bowls a day, or the equivalent in bread if they are of North China. Normal supply convoys would be denied to them by United Nations aircraft, except at night. Fortunately for them, the harvest in Korea had been gathered in and threshed. Their soldiers could, and probably did, live off the land. The food problem was thus solved by the fields of Korea. Ammunition supply probably ceased to be a problem after the initial clashes.

Exposed Flanks

Exposed flanks and threatened lines of communication, rather than defeat of arms, forced the allied decision to withdraw. During the retreat which followed there was little combat on the Eighth Army front, sometimes no contact between the two armies. In that period the normal amount of ammunition carried by the Chinese infantryman was sufficient for his needs. Lines of coolies, carrying supplies on hay frames, probably guaranteed a first line reserve, as they did for the North Korean army early in the campaign.

Thus with few heavy or automatic weapons and with primitive methods, the Chinese set out to apply the basic principles of a war of movement. As obvious as this strategy must have appeared —the North Koreans had proved its efficacy on countless occasions against the immobilizing mass of mechanization — the order-of-battle of the United Nations Army apparently assisted its adoption. The X Corps, which since its formation had been separate from the Eighth Army, was landed at Wonson, and its advance up the east coast to the Manchurian frontier was made independently of the main western force. Strength was thus divided, except for a weak connecting file of South Koreans in the centre.

Weak Centre

This South Korean sector was where the Chinese command decided to attack. The composition of these divisions was similar to their own. It included few tanks, artillery, and automatic weapons to pit against massed infantry. They were purely infantry formations which could be surprised and overwhelmed by a large infantry mass. Once a gap has been forced in the weaker part of the front, the sturdy Chinese infantry could be, and were, used in the classic role of cavalry to harry the flanks and communications of the unwieldy United Nations forces. The outcome was inevitable. Skilfully deployed Chinese troops, indifferent to casualties, reversed the roles of military arms. In so doing they forced a withdrawal as spectacular as that brought about by the Inchon landings in September.

Whether they can complete the manoeuvre may still be doubted. The bases of the United Nations Army are in Japan, beyond the reach of an infantry army. While the sea-lanes are guarded by allied fleets and air squadrons they are secure. The United Nations X Corps must be regarded as ineffectual for some time to come, but the Eighth Army appears to be intact in spite of casualties and loss of equipment.

Future Prospects

Once it has withdrawn beyond the reach of the Chinese flanking movements, it is possible that a line can be manned along which the superior fire-power of United Nations forces could be employed with good effect. Preferably it will have to be established north of Seoul, which, apart from being the capital city and administrative city of South Korea, includes Kimpo Airfield in its suburbs.

One fact emerges at this stage of the campaign. The infantry soldier—whether Chinese, British or American—remains dominant on the battlefield when intelligently used and shorn of the clutter of unnecessary equipment or excessive mechanization. This above all must have been realized by the Chinese commanders before they committed their divisions in North Korea.

Federation Calls '51 Question Year

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Buusiness Editor.

The Canadian Retail Federation calls 1951 the question-mark year.

And while the Federation's questions concern the problems of 150,000 retailers in getting goods and selling them to the public, they are not unlike the questions all people are asking as they approach a year whose developments are more than ordinarily difficult to forecast.

Says the Federation in a call to members for its annual conference:

What to do? How to do it? What about promotions? What about credit? What about personnel? What about merchandising? What about expense control? What about merchandise traffic?

The conference will attempt to give some answers, at least by revealing what some retailers are doing to:

Employ and retain a capable, loyal staff; attract customers by promotional means; build sales through intelligent extension; control mounting expenses; efficiently direct merchandise traffic in and out; benefit from the experience of 1950; face the future with confidence.

Auto Facts

The 1950 issue of "Facts and Figures of the Automobile Industry," issued by the Canadian Automobile Chamber of Commerce, is out. It includes the following statistics for 1949:

The industry employed more people than in any previous year and paid $76,500,000 in salaries and wages.

Canadians bought 202,000 cars and 84,000 trucks and buses at a total retail value of $588,000,000.

A record registration of 2,291,000 vehicles was reached, an average of one motor vehicle for every six persons, or a passenger car for every eight.

More than 1,363,000,000 gallons of gasoline were consumed.

There were more motor vehicles of every type operating on Canadian highways than ever before, and probably 1950 figures, when they are available, will create further records.

Jean Simmons Weds Stewart Granger

HOLLYWOOD Dec. 21 (AP) — British movie stars Jean Simmons 21, and Stewart Granger 37, were married Wednesday night in Tucson, Ariz., his studio announced.

The studio spokesman said the ceremony was performed in a private home of a Methodist minister.

It was Miss Simmons' first marriage. Granger formerly was married to British actress Elspeth March.

Mother, 4 Children Killed In Collision

GRANDVILLE, Mich., Dec. 21 (AP).—A 31-year-old mother and four of her five children, out on a Christmas shopping expedition, were killed Wednesday in a train-automobile collision.

The fifth child, a nine-year-old boy, survived the crash but was injured critically.

The dead were identified as Mrs. Kathlyn Smith, of nearby Jenison, three sons, Boyd, 12, Larry, 10 and Donald 4, and a daughter, Sandra, 7.

The family's car was struck by a Chesapeake & Ohio train and dragged a quarter of a mile under a viaduct.

Made Last Picture

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 21 — (AP). — Shirley Temple said on Wednesday she has made her last motion picture, she has definitely retired from films, and "I have signed a new contract—with Charles—the only contract I have." Her husband, Charles Black, nodded. She and the Los Angeles television station executive were married last Saturday.

Britons Enjoy Yule Pantomines

LONDON, Dec. 21 (Reuters)—Putting aside gloomy thoughts of international tension and returning "austerity" at home, Britons are once more prepared to celebrate Christmas with traditional entertainments.

First on the list are, as ever, the pantomimes. This purely-English form of spectacle is a strange mixture of fairy tale and music hall, ostensibly put on for children but largely enjoyed by grown-ups.

The pantomimes are making their seasonal appearance in a large number of London's theatres. Robin Hood strides the stage of the London Palladium. At the Prince's Theatre, Bartram Montague presents his 83rd pantomime, "Mother Goose," with a company of 65. "Goody Two Shoes" is at the London Casino. High spot of the show is a scene in which thousands of gallons of water cascade on the stage to depict the "Waterfalls of Scotland."

Most spectacular of the Christmas shows is "Dick Whittington on Ice" presented by Sir Arthur Elvin and Tom Arnold at the Empire Pool, Wembley, with a cast of more than 200 skaters.

About £50,000 has been spent on settings for this lavish version of the adventures of London's legendary Lord Mayor and his famous cat. The ice floor, colored sea-blue, has been specially extended.

Train Kills Driver

JORDAN STATION, Ont., Dec. 21 — (CP). —George Welnycher 63, of Beamsville, was killed on Wednesday night when his automobile was struck by a Toronto-bound Canadian National Railways passenger train at a level crossing a mile east of here. Jordan Station is 10 miles west of St. Catharines. The car was pushed along the tracks for a half-mile. A crowbar had to be used to pry the wreckage apart before Welnycher's body could be removed.

Plan To Buy Sudbury Paper

SUDBURY, Dec. 21 (CP)—J. R. Meakes, publisher and general manager of the Sudbury Daily Star, announced Wednesday that he has started negotiations to purchase the newspaper and radio station CKSO on behalf of himself and a group of Sudbury business and professional men.

If the offer to purchase is accepted by the executors of the W. E. Mason Foundation—which operates the newspaper and radio station—it will be necessary for them to apply to the courts for confirmation and ratification of the sale. This application is required under the Trustees Act and Charitable Gifts Act of Ontario.

Amount of the offer was not disclosed.

Associated with Mr. Meakes in the proposed sale, which also includes real estate property here, are Judge J. M. Cooper, W. B. Plaunt, Sr., and G. M. Miller, K.C., all of Sudbury.

Young Girl Shot Cleaning Church

SANBORN, Minn., Dec. 21 —(AP)—A 16-year-old girl, helping her mother clean church for Christmas, was shot and severely wounded Wednesday by an elderly junk dealer who then killed himself in the church. The girl's infant brother was also wounded.

Carol Boklep of Sanborn suffered a bullet wound in the lower abdomen. She also sustained a serious eye injury from floor splinters splattered by bullets.

Jerry Boklop, 2, suffered a leg wound.

The shots were fired by Louis C. Miller, in his 70s. The girl said Miller, a former inmate of the State Hospital for Inebriates, had been "bothering young girls." Miller apparently had been drinking, police said.

Should Forget Carols Prepare For Defence

TORONTO, Dec. 21 —(CP) — Maj.-Gen. Cchurchill Mann, national chairman of Red Cross disaster services, said Wednesday "there is too much singing of Christmas carols altogether for the seriousness of our world."

"We look forward to Christmas, but the enemy doesn't," he told the Toronto Board of Control in a lecture on civil defence. "We stop our planning to celebrate but the enemy doesn't and therefore is much farther ahead."

He criticized Toronto's civil defence activities and said coordinator Harold Bradley has "displayed a lack of zeal." Those in charge of planning "should devote all their energies to the task of a wartime pitch."

1950 Big Year For British Trade Exports Mount By Fair Percentage

LONDON, Dec. 21—(CP)—Rising prices dominated the British economic scene in 1950 and prevented the country from taking full advantage of the improvement in external payments following sterling devaluation.

Wholesale prices rose slowly during the first half of the year, but spreading from foreign commodity markets the advance gathered strength after the invasion of South Korea. By late autumn the wholesale price index was 15 per cent above the end of 1949.

Cost of living rose less steeply. By the middle of the year sterling devaluation had still failed to make any significant impression on retail prices, but later the index advanced appreciably. The inflationary pressure, held at bay by consumption, price controls, surplus budgeting and credit restrictions, made itself increasingly felt towards the end of the year.

Full Employment

Full and steady employment remained the mainstay of British government economic policy throughout 1950. It was rewarded by about 10 per cent increase in production.

In the first 10 months of 1950 exports were 21 per cent and imports 13 per cent higher than in the corresponding period of 1949. The result was that the adverse balance of foreign trade fell by approximately 70,000,000 pounds ($210,000,000) or 19 per cent, although the terms of trade moved against Britain.

Making allowance for shipping charges, the country was running a favorable import-export equivalent to an annual rate of about £150,000,000 before the end of 1950.

Even greater was the improvement on invisible account. The gold and dollar reserve climbed steadily from the low of $1,340,000,000 in September, 1949, when sterling was devalued, to $2,756,000,000 at the end of September, 1950. It marked the first time since before the war that Britain had regained equilibrium in external payments.

United Kingdom payments on current account alone during the first half of 1950 showed a deficit of $108,000,000, compared with $1,088,000,000 for the whole of 1949.

Minor Concessions

As a result, the Treasury was able to make some minor concessions governing removal of funds to foreign countries, while the Board of Trade became more amiable in commercial negotiations. Dollar releases were still made hesitantly. But by September, it was possible to cancel the 25 per cent cut in British Commonwealth dollar imports, imposed in July, 1949.

In November the government placed its economic wartime powers on a permanent basis. Previously the power had been extended one yar at a time. It also put a stop to further price decontrols and gave a warning that controls would be reimposed if shortages developed. Among commodities returned to the rationed list were newsprint and zinc.

Financial markets were helped by the success of devaluation, growing confidence in the government's credit, rising commodity prices, industrial profits, inflow of foreign capital and fears of further inflation.

Preference Shares

Owing to continued shortage of "risk capital," private industry's need for additional finance was met chiefly by issue of preference shares, debentures and fixed-interest notes. This was done partly without the inter-medium of the stock exchange. But there was at least one big successful placing of ordinary shares before the end of the year.

By late November fixed-interest government securities had risen by approximately three per cent and industrial equities by 12 per cent. Big advances occurred in commodity shares, but gold-mining shares fell by 17 per cent as speculative interest turned to base metals, rubber and defence industries.

Since short-term borrowing by the Treasury declined, the clearing banks decided their advances to private industry and commerce. Banking turnover fully reflected the increased business activity and higher prices.

Something to remember

This is one of a series of words and expressions whose origins and meanings are published in the interest of a better understanding, use and knowledge of the English language.

"TANTALIZE"

Greek mythology tells of King Tantalus who, because he offended the gods, was punished in a remarkable way. He was placed in the midst of a lake whose waters reached his chin, but receded whenever he attempted to allay his thirst. Over his head hung branches laden with choice fruit, which drew away whenever he stretched out his hand in an attempt to satisfy his hunger. Thus, Tantalus became the symbol of teasing and torment, and his name is the origin of our word tantalize.

Bucket Brigade Of 75 Men Save Farm Home

TRENT RIVER, Dec. 21—(ENS)—A fire broke out in the farm home of John H. Scott, on Highway 38, a quarter of a mile north of Trent River this morning about 11 o'clock.

It was quelled by a bucket brigade of about 75 men from Trent River and the Havelock fire department headed by Chief Ernest Sanderson.

The fire was confined to an outside wall and a partition wall between two living rooms in the house. It was not known whether the fire started by faulty wiring or heat from the chimney, which is on the outside wall.

Discovered By Mrs. Scott

The fire was first discovered by Mrs. Scott, who had gone upstairs to attend her husband who was in bed with a critical heart condition. She saw smoke coming in the bedroom windows.

She immediately sounded the alarm, but her son-in-law, Eric Little and his wife, who also live in the house with their three children was unable to find the source of the smoke for some time.

Mrs. Little, who is the Examiner correspondent for the district, phoned the alarm to the neighborhood and a bucket brigade was quickly formed.

A clean-out box at the base of the chimney in the basement was opened and burning ashes were discovered there, but it was still not certain that this was the source of the fire.

Sections of the partition in the living rooms were torn out and water from the nearby well and cistern poured in.

After being called, the Havelock fire department responded quickly and was only 15 minutes getting to the fire, a distance of two and a quarter miles.

Chemicals Used

The fire department used chemicals and soon had the fire out. Melville Lane, a merchant in Trent River, had also rushed to the fire with his chemical extinguisher to help.

It was Melville White who first saw that the fire was in the partition. He went to pull out an electric plug on the wall and found it red hot.

The family doctor, Dr. D. J. Holdcroft, of Havelock, was called and he administered sedatives to Mr. Scott.

Damage was caused mostly by smoke which filled the house from attic to basement, and water. All the Christmas gifts the families had been preparing were in the house, but they were not believed damaged.

Mrs. Scott and Mrs. Little had been doing the Christmas baking. Mr. Little, who normally works in Belleville, was home for the day.

Two of the children, Scott, 11, and Robin, 9, were in school. Peter, 2, was at home.

ANNUAL GYM PARTY AT THE YWCA was staged on Wednesday afternoon complete with a large floor show by children's ballet troups, a tall Christmas tree and Santa on hand with gifts for all. Santa Visits Child In Bed Since Spring

Little Brenda Smythe, age 2, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. B. R. Smythe of 304 Aberdeen Ave., got a thrilling preview of Christmas when Santa Claus visited at her home on Wednesday evening. Brenda, who has been in bed since spring, was a bit taken back at first but after a 20-minute visit from the jolly Old Gentleman, gave him a list of things she wanted—toys, doll and blackboard. She was particularly impressed by his merry "Ho-ho," which, she told him, she had been listening to for weeks on the radio.

This important visit was part of a program staged on Wednesday evening by the Brookdale Home Owners' Association, their first community party since their incorporation one and one-half years ago.

More than 150 parents and children gathered at the YMCA for the Christmas party. Under master of ceremonies Ab Galoska the program went along at a lively pace. First there were three movies followed by games, supper and a visit from Santa with a sack of gifts for the children. It was during a supper interval that Santa paid a flying visit to Brenda Smythe who was unable to attend the festivities.

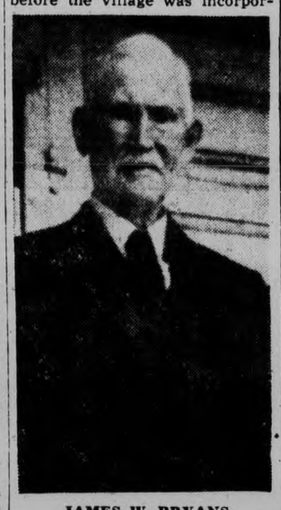

Party chairman was Mrs. Chas. Forsyth. She was assisted by Mrs D. F. Lamb, Mrs. Ernest Burnham, Mrs. Gordon Duncan and John Hunter.

First Clerk of Havelock James Bryans Dies At 91

One of Havelock's oldest citizens, James W. Bryans, 91, of Havelock died at his home Wednesday. He was born in Perrytown, near Port Hope, the son of the late Jonathan Bryans and Elinor Howden. His father was a foreman in the building of the Midland Railway from Port Hope to Lindsay, and it was at this time that he and his family moved to Bethany where Mr. Bryans was educated.

In 1887, he came to Havelock as superintendent of the Swift and company ice house. He held that position for 18 years. For the next 20 years he was a general merchant in the village.

Mr. Bryans settled in Havelock before the village was incorporated. He has held many prominent positions in the village, being the first village clerk and treasurer for 18 years, reeve for two years and a member of the Board of Education for six years.

JAMES W. BRYANS

Town Hall Built

During his term as reeve in 1900, he had the town hall built at a cost of $4,000. He was also warden of St. John's Anglican Church for several years.

Mr. Bryans' wife died in 1941 and his only son, William, president of Wrigley's Publications, Toronto, died in 1945. His only sister, Mrs. Robert Ford, Omemee, died in 1946.

He leaves three daughters, Mrs. H. W. Roche (Eva) of Havelock, Mrs. R. F. Covert (Anna) of Leaside and Mrs. T. W. Quinn (Bertha) of Peterborough; ten grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

The funeral will be held at his late residence in Havelock, Saturday at 2 p.m. Burial will be in Maple Grove Cemetery.

Turned 1st Sod For Liftlock

The man who turned the first spadeful of earth in the construction of the Liftlock is dead. Anthony Fabian—one of Peterborough's oldest residents and a man who helped build the Trent canal system as well as lay railway track in this district—died Wednesday in St. Joseph's hospital after a short illness. He was in his 91st year.

His home has been with his only remaining relative, James Crebar on Armour Rd.

Mr. Fabian was born and educated in Italy and came to Canada as a youth. He lived for some time in Toronto and then moved to Peterborough, his home for the last 65 years.

He came to this city as a laborer, working on the construction of the CPR station. Later he was employed with a CNR work gang laying track throughout the district.

Not only was he the first workman to turn the first sod on the construction of the Liftlock but also he worked on every lock on the Trent system up to Kirkfield.

At one time, while doing a day's labor on the canal, he would walk to Lakefield in the morning and, after doing his day's work, walk back to Peterborough at night.

After that he was employed at CGE but retired 20 years ago.

His wife, the former Mary Frances Alila, died a number of years ago; and his only remaining relative is his stepson, Mr Crebar.

Mr. Fabian was a member of Immaculate Conception Church, and a member of the Holy Name Society.

The funeral will be from the Anglesey funeral home to Immaculate Conception Church for requiem mass at 9 a.m. Saturday. Burial will be in St. Peter's cemetery.

Admit Liability Judge Assesses Costs

In two assessment of damages in county court Wednesday Judge S. L. Smoke awarded the Bell Telephone Co. $241.75 and costs, and Harold Elmhirst, RR 1, Keene, $325 and costs.

The award to Elmhirst was for the damage to his car on September 28, 1949, when struck by the car of Stewart Comego, formerly of Alderville and now a resident of Cobourg.

His wife, Mrs. Marion Elmhirst, said she was driving the car along Highway 7, just west of Hastings, when she saw Comego's car approach. She drove well over onto the right shoulder of the road to avoid an accident but a collision resulted just the same.

Elmhirst sold his $450 car to a dealer for $125. The difference of $325 Judge Smoke awarded in damages.

The $241.75 to Bell Telephone was for the replacement of a telephone pole, a distributing terminal, materials and labor required for repairing the service after Bernard Arthur, Omemee, smashed his car into a telephone pole September 20, 1948, at Reid and Stewart Sts.

Both Comego and Arthur admitted liability, and Arthur was not present at court.

Walter Howell was solicitor for the two plaintiffs.

1,000 Children Attend Party

More than 1,000 children and parents visited the Market Hall Wednesday afternoon to see Santa Claus. Steady streams of children were admitted from 3.15 p.m. when the building opened, until 5 p.m., closing time.

In addition to Santa Claus, eight other people were in attendance to direct traffic and for safety precautions in the hall. These included two girls, dressed in a jester's costume and a clown costume who helped the children up on the platform to see Santa. Two firemen and one policeman were also in the hall.

The hall was decorated on the Christman theme and a P.A. system played Christmas music. All the children were given popcorn and a horn.

Due to uncontrollable delays in shipping outfits which were ordered from Toronto didn't arrive in time for Wednesday's public appearance of Santa Claus. As a result, a makeshift costume had to be used. One of the outfits arrived in time for today's appearance.

Through the courtesy of the Kiwanis Club, the children at the shelter had a private party with Santa Claus at 2.30 p.m. today.

These appearances of Santa Clause which took place Wednesday and today and will also be held Friday afternoon were made possible by the Peterborough Businessmen's Association and the Chamber of Commerce.

Rural Opinion Favors Pensions At 65

Canadian rural opinion leans toward pensions at 65 without a means test, as indicated by the verdict of opinion of 1,127 groups of farmers replying to the Farm Forum discussion of Dec. 4.

These Forum groups met in all the provinces except Newfoundland. Their reaction and attitude was tabulated as follows:

Seventy-four per cent were in favor of pensions without the means test.

Seventy-four per cent were in favor of pensions at 65, and 10 per cent at the age of 70.

In regard to amount of pensions opinion was not so definite:

$50 a month, 47 per cent of the Forums.

$40 a month—10 per cent; sliding scale, varying with the cost of living, 32 per cent; other suggestions 11 per cent.

Another question submitted to this representative rural audience of some 17,000 persons, was: "If an international crisis develops that leads to greatly increased taxes for defence purposes, should the government proceed with its pension program?

In reply, 59 per cent said yes, the government should go ahead; 26 per cent said no; and 15 per cent were uncertain or did not answer.

Lost Christmas Spirit

Theft of $19 and a bottle of liquor was reported to city police today by Harry Watson, RR 3, Peterborough.

He said he had come into Peterborough Wednesday, but missed a ride home and spent the night at a King St. boarding house where he often stayed when in the city. When he went into his room another man was sleeping there.

He woke this morning to find his clothes had been rifled and his money and a Christmas bottle of liquor gone. So was his unknown sleeper.

Winter Begins On Shortest Day

Winter began today at 5.14 a.m., the precise moment, according to meteorologists, at which the sun reached the tropic of Capricorn and its southernmost point in the sky.

December 21 is the shortest day in the year across the northern hemisphere. The sun has been floating southward from the equator since September 21, arriving today at the end of its beat, pausing awhile to scan the summer scene in the Argentine and Australia before turning its luminous face toward the north again.

According to the calendar, the sun rose here this morning at 7.49 and sets this afternoon at 4.44 for eight hours of solar light in Peterborough.

Late November and the first weeks of December have been only a prelude of winter. As the days grow longer, the cold grows stronger, in the weather lore of this part of the country. January and February have sub-zero days in their storehouse, with swirling snow and a broad variety of chill accompaniment to ski flights and bob-sleigh rides and all the rest of the winter way of life that makes Canadians.

Four Students Pass Accountancy Exams

Four Peterborough residents are listed among successful candidates in the annual examinations of the Institute of Chartered Accountants.

Robert G. Aman, 569 Gilmour St. on the staff of Edward Humpage, Chartered Accountants, is now a qualified C.A. after passing his final examinations. Complete results were announced Wednesday.

Elwood A. McDonald, 791 Snelgrove Rd., also with Humpage accountants, and Blake Walker, 789 Water St., a student with McColl and Turner, both passed their intermediate examinations

Jack Naish, 638 Chester St., a student with McColl and Turner, passed his primary examinations.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

SPORTING NEON SIGN

Work was completed Wednesday on raising a new neon sign at the YMCA. This sign is a reproduction of the YMCA crest. Believed to be the first sign that the building has ever had, the sign was donated by the Senior Leaders' Corps. Electrical work has yet to be completed.

RECEIVE FIRST AID AWARDS

Awards for completing first aid examinations by the Bell Telephone company have been received by E. G. Baker of Peterborough, H. G. Dodd and C. C. Clarke of Madoc. Mr. Baker has completed 14 examinations, Mr. Dodd 10 and Mr. Clarke 14. The awards are given to employees who have completed at least 10 examinations in first aid.

GORDON HOUSE SOLD

The former G. N. Gordon house, Hunter St. west, is being purchased by Mr. D. Goematt, who arrived only five weeks ago from the Netherlands. The report was confirmed today by C. Newton Downer of Lillico real estate, who is putting through the transfer.

WINS SECOND

Second prize in the provincial forestry competition which attracted 203 schools of Ontario, was awarded to S.S. No. 12, Haldimand, whose pupils were the winners of Forestry District No. 4. Their entry has been in the prize money five years out of six, and took first on three occasions. First prize went to North Walsingham school in Norfolk county.

RINKS OPEN TONIGHT

All five rinks operated by the Parks Department will be open tonight, Armar Butcher, superintendent, announced today. Hockey may be played on the rinks from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. and every night as well as Saturday mornings during the Christmas holidays. They will open for skating every day from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and 7 p.m. to 9.30 p.m.

Trains Operate Out Of City In Two Sections

To cope with the record crowd of travellers over the Christmas week-end both the CPR and CNR are putting on extra coaches. These coaches will be added to the trains, up to the capacity of the locomotive to draw them.

There are no changes in schedule. But on Saturday the CPR Montreal train will run in two sections, both ways.

The first section of the Montreal-to-Toronto will be made up in Havelock and will leave Peterborough at 5.10 p.m. This means the first section of the train should be just about empty when it pulls into the station here.

The second section, coming straight through from Montreal, should arrive at 5.30 p.m.

Also In Sections

Similarly in the morning, the first section on the Toronto-to-Montreal will arrive at 11.40 a.m. and will only go as far as Havelock. The second section will arrive 20 minutes later, but will make the through trip.

CPR officials point out that it will probably be difficult to get parlor car and sleeping accommodation over the Christmas week-end, but there will be plenty of coaches. The limiting factor is the ability of the locomotive to pull them.

CNR officials, also anticipating record travel, promise lots of extra coaches. But on the Peterborough run there will be no extra trains or changes in schedule.

Extra trains are expected on the CNR lakeshore runs, however.

Six Recruits Pass Preliminary Exam

Results were reported good during the two-day recruiting drive at the armouries by a Canadian Army mobile recruiting unit. Six men, D. M. Johnston, F. N. MacDonald, D. W. Steenberg, V. A. Steenberg, C. A. Cannon, and S. L. Clancey, passed the preliminary requirements and have been sent to Kingston for further tests.

Others applied for the army but either failed the M-test, conducted by Capt. J. P. MacDowell, Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, and Eastern Ontario recruiting officer, or failed to meet the necessary requirements. The unit was recruiting for single men, between the ages of 17 and 29 years and married men with a trade for the Canadian Army active force.

VON Will Ask For Less Money

The Victorian Order of Nurses hopes to end the year with a surplus of $1,000. If so, they will likely lop that amount from their annual requests for financial help from the City Council and the Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund.

That was the announcement made Wednesday afternoon by Wilson M. Gemmell, treasurer, at the December meeting of the board.

Only VON, and possibly one other social agency, are expected to ask for a cut in their appropriation in 1951. At present VON is receiving $5,550 from the city and $5,400 from the fund.

Both these bodies will likely be asked for about $500 less.

Mr. Gemmell said there were two reasons for the surplus: one, increased revenue, largely due to fewer non-paying visits for educational purposes; and two, a general economy throughout the local branch that has been rigidly enforced by the nursing staff.

Garbage Collection

Owing to Monday, December 25th (Christmas Day) being a Statutory Holiday, there will be no collection of garbage and ashes throughout the City of Peterborough.

The following regulations will prevail:

If Monday is your regular garbage collection day, your collection will be effected on Tuesday.

If you regular garbage collection day is Tuesday, your collection will be effected on Wednesday.

Collections on subsequent days will be as heretofore.

Garbage and ashes must be out for collectors before 7 a.m. on collection days.

Manitoba Town Doubles Population Now

GIMLI, Man., Dec. 21 (CP). — This town 60 miles north of Winnipeg is going to double its population in one stroke.

The RCAF's No. 2 Flying School opens January 8 with some 200 students from Canadian and United Kingdom high schools and universities entering, to emerge 40 weeks later as flying officers.

Establishment of the Gimli Station as Canada's second flying training school followed decision of countries of the North Atlantic Pact to train their fliers in Canada.

The RCAF staff of 300 and their families, numbering about 1,000 in all and with a payroll of about $750,000 yearly, will help boom local businesses.

"But Town Council is faced with the problem of little or no living accommodation or additional rooms in the town's new school.

"But," said Mayor Barney Egilson, "we'll arrange somehow to take all these people into Gimli. Just imagine doubling the town's population in a single stroke."

Winterization Plan

The Gimli Chamber of Commerce has already asked town and district summer-cottage owners to consider a winterization program, the mayor said.

"Many cottages are already winterized, but there remains the probability of the owners wanting them back during the summer months."

Gimli is situated on Lake Winnipeg and is used as a summer resort by many Winnipeggers.

Wing Cmdr. Harry Bishop, present officer commanding the station, also has urged cottage owners to equip the cottages for winter and rent them to married personnel. He believes some suitable private arrangements can be made for the summer months.

When No. 1 Flying School was established at Centralia, Ontario, married personnel and their families "overflowed" into towns within a radius of more than 30 miles.

Hugh Beddome, Gimli's town clerk and treasurer, said the public school accommodation problem probably can be solved more easily than the housing situation.

Gilbert Downer Heads Red Patch Club

The annual election of officers of the Red Patch Club resulted as follows: President, Gilbert Downer; vice - president, Leo Herr; treasurer, George Foster; secretary, A. Wilson; executive, Si Green, Mike Gahagan, Mel Morrow, Vincent Stewart and Jack Eano; sergeant at Arms, Jim McCormick.

At Full Strength

FORT LEWIS, Wash., Dec. 21 (CP).—The Third Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, is at full strength. From the reinforcement stream at Currie Barracks, Calgary, 432 soldiers arrived in the darkness of early Wednesday morning to complete the battalion's strength. It now will be able to start on formation training as part of Canada's special brigade stationed here.

Farmer Killed

SMITHS FALLS, Dec. 21 (CP) —Sherwood Lumsden, 38-year-old farmer, died in hospital on Wednesday shortly after he was struck by a piece of wood while using a power saw on his farm at Kilmarnock, six miles from here. He was found lying beside the saw by his wife who is the mother of seven children.

Norwood LOL Elects Officers For 1951

NORWOOD, Dec. 21 (ENS)—The regular meeting of LOL No. 34 was held with Brother Jack Kidd presiding for election of officers for the ensuing year.

The following were elected: Worthy master, Robin Mainland; deputy master, Ernest Patterson; chaplain, Raymond Rodgers; recording secretary and financial secretary, Arnold Baptie; treasurer, Mervin Baptie; marshall, Walter Rodgers; first lecturer, Arthur Hannon; second Lecturer, Gordon Parker; first committee, Jack Hyslop, Harold Mainland, Norman Duckworth, Howard Gardner and Langdon Gardner; auditors, W. J. Small and Howard Gardner. Brother Sanderson of Havelock installed the new officers.

A vote of thanks was moved to the visiting brothers by Gordon Parker and seconded by Walter Rodgers. Lodge was closed with a lunch served by some of the Norwood members.

Christmas Meeting Held By Norwood WA

NORWOOD, Dec. 21 (ENS)—The Women's Association of the United Church held their Christmas meeting in the school room of the church. The president, Mrs. Armar Weir, opened with a poem "Thy will be done; It must be done by me." She them led in prayer.

After the business part of the meeting, Mrs. Lyle McMillan and her group took charge of the program with music played by Miss Pauline Weir. Mrs. H. Scott gave a reading "Sweetest Christmas Song." Miss Lila Kirk sang a solo "Silent Night," followed by prayer by Mrs. John Gardner. Mrs. Alex Davis gave the Bible reading.

Mrs. H. Easton gave a Christmas reading "The innkeeper makes excuses." Mrs. Lyle McMillan also gave a reading "Unto those who give."

Patsy and Beverley McNabb favored with a duet "Away in a Manger." Mrs. Maitland Kirk gave a reading "Christmas vision."

The meeting closed with the serving of candy.

Second Tragedy

TORONTO, Dec. 21 (CP). — Tragedy struck the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Chandler for the second time in 13 months Wednesday when their two-month-old son, Gregory, was found dead in his crib. Firemen said the baby apparently smothered in his bedclothes. The Chandlers lost a three-week-old boy in the same manner in November, 1949.

Killed By Car

HUMBERSTONE, Dec. 21 — (CP). — Edward Guitard, 9, was killed Wednesday when struck by an automobile as he and a companion hauled a sleigh along a village road. His companion, Billy Lane, 8, suffered bruises and shock. Guitard, twin son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Guitard, died under the left front wheel of a car police said was driven by Mrs. Earl Terreberry of nearby Port Colborne.

MRS. CLAIRE COHEN, 28-year-old Philadelphian, was killed by a sniper while washing dishes. Her murder was the seventh attack by the mysterious sniper in a month, and Philadelphia police started a large-scale manhunt to track down the rifleman.

US Coal Industry Began Year In Strife, But Ends In Peace

PITTSBURGH —(AP)— The vitally-important United States coal industry began 1950 in strife and ended it in peace. But new labor controversies may threaten in coming months.

The year opened with the 400,000 members of the United Mine Workers on a three-day work week. That procedure—ordered by UMW president John L. Lewis—developed into a full scale, country-wide work stoppage among bituminous miners during the first week of February.

The great coal strike of 1950—widely described as the country's most expensive—got its start in scattered refusals of diggers to work any number of days a week. Idleness spread slowly through the coal fields.

After the walkout assumed proportions of a regular strike, more than 500,000 men in coal-using industries were laid off. The total of idle miners and other workers rose to near the 1,000,000-mark. Coal-carrying railroads and steel plants were heaviest hit.

Orders Men Back

March 5, the UMW chieftain ordered all his men back to work after he won wage increases and other benefits in a new contract. The pact gave miners a new daily wage of $14.75—up 70 cents. They originally had demanded $15 a day.

The UMW also won operators' agreement to a 30-cent-a-ton royalty on each ton of coal produced. That money is paid into the UMW welfare fund. The new figure represented a 10-cent-a-ton advance.

The agreement provides that wage provisions of the new contract may be opened next April.

The coal strike hit consumers a hefty whack in the pocket book before the contract was two weeks old. The industry increased prices of most grades of coal an average 25 cents a ton.

Lewis has given no indication of his intentions about seeking another wage increase. But he is expected to re-open the contract next spring. He may ask for voluntary wage increases by operators at any time.

Lewis will have to deal only with two men to cover a whopping big part of the industry.

They are Joseph E. Moody, head of the Southern Coal Operators; and president Harry M. Moses of the recenty-organized Bituminous Coal Operators Association. Moses' group represents a big bloc of northern operators. It includes many steel companies which own extensive coal mining properties.

The association represents about one-third the nation's tonnage—or 155,000,000 tons. It was organized in an attempt to confront Lewis with a unified industry.

Coal men are wary of estimating total 1950 soft-coal production until all figures are in, citing the ease with which weather and other factors upset predictions.

But they agree that this year's output will surpass that of 1949, when about 430,000,000 tons of soft coal were mined.

Just Too Late

TORONTO, Dec. 21 (CP). — A gunman arrived at the Nu-Grape Company offices on downtown Queen Street a few minutes too late Thursday. Company manager John Starkman said he had just returned to the office after depositing "several hundred dollars" in the bank when the gunman entered his office and forced him to turn over all the money in his possession—$5. A few minutes after the robbery, John McNally, 45, was arrested and charged with robbery. Police said he was not armed.

Best U.S. Movie

NEW YORK, Dec. 21 (AP). — Gloria Swanson's come-back film "Sunset Boulevard," Wednesday was rated by the National Board of Review as the best American movie of 1950. Miss Swanson was the board's choice as top actress of the year. Alec Guiness, star of "King Hearts and Coronets," was termed the best actor.

Film Actors Well Educated In Modern Age

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 21 (AP)—Movietown folklore has long kept alive the notion that actors are grammar school escapees who can scarcely write their own names and don't know T. S. Eliot from Yogi Berra.

Richard Carlson says there may have been semi-illiterate actors years ago, but they are outmoded today.

"The current crop of movie actors is a pretty hep bunch," said Carlson. "A good number of them have gone to college and are well-informed generally. Guys like John Lund, Bill Lundigan, William Holden, Macdonald Carey and Ronald Reagan to name a few."

Also, the acting fraternity boasts three Phi Beta Kappas—Franchot Tone, John Howard and Richard Carlson.

Capable But Unspectacular

Carlson is one of those capable but unspectacular actors who are not always rewarded by Hollywood.

After he had played a year of "Mister Roberts" in Chicago he was faced with a dilemma. He could have a meaty role in the movie version of an artistic play. Or he could have a mediocre part in an epic for which he would have to spend a half year or more in Africa.

Carlson chose the epic. "I figured it is better to have even a mediocre role in a hit than a good role in a picture that would not make any money," he explained.

A Writer Too

Well, the African epic is a hit and producers now are after his services.

But the big news of the Carlson career is his writing. When he returned from the Congo, he penned his experiences without the aid of a ghost writer and sold them for a serial in Collier's. The articles were reprinted in Reader's Digest, and a publisher even sought book rights.

Capsule Review

"Halls of Montezuma" is a fine tribute to the US Marine Corps. Like many other war films, it is the story of a small fighting unit in action. But unlike most of the others, the characters are sharply defined and well acted. The only drawbacks are an occasional overflow of sentiment and took great length. Richard Widmark gets far away from his snickering killer roles and gives a sincere view of the school teacher-marine. The rest of the cast is excellent. Especially Walter (Jack Parlance), one of the finds of the year.

Widows' Homes

VANCOUVER (CP). — Construction of a number of four-roomed houses for widowed mothers with two or more children has been started by the Vancouver Kiwanis Club. Rent is limited to $25 a month and when total rentals equal the value of the house, about $4,000, it will be rent-free.

Busy Navigation Season Ends On Great Lakes This Week

By The Canadian Press

One of the busiest navigation sessions in recent years ended this week on the Great Lakes.

Marine men said they still were totting up over-all tonnage figures. But a Canadian Press survey today showed that the 1950 movement of grain and iron ore compared well with the big big years of 1942, 1947 and 1948.

As the lean lake freighters eased into winter berths, leaving only a few oil tankers on the lower lakes still plying the great inland waterway, the Lake Superior Iron Ore Association in Cleveland reported that the vessels moved 78,205,681 gross tons of iron ore this year, or 8,649,412 tons more than in 1949. The record peacetime year was 1948, when ore tonnage was 82,927,192.

Tonnage this year through the Sault Ste. Marie canals linking Lakes Superior and Huron was estimated at 105,022,467. That was surpassed only by the 1942 season, with the record of more than 120,000,000 tons, and by 1947 when total tonnage was roughly 111,000,000.

A late start—most ports saw the first ships of the season about April 20—curtailed this year's activities. But reasonably good weather at the end of the season helped the lake sailors. There were no marine disasters this year along the lakes.

Less grain than usual went into winter storage at Sarnia, Port Colborne, Owen Sound, and other ports. Shipping men attributed the decrease partly to a small wheat crop on the Prairies and partly to an unusually large amount of storage grain being handled at Buffalo, NY.

Toronto harbor officials said they expect about 40 ships to be in winter berth here when the last vessel ties up. Port Colborne's winter fleet numbers 20, Port Weller's 17, Hamilton's 11, while Owen Sound will have eight large craft, Sarnia three, and Sault Ste. Marie one.

The Sault Ste. Marie Canals, both Canadian and American, have closed for the year. The Welland Canal between Lakes Erie and Ontario was officially closed Monday night, but arrangements were made to let straggling oil tankers through the locks during daylight.

Steel Production In United States Hits New Peak

By WILLIAM G. SMOCK

PITTSBURGH —(AP)— Steel production in the United States in 1950 soared to an all-time record of about 97,000,000 tons of ingots and castings breaking the previous top set in the war years of 1944 by 10,000,000 tons.

The 1950 figure is an estimate by the American Iron and Steel Institute. It compares with 89,642,000 tons in 1944 and 77,978,000 tons in 1949.

American steel mills established the record by expanding capacity while working full blast a big part of the year. Steel producers look forward to more expansion and even greater production in the coming year.

The past year began with a struggle to catch up with the order backlog inherited from the great steel strike of 1949. Producers still are trying to catch up with orders.

Hampered by Lewis

Steel production was hampered in January by the three-day work week imposed on the country's 400,000 soft-coal miners by John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers president.

Early in February, the miners' action amounted to a full-scale strike and steel production remained crippled until Lewis ordered his men back March 5.

The steel mills were behind when defence orders—resulting from the Korean war—began to mount. Steel shortages grew worse.

The industry escaped a strike in 1950. None was permitted under industry-wide contracts with the United Steel Workers (CIO) but a walkout could have been staged Jan. 1, 1951.

Granted Increase

This was averted when United States Corporation and other producers granted the 1,000,000-member union a wage increase averaging 16 cents an hour. That put the steelworkers' average hourly earnings at $1.88.

"Big Steel," and other companies in its wake, promptly raised prices an average $5.50 a ton for all products to absorb higher labor costs.

The expansion programs of 1950 will carry on through 1951 in most cases. Before the end of 1952, the programs are expected to add more than 10,000,000 tons of steel capacity to the present 100,560,000—ton capacity.

But finished and contemplated expansion won't halt demands for more steel. The trade journal, Iron Age, predicts that steel orders of civilian consumers will be cut back 30 to 50 per cent during the coming year. Cutbacks are necessary because of defence orders, essential civilians orders and a heavy order backlog.

More strides were made in 1950 in developing new sources of iron ore against the day when the bountiful Mesabi Range in Minnesota is finally exhausted. All major producers are lining up new supplies — mostly South Africa and the Quebec-Labrador area.

Wu Pledges Chinese To Seek Peace

LONDON, Dec. 21 (CP)—Gen. Wu Hsiu-chuan, leader of the Chinese Communist delegation to United Nations, said on arrival here Wednesday that China will do her utmost to find a peaceful solution of the Far Eastern problem.

He and the seven other members of the delegation had come by air from New York on their way home to Peiping, via Prague.

In a prepared statement Wu said: "The Chinese people love peace ardently and hope to preserve the country from aggression and the sight of aggression.... Although the United Nations Security Council rejected our basic proposals, we shall do our utmost to find a peaceful solution to the Far Eastern problem."

Wu said China was willing to try to persuade the Chinese volunteers to bring about an early end of the military operations which they were "forced to undertake with the Korean people's army in resistance against the United States armed aggression."

Lumber Industry In U.S. Reaches All-Time Peak

By GORDON G. MACNAB

PORTLAND, Ore. —(AP)— More than 1,250,000 American families got new homes in 1950. They pushed the lumber industry to some all-time peaks.

In regions from the northern hardwoods to western pine, mills could not keep up with demand.

Despite two- and three-shift operations ,they had to draw on accumulated stocks to fill the orders for lumber for 1,300,000 houses; for schools and churches springing up everywhere; for stores and warehouses; and—in the last half of the year—for military uses.

At the peak of mid-summer building, mills could just about name their own price.

Firm prices and strong demand will carry into the New Year, all industry leaders agree.

Two Uncertainties

Their forecasts for 1951 are tempered, though, by two uncertainties: Extent of military mobilization and extent of federal controls.

In general, they see the picture this way:

Present controls will cut new house construction by 30 per cent from the 1950 total. That loss to the lumber industry will be just about absorbed by growing military demand. Production will be off some. Prices will not go down materially, but neither will they return to the extremely-high levels of last summer.

If there should be full mobilization, the industry would be pressed to meet the military demand, just as it was in the Second World War.

The 1,800 Douglas fir mills of Oregon and Washington produced 10,500,000,000 board feet of Douglas fir lumber in 1950—an all-time high; shipped 100,000,000 feet more than they cut; booked orders for 350,000,000 feet more than they cut.

California turned out close to a record Douglas fir cut at a little more than 500,000,000 feet. Its redwood production, estimated at nearly 1,000,000,000 feet was a record.

Southern pine a "construction" lumber like Douglas fir, was cut at an annual rate of more than 900,000,000 up nine per cent over 1949.

1950 Farm Yield Slashed By Heavy Frost

By HAROLD MORRISON.

OTTAWA, Dec. 21 (CP).—For Canada's weather-bitten farmers the year 1950 will probably go down as one of the vast opportunities lost, opportunities that might have given rural folk added millions to meet high production and living costs.

For 1950 was the year of the big frost, that destroyed millions of bushels of prairie wheat, delayed harvesting and cut the quality of much of what was left for storage, consumption and export.

It was the year, too, when the world, faced with the threat of war, gave urgent thought to stockpiling of food and the world market for wheat swung wide open.

Can't Handle Demand

Because of the frost damage, Canada likely would be unable to handle all of the increased demand. It appeared unlikely that she would have sufficient stocks to fill the entire 219,000,000-bushel quota she had under the international wheat agreement for 1950-51.

Other basic industries, such as paper and oil, fared much better. Paper production, a top dollar-earner for Canada, increased production in the first 10 months to 4,391,000 tons from 4,324,000 tons a year ag

Oil made a more spectacular climb. In the first nine months, output from Canadian wells rose to 20,296,000 barrels, a near 25 per cent increase over the 15,700,000 barrels in the same period a year ago.

Wheat Troubles

In at least these two phases of the Canadian economy, prosperity in 1951 appeared far more assured than that in wheat. Adding to Canada's wheat troubles was a shortage in box cars and a sharp drop in total movements to east coast ports in the fall months.

Freighters which had been channelled from the United Kingdom and other overseas points to Halifax and St. John, N. B., to pick up Canadian wheat had to be diverted to American ports because of the lack of Canadian supplies. That meant that Britain, Canada's biggest wheat consumer was buying wheat from the United States at a time when she might have purchased from Canada.

Britain had promised to buy between 110,000,000 and 120,000,000 bushels from Canada in the 1950-51 crop year. She could not buy it, however, if the wheat was not there ready to move.

Of the total 578,000,000 bushels, including carry-over, available in Canada as the new crop year began Aug. 1, probably no more than about 265,000,000 bushels would be millable grades, adequate for grinding into flour and production of bread.

Can't Make Quota

Of that amount, Canada needed about 45,000,000 bushels of millable wheat for her own use and another 45,000,000 to carry over until wheat from the 1951 crop is harvested next September. All in all, that would leave Canada with about 175,000,000 bushels to meet a 219,000,000-bushel IWA quota.

The lower quality wheat would be sold as feed. Income from this wheat would, of course, be lower than that from millable grades. However, one thing the farmer was certain of—he had an initial price of $1.40 per bushel for No. 1 Northern, basis delivery at wheat board elevators.

He also had a promise that the board would make a final payment under the five-year pool which ended July 31. That payment may go a long way in helping the western farmer over the rough edges in the 1950-51 crop year.

Potato Problems

Other aspects of the Canadian farm economy were more buoyant with one exception, potatoes.

With the United States market for Canadian potatoes cut by the reduction in U.S. prices, Maritime growers appealed to the federal government for price-support. The government's $200,000,000 agricultural price-support program, made permanent by parliament in 1950, was extended to butter, eggs, cheese, bacon, why could it not be extended to potatoes?

Agriculture Minister Gardiner, at the ninth annual Federal-Provincial agricultural conference in December, told delegates the government was prepared to consider price-support for potatoes, if the growers could get their "house in order" and get a well-organized group to represent them.

It appeared that finally some kind of federal grant would be made to the potato industry, at the end of the selling year next spring, if the growers showed that the price they received for their product was below cost of production.

Owls Come South

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., (CP) —Two snowy owls have been reported sighted north of Saskatoon. A naturalist said it is not unusual for these birds to migrate as far south as the United States in winter.

Barbara Brent's BUYS AND WHYS A WEEKLY INFORMATION SERVICE

MONTREAL, Dec. 21st—"Up to your eyes" in Christmas shopping? Then here's a time-saving, meal-getting tip for you. Prepare several delicious JELL-O dishes (fruit salads 'n' desserts) and keep them in the ice-box—ready-to-serve at a moment's notice! So easy to prepare . . . JELL-O JELLY POWDER dishes are always welcome—and as gay and merry as Christmas itself. And you have Jell-O's seven "locked-in" flavors to choose from . . . all of them exciting AND economical!

Holiday Tip for Christmas shoppers: watch out for colds — especially in crowded stores and streets! Better buy ANOHIST now — and keep it handy! Taken at first sign of sniffles and sneezes, this new antihistamine discovery for colds can stop cold symptoms in a single day! And you can enjoy Anohist's prompt, effective relief for only about 3c per tablet. So be prepared! Get the Super-Economy, Family-Size Bottle of 36 tablets at your druggist's today! Remember: all antihistamines are not alike. They vary greatly in performance. Anohist is the antihistamine formula recommended for family use because of its success in actual clinical tests.

Baby's Too Tiny to eat most holiday foods—but there's a regular "party dish" he'll enjoy every morning! . . . yummy 5 Minute "CREAM OF WHEAT" that cooks to baby-ready digestibility in just five minutes of boiling. For a special baby-treat, serve "Cream of Wheat" topped with a "Clown's Face" of raisins. He'll crow with delight! And, my goodness—it's good! Good for him, too. For 5 Minute "Cream of Wheat" contains Iron necessary for good red blood — and Calcium and Phosphorus for diets deficient in these elements. And — mother! — here's a special offer! . . . for your free copy of the helpful, delightfully illustrated leaflet "Commonsense Feeding Habits for Your Baby" — simply write to me, Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q.

For "Just Before Christmas", here's the "savingest" meal-getting discovery I've ever made! Just let Heinz "Chef" see you through these hectic Christmas shopping days . . . with his 7* HEINZ MAIN COURSE MEALS! All you have to do is heat any one of them and a hot, delicious, nourishing main dish is ready for your family to enjoy! They save you work—save you worry—save you hours at the stove—and save you money by taking the place of dishes that cost more. And here they are:—. . . four favourite kinds of Beans, all oven-baked—two kinds of Cooked Spaghetti, and Heinz Cooked Macaroni in Cream Sauce with Cheese. You know they're good because they're Heinz!

*Soon there will be a new variety—Heinz Cooked Macaroni in Tomato Sauce with Cheese.

When The Tinsel's On The Christmas Tree, and the presents are wrapped 'n' ready, it's grand to relax with a delicious cup of Blue Ribbon Coffee! If you enjoy rich, smooth, full-bodied flavour in coffee, just try BLUE RIBBON. You can bank on Blue Ribbon being always roaster-fresh, uniform in Quality and extra-delicious, because of the very special skill with which it's blended. Truly, there's nothing so perfect to top off the top meal of the year, that gorgeous Christmas dinner with turkey and trimmings and rich steaming Christmas Pudding. You couldn't give the whole year's finest feast a finer finale than a cup of the grandest coffee you ever served or tasted—Blue Ribbon. Blue Ribbon tastes just as good whether you make it by perking, the drip method or SILEX. And remember, too, whenever friends drop in during the festive Holiday Season, they'll praise your good taste as well as your hospitality, if you serve them a memorable cup of delicious Blue Ribbon Coffee.

Baby Will Be Happy 'n' Healthy the live-long day—up to all sorts of endearing mischief — when you keep him well-fed with HEINZ STRAINED BABY FOODS! And he'll be happiest of all when mealtime comes 'round — for babies love Heinz Baby Foods . . . the two* delicious cereals and the yummy variety of strained meat products, soups, vegetables and desserts. So easy to prepare! — they're every one of them cooked to baby's taste 'n' tummy, so all you do is heat them as they come from the tin. Ask your dealer for Heinz Baby Foods in the convenient 5 ounce tin that's vacuum-sealed to assure flavour freshness. You know they're good because they're Heinz!

*A third will soon be available — Heinz Pre-Cooked Barley Cereal.

For A Beauty-Complexion as fresh and sparkling as Christmas snow there's a "magical" skin beautifier called PENATEN . . . and you'll find it in the new, extra-rich WOODBURY DRY SKIN CREAM! Wonderful Penaten helps Woodbury Dry Skin Cream penetrate deeper into the important corneum layers of your skin . . . supplements your skin's natural oils. Just 10 minutes a day with this miraculous, new-formula cream (it also contains lanolin and 4 other special skin-softeners) gives your skin a feeling of velvet softness—smooths and soothes it—banishes that dry, taut look! Try Woodbury Dry Skin Cream — beginning today! . . . Jars 20c, 39c, 69c and 98c.

Youngsters Get Tired of "just plain milk" . . . so why not give it to them with something very special added? HORLICKS! Horlicks not only makes milk more exciting to drink —it practically doubles the energy value of milk. And according to research, your child needs all the extra energy he can get . . . for, it's amazing but true that a normal, healthy child burns up almost twice as much energy per pound of weight as a hard-working man! No wonder so many modern mothers enrich their children's diet with this delicious, extra-energy food drink! Actually, Horlicks is a concentrated food made from full cream milk, plus nutrients of wheat and barley—and it's modified by enzymes to increase digestibility. Ask your druggist or food store for Horlicks next time you're shopping.

Most Irresistible Of Holiday Delicacies are the good things you make with BAKER'S UNSWEETENED CHOCOLATE. Yes, Baker's has that deep, dark deliciousness that makes chocolate the "most requested" flavor. For Baker's is all pure chocolate with nothing added, nothing taken away. I wouldn't dream of making chocolate fudges or frostings, cakes or cookies without the richer flavor of Baker's. And I know lots and lots of women who feel just as I do. So next time you want to have a particularly grand frosting or a superb chocolate cake, do try Baker's!

DOROTHY DIX

Spoiled Girl Can Reform But Needs Determination

DEAR MISS DIX: Being the only child, I have been terribly spoiled by my parents. They never controlled me nor made me do anything I did not want to do. I am accustomed to having my way about everything and I cannot stand being denied anything or thwarted. I have been embarrassed many times by not having my faults corrected while I was younger. My overbearing ways make me unpopular with boys and girls of my age and I am beginning to realize how ugly being spoiled is. Can you tell me how to correct some of my faults at home, in company, at school, at a party, or on a date?—L.M.C.

Dorothy Dix

ANSWER: I doubt if there is any greater crime that a human being can commit that is greater than spoiling a child. It is the spoiled children whose foolishly fond fathers and mothers never controlled them, never taught them any respect for the rights of others, never denied them anything they wanted; who never knew any law except their own wills, who fill our prisons and keep our divorce courts busy and who forms the derelicts and failures of society.

Case Not Hopeless

The girl who realizes that she has been spoiled and who wishes to unspoil herself has a difficult job before her and one that requires a lot of courage and determination. Still it can be done. Good habits can be substituted for bad ones, faults corrected, selfishness made to give way to consideration of others. If your parents can afford it, it would be well for you to go off to school so that you can get away from their perpetual babying and pampering. It would do you a lot of good to be put in an atmosphere of criticism rather than adulation, where you would receive no consideration above the other girls and where you would have to make good on your own merits.

But wherever you are, you can take stock of your own faults. You can learn how to eat properly if your parents couldn't bear to cramp your styles as a child and let you grow up with the table manners of a pig. You can learn to put others before yourself and consider their pleasure before your own. You can play other people's games instead of insisting on their playing yours. You can cultivate sweetness and amiability and make yourself what you should be instead of what your mother made you. And, believe me, it will pay you, my dear. Everbody hates a spoiled child and avoid one as they would any other pest.

DEAR MISS DIX: If a young couple builds a house with money which they have borrowed from a loan association, does the wife help pay for it by doing all of the housework and caring for her four children? My husband thinks not. What is your opinion? Also, what do you think of a parent who constantly reminds children in their teens that they are an expense to him? What will be the effect on the children?—X.

ANSWER: Marriage is a partnership into which a husband and wife put all that they are and have. They pool their hopes, their aspirations, their labor, their sacrifices, and, if the marriage is a success, the wife has done just as much to make it so as the husband.

Every woman who with her own hands makes a comfortable home for her husband and children works harder than her husband does. She works longer hours and she has no holidays, not even Sundays off. If they have a home, she has paid more than half of the price.

I think nothing in the world could show a meaner, more penurious spirit than for a father to reproach his children with the expense that they are to him. He should remember that he brought them, unasked, into the world and that he is bound by every law of decency to feed and clothe and care for them and give them the best chance he can in life.

Its effect on the children can only be to make them have a contempt for him as a poor sport and to kill every particle of affection they might have for him, and make them resolve to get away from him as soon as possible.

DEAR MISS DIX: What do you think of girls who give fellows gifts for no reason at all? There is a girl who is always making me presents that I don't want and she tells people that we are going "steady," which isn't true. How can I get rid of this girl without hurting her feelings?—JACK.

ANSWER: She is trying to get you by puting you under obligation to her. If you don't want to get caught, send her presents back to her. You will have to be firm with that kind of girl and not consider her feelings.

A dainty lunch was served by Mrs. J. Jones and her committee.

Likes Designing Ballet Costumes

WINNIPEG — ((CP). — For 25 years Mme. Pauline Boutal has designed sets and costumes for Le Cercle Moliere, Winnipeg Theatre Group. Now she has taken on the task of designing children's ballet costumes for a special presentation of the Winnipeg ballet.

The request to design sets and costumes for "The Rose and the Ring" gave Mme. Boutal "one of the greatest joys I have had in my career," she said. She explained her methods.

"I read several times the play or the story before starting a few little quick sketches about two inches high. Then when I think these little people are beginning to look real in my imagination—then is the time to draw and paint them, with their expressions and their attitudes.

"The composition and designing of sets and costumes is very close to illustration.

"....In a ballet, the costume must be very light, graceful, and yet real enough."

MISS DOROTHY TURNER, of Turner Bros. staff, who has made her 20th blood donation through the Red Cross Donor Service in Peterborough. Miss Turner is the second local girl to make 20 donations, following Miss Betty Castle, of Outboard Marine Company. She has made regular contributions since the Red Cross Society organized the service during the last war.

to Bethlehem". Tea with Christmas refreshments was served and the meeting closed with prayer.

Knox Young People Share Friendship Meet

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Lewis of 566 Aylmer St., the young people of Knox Church enriched their friendship by singing carols, playing games, exchanging gifts and generally having a wonderful time, topped by a bountiful lunch.

They were delighted to have a number of Normalites to share the fun and fellowship. Miss Jean McIntyre very ably thanked the host and hostess for the fine way in which they had shown their interest in the welfare of the young people.

Annual Gym Party At YW Fun for 300 Kids

One of the largest Christmas parties for the children each year is in the YWCA gymnasium where more than 300 youngsters congregate and where there is always a monster tree, glittering with lights and tinsel and loaded with candy and gifts.

For the party on Wednesday afternoon, director Miss Caroline Littlefield had arranged a program of dances and carol singing to fill in the time of waiting for Santa to arrive.

Twelve of the babies' ballet class were dressed as mechanical dolls with frills and big bows and they danced when wound up. Junior ballet girls were tinkling with tiny bells as they danced a snappy routine to the song "Frosty the Snowman," and the "sugar plum fairies" did a graceful Christmas waltz ballet.

The teen-age ballet girls sang three of the Christmas carols, led by Marie Waite and tiniest babies grouped in the centre of the floor to sing "Away in the Manger."

The Christmas nativity play was beautifully presented by the Little Women's Club, directed by Mrs. Irene Campbell, and a puppet show was also given by these children.

When a rotund, smiling figure with a long beard and wearing a red suit appeared on the balcony there were wild scrambles to be first to greet him and when he danced around the room with their teacher the children applauded wildly.

Guests were present from the Children's Home and St. Vincent's Orphanage and took part in the singing and merriment.

Dolls were Diane Mulachy, Diane Zakos, Dorothy Quinlan, Patsy Cowan, Arlene Bellinger, Marina Zakos, Patsy Tobin, Annabel Morley, Rose Marie Hayward and Jane Whatley.

The Christmas bells were Geraldine and Marjorie Vinette, Catherine Ovens, Carol Howe, Mary and Victoria Willamett, Marilyn Darling, Donna Saunders, Frances Cooper, Patricia Carey, Carolyn Thompson and the Sugar Plums were Sophie Zakos, Daphne Hayward and Helen Zakos.

All the children in the gymn, ballet and swimming classes and the clubs were invited.

Christmas Eve Open House Suitable Menu for You

Since our Christmas dinner menu was outlined in this department last week, we are giving a few minutes to our entertaining plans for Sunday afternoon and evening, on which Christmas Eve falls—very awkwardly too.

If I know you at all you have been inviting everybody in sight and have more people coming than you care to remember.

Never mind. It comes only once per year. Cast your eyes below to the menu I've dished up, for if you want to, you can choose items from it that will do for the whole spread, and that may be prepared a couple of days ahead, if need be.

Menu For Christmas Eve

Open House

Oyster Stew
or Oysters Fried in Batter
OR
Tiny Pork Pies SpicedBeef
Cranberry Orange Salad Mould
Generous Tossed Green Salad
Hot Rolls
Wafer-thin Slices Rye Bread
Olives Gherkins
Rich Fruit Cake Shortbread
Coffee

Directions

Oyster Stew

In bottom put water; in top put 4 or 2 tablespoons butter. To the butter add ½ teaspoon grated onion, ¼ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce and 1 pint of drained raw oysters. Over low direct heat cook until edges of oysters curl. Put over bottom of double boiler and add 4 cups whole milk or 3 cups whole milk and 1 cup cream, oyster liquor, 1½ teaspoon salt, shake of black or white pepper. Cover and cook over boiling water until nearly boiling hot. Serve with oyster crackers.

Oysters Fried In Batter

(If desired oysters may be dipped in mayonnaise then in crumbs then in dilute beaten egg and fried in frying pan in butter.)

Drain and dry oysters and dip in batter; one an one-half cups flour, sifted with 1 teaspoon baking powder, and ¼ teaspoon salt and moistened with 2 beaten eggs and a scant 2-3 cup milk. Beat well. Fry batter-coated oysters at 375° Fahr. for about 2 minutes, turning once during this time.

Tiny Pork Pies

Boil lean shank or shoulder pork in barely enough water to cover until tender—about 3 hours. Add slice of onion, 4 peppercorns, one-quarter of a bay leaf and 1 teaspoon salt while cooking. Drain, cool and chop. To 3 cups of the chopped meat add 1 cups of the cookin broth thickened with 1½ tablespoons flour moistened with 2 tablespoons cold water. Taste to see if the mixture of broth and meat are salty enough. You may need to add more pepper. Put about 2 teaspoons of this into tiny pastry-lined tart tins. Cover very tightly with top crust, just as the pork pies are made that you buy in delicatessens. Bake at 450° Fahr. until light gold.

Cranberry Orange Salad Mould

One and one-half cups raw cranberries and one-half of a large orange are put through food grinder, coarse knife, together. Add 1 cup sugar, mix well and let stand 1 hour. Dissolve 1 package of lemon-flavored gelatine dessert in 1½ cups hot water. Let cool until it begins to thicken slightly. Add the fruit mixture to it and pour into I large or 6 or 8 small moulds. Chill until firm. Unmould on bed of pale lettuce or endive leaves. Pass mayonnaise.

6—In Memoriams

EDWARDS—In loving memory of Mrs. Janet Edwards, who passed away December 20, 1945.
Dear mother you are not forgotten,
Though on earth you are no more,
Still in memory you are with us,
As you always were before.
—Ever remembered by the family.

HINDS—In loving memory of our dear mother who passed away December 19, 1940.
Ten years have passed,
How long it seems
Still in our hearts
And in our dreams.
We who loved you, only know,
How much we lost ten years ago.
—Sadly missed by her six daughters.

KETCHESON—In loving memory of Ethel Maude Ketcheson, who passed away December 21, 1947.
No one knows how much we miss you,
No one knows the bitter pain
We have suffered. Since we lost you
Life has never been the same.
In our hearts, your memory lingers,
Sweetly tender, fond and true,
There is not a day, dear mother,
That we do not think of you.
—Ever remembered by husband; daughter Myrtle, and son-in-law John.

LINDSAY—In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. James Lindsay, who passed away December 21, 1946.
Her smiling way and pleasant face,
Are a pleasure to recall,
She had a kindly word for each
And died beloved by all.
Some day we hope to meet her,
Some day we know not when,
To clasp her hand in the better land,
Never to part again.
—Ever remembered by Nettie, Laurie and family.

TROLLOPE—In loving memory of Henry Trollope, who died Dec. 21, 1941.
You're not forgotten father dear,
Nor ever shall you be,
As long as life and memory last
I shall remember thee.
—Ever remembered by daughters, Mildred, Hilda and Lillie.

'TWAS THE NIGHT BEFORE CHRISTMAS
and all through the house not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse—because the landlord wouldn't permit it. Be independent: Own your own Home. Here is a dandy, well constructed, Eight Rooms including bright semi-modern kitchen, large Sunroom, lovely oak floors, hot air heating. The one fault is there is no back garden. It's a swell buy at $7,500. Don't let it slip by you. Call Mr. Houck 8402.

WHY BUY A YULE LOG
when you could start a better fire with rent receipts? Buy your family a home and here's one that's easy to own. It has Six Rooms, 3-piece bath, grand basement, nice lot. Now because the price is small, don't miss seeing it. Specially priced for quick sale and possession, $5,500; terms arranged. Call Mr. Houck 8402.

Had Good Reason To Break Traffic Law

"You may have done the wisest thing," Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, commented, but it cost Ivan P. Sarasan a $5 fine and costs in police court today to go through a stop sign Nov. 8 when two constables saw him.

Sarasan said as he was driving along Douro St. and approached the stop sign at Armour Rd., he put on the brakes of his car, but it started to skid on thawing snow. He didn't want to lose control of his car so he released them again and put them on again farther along. But the car started to skid and he was afraid of sliding around into the path of an oncoming car which turned out to be a police cruiser.

Constable Sherman Keliele said he watched the car go through the stop sign at about 15 or 20 miles an hour and so gave the driver a ticket.

Communists Arrested

RIO DE JANEIRO, Dec. 21 — (Reuters)— Several Communists were arrested here Wednesday night when nightstick-swinging police fired into the air to disperse a large crowd outside the Chamber of Deputies. The crowd was made up largely of civil servants demanding quick approval of a bill granting them a Christman bonus.

Acheson Faces Stiff Challenge

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21—(AP) —State Secretary Dean Acheson returned today from his shortest and most decisive mission to Europe to face a stiff new Republican challenge to his policy of European rearmament as well as his continuance in office.

Flying about 15 hours behind schedule because of bad weather, Acheson landed at Washington's National airport at 3:13 a.m. EST. He had left here only last Sunday and in the intervening three days had:

1. Agreed, as American representative of the North Atlantic Treaty Council, meeting at Brussels, to creation of a 1,000,000-man international European defence army, which will include both American and German units, under Gen. Dwight Eisenhower as supreme commander.

2. Worked out with Foreign Secretary Bevin of Britain and French foreign minister Schuman a final draft of a note to Russia expressing readiness for a big four meeting to discuss east-west differences on a wide range of issues.

Asked by reporters at the airport if he thought the accomplishments at the meeting had contributed to world peace, Acheson replied:

"This is the only way we can possibly do it."

Mrs. Sullivan Wouldn't Have Hands Examined

OTTAWA, Dec. 21 (CP).—Assistant inspector Borden Hobbs, who headed the investigation into the death of Francis J. Sullivan, today testified that Mrs. Marion Sullivan refused to have her hands examined by police.

The 50-year-old Toronto matron is charged with the murder of her lawyer husband.

The preliminary hearing is in its sixth day.

Inspector Hobbs, 33rd Crown witness, said Mrs. Sullivan pulled her hands away when he tried to examine them.

He found dried skin under the middle finger of the left hand.

Mrs. Sullivan was taken into custody Nov. 18, about 12 hours after the nude body of her husband was found in a downtown Chateau Laurier bedroom.

Inspector Hobbs said Mrs. Sullivan stated she and her husband had retired about 9 p.m., Nov. 17.

She remembered her husband getting into bed with her but could not recall whether he wore pyjamas. She had not looked at him, she told Inspector Hobbs.

No Squabble

She denied that there had been any squabble or fight.

Mrs. Sullivan said she discovered the body about 1:30 a.m., Nov. 18.

Inspector Hobbs told R. K. Laishley, assistant defence counsel, that he had been told before he started the investigation that Mr. Sullivan "got a hell of a beating."

This was conveyed to him by Dr. Harry Dover, coroner, following an autopsy on the body on the morning of Nov. 18.

Mrs. Sullivan was charged after pieces of a broken soda-water bottle were found in her luggage.

Inspector Hobbs said that during his questioning of Mrs. Sullivan he had asked whether a fight had broken out because her husband had made an immoral sexual act towards her.

She denied there had been any quarreling.

"Do you think I killed my husband?" she asked Inspector Hobbs.

He replied it did not matter what she thought, he was merely carrying out an investigation.

Mr. Laishley referred to the questioning of Mrs. Sullivan as to whether her husband wore pyjamas.

"Will you pledge your oath," he asked Inspector Hobbs, "that Mrs. Sullivan had said she never looked at her husband to see whether he wore pyjamas or not?"

Inspector Hobbs said he would.

He stated Mrs. Sullivan was in bad humor at the time of questioning.

Mr. Laishley said the inspector must have known Mrs. Sullivan was not the usual kind of a person to be involved in such a tragedy.

She had lived a "sheltered life" in society. Some of the questioning put to her must have been shocking to her.

Inspector Hobbs said Mrs. Sullivan appeared quite cool under questioning.

Man Fined $10 For Fighting

Pleading guilty to a charge of causing a disturbance by fighting with Michael Fitzgerald, RR 5, Peterborough, who almost lost an eye in the fight, Urban Crough, 747 Brown St., was fined $10 and costs in police court today.

Fitzgerald, taken to hospital to have a gash beside his left eye stitched up Saturday night was released from hospital Monday afternoon. He pleaded guilty to a charge of causing a disturbance and paid a $10 fine Wednesday.

Police found the two fighting on Charlotte St. Saturday and arrested them. When the injury to Fitzgerald's eye was discovered, he was taken to St. Joseph's hospital.

Hear 3 Complaints Against Police Chief

KITCHENER, Dec. 21—(CP) —The police committee of Waterloo township Wednesday night heard three complaints against Chief Hilbert Schedewitz and the township's police department.

Herbert Moore, of Blair, who said his automobile was damaged by would-be thieves Oct. 9, charged that the chief did not investigate when the case was reported. Chief Schedewitz told the committee he would make a written reply to the charge.

A Mrs. Potter said the chief refered her to the school principal when she reported her son molested by five other children. Later, she added, Chief Schedewitz questioned her after a resident reported she had threatened children. The committee ruled her complaint too indefinite.

Another complaint that the township's police car was parked in front of a social club for some time Sunday, Dec. 3, was dismissed after the chief said the car was on a routine call.

YM Makes Plans For Big Week

Activities at the YMCA will come to a standstill for Christmas and Boxing Day but swing into high on Wednesday morning, Charles Forsyth, general secretary said today.

William MacFarlane, boys' work secretary, said that the Fun and Friendship Club, boys between eight and 12 years, will hold a special Christmas meeting Friday night. This will include carol singing and Christmas movies.

The Centum Hi-Y Club, named after Peterborough's centennial and the YMCA's centennial next year, will hold a Christmas theatre party also Friday night. The Omega Hi-Y is sponsoring the only activity Boxing Day in the YMCA gym, the annual Snow Ball dance which was started several years ago. The Micron Hi-Y Club will have its Christmas party on Wednesday.

Hit-and-miss volleyball and basketball tournaments have been scheduled by Fraser Wade, physical director, for Wednesday and Thursday. The collegiate students will assemble Thursday morning at the YMCA and teams will be chosen for the basketball tournament which will be held in the morning and afternoon.

The Fun and Friendship Club, on Friday, December 29, will hold a Dad and Lad swim. The boys must bring their fathers or they will not be permitted to splash in the pool during this special meeting.

New Year's Day will be open house from 2 p.m. until 5 p.m. There will be bowling, volleyball, basketball and other activities throughout the building.

Sentence Suspended In Truck Sale Fraud

Pleading guilty to a charge of false pretences by obtaining a truck from J. E. Hughes in a deal in which he sold a truck to Hughes which still had a lien note against it, Jackson Campbell, Apsley, was placed on two years' suspended sentence in police court today.

The suspended sentence was given on condition that he pay J. K. Hughes $433 he owed him in monthly installments of $25.

Sweeping Change In Schools Suggested In Hope Report

Red China Rejects U.N. Appeal For Cease-fire Plan

TOKYO, Dec. 22—(AP)—Red China today spurned a United Nations cease-fire committee's efforts to stop the shooting in Korea. Chou En-lai, Premier and Foreign Minister, broadcast a six-point statement over the Peiping radio, rejecting the three-man committee's proposal as "unlawful" because the Red Chinese did not participate in its formation at the U.N. The committee at Lake Success has sent the Peiping government three direct requests to negotiate for a cease-fire.

Red China had a delegation on hand during the U.N. debate on Korea. It left for home this week.

The Reds were not permitted to participate in U.N. decisions because they are not members of the U.N.

China's big power seat in the UN is retained by Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist delegation which the Reds have repeatedly tried to unseat.

Heard In Tokyo

The Peiping broadcast was made in the Chinese language and heard by Japanese monitors in Tokyo.

(Up to 8 a.m. Pacific Standard Time (11 a.m. EST) the Peiping radio's English-language broadcast being monitored by The Associated Press in San Francisco had not mentioned Chou's rejection.

(It may have been building up to it, however, by repeating an English translation of the statement Red delegate Gen. Wu Hsiu-chuan made to the UN in New York before he returned to China. In that statement, Wu claimed he had come to Lake Success with a "proposal for suppressing war," but that it had been "rejected.")

Gist of Remarks

The gist of Chou's six points, as translated in Tokyo:

1. The three-man cease-fire committee is unlawful because the Chinese Communist government did not consent to nor participate in the United Nations vote calling for its formation. Nor was the Chinese delegation prepared to negotiate in this unlawful action.

2. The Communist Chinese government repeatedly has suggested that the only way to end the Korean war is to withdraw all foreign troops from Korea and let the Koreans settle their own problem. But the American government refused our peaceful suggestions and in early October U.S. troops crossed the 38th Parallel thus erasing this political boundary.

Again at the end of November the Chinese Reds suggested to the

Mrs. Sullivan Freed On Bail, Charge Reduced

OTTAWA, Dec. 22—(CP)—Mrs. Marion Sullivan of Toronto was released on $2,000 bail today on a charge of manslaughter and prepared to fly to her Toronto home to spend Christmas with her children.

On being released, she told reporters that though she had been treated well during her 33 days in jail, her experience there was "horrible." She would not state why.

In court, she stood briefly to hear Magistrate Glenn Strike formally reduce a murder charge to one of manslaughter and grant bail. The original charge had been laid after the body of her husband had been found in a Chateau Laurier hotel bedroom Nov. 18.

Mrs. Sullivan met reporters after the court session was over. Sitting with her in one of the police offices was her 21-year-old son, Frank, Jr., who arrived from Toronto to accompany his mother home. Waiting in Toronto is her 16-year-old daughter, Elizabeth Anne, whom she has not seen since her arrest 33 days ago.

Hurrying Home

Mrs. Sullivan, her face alternatively bright and flushed and then sad and almost ashen, told reporters she was going to fly home "right away."

She would be doing no Christmas shopping in Ottawa. She would be spending Christmas in Toronto at home and with relatives.

She had been treated well in jail, and was accorded the same treatment as any other inmate would get.

"I have never been in jail before," she stated. "It was a horrible experience."

Reporters pressed her to state why, but she declined.

Magistrate Strike's decision to reduce the charge from murder to manslaughter was announced

Boats Take Out 25,000 Refugees

HUNGNAM BEACHHEAD, Korea, Dec. 22 — (AP).— Nearly 25,000 North Korean refugees have been removed from the Allied beachhead port of Hungnam —300 of them as special charges of the American Army.

Most of them, ordinary citizens fleeing the Communist return, have been carried to Southern ports in tank-landing ships of the South Korean Navy.

But the 300, all officials or prominent persons who directly aided the United Nations cause, were brought out under special orders to the 10th Corps.

One of the South Korean ships that sailed from Hungnam Monday carried 7,000 refugees. Army transportation officials estimated each passenger had a space little more than two feet square.

The 300 officials were police, mayors, and political and industrial leaders. These would be in the greatest danger from the returning North Koreans who have put the "collaborator" label on the people who even remained in UN-held towns.

Britain Gets Tough Warns Chinese Reds

SINGAPORE, Dec. 22.—(AP).—Britain's top official in southeast Asia, departing notably from the gentle tenor of previous official British utterances on Chinese Communism, warned Peiping's Reds Thursday night that the free world "refuses to be dictated to by Communists from anywhere."

Commissioner - General Malcolm MacDonald intimated in a radio address that his Government's patience in the Far East may be reaching an end, and declared:

"If the Chinese Communists stay hostile to the western world, oppose Asian powers who strive for eastern and western co-operation, and defy the United Nations, then we could only adapt our attitude accordingly."

Britain has maintained a friendly attitude toward Red China's Government, which she recognizes. At stake are huge British investments inside China and her trade centre colony of Hong Kong on the China coast.

NONE SERIOUSLY HURT—Thirteen of the 15 cars on the Toronto-Montreal pool train were derailed when the train jumped the tracks on the Dorion Bridge, 35 miles west of Montreal. A broken axle on a baggage car led to the derailment. This photo shows the cars of the train tipped on their sides, some of them driven seven feet into the ties. None of the holiday-season passengers or crew were seriously hurt. Many were asleep when the accident took place.

Canadian Troops Will Train For Time Yet

By BILL BOSS.

SEOUL, Korea, Dec. 22 (CP).—Canada's fighting men in Korea will train in Southern Korea until their commander is satisfied they are ready for front-line duty with United Nations forces, Lt.-Gen. Walton Walker ruled today.

The commander of the United States Eighth Army said that training and indoctrination of the 2nd Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, now at Pusan, will exploit lessons learned in the Korean campaigns. The value of night combat preparation will be stressed.

In a 20-minute interview with Gen. Walker, the Canadian commander Lt.-Col. J. R. (Big Jim) Stone, clarified his position and that of his troops.

Gen. Walker freely gave the Canadian commander carte blanche to carry out his own program, within limits, and choose his own training area. Col. Stone already has earmarked a section near the Canadians' present quarters for this purpose.

Can Take Time

Gen. Walker told Col. Stone that unless the situation deteriorates to the point where everybody, including cooks, batmen and bandsmen, are needed in the front line, the time he wants for training is his.

Col. Stone later made his position clear to Brig. Tom Brodie, commander of the British 29th Brigade, under whom the battalion was placed on arrival in the Far East.

Brig. Brodie said he appreciated Col. Stone's concern over the Patricia's being used only when most fully prepared.

However, all officials here as well as in Tokyo consider the Canadians as ready for action as any in this theatre. They have the additional advantage of being fresh.

It seems clear to this correspondent that only the Canadian commander's mandate from Ottawa specifying he has the last word to determine his unit's readiness won him the indoctrination period he wanted.

New Red Drive—MacArthur

TOKYO, Dec. 22—(AP)—Rising Communist attacks on the northeast Korea approaches to Seoul prompted a warning today by Gen. Mac Arthur that another big Communist offensive may be on the way. Initial assaults in regimental strength rolled back South Korean forces nearly two miles northeast of Chunchon, a highway junction 45 miles northeast of the Republic capital. A large build-up of Reds—Chinese or North Korean or both—was reported north of Chunchon. West of this area, along Parallel 38, a sizeable Chinese force was spotted in Yonchon, 38 miles due north of Seoul and six miles north of the parallel.

Yonchon is on one of two main lines leading to the South Korean capital. The other runs northeast of Seoul to Pyongyang, North Korean capital.

Noting unmistakable heavy traffic behind enemy lines and continued probing thrusts, MacArthur observed:

"This is normally the initial phase of an impending attack."

Rocket Ships Active

In Northeast Korea, American rapid-fire rocket ships moved close inshore at Hungnam and joined other warships, planes and field artillery in laying a fiery shield from close range around the beachhead.

Use of the rocket ships in defence of the Hungnam perimeter for the first time indicated that the Reds are closing in.

Chinese appeared to have been replaced by North Koreans in the Hungnam sector.

MacArthur's late Friday summary said it was possible that the Chinese had moved southwest across the peninsula and into action near the 38th Parallel above Seoul.

The summary said the use of pack horses and camels northeast of Chunchon "suggests that the attackers were Chinese Communist forces."

Thus far, however, no Chinese troops have been reported identified positively south of Parallel 38.

Probing Lines

MacArthur's summary said enemy units in the Ichon-Kumhwa-Hwachon and Yonchon area, almost in the dead centre of the peninsula have been probing United Nations lines there for eight days. Most thrusts have been aimed at feeling out the UN strength astride the three main

Lift Occupation Controls If Germans Fight In Army

BONN, Germany, Dec. 22—(AP)—Two-thirds of Germany and her former western foes prepared today for lengthy negotiations over a swap of German troops for near-independence for the Allied occupied West German area. Many months of talking between the Bonn government and the Big Three loom before German troops are committed to fight alongside their former enemies against Soviet Communism, or West Germany can become almost a free state.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer announced Thursday night after a five-hour parley with the High Commissioners of France, the United States and Britain, that "there has been a big step forward" in plans to include West German troops in the west's projected 1,000,000-man defence force against Russian aggression.

A communique on the conference disclosed that the three western powers, offering their first big concession in return for German participation, have agreed to place their relations with West Germany "to an increasing degree on a contractual basis." This was taken to indicate a removal of virtually all occupation controls."

In Line With Plans

The offer was in line with plans for the formation of the international army in western Europe, made earlier this week by the 12 Atlantic Pact foreign ministers in Brussels.

For 5½ years Germany has been an occupied land. After Christmas, negotiations will begin to remove numerous occupation controls and replace them with a treaty between the Bonn regime and the big three.

This would be the nearest thing possible to a peace treaty. Writing of a final pact with the Germans depends on a prior agreement between the western allies and Russia.

But it will be months before the German armed forces are organized and the federal republic becomes a near-independent country.

West Agrees To Big 4 Talks

PARIS, Dec. 22 (AP). — The western powers agreed today to a big four meeting proposed by Russia, if the Kremlin will agree to broaden the agenda to include outstanding world problems in addition to Germany. Foreign office sources said notes delivered in Moscow tonight suggested that the four powers' U.N. delegates work out the agenda, time and place for the meeting.

There have been reports that the four foreign ministers would be invited to meet in February in New York City. This was neither confirmed nor denied in French official circles tonight.

The notes were drafted in answer to Russia's invitation to the western powers for a four-power session on Germany's future.

Bank Messenger Gives Himself Up

TORONTO, Dec. 22 — (CP)—A youthful Montreal bank messenger, sought for six months in connection with the disappearance of $3,000 from the Dominion Bank branch where he was employed, gave himself up to Toronto police Thursday night.

Police said Oswald Harding 18, will be returned to Montreal where charges will be laid.

Sergeant of Detectives Adolphus Payne said that Harding, who for a year was a clerk and teller at the (St. Catherines and Guay Street branch of the) bank had 12 cents when he surrendered.

The officer quoted the youth as saying he "toured" the United States, living in good hotels and visiting night clubs. He had not eaten for 24 hours and wanted to give himself up before Christmas. Sgt. Payne quoted Harding as saying.

A Royal Christmas

LONDON, Dec. 22 (Reuters).—The King and Queen left London today to spend Christmas at Sandringham, the King's country home in Norfolk. With them were their two grandchildren, Prince Charles and Princess Anne, and Queen Mary. Princess Margaret, returned today by air from a Mediterranean visit. She planned to join them later. Princess Elizabeth is spending Christmas with her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, in Malta.

Cabinet Will Meet Again Next Thursday

OTTAWA, Dec. 22 — (CP). — The Cabinet, which met twice on Thursday for first-hand reports from three ministers on the international situation, plans to gather again next Thursday for another look at the world scene.

Prime Minister St. Laurent said after the sessions Thursday that "no major decisions" were reached and left the impression that no new measures are being planned by the government at this stage.

He hailed the appointment of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower to head an integrated Atlantic Pact army for Europe and said it "will stimulate all the member nations to their best efforts."

UK Faces Further Cut In Domestic Goods

May Renew Direction of Labor, Control Over Prices, Materials

LONDON, Dec. 22 (Reuters)—Export-minded Britain, denied since the war of many products of her industry because of the need to earn dollars, now faces the bleak prospect of further cuts in domestic goods to finance her rearmament drive.

New austerity measures may be accompanied by economic controls such as those employed by Britain in the Second World War. These would include direction of labor, for women as well as for men, requisitioning of factories and other buildings, and more governmental control over prices and materials.

Britain still has compulsory military service, kept in force after the war because of her overseas commitments. This was stepped up from 18 months to two years in September, when the government decided to spend £3,600,000,000 on defence preparations over the next three years.

This figure was based on the maximum effort Britain's economy could bear without returning to wartime control measures

Have To Be Increased

But the worsened world situation and this week's decision of the North Atlantic Treaty organization to strengthen and speed up Europe's defences makes it almost certain that the sum will have to be increased.

The new commitments under the Brussels decisions were discussed by Prime Minister Attlee and cabinet ministers in London and a meeting of the cabinet is fixed for next week.

No decisions about possible emergency measures will be taken at this meeting, however. Experts will first have to study the details of the Brussels agreement before deciding to what extent controls are necessary. This may take some weeks.

Even then, radical changes in the country's economy may not be noticed for some time, as developing rearmament is invariably a slow process in the early stages.

3-Level Education System Using Junior Colleges Stressed By Commission

Minority Report Opposes Recommendation Separate School Boards Be Given Control Only Over Six Grades

TORONTO, Dec. 22—(CP)—The Hope Royal Commission finished more than five years study of Ontario education yesterday by handing its completed report to the Provincial government. There was no indication whether any of its 300 main recommendations would be put into effect. The 1,179-page report, running half-a-million words, recommended sweeping changes in the province's school system, in teacher-training, in administration and in dozens of other phases of educational activity.

The commission's conclusions were not unanimous. Fifteen of its 20 members—one of the original appointees died last March—signed the majority report but four of them voiced disagreement with some of its proposals.

Four members, all supporters of Roman Catholic separate schools, submitted a minority report which differed from the main findings in general as well as in its recommendations respecting their own schools. Another member offered a memorandum of his own, disagreeing with both the majority and minority reports.

Mr. Justice J. A. Hope, Ontario Supreme Court justice and chairman of the commission formally appointed March 21, 1945, handed the 13½-pound report to Premier Frost who issued it for immediate publication with the comment that neither he nor any member of his government had seen the report before.

Not Bound By Report

The government, as representatives of the people of the province, will decide whether to implement any of the report's recommendations, said Mr. Frost. He repeated a statement from one of his speeches last April that "obviously the government and the people are not bound by the report, nor are they bound to implement the report in whole or in part."

The commission proposed a complete revamping of the present two-stage school system, primary and secondary, by establishing three educational levels — elementary schools with six grades for children up to 12; sec-

Suspicious Quartet

BALLSTON SPA, N.Y., Dec. 22—(AP)—Sheriff's deputies took into custody four men whom villagers considered "suspicious-looking". The four were released almost immediately. That was a week ago. Thursday Sheriff Frank Hathorn disclosed that the four were internal revenue agents looking for a still.

Teacher Talks Still Deadlocked

SUDBURY, Dec. 22.—(CP). — Negotiations aimed at settlement of a wage dispute between 62 secondary - school teachers and the High School Board were scheduled to resume today after representatives for each side failed to reach agreement at a three-hour meeting Thursday night.

The teachers have submitted resignations to take effect Dec. 31 unless their salary demands are met.

"Nothing definite was decided here at all," said H. E. Dickinson, Toronto chairman of the Ontario Trustees' Council, following Thursday night's meeting. He came here as mediator in a last-ditch attempt to effect a settlement of the dispute.

"However, the Sudbury teachers' committee and the board will try again Friday night," he said prior to returning to Toronto.

He said both representatives for the teachers and the board held firmly to their arguments.

Prime Ministers One of Gang In Little British Village

LITTLE KIMBLE, England, Dec. 22 (Reuters)—They've got their usual prime minister for Christmas in this quaint Buckinghamshire village.

Little Kimble, 40 miles from London, has prime ministers for Christmas as casually as some people have Aunt Sue.

The village sprawls around one corner of Chequers, official country estate of Britain's prime ministers. Lord Lee presented the estate to the country in 1921. Since then prime ministers have made it a habit to spend Christmas here.

Little Kimble is part of a Conservative district, but it never lets politics interfere with its duties as a host. Prime ministers are looked upon as members of the local family and not as exhibits.

This attitude has made Prime Minister Attlee and his predecessors value the escapism provided by the region.

Kimble has seen more famous people than any other small community in Britain. Many world-famous persons have strolled along the straggling road linking Little Kimble with its twin, Great Kimble.

The darts champions of Little Kimble's one small tavern are all ready to take on any eminent visitor who may stray into their midst. But no sense of awe disturbs their accurate throwing.

The Attlee family will probably attend Christmas service at Ellsboro, which also touches the Chequers estate.

And Boxing Day, the prime minister will be host at a Chequers children's party. His son, Martin Attlee, will be Santa Claus, bursting in on the revels by way of a secret staircase.

Mountain Slide Blocks Tracks Near Kamloops

EDMONTON, Dec. 22 (CP). — A mountain slide at Spence's Bridge, 80 miles west of Kamloops, BC, was reported by railway officials today responsible for a six-hour delay in arrival here of east-bound trains from Vancouver.

The slide, containing snow rock, mud and trees, was reported to have covered the line fo 30 feet to a depth of 10 feet. I was blamed on mild weather an rain.

A "[illegible] was ordered ma up here to accommodate passengers going east from Edmonton.

Czech Couple Beat Red Tape Wed In Toronto

TORONTO, Dec. 22 — (CP) — A young Czechoslovak couple—the "Maid of the Mist lovers"—were married here Thursday.

Dennis Chrastansky and Kitty Kleiner met in their homeland. But Dennis came to Canada after the Second World War and Kitty went to the United States.

Border regulations for immigrants prevented them from visiting each other. They got around the red tape by meeting at Niagara Falls on the Maid of the Mist, a little steamer which picks up passengers on both sides of the Niagara River for trips below the cataract.

The first such meeting, in September, 1949, was their first private get-together in almost three years. They met often on the steamer after that. Officials later permitted meetings ashore.

All Set

Kitty, who entered the United States in 1946, studied economics at the University of North Carolina. Dennis, a medical student in Czechoslovakia, came to Canada as a laborer and now is a chemist.

They made arrangements for a secret marriage here and were wed in Judge T. H. Barton's office.

They told reporters they wanted no publicity or pictures—"we are famous enough now," said pretty, dark-haired Mrs. Chrastansky with a smile.

They refused to say where they were going on their honeymoon—but Niagara Falls seemed a good bet.

Their immigration troubles are over. They'll live in Toronto.

Mrs. E. Waldon Heads Lakefield Institute

Mrs. E. Waldon was elected president of the Lakefield Women's Institute for the remaining part of the year at the December institute meeting held at the home of Mrs. George Davey.

The president, Mrs. Roy Bullock, was presented with a gift prior to her departure from Lakefield.

The roll call was answered by exchanging Christmas gifts. The treasurer's report revealed that $78 had been raised from the insitute's prize quilt raffle. The quilt was won by Mrs. Orville Payne.

Report on the institute convention was given by Mrs. A. Bullock who attended as a delegate.

Lunch was served by the hostess and her committee, Miss Ora Dunford, Mrs. T. Waldon, and Mrs. W. Abbott.

Mrs. Alf Dunford offered her home for the January meeting.

One or possibly two rebuilt North Korean corps are in the immediate area, plus one Chinese Communist army corps that appears to have been concentrating there.

U.S. Senators Speed Costly Defence Bill

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP)—Congressional action on the multi-billion-dollar defence program was spurred today by a grim warning that Russia is making "an intensive effort" in the field of atomic energy.

Expert testimony on the Russian atomic program came from chairman Gordon Dean of the Atomic Energy Commission, given behind closed doors to the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Dean told of Russia's activity, and filled in some details of expanding American atomic production, in testifying on the $20,000,000,000 emergency defence money bill. This measure steamed through the Senate Thursday at a wartime clip, carrying some $2,000,000,000 more than the House of Rperesentatives voted.

May Hike Grants For Education

TORONTO, Dec. 22—(CP)—A new system for the payment of provincial education grants was recommended today by the Hope Royal Commission in its report on Ontario education.

The system might mean a substantial increase in the amounts to be appropriated for education by the Ontario Legislature, the report said.

It suggested the total amount apportioned by the Legislature for the support of elementary schools be about 50 per cent of the cost of operating such schools the preceding year.

Also the total amount apportioned to post-elementary schools (the proposed new secondary schools and junior colleges) be about 60 per cent. of the cost of these schools the preceding year.

The Commission's report said that although the province's share might seem high it would be no higher than paid by the central authority in England, Wales and in a number of other places.

Armed Guard With Vishinsky

PLYMOUTH, England, Dec. 22 (AP)—Russia's foreign minister, Andrei Y. Vishinsky, arrived here today on the French liner Liberte en route home from the United Nations Assembly meeting in New York.

Neither Vishinsky nor members of his party of 14 would talk to reporters during the vessel's one-hour stop here.

A guard with a revolver bulging from one pocket guarded Vishinsky's luxury suite. Other passengers said Vishinsky kept to his suite for most of the Atlantic crossing.

Golds, Base Me tals Advance On Exchange

TORONTO, Dec. 22 — (CP).—Golds and base metals advanced in extremely quiet trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange today.

Activity slowed almost to a standstill as traders sat on the sidelines prior to the long Christmas week-end. Volume for the first three hours of 529,000 shares was 96,000 fewer than the first three hours yesterday.

Golds continued yesterday's advance and climbed from the opening. Senior producers chalked up a solid array of fractional gains and junior producers added pennies.

Base metals were ahead after mixed early dealings. Quemont paced the group with a $1.50 jump and Noranda, Steep Rock, Quebec Manitou and Labrador were leding issues that advanced.

Industrials were mixed in dull dealings. Foods, textiles, banks, and refining oils firmed while papers, steels, liquors, and agricultures eased. Aluminum, a feature yesterday, was the standout, jumping $2.50 at $103.50. Other industrial changes were limited to fractions.

Western oils firmed quietly. Calgary and Edmonton, Garnet, and National Petroleum added up to 10 cents.

ondary schools with four grades for children up to 16; junior colleges with courses ranging from two to three years. School attendance would be compulsory from six to 16 as now.

The report's recommendation that separate school boards have jurisdiction only over the elementary schools with their six grades was strongly opposed in the minority report and brought immediate criticism from James Cardinal McGuigan, Archbishop of Toronto.

Lack Authority

The minority report said Separate Schools have long had the right to teach pupils in the first 10 grades of school. It contended that it could be argued that the Ontario Legislature lacked authority to pass legislation reducing this to six.

Cardinal McGuigan said in a statement Thursday night that the proposal would cause "astonishment and consternation" among Roman Catholics. He added that the divergence of views indicated by the minority reports showed there should be careful consideration before implementing the report's proposals.

Nursery schools and kindergartens would be conducted in elementary schools in addition to the six grades, as the majority report conceived the setup. However, it suggested that the government withhold any grants to nursery schools on the grounds that their cost was out of proportion to results achieved. It recommended grants for kindergarten classes.

Use Junior Colleges

The report said its recommendations would give children up to 16 a sound general education. Then they would turn to junior colleges for a two-year vocational course or for university preparatory courses of two to three years, depending on conditions. The three-year course would cover the first two years of university education.

As a further aid to vocational training; the report urged, the provincial department of education should establish technical or polytechnical institutes where needed along with divisions for apprenticeship training.

The commision proposed steps to decentralize courses of study and to achieve a larger measure of centralization in school administration.

Decentralization would be accomplished by giving to local school boards the authority to set curricula and courses of study. This now rests with the provincial department. As one phase of this, it urged that local boards be authorized to introduce French as an additional subject for study in elementary schools. However, it insisted on English as the official language in schools and said such things as school letterheads should be in English—never in French.

Centralize Administration

The report recommended complete reorganization of local school boards to centralize administration and get away from "the present bewildering 57 varieties of school sections and districts and boards."

It proposed consultive committees, appointed on a county, city or district basis, to recommend boundaries or regions for administering second schools and junior colleges. All boards of trustees would be elected. At present some high school boards are appointed.

Public elementary schools would be administered by boards whose units of administration would correspond in area townships. At present, in rural areas, administration is in the hands of school sections with several in a township.

Three-year terms were proposed for school trustees except in city wards with two trustees. Their terms would be for two years.

Suggest Allowance

The report recommended that school board members be paid for out-of-pocket expenses incurred attending meetings or looking after school business and that they should also receive an allowance based on scales determined by the Minister of Education.

School boards should retain their independence of municipal councils in determining their local expenditures, the report contended.

It also offered a solution of the contentious question of payment of corporation taxes to Roman Catholic separate schools by proposing that such taxes go only to the support of secondary schools and junior colleges. The elementary schools—both public and separate—would levy taxes only on property owned by individuals. Separate schools have long contended they should receive a larger share of corporation taxes and in some cases have urged payment of a percentage on Roman Catholic shareholdings in the company concerned.

Urging Larger Grants

The report recommended increases in government grants to schools to reduce the burden of education costs on real estate, on which municipal taxation is based. It proposed that elementary schools get from the government 50 per cent of their cost of the previous year; that secondary schools and colleges get 60 per cent; and that payments be made on a quarterly basis.

The financial picture was at the heart of one of the first criticisms in the Separate School minority report. It said the majority made its decisions "without the benefit of the factual material which would have shown the various financial implications of their proposals" and that it had not considered ability of the province to meet costs its revised system would bring.

The report suggested that Ontario should have a full-time minister of education who would not hold any other cabinet portfolio. The present minister, Hon Dana Porter, is also attorney-general. Along with that, the commission said, the provincial department of education should be reorganized with its deputy minister as its chief executive officer. He would be assisted by an associate deputy and the department would be organized into seven divisions, each headed by a superintendent.

Two-Year Courses

For teacher training in elementary schools, the commission recommended establishment of two-year courses in junior colleges of education. It said present normal school buildings, where the present one-year courses are given, are not suitable and that the province should construct new buildings to house the colleges. Teachers for secondary schools and junior colleges, who would need a university degree, would continue to get their training in teaching at the Ontario College of Education in Toronto.

The Minister of Education should fixe a province-wide scale of minimum salaries, the report said. However, it opposed a fixed province-wide schedule because it would remove initiative from local boards and prevent competition for services of outstanding teachers.

It proposed a scale based on preparation and qualifications, rather than the training, of the teachers. An illustrative scale offered as an example showed starting minimums of $1,600 annually in elementary schools, $2,200 in secondary schools, and $2,500 in junior colleges.

Right To Be Candidates

Recognition was urged of the right of teachers to offer themselves as candidates in Federal or Provincial elections without prejudice to their cbontracts or rights.

Equalization of municipal assessment on a province-wide basis was urged. Pending that, the report proposed that equalization be undertaken in the school regions and areas which would be established if its report were made effective.

An inter-departmental committee was recommended to coordinate or re-allocate educational projects carried on by different departments of the government, such as agriculture, labor, mines, lands and forests and municipal affairs.

New school buildings were suggested in general that local authorities be responsible for such special educational treatment, the report said the province should maintain one residential school for the blind and another for the deaf. Some 17,000 children in the province now get special educational training, most of them unfitted physically, mentally or socially for attendance at regular schools.

Dutch Invent Mechanical Scarecrow Now

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

It is refreshing in these days of considerable concerns, to read that the Dutch have invented a mechanical scarecrow.

We have this on the word of the publication Netherlands Trade and Industry, issued by the Netherlands Information Bureau in Ottawa.

A patented "bang" apparatus produces an ear-deafening report with short, irregular intervals. It is absolutely "bird-proof" and actually is a small automatic acetylene generator.

A carbine burner burns continuously with a small flame. From the gas chamber a tube leads to the ejector, where the acetylene is mixed with air, forming an explosion chamber. At the top of the explosion chamber is the ignition tube which runs close to the flame.

Irregular Bangs

Whenever a quantity of gas has accumulated it will be ignited by the flame, and the gas explodes with a deafening bang. Two explosion chambers work independently of each other so that the bangs are produced at irregular intervals.

The sound radius depends on the nature of the field, but at any rate covers an area of 10,000 to 15,000 square feet. Even in the long run birds, hares and other harmful animals will not get accustomed to the peculiar noises produced by this mechanical scarecrow.

There you have it, all the way from Holland, if it's new.

As a newspaperman, the last thing that surprised the writer was the development of the atom bomb. He would have laid odds that it wouldn't have been developed in his lifetime. This mechanical scarecrow, if it works, surprises him almost as much.

UN Security Council that foreign troops leave Korea but that body, dominated by the U.S., refused to accept the suggestion. Thus the government has no sincere desire for peace, Chou's statement said.

3. The U.S. immediately approved the UN cease-fire proposal because the Americans want time to set up their troops and supplies so they can hold their battle lines of aggression. This is similar to the unsuccessful truce suggested by Gen. George C. Marshall in 1946. The Chinese learned a lesson from that proposal so it is impossible to use it again at the UN, Chou said.

Other Issues At Stake

4. The issues at stake at present do not only concern Korea. The U.S. government not only has committed aggression in Korea but has sent the 7th fleet to Formosa and also has bombed Manchurian territory. Communist China on the other hand has acted lawfully by sending volunteers to help North Korea which is fighting for its existence. The Chinese Communist government also is undertaking efforts to fight for peace in Asia which means world peace.

5. Communist China realizes that the 13 Arab-Asiatic countries really desire peace, but why cannot these delegates see through the American trick—that the Americans want a cease-fire first and then negotiate peace? If the Arab Asiatic nations really want peace they should abandon the unlawful cease-fire proposal and get away from American domination.

6. The Communist Chinese government again emphasized that all foreign troops must be withdrawn from Korea and the Koreans be left alone to settle their own problem. The Americans also must withdraw from Formosa and Communist China be permitted to take their lawful place in the United Nations.

Unless these points are carried out it will be impossible to achieve the Arab Asiatic proposal for peace in Korea, Chou concluded.

Two Theories

As a result of the various medical testimony, Magistrate Strike said there now appeared to be two theories about Mr. Sullivan's death. He may have been beaten or he may have suffered injuries about the head and body during a convulsion resulting from an agioma—brain tumor — haemorrhage.

Evidence that Mr. Sullivan had suffered from angioma was not discovered until Dec. 6. Before that time, said Magistrate Strike, it might have been a question whether Mr. Sullivan had not received a beating.

Now there were two theories instead of one, and in his opinion, he believed both should go before a jury for consideration.

34 Die In Collision

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Dec. 22 — (Reuters). — Thirty-four persons were killed and 54 injured when an express train and a large bus collided at a railroad crossing near Podivin, Monravia, last night, it was learned today. The official news agency Ceteka said the level crossing keeper had been arrested. The agency gave no other news of the crash.

OBITUARIES

MRS. JOHN A. FREEMAN

Mrs. John A. Freeman, 69, of 532 Patterson St., died in hospital Thursday following a lengthy illness. She was born at McCracken's Landing, the former Mabel A. McCracken, daughter of the late Robert McCracken and Euphemia Small. Mrs. Freeman has resided in Peterborough for 39 years, coming here from Otonabee.

She was a member of Trinity United Church; a life member of the WMS, and a very active church worker. She was also a life member of the Rebekah Lodge. On February 13, 1948, Mr. and Mrs. Freeman celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary.

She leaves her husband, John A. Freeman; three daughters, Mrs. John H. Bronner (Lilly) of Allantown, New Jersey, Mrs. Gerhard Loescher (Euphemia) of Niagara Falls, Ontario, and Mrs. Sydney Constable (Marian) of Peterborough; three sons, Mac of Long Branch, John C. and Claude R. of Peterborough; one sister, Mrs. Wm. Brotherstone of Peterborough, and 10 grandchildren. One daughter, Jola, predeceased her some years ago.

The funeral will be held from the Comstock funeral home Saturday at 2.30 p.m. The Rev. Dr. Bruce Gordon of Trinity United Church will conduct the service. Burial will be in Little Lake Cemetery.

MRS. ELIZABETH TINDLE

Mrs. Elizabeth Tindle died today in her home at R.R. 2, Omemee, at the age of 97.

Mrs. Tindle, the widow of Thomas Tindle, was born in England, the daughter of the late George Westlake and Elizabeth Metherall. She came to Canada with her parents in 1854 when she was one year old. The family settled in Cobourg and she lived in the district the rest of her life.

For many years she lived with her husband on their farm at Tindle's Bay on Chemong Lake. When he died in 1935, Mrs. Tindle moved to R.R. 2, Omemee. For many years Mrs. Tindle was active in church work in the United Church.

Mrs. Tindle had been in good health and kept active until a week ago when she took sick.

The funeral service will be held at the Comstock Funeral Home Saturday at 3.30 p.m., conducted by the Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt of Omemee United Church, and Rev. W. Leaton, Gilmour United Church, Chemong Highway. Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

Paper, Radio In Sudbury Sold Locally

TORONTO, Dec. 22—(CP)—The Sudbury Star and Radio Station CKSO have been sold for about $1,500,000 to a group of Sudbury business men headed by J. R. Meakes, it was disclosed Thursday.

The announcement was made here by the Canada Permanent Trust Company, an executor of the W. E. Mason Foundation, set up by the will of W. E. Mason, publisher of the Star, who died June 22, 1948.

The sale, under the terms of the Ontario Charitable Gifts Act, is subject to approval of the Ontario Supreme Court.

W. Leo Knowlton, manager of the trust company, said negotiations were completed Thursday.

Associated with Mr. Meakes—publisher and general manager of the Star since Mr. Mason's death—are W. B. Plaunt, Sr., prominent lumber man; G. M. Miller, K.C., and Judge James Cooper, all of Sudbury.

Mr. Knowlton said the value of the estate has increased "substantially" since Mr. Mason's death. The money realized from the sale will be distributed among various charitable organizations named by Mr. Mason as beneficiaries of the foundation.

Chief Beneficiaries

Among the chief beneficiaries are Sudbury Memorial Hospital, Sudbury General Hospital, St. Joseph's Hospital, Sudbury; Queen Victoria Hospital, North Bay, The Canadian Red Cross Society, for a poliomyelitis rehabilitation centre. Other funds will go for centre, the Sudbury Library and Sudbury Community Centre. Other funds will go for scholarships set up by Mr. Mason.

Mr. Knowlton said he was unable to determine immediately the amounts available to each of the beneficiaries.

Mr. Mason was predeceased by his wife. They had no children. The North Bay Nugget, another Mason paper, was bought shortly after his death by a syndicate headed by employees of the paper.

Sales to Sudbury interests carries out the wishes of its founder, Mr. Meakes said in Sudbury.

Wed 50 Years On Christmas

WARKWORTH, Dec. 22 (ENS) —On Christmas Day, Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Jones of 83 Ravina Crescent, Toronto will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary.

Mr. Jones, when a young man, lived with his parents' family on a farm just west of Warkworth. He is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Jones.

Mrs. Jones, the former Mabel White, was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph White of Dartford.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones were married at Dartford on Dec. 25th, 1900, and lived on the farm west of Warkworth. Later they moved to Eldorado, and later to Toronto. They have two sons Elgin Jones of Detroit, Mich., and Morris Jones of Toronto and four granddaughters. One son Clifford died in childhood.

Mrs. Jones has one sister living, Mrs. Edgar Rosevear (Hattie) of Port Hope. Mrs. Frank Wilson of this vicinity, another sister, died this year. A brother, Irvin White, lives in Vancouver. Mr. Freeman White, formerly of Warkworth is dead and a brother died in Africa.

Mr. Jones has three brothers living, Dave and George Jones of Winona and Will Jones of Trenton and one sister, (Minnie) widow of the Rev. John Black of Oshawa and a brother, Jesse Jones, who is dead.

Their immediate family including their sons and families and the brothers and sisters of the couple and their families will celebrate their golden wedding with them. The following day (Tuesday) their nieces and nephews and other close friends and relatives will join them in a reception at their home.

Mrs. Charles Honey of this vicinity is a niece of Mrs. Jones.

Candlelight Service Held At Hastings

HASTINGS, Dec. 22 (ENS). — The Christmas meeting of the Evening Auxiliary of Trinity United Church was held at the home of Mrs. E. M. Hess on Wednesday evening. The president, Mrs. J. M. Baker, opened the meeting. The minutes were read by the secretary, Mrs. Alton Thompson.

The president expressed the thanks of the auxiliary to Mrs. Walter Peck who has been greeting card convener.

Donations to the auxiliary were received from Miss N. A. Hyland and Miss Mae Huycke, who is now residing in Winnipeg.

The meeting was then turned over to Mrs. C. M. Baker, convener for the Christmas program which took the form of a candle lighting service. Assisting were Mrs. R. Burnham, Mrs. A. Orr, Mrs. W. Peck and Mrs. F. Crate.

At the close of the meeting the hostess served lunch.

Young Man Escapes Car Is Total Wreck

MARMORA, Dec. 22 (ENS) — Thomas Neal, 23, Marmora township escaped with little more than a severe shaking up early on Thursday morning as his car went out of control on No. 14 Highway near Springbrook skidded into the ditch, bounced off a tree, then broke a telephone poll and rolled for 30 feet before coming to rest.

Neal told police that his car hit an icy stretch on the highway as he lost control of it. He suffered a cut over his eye and complained of injury to his side. He was treated at the office of Dr. H. G. Parkin Marmora and later removed to the home of his brother, Cecil Neal, Marmora.

Provincial Constable T. DLummiss of Madoc who investigated said the late model coupe Neal was driving was an almost complete wreck.

Want Minister Of Education On Only One Job

TORONTO, Dec. 22 — (CP) — Reorganization of the Department of Education with the government minister holding only the single cabinet portfolio is suggested in the Hope report on education.

The report emphasizes the importance of the job of running the department and is opposed to a situation such as at present in which Dana Porter is in charge of the attorney-general's department as well as education.

No reduction in staff of the department is foreseen as a result of the recommendations, the report says. It adds that if men of high calibre are to be attracted to the department, salaries must be raised.

The report criticizes the arrangement under which there is a post known as chief director between those of the minister and deputy minister. It suggests that the deputy minister be restored to the senior position inside the department and calls for creation of the post of associate deputy minister.

Responsibilities of the various sections and divisions of the department should be clearly laid out, particularly in respect to education of children in the isolated areas of Ontario.

The department should be reorganized into seven divisions, each headed by a superintendent responsible to the deputy minister and his associate. These divisions would be: elementary education, secondary education, further education, professional education, curriculum, business administration and the division of the registrar.

These six superintendents and registrar should make up a committee to deal with general questions of education and devise means of implementing policy laid down by the minister. They would also put together recommendations for presentation to the deputy minister.

The Task of The Peacemakers

The task confronting the three-man commission appointed by U.N. to bring about a cease-fire in Korea, and if possible a peaceful settlement in the East, is a complex and difficult one. Mr. Entezam, the President of the U.N. Assembly, Sir Benegal Rau, and our own Mr. L. B. Pearson are charged "to determine the basis on which a satisfactory cease-fire in Korea can be arranged". General Wu, on behalf of Communist China, has gone home, and the commission, if it wants to meet with the Chinese foreign minister, must go to China to do so. There are those who consider it undignified to follow this course; they say that it reminds them of Mr. Chamberlain's visit to Munich. But surely this resemblance is a superficial and invalid one? However, the commission has not yet been invited to go to China, and if no attention is paid to its overtures by New Year's Day it will have to report to U.N. that it has been given.

* * *

The U.S.A. has said that it is "ready to seek an end to the hostilities by means of negotiation"; the Chinese say that they will "strive for a peaceful solution". They are both ready to negotiate, but they cannot agree on what they will negotiate about. The U.S.A. wants to confine negotiations entirely to Korea. The Chinese want to negotiate about Korea, about Formosa and about Chinese representation in U.N. In this respect we feel that the U.S.A. is rocking the boat, for there can be no doubt that the Formosa question is just as likely to start a general war as is Korea, and to refuse to discuss it shows something less than a wholehearted anxiety for peace. To simplify the issue: in Korea the Chinese are powerful and wrong; in Formosa they are powerless and right. The Chinese will not relinquish their advantage in Korea unless they can make some bargain about Formosa. If the Americans really want peace they must not be so rigid in their refusal to discuss the Formosa question. After all, if they become engaged in a great war, they will expect the other Western nations to help them. Does Canada want to go to war because the U.S.A. will not discuss Formosa?

* * *

But there can be no negotiations unless there is a cease-fire first. After that has been achieved, arrangements can be made for a full-dress discussion of the points at issue between the U.S.A. and China. Every effort must be made—and, we truly believe, is being made—to bring about the cease-fire. If that is not achieved we may be toppled into a war for which there seems to be no satisfactory cause.

Dangerous Insanity

A 64-year-old man living with his son and daughter-in-law in a small farmhouse near Smithville killed the daughter-in-law by hitting her with a hammer. He thereupon hanged himself. The son was away at his factory job in Grimsby when this affair occurred. The woman was struck down as she was about to milk a cow. She had been alone in the house with her father-in-law and two young children.

This sad affair need not have occurred, if the facts as reported are correct. The older man had not been well for some time. He had been a patient in a Provincial mental hospital, and had come to live with his son only six weeks ago. The son had requested the authorities to check up on his father, but nothing was done. Obviously the man was known to be potentially dangerous. Ontario's institutions for the mentally ill, and the procedure for discharging patients and keeping a check on them afterwards are inadequate if such a murder and suicide can occur.

Ontario mental hospitals are overcrowded, their staffs hard-pressed and there are too few of them. According to a survey made by the Federal Department of National Health, in connection with the National Health Program, since May 1948 (the period covered by the survey), Ontario has not added one bed to its mental hospitals by way of new construction or additions to existing institutions. This contrasts most unfavourably with Quebec, which has added 1,861 beds to its mental hospital accommodation in the same period.

Car Price Increases

The Economic Stabilization Agency set up in the U.S.A. by President Truman took a look at increased prices announced in certain makes of cars, and told the manufacturers that they were to put the prices back to the original levels. The General Motors Corporation, chiefly affected, thereupon stopped the sale of Chevrolets, Pontiacs and Cadillacs, pending an appeal and consideration of the ruling. Canada has not yet been affected by these moves.

Locally, Chevrolets and Pontiacs, 1951 models, have price increases ranging from $89 to $104. Chrysler and other car makers are also increasing their prices. The Canadian Government apparently has not the same fear of inflation as the American, and has not taken any official notice of price increases in any make of car. And of course, the companies have not stopped the sale of their cars. Thus, for the time being, the droll situation is that Canadians can buy General Motors cars quite freely, even though many of the parts are American; and Americans cannot buy them at all.

We do not, however, anticipate any rush across the border to buy Chevrolets or Pontiacs in Canada. General Motors cars, like all other North American makes, are many hundreds of dollars higher than the same types of car in the States.

Manpower and Machinery in Korea

National preparedness for war in the U.S.A. is taking the form of a great drive for armaments, as well as for men; our own effort will no doubt follow that example. But when we look at what has happened in Korea we may wonder if our extreme emphasis on machines is not overdone.

What has happened there? General MacArthur has a force comprising seven well-equipped U.S. divisions and two combat teams of brigade strength, five divisions of South Korean troops, two British Commonwealth brigades, and a Turkish brigade; all these forces are well armed with machinery, and are equipped in the most modern manner; they number something like 200,000. But the Chinese, lightly and, by modern standards, poorly armed, have apparently defeated the U.N. forces by sheer weight of numbers. They have chosen to fight on terrain impossible to the U.N. troops, they have made the most of the mobility which their light arms and their knowledge of the ground give them, and they have pushed our forces, equipped as they are with artillery and air strength, backward in a humiliating manner.

This is something to ponder. Lack of modern equipment is apparently not too great a handicap if you have great numbers of men. Modern equipment costs a great deal of money, and it can be a handicap. Air supremacy, though desirable, cannot win a battle. And, as the last war proved, the most savage and thorough bombing of enemy industries does remarkably little to cut down their productiveness. Are we, in our concepts of war, too much the prisoners of our own passion for machines? Machines can undoubtedly give us great advantages, but to what extent can they take the place of manpower?

Christmas Greetings From China

When General Wu, Communist China's spokesman before the U.N. Security Council, left the United States earlier this week to fly home, he wished the American people the compliments of the season; in fact, a Happy Christmas. This was not irony. We attribute it to the ingrained courtesy of the Chinese people, or their courtliness in dealing with foreigners on a higher level than a fox-hole. But it is an irony of modern circumstance that the representative of a nation which is at war with another—actually at war, if undeclared—should affably greet that nation on its own soil at this season dedicated to peace and good-will on earth.

General Wu is not a Christian, but in his final statement at the airport he also said: "There has always been a profound friendship between the Chinese people and the American people . . . We believe that if the peace-loving people of the whole world unite closely together, distinguish calmly between right and wrong, between truth and falsehood . . . war can be definitely stopped and prevented." Those are sound Christian sentiments, and General Wu's tone and words are milder than his attitude at the Security Council table when he first arrived. Perhaps the Christian spirit has infected him. It is to be hoped that he does not shed it over the Pacific before he gets back to report to Mao.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A Candidate for municipal office in Russia claims to be 142 years old. He has the advantage of having outlived everybody who knows what he is really like.

A college in the U.S.A. has introduced a course in humour. Laughing at the professors' jokes, of course, is still taught in the course in tact.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

ALPHA: Why do audiences stand up when the Hallelujah Chorus from Handel's Messiah is performed? Does the Holy Ghost descend then? Personally, I find the practice tiresome and banal. They did it again Wednesday evening at George Street Church when four United Church choirs did part of the Messiah.

ANSWER: I suspect that one reason for the popularity of the Hallelujah Chorus is that it gives people something to do—to stand up. All the clever ones remember that they are supposed to stand. I always take great pleasure in watching the audience just at the moment when the great chorus is due. Some clever people (musically, of course) have been waiting all evening for the chance to exhibit their musical perspicacity and there is a contest among the cleverest as to who will stand up first. The clever are sometimes cheated of their glory, unless there is a printed program, for the Hallelujah Chorus does not always come at the end. In fact, as Handel wrote the oratorio, it comes at the end of Part II, and is not the final Part III chorus, which is "Worthy is the Lamb".

The practice of standing for the chorus has two explanations. The exalted one is that when King George II first heard this work by his German compatriot, he was so moved by its majesty that His Majesty rose to his feet, and since, when the King stands, all others must stand, the audience rose. The other explanation is that there were a lot of Handel's debtors in the audience at the London premiere, and they were cute enough to recognize in his Messiah that here was a paying proposition. In glee they severally rose to their feet, saying almost out loud: "By the Lord Harry. This Dutchman Handel has the goods. This will make money! We'll extend our credit and not foreclose." The rest of the audience, seeing these moneylenders standing, thought the show was ending, and also stood up, preparatory to getting their cloaks so as to be first out to get the last bus (pardon, stage-coach, it was in the 1740's) for Hammersmith. At any rate The Messiah rescued Handel from bankruptcy.

The English were so pleased that the debtor had become solvent that they buried the composer in Westminster Abbey (1759—the year Wolfe took Quebec), declared this German to be an English musician par excellence, marmorealized him as a composer of church music, (a falsification—for apart from his Psalms and his Te Deum, he was a composer for the theatre; even his oratorios were intended primarily for the theatre) and gave an exaggerated supremacy to his The Messiah, which to this day is maintained in every village in England and in far-flung towns like Peterborough. Often the production of The Messiah in these centres is more ritualistic than musical. My fellow columnist, Peter Piper, will, I trust, add his learning to my prejudices. I apologize for invading his territory.

ALPHA: I note that the Peterborough family home of Miss Catherine Wallis, the sculptress, was called Merino. I wonder why?

ANSWER: Because her father Captain Wallis was the first to import and breed Merino sheep in these parts. Mrs. de la Fosse, who knows the family well, tells me that he was the first to have them in Canada and that he imported them from Scotland. The house Merino is the present G. H. Roper property west Park Hill Road, beyond Jackson Park.

The name Merino is Spanish and the sheep appears to have originated in Africa, whence it was brought by Moors to Spain from where it spread over the continent. It is not very common in Great Britain whose climate does not favour the growth of the finest wool. The importing of Merinos into the United States began about 1800. By the way, the term "Botany" applied to wool refers to the wool of the Merino sheep. It was shipped from Botany Bay, N.S.W., Australia where Merinos are and were raised in large numbers.

SIR: The Christmas hymn 'O Come, All Ye Faithful' is quite often called 'Adeste Fideles'. Why? What does that mean?

ANSWER: The Latin means Come, ye faithful. It is the beginning of the first line, and the Latin is englished into 'O Come, all ye faithful, joyful and triumphant' etc.

In the seventeenth and early eighteenth centuries there was an interesting attempt to revive Latin hymn-writing. Coffin and Besnault wrote Latin hymns, of which the former's 'Que Stella Sole Pulchior' is a charming example. The Christmas masterpiece of this late period is 'Adeste Fideles'. This Latin hymn with its tune was first discovered in Clogowes College in Ireland in 1746. It was distributed to various Roman Catholic institutions in England shortly afterwards. Adeste Fideles was taken up and patronized in the Chapel of the Portuguese ambassador to England. In 1841 Canon Frederick Oakley translated it into the English everyone knows and sings at this season.

DEAR ALPHA: A fortnight or more ago someone asked what percentage of our words are derived from Anglo-Saxon, and whether there were enough of them in the English language to form an adequate means of expression. Your reply was illuminating, as usual, but you professed not to know the figures. Here the they: of the 20,000 words most commonly used in English (know anybody with a vocabulary of such magnitude?) about 3,400 are of Anglo-Saxon origin. But these are the words we use most of all, nearly all our pronouns, our short, common adverbs (so, very, not), almost all our prepositions and conjunctions.

Isn't it interesting that the fundamental things in a man's life, the things that satisfy his natural desires, can all be described with old, plain words? Of course if one of Peterborough's precieux wishes to make both a comprehensive analysis of the international situation and an impression he must draw on Greek and Latin-rooted words. But to dig the soil, play a tune, make a fire, or get a child—Anglo-Saxon will do. Merry Christmas!

RESPONSE: Many thanks for the interesting elaboration. And Merry Christmas to you and all my other readers and correspondents. May it be a cheerful, pleasant season for us all:

"Make we joy now in this feast
In quo Christus natus est."

EARLY CHRISTMAS

Christmas In Paris

By ROBERT STEPHENS

IN spite of Korea and Mao Tse Tung, this looks like being the most peaceful Christmas Paris has had since the Liberation. No strikes, no riots — a few demonstrations against rearming Germany, but nothing serious. The Communists are too busy with their "peace" campaign, and the Gaullists, apart from two recent sibylline utterances of the General himself, are keeping quiet. For a good many people, too, it is the most prosperous Christmas since the war. For this has been a fairly good year. The franc is steady and exports are rising. Prices are rising, too, but not steeply yet.

True, there are other clouds on the horizon besides the threat of war. This is the budget season and before the year ends Parliament will have to vote new taxes and approve a new loan to pay for rearmament. The world crisis in raw materials will hit France increasingly hard. Young conscripts are now away for eighteen months instead of a year and their mothers and fiances are afraid it may soon be two years before they are home if war doesn't start before then.

True also that if you follow the Rue Lafayette, one of the city's longest streets, that runs straight as an arrow north-east from the back of the Opera and the big shops up to the tangle of noisy railway yards round Strasbourg, Saint Denis and Belleville, you will find plenty of people hard put to scrape together something for their children's Christmas stockings. There in smoke-blackened, sagging tenements, families crowd bitterly into one or two small, dark, insanitary rooms. At one end of the Rue Lafayette, supper is a six-course affair in a red-plush restaurant with a commissionaire and gleaming Cadillacs outside the door. At the other end, it is leek soup, bread and a piece of cheese, and vin ordinaire at sixty-five francs the litre when father is in funds.

BUT for those who want to forget politics or hard times, there is plenty to take their minds off the wolf at the door or the atom bomb round the corner. This Christmas Paris is making more efforts than ever to justify its title of the "city of light". At the theatre they can laugh at Andre Roussin's "Le Petite Hutte" (The Little Hut), now in its fourth year, a sparkling comedy of how an eternal triangle rearranges itself when cast on a desert island. A prolific young playwright, Roussin has two other comedies running as well: 'Nina' and 'Bobosse,' the latter with that brilliant actor, Francois Perier, who played Beauty's chauffeur in Jean Cocteau's film 'Orpheus'.

Jean Anouilh, equally prolific in a more serious vein, has a new play "La Repetition —ou l'Amour Puni" (The Rehearsal or Love Punished.) This, together with a new play "Mariatesta" by Henri de Montherlant, is in the repertoire of the Marigny company headed by Jean-Louis Barrault who dominates the new generation of French actor-producers. The Comedie Francaise which is packed for its new production of Shakespeare's "Winter's Tale" has also added to its repertoire a dramatization of one of Andre Gide's most famous early works, "Les Caves du Vatican". Curiously enough the new translation of "Winter's Tale" is by a man bearing the same name—though without any family connection—as the early French writer, Buget, from whom Shakespeare is said to have borrowed the story of his play.

In the world of books, this is the season of literary prizes. These are usually awarded by small select juries over a long animated lunch in some famous restaurant. The most coveted is the Prix Goncourt, awarded for what is considered the best novel of the year. The Prix Goncourt label makes a book a best-seller even if not many of the choices are likely to be long remembered by posterity. This year's choice was "Les Jeux Sauvages" (The Wild Games) a novel about a gang of sadistically-minded children growing up in the country, and what became of them. It is the first published novel of a struggling young author named Paul Colin.

In a slashing review of the book in "Le Monde", the Academician Emile Henriot, described it as showing another aspect of the "new romanticism." "The romanticism of our fathers", he said, "was concerned above all with the heart. That of the present generation is concerned with the lowest parts of man, and it will not be easy to make it give up its chief privilege which consists of the right to do everything it pleases."

Yet the present generation is much the same as its fathers, except that it has more to be afraid of. It still puts on its Sunday suit and takes its children to the Bois de Boulogne, the Zoo or the Luxembourg Gardens to play ball and watch the toy yachts on the round pond. That is where Paris's heart is warmest and where it shows you most unmistakeably, with the wisdom of its two thousand years' experience, that life, love and laughter must go on whatever the state of the world may be.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And great multitudes were gathered together unto him, so that he went into a ship, and sat; and the whole multitude stood on the shore.... And the disciples came, and said unto him, Why speakest thou unto them in parables?

He answered and said unto them, Because it is given unto you to know the mysteries of the kingdom of heaven, but to them it is not given.... And in them is fulfilled the prophecy of Esaias, which saith, By hearing ye shall hear, and shall not understand; and seeing ye shall see, and shall not perceive: for this people's heart is waxed gross, and their ears are dull of hearing, and their eyes they have closed; lest at any time they should see with their eyes, and hear with their ears, and should understand with their heart, and should be converted, and I should heal them. (Matt. 13: 2, 10, 11, 14, 15.)

And they brought young children to him, that he should touch them: and his disciples rebuked those that brought them.

But when Jesus saw it he was much displeased, and said unto them, Suffer the little children to come unto me, and forbid them not: for of such is the kingdom of God. Verily I say unto you, Whosover shall not receive the kingdom of God as a little child, he shall not enter therein. And he took them up in his arms, put his hands upon them, and blessed them. (Mark 10: 13-16.)

Golf Course, Never Used

(London Daily Mail)

An 18-hole golf course that has never been played on is for sale on the Cornish coast between Looe and Seaton.

It was completed in 1939 as part of a Great Western Railway development scheme, and has been maintained at a cost of thousands of pounds.

The G.W.R. planed an extension of their line to link resorts in East Cornwall. The golf course was part of the plan, which also included an all-the-year-round hotel.

Now the Railways Executive have abandoned the scheme.

Influenza Centre At Geneva Guarding World

GENEVA, Dec. 22 (Reuters)—The World Influenza Centre is guarding against the danger of an influenza epidemic as that of 1918 which took some 20,000,000 lives.

Through the newly-created international network of laboratories, headed by the World Centre, it now is possible to keep a closer watch on the spread of the disease.

The World Influenza Centre was set up in 1947 by the World Health Organization, a United Nations agency headed by Brock Chisholm, formerly Canadian deputy health minister. The Centre has a two-fold function:

1. It plays the part of international "watchdog" on the development of influenza throughout the world.

2. It has undertaken long-term research projects with the ultimate objective of preparing a vaccine which can be used against all types of influenza virus.

Need New Vaccines

Influenza virus changes its properties so rapidly that it has been impossible to find a stable virus from which to make a potent vaccine. At present, for every new type of virus discovered, a new vaccine must be prepared.

With the coming of winter, cases of inflenza are once again showing a steady increase throughout the world, and everywhere public health authorities and doctors are keeping a close watch on the situation.

The world health organization in Geneva is receiving information on the extent of the infection throughout the world. These reports are collated and immediately forwarded to the World Influenza Centre.

The World Centre had its first severe test during the influenza epidemic which raged through Europe during 1948 and the beginning of 1949. As soon as the first cases were reported, regional laboratories rushed samples of the virus to the World Influenza Centre for identification. Tests showed that once again influenza was striking with a new kind of virus never before encountered.

But, had the epidemic shown any signs of becoming serious as that of 1918, it would have been possible to prepare in time a special vaccine to prevent the disease from becoming really widespread.

THE THREE WISE MEN on their camels following the Star of Bethlehem to the birthplace of the infant Jesus are featured in one of the 11 windows which tell the Nativity story in a Montreal store. The story, depicted scene by scene in the windows, begins with Mary and Joseph arriving in Bethlehem and finding no room in the Inn.

Influential Role Assumed By Canada In World Crisis

By GEORGE KITCHEN

OTTAWA, Dec. 22 —(CP)—The expanding world struggle against Communist imperialism, with battle-ravaged Korea in the forefront, intensified Canada's responsibilities in the international sphere in 1950.

It brought graver problems to the government's council tables, sent Canadian troops abroad for the first time since the end of the Second World War and placed fresh demands on this country's delegation to the United Nations and on its globe-girdling diplomatic services.

Canada already was deep in international efforts to save the peace when the Korean war broke late in June, bringing a quick step-up in activity on both the home and the diplomatic fronts. Canada played a leading role in moves both to push ahead North Atlantic defence preparations and keep the Korean fight from assuming world-wide proportions.

Gives Leadership

In one field, Canada gave leadership to the rest of the United Nations in the Korean crisis. In forming a special force for Korea, she earmarked it to carry out Canada's UN obligations generally and thus became the first country to provide forces for UN policing duties wherever they are needed.

"We think that by the precident," External Affairs Minister Pearson told parliament during its emergency session, "we have begun the establishment of United Nations forces for use not only in Korea but elsewhere."

He expressed the hope that other countries would follow Canada's lead, but by the year-end, while other forces had been contributed for Korea, none were offered on the same basis as the Canadian contingent.

Co-Operation With US

As part of the strengthening of defences, Canada and the United States exchanged diplomatic notes which virtually marked a revival of the wartime Hyde Park agreement, under which the Canadian and American war production machines operated almost as one. Closer production links were established.

With Canadian troops taking the field in a new, though smaller, conflict, this country announced its intention to draw the Second World War to a close. The government said it would follow Britain, France and the US in ending its state of war with Germany "as soon as it is in a position to do so."

At the same time, Canada joined other Commonwealth nations in seeking to avert the spread of Comunism in vital South-East Asia. She took part in the formulation of the Colombo Plan, which proposed to extend technical and other aid to those under-developed regions over a period of years.

Important Talks

As the year drew to a close, Britain's Prime Minister Attlee came to Ottawa for talks with Prime Minister St. Laurent and his Cabinet. The visit followed one with President Truman in Washington. No hint escaped of what went on behind the council doors here, but both sides termed the talks "helpful."

As activity within the North Atlantic pact stepped up, Defence Minister Claxton and Mr. Pearson flew to Brussels in December for meetings of the organization's defence and foreign ministers.

Mr. St. Laurent himself prepared to go to London early in the New Year for a meeting in London of Commonwealth prime ministers. At this conference, the Commonwealth chiefs were expected to review the world situation as a whole as it affects the Commonwealth and its member states.

Approve Construction

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP)—Without debate, the Senate gave approval Thursday for the armed forces to carry out $1,600,000,000 of defence construction—some of it so secret that legislators were not told its nature. The Senate voice vote sent the legislation on to President Truman. The House of Representatives passed it Wednesday.

Family Receives $14,750 In Suit

WINDSOR, Dec. 22 —(CP)—The family of Gerard Desormeaux killed Sept. 25 by an unknown motorist, has been given a Supreme Court judgment for $14,750 in a suit brought against the Provincial Registrar of Motor Vehicles.

The driver did not stop after striking Mr. Desormeaux, who was standing at a bus stop in suburban Riverside.

In such cases, the victim or his heirs have the right to sue the Registrar for damages for the unsatisfied judgments fund.

Inflation Threat Marks 1950 Defence Proves Big Factor

By HAROLD MORRISON

OTTAWA, Dec. 22 —(CP)—The threat of inflation swept through the Canadian price scene in 1950 as the western defence machine opened its momentous rearmament drive.

Prices climbed everywhere. But the government declared it would not again enter the prices field unless parliament pronounced a "national emergency."

Instead, it would seek to kill inflation at its roots—by cutting into spending power through increased taxation and restrictions on credit buying.

Labor Dissatisfied

Canada's four major labor bodies—about 1,000,000 strong—showed their dissatisfaction by preparing a concerted campaign for the return of general price controls and retention particularly of the government's rental controls, slated for complete withdrawal in May, 1951.

But while the labor unions called for price and rent controls, they made no clear-cut request for wage freezes and government officials emphasized there could be no effective control on prices without controls on wages.

Meanwhile, prices swept up. The cost-of-living index, a barometer of consumer prices, climbed from 161.6 in January to an all-time high of 170.7 in September and October. This index is based in 1935-39 prices equalling 100.

Steady Increases

Food, rent, fuel, clothing, home - furnishings and other budget items were at or near all-time levels. In the index, the food sub-group which stood at 201.3 in January, climbed to 218.6 in October.

Rents, partilly decontrolled, advanced to 136.4 from 125.0; fuel and lighting to 140.6 from 135.9; clothing to 184.5 from 183.0; home furnishings and services to 174.8 from 166.4, and the miscellaneous group from 132.1 to 133.4.

Another upward sweep occurred in a segment of the wholesale price range. The Bureau of Statistics index of 30 industrial materials, which include such essentials as raw wool, tin rubber, and cotton, climbed almost 41 points in 12 months. Based on 1926 prices equalling 100, the index climbed to 191.8 in November, from 150.9 in November 1949.

Price Advances

The general cross - country climb in prices was reflected in price advances in selected regional cities. The regional cost-of-living index nosed upward, gaining 10 points in a year at Saint John, NB, Montreal and Winnipeg and making smaller but nonetheless upward strides at Toronto, Halifax, Saskatoon, Edmonton and Vancouver.

Based on 1935-39 prices equalling 100, here is how the regional index stood on Nov. 1, 1950, with the 1949 standing in brackets:

Halifax, 151.9 (154.2); Saint John, 167.5 (157.9); Montreal, 174.8 (164.3); Toronto, 166.9 (157.2); Winnipeg, 165.3 (155.7); Saskatoon, 168.7 (162.8); Edmonton, 169.4 (151.7); Vancouver 171.7 (162.3).

Battle Root Causes

It all appeared to boil down to the fact that people had more money, wanted more goods and were straining production facilities to get all that they wanted. Kenneth Taylor, assistant deputy minister of finance, pointed out how greatly the inflationary trend had made its impact on the Western World.

Speaking before an Ottawa consumers' organization, he estimated that the price range on the North American continent had trebled in the last half-century, and since the Korean war, prices had increased considerably.

"For example, rubber which was 16 cents a pound now is over 80 cents; raw cotton a few months ago was 29 cents, now it is 43 cents; wool has nearly doubled in price; tin, lead and zinc have gone up about 75 per cent, and so have vegetable oils."

The way to halt this inflation, said Mr. Taylor, was by controlling the factors behind price behavior: money and credit, "by wise taxation and spending policies and by a variety of other means that go to the root causes of inflation and deflation."

C.N.R. Net Revenue $9,278,000 In Nov.

MONTREAL, Dec. 22 —(CP)—Canadian National system today reported net operating revenue for November at $9,273,000, compared with $5,493,000 in the corresponding month last year.

Total operating revenue amounted to $52,896,000 against $44,560,000 in the same month last year, while operating expenses were $43,618,000 compared with $39,067,000 in November of the preceding year.

First Time Grey Cup Went To West Upset of Half Century

By JACK SULLIVAN

TORONTO, Dec. 22—(CP)—A football team that came out of Winnipeg to win western Canada its first Grey Cup in 1935 staged the Canadian sports upset of the half century. When the unheralded Winnipeg Blue Bombers defeated Hamilton Tigers 18-12 at Hamilton in 1935 they put on the greatest reversal of form in 50 years, sports editors and sportscasters decided today in a Canadian Press poll. It was a close decision over the Chicago Black Hawks' surprising win from Toronto Maple Leafs in the 1937 Stanley Cup finals after they had finished sixth in the National Hockey League standings.

Defeat of the Canadian hockey team in the 1936 Olympics by a British team starring a Canadian, goalie Jimmy Foster of Winnipeg, ranked high among upset selections, along with Regina Rangers win over Sydney Millionaires in the 1941 Allan Cup series after they had lost three games.

Toronto's four-straight triumph in the 1942 Stanley Cup series after they had lost the first three games to Detroit Red Wings also drew heavy support.

Other Upsets Popular

Other upsets close to the hearts of the voters included the victory of Sandy Somerville, of London, Ont., in the 1932 United States amateur golf championship, the first and only time a Canadian captured the event.

They also voted for Calgary Stampeders' 12-7 win over Ottawa Rough Riders in the 1948 East-West football final; Ottawa's 11-2 defeat of Queen's in the 1925 Eastern Canada football final, and George Young's win in the 1927 Catalina marathon swim.

Other voters thought these were the upsets of the half century: Winnipeg Blue Bombers' poor showing in the 1950 Grey Cup game, which they lost 13-0 to Toronto Argonauts; the 1932 Olympic high jump winning leap of six feet, 5⅝ inches by Vancouver's Duncan McNaughton; the failure of the speedboat Miss Canada IV to break the world speed record in attempts in 1949 and 1950; and Maternal Pride's King's Plate victory in 1924.

Never A Challenge

Before Blue Bombers upset Tigers in 1935 Western Canada champions had made 11 trips east for the Grey Cup game without seriously challenging the East's supremacy. Tigers had won three cups in the previous seven years and had carried everything before them in 1935, smashing Queen's University 44-4 and Sarnia Imperials 22-3 in the eastern playoffs.

Tigers had one of their greatest teams with Johnny Ferraro tossing passes, Huck Welch and Frank Turville, two all-time kicking greats, and such linemen as Brian Timmis, Seymour Wilson and Jimmy Simpson. If the West was to win in any year, 1935 didn't seem a likely choice.

Winnipeg hadn't played for three weeks until they had an exhibition game at Windsor with Assumption College and looked anything but good in beating the youngsters 17-0.

Different Story

But on that cold Dec. 7 afternoon at Hamilton it was a different story. Amost before the crowd had settled back in their seats Bob Fritz threw a forward to Bud Marquardt for an unconverted touchdown.

Turville put Tigers back in the running with a placement but, although he and Welch were outkicking Bombers, they lost ground when a little blonde backfielder named Fritz Hanson, an import from the United States, ran their kicks back with a speed and elusiveness that thrilled and shocked eastern fans.

Winnipeg led 12-4 at half time but Tigers turned a fumble into a touchdown that made it 12-9 and then 12-10 with a Turville kick.

The touchdown play that gave Winnipeg the title started when Hanson caught a Welch kick on his 10-yard line and started to twist his way through the Tiger team. He was in the clear for a while, then seemingly blocked, and again in the clear with the Tiger team pounding after him. He twisted away from tackler after tackler and crossed the line with the Tiger pack hot on his heels.

There was more scoring but Hanson's galloping touchdown decided the issue and brought the West for the first time firmly into the Canadian football championship picture.

Boxer's Daughter Won't Get Gifts, Daddy Dead

NEW YORK, Dec. 22 (AP). — Little two-year-old Sharon West won't get the toy piano daddy intended to buy her for Christmas.

Her daddy, Al (Sonny Boy) West, died Thursday night, some 22 hours after he had been knocked out by Percy Bassett of Philadelphia in a boxing bout at St. Nicholas Arena.

The 21-year-old West, a Negro lightweight from Washington, underwent two delicate brain operations and received three blood transfusions, but failed to regain consciousness.

Dr. Vincent Nardiello, State Athletic Commission physician, said West died of an intra-cerebral haemorrhage and a cerebral concussion. When he was knocked out, West fell flat on his back and his head hit the canvas with a thud.

He did not respond to Nardiello's treatment and was carried from the ring on a stretcher and rushed to hospital. He rallied after the first operation, but suffered a relapse and died after a second.

Only a few hours before West entered the ring, trainer Johnny Sullivan said the boxer had talked of the Christmas gifts he had in mind to buy his family with his purse money, estimated at $1,000. He had his heart set on the toy piano for little Sharon who was sent to bed in her Washington home Thursday night without being told of her daddy's death.

Boxing authorities characterized the death as a "tragic accident."

"It was one of those things that can happen in any vigorous sport," declared Col. Eddie Eagan chairman of the State Athletic Commission.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC PERDUE, Sports Editor

It's senior "B" hockey night at Civic Arena, Belleville Redmen playing the Petes at 8.30 this e'en. Some rousing struggles both here and on Quinte ice have been dished up between these fast-stepping squads, and this should be no exception. Wally Bent's bunch are presently in fourth slot whilst Drake Jopling's guys are in second place, but all four teams—including Eagles and Nylons—are pretty well bunched and anything can happen. The Petes will be battling this game to take the decision and move back into a top-place tie on points with the Eagles, and no doubt their followers will be out in force to root 'em home.

* * * * * *

Bill Wilkinson, perennial doorman at the Lindsay arena, reminisces for the Post of that town on old hockey games. He recalls those hectic hockey feuds of the early 20s between Lindsay and Peterborough intermediate clubs. When Carew, the original Sixty Coombs, Garnett and the rest fought fiercely on and off the ice with our stalwarts. And when the fans frequently joined in. More than once the Petes had to run for their train to escape a barrage of stones, hunks of ice or what have you—and probably Scugog puckists did likewise after certain hot games here. Teams did more train travelling then around these parts.

Champs Of Yesteryear

A few years later, the Petes went senior and they won the OHA crown in 1926 with such players as Dwyer, Parker, McLeod, Bailey, Collins, Ranger, Rose, Bogardis and Cox. They lost out in Allan Cup playdowns to Varsity. The 1926-27 Varsity Grads recently were rated one of the great teams of the past 50 years. Older fans here will remember some of their players—often seen at the Brock St. rink: Plaxton Dr. Lou Hudson, Porter, Trottier, Sullivan, Fisher, Gordon, Delahey, Mueller and a few more, managed by W. A. Hewitt. None other than Conn Smythe coached the great Grads of that period. In those days, the OHA senior winner had to meet the intercollegiate champs in Allan Cup playdowns, even though Varsity also played in the OHA.

Coach Johnny Metras was in Windsor the other day and, in an interview with the Star there, said, among other things, that he—according to the report—"bounced one of his top basketball players, Jerry Fitzgerald. Fitzgerald, star football player with Western, has been neglecting his studies, according to Metras, and the Mustang boss decided that it would teach him a lesson if he gave him the axe. 'This is the first time in 18 years of coaching,' Metras said, 'that I ever cut a player from the squad after the season was underway'." Jerry played senior lacrosse for the Petes last summer and was head coach of the PMLA-ers.

Married Guys Get Axe

A couple of lakeshore intermediate "A" games billed for tonight around the district, Bowmanville at Cobourg, and Port Hope at Lindsay. The Lakefield Indians are idle till late next week when they should have home ice again for games. Cobourg lost the other eve 7-5 to Bowmanville and also suffered a setback at the hands of the OHA which barred Jerry Scott and Sam Smith from the Cobourg lineup. They've been living in Oshawa and come under the married men's clause which says players must live in the town for which they play. Red Creighton's Port Hopers also lost a couple from Peterborough in this manner, Vern Marshall and Alf Griffin. Lakefield may be affected, too.

No basketball here this week-end at the YW or YM, and we doubt if there'll be any next week, either. After that, the girls will resume play and a city men's loop is expected to get going. Gord McIntyre's local intermediates start at Cobourg on Jan. 3 and are at home to Oshawa on Jan. 6. PCVS girls' and boys' teams, and the SPS cagers, will be seeing early action in the new year. Yes, and a few exhibitions are planned in the near future, old boys vs. moderns, and that sort of thing. Lots of hoop play coming up. A tip for cage coaches comes from St. Kitts re playing on waxed floors. It says: "Put vaseline in the suction cups or sole corrugations of the gym shoes—that prevents slipping."

Still batting, a thousand on the CP poll since announcement that Joe Wright Sr. (as oarsman) and Sandy Somerville (golfer) were named half-century greats.... No pro mat bout here next Tuesday eve.... Of 14 sports sponsored this year, Toronto Varsity won three senior and five intermediate intercollegiate titles ... A Lindsay item says that Bob Wyatt of Oddfellows has climbed fast in the junior "B" scoring race lately to stand second with 19 points to Etcher of Oshawa with 21.... Don Pagett and Bill Edgar recently suffered puck injuries in practices... IOOF-Clapper's juvenile joust was postponed last p.m. as a lot of the players are working at the post office this week ... Lakefield juves beat the Ashby Trojans 4-1, Marine midgets edged SPS 2-1, Irwin-Godson midgets tied Martin-Hewitt 2-2, Otonabee Wolves shaded Empress bantams 2-1, and Trojans bantams won 5-0 o'er St. Peter's in PMHA play... Toronto Leafs' ball club is sending out publicity blurbs already.... Cincy Mohawks of the AHL have organized peewee puck loops in that city.... Ted Lindsay of Wings and Gus Mortson of Leafs are leading NHL bad men in penalties so far this season.... Outdoor rinks were going full blast here last evening ... And that's that.

TOPS IN GOLF — Charles Ross (Sandy) Somerville, the red-haired London, Ont., links stylist who was the first Canadian ever to hold the United States Amateur Golf Championship, has been picked as the top Canadian golfer in the last 50 years by Canadian sports writers. Somerville won the U.S. title in 1932. His competitive career ended with the outbreak of the Second World War. He is now an insurance company executive.

Sports Writers Name Somerville Top Golfer Of Half Century

By JACK SULLIVAN.

TORONTO, Dec. 22 — (CP).— Charles Ross (Sandy) Somerville, who picked up his first golf club when six years old and 23 years later exploded the myth that a Canadian could not win the United States amateur title, has been selected as this country's greatest golfer of the last 50 years.

The sandy-haired London, Ont., links stylist was chosen by sports editors and sportscasters in a country-wide poll conducted by the Canadian Press. The result, announced Wednesday night showed Sandy the winner by the margin of a good wood shot—a clear 23-vote edge over runner-up Stan Leonard, Vancouver professional.

Nine golfers were named by the voters—men such as George S. Lyon of Toronto, the "grand old man" of golf, and Nicol Thompson, now a pro at Niagara Falls, Ont., who have played the game long before 47-year-old Somerville was born.

Miss Ada Mackenzie of Toronto, who won a Canadian title as far back as 1919 and still remains a top-flight player, got a vote.

Leads Field

But it was evident from early returns that Somerville, who startled the golf world with his big victory at Baltimore September 17, 1932, would be the choice. Reverberations of that previously-unheard-of (and never duplicated) feat rolled across Maryland's hills and into Canada and poker-faced Somerville, then 29 was headline copy.

Only once before—in 1911—had a foreigner broken the American monopoly on the national title. That was the time Harold Hilton of England won it.

Somerville, University of Toronto graduate and an insuurance salesman, met Johnny Goodman of Omaha in the final of the Five Farms Course.

The game ended on the 35th green, with Somerville two up at the time and needing only a half to make history. The five-foot-nine Sandy got his half—and the title.

Somerville, at his best in match play, started clicking on the golf course in 1926 when he won the Canadian amateur championship. He repeated in 1928 and again in 1930, 1931, 1935 and 1937. Between 1919 and 1939, he entered the Canadian amateur 18 times, the US amateur 14 times, and the British amateur three times.

War Ended Career

The outbreak of the Second World War ended his competitive career—in which he never deserted amateur ranks. He joined the Canadian Army in 1939, became a major with the Royal Armored Service Corps, and in six years overseas saw action in the Normandy and Netherlands campaigns.

Somerville now is an insurance company official in his home town.

George S. Lyon, former Toronto newspaperman, was the only other Canadian to reach the US amateur final. He lost in 1906 to the late Eben Byers.

Miss Mackenzie, 60-year-old Toronto sports-wear operator, has a string of Canadian titles including many women's open and closed championships. She has been on winning Ontario teams in interprovincial competition, and, just to prove she has not lost the art of this exacting game, led Ontario to the 1950 interprovincial title.

Leonard, 1950 Canadian Professional Golfers' Association champion, tied for fourth place in the Canadian open this year, and has many pro titles to his credit.

Close Contests Dished Up In Minor Loop

Five PMHA games were staged last night in Civic Arena, most of them being extra close affairs. The IOOF-Clapper juvenile go was postponed as some players were working. Lakefield Lions downed the Ashby Trojans 4-1 with Sloan scoring three goals and McCracken one for them as Scriver counted once for the losers. It was an "eye for an eye" in a rough tilt with little good hockey seen. Trojans drew 12 penalties to nine for Lions.

A tidy midget tilt saw Trojans and Martin-Hewitt draw 2-2. Gell and Goodson got the Trojan tallies as Drury and Cournyea scored for the other side, both teams playing good, clean hockey. The other midget melee was won by Marines in the third, 2-1, over St. Peter's. Jake Kearns got the tying and winning goals, the last in the final half minute of play. Pearson hit the hemp for SPS. It was fairly rugged.

Otonabee Wolves nudged out a 2-1 verdict over Empress with both sides playing for keeps in a fast, clean contest. B. Heron and Buchanan got the victors' goals in the second, while Brown whittled it down with an Empress marker in the third. The second bantam battle went to Trojans, 5-0, against St. Peter's with Godfrey getting two goals, Mahoney, Floyd and Keeting scoring one apiece. SPS couldn't get organized in a fairly clean fixture, and Trojans showed a lot of power. Teams:

Lakefield: Twist, Sloan, Henry, McCracken, McIlmoyle, Wilson, Pearson Allen, Hunter, Heffernan, Pue, Sabatino, Wright.

Trojan Juves: Whatley, Chapman, R. Dunn, Doris, Farley, Brioux, Patterson, Scriver, Hooper, Foster, E. Dunn, Byers, R. Seabrooke, L. Seabrooke, Lockie.

Trojan Midgets: Saunders, Pollard, Renwick, Brady, Goodson, Carveth, Burgess, Johnston, Gell, Sidney, Smith, McFadgen, Lundy, Davis, Sarleton.

Martin-Hewitt: Hobart, Chambers, Hunt, Drury, Miller, Moffat, Woodhouse, McDonald, Parry, Mullen, Allen, Blodgett, Cournyea, Brooks, Gardner.

Marines Midgets: Delahaye, M. Byrne, McGillen, Corbett, Holden, Ball, Spencer, Dodd, McGrath, Turner, Bethune, Strickland, Kearns, Frizzelle.

St. Peter's: O'Brien, Curtin, Hickey, Marrett, Stewart, P. Byrne, McDougall, Hockaday, Mathews, Wasson, Pearson, Herbison, Foley, Foote.

Empress Bantams: Curtin, Jones, Davis, Brown, Goldie, Naish, Lagana, Douglas, Johnston, Armstrong, Pace.

Wolves: Simmons, Revoy, Hannon, McCarthy, J. Heron, B. Heron, Douglas, MacMillan, Bethune, Buchanan, Mills, Lloyd.

Trojan Bantams: Masterson, Keeting, Orr, Godfrey, P. Heffernan, Floyd, Buckley, Forestel, Rusaw, Cairns, Mahoney, Sutherland, McArthur, Whitnell.

SPS: F. Heffernan, Flynn, Hawthorne, Tait, Gainey, Hall, Towns, McInnes, Crough, Whitton, Blodgett, Hickey.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press.

Thursday night's lone game in the National Hockey League, in which Boston Bruins downed Chicago Black Hawks 3-1 had no effect on individual standings.

Max Bentley of Toronto continues to head the pack with 34 points, 13 goals and 21 assists, tops in that deparement. Three more Leafs—Tod Sloan, Cal Gardner and Ted Kennedy—are tied for second place with 29 points. Sloan is top goal-getter with 17.

Turk Broda of Toronto is shutout king with five and Gus Mortson also of the Leafs, is league bad man with 60 minutes in the penalty box.

Coach Of Spitfires Reinstated After Month

TORONTO, Dec. 22 (CP). — Jimmy Skinner, fiery coach of Windsor Spitfires, Thursday was reinstated by the Ontario Hockey Association after a suspension of more than a month.

Skinner was suspended following an altercation with an usher at Barrie during a junior game Nov. 17. He later was fined $50 on conviction of assault.

The OHA executive decided to reinstate Skinner, effective immediately, following a review of the case at a closed meeting here.

Announcement of the decision was made while the meeting was still in progress but no other details were available.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Brooklyn Dodgers 12 years ago today completed the deal which brought Montreal Royals of the International League into the National League club's farm system. Larry MacPhail, Dodger general manager, announced a one-year working agreement with options and Burleigh Grimes, former Dodger manager, piloted the Montreal club in the 1939 season.

Smallest Crowd In 15 Years Sees Bruins Trip Hawks 3-1

By The Canadian Press.

Judging from the great, gaping gaps in Chicago Stadium Thursday night, interest in professional hockey appears to have sunk to a low ebb in one of the National Hockey League's best drawing cities.

The smallest crowd in 15 years —6,297—saw Boston's unpredictable Bruins come up with one of their good games in defeating the Black Hawks 3-1.

More startling than the so-so performance of the Hawks to the club management must have been the attendance, especially since the city in the past has shown itself willing to support even a losing team. The Hawks drew some of their best gates during the difficult war years when the team wasn't any great shakes.

Thursday night's crowd was the smallest since 7,476 turned out for a Hawk game Feb. 5, 1935.

Consolidate Position

For Boston, the victory enabled them to consolidate their fifth-place position, three points ahead of the idle cellar-entrenched New York Rangers. It also lifted the Bruins to within two points of Montreal Canadiens, and four points within range of their third place victims.

Pete Horeck put the visitors in the lead with a first-period goal, and Pat Lundy tied it for the Hawks in the middle session.

Vic Lynn put the Bruins again in the lead 25 seconds after the third frame opened and Dunc Fisher closed the scoring two seconds short of the final siren.

The Hawks, who recently had been plagued with injuries, had six of their regulars back in the line-up. But the team was outskated and outshot by the revived Bruins, who now head for Toronto and a Saturday night engagement with the league-leading Maple Leafs.

CHRISTMAS EVE

The whole world pauses on this night,
In its mad fight for gold,
To draw the bands of love afresh,
About each separate fold.
The cares of life are thrust aside,
The scheming brain beomes
Alert to dearer, simpler things,
Like trumpets, dolls and drums.
The year-old battle and its scars
Are kept outside tonight;
They have no place beside a tree
Aglow with tapers bright.
God pity him who cannot bring
Upon each Christmas Eve,
A humble and a contrite heart,
Its blessings to receive.
God pity him who walks in pride,
His soul with greed defiled,
Who will not stop, with outstretched arms,
To clasp a little child.
Man may not live by bread alone,
But by good deeds which start
And shed their precio s perfume from
The flowers of the heart.

From the poem of Edwin Carlisle Litsey.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Jimmy McLarnin, a boxer who hung onto his winnings, says he feels sorry for Joe Louis, a boxer who didn't.

"Sure, it's a shame," says Jimmy. "I wish Joe had really quit that first time. He can't go anywhere from here, and he must know it."

"A fellow doesn't get up around past 35 without his reflexes and his legs starting to go back on him. An then what's a fighter got?"

McLarnin, picked by Canadian sports editors and sportscasters as the outstanding Canadian boxer of the half century, is in Vancouver to spend the holiday with relatives. He makes his home in Glendale, Calif.

McLarnin, the Vancouver newsboy, didn't wait for the decline to set in. He quit at 29 at the peak of his career after 13 years as a pro. He earned "about half a million dollars" and came out with enough of it to quit worrying for the rest of his life.

Joe Culmone, the United States' leading jockey, definitely will return to the saddle at Tropical Park today, his agent, George (Slim) Edwards said today.

Culmone had planned to ride Thursday but an old fungus infection in his ear continued bothersome.

The jockey is fully recovered from injuries suffered in a severe fall at the track last Saturday while driving to beat Walter Miller's record of 388 winners set in 1906.

Culmone has 370 winners to his credit but now has given up all hope of exceeding Miller's record this year.

Winnipeg Blue Bombers, Dominion football finalists, wound up the 1950 season with a profit of more than $17,000, excluding revenue from the Grey Cup final.

An interim statement presented to the annual meeting Thursday night by W. Culver Riley, chairman of the club's financial committee, showed receipts totalled $198,482 and expenses $180,861.

It is not yet known what cut Bombers will receive from the Grey Cup final in which they were defeated 13-0 by Toronto Argonauts.

Kid Gavilan risks his New York ranking as No. 1 welterweight contender tonight when he faces young Joe Miceli, a 22-year-old comer, in the main 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden.

Back in top shape after a series of mediocre performances early in the year, the 24-year-old Cuban Keed is rated a 5 to 14 favorite to set back Jumping Joe.

Gavilan won New York recognition as the top challenger for welterweight champion Ray Robinson's crown when he whipped Billy Graham at the Garden Nov. 17.

Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League Thursday night walloped Ottawa Senators of the Quebec Senior Hockey League 11-3 in an exhibition game before 6,000 fans at Ottawa.

The Ottawa team was no match for the Red Wings, with their speed and smooth passing plays. The high scoring list of Abel, Lindsay and Howe stood out for the winners.

Rail Conference In January

MONTREAL, Dec. 22 (CP). — Representatives of three independent railway labor groups and officials of Canada's major railways will meet in January at Winnipeg to discuss request for a 30-cent hourly wage boost, it was announced here Thursday.

The three "running trades" unions whose leaders will meet with the Canadian Pacific Railway Company Jan. 10 are: the Order of Railway Conductors the brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. A union spokesman said no definite date has been set for a meeting with the Canadian National Railways system.

Sir Harry Oakes' Son Involved In Lawsuit

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 22 (CP)— A son of the late Sir Harry Oakes was one of the defendants in a Supreme Court lawsuit settled here Thursday for $12,000 and costs.

Michael D. O'Donovan, London was awarded judgment against William Pitt Oakes and Gerald A. Graham, a local real estate agent, over an accident here May 28, 1949.

Justice G. A. Gale approved the settlement at the conclusion of non-jury sittings. Third party proceedings against insurers of the car involved, were dismissed on condition it pays $7,200 toward the plaintiff's claim.

Documents filed with the court indicated Graham was driving a car owned by Oakes when it collided with a motorcycle on which O'Donovan and a passenger were riding.

Wed 66 Years

TORONTO, Dec. 22 (CP). — A small woman in black and a white-haired man in a wheelchair Thursday celebrated their 66th wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Rossiter, childhood playmates nearly 80 years ago in Kent, England, celebrated their anniversary at Sunnybrook Hospital where Mr. Rossiter is a patient. 'Most moving touch to them was a telegram from the King and Queen wishing them more years of married happiness.

Headquarters At Hotel

PARIS, Dec. 22 (Reuters). — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will probably set up his first temporary headquarters in the ornate hotel Astoria when he comes to Europe next month to command the Atlantic army. The Astoria, built in 1907, is said to have been earmarked by the Kaiser for his personal use when he would march triumphantly into Paris in the First World War.

Alnwick Pupils Guests At WA Christmas Party

ROSENEATH, Dec. 22—(ENS) —Pupils of Woodvale school, SS 1 and 25, Alnwick, were guests of the Centenary WA at their Christmas meeting held Thursday afternoon. Christmas carols were sung and the pupils contributed a vocal chorus with Mrs. Arnold Elder at the organ. Rev. R. C. White showed slides "Journeying With the Christ Child".

"If Christ had not come" was the theme of the devotional period presided over by the retiring president, Miss Hilda Arthur.

The annual financial statement prepared by the treasurer, Mrs. Reginald Timlin, showed total receipts for the year were $375 with a balance on hand of $100.

Eight boxes were filled with Christmas treats to be sent to the aged and shut-in in the community before Christmas.

Following the business period the new president, Mrs. Silas Sherwin spoke briefly.

Mrs. Leo Timlin and Mrs. Bruce Arthur were in charge of the exchange of Christmas gifts among the members and treats were given to the children.

Frances Thackeray, on behalf of the pupils, tendered a vote of thanks to the WA for their hospitality.

Following the lunch hour, Rev. R. C. White showed two films for the enjoyment of the children, "Nursery Rhymes" and "A Trip to the Moon".

Has Barbed Words For Canadian Youths

HALIFAX, Dec. 22 (CP). — Harry Falconer McLean, the man who loves to give money away, arrived in Halifax Thursday with a few barbed words against Canadian youths who are "sitting around on the seat of their fancy pants."

The 67-year-old construction tycoon, back from a big game hunt in Africa, said it was time today's youth went to work in the old fashioned way, instead of sitting around.

To start young Canadians on their way he suggested building "railroads right through to the north."

"I'll start them off myself," he said, "and I'm almost 100 years old."

A native of Bismark, N. D., McLean now lives at Merrickville, Ont.

On his last trip here in 1943 he passed out thousands of dollars to those with whom he came in contact. He did the same thing this time with the hotel staff.

Collegiate Staffs In Ottawa Voted Increase

OTTAWA, Dec. 22 — Salary increases for Ottawa secondary-school teachers aggregating $89,000 for the coming year were approved and announced by the Collegiate Institute Board and its advisory vocational committee at successive meeting this week.

The normal salary increase for 1951 was scheduled to total $22,000 but the amount was further raised by $67,000 as a result of previous negotiations between the teachers and board representatives who sat as a special committee.

The new schedule, effected by compromise raised the eventual maximum salary by $800 over the next three years, which will be attained by annual statutory increases of $200, with an additional flat increase of the same amount for 1951.

Effective Jan. 1, the initial salary of male or female teacher is advanced from $2.300 to $2,500. The maximum salaries under the revised scale in the lowest category for female assistants goes from $4.200 to $5,000. The highest maximum salary for principals is advanced from $5,800 to $6,600.

New Schedule

The revised schedule, adopted by the Collegiate Board, with comparisons between 1950 and 1951, is as follows:

	1949	1950
Initial salary	$2,300	$2,500
Max. female assistants	4,200	5,000
Max. male assistant	4,400	5,200
Max. department heads	4,600	5,400
Max. assistant principals	4,900	5,700
Max. vice-principals	5,200	6,000
Max. principals	5,800	6,600
Principals, evening classes	700	700

Half-way House

between Aluminum Ingot and You

With an axe and a few other hand tools, our ancestors could chop down trees and make houses, chairs, bowls, canoes — lots of things. But all these were heavy and had many other disadvantages. It's different now that we have aluminum — which is light, rustless, won't burn, doesn't rot . . . is practically everlasting.

It takes a whole series of unusual and complicated "tools" to make things of aluminum. To start with, it takes ships to import the ore, ports for unloading, powerhouses for electricity, smelters . . . all these to produce the aluminum itself, still only in ingot form.

Next, it takes a plant like the Alcan one at Kingston to receive these ingots from the smelters and to shape the metal into tubes, sheets, extrusions, forgings and foil. Finally, it takes more than 1000 Canadian manufacturers to form all these into chairs, kitchen utensils, building materials, aeroplanes, etc. — things Canadians use every day.

So, you see, this Kingston plant is "half-way" house between ingot and finished article, between the original aluminum and you. It is a link in the chain of "tools" with which, over the last fifty years, Canadians have equipped themselves to make aluminum articles — creating work and wages for thousands, bringing greater convenience and comfort to modern living.

Prize Sayings Of Hollywood During 1950

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 22 (AP)—Every year a lot of wind blows in Hollywood. Some of it is worth remembering.

I have collected some of the 1950 quotes that are remarkable for one reason or another. Here they are:

Tallulah Bankhead's answer to reports that Bette Davis imitated her in a picture: "Hasn't she always?"

Betty Hutton, announcing that she was giving up night life after a reconciliation with her husband, Ted Briskin: "Contented people don't go to night clubs."

Fred Allen: "Television is based on the belief that there are a lot of people with nothing to do, willing to waste their time watching people who can do nothing."

Director Elia Kazan: "Actors should stay hungry."

Wouldn't Talk

Vivien Leigh, asked if her husband, Sir Laurence Olivier, had plans to film more Shakespeare: "I don't think he'd say. If he did, Orson Welles might start filming the same thing immediately."

Sir Laurence, after observing the Los Angeles smog: "Isn't it ironic that motion pictures came westward for the sunshine and now there isn't any?"

Dorothy Parker, explaining why she didn't take a honeymoon after her re-marriage to Alan Campbell: "We're going nowhere We've been everywhere."

Jean Simmons, commenting on yell leaders after seeing her first American football game: "I don't like those people waving their arms to get people to yell. Goodness knows, we scream our guts out at soccer matches, but not at somebody else's direction."

Bob Hope: "Vaudeville is dead and television is the box they buried it in."

RCN Men Sending Yule Greetings Home

WITH THE CANADIAN DESTROYERS OFF KOREA, Dec 22 (CP).—Officers and men of the Canadian destroyers Cayuga Athabaskan and Sioux are sending Christmas greetings to families, relatives and friends back home by a special wireless service direct from the ships now patrolling off Korea's west coast.

Where requested, the messages are withheld for delivery Christmas Day.

"Most of the telegrams are going to Victoria but there have been some for all parts of Canada," said CPO. Roy Adams of Abbotsford, B. C., in charge of Cayuga's radio room.

Rescind Motion

TORONTO, Dec. 22 (CP)—Two men were burned about the face Thursday as they rescued three children from fire which swept through a suburban York Township house. Gordon Andrews and his son-in-law, Frank Marshall, saved Marshall's children, Lynda, 4; Harry, 2, and Leonard, five months. Firemen said the blaze started in a Christmas tree.

Conference In Quebec

MONTREAL, Dec. 22 (CP). — The 22nd annual meeting of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce will be held in Quebec Oct. 28-Nov. 3, 1951, Fred J. Cunningham, chairman of the Canadian Chamber's executive council, announced Thursday.

Appointed Chairman

HAMILTON, Dec. 22 (CP) — Judge R. S. Clarke of Guelph Thursday was appointed chairman of the conciliation board to investigate the dispute between the Canada Coach Lines Ltd. and Local 1454 of the Amalgamated Association of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees of America. The union is seeking a wage increase of 23 cents on hour and a union shop for some 300 bus drivers and mechanics in Hamilton, Welland, Brantford and Niagara Falls.

Recount At Windsor

WINDSOR, Dec. 22 (CP). — A recount of ballots cast in Windsor's Dec. 6 mayoralty election will begin next Tuesday in city hall, Judge Joseph A. Legris decided Thursday following an application for a recount by Mayor Arthur J. Reaume.

NEW NICKEL—Muriel Macdonald of the Royal Canadian Mint holds the first of the new commemorative 1951 nickels and the plaster mold from which the new coin was copied. The coin was struck in recognition of the 200th anniversary of the discovery of nickel.

Cause Of Fire Remains Mystery

Cause of the $24,000 fire that burned a frame house and two businesses to the ground early Wednesday is still unknown. But according to Fire Chief Bey Bell of Havelock the source of the outbreak has been traced to the rear of Percy Hill's shoe repair shop, on the west side of the building.

The fire started about 1 a.m. and ate its way up into the second storey of the residence occupied by Richard Groves, his wife, two children, and a waitress in Grove's restaurant, Olive Graffon. All five had to flee the premises, most of them with only a coat pulled over their night clothing.

Nothing was salvaged from Hill's shoe repair store, the residence, or the restaurant and grill situated on the easterly extension of the building and operated by Groves. The frame building was burned to the ground except for part of the east wall.

Insurance adjustors and Fire Chief Bell are still investigating and have not yet given any official figure on the loss. Mrs. Mae Hill, owner of the building, tentatively put it at $24,000.

The Havelock volunteer brigade was assisted by the brigade from the neighboring village of Norwood, and a fire-fighting team from the CPR which remained on the job till 4.30 a.m., an hour after the blaze was brought under control.

Hoses were not long enough to tap a 3,000-gallon water supply in a locomotive tank, just across the street in the railway yard.

Firemen were also hampered somewhat because they were unable to cut a high-tension hydro line that passes along the street.

Royal Bank Profit $6,559,725 For Year

MONTREAL Dec. 22 —(CP)— The Royal Bank of Canada Friday reported a net profit of $6,559,725 for the fiscal year ended Nov. 30, compared with $5,827,522 the previous year.

Net profit per share was equal pto $1.87 against $1.66 in the preceding year.

Total assets of $2,497,376,342 represents an increase of $162,390,988 over the record figure reported a year ago.

Deposits also are at a new high at $2,337,503,468, an increase of $145,362,890 over 1949. Interest bearing deposits have increased by $43,785,626, to reach a total and a new high of $1,103,918,226.

Cash assets totalling $471,113,083 are equivalent to 19.54 per cent of the bank's public liabilities. Liquid assets are again higher and stand at $1,717,765,402, which is equal to 71.26 per cent of the public liabilities.

Included in the banks liquid assets are dominion and provincial securities totalling $906,766,904.

Canadian Imports From U.S. Hit Peak

OTTAWA, Dec. 22 (CP)—Canadian imports from the United States and other countries rose sharply to all-time peaks in October, the Bureau of Statistics reported Thursday.

During the 10 months ended Oct. 31, the debit balance with the United States was down "steeply" from a year ago while in trade with other countries Canada showed a slight import balance against the customary export surplus.

During the 10 months, imports from the United States rose from $1,638,200,000 last year to $1,733,400,000, while exports increased from $1,188,700,000, to $1,661,100,000. The debit balance for the period dropped from $449,500,000 last year to $72,300,000.

Total imports from all countries climbed in October to $320,600,000 from $234,300,000 a year ago, increases being recorded in imports from the United Kingdom, other Commonwealth countries as a whole, and other foreign countries as well as the United States.

Four Members Of Hope Royal Commission Differ On Separate Schools

TORONTO, Dec. 22 — (CP) — Four of the 20 members of the Hope Royal Commission took sharp issue with their colleagues chiefly on the approach to the question of Roman Catholic separate schools.

They expressed their view in a minority report in which they held also that the majority lacked a realism in its recommendations for sweeping changes in the provinces educational system. They contended that no thought had been given to cost and whether the province could bear it.

The report was signed by E. F. Henderson and Arthur Kelly of Toronto; J. M. Piggott of Hamilton and Henri St. Jacques of Ottawa. All are supporters of the Roman Catholic schools, which are operated separately from the common or public schools for primary education in the province.

Four other commission members who signed the majority report set out disagreements on the conclusions about training of teachers. They differed in varying degrees. The dissentants were Dr. R. J. Neelands of Kirkland Lake, Dr. W. L. Whitelock of Hamilton and Dr. Sidney Smith and A. C. Chapman of Toronto. W. H. Clarke of Toronto filed a memorandum of his own, to set out his viewpoint which differed from the other reports.

Lengthy Consideration

The majority report devoted a lengthy section to separate schools and dealt with them in other portions as well. For one thing it proposed that all corporation taxes for school purposes be devoted to secondary schools and junior colleges it recommended as part of a new three-level school system. Elementary schools—public and separate—would received taxes only from individually-owned properties.

The commission saw in this proposal a solution for the problem of division of corporation taxes between public and separate schools over which there has been considerable dispute. Roman Catholics have contended they should be split on the basis of share-holding by Catholics. The commission said it was not possible to obtain a fair division, hence it proposed that the taxes be withheld completely from elementary schools.

Another proposal of the majority report which affects the separate schools is that elementary schools teach only six grades and no separate schools be permitted above that educational level.

The minority report took issue with that, contending that by long practice the separate schools have the right to teach 10 school grades in addition to kindergarten classes.

The minority report said also that the four Roman Catholic members sought from the outset to find common ground with the majority members. But apart from questions of religous teaching, they found a lack of realism on the part of majority members who "made their decisions without the benefit of the factual material which would have shown the various financial implications of their proposals."

They found a tendency to put education into the hands of the so-called experts and to seek uniformity for uniformity's sake.

The separate school group in a lengthy brief reviewed the history of the separate school system in Ontario and the stand that Roman Catholics cannot relinquish their belief that education for persons from five to 21 should include religious teaching.

Dr. Needlands and Dr. Whitelock, supported in some points by Dr. Smith and Mr. Chapman, differed from the majority over reorganization of local school boards and teacher training. They opposed two-year training courses for teachers and held that universities should gradually undertake four-year courses in faculties of education.

GM Lifts Ban On '51 Car Sales

DETROIT, Dec. 22 (AP). — Yielding to a government price rollback edict, General Motors Thursday lifted its ban on sale of new model Chevrolet, Pontiac and Cadillac automobiles. It agreed to sell them at 1950 model prices.

The world's biggest car producer slapped on the embargo last Monday in protest against an order 48 hours earlier by the economic stabilization agency freezing auto prices at the Dec. 1 level.

G.M. was one of four companies which had announced price boosts on 1951 models since the first of this month, raising tags "sometimes less than five per cent." But it was the only one to use a sales ban to fight the first price freeze in any industry.

Ford, Chrysler and Nash also had raised prices since Dec. 1. Ford and Nash, like the three G.M. divisions, had put its new models on sale. Chrysler, like G.M.'s Buick and Oldsmobile divisions, had not yet put the 1951s in dealer hands.

Since last Saturday's car price freeze, G.M. appealed to the ESA to modify its order. The ESA rejected the appeal.

G.M. still insisted today that its 1951 models were "substantially improved" over this year's models.

10 Left Homeless

GEORGETOWN, Dec. 22 (CP). —Ten persons were made homeless Thursday by a fire which destroyed a main street butcher store here, a grocery store and two apartments. Loss was estimated at $15,000. Cause of the outbreak which is believed to have started in the rear of the butcher shop, is unknown. Georgetown is 25 miles west of Toronto.

Hamilton Gets New Street Plan

HAMILTON, Dec. 22 —(CP)— A $50,000,000 major street plan for a Hamilton grown to 800,000 population in the next half-century, was distributed Thursday to members of the Hamilton Planning Board.

Early in the year, action will be taken on the 150-page report of Norman D. Wilson and A. E. K. Bunnell, consulting engineers. The board is expected to recommend to city council that the comprehensive plan be filed with the provincial department of planning and development as the second step in the city's planned growth—the first being a zoning by-law.

The plan would be a radical face-lifting including expressways, grade separations and mountain routes for Hamilton in the next 30 or 50 years. The consulting engineers, engaged at a fee of $10,000 to prepare a plan, said:

"The development of a system of major streets, such as herein proposed, cannot be accomplished without the expenditure of money . . . if not spent the central city will die of suffocation."

Cattle Prices 50 Cents Higher During Past Week

TORONTO, Dec. 22 — (CP).— Cattle prices were 50 cents higher on better grades and up to $1 higher on lower classes at the Ontario Stockyards today, the Dominion Marketing Service reported.

Calves and sheep were strong while lambs were steady and hogs gained 25 cents.

A light holiday run of 2,600 cattle was cleared at the higher price level. Good to choice weighty steers were $28-$29.50, and a few tops $30. Good light steers brought $28-$29 with good heifers $27-$27.50 and a few tops at $28. Medium to good cows sold for $20-$22.50, with canners price level. Good to choice and cutters selling at $15-$18. Good bulls were $24-$25 and choice fed yearlings brought $31-$33. Plain stockers sold from $22-$26, with good stock calves $27-$29.

Calves totalled 850 head. Choice vealers sold at $31-$33, and common to medium were $22-$30. Grassers for slaughter briugh $18-$20.

Hog receipts were $2,800 head. Grade A hogs were generally $30.75, with a few off cars at $31. Sows brought $25.50 dressed.

Sheep and lambs totalled 600 head. Good ewes and wethers were generally $30 and a few choice lambs brought $31-$33. Medium to good sheep sold at $14-$16.

The Livestock Market will be open on Boxing Day, December 26.

Gelert School Pupils ProvideEntertainment

The annual Christmas concert of the Gelert School was held Friday evening in the school.

The program consisted of dialogues, recitations, choruses, pantomines, and drills. Two very pretty drills, "The March of the Dolls" and "The Rose Drill" were very well presented with children from Grades 1-4 taking part. Girls were dressed in white and wore wreaths of red roses and carried roses in their hands.

Highlight of the evening was the presentation of the pantomine of Christmas in which all the pupils participated accompanied by two guest artists, Mr. G. Lessard of Kinmount, music supervisor, and Mr. Blain Hanthorn of Fenelon Falls, who rendered two duets, "Star of the East" and "Silent Night."

Mr. Lessard led the pupils in singing accompanied by Mr. Hanthorn at the piano.

The teacher thanked the chairman, Mr. Stouffer, inspector of public schools, the two guest artists, and Mr. G. Sharpless for their generous assistance, and all those who helped in any way to make the evening such a great success.

The chairman, congratulated Miss Chase and her pupils on their fine concert. He commented particularly on the fine way in which the children delivered their parts and the excellent way in which the program was organized and managed.

There was an estimated audience of 125 in attendance including all children present.

The evening came to a conclusion with the appearance of Santa Claus, who was happily received by the children and distributed gifts to all. This was followed by the singing of God Save the King.

The proceeds from the concert were $30.

Support Strike

NEW YORK, Dec. 22 (AP)— Twenty-eight well-known band leaders Thursday voted "unanimous support" of a musicians' strike threatened for "before New Year's Eve," a union official reported. The proposed strike, in a wage dispute, would pull bands out of the city's leading hotels, restaurants and night clubs making idle some 5,000 musicians.

Village Goes "Wet"

MAXVILLE, Ont., Dec. 22 — (CP).—This eastern Ontario village has gone "wet" after being dry for 58 years. In a plebiscite Wednesday, Maxville voters approved the erection of a men's beverage room by a vote of 272 to 176. The sale of beer by the glass is expected to begin in the village about next Easter, after the renovation of a village hotel.

Something to remember

This is one of a series of words and expressions whose origins and meanings are published in the interest of a better understanding, use and knowledge of the English language.

"CEREAL"

"Cereal" is a Latin word derived from the name of an ancient Italian goddess, Ceres, who, as the story has it, was pressed into service in order to rid the countryside of a lengthy drought, which was depriving the land of its grain. In this manner, Ceres became the guardian of agriculture and gave us cerealis, which meant "of Ceres" or "of the crops."

Thus, when you have your cereal for breakfast you are unknowingly paying time-honored tribute to an almost forgotten mythical goddess.

10,000 Letters, Cards Await Better Address

Don't be too hasty with postmen if your cards and letters have not arrived at their destination for you may be to blame. Claire Stuart, assistant postmaster, said today that they have piles of poorly addressed or unstamped mail awaiting delivery when they can be given consideration.

Over the past week the local post office has collected nearly 10,000 cards and letters which may head to the dead letter office in Toronto due to poor addressing. Some common mistakes are: wrong addresses; no number; no street; mis-spelled names. These errors can easily be remedied, he said, by affixing a return address.

Despite these mistakes most of this mail will be delivered, perhap not in time for Christmas but sometime next week. Each card and letter will be sorted alphabetically and the letter carriers, when they have time, will try to identify them and have them sent forward. Those which remain will go to the dead letter office.

An example of one mistake, said Mr. Stuart, was a card addressed locally to a man who moved three years ago to another street in the city. The sender only communicated at Christmas and was not informed of the change. This card has been sent on with its new address.

Some Not Stamped

Unstamped letters and cards now number close to 1,500. The receivers of these letters and cards will have to pay double the postage upon arrival.

The mail today took a definite decline. Where for the past week 24 bags are collected in the evening two were collected Thursday night, and where 12 were collected in the morning, one was today. This decrease in in-coming mail will give the sorters a chance to catch up on the local delivery which is still behind.

Thursday's cancellation machine figures were 84,000 letters and cards, bringing the total since Friday to 788,800. Last year on December 21 the total for the day was 69,500.

Dr. R. Matthews Named Head Of Pediatrics

Dr. R. M. Matthews was appointed chief of the service of pediatrics at Peterborough Civic Hospital Thursday night by the Board of Governors.

The appointment followed a recommendation by members of the recently formed service. The service of pediatrics, formerly included in the service of medicine, was made a separate service at the September meeting of the board.

Dr. W. S. Fitzpatrick was appointed to the service of pediatrics, filling out the membership. Three were appointed at the November meeting, and the fourth—Dr. Fitzpatrick—received his appointment Thursday night.

Two doctors were appointed to the staff of the hospital and one was re-appointed. Two new members are Dr. Maurice F. Clarkson of Toronto, a graduate in medicine in 1943, at the University of Toronto and a specialist in internal medicine; Dr. John H. Fraser, of Cobden, who graduated in 1942 from the University of Toronto, and who has specialized in obstetrics and gynecology.

The re-appointed member is Dr. I. P. Campbell, who was formerly on Civic Hospital staff.

Four Inches of Snow Bring New Hope To Skier's Heart

Four inches of snow on Thursday night have made skiing from fair to excellent on hills for a radius of 20 miles. Slopes which had a frozen base prior to the night's fall will be excellent for skiing and those without the base only fair. Toby Westbye, president of the Peterborough Ski club, said today, "It looks good. We're in if the weather holds good. It's supposed to snow a little more and if the temperature stays down, there'll be excellent skiing for the Christmas weekend."

But the weatherman is going to have something to say and so far it does not look good. Snow tonight and rain on Saturday are his forecasts.

Tows will be operating, if weather holds, at Kemp's Hill and at the club's Bethany grounds over the week-end. The Bethany hills are in excellent shape for skiing, having the hard frozen base with four inches of fresh snow. Kemp's Hill is in slightly poorer condition and is described as fair skiing.

Several children tried the Victoria Park hill early today and found the going fast. The base there was firm for the soft snow.

A skiing report, arranged on Thursday afternoon by the Provincial Travel Department, announced that Ontario's best skiing was at Fort William and Port Arthur. The night's snow, however, improved conditions at Cobourg and Sundridge where skiing was described as good Thursday on packed snow, and at Haileybury, Huntsville and Midland, where the snow was powdery on Thursday afternoon.

Fair skiing conditions at Collingwood, Dagmar, Flesherton and Markdale Thursday should be changed today to excellent, while at Barrie where the skiing was poor, the skiing should be fair.

125 Children Heard Smith School Concert

More than 125 children and parents of S.S. No. 6 School Section of Smith township held a Christmas concert at the Lakefield Memorial Hall on Thursday evening. The program was made up chiefly of small plays and recitations by the students followed by Santa Claus and the giving of gifts. The party was arranged by the teachers Mrs. Helen Wilson of the junior school (Amys' Home) and principal Donald Clysdale of the senior school.

Individual children who gave recitations were Newton Young, Betty Preston, Ross and Douglas McConkey, Larry Olver, Marilyn Burns, Alex Preston, Vera Northey and Fraser Dunford. Music was provided at the piano by Doreen Nichols.

Main Point of Controversy—Wightman

Reduction of separate schools to teaching six grades will be the main point of controversy in the recommendations of the Hope commission on education in Ontario, K. S. Wightman, Peterborough's superintendent of schools, said today.

"I don't think it will work," he said.

This recommendation was included in the commission's recommendation that education be split into three levels—elementary, intermediate and "further."

Included in recommendations for separate schools was the suggestion that all corporation and utility taxes be allocated to secondary schools, thus depriving public and separate schools of any part of those taxes.

Under present legislation, separate schools, are permitted to teach up to Grade 10. St. Peter's High School is actually a private school, and is supported in no way by taxes.

Ingenious Suggestion

He termed the suggestion for allocation of corporation and utility taxes "ingenious" and said it seemed to be an attempt to solve the problem of support for secondary schools without "throwing the weight on the individual taxpayer."

The past difficulty lay in the fact that only public school supporters paid public school taxes, but that everybody paid for the secondary schools.

Change Schools

Under the commission's recommendations, Grades 7, 8, 9 and 10 would become the "secondary schools" of the future. The schools which would cover work in Grades 11, 12 and 13, as well as the suggested Grade 14, have been termed "junior colleges."

Mr. Wightman pointed out that in some western provinces secondary school starts at Grade 7 and the system there is similar to the proposed new system for Ontario.

In Ottawa and Hamilton, he said, the school boards have gone as far as the law in Ontario allows in this matter, and have established "senior public schools" which cover work in grades 7 and 8. This is the existing system closest to the recommendations of the Hope commission.

Extra Grade Good

Of the proposed extra grade—Grade 14—Mr. Wightman said he thought it would be good for a place like Peterborough which is close to two universities.

As the present system stands, he said, if a student wants education past high school he must go to university. The proposed new grade would give extra training both to those who wish only one more year and those who wish to go on to university.

"There is no good reason why we couldn't take at least part of that work here. Of course, if that extra year were to stand for part of university training, the universities would have to agree to it."

Some Increase

It wouldn't mean any great increase in staff, said Mr. Wightman, but there would be "some increase." The addition of Grade 14 would be a boon to pupils whose education is to be continued further.

Of the commission's suggestion that training of teachers be increased from one year to two years, Mr. Wightman said that such a two-year course would be desirable.

A minority report, signed by four of the 20 members of the commission, suggested a four-year course for teachers at universities. This would pose problems, said Mr. Wightman, and if this suggestion were adopted there would be an almost immediate decrease of about 80 per cent in candidates for the teaching profession.

43 New Homes Being Built In N. Monaghan

Forty - three new dwellings, ranging in value from $6,000 to $15,000, were put into construction in North Monaghan this year, Bruce Johnston, township clerk, informed the Examiner today.

"We have two new houses more than Smith building this year," Mr. Johnston said. "Mr. Wm. Telford reported 41 for Smith in the Examiner the other day. Their total estimated value of new building this year was $473,434, and the total for North Monaghan is $430,825.

At the end of November, Peterborough city's new construction in 1950 amounted to $3,908,388. Add the December building permits and the city's total will exceed $4,000,000, or at least it should.

Smith and Lakefield combine for $904,259, virtually all of which traces from Peterborough's industrial and commercial activities. Total for the city and those two west and northside neighbors should pass the $5,000,000 mark by the end of this month.

Mr. Johnston reported 43 new houses and one addition, three service stations, Trinidad Leasehold on Lansdowne St. west; Fred Stenson on the Goodfellow farm, Highway No. 28, and Ray Clements, west of Armstrong Lumber Co.

One dairy, Whitfield and Morrison; one warehouse, Smith Transport; sash and door factory operated by Roy Beeler who used to be a foreman with Peterborough Lumber Co.

48 Suburban Houses

It is especially interesting to count the number of houses built on suburban sites, 43 in Monaghan and 41 in Smith; total 84.

Possibly the average estimated value of those houses might be $10,000; and for the whole community of 84 the total new realty value would be $840,000 of new taxable wealth for the benefit of the rural municipalities.

Port Hope Railroad

As a North Monaghan neighbor of Peterborough, Mr. Johnston felt like wishing Peterborough a prosperous new year.

"There are two things the city should keep in mind. Taking the long view, one of them is the maintenance of the CNR to Port Hope. One of these days, and I hope to live to see it, the St. Lawrence Waterway will become an accomplished fact. That will give Ontario ready access to the sea, and that includes the old port of Port Hope. When that day comes and it might not be so far away, Peterborough should have that old train line which was a big factor in its early prosperity.

"The city council and the Chamber of Commerce and the people generally should not let this old railway be shut down and the rails lifted. It will be far harder to revive it than to maintain it until then.

"The other thought, that the city should concentrate more on getting some new industries. Peterborough has built up a lot of good factories, schools, hospitals, medical clinics, stores, theatres.—and so on; but there should be no inclination to coast along. As the late G. N. Gordon said and most of humanity said, a community must keep moving ahead or it will inevitably start to go behind."

SCENIC ROUTE

The new railway from the St. Lawrence to the Ungava, Labrador, iron ore deposits will run through fine ski country.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

T.B. STAMP SALES

Robert B. Arnold manager of the Bank of Commerce and treasurer of the TB stamp sales reported that to date stamp sales conducted by the Peterborough Tuberculosis Association totalled $4,930.08. The total to the same day last year was $5,348.

POLICEMAN SICK

Missing from the police department picture published Thursday was Constable George Moor-Gough, who has been sick about four weeks in hospital, first with an appendicitis operation and then with a rare fever contracted earlier which complicated his recovery.

LAKEFIELD'S SEASONAL DISPLAY

Roof of the long garage at the Hendren Funeral Home on the Otonabee River side displays floodlit figures of the Nativity and the Three Wise Men. It is especially effective when viewed from across the black river water from the Park section of the village.

CAR RAMMED FROM REAR

About $250 damage was done to the front of a truck driven north on Water St. by M. Wilson, Apsley, when it rammed into the rear of a car ahead which had stopped in a line of traffic. The car driven by R. J. Ross, Oshawa, had about $125 damage done to the rear. Constable Edward Patterson investigated.

BANGS INTO STOP SIGN

A car driven by Jack Barnes, 749 Frank St., skidded on snow into a stop sign on the west side of Aylmer St. at Lansdowne St. when he tried to make a left turn from Lansdowne into Aylmer St. about two a.m. today. The right front fender, grill, radiator and bumper of his car were all damaged. Constable Harold Andrew reported it was snowing at the time and visibility was poor.

Skids Through Sign Into Passing Truck

When a car failed to stop and slid through an intersection, at Parkhill Rd. and Fairbairn St., Thursday, it met in collision with a light pickup truck.

Mrs. C. Gledhill, 305 Mason Ave., driving south on Fairbairn St. told police she tried to stop her car but it skidded out into Parkhill Rd. Vernon Salt, RR 3, Peterborough, was driving east on Parkhill Rd.

Player's Jaw Broken In Hockey Game

Donald Pagett, 21, 639 Chamberlain St., had his jaw fractured in a hockey practice with the Lakefield Indians in Lakefield Thursday night. He was brought to Civic Hospital where he was scheduled to go on the operating table this morning.

In another hockey practice accident Wednesday night, Bill Edgar, 577 Sherbrooke St., subgoalie for the Petes, suffered a fractured nose when a puck glanced off a player's stick and cracked him on the nose. He also is having the fracture treated today in Civic Hospital.

Canadian Navy Units Off Coast Of Korea

TOKYO, Dec. 22—(CP)—Units of the Royal Canadian Navy are now operating off the west coast of Korea with warships of other countries in the United Nations fleet, a U.N. navy summary said today.

The summary said:

"Comprising the fleet of the west coast are ships of France, England, Thailand, Republic of Korea, Canada, New Zealand, the Netherlands, Australia and the United States."

The Canadian units were not identified. Three Canadian destroyers—the Cayuga, Sioux and Athabaskan—are serving with the U.N. fleet.

Child Is Fatally Injured Seven Others Hurt In Two-Car Collision

Four-year-old Bertram Davidson was killed Thursday night and seven other persons injured in a two-car collision Thursday night on Highway 62, two miles north of Bannockburn between Madoc and Coe Hill. Four other members of the Davidson family were also hurt. Edgar (Ted) Davidson, 41, of Millbridge, a hydro employee, and father of the fatally-injured boy, was taken to Belleville hospital and so was his wife.

The Davidson's other two boys, Tommy, 5, and Jimmy, 1, suffered only minor injuries but Mr. Davidson suffered a fractured pelvis and multiple head injuries and was in critical condition.

Clayton Vardy, 21, of Turriff, Ont., driver of the other car, suffered concussion. His father-in-law, Robert Thompson, 60, of Steenburgh, Ont., suffered a compound fracture of the skull and his condition was reported serious.

Other occupants of the Vardy car were Mrs. Hazel Vardy, 22, who suffered cuts and bruises, and her brother, 16-year-old Gordon Thompson, who suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries.

An inquest will be held.

Deer Not Afraid Of Passing Car

Provincial Constable Bert Howden reported seeing a doe and its fawn on the Apsley road today which showed little fear of his car.

The deer were at the side of the road licking salt in the snow. The salt had been scattered over the road by the Department of Highways and then a plow had rolled it back to the edge.

The deer waited until the police cruiser was quite close before moving to the edge of the bush and there waited for it to go by before going back to the salt.

Truck Badly Damaged Skids On Patch Of Ice

A passenger was hurt when a light truck skidded on a patch of ice just south of Apsley and turned over on its side in the ditch.

Charles Elmhurst, RR 1, Indian River, riding in the truck driven south on the highway by Clifford Smith, 671 Donegal St., suffered an injured back and was taken to an Apsley doctor for treatment and from there to his home.

The truck was just coming out of a turn when it met an approaching car going north. Smith turned to the east side to get on his own side when the truck hit a patch of ice and slewed down the highway some distance before skidding into the west ditch and turning over. The truck was badly damaged.

Provincial Constable Bert Howden of Apsley investigated.

Refused Bonus Threat Made Tie Up Service

A settlement has been reached between the drivers for Peterborough Bus Lines and management, so there will be no interruption of bus services on Saturday. A dispute arose earlier this week when management announced it could not afford the usual Christmas bonus of $25 and a turkey.

Thursday night the drivers voted to press their demand for a bonus, according to one source. And they threatened to walk off the job if they didn't get it.

After a meeting between the spokesmen for the drivers and management, the management decided to issue the $25 bonus even though it wasn't included in the contract that is signed with the union.

Bus services will therefore continue as usual, and both parties are reluctant to discuss either the dispute or the subsequent settlement.

Rumors of a coming bus strike were flying in the downtown district today. Many residents living in the outlying parts of the city were afraid a strike would cancel any plans they had for last-minute shopping downtown. One male shopper expressed satisfaction when he heard of the settlement, but he had a query: "OK, so the boys got their twenty-five bucks, but what about the turkey?"

Peterborough Plowmen's Association Meeting Dec. 28 — Norwood Beaver Oats Club Worth Around $11,000 in First Crop — Durham Crop Improvement Meeting Retains Officers of 1950 — New Hybrid Corn Varieties.

G. A. Brethen, president of Norwood Fair, has estimated that its Beaver Oats Derby yielded to the participating farmers of east Peterborough $11,000 more of new wealth than they would have received from sowing inferior seed.

For this project of the season of 1950, the agricultural society purchased 550 bushels of the best registered No. 1 seed. It was sown on well prepared soil and produced approximately 27,000 bushels of high quality grain.

It is conceivable that measured in dollars and cents values, this crop could multiply into several hundred thousand dollars if sold for seed and sown in the seasons of 1951-2-3.

"But, we believe the greatest value to agricultural development from this project will come from the inspiration to many farmers to sow only the best seed," Mr. Brethen commented some weeks ago to the Examiner. "It has been a community experience in the good results of using high quality seed, and better farming methods, including more efficient use of both farm manure and commercial fertilizers.

In other words, according to the agricultural society branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, Norwood Fair in carrying out this project was doing those kind of things which an agricultural fair is organized to do."

In undertaking a 50-Bushel of Beaver Oats project, Mr. Brethen said it was especially advisable to get as many young farmers as possible interested to the point of becoming members of the grain club. The competition proved to all the members what they could do when working in the best conditions of seed and land care.

"Obviously it is not so spectacular as some of the major features at our regular fairs," Mr. Brethen said," but it is infinitely more valuable to our farmers, our community and our agricultural industry."

Mr. Brethen said that one of the most encouraging aspects of the Beaver Oats Club was the enthusiasm shown by East Peterborough farmers from the time it was organized until the harvest show at Norwood Fair on Thanksgiving Day. Without that spirit of co-operation with the Fair and its agricultural society, the Club could not have attained the recognition from John A. Carroll, secretary of the Ontario Agricultural Societies, as one of the outstanding enterprises of its kind in the province.

"Our Norwood farm neighbors have shown what they can do, and I hope that spirit is going to remain alive in the community because it demonstrated that they can accomplish things just as successfully as the farmers of any other section of this country."

EFFECTIVE SPRAYING

Spraying corn and grain crops for weeds cost about a dollar an acre but paid big dividends, James T. Brown, Newcastle RR 2, said at the Durham Crop Improvement Association at Bowmanville last week. His grain and corn were almost free of weeds except some foxtail.

Wesley Werry of Hampton reported that he follows the practice of applying three hundred pounds of fertilizer to his hay each year, preferably in the fall on level fields. For this he uses a disc drill, just deep enough to cover the fertilizer. Mr. Werry also gave his experience with grass and legumes for ensilage.

Most years when the prospect for hay is satisfactory, the first field is usually put into the silo. If the field is chiefly alfalfa, Mr. Wefry adds, 50 to 70 pounds of molasses per ton. The advantage of this feed is that it is quite palatable and can be used to supplement failing pastures. By cutting the first field early it gives the aftermath a real chance.

Ed Summer, agricultural representative, reviewed the 1950 experimental projects, including the 500-Bushel Potato Club; Junior Grain Club with Larain oats; seeding of three acres of Birdsfoot Trefoil; Rhizoma seed (alfalfa with underground root stock) distributed in five pound lots to three township farmers. The same seed was furnished for a problem pasture mixture. The results of most of these experiments will not be known until next year.

Executive and directors for 1951 are:

President, Mel McHolm, Port Hope, RR 1; 1st. vice-president, Carlos Tamblyn, Orono; 2nd vice-president, Ralph Larmer, Nestleton, RR 2.

SEES EGG DEMAND

Lambton eggmen are not worrying about a 1951 contract with the United Kingdom.

Howard Huctwith of Forest says: "There is a shortage of eggs; not enough for home consumption, apart from export. We will have to start storing soon if we are to have enough next summer."

Lambton producers say they accepted grading of eggs when it was introduced 25 years ago, and was generally regarded as a hardship. They say they have a market across Canada, and also in sections of the USA and on to Switzerland and even Venezuela.

Mr. Hucwith recently completed an egg-breaking plant that should serve the country and a large part of western Ontario. In that process, eggs are broken and put into pails. They are then sealed and placed in refrigeration, remain fresh, ready for use and easily shipped. Bulk is reduced to a minimum, also labor and insurance costs.

CAN LOSE SPIRITS FASTER

Highly mechanized farms are vulnerable to bad times or depressions, just as they are more profitable in good times, according to I. W. Duggan, governor of the Farm Credit Administration of the US Department of Agriculture. The speed at which a farmer can lose his property results from the higher relation of expenses to capital that follows mechanization.

Fourteen farms, for example were studied and reported in a section of New York State by Cornell University. The first survey was in 1907 and the other 40 years later.

Early in the century land values of the group averaged $4,464; at midcentury $10,486. Comparative figures for investment in machinery, livestock and other things was $1,832 in 1907 and $12,022 in 1947.

The average total investment of these 14 farms had increased from $6,466 to $22,502. Cash receipts in 1907 averaged $1,584 and in 1947 the amount was $12,470.

More striking was the increase in average expenses: $562 in 1907 and $9,086 40 years later.

What Mr. Duggan emphasizes is the fact that early in the century those farmers could have lost the amount of their expenses in twelve consecutive years before using up their capital. Now, the loss of their cash expenses for only 2½ years would consume their entire capital. Hence, the possibility of the modern farmer losing his farm much faster in bad times than in good.

And what becomes of the desire and the position of the young farmer hoping to establish himhelf in agriculture, and virtually being forced by circumstances to follow, more or less, the common practice of increased mechanization?

FEWER HOGS GRADED

Canadian hog grading in November dropped 70,902, and yet there are recent reports that Great Britain may be interested in increasing supply of Canadian bacon next year. Comments recently regard the rumored contract prices as unattractive. On the other hand weekly distribution at home was up 15,938 hogs, and home consumption has been at a level generally encouraging to the producer.

GREEN MANURE IN 1880

"Farming with Green Manures" is the title of a book written in 1880 by a practical farmer named C. Harlan who operated a large farm near Wilmington, Delaware.

Crops he advised plowing down included rye, buckwheat, clover and corn.

Seventy years ago this New England farmer wrote: "Low production on the farm is caused by a lack of organic matter. Humus is more than four horses to a plow. It makes the earth mellow, it loosens up its texture so that the air and roots can penetrate, it changes the nitrogen of the air into nitric acid and ammonia, it absorbs and holds moisture better than anything else, it holds the constituents of plant food in its millions of capillary vessels, and it makes soil so friable that it is never too dry or hard to plow and seldom too wet to till."

Mr. Harlan said it would take 360 tons of stable manure on 20 acres to supply as much nitrogen as was supplied from a single crop of clover, and not a cart nor horse, nor fork of any kind was required to spread it evenly over the field.

So long ago this farmer wrote that all vegetation had its nitrogen in the form of albuminoids, and nothing but the decay of complete decomposition of these protein bodies and the conversion of their nitrogen into nitric acid and ammonia would render them available as plant food.

"Were all the merits of red clover emblazoned in letters of gold on a large canvas they would fail to convey to the mind a full estimate of its true value," Mr. Harlan emphasized, but he also extols the use of corn, buckwheat, rye, white mustard and even turnips as valuable green manures.

Just another paragraph about manurial practice a century ago. According to Mr. Harlan one ton of green rye contains 11 pounds of nitrogen, 4½ pounds of phosphoric acid, 12½ pounds of potash, and 1400 pounds of water. He says rye in the green state is equal ton for ton, to stable manure, with the exception of a slight lack in the content of phosphoric acid.

As to firming the seed bed he relates an instance which occurred during the US Civil War when a Northern army of 18,000 men encamped on a Southern field of growing wheat. When they left there was hardly a blade of wheat showing and the ground was packed so solidly that is resembled a public road. Yet, when spring came, the wheat came forth with vigor and produced such a crop that the good people of the neigborhood declared that Providence had taken a special care of it because it had been trodden down by unrighteous feet.

All this is familiar gospel in the agriculture of today throughout Ontario and right here in the Peterborough district. Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, often returns to the topics of green manure, humus friable and permeable soil not as something new in practice, but as essentially sound methods in the maintaining of land high in production.

CHILDREN BADGER PARENTS

Children of farms in eastern Germany under the domination of the Russians are being ordered to badger their already hard pressed parents about why they haven't fulfilled the schedule of forced deliveries to the state.

These Communist "Young Pioneers," 9 to 12 years, are trained as a pressure group acting upon their own parents. Such is the spirit of the totalitarian family.

Older youngsters, organized as the "Free" German Youth are ordered to placard barns with signs showing whether farmers have complied with the orders for grain deliveries or are lagging behind schedules.

NEW HYBRID CORN

Eight new varieties of hybrid corn have been added to the list for production in the province next year. They are mentioned as "very early," such as Warwick 210, Pioneer 396, Pioneer 388, Early Pioneer 382, Funks G-18 and several others.

The announcement followed deliberations at Chatham by members of the provincial corn committee. It is the result of months of research through regional tests made in eastern Ontario, at OAC, Guelph, at the provincial experimental farm, Ridgetown, and Dominion experimental farm Harrow.

Dr. F. Dimmock of Ottawa said differences of soil and climate were taken in account when the corn list was supplemented by the new varieties.

HOME FOR CHRISTMAS—Husky Ken Field, BC logger, arrives "home" for Christmas. For him, as for many other bush workers, home is a hotel room in downtown Vancouver. Woodsmen poured into the city for the holiday season to celebrate and meet old companions.

'A Rural Psalm'

Lord, I thank thee for my dear, loved land:
These unencumbered acres from Thy hand:
For the green pastures spread before my eyes,
And the still waters, blue beneath the skies;
For rain and sun, for the moonlight's tender glow—
Thou art my Shepherd, too, I know!"

Would Finance Junior College Publicly-Report

TORONTO, Dec. 22 — (CP) — Ontario students would be able to gain the equivalent of first-year college education without the necessity of attending a university under one of the provisions of the Hope report.

It recommends the establishment of publicly-financed junior colleges as part of a new three-level educational system.

At present the setup provides for eight grades of primary schooling and five grades of secondary education. Under the system proposed in the report there would be elementary school to the age of 12, followed by four years of secondary school, then junior colleges of either two or three years depending on local conditions.

While education up to the compulsory level, normally 16 years of age, would be compulsory, students would decide whether to go on to junior college.

Two-Fold Object

The junior colleges would prepare students either for a full university education or could send them into technical institutes or apprenticeship training. These colleges would provide a selection of university preparatory courses or vocational training. The latter primarily for students not intending to continue on to university.

"The program should be designed to provide a standard at the end of second year of junior college equivalent to successful completion of the present grade 13 (upper school), and the equivalent at the end of third year of junior college to entrance to second year courses in arts at the Univeristy of Toronto," the report says.

"We are aware that education at this level will be costly, but we feel that junior colleges should be an integral part of our publicly supported system of education."

Report On Education Began Five Years Ago

TORONTO, Dec. 22 — (CP).— More than five years ago, a Royal Commission started a complex study of education in Ontario. Thursday at 4 p.m., its report, of a complex and controversial nature, was issued for immediate publication. It was half a million words long.

Official reports of significance ordinarily are given to the press confidentially for study in advance of release. A report of this type requires probably a week for summarization into a newspaper page or so (8,000 words or more)—boiling it down to 1-50th or less of its original length without altering its sense.

With the report was an incomplete 2,000-word summary. Mr. Justice J. A. Hope of the Ontario Supreme Court, chairman of the commission, regretted lack of time prevented the commission from preparing a more detailed summary.

More Emphasis On Agriculture

TORONTO, Dec. 22 — (CP).— Increased emphasis on agriculture is urged by the Hope Royal Commission in its report on Ontario education.

If farmers permit their practices to lag behind the technical knowledge available, the report states, our national economy will be gravely affected. Agricultural education and practice are of fundamental importance.

The report recommends:

1—Part-time courses in agriculture be provided by local authorities for post-elementary education where there is a need.

2—The Education Department establish provincial agricultural institutes.

3—Consideration be given to a system of apprenticeship training in agriculture.

5—Agriculture become a major subject in secondary schools.

6—Specialized courses at the junior college level.

Collapses On Street

KINGSTON, Dec. 22 (CP). — William J. Austin, 26, of Rideau Heights, Ont., collapsed of a heart seizure on the street Thursday and died after being picked up by police. Police said a passerby, noting the man groping his way along the street on his hands and knees assumed he was drunk, and called police. Austin was on his way home from hospital, and recently had been discharged from service with the Royal Canadian Regiment of the special United Nations force.

Would Relax Regulations On French Class

TORONTO, Dec. 22—(CP)—The Hope Royal Commission report on Ontario Education suggests some relaxation of regulations governing the inclusion of French in the curriculum of elementary and post-elementary schools.

The commission's report recommends that a simple majority of a trustee board in any locality should be able to ask for French instruction in its elementary and post-elementary schools.

At present French is begun in Grade 9 and in some elementary grades in schools which have received special permission from the Minister of Education.

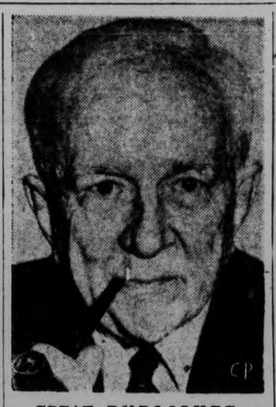

In private and separate schools where French is requested in the earlier grades, the local board must decide unanimously in its favor before an application to the minister is considered.

Limited Period

Under the reorganzied educational system, the report added, permission should not be granted on a permanent basis but for a suggested period of six years and then be reviewed.

Special provision should permit, in certain elementary schools, the introduction of French as a means of instruction and communication in classrooms attended by children of French origin.

The report also recommended that all publicly - supported schools in Ontario be placed in one or other of two categories—public schools and separate schools. The official records "of all publicly-supported schools—and the letterheads, names of schools, etc.—be in English only, save for place names where the official name is French."

GREAT PUBLISHER — George Henry Doran started his publishing career at the age of 14 in a Toronto publishing house at $2 a week. When he retired in 1935, 52 years later, he was one of the world's foremost publishing figures, founder of the George H. He counts among his friends most of the literary giants of the first half of the 20th century, many of whom he first brought to prominence.

Say Religious Education Has A Place In Schools

TORONTO, Dec. 22 — (CP) — Religion and morality"—"though not secretarianism"—must have a central place in the educational system, the Hope Royal Commission said today in a report on Ontario education, recommending that religious exercises and instruction continue in public elementary schools.

Present regulations governing religious education in public elementary schools was satisfactory but "it is necessary to make more adequate provision for religious education in the secondary schools and junior colleges."

The report suggests religious education and ethics be subjects in each year of secondary schools and the first two of junior colleges; that religion be taught within school hours.

The commission recommended religious instruction be given by a clergyman or his appointee but ethics should be taught by a staff member from department material.

The report said the school cannot accept full responsibility for sex education but must supplement home and church. It recommended instruction in three stages:

Before 12 years of age, instruction should come from the teacher "as fully and naturally as possible" or be referred to parents during the first three years of secondary school, there should be instruction in physiology by teachers as well as individual counsel with parental consent; this should be increased in emphasis in the remaining two years to provide "well-adjusted citizens."

Should Be Correlated

Health and physical education "in all public schools (should) be correlated with health services." The report recommended "specific instruction in the third and fourth years of secondary schools on the effects and use of alcohol and tobacco in keeping with the latest scientific findings."

Ten pages of the report are devoted to education for citizenship but it declares there is no unanimity as to how this training should be conducted except "practice is the main thing." Fuller adaption of activities and learning on the level of the learner was a means of achieving citizenship training but "in the final analysis it rests with the teacher."

No homework should be assigned pupils in the new elementary schools, the report says, and care should be taken the amount assigned in secondary schools and junior colleges is not excessive.

Excent for a national emergency the full school day should be devoted to activities of the regular school program. The practice of allowing secondary school students in the lower grades to cease attendance before the end of the term should be discontinued.

Education Report Weighs 13½ Pounds

TORONTO, Dec. 22 — (CP).— The Hope Royal Commission report on education issued Thursday night ran 1,179 pages and half a million words—as long as half-a-dozen novels.

In manuscript form it weighed 13½ pounds.

Its findings are not binding on the Ontario Government which can adopt or ignore any of them. It will probably be tabled at the next session of the Provincial Legislature.

Formation of the commission was announced by George Drew, then Provincial Premier, in 1944. It was formally appointed March 21, 1945, with 21 members. Mr. Justice Hope of the Ontario Supreme Court was named chairman.

It received 258 briefs and 44 memoranda and heard 474 witnesses. The full commission sat 142 days, various committees 116 days, its editing committee 33 days, and individual members spent another 60 days on the report. Members visited the United Kingdom, Northern Europe, other provinces of Canada, and parts of the United States.

Possible $300,000 Cost

Some estimates of its cost run to $300,000, but no final figure has been made public.

Fifteen of the 20 surviving members of the commission signed the majority report, four of them expressing disagreement on specific points. Four members, all supporters of Roman Catholic Separate Schools, signed a minority report. Another member submitted a separate memorandum and did not sign other reports.

One member, Fred Molineaux, Hamilton labor man, died last March.

Other members are:

Signers of the majority report —Mr. Justice Hope, M. A. Campbell, Charles Conquergood, Mrs R. J. Marshall, Norman McLeod Loftus H. Reid, C. R. Sanderson Dr. Sidney Smith, Toronto; Vance Chapman, Port Arthur; Mrs. J Houck, Brampton; Dr. Ralph J Neelands, Kirkland Lake; Mrs Ryland New, Oakville; Helen Sheppard, North Bay; Rev. Canon W. A. Townshend, London; Dr William L. Whitelock, Hamilton. (Dr. Neelands and Dr. Whitelock signed a minority report differing in some minor respects with the main report; Mr. Chapman and Dr. Smith, president of the University of Toronto, signed statements setting out minor differences.)

Signers of the minority report —E. F. Henderson and Arthur Kelly, Toronto; J. M. Pigott, Hamilton; Henri St. Jacques, Ottawa. (Mr. St. Jacques also signed a special memorandum on teaching French in the schools.)

W. H. Clarke of Toronto signed an individual memorandum.

Jolliffe Raps Hope Report

TORONTO, Dec. 22 — (CP).— E. B. Jolliffe CCF Opposition Leader in the Ontario Legislature, said Thursday night the Hope Royal Commission report on Ontario education was presented to the public by the Provincial Government in a sloppy and inadequate manner.

Mr. Justice J. A. Hope, who headed the 21-member commission, handed the report Thursday to Premier Frost.

"Formerly the government has gone to considerable trouble to present a complete and precise summary of their reports," Mr. Jolliffe said. "These act as a guide for press gallery reporters who might otherwise become confused by the legal and technical language used."

He said it was released close to Christmas "to avoid heavy publicity."

"The report took nearly six years to compile and cost about $300,000. Its subject is of tremendous importance. The government should have made the effort to facilitate its proper presentation to the public."

Re-Elected President

TORONTO, Dec. 22 (CP).—R. A. Stapells of Toronto Thursday was re-elected president of the Canadian Automobile Association At the annual convention he reported an increase in membership with enrolment in the Ontario Motor League now near 100,000 and membership in the Alberta Motor Association totalling 50,000. He noted that the North Waterloo Automobile Club's sponsorship of driving training courses in high schools was being followed in numerous Ontario centres and other provinces.

Tighter Flying Control

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (CP) —The government ordered tighter control of civilian flying in many areas Thursday to strengthen the country's protection against sneak air attack. The civil aeronautics board will make it mandatory for pilots to file flight plans under certain conditions when flying within, into or across large so-called "sensitive" areas.

May Need Federal Aid In Education Costs

TORONTO, Dec. 22 — (CP).— Federal aid may soon be necessary to help bear the cost of education in Ontario, the Hope Royal Commission said Thursday in a provincial education report.

The report estimated a 50 per cent increase in Ontario's school population in the next generation. Provincial and municipal governments alone could not meet this expansion cost.

"Local municipalities cannot . . be asked to place a heavier burden on property in order to finance education; and the Provincial Government now appropriates approximately 22 per cent of net ordinary revenue for expenditures of the Department of Education."

Approve New Contract

HAMILTON, Dec. 22 (CP). — Employees of the Canadian Westinghouse Company Thursday night approved of a new wage contract providing for a general increase of 10 cents an hour. The contract affects 5,600 workers, members of the United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers of America. A union spokesman said the agreement also provides for an additional increase of three cents an hour for about 500 skilled tradesmen. The increases brings the minimum starting rate of pay to $1.20 an hour and ranges up to $1.82 an hour for toolmakers.

Cardinal Says Education Report Will Shock Roman Catholics

TORONTO, Dec. 22 — (CP) — James Cardinal McGuigan, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Toronto, said Thursday night the Hope Commission Report proposal that separate school boards have jurisdiction over children only up to the age of 12 years will "cause astonishment and consternation" among Roman Catholics in Ontario.

The Cardinal's statement follows:

"The Roman Catholic people of Ontario, deeply concerned for the education of their children according to the dictates of their consciences are naturally very interested in the report of the Royal Commission on Education in Ontario.

"It is evident that five of the commissioners have failed to subscribe to the majority report and have expressed their views in two separate documents. Moreover, four of the 15 commissioners who signed the majority report have differed from their fellow-commissioners on certain matters, including the separate school question, and have expressed their views in a third minority document.

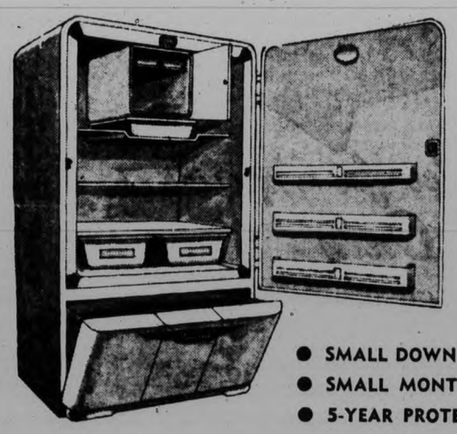

"In view of this lack of unanimity, it is clear that before there is implementation of the report there must be more careful consideration by the government and the Department of Education, especially on matters about which disagreement is expressed. I am confident that this consideration will be given.

"While I have not seen the report itself, I have before me a brief summary of some of its important sections. Regarding separate schools I note that the majority report proposes that separate school boards should have jurisdiction over children only up to the age of 12 years.

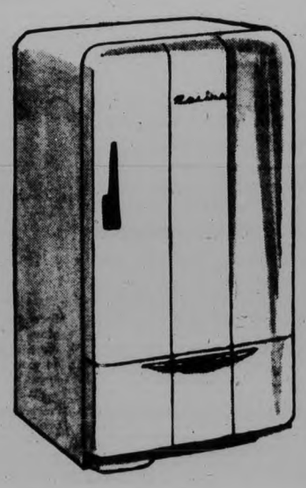

"This proposal will cause astonishment and consternation among Catholics, especially as it is accompanied by the statement that the rights and privileges of separate schools under the British North America Act are to be continued. I refrain from making further comment pending full study of the report.

"The two Roman Catholic education associations in Ontario, English and French, will study the report and make an authoritative statement on behalf of all the Roman Catholics in the province. Roman Catholics believe that their traditional rights must be fully maintained and that the Department of Education will work out a plan whereby full justice will be done to all schools in Ontario and a principle of equal opportunity for every child in the province made practical. Roman Catholics will re-affirm their rights in conscience to make every effort for the educational concern of their children in accordance with their religious convictions in any reform of the school system of the province."

Enjoy Christmas Party

Mrs. L. McClure, Elcombe Crescent, was hostess Wednesday evening to the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Kawartha Police Association for the annual Christmas party. Her house was nicely decorated for the occasion with a beautiful tree in the living room from which exchange gifts were distributed. The program was arranged by Mrs. E. Beatty and opened with carol singing, Mrs. E. MacDonald accompanying at the piano. Next was a number by the "toy band", instruments being bells, drums, rattles, horns, a washboard and rubber animals. Mrs. G. Samis read a poem "A Lady Shopping" and Mrs. A. Dalton gave a reading, "Just what I wanted." Miss Patsy Morrow entertained with two piano selections. There were three contests and the winners were Mrs. R. Pogue, Mrs. E. MacDonald and Mrs. A. Edmison. A play on the television set was viewed with enjoyment and then a party luncheon was served by the hostess and Mrs. E. Crowe and committee.

Food Staff Holds Party

A Christmas party was held this week by the kitchen and cafeteria staff members at the Civic Hospital. After an hour of entertainment around the Christmas tree, the exchange gifts were distributed including candy and soft drinks supplied by Miss A. Morgan, dietitian, and chocolates and cigarettes from Miss A. L. Thomson and the supervisory staff. Mr. A. Clark did a fine job of impersonating Santa, keeping up the spirit with his cheerful banter. Mr. H. Gilbert of the kitchen staff thanked all who contributed to the evening, speaking also in behalf of chef Mr. R. McPhail and his staff, and extended the season's wishes to the entire staff, and the hospital patients.

Milligan-Daynes Wedding

A double ring wedding ceremony in Knox United Church on Saturday, performed by the Rev. H. G. Douglas, united Rose Marie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Daynes, 590 Patterson St., and Mr. Ronald William Milligan, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Darling, 741 Chamberlain St.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and was wearing a gown of white organza styled with high neckline and short sleeves and with elbow-length mittens of the same material. Her fingertip veil of white net was caught to a crown of mother of pearl and her bouquet was of white 'mums.

As bridesmaid, Mrs. Carl Johnston was frocked in pale green nylon and wore a picture hat of lace and mittens in the same shade. She carried a bouquet of bronze 'mums. Flower girl was Carol Ann Healey, dressed in pink nylon with matching halo headdress and carrying blue and white 'mums.

Groomsman was Mr. Carl Johnston, and the ushers were Larry Johnston and Frank Milligan, brother of the groom.

Wedding music was played by organist Mr. W. R. Potter and ruding signing of the register he played "Bells of St. Mary's." The altar was decorated with bouquets of yellow 'mums.

After the ceremony, refreshments were served at the Colonial Room and a reception followed at the groom's home. Mrs. Darling was receiving in a dress of pink lace and wearing a black velvet hat and corsage of blue 'mums. She was assisted by the bride's mother who wore a navy suit with navy accessories and corsage of white 'mums.

The bride and groom left later on a trip east, the bride wearing a light brown tailored suit with black velvet accessories and had a corsage of pink roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Milligan will live at 741 Chamberlain St.

Woman of 92 Northern Pioneer

FLIN FLON, Man.—(CP)—Mrs. C. M. (Ma) Bell, 92, is the "grand old lady" of Manitoba's northland.

She has lived in this northern mining region for more than 30 years. She knew Flin Flon when it was just a mining camp, with a few shacks built near the mine headframe. The boys in camp came to know of her many kindnesses. They were always welcome at her home.

Mrs. Bell was born in Prince Edward Island. Several years ago she went down to Winnipeg—and came back with a new husband. She stayed at the Oddfellows' Home in Charleswood and there met 81-year-old George Jeffrey. They were married in January, 1948, and lost no time in coming op north again.

Despite her new married name, the north still knows her as "Ma" Bell.

Music of Nativity On Sunday By St. Luke's Choir

Music of the Nativity of Christ will be presented on Sunday afternoon at St. Luke's Anglican Church, Ashburnham, under the direction of the organist and choirmaster Mr. Morley E. S. Coombs.

The music, composed and arranged by Caleb Simper, will feature soloists Fraser Watson, tenor, singing "And the Angel Gabriel", John Biddle, bass, singing "Good Tidings", Miss Shirley Siddall as soloist in "The wondrous story", Miss Nicolette Humphrey, soloist in "The Star of Bethlehem" and Miss Adam Pammett, soprano soloist, will sing "Ring out O bells."

Beautiful carols and choruses will be rendered by the choir. "Gold, Frankincense and Myrrh" will be sung by a quartette of soprano Ada Pammett, alto Pamela Humphrey, tenor Claude Hewitt, and bass John Biddle with a closing soprano solo by Patricia Humphrey.

The program will commence at three o'clock with an organ prelude by Mr. Coombs.

Westwood Area School Concert

WESTWOOD, Dec. 22.—(ENS)—Westwood Community Hall was filled to capacity on Monday night for the annual Christmas entertainment and tree of Westwood Public school area.

The area consists of Boundary Line school, Birdsall, Fife's and Westwood with a total of thirty-seven pupils. The teacher is Miss Marjorie Huffman of Napanee.

A very entertaining program was put on by the pupils with Trustee Aubrey Wood acting as chairman and the accompanist for the evening was the musical director, Mr. Pollock of Trent River.

A chorus "Frosty the Snowman" and a welcome recitation by Lyle Tarleton opened the program. Recitations were given by Melvyn Russell, Margaret Chaplin, Terry Rye, Freddie Pulfer and Margaret Rose Reed. Three monologues by Frances Lynch, Roy McMillan and Barbara Whitred were given. Four short plays were well presented and a Christmas scene by the junior pupils and a Christmas tableau was staged by the senior pupils. A solo was sung by Rose Simpson and "Thorna Rosa" was presented by the junior pupils; a star drill by the senior girls and a new feature for Westwood school was an exhibition of acrobatic stunts by the boys. A chorus was followed by a closing address by Bobbie Middlebrook.

Santa Claus, in jovial mood, arrived and after renewing acquaintanceship with the teacher and pupils, distributed the many gifts from the Christmas tree, assisted by several helpers.

Meet God halfway when you pray

Do you know how to meet God halfway in your prayers? Do you realize the wisdom of adding "Nevertheless, not my will but Thine be done"?

In January Reader's Digest Fulton Oursler tells how great men—like Lincoln—have learned to listen to God when they pray for guidance. How prayer brings inner harmony to the life of the humblest—how hard-boiled skeptics who study with an open mind become impressed with the results of prayer.

Marriage Trends Reversed In West Germany

FRANKFURT — (Reuters) — Despite a large surplus of women in West Germany today, more men than women appear to be seeking marriage.

This reversal of a trend which developed in the immediate post-war years is demonstrated in "marriage bureau" appeals in West German newspapers.

Official figures show that the disparity between the sexes has narrowed. In 1946 there were 122 women to 100 men. Now there's 113 women to 100 men, and the women are getting more 'choosey'.

The age of men advertising for a wife ranges up to 70. Nearly every applicant describes himself as good-looking and seeking a good-loooking young woman as a 'life comrade'. The word 'frau', meaning wife, is seldom used.

Many women and girls complain that men want to marry only for material gain and that they have a superiority complex due to the surplus of women. Men answer this by saying that unless they discover whether a woman has some means they will probably be 'caught'.

Women for their part seek men with 'serious intentions' and in 'good positions'. Many are widows with children.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Homemade Fudge Tradition In Every Canadian Home

Are you going to make candy for Christmas?

I ask my friends who are good cooks what in their opinions are the dishes that are traditionally Canadian—since we are slightly short on cooking traditions in this country.

Betty M. says "What about fudge? Every teen-age girl knows how to make fudge."

Is this true?

The recipe I gave my Marianne to try has been so well tried by her that she is not satisfied unless each batch is varied nowadays.

This recipe is ideal for today's column for you can double or triple the quantity without doing any harm, and have a big enough batch to pack little remembrance boxes for those folks you have forgotten or for unexpected callers.

Homemade Fudge (with variations)

Two cups sugar, ½ cup evaporated milk, ½ cup water, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 squares cooking chocolate, 2 tablespoons each corn syrup and butter or margarine, ½ to 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Without grating the chocolate, mix it with sugar, milk, salt and corn syrup in sauce, and stir over low heat until sugar is dissolved. Cook gently to 236 deg. Fahr. Remove from heat, drop in butter without stirring and let cool to 110 deg. Fahr. Add vanilla and beat until candy loses its gloss. Pour onto buttered pan or platter to cool. Mark in squares to cut when cool.

Do not overcook fudge. It would be better to boil it only to 234 deg. Fahr. than to overboil it. I do not know how you could arrive at this exact temperature without a candy thermometer. Drops of candy in cold water will not guide you. Length of boiling time is not accurate.

If you buy a thermometer do not keep it in a drawer that you are constanly pulling out and pushing in—like the kitchen-knife drawer. This constant jarring separates the column of mercury in the tube and it never again gives accurate temperatures. Keep your candy thermometer in its box at the back of a cupboard, where it cannot be jarred or knocked.

Variation No. 1 — Holiday fudge: Just before beating stage is finished add ½ cup chopped nuts and ¼ cup finely chopped green and red cherries, candied and ¼ cup soft raisins or chopped dates. This chills the fudge quickly, so as soon as it is mixed in the fudge is usually ready to pour onto the pan.

Variation No. 2: Pour the fudge onto the buttered pan and have ready 2/3 cup chopped nuts to sprinkle over top and to press into the candy. It must be pressed in to make it stick.

Variation No. 3: For special occasions, pour the fudge onto large buttered platter to ⅜ inch thickness, mark into squares after pressing a whole walnut or pecan on surface of candy at regular intervals. When cut there is a fhole nut on each piece.

Variation No. 4: Add 4 tablespoons butter instead of 2 to the fudge. When it is nearly ready to pour, have someone help you form it into 1-inch balls, by rolling between buttered palms. Drop these in shredded cocoanut or chopped nuts, and roll to completely cover the balls.

Marmora School Christmas Party

MARMORA, Dec. 22 (ENS). — Marmora and Deloro public schools held their annual Christmas parties on Thursday afternoon. Each room at the Marmora school held its distinctive party with the teacher in charge. The primary was favored with a visit from Santa Claus who provided games for the juveniles and assisted with the distribution of gifts from the well laden tree. In his honor the children rendered a pretty action chorus.

At Deloro, the two rooms taught by Fred Stewart, principal, and Miss Hilda Henderson, assistant teacher, combined to put on a fine program at the conclusion of which Santa Claus turned up to assist in the distribution of gifts there.

THE EXPERTS SAY

List Rules for Housewives Make Christmas Trees Safe

OTTAWA, Dec. 22 —(CP)— A Christmas-tree is a necessary item at this time of the year—but make certain it doesn't become a menace.

In its December bulletin the 13,000-member Canadian Association of Consumers lists several tips for Christmas-tree owners.

1. Don't bring the tree into the house until a few days before Christmas — and get it outside afterwards as soon as possible.
2. Stand the tree in water and keep it erect with supports.
3. Stand tree as far as possible from radiators and fireplaces.
4. Don't connect too many strings of lights to one circuit.
5. Don't let electric bulbs touch branches of tree.
6. Don't allow the children to play near the tree with electrical toys or with clockwork toys which spark.
7. Turn off the tree lights when you leave the room. Never leave tree lights on when you go out.

✧ ✧ ✧

Good Bargain

Right now apples are just about the cheapest fruit you can buy and the Canadian Association of Consumers urges everyone to eat apples and to drink vitaminized apple juice.

When cooking apples there also are a few rules which should be followed if the natural flavor of the apples is to be developed.

Add little spice or flavoring and wherever possible cook apples without peeling.

When peeling apples drop in cold water to prevent discoloration.

Cover sauce-pan closely when making apple-sauce.

Sugar toughens cellulose. If sauce is desired cook without sugar, adding it when apples are cooked. If whole pieces are preferred make a syrup and drop apples in it.

Bake apples in a moderate oven to prevent skin breaking.

Less sugar is required if added after fruit is cooked.

✧ ✧ ✧

Here is a new way to prepare weiners — with apples — which should make an excellent main dish to serve luncheon guests this holiday season.

Ingredients: Six tablespoons butter; two tablespoons prepared mustard; one-half cup light corn syrup; four tart apples (pared and quartered); eight weiners.

Melt butter in frying-pan. Add mustard and corn syrup. Mix well. Add apples and weiners. Cover and cook 10 to 12 minutes. Place weiners on platter surrounded by apples. Pour syrup over all. Serves four.

✧ ✧ ✧

For soup interest add any of the following garnishes:

Sliced gherkins; thin slices of lemon; browned bacon and onion; sliced stuffed olives; chopped chives or parsley; toasted almonds; tiny mushrooms.

What's Right

You are invited to a party where there is a guest of honor.

WRONG: Don't bother seeking out the guest of honor for conversation, if there are good friends you'd rather spend the time talking to.

RIGHT: Be sure to make a point of getting acquainted with the guest of honor.

DOROTHY DIX

Couple Have Regular Dates For Nine Months, Get Tired

DEAR MISS DIX: Is it possible for two people who really love each other to become somewhat tired of each other during a period of nine months' steady company? I've been going with a man whom I am sure I love, yet his company has become slightly irksome at times. What shall I do. Shall I break a few dates. We see each other Wednesdays, Saturday afternoons and all day Sundays. Do we see too much of each other? We are not engaged. He is 34 and a lawyer. I am 31 and a teacher of art. I want to get married. He probably senses that and he is afraid of marriage. I feel that things are dragging and that I must make it clear that I don't intend to teach all my life, and if he isn't interested, some one else might be. I know he dreads making a mistake and also possibly dreads the boredom of marriage. MARGARET.

Dorothy Dix

ANSWER: There is no such antidote for love as an enamoured couple to give each other overdoses of their society. You say you are together all day Sunday. That is certainly putting love to an acid test. Personally, I can think of nothing more horrible and boring or that puts such a strain upon anyone as to have to spend a whole, long, weary, never-ending day with anyone whom one either had to entertain or be entertained by.

Forget About Sunday

If you will cut out the gloomy Sunday business and just have a couple of dates in the evenings during the week, with perhaps Sunday evening thrown in for good measure, I think you will see that the young man's ardor will revive.

You may ask how you and the man will stand each other's company after marriage if you get bored with each other before marriage. But that is an entirely different proposition. Before marriage all that sweethearts have to talk about is the state of their affections. But a husband and wife have a million topics of interest to discuss because they have everything in common. Also the husband and wife do not have to keep up appearances and always be on their best behavior, nor do they have to make conversation and try to keep each other amused. The most blessed thing about marriage is that a man and woman who love each other don't have to talk. They can just sit and read a whole evening through and feel that they are in constant communion.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am engaged to be married to a very fine man who is fifteen years my senior, but here is my problem: He is very domestic in his tastes. Loves a home and is especially fond of children and is always talking and planning the home and children we will have. Unfortunately I have had to have an operation that will prevent my ever having children. Should I tell him or marry him without telling him? LUCY.

ANSWER: Tell him before you marry him. It is the only honorable thing to do. If you married him without telling him that you could not have children, he would never forgive you. In fact, the marriage would not be binding in law and he could have it annulled if you deceived him in this important matter.

To many men children are not a requisite to a happy marriage. They have no strong paternal instinct and are rather glad than otherwise if they do not have to be bothered with babies.

But there are many other men who adore children, who have a father-heart, just as a woman has the mother-heart, and to such men as these marriage without children is cinders, ashes and dust. They are always more father than husband, and no woman would make them happy who did not give them children.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am engaged to a young man and we expect to be married in a few months. He and his sister want to take me to their home for a week-end visit with his mother. I have always said that I would not visit in a man's home until after we are married. Am I right to stick to my principles about this? OLD-FASHIONED.

ANSWER: You are being both foolish and selfish. For while it would be improper and unconventional for you to go off for a week-end with your fiancee to some place where there was no other woman, it is not only perfectly correct for you to go to see his mother, but it is just what is expected of you.

6—In Memoriams

DE CARLO—In loving memory of Maria DeCarlo, who passed away December 22, 1944.
The world may change from year to year,
And friends from day to day,
But never will the one we love
From memory pass away.
—Sadly missed by Helen and Jack DeCarlo.

EASON—In loving memory of my mother, Mrs. Clare Eason, who passed away Dec. 22, 1949.
Two dear bright eyes, a tender smile,
A loving heart that knew no guile,
Deep trust in God that all was right,
Her joy to make some other bright,
If sick or sufering one she knew,
Some gentle act of love she'd do,
No thought of self, but of the other,
I know He said "Well done," dear mother,
—Ever remembered by Harold, Luella and family.

JOHNSON—In memory of Ludwig, father of Frank, who passed away six years ago today, December 22, 1944 and James Adams, father of Elsa, who passed away six years ago, November 22, 1944.
—Sadly missed and ever remembered by their families.

JOHNSON—In loving memory of a dear father, Ludvig Johnson, who passed away December 22, 1944.
We watched you suffer day by day,
And could not help in any way,
But just stood by and saw you pass
Into the Saviour's arms at last.
—Daughter and son-in-law Ethel and Mel Starr.

MURRAY—In memory of Mrs. Clarence Murray, who passed away Dec. 22, 1946.
Two dear bright eyes, a tender smile,
A loving heart that knew no guile,
Deep trust in God that all was right,
Her joy to make some other bright,
If sick or suffering one she knew,
Some gentle act of love she'd do,
No thought of self, but of the "other,"
I know He said, "well done, dear mother."
—Ever remembered by her daughter Barbara.

MURRAY—In loving memroy of Mrs. C. Murray, who passed away on December 22, 1946.
What would we give her hand to clasp
Her patient face to see,
To hear her voice, to see her smile,
As in the days that used to be.
But some sweet day we'll meet again
Beyond the toil and strife,
And clasp each other's hand once more
In heaven, that happy life.
—Ever remembered by husband and daughter.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Dec. 22—(AP) — Grains started out a little lower in a continuation of the downward drift which characterized yesterday's trading.

Dealing were rather slow, as is typical of pre-holiday markets.

Selling pressure was not heavy and apparently came mainly from those who did not want to hold on to grains over the long holiday. The market will be closed Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

Wheat opened 3/8-7/8 cent lower, March $2.44 3/4-5/8; corn was unchanged to 1/4 lower, March $1.69 3/4, and oats were 1/8 1 3/8 lower, March 96 1/4-96. Soybeans were 3/4 cent lower to 1/4 higher, January $3.08 1/2.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, Dec. 22—(CP)— Prices moved narrowly in early trading today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, most action of a pre-holiday nature.

Prices:

Oats—Dec. 1/4 lower 98 3/8 A; May 1/4 lower 94 1/2 B; July 1/4 higher—unchanged 87 5/8.

Barley—Dec. 1/4 lower 1.39 5/8 B; May 7/8-1 lower $1.35; July 1/8 lower $1.28 3/8 B.

Rye—Dec. 1/8 lower, $1.71 1/2 A; May 1/4 lower, $1.75 1/4; July 1/4-3/8 lower $1.72 5/8 B.

Flax—Dec.—Not open; May 1/8 higher $4.18 3/4; July not open.

Inspections: Wheat this year 738; last year 549; cars of contraot 290; oats 127-91; barley 98-55; flax 7-2; rye 7-7; other grains 1-6; total 978-710.

Y's Men's Club Annual Party

Santa Claus paid a brief visit Thursday night to the YMCA during his windup of Christmas parties when the Y's Men's Club held its children's party in the auditorium. The 53 children received a wide assortment of hockey sticks, blackboards, dolls, and trucks. The adults, numbering 61, joined in the excitement of the bearded man's stay.

Prior to Santa's arrival down the YMCA chimney Mrs. Jean Abrams told the children Christmas stories before the fireplace in the light of the Christmas tree. Season's greetings were expressed by Mayor M. J. Swanston, club president Jack Richardson and party chairman Steve Csumrik.

Before the turkey dinner each child was presented with a miniature Rudolph and after dinner with a bag of candy. A sing song was led by Jno. Stuart and accompanied by Quirt McKinney. A feature of this event was a duet, Joseph Watson and William MacFarlane, who sang Santa Claus is Comin' to Town. Other songs included Silent Night, O Come All Ye Faithful, White Christmas and Rudolph, the Red-nosed Reindeer.

Shipping Higher

MONTREAL (CP). — Ocean shipping to Montreal this year was 76 ships more than in 1949. Harbor records show 1,081 liners and freighters used port facilities despite the uncertain start last April.

Plan Special Service In United Church

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 22. — (ENS).—A special Christmas service will be held in St. John's United Church at 11 o'clock on Sunday. Dr. D. M. Smith will preach on the theme, "Good Tidings."

The choir, under the direction of Chas. Howey, will render the anthem, "Gloria in Excelsis Deo" and "The Little Road to Bethlehem" by Michael Head. Mr. John Pierce will sing a solo. As the Sunday school is being withdrawn it will be a family day in the church.

The public are being invited to a service of worship in the afternoon at 3 p.m. when the Sunday school will present a Christmas pageant, "Christmas in Song and Story."

The evening service is being withdrawn.

Baby Shower Held

HASTINGS, Dec. 22 (ENS) — A large group of friends surprised Mrs. Morley Richardson with a baby gift shower at the home of Mrs. Verle Rymerson. Prize winners in contests were Mesdames Killingbeck, R. Clarke, M. Richardson, G. Curle. The hostess served delicious refreshments.

Out of town guests were Mrs. Downer of Peterborough, a great-aunt of the baby, Mrs. M. Curle of Campbellford, grandmother and Mrs. G. Curle, Campbellford.

Dollar Up A Little

MONTREAL, Dec. 22—(CP)—The American dollar today opened at 5 23-32 per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, 1-32 higher than Thursday's close. That is, it took $1.05 23-32 Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.96, up 1-16.

Toss Bombs At Stores

RIO DE JANEIRO, Dec. 22—(Reuters) — Hand-made bombs were thrown at some luxury shops here Thursday in demonstrations coinciding with Prime Minister Stalin's 71st birthday. They caused only slight damage. Police arrested more than 100 Communists.

Plane Missing In Rockies With 18 Aboard Search To Begin At Dawn

10 Women Among Holiday Travellers Starting For Calgary Through Mountains In Foggy Weather

VANCOUVER, DDec. 23—(CP)—Aerial and ground search teams were set to jump off at dawn today, if adverse weather conditions improved, to search for a missing Canadian Pacific Airlines plane missing in the snow-swept Rocky Mountain region of southern British Columbia with 18 persons. The plane vanished yesterday on a scheduled trip from Vancouver to Calgary. The twin-engined DC-3, was last reported near Penticton, about 180 miles east of here.

Ten of the 15 passengers, all en route to spend Christmas at home, were women. All were residents of British Columbia.

Nothing had been heard from the aircraft since it sped over the mountainous district at 15,000 feet in foggy, wet weather. A radio message picked up at Princeton merely said: "Routine."

The DC-3 was due in Penticton 90 minutes after leaving Vancouver's international airport at 1.30 p.m. PST yesterday. Nine persons were slated to get off there. Two more were bound for Nelson and four were tralvelling to Cranbrook.

Similar to 1947

The disappearance was similar to a 1947 tragedy when a Trans-Canada Air Lines transport with 15 persons aboard vanished into the darkness of the Pacific Ocean near here.

It was never located despite a lengthy air-sea search.

In 1942, a CPA airliner crashed Dec. 20, and was not located until mid-August of 1943. All 13 persons also homeward bound Chrihtmas travellers were killed when the plane, bound from Prince George, B. C., to Vancouver, crashed into a mountainside, 74 miles east of here.

When the airliners became overdue last night it was first believed that pilot Quintan Moore of Vancouver had set the plane down either in Alberta or numerous landing strips along the route. But it failed to turn up at any of them.

Cranbrook Landing

After Penticton, the plane was scheduled to pass up a landing 88 miles further east at Castlegar, because of bad weather, and come down at Cranbrook, B. C., another 82 miles east. From there it was to complete its 490-mile trip by flying over "the hump" of the Rockie to Calgary.

Officials said the highest mountains would be encountered just before the plane hit Cranbrook. West of there it would almost follow the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway through mountain valleys.

An RCAF spokesman said the plane could clear the mountains by flying at 9,000 feet—and that would give it a 1,000-foot clearance.

10 Old People Die In Fire During Party

AMARILLO, Tex., Dec. 23 — (AP)—Ten feeble old people, trapped as they laughed over Christmas presents, died late yesterday in a blaze that devoured their barn-like barracks home.

All the victims were bedridden. Three were blind.

"I guess I've lost them all!" cried Mrs. J. W. Wright, attendant in charge of the barracks. "I should have saved them."

Then she collapsed.

But she had saved one patient. Another saved himself. A visitor —a woman badly burned trying to save her stepmother—also got out. Those four were the only survivors of the barracks.

Thirty-five patients in other units of the four-unit frame-and-stucco home were saved and taken to hospital for temporary care.

Search For Hours

Rescue workers dug for hours in darkness before they freed the last body from the gutted barracks, part of the Walker Convalescent Home six miles northeast of here.

Veteran reporters, old hands at scenes of fear in tornado-stricken panhandle towns, said the concentrated hysteria and panic at the home was terrible.

Fight Hysteria

Attendants fought off their own hysteria as they rushed from one terrified elderly person to another with calming words. Several attendants, when they had done all they could, broke down.

It was late last night before the blaze—which started about 4 p.m.—was out. Iron bedsteads blanketed with ashes were all that remained of the building.

Mrs. Wright said she believed the fire started with an explosion, although no blast was heard.

Worker Missing In $500,000 Fire

PORT CREDIT, Ont., Dec. 23—(CP)—One worker was reported missing and loss was estimated at $500,000 in a fire which swept through a factory in this town seven miles west of Toronto last night.

Long after the blaze had been brought under control, police were seeking to find George Donnelly, one of six night-shift workers. Others who escaped said they feared Donnelly was trapped inside the plant.

The fire started in a machine of the Federal Sales and Engineering plant which manufactured parts for motor cars. Origin of the blaze was not known.

Men Both Passengers Who's Driving?

CALGARY, Dec. 23 (CP). — It shouldn't happen outside the funny papers but it happened in Calgary last night.

Questioned at police headquarters were two men who had been riding in one of two cars involved in a street-corner collision.

Each freely admitted being a passenger in the car.

"But I wasn't driving," each declared emphatically, looking across at the other. "I thought he was."

Chinese Delegation Heads For Moscow

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Dec. 23—(Reuters)—The Communist Chinese delegation to the United Nations general assembly at Lake Success, N.Y., left Prague for Moscow today.

The delegation, led by Gen. Wu Hsiu-chuan, is on its way from the U.S. to Peiping. The delegates arrived in Prague from London Wednesday.

U.S. Gives Contracts To Two Motor Plants

DETROIT, Dec. 23—(AP)—Awarding of $260,000,000 in war contracts to the automotive industry was announced here Friday.

One for $100,000,000 for military vehicles went to the General Motors Truck and Coach Division and the other, totalling $160,000,000 was given Chrysler Corporation for the building of medium tanks.

Chinese Army Massed For Attack

Border Crossing May Be Started, US Jets Down MIG's

TOKYO, Dec. 23—(AP)—The bereaved United States Eighth Army, with its fighting Commander dead, faced up today to the growing probability of a bloody Christmas in battle.

The first staggering blow of the season was the loss of Lt.-Gen. Walton H. Walker, who was killed in the forenoon in a jeep smash-up while driving to the front lines.

The second is expected to be a massive onslaught by Communist Chinese who may already have fought their way in force across the parallel 38 boundary into South Korea.

Gen. MacArthur's headquarters quickly announced the appointment of Lt.-Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway to succeed Walker as Eighth Army chief.

The new commanding general of the United Nations force in the northwest comprising American, British, Filipino, Turk and South Korean troops is a much-decorated U.S. airborne corps general officer of the Second World War.

Win In Air

Only in the air was the news good. Six American F-86 Sabre jets shot down six Russian-built MIG-15 jets Friday in a battle that flared from tree-top level to the thin air six miles up.

The Sabres damaged one other MIG and chased eight to 18 across the border to the Reds' Manchurian sanctuary.

The Far East Air Forces said no American Sabres were lost in the greatest jet battle ever fought.

There was virtually no news from the Hungnam beachhead in northeast Korea where U.S. 10th Corps elements last were reported holding a tiny pocket on the Sea of Japan.

A field dispatch said Communist artillery shells fell on the crowded beachhead Saturday for the first time. Allied fighter planes searched for the enemy battery.

MacArthur's headquarters said U.N. forces there repelled Communist attempts to crash the Hungnam perimeter Saturday. Planes, naval and artillery fire "continued to disperse and destroy enemy groups."

Reds Mass

But in Western Central Korea, reports of Chinese forces massing along parallel 38 mounted by the hour.

MacArthur's headquarters said Eigth Army patrols had run into Chinese Reds somewhere near Chongye, a village two miles south of the border.

A captured Red Korean messenger told interrogators of heavy Communist artillery movements southward toward Kuhwa, a village only six miles north of 38.

Air force pilots have reported other artillery movements farther north.

Since the Chinese Reds struck in overwhelming strength just four weeks ago as U.N. troops were rolling up the last 50-mile stretch of North Korea, the·

Air Forces Help Santa Claus

OTTAWA, Dec. 23 (CP)—The post office, with the help of Canadian and United States Air Forces, is giving Santa Claus a hand this year with the delivery of Christmas mail to people in the scattered communities of the frozen north.

For the last two weeks RCAF planes have been flying over settlements in Santa's back yard and dropping mail to Hudson's Bay Company personnel, missionaries, RCMP detachments, government radio and meteorological stations and others.

The people who once had to be content with one mail delivery a year are located in eastern Arctic settlements on Ungava Bay, Hudson Strait, Baffin Island, Ellesmere Island, Cornwallis Island, Prince Patrick Island, Elles Ringnes Island and the east coast of Hudson Bay.

The planes, which have dropped 5,000 pounds of mail in the last two weeks, have gone as far as Alert, only 800 miles from the North Pole.

Speed Defences US Tells Europe

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 (AP) —Western Europe had notice today from a large segment of the United States Congress that it will have to speed up its own defence efforts if it wants American military help continued.

That underlying demand came from many legislators otherwise busily engaged in one of the bitterest battles over foreign policy since before the Second World War.

Let by State Secretary Acheson the Democrats reversed a trend of several months and seized the initiative with attacks on former president Herbert Hoover's recent cal for a hemispheric defence plan.

Withdrawal Suicide

Without mentioning Hoover by name, Acheson told a press conference yesterday that any move to withdraw behind the oceans and isolate the United States from Europe's troubles would mean a "quick conquest" of Europe and Asia by the Soviet Union.

He said the National Security Council had rejected a policy of withdrawing American defences to this hemisphere, deciding that could lead only to "surrender or defeat."

Shortly after Acheson spoke out, the state department made public an American note to Moscow proposing a new meeting of the big four foreign ministers.

Britain and France sent similar notes, but state department officials were pessimistic about prospects that Moscow would agree to such a meeting.

Reject Proposal

The American note rejected Russia's two-month-old proposal that the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union discuss Moscow's charges that the west is rearming Western Germany in violation to its pledged word. However, it expressed readiness to confer on the "principal problems" existing between east and west in an effort to eliminate "present international tensions throughout the world."

Senator B. Hickenlooper (Rep.-Ia.), a foreign relations committee member who has been in the vanguard of Republicans demanding Acheson's ouster, told reporters he thinks the United States ought to "adopt a realistic program that is founded upon the sound defence of America, as well as aiding in, the defence of the free world."

"European countries must produce concrete evidence of their intention to furnish a full proportionate share in European defences in return for such reasonable and sound aid as we may be justified in giving them," Hickenlooper said.

German Food Off Ration

BERLIN, Dec. 23—(Reuters)— The East German government yesterday decided to take cereals and some other foods, such as peas and beans off the ration Jan. 1. But meat, fish, fat, eggs, milk and sugar will still be rationed. Early this year East German government officials promised to abolish the whole rationing system except for meat and fats after the 1950 harvest.

German Students Surrender Island

CUXHAVEN, Germany, Dec. 23 (Reuters)—Two German students arrived here today in a fishing boat, wrapped shivering in the flags of Germany with which they set out Wednesday to "conquer" Heligoland, a North Sea island.

Georg ' on Hatszfeld, 21, and Rene Leudesdorff, 22, "quietly invaded" the uninhabited German island, once a U-boat base, to stop the RAF from using it for bombing practice.

A group of 15 to 20 other young Heligolanders planned to join them for Christmas to protect their "beloved island."

For a day Hatszfeld and Leudesdorff marched about the island putting up the German flag. But yesterday they used their store of German flags as clothing and put out the white flag instead. Cold had defeated them.

They landed at Cuxhaven today, blue with cold, in a small fishing boat which had braved the buffeting seas and raging gales to get them off the island.

Two Correspondents Censured By Army

U.S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Dec. 23 (AP) —Two war correspondents were deprived of their press privileges by the army today as a result of the premature disclosure of Lt.-Gen. Walton H. Walker's death in a jeep accident.

Col. Robert L. Thompson, U.S. Eighth Army public information officer, ordered Kenneth Kantor, NBC radio correspondent, and Peter Webb of the United Press, restricted to their quarters pending investigation of their handling of the story.

Thompson said the release of news of the general's death before it had been announced officially was a "gross security violation." The release had been embargoed for 1:05 a.m. EST.

THE EXAMINER WISHES ALL ITS READERS A MERRY CHRISTMAS

Christmas Peace Prayers Mingle With Sabres' Rattle

NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP) — Prayers for peace—punctuated by the rattle of sabres—will go up throughout the world this Christmas, celebrated in an atmosphere of dread reminiscent of Christmases just before the Second World War.

For many people, not long ago tortured by a great war, this will be the best and most prosperous Christmas in years. But the threat of a new conflict has put a damper on what otherwise would be a joyous celebration.

Pilgrims

In the Holy Land, Christians were begged to pray that peace once again will reign on earth. Pilgrims making the journey from Jerusalem to Bethlehem—the route travelled on the first Christmas by Joseph and Mary—will pray at the Church of the Nativity, the manger of their civilization.

In Nazareth, where the Boy Jesus lived, a midnight mass will be celebrated at the Church of the Annunciation, scene of Mary's visitation by the angel Gabriel. Again their prayers will be for peace. But around these worshippers will be reminders of war.

Nazareth still is under Israeli military rule, as it has been since the days of the Arab-Israeli war in 1948. The road to Bethlehem has to be cleared of dragon-tooth tank traps and barbed wire at the Israeli frontier with Jordan before pilgrims—a limited number but many more than last year—can pass on the storied road to Bethlehem.

War Shadows

Western Europe was ready to celebrate its most prosperous Christmas in years, and seemed doggedly determined to make it a happy holiday, despite gathering war clouds.

For Roman Catholics, Pope Pius had a Christmas message, reminding them to pray that the world be saved from disaster.

In Britain, there was satisfaction with the economic recovery which made the country able to get along without new Marshall-plan aid. Britons, still severely rationed, would manage to have a fairly good Christmas, and would spend it at their hearthsides. The Royal Family was spending the holiday at Sandringham, their country home.

In far-off Tokyo, the Christmas spirit, somewhat confined by the proximity of the Korean war—was evidenced by Christmas trees in store displays and colored paper streamers decorating restaurants frequented by Americans as well as strictly Japanese establishments.

And in Korea itself, United Nations forces waited grimly for a Chinese Communist attack along the 38th parallel, fighting a war they hoped would be over for Christmas.

Sunday Schools Of Norwood Give Concerts

NORWOOD, Dec. 23—(ENS)—Several Christmas parties and concerts were held in Norwood during the week.

The annual Christmas tree held in the Christ Church parish hall was attended by children and their parents. Following the supper a short program was presented.

Several recitations were given and "Frosty the Snowman" starred by Raymond Fuller was the highlight of the evening. All the members of the Sunday School sang and enacted "Away In A Manger".

Mr. Goodman, superintendent thanked all who helped. Then Santa Claus arrived with a gift for every child.

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church held their annual Christmas tree on Monday. A supper was served to the children at 5.30 by the teachers, assisted by some of the Bible class.

Following the supper, the children played games and a program of recitations, songs and dialogues was presented.

The annual Sunday School Christmas concert of Norwood United Church was held on Wednesday evening. A supper served by the 50-50 club was enjoyed by the children, parents and friends.

The superintendent of the Sunday School, Herbert Caskey, acted as chairman for the program that followed.

The Baptist Church Sunday School, held its annual Christmas concert on Wednesday evening. The chairman was E. Brummell, superintendent of the Sunday School. The program consisted of carol singing led by Mrs. William Hubble and with Mrs. Roy Nevins at the piano. Recitations, vocal numbers and plays were presented.

Santa Claus presented gifts to all. The Rev. and Mrs. Bingham were presented with an electric kitchen clock and a mat with all the good wishes of the congregation.

"GLAD TO MEETCHA, SANTA," says little Steven Cutmore, 19 months, of 275 Charlotte St.

Four Townships, Norwood Return Reeves

Reeves and councillors were returned by acclamation Friday in the townships of Smith, Douro, Asphodel, and Ennismore, and in the village of Norwood.

Six men were nominated for the school board of the new school area in Douro that includes SS No. 11, Douro, and SS No. 17, Otonabee. If all qualify there will be an election for the five trustee posts.

Other than that there will be no elections in the five municipalities.

Given Third Term

In Smith Reeve Ross Harrison was returned for his third full term. He became reeve in 1948, filling the unexpired part of the late Gilbert McIlmoyl.

Gordon Fitzgerald is starting his second term as deputy reeve.

The councillors in by acclamation are Robert McAdam, Allan Mann and Sidney Brown. All served in 1950.

Trustees for a two-year term are Clarence Mann and Cecil Northey. Howard Beavis, a newcomer was nominated for trustee but he declined.

About 70 ratepayers attended the annual nomination meeting held Friday afternoon in the county building. Main interest centred on the assessing that is going on in the county.

18th Year As Reeve

James Gifford, of Ennismore, is starting his 18th consecutive year as reeve. Altogether he has served the municipality for 20 years, being two years in council before that.

The 1950 council were returned by acclamation: John Harrington for his 11th year; Thomas Harrington for his 11th; Herbert Maloney his fifth, and William Cavanaugh his third.

Apart from a possible contest for the new school board there will be no elections in Douro.

Roland Tedford was acclaimed reeve for 1951. In 1950 he defeated John J. Leahy by 250 votes in a contest for the reeveship that came up after Jeremiah Mahoney refused to run.

Loyola Maloney is also starting his second year as deputy reeve. Douro had a deputy reeve for the first time in 1950 when its population for municipal purposes came to 1,000.

Douro's 1950 councillors were also returned by acclamation. They are Bruce Dunford, Cletus Sullivan and Fergus Moher.

John Allen and Joseph Sheehan have qualified after being nominated as trustees for School Area No. 1. P. M. Condon was nominated for the third post but at press time had not decided whether or not he will be a candidate.

The six men nominated for the five trustee vacancies on the new school board are Clinton Hough, Howard Quinn, William Amos, Frederick Agnew, Leonard Welch and David Armstrong.

Asphodel Meeting

At a well-attended meeting in the Westwood hall, James Humphries was returned as reeve of Asphodel for his eighth consecutive term. Max Scott, a 1950 councillor, was nominated but he declined to run as candidate.

Returned along with Reeve Humphries was the 1950 council. In by acclamation are Bruce Graham, James Beamish, Max Scott and Walter Middlebrook.

The two trustees for Asphodel are Irwin Russell and Coughlin.

A move to have elections the first Monday in December was defeated by the ratepayers.

Rork Ferguson, veteran of municipal politics, was acclaimed reev eof Norwood for the third consecutive term. He was reeve previous to that but in 1948 was ousted by W. E. Packenham.

Two others—Mr. Packenham and Roderick Webb—were nominated for reeve but declined to stand.

The village council was also returned by aclamation. Five men were proposed for the four vacant posts: Mr. Webb, William Garden, Dr. A. R. Atkinson, John Nixon, and Herb Bradley. However Mr. Nixon withdrew making an acclamation.

Trustees also acclaimed were Gordon Stackhouse, Jack Stewart and Wesley Hudson.

Public utilities commissioners are Kenneth Packenham and Walter Bitten.

Obituaries

DANIEL MARTIN

Daniel Martin, 81, of Peterborough, died in hospital Saturday morning following a lengthy illness. He was born and educated in Peterborough, son of the late James Martin and Esther McConville. He has resided in Peterborough for six months coming here from Streetsville, Ontario.

He leaves one niece, Mrs. J. L. Ardah of Streetsvill, and one nephew, Charles Delaney of Fayetteville, New York.

The funeral will be held Tuesday from the Duffus Funeral Home to St. Peter's Cathedral where requiem mass will be said at 9 a.m. Burial will be in St. Peter's cemetery.

THOMAS JAMEC LANG

A former member of the Millbrook Council for 15 years, Thomas James Lang, 597 King Street Oshawa, died after a lingering illness in Oshawa General Hospital today in his 84th year. He was born in Millbrook, the son of the late Ann Newell and John Lang. Only 10 months ago his wife, the former Julia Maude Mitchell, predeceased him.

For the past 14 months Mr. Lang has lived in Oshawa. For a time he was a resident of Fraserville. In 1930 he moved to Peterborough from Millbrook where he had operated and owned a shoe store. While in Peterborough he worked in real estate.

Besides being a member of the Millbrook Council for 15 years, Mr. Lang was a member of St. Paul's Cemetery Board and St. Thomas' Anglican Church, of which he was a sidesman for many years. He also belonged to the Masons and Oddfellows, who will conduct the service.

Surviving him are three daughters, Mrs. Walter Wright (Muriel) of Peterborough, Mrs. Cyril Norris (Marguerite), and Mrs. Ivan McKenzie (Patricia), both of Oshawa, and six grandchildren.

The funeral service will be held at the Comstock Funeral Home Tuesday, at 2:30 p.m. Burial will be at St. Paul's Cemetery in Millbrook.

2 For Reeveship Of Hastings

C. S. Howse, present reeve of Hastings village, and J. Stanley Stevenson, a former reeve, were nominated Friday night for the reeveship. Two others, Arthur Orr and Walter Peck, declined nomination at the meeting held in the village hall.

All the 1950 council, F. C. Foster, W. A. Thomas, Walter Dodd and Joseph Lynch were re-nominated. Others nominated were: J. R. Jones, Herbert Henry, Arthur Orr, Joseph Mulholland, James Calberry and Walter Peck. All have to qualify before 9 p.m. Saturday. Arthur Waters, Earl Clarke and W. E. Edwards withdrew their names from the council nominations.

M. A. O'Shea, by acclamation, will serve for the next two years on the hydro commission. This is his third term. Hastings municipal elections are New Year's day.

City Has No Big Rush In Holiday Traffic

Holiday traffic Friday night and continuing this morning was not setting new volume records from the information obtained at several of the transport offices.

"It is about up to what we expected," said Jack Moore of Colonial Coach, "but it is nothing more than that so far. We have extra coaches on some of the runs, and I think the public is travelling in comfort on our lines."

C.P.R. station wasn't interested in talking about traffic volume, and C.N.R. sources were otherwise evasive.

Midnight Masses Draw Thousands

QUEBEC, Dec. 23 — (CP) — Midnight mass, one of the most colorful of all Roman Catholic religious festivals, at Christmas, will attract more residents of the province of Quebec than ever this Holy Year.

Some 200 masses at midnight Sunday are planned for all parish churches, chapels, colleges, church basements and parish recreation centres in and around this ancient capital.

In some small parishes there will be as many as six midnight masses to fill the demand.

In the Notre Dame Basilica, in the heart of the city, Archbishop Maurice Roy will celebrate a pontifical midnight mass to mark the close of Holy Year.

The people of St. Vincent De Paul parish, whose church was destroyed in a spectacular blaze in the summer of 1949, will be able to attend a midnight mass at Palais Montcalm, city-owned hall.

Parish Improvises

Another parish, recently founded and still without its church, has planned an elaborate midnight mass inside the old Coliseum building on the Quebec exposition grounds. Ste. Claire D'Assise parishioners will find ample room for everyone in the huge building.

There will also be midnight services at the army drill hall on Grande Allee and at the Chapel of the Citadel, home of the Royal 22nd Regiment.

Communists have moved manpower masses and supplies southward in slow, steady streams.

The Communists at last were in position—with enormous new manpower reserves thrown into the war from China—to invade South Korea for the second time in six months.

MacArthur's Saturday afternoon war summary said four more Chinese Army Corps—64,000 or more troops—have crossed recently from Manchuria into Korea.

The Kindly Clerk

He was looking around a dry goods store and saw some gloves he liked. He picked up one and a half pairs and left with them.

A clerk in the store saw him and hurried out in pursuit. When she saw him outside, he was stuffing the gloves in his pocket.

Full of Christmas spirit, she enquired, "Can I wrap them for you?"

The Fire Hazard: Play Safe With Yule Trees

A little care and commonsense may prevent a disastrous fire in your home this Christmas weekend, warns the Peterborough fire department.

The biggest hazard is the highly inflammable Christmas tree. To prevent it from drying out, cut the base off above the original cut and put it in water. The moisture reduces the fire hazard for a dry tree ignites easily; and it stops the needles from falling.

Take the tree outdoors as soon after Christmas as possible, the fire department advises.

Check the wiring of Christmas tree lights to make sure none of it is frayed; replace unsafe bulbs, loose connections and broken sockets. Don't let the bulbs rest against the trees needles. And don't overload the circuits.

Wrapping Paper

Clear away piles of wrapping paper as soon as the gifts are open This is particularly important if young children are playing about the tree. Don't leave the house with Christmas tree lights burning.

Four Men Named For Omemee Reevship

OMEMEE, Dec. 23—(ENS)—Four were nominated for reeveship of Omemee at the nomination meeting held Friday night in Coronation Hall.

Nominated were Harry Deyell, present reeve, John Bent, Norman Ruttle and Harry Endicott.

Thirteen were nominated for the four places on the council. The present council of Smithson Nurse, Walter Mitchell, George Stephenson and L. W. McKenzie are standing for re-election. The remaining eight nominees are Norman Ruttle, S. D. Vaughan, B. T. Deyell, Herbert Johns, John Carnegie, Carmen Whitmore, Harry McQuade, Harold Bannon and H. V. Smith.

School trustees nominated were: Howard Bent, Russeell Rawlins and Arthur Weir.

Five candidates were nominated for the two vacancies on the Hydro commission: Austin Hayes, H. V. Smith, John Green, Cecil Jones and Charles Mills.

Christmas Party Held By CCF Club

The Peterborough CCF Association held their Christmas party and fowl draw Thursday night with approximately 80 in attendance.

Three movies were shown, "Santa's Punch and Judy", "Merry Christmas" and "The Littlest Angel." Scott Wildman told the children a story.

Children participating in the program were Myla Dinesen and Harold Dinesen who played piano solos. Glen Crawford played a violin solo and Terry Dinesen sang.

Christmas carols were led by the master of ceremonies John Hodson, who accompanied on the piano accordion.

Santa Claus presented the children with gifts, apples and candy. Santa's helpers were Mrs. J. G Norton and Mrs. J. H. Miles. Mrs. Howard Miles was in charge of the draw. The winners were: H. E. Strub, 306 George St.; M. Elliott, 1250 Clonsilla St., Mrs. H. Powell, 324½ Charlotte St.; G. S. Dunford, Lakefield; A. Newmaster, R. R. 1, Peterborough; A. Aitkenhead, 527 Sherbrooke St.; G. Williams, 562 Douglas Ave.; Chris Birk, 563 Elm St.; George Tom, 374 George St.; Len Millard, 620 Park St.

of Mr. Herbert I. Bradburn.

Canada Life Assurance Company was represented by Charles Rubidge, and has obviously been in business here more than one hundred years. Mr. Rubidge was also county registrar.

James Hall was Peterborough's member of the provincial parliament, and agent for the Provincial Mutual Fire Assurance Company. G. B. Hall was Judge of the County and Surrogate Courts; and J. J. Hall was clerk of the division court.

Warden of County

Thomas Short of Keene was Warden of the county. His business career at Allandale, now Lang, and at Keene, stamped him as a man of notable ability. He is forgotten now, but there were years when Thomas Short owned a nest of industries operated by the water power of the Indian River at Lang.

W. S. Conger was sheriff of the county of Peterborough. The street in the north end of the city commemorates his name and association with the old town.

There is a name in the list that was once attached to a detail of local geography. Clark Spalding was a brewer and distiller. His stone building stood on the east side of the Jackson Park Creek, just north of Townsend St. Below that street was a wide expanse of the stream which became known as Spalding's Bay. Factory waste, most of it from the Canadian General Electric Company gradually filled it in from west to east along the south side of Townsend St. On the opposite side of the bay, the sawdust from Alfred McDonald's lumber mill, located across George St. and out on the point, converted the pool into a piling ground for the lumber.

That old fill of 50 years ago was not discovered but verified in the quest for a location several years ago of the proposed Memorial Community Centre.

James Hall, MPP, was apparently the proprietor of a tannery on Hunter St.

W. H. Vizard was town clerk, and S. J. Carver postmaster. Walter Sheridan was clerk of the county court and Fred Ferguson was county treasurer.

Charles Perry, general merchant at George and Hunter Streets was also a lumber merchant. He later had a lumber mill at Nassau.

Samuel Dickson owned and operated a big lumber mill at the foot of London St., now the site of the dam of Peterborough Hydraulic Power Company. The address is mentioned as Riverside.

The Dickson mill was the forerunner of the Peterborough Lumber Company.

Operated Brewery

"Arthur Peck, brewer, Scotch village", was the father of the late Edward Armour Peck, K.C., and one time Member of Parliament for Peterborough West.

The Peck brewery was at the foot of Mark St., on the west side of the street, and south of the Maria St. intersection. It was a stout stone building.

Those are only a few personalities that stand out in the 1851 directory. There are many others, Rogers, Lundy, Stevenson, Dennistoun, Mowry, Kingdon, Hartley and so on.

The general appearance of their community had changed from Adam Scott's time only in improvements of handicraft. Houses were being bricked, replacing the first fine stone residences, and they were roomy and spacious, but lighted mostly by candles and heated by fire places. Roads were seasonally dusty and muddy and deep in snow.

The floor of the county council chamber was spread with sawdust. Streets depended on the full moon for periodic illumination.

And as for travel, the directory says: "Distant from Cobourg, 30 miles—usual fare by stage and steamboat, in summer, five shillings, usual stage fare in winter, five shillings. (Stage to Harwood or Gore's Landing, and thence by boat to Peterborough). Distant from Port Hope 30 miles—usual fare, by stage and steamboat (to Bewdley), in summer, 5s., usual stage fare in winter, 5s."

And along the Gravel Road (Charlotte St. and its No. 28 Highway extension), were convenient inns suggesting the road to Dingley Dell in Pickwick, and the stage coach was more or less similar in its discomforts to the Muggleton Telegraph on which Samuel Pickwick, Mr. Snodgrass, Mr. Tupman, and their man, Sam Weller, set out that late December day for Christmas at the Wardel Manor down in the Kent country.

At Christmas play, and make good cheer,
For Christmas comes but once a year.

Children's Imagination Bodies Forth The Shape of Christmas Things

A BEARDLESS SANTA CLAUS in his red sleigh drawn by the rear end of a reindeer is the basic conception of what Christmas means to David Drynan, 6, of 10 Anne St., a Grade One student at Prince of Wales School.

THE THREE WISE MEN on their camels riding to Bethlehem with the guiding star shining above them is the work of Roger Mesley, 7, of 428 Rogers St., King George School.

TOYLAND IN SOME OTHER CITY, he thought it could apply to Toronto, is imagined here by Clarke Fraser, 5½, of 47 Dennistoun Ave., Queen Alexandra School. As you can see, toy trains and cars, bunnies and bright strings of lights, are uppermost in his mind.

A GRINNING ANGEL in a star-spangled sky directs the shepherds and their three sheep to Bethlehem; the sunburt (fire) keeps them warm on the grazing grounds in front of the lumpy mountains (rear). This was the interpretation by Carol Ann Colmer, 7, of 497 Donegal St., student at Queen Mary School.

Beginning about the second week in December, One and Two Grade children in city, village and country schools everywhere are encouraged to give their interpretations of the Christmas scene in drawings. Although they may not have the ability to tell their stories in words, their imaginations are lively and fresh, and get vivid expression with color and brush.

Such expressions of thought are as old as mankind. Cavemen drew picture-stories of mammoth and deer hunts on the walls of their caves with sharp flint. They were recording something that they themselves experienced but small children have gone much further.

They are expressing abstract thoughts on a wide variety of themes and what they leave untold in their drawings—which look crude to grownups—is firmly planted in their minds. And as their minds are sharpened by training so will their expressions become clearer.

A visit to city classrooms of first graders shows a wide variety of interpretation of what Christmas means to them. Their techniques are in turn, bold, timid, plain and artistic, a mirror of their individual natures and a yardstick of their powers of absorption. The youngsters can hardly say what the pictures mean, for he knows that his drawing is incomplete and he is unable to find words of explanation.

A little boy will say, "that's toyland. I like trains see, there's one. And I like bunnies and toy cars." The little girl across from him would probably fill her toyland scene with dolls and strings of colored lights.

The religious story of Christmas is apparently told to the children in small chapters—the Nativity, the shepherds and angels, the Wise Men — because one will find as many as 30 drawings on each chapter hanging on classroom walls.

In the above photo taken in a Queen Alexandra classroom under Miss Gertrude Cox, two juvenile artists are shown at the painting table. Clarke Fraser, 5½ years, of 47 Dennistoun Ave., and Jean Hamilton, 8, of 297 Wolsley St., have reached the chief problem of their project. "What shall we draw?" As soon as this is determined between them there is no doubt in their minds about HOW it should be drawn. That is where their individuality comes to the fore and they splash at their big sheets of blank paper with dripping brushes from paint pots before them and all colors of the rain to choose from.

All Southern France Playing With Clay Dolls This Month

MARSEILLE, France, Dec. 23 —(AP). — A Christmas custom that some believe dates back well before the birth of Christ has all Southern France playing with little clay dolls this month.

This great port city is also the capital of the "Santons"—molded, sculpted and painted figures that vividly illustrate the Christmas story. They represent the figures of the Holy Family of course. But there are also dozens of traditional local figures who have got themselves so wound up in Christmas legends that most children in Provence are innocently convinced that it all happened here.

For nearly a month now the big outdoor fair of the Santons—held every December and January for the last 147 years—has been in full swing along one of the city's main tree-lined avenues. Dozens of temporary stands sell the figures to thousands of children and their parents, who then go home to build their own little manger scenes. The tiniest ones, less than an inch high, are 20 francs (about six cents) each; the bigger sizes sell for as much as 200 francs (about 60 cents).

Uses Old Molds

The Dean of the Santonniers is 71-year-old M. Pierre Pagano, who casts the figures in the same plaster molds used by his grandfather. He adds details like the arms, baskets and hats by hand, and paints the brightly colored features and costumes in the same way.

Some scholars think the Santons are a Christian version of the little pagan household gods that archaeologists still dig up in many Mediterranean lands. Marseille began as a Greek colony, and under the Romans Provence was a busy, populous region.

Others believe that the first Santons were made in medieval times by St. Francis of Assisi and came to France from Italy.

With Joseph, Mary and the Three Kings stand such figures as the Fifer, who doubles in some villages as the town crier; the Miller, with a sack of flour slung of his donkey's back; the Dancing Gipsy, with her tiny dark baby. There are hundreds of others.

The people of Provence see nothing irreverent in them. Some are portrayals of characters already famous in Christmas songs and legends. Others became enshrined in them as time went on. None of them, of course, are to be found in the Gospels. They wear the costumes and have the customs of their own time and region.

One of the favorites is "Monsieur-le Maire" — the mayor of the village that the story-tellers sometimes call "Bethlehem-in-Provence." The legends tells how, when everyone came with gifts for the new-born Babe, the mayor brought his own contribution—a speech. The Santon shows him wearing his splendid tall hat and tricolor sash, and carrying a red umbrella addressing the scene at the manger.

Release Parents On $3,000 Bail

SUDBURY, Dec. 23 (CP). — Mr. and Mrs. Victor Woods were released on $3,000 property bail Friday on charges of assault occasioning bodily harm on their five-year-old son.

The case was remanded to Dec. 29 at the request of the crown.

More than 50 people were on hand in the courtroom. The case has aroused considerable interest in Sudbury.

Richard, found by police and Children's Aid Society workers last week in a beaten, frost-bitten condition has been in hospital since. It was feared at first he not pull through, but he has shown steady progress since

Doctors and Children's Aid workers described it "as the worst case of its kind," they had seen.

No evidence was heard today. The boy's parents previously had been in custody.

Conroy Raps Ottawa Policy

OTTAWA, Dec. 23 —(CP)— Pat Conroy, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Congress of Labor, Friday criticized the Federal Government's recent announcement that the working hours of some civil servants are to be lengthened.

"Action of the Dominion Government in lengthening hours for civil servants is directly contrary to the industrial trend," said Mr. Conroy in a prepared statement. "The 40-hour week is rapidly becoming generally accepted for production workers and in most plants shorter hours prevail for office workers."

Prime Minister St. Laurent, in announcing recent salary increases for civil servants, said that the hours of those working less than 39 hours a week would be lengthened. At the same time, he announced that the government planned to release 6,000 civil servants by next April.

Mr. Conroy said:

"The theory of efficiency with long hours now has few supporters, and it is peculiar to see the Federal Government, which might be expected to give a lead in such matters, imposing longer hours at a time when organized labor's efforts to have hours shortened are being accepted by other managements."

Ax-Wielding Man Damages Army Guns

TORONTO, Dec. 23 —(CP)— Fifteen army vehicles and several guns were damaged Thursday night by an ax-wielding man who broke into the downtown University armories.

Gasoline tanks were smashed. Police said the man intended setting the vehicles ablaze. A soldier in one of the orderly rooms spotted the man trying to ignite the gasoline with matches and raised the alarm.

The man fled and city and military police trailed footsteps in the snow to a nearby house. No further action was taken immediately.

Comstock FUNERAL SERVICE

Was there ever such a season for stories as Christmastime? By the fireside, with shining eyes, the children love to hear them told and told again. And as the embers die, many a grown-up turns in revery the well-worn pages of another story, written in the heart. It is the story, titled "Friendships" . . . the cherished remembrance of old friends, tried and true—of joys shared with family and loved ones—of kindly deeds and loving thoughts.

This is the truest spirit of Christmas. In thought and action, may we keep it bright through the New Year ahead . . . this spirit of Friendship . . . this essence of peace and goodwill among men.

The Christmas Story

And it came to pass in those days that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed . . . . And all went to be taxed, every one into his own city.

And Joseph went up from Galilee, out of the City of Nazareth, into Judaea, unto the city of David which is called Bethlehem (because he was of the house and lineage of David) to be taxed with Mary, his espoused wife, being great with child. And so it was that, while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered. And she brought forth her firstborn son; and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn.

And there were in the same country shepherds, abiding in the fields, keeping watch over their flocks by night. And lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them; and they were sore afraid.

And the angel said unto them, Fear not; for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord. And this shall be a sign unto you; ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger.

And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host, praising God, and saying, Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, goodwill toward men.

And it came to pass, as the angels were gone away from them into heaven, the shepherds said one to another, Let us now go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing which is come to pass, which the Lord hath made known unto us.

And they came with haste, and found Mary, and Joseph, and the babe lying in a manger. And when they had seen it, they made known abroad the saying which was told them concerning this child. And all they that heard it wondered at those things which were told them by the shepherds. But Mary kept all these things and pondered them in her heart. And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all the things that they had heard and seen, as it was told unto them.

The Gospel according to St. Luke

Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea in the days of Herod the king, behold, there came wise men from the east to Jerusalem, saying, Where is he that is born King of the Jews? for we have seen his star in the east, and have come to worship him.

When Herod the king heard these things, he was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him. And when he had gathered all the chief priests and scribes of the people together, he demanded of them where Christ should be born.

And they said unto him, In Bethlehem of Judea; for thus it is written by the prophet:

And thou, Bethlehem in the land of Juda
Are not the least among the princes of Juda
For out of thee shall come a Governor,
That shall rule my people, Israel.

Then Herod, when he had privily called the wise men, inquired of them diligently what time the star appeared. And he sent them to Bethlehem, and said Go and search diligently for the young child; and when ye have found him, bring me word again, that I may come and worship him also.

When they had heard the king they departed, and, lo, the star which they saw in the east went before them, till it came and stood over where the young child was. When they saw the star, they rejoiced with exceeding great joy. And when they were come into the house they saw the young child with Mary his mother, and fell down and worshipped him; and when they had opened their treasures they presented unto him gifts; gold, frankincense, and myrrh. And being warned of God in a dream that they should not return to Herod, they departed into their own country, another way.

The Gospel According to St. Matthew

For unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given, and the government shall be upon his shoulder, and his name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, The Mighty God, The Everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace.

Isaiah

Christmas In Canada

We have fallen into the habit of thinking of Canada as a young country, and at such ancient festivals as Christmas we are still apt to let our thoughts stray over the seas to the lands from which our forefathers came. But Canada is not so young, and the celebration of Christmas here is of a respectable antiquity. We have a record written by the Jesuit martyr Jerome Lalemant of Christmas in Quebec in 1645. It was celebrated with carols and other music, as well as the customary religious observances. The stringed instruments, he notes, sounded very well, but there was a flute which could not be played in tune.

In our own part of Canada we know of John Howison's adventure with an Indian on Christmas Eve in 1821; the Indian had crept into the forest to see the deer kneel, as he assured Howison that they did, in adoration of the Great Spirit. How this European belief reached a Canadian aboriginal we do not know. We read of Anne Langton's raisin-stoning and sugar-scraping preparatory to making the Christmas dinner, in 1839; her brother John wrote home of six days of neighbourhood feasting upon Christmas in 1836. And in the writings of Mrs. Moodie, Mrs. Traill and Mrs. Frances Stewart we pick up odds and ends of information about Christmas celebrations of unrestrained jollity in this district considerably more than a century ago.

As the years pass, we may hark back more and more to Christmas celebrations on our own soil—celebrations which have taken colour from the many lands of our ancestry, but which are now truly our own.

The Enjoyable Nightmare

During the past week we have performed once again what has become, for us, a compulsive ritual at the approach of Christmas; we have been re-reading Charles Dickens' little Christmas book, A Christmas Carol. We cannot say with accuracy how many times we have read it; we have done so, however, most Christmases since we could read at all.

Why do we do it? The book exercises a curious enchantment over some natures. Recognizing all that is sentimental and, in the modern jargon, "corny" about it, they must nevertheless renew acquaintance with it at this time of year. And when they do so they find it as fresh and as exhilirating as they did at a first reading—as much so, beyond a doubt, as did the first readers to take it up in 1843. It is not the story of the book, which is simple and perhaps a little foolish; it is, rather, the atmosphere which it creates on its first page and carries triumphantly through to the end. It was of this atmosphere that G. K. Chesterton wrote:

"It is characteristic of Dickens that his atmospheres are more important than his stories. As with his backgrounds of gloom, so with his backgrounds of good will, in such tales as A Christmas Carol. The incidents change wildly; the story scarcely at all. A Christmas Carol is a kind of philanthropic dream, an enjoyable nightmare, in which the scenes shift bewilderingly and seem as miscellaneous as the pictures in a scrapbook, but in which there is one constant state of the soul, a state of rowdy benediction and a hunger for human faces. The beginning is about a winter day and a miser; yet the beginning is in no way bleak. The author starts with a kind of happy howl; he bangs on our door like a drunken carol singer; his style is festive and popular; he compares the snow and hail to philanthropists who "come down handsomely"; he compares the fog to unlimited beer. Scrooge is not really inhuman at the beginning any more than he is at the end. There is a heartiness in his inhospitable sentiments that is akin to humour and therefore to humanity; he is only a crusty old bachelor, and had (I strongly suspect) given away turkeys secretly all his life. The beauty and the real blessing of the story do not lie in the mechanical plot of it, the repentance of Scrooge, probable or improbable; they lie in the great furnace of real happiness that glows through Scrooge and everything around him; that great furnace, the heart of Dickens. Whether the Christmas visions would or would not convert Scrooge, they convert us. Whether or no the visions were evoked by real Spirits of the Past, Present, and Future, they were evoked by that truly exalted order of angels who are correctly called High Spirits. They are impelled and sustained by a quality which our contemporary artists ignore or almost deny, but which in a life decently lived is as normal and attainable as sleep, positive, passionate, conscious joy. The story sings from end to end like a happy man going home, and, like a happy and good man, when it cannot sing it yells. It is lyric and exclamatory, from the first exclamatory words of it. It is strictly a Christmas carol."

This is the book which we turn to, year after year. Some men take to drink, some to women or stamp-collecting. And we, year after year, admit our addiction to this curious little story of the miser who had a nightmare, and into whose dream we dip for refreshment of spirit.

The Marchbanks Correspondence

To Samuel Marchbanks, Esq.

(Written on a card bearing the message "A Merry Christmas and Good Wishes for 1949": the date has been altered in pencil to 1951.)

Dear Nephew:

Thank you for your thoughtful present. I opened it, as you suggested, as soon as it arrived, and a prettier parcel of soap I have never seen. I shall distribute new cakes on Christmas morning to the whole household. Your notion of a cake of soap fashioned in the likeness of an Aberdeen terrier for your Uncle Gomeril will flatter his Scottish susceptibilities.

I already have quite a number of gifts to be returned and exchanged as soon as the shops open after Christmas. Someone has thoughtlessly sent your Uncle a dressing-gown in the tartan of a clan from which the Marchbanks have been estranged for over three hundred years. He very sensibly asks what need he has of even an acceptable dressing-gown? He never wears one, and goes to his bath lightly wrapped in an old copy of the Toronto Globe, the Scotsman's friend.

Your affct. aunt,
BATHSHEBA MARCHBANKS.

To Samuel Marchbanks, Esq.

(Written on an expensive but aesthetically reprehensible card which reveals a robin sitting on a bare branch, with a twig of holly in its beak; the bird's eye is a black bead, and the holly berries are red beads, cleverly glued to the paper. Spelled out in twigs of holly and mistletoe is the message: "Just the Old, Old Wish".)

Dear Mr. Marchbanks:

I had hoped that this seasonable greeting might come from Mrs. Wittol as well as myself, but she has been absent from home for several days. I have not heard from her, but last night a man's voice on the 'phone made some very insulting remarks to me, and I thought I recognized her hiccup among the background noises.

Yours regretfully,
WAGHORN WITTOL.

To Samuel Marchbanks, Esq.

(Written upon a card which bears a portrait of Santa Claus, wearing an expression possible only to one drunk, or mad; realism has been added to the picture by a feather, glued on to represent the Saint's beard.)

At this gladsome tide I hasten to freely offer yet once again the right hand of fellowship which you have so often spurned. As the angel's message of Peace on Earth, Goodwill Toward Men rings round the sad old world I beseech you to drop your legal action against me for hiding a skunk in your car, and as Ye Goode Shippe 1951 sets forth into uncharted seas of Time let the olive branch, symbol of neighbourly amity, wave freely from the poop.

Your repentant neighbour,
DICK DANDIPRAT.

MARCHBANKS

To Genghis Marchbanks, Esq.

My Dear Cousin:

I really think your terms are ungenerous, considering the season of the year. If, as you suggest, I bring all the unwanted Christmas presents I receive to your pawnshop, I shall expect more than a mere one-third of their ordinary retail price. I hate to say it, Genghis, but I do not consider that you are showing the Christmas Spirit. You can skin the public, if you like, but you ought to draw the line at skinning a relative.

Yours reproachfully,
S.M.

To Samuel Marchbanks, Esq.

My very Dear Mr. Marchbanks:

It has never been the custom of Mouseman, Mouseman and Forcemeat to send out greeting cards at the Festive Season; to a firm as old as ours such conduct would seem flashy. We do, however, send letters bearing our good wishes to our more valued clients, of whom you, my dear sir, are not the least.

All of the firm are, I am happy to say, well. The life of our senior partner, Mr. Jabez Mouseman, has been considerably brightened since he began—through what scientific accident we know not—to receive television programs on his hearing-aid. When reception is particularly strong phantoms of charming young women in low-cut evening gowns may be seen to move gracefully across his shirt-bosom; at first Mr. Jabez thought himself beset by evil spirits, but now he spends many hours each day happily regarding himself in the mirror.

Mr. Cicero Forcemeat, is, as always, in rude health and his powerful voice—that boon of the successful advocate — is, if anything, stronger than before. His peroration in a divorce case last week cracked a chandelier in the courtroom.

I am as always in good health and beg to subscribe myself, dear Mr. Marchbanks, with no legal qualifications whatever, your servant and sincere well-wisher.

MORDECAI MOUSEMAN,
(for Mouseman, Mouseman & Forcemeat).

To Big Chief Marchbanks

(An exceedingly dirty and crumpled picture of an ample lady of brilliant complexion, showing a lot of leg, and smoking a cigar.)

How, Marchbanks:

Find this picture in top of cigar box. Make nice card for you. All us fellows in jail send you happy wishes. Warden promise good Christmas in jail. Chicken and mince pie. No women, he say. We need women. You got any women?

QSCEOLA THUNDERBELLY,
(Chief of the Crokinoles).

To Mrs. Morrigan

My very dear Mrs. Morrigan:

I cannot let this season pass without wishing you, my dear friend, to whom I owe anything that is of the slightest value to me, what I wish my readers, wherever they may be: A Very Merry Christmas.

SAMUEL MARCHBANKS.

Toys' Christmas Party

On Christmas Eve the toys in the nursery cupboard stay wide awake, because they know Santa Claus will soon be here. When the sounds of sleigh bells and reindeer hoofbeats break the stillness of Holy Night, the toys creep from their cupboard on tiptoe to greet Santa Claus round the Christmas Tree.

When Santa and his reindeer have gone to the next home Peter Rabbit and his friends build an arch with blocks to dance beneath, and Humpty Dumpty and Goofy climb up to get a good view.

As twelve o'clock begins to strike on the grandfather clock, the Toys' Christmas Party begins. Gollywog is providing dance music on the new xylophone and Peter Rabbit has asked Goldilocks for the first dance.

Now the new Panda is climbing from his box and someone has started the new clockwork train. Hobby-horse jingles his bells in tune with the music, and Jack-in-the-box joins in with the new trumpet. The Crackers are having fun too, and at the end of the dance Peter Rabbit will give Goldilocks a kiss under the mistletoe.

When the last stroke of midnight has struck Peter Rabbit and the old toys will help the new ones back into their boxes and wrappings. Then the toys tiptoe back to bed and the children will never guess what a gay party they had.

The Nemesis of Credulity

By RAWLE KNOX
From Delhi

"CHOLERA has broken out at Rantalai. Five hundred have died in the past three days." Not very startling, perhaps; people have died of cholera in India before and will do so again. But the tragedy of these five hundred is that they went to Rantalai in the hopes of being healed by a twelve-year-old boy who has been exposed as a quack.

Rantalai is a very ordinary Indian village. Dried mud and cowdung, rush roofs, and a few dusty trees shelter some two thousand souls. The village lies less than a hundred miles from Cuttack, the capital of Orissa.

For five months at the rate of three to five thousand a day visitors have been thronging to Rantalai from all over India in search of the miraculous cure-all drug which was being dispensed free by a young Nepalese boy nicknamed Nepal Baba.

The story was that Nepal Baba, wandering in the woods near his home one day, met a wise sadhu (Hindu holy man), who explained the secret of how to prepare the drug from a certain root and who adjured the boy to go back and begin healing men. Without any propaganda machinery save word of mouth the tale swept India. Trains to Cuttack and on to Rantalai were thick with passengers clinging to roof and footboard. Buses were almost unobtainable, taxis charged a pound a mile. Three times a day a charter plane flew pilgrims down from Calcutta to Cuttack.

THE Orissa Government, alarmed at the strain on the transport and sanitary arrangements in the district, at last decided to investigate Nepal Baba's work. Last week the cold findings were issued: in no case of serious illness had the drug affected any cure whatever; the only pilgrim whose health had improved after a visit to Nepal Baba were those who might have been expected anyway to recover naturally; there was strong evidence that the whole affair was inspired by persons in the transport business round Rantalai.

Almost immediately Nepal Baba announced that he would "retire" for two months. The Orissa Government went further; it forbade any further distribution of the drug at Rantalai. But still the fanatical pilgrims kept coming, to bring upon themselves the calamity the Government had feared. Cholera broke out at Rantalai.

Great-uncle Shadrach Brewer—he was my drinkin' uncle—was one of the greatest outdoorsmen you ever met, to hear him tell it. He boasted about being a great conservationist and he most certainly was a teller of tall tales. He had shot sheep in the Rockies, rapids in Ungava and danced a rigadoon with natives belles beneath the northern lights. The variety of his tales was endless and, as a boy, they left me bug-eyed. One story in particular sticks in my mind which he said had happened down at the old farm in Troutfly Township.

One Christmas afternoon (he began), I drove the team to the village for a load of chop, did my Christmas shopping, and, not forgetting myself, bought a small demijohn of Devildew to treat my friends next day. The family were not tipplers and looked darkly on my drinking, so I had the good sense to park the jug in the oatbin before going into the house for supper.

I helped mother and the girls trim the Christmas tree and after they had gone to bed, sat alone by the fireplace as the tall clock ticked off the last hour before midnight. I read Dicken's Christmas Carol, as was my custom, and became quite wet of eye, and dry of mouth, too. For some unknown reason, I remembered an old folk tale grandfather used to tell about beasts in the barn talking to one another on Christmas Eve—just a child's tale, you understand. Nevertheless, it tickled my fancy and I decided to go to the barn and listen to old Bess and Dobbin holding forth to each other.

I slipped out of the house and walked smartly to the stable, opened the frosty door softly and stood inside, listening. Not a sound except the rustling of straw in the stalls and a pig grunting in its sleep. Nothing more. I felt rather silly at finding I had been taken in by a foolish tale and my own fancy but decided to remain quiet for a while, just in case.... I also opened the oatbin to make sure the hired man had not made off with my jug.

It was there, alright, cold and gurgly to the touch. It had cost me quite a bit. The storekeeper assured me that it was good stuff and worth it and to satisfy my curiosity, I sampled it. How right the storekeeper had been about its quality! The first swallow had me gasping for breath, but the second went down more easily.

• • • •

"A Merry Christmas to you, Shad," squeaked a tiny voice.

I nearly jumped out of my boots and strained my eyes into the dark bin and saw nothing, nothing except a small mouse that twitched a pink nose at me.

In a bit of a panic I whispered, "Were you talking to me?"—mice had talked to me before, you know.

The mouse repeated that he had wished me the compliments of the season and added further that a few well-known characters were having a meeting down in the cedar swamp. Would I take him down there in my coat pocket? I would be welcome at the meeting, the mouse assured me. And before I could wink an eye, the little creature ran up my coat sleeve and into the pocket of my mackinaw.

"But I'm waiting to hear the barn animals talk," I said to the mouse—he asked me to call him Monty, by the way—and Monty assured me that he had never heard them say anything and that the meeting was more important, anyway. He suggested that I take the Devildew because some of the strangers were coming great distances to attend the meeting and they might be cold.

Monty and I left the stable and headed back through the fields. A great fire appeared to be burning in the swamp as we hurried along, and, as we drew closer, there was loud talking and singing.

• • • •

We ploughed into the circle of firelight. I knew everyone at a glance without being introduced to them, and they knew me. There was Santa Claus, with his red coat unbuttoned, Old Scrooge the miser, Bob Crachit with a sprig of holly in his shabby beaver hat and Tiny Tim hobbling about on his crutch. There was also a huge pair of feet and limbs planted by the fire that soared off above into darkness that could belong to none other than Paul Bunyan. Everybody called "A Merry Christmas" in one breath and Bunyan chuckled away up in the starlight with a noise like thunderclaps.

Santa was obviously chairman and started into the business of the meeting without further ado.

"There is too much needless waste of Nature going on in Canada," he began, "and I have called you well-known character together to form the greatest conservation club you have ever seen. I have outlined positions for all of you. Bunyan, the great waster, instead of mowing down forests and diverting rivers, has repented and will keep our forests green. Scrooge, the penny-pincher, will be treasurer and genial Bob Crachit will be the well-wisher to all non-residents who cross our borders. Tiny Tim will lead all crippled children into the great outdoors to play and in so doing will be well himself. Monty the mouse will so instill good sportsmanship into hunters and fishermen that game wardens can be eliminated forever. And Shadrach Brewer will go on the water wagon and lecture temperance to all sportsmen."

There were loud cheers at this announcement and someone caught me by the shoulder and shook me roughly.

"Do you know what time it is?" asked a voice, far-off.

Rubbing my eyes to get the sleep out of them, I found myself lying in the oatbin and the hired man telling me it was seven in the morning and asking if I would help with the milking.

• • • •

May I repeat the mouse's greeting to Uncle Shadrach Brewer to everyone:

"A MERRY CHRISTMAS TO YOU."

Waits and Other Customs of Christmastide Have Gone

By C. H. IRESON

The time-honored old custom of waits parading the streets at Christmas time singing carols seems to have become almost obsolete; true, we have carols brought to us mechanically, but the human element has almost completely disappeared. These old-time carol singers may not have been very efficient performers, musically speaking, but they certainly seem to add to the real Christmas spirit.

The term "waits" comes from an Anglo-Saxon word meaning "to watch" and in the Middle Ages the waits blew a horn and played tunes to mark the hour. In the reign of King Edward IV (1478) there is a record of waits appointed in the king's household, who besides "piping the watch," guarded the palace against thieves and fire.

London and all the principal boroughs had their corporation waits from the sixteenth century, who also performed various municipal duties; later on these waits developed into ordinary night watchmen, who serenaded householders at Christmas time, calling around on Boxing Day (the day after Christmas) to receive any gratuities the serenaded felt inclined to give them. When in 1829 their place as guardians of the peace was taken over by the police, private individuals kept up the custom and were the forerunners of the more modern but now fast disappearing waits.

Originally A Dance

The waits and their songs, the carols, are ever associated in our minds. A carol may be defined as a hymn or song associated with Christmas. It was originally a dance of many persons in a circle, accompanied by a song, and the word then came to apply to the song and later to Christmas songs which can be traced to the popular medieval mystery-plays concerning the nativity. The earliest known English carol is the "Angelus ad Virginem" contained in an early 13th or 14th century church manuscript; the earliest known collection of carols is by a certain Wynkyn de Woods (1521). This book contains the famous Boar's Head carol, which is slightly altered form is still sung at Queen's College, Oxford, on the ceremonial entrance of the boar's head at a banquet.

The carol as a combined song and dance rendered dramatically in connection with religious ceremany has continued in popular use in Spain. Originally a pagan ritual, it found its way into the Christian church, and the clergy had to accept it — limiting its uses.

Besides the sacred carols that were mostly sung in the open air, there were jovial carols sung at Christmas feasts. Printed collections of these, which are very rare, contain curious specimens of the songs that were sung by shepherds and ploughmen at Christmas feasts at farm houses. The Puritans did their best to discourage carol singing, but the practice revived during the Restoration.

Among the 18th century religious carols perhaps the most famous is Charles Wesley's "Hark how all the welkin rings," and now better known as "Hark the herald angels sing."

Old Customs

It would be impossible to enumerate all the old customs identified with Christmas.. Let us give two, both of Welsh origin. One was a custom, apparently indigenous to Wales, and known as the "Kissing bush" or "bunch." It was an elaborate affair consisting of a framework of two hoops thrust crosswise through each other, decorated with holly, greenery, ribbons, paper roses, oranges and apples—often there were small dolls representing the Holy Family, suspended from the tops of the hoops. Sometimes mistletoe was added, but in any case kisses could be claimed under this "bush"—hence its name.

Another Welsh custom was the Mari Llywd, a horse's skull decorated with ribbons and carried on a pole by a man covered with a sheet. There was a contrivance for opening and shutting the jaws and Mari Llwyd pursued and bit everyone he could lay hold of, releasing them only on payment of a fine.

But nearly all these old customs have become obsolete. Modern science in the form of radio, however, has naturally and almost automatically put the human element, the waits, out of the picture.

"What's Grandpa Say?"

By RICHARD F. CHOATE

Southey in his poem which has been recited by countless Ontario children from their school readers gave us a glimpse of the field of Blenheim, with its heavy underlay of human skulls, years after the battle.

"'Twas a famous victory!" Old Kaspar's words, alas, fell upon uncomprehending ears. His grandchildren, Wilhelmine and Peterkin, still did not know what the battle was all about. "What they fought each other for", they could not well make out. So far as they were concerned the worn-out words which had served Grandpa so long and so sufficiently to express what he saw within the horizon of his experience were as dead as the bones unearthed by the plowshare.

If Old Man Peterborough sitting in the sun at the close of his 100th year were to repeat the verbiage which filled the bright lexicon of his youth how would his grandchildren respond? Would he be more impressive than was Old Kaspar? Perhaps Little Peterkin Peterborough, playing on the banks of the Otonabee would listen to the strange museum words with wonder-waiting eyes, then ask disconcertingly; "But Grandpa, what are you talking about?"

Let us not speak too harshly about Grandpa and his linguistic goings-on. It is an open question whether or not young Peterkin Peterborough is using words with greater clarity than he did. Some among us may suspect that he falls far short.

Grandpa will remember the "famous victory" of the First Great War, which he was told was a "war to end war". He will recall, too, the Congress of Jabberwocky at Versailles, the long series of similar wordy gatherings since; the League of Nations which became what was called a League of Politicians and bogged down in a morass of talk; and the present day to day verbal pyrotechnics at Lake Success. Grandpa may suspect, and not without some reason, that what should have been fought in 1914-18 was not a war to end war but a war to end words.

So it is that the whole Peterborough family, entering the second century of its corporate existence may have no more important task before it than to overhaul and put in order its vast heritage of words. Those who listen to the Babel of confused tongues in international politics perhaps will be spurred to new and high endeavour in the direction of clarity and order in the world of words.

Peterborough's History Mirrored In Language

ALEXANDER THE COPPERSMITH—A legendary character who hammered out at the Forge of Vulcan the mammoth one-cent pieces known as "coppers" which clattered resoundingly into church collection boxes affixed to long sticks in the manner of a carpet sweeper. Worshippers thus rendered unto sidesmen that which was small change to Caesar.

✦ ✦ ✦

BIBLE CHRISTIAN—A religious denomination which was active in the earliest days of Peterborough County, erecting many church buildings. One of these built before 1850 in Dummer, north of Warsaw, is reputed to have been the first Bible Christian church in Canada.

✦ ✦ ✦

BICYCLE MEETS — Periodic gatherings of renowned cycle-race who competed at the Fair Grounds track in the days when Peterborough was the "Plate Glass City".

✦ ✦ ✦

BLACK BRIDGE — Structure which spanned the Otonabee at Smith Street (Parkhill Road), bearing the warning to dare-devils: "Drivers crossing this bridge at a faster pace than a walk will be prosecuted according to law".

✦ ✦ ✦

BLACKSMITH — Horse chiropodist, who should have operated under a chestnut tree (but didn't) driving horseshoe nails into Dobbin's hooves and "resetting" buggy tires.

✦ ✦ ✦

BLOOMERS — Super-trousers of incredible fullness invented by the "New Woman", Mrs. Bloomer, and worn by nomadic she-cyclists known as "The Huzzies".

✦ ✦ ✦

BON TON GAVOTTE—Everybody who was anybody in the Nineties danced it. "Ladies" and "Gents", kicking off decorously on the Gee and Haw sides, bowed, counted one-two-three and tried to make their feet behave as directed by the composer George L. Wells.

✦ ✦ ✦

CATECHISM, SHORTER — Widely employed in a dietary formular known as "Oatmeal and the Shorter Catechism" for the nourishing of brawny Scotch Presbyterians of the past—Pleistocene Age. Care was taken to guard against a nutritional disequilibrium as between porridge and prayer. To counterbalance the heavy secretions of natural piety in the "Unspeakable Scot" it was necessary to augment the intake of oatmeal to a gallonage far in excess of that of ordinary persons.

✦ ✦ ✦

CAVAN BLAZERS—Roystering sons of Cavan township whose bete noir was the Pope. Their fabulous deeds, of good or ill repute, in the "roaring fifties" and later are still recounted in song and story. No final score is available for the titanic struggle, Cavan vs. the Vatican.

✦ ✦ ✦

COIFFURE—An archaic locution now replaced by "Hair-do", the crowning elegance of modern diction, befitting the breathless age. Hence kindred forms "Finger-nail Do"; "Big Do at the church parlor"; or "The Joneses are having themselves a noisy "Do"—all signifying Much Ado About Do. Since "Do is as Do does", this newly-invented human function may be conveniently symbolized by the Unknown X, to which a specifc value may be assigned if and when we come to it. Thus Grandpa by a lengthy mathematical detour may (or may not) find out what moderns are trying to talk about when they use the one-time verb "to do".

✦ ✦ ✦

CONVERSATION LOZENGES —White oblong tablets purporting to be candy, bearing such messages as "May I see you home?" In adolescent social circles the lozenges provided a crude medium of introductory communication between the sexes before the wolf-whistle was invented by Emily Post.

✦ ✦ ✦

CRADLE—A wooden or wicker contraption mounted on rockers, in which Port Hope and Lindsay infants, having been plied with paregoric soothing-syrups, were lulled into their life-long somnolence.

✦ ✦ ✦

DEATH O'COLD—Lethal condition of the human organism which hundreds of Canadians were constantly on the point of "catching" when rescued from draughts by Aunt Somnambula.

Progress of Peterborough: L

HRH The Prince of Wales Visits; Town Trust Created

By HOWARD PAMMETT, M.A.

The new decade opened in a blaze of glory with a visit to the Kawarthas by HRH Albert Edward Prince of Wales. With the Governor-General and a large party, he reached Cobourg by steamer September 7, 1860, and that evening a ball was held to which a few Peterborough belles travelled to dance with the young Prince. Next morning the party went by train to Harwood, where an officious constable ordered everyone off the red platform carpet, including a youth who turned out to be the Prince himself. While the train proceeded cautiously over the pile bridge, the Prince's party embarked on SS "Otonabee" to cross in safety to Hiawatha, where Chief Paudash (100 years old) welcomed the Prince, and an Indian band played "God Save the Queen." From Hastings, SS "Forest City" carried a crowd who cheered the Prince on Rice Lake, and then the steamer pushed upstream to join in the Peterborough welcome. Boarding the train again, the Royal party proceeded to Ashburnham, the train being cheered by Otonabee residents as it steamed past.

The Town and County Reception Committee lavished $2,400 on preparations for the event. They erected three arches, in Ashburnham opposite Roger's Store, on Hunter St. opposite St. John's Church, and on George St. above McGregor's Hotel, covered with flags, crests, banners and evergreens. On George near Charlotte St., the lumbermen built a triple arch (without a nail or sawcut) complete with deer, canoe, and 25 lumbermen along the top. Every building was festooned with evergreens, flowers, bunting, flags, and placques and at every corner were tall poles bearing flags. This "glimpse of fairyland" as one account phrased it was praised by the Royal suite as the finest they had seen so far on their tour. The streets had been well-watered to lay the dust. One thousand school children were ranged on benches at 9 a.m. in front of the pavilion in the Courthouse Park.

The Royal train arrived at 11.30 a.m., welcomed by the Rifle Company, the Temperance Lodge in full regalia, the Town and County Councils, and a large crowd. The procession of carriages, guarded by the marching Rifle Company, and followed by thousands of citizens on foot, started west on Elizabeth St. The cheering crowds that lined the street fell in behind the parade, which crossed the bridge and went up Water St. to the park. The Prince mounted the dais, flanked on right and left by the County and Town Councils, while over 15,000 people packed themselves on the grassy slopes. The children sang lustily "God Save the Queen" and addresses by Warden Lang and Mayor Sawers followed.

One Hour's Visit

The Prince's reply was short and standardized: "Gentlemen: I thank you for the address which you have presented to me. In the Queen's name I acknowledge the expressions of your loyalty to her crown and person; and for myself I am grateful to you for this welcome to your neighborhood." Cavan township also presented an address. The procession then resumed, and sped swiftly through the principal streets amid cheering throngs. "In a little less than an hour from the time the Prince arrived he entered his car from the platform on Hunter St. and left, leaving after him thousands of hearts beating not only with warm loyalty to his Royal Mother, but a wholesouled personal attachment to himself" (Peterborough Review). From Port Hope, the Royal party went on to Whitby and Toronto. All in all, Peterborough's elaborate preparations and warm welcome were poorly repaid by such a fleeting glimpse of Royalty. The government gentry who planned the trip deemed the backwoods districts, the bases of Canada's growing prosperity, quite insignificant compared to lakefront towns like Kingston and Toronto to educate and entertain the future British King.

An account of the Royal trip, published in Montreal the same year by one of the party, reflects this attitude. After a few condescending comments about the loyal enthusiasm of the Peterborough populace, he concluded: "We note a not very agreeable incident which here took place: a man with an enormous amount of BRASS, stretched out his brawny arm to shake hands with the Prince, who graciously complied. Many others followed his example and at last the Prince had to turn to the other side." The Prince apparently was more gracious and democratic than some who accompanied him.

"Deplorable" Finances

The Mayors of Peterborough were: 1860, A. Sawers, 1861-64, C. Perry; 1865, W. A. Scott; 1866-71, Wm. H. Scott. From 1866 the Mayor received $400 a year. James Edwards was Clerk-Treasurer from 1857-77. The town fathers took the easy way, paying each maturing debenture by issuing another large debenture, and Jan. 1, 1861, the "Examiner" said that the towns finances were "in a deplorable condition." Assets of the town were $169,056, liabilities $178,427, and debentures selling at 17½ per cent discount. The Legislature passed an Act of May 18, 1861 "to consolidate the debt of the Town of Peterborough." This created the Peterborough Town Trust consisting of Commissioners S. Dickson, J. Stevenson, Wm. Hall, C. Bradfield and E. Chamberlen, with replacements to be appointed by the Town Council upon death, resignation or removal.

The Trust was to control town property (the Market Square and buildings, the land south of Townsend and east of Park St.) and the orderly discharge of the town's debenture debt of $86,400, accounting annually to the Council and ratepayers. On these conditions the town was permitted to issue further debentures up to a limit of $120,000, providing a sinking-fund for repayment. In 1867 a bylaw to raise $13,000 to build a new Town Hall was defeated by the ratepayers; in that year the population was 4,250 and assessment $1,191,960—land $949,160, income $64,000, personal property $178,200. On Aug. 26, 1868, the taxrate was set at 11 mills—7¼ town, 2½ school, 1¼ county—and thus citizens had something to grumble about on the following day which was the first Civic Holiday to be celebrated in town. The Peterborough Town Trust Act was amended Dec. 24, 1869 to allow the Trust to issue up to $5,000 in debentures to build "one or more primary schools in the town," and to sell some town property in the south end, to reduce the debenture debt. By 1870 the assessment was $1,480, 834—land $1,096,394, income $36,100, personal $348,340.

Wooden Sidewalks

The Council was busy in this decade laying wooden sidewalks on both sides of the principal streets, and the town waterwagons were kept busy from spring to autumn spraying the streets to keep down the dense clouds of dust stirred up by innumerable wagons and buggies. In May 1864 a new $400 bell was put in the Market building steeple at the middle of the Water St. side of the square; this was used chiefly as a fire alarm. In the market building were the stalls of seven or eight licensed butchers, while behind it was the city pound; to the north was the firehall fronting on Simcoe St.

Sunny Bank

As I sat on a sunny bank,
On Christmas Day in the morning.

I spied three ships come sailing by
On Christmas Day in the morning.

And who should be with those three ships
But Joseph and his fair lady!

O he did whistle, and she did sing,
On Christmas Day in the morning.

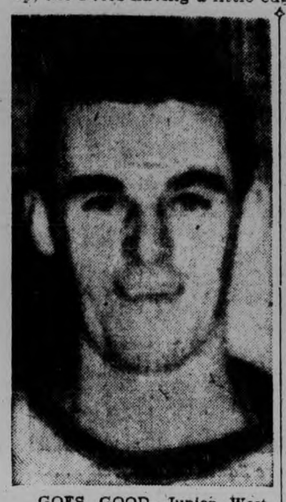

And all the bells on earth did ring,
On Christmas Day in the morning.

For joy that our Saviour he was born
On Christmas Day in the morning,

Petes Gain First-Place Tie By Beating Belleville, 7-3

Beating the third-place Belleville Redmen 7-3 here last night, the Petes moved up into a top-place OHA senior "B" group tie with the local Eagles before less than 400 fans. It was a speedy, clean fray, with a lot of scrambly hockey served up, the Petes having a little edge in each frame. They led 2-1 in the first, and outscored their rivals 3-1 in the second and again 2-1 in the last chukker. Each side drew three penalties.

GOES GOOD—Junior West went good for the Petes last night as they beat Belleville 7-3, he and Freddy Garvey being leading snipers for the victors.

Freddy Garvey led the homesters with five scoring points, as West got four and Gus Leonard two. Single points were garnered by Fryia, Mortimer, Horton, Tompkins, Collins and Earl Leonard. Wardhaugh and Mulvihill were the only scorers for the Quinte crew, each being in on their three goals. The opposing netters turned aside a flock of hot thrusts at close range, and the defences did a lot of bumping.

Davison was gated early for boarding but no damage was done in his absence. Play was fairly even but the Petes' shooting was away off and Harding had a lot more to do than Keays. Wardhaugh and Horton drew a roughing penalty and Fryia went in close on combination with Mortimer and Gus Leonard. Later Wardhaugh tied it up smartly from Mulvihill, giving the goalie no chance at close range. Garvey put the Petes up one near the close of the heat on a rebound that went in and out fast, the Redmen arguing the point and having the goal judge changed.

The home crew shaded Belleville in the second stanza. Garvey scored with a hot shot after West checked and recovered in close to slip the pass over to him. Schreider got the nod for holding and it cost a goal, Gus Leonard rapping it home from Norton and Tompkins on a good power play. Later, Mulvihill raced in fast on a partial breakaway with Wardhaugh's pass to sink the biscuit. West got that one back in scrambly going from Garvey and Collins to make it 5-2 near the end.

Both goalies had to jump early in the third as the pace stepped up, though tht hockey was somewhat of the shinny variety for a time. West counted on a forward pass from Earl Leonard, deflected by Garvey near the goal-mouth. Garvey got another shortly on a neat flip in close from West. Schreider went over for tripping but was back when Wardhaugh blasted a hot pass from Mulvihill into the twine. Horton got the air next for interference and Belleville pressed plenty till his return, but there was no further scoring. Teams:

Belleville— Goal, Keays; defence, Goyer and Williams; centre, Wardhaugh; wings, Mulvihill and Green; alternates, Day, Jones, McDonald, Semark, Free, Bastedo, Schmidt and Schreider.

Petes — Goal Harding; defence, Tompkins and Horton; centre, Dugan; wings, Turner and Mason; alternates, G. Leonard, Mortimer, Fryia, Garvey, Collins, West, Davison, and E. Leonard.

Referee—W. Shannon. Linesman—W. Leggitt.

The summary:

First Period

Petes—Fryia (Mortimer, G. Leonard) 16.46
Belleville—Wardhaugh (Mulvihill) 18.09
Petes—Garvey 19.17
Penalties — Davison, Wardhaugh, Horton.

Second Period

Petes—Garvey (West) 6.20
Petes—G. Leonard (Horton, Tompkins) 10.20
Belleville—Mulvihill (Wardhaugh) 15.48
Petes—West (Garvey, Collins) 18.55
Penalty—Schreider.

Third Period

Petes—West (Garvey, E. Leonard) 9.40
Petes—Garvey (West) 11.25
Belleville—Wardhaugh (Hulvihill) 17.05
Penalties—Schreider, Horton.

Robinson Wins With TKO Over Villemain

PARIS, Dec. 23 (AP).—Sugar Robinson, world's welterweight champion, was the toast of the French boxing world today.

The flashy Negro fighting machine from New York was so impressive in his easy victory over French middleweight Robert Villemain last night that even the Communist press, which criticized him earlier, had nothing but praise for his performance.

The end came after 2.48 of the ninth round of a scheduled 10-rounder. French referee Robert Vesberg stopped the one-sided contest after Robinson had sent his rival to the canvas twice. A series of lefts and rights floored Villemain for an eight-count only 45 seconds after the start of the round.

Out On Feet

Another two-fisted flurry dropped Villemain again. The plucky Frenchman rose without a count but was plainly out on his feet. The referee called a halt and awarded Robinson the victory via a technical knockout. Robinson weighed 155½, Villemain 164.

Robinson had an easier time than in his first fight against Villemain in Philadelphia last June, when the Frenchman lost a 15 round decision.

An estimated 20,000 fans, one of the biggest in French boxing history, gave Robinson a tremendous ovation although they were plainly disappointed that their champion did not win. They paid a record 30,000,000 francs ($85,000) to see the bout.

It is the fourth straight European victory for Robinson, who winds up a six-week business-pleasure trip in Frankfurt Christmas day when he meets the former German middleweight champion, Hans Stratz.

Nuts !

France's Communist organ, L'Humanite, reported "Robinson without trickery or irregularities confirmed what already had been suspected, to wit, that he is a great champion, and that he can win without decourse to American methods."

The same newspaper yesterday attacked Robinson for having spoken out publicly against Communist charges of anti-Negro discrimination in the United States. It warned also of "irregularities" in Robinson's boxing style.

Robinson replied before the fight with one word—"nuts."

Hull Raps In Three To Dump Cornwall 7-4

OTTAWA, Dec. 23 — (CP)— Hul Volants whipped in three quick goals in a whirlwind final period Friday to down Cornwall Calumets 7-4 in an Eastern Canada Senior Hockey League game.

Volants matched Cornwall goal for goal in the first two periods before Roland Landry, Yves Sarra-Bournet and Marcel Legris burst loose for the payoff markers in the final session.

For Landry and Sarra-Bournet they were the second goals of the night. Ens Zanetta and Phil Desjardins completed the Vols' scoring. Gus Lebrun clicked twice and Freddie Gardner and Jim Denenneny added the others for Cornwall.

RCAF Grounds Army With 3-2 Triumph

OTTAWA, Dec. 23 — (CP)— Ottawa RCAF Flyrs overtook Ottawa Army after a slow start in an Eastern Canada Senior Hockey League game on Friday night and gained a 3-2 victory with the winner being scored in the final period.

Al Renaud and Kenny Kilrea provided the bite in the Soldiers' attack, with two first period goals but after that RCAF took over.

Only the magnificent work of Phil Charron in the Army nets kept the Flyers from upping the score still more as he kicked them out from all angles.

Gordie Scott got the first Flyer goal late in the opening period and Bobby Dennison added the others, scoring in the second and getting the winning goal at the eight-minute mark of the final period.

England Edges Lead In Second Test Match

MELBOURNE, Dec. 23—(Reuters)—England barely managed to scrape a first-innings lead of three runs in the second cricket test here today, as batting failures cost them most of the initiative won yesterday in dismissing Australia for 194.

Failing in good batting conditions against bowling, England lost five wickets for 54 runs before lunch.

Later they were 61 for six, but a fighting recovery by Freddie Brown, captain, who scored 62, and Godfrey Evans, who made 49, prevented a complete rout. The total was carried to 197.

Australia scored 25 without loss in their second innings.

The first test in this best-of-five series was won by Australia.

Gavilan Wins Split Decision, Sights Sugar Ray

By JACK HAND.

NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP). — Flashy Kid Gavilan, who turned back Joe Miceli last night has a busy program lined up for 1951.

The Cuban welterweight, a ranking contender for Sugar Ray Robinson's title, will go to Caracas for a January 15 bout with Tommy Ciarlo, who drew with him in October.

After the South American expedition the Keed will fight rugged Paddy Young, a top-flight middleweight, at Madison Square Garden January 26.

Then he'll wait on Robinson's plans. Sugar Ray is supposed to meet Jake Lamotta for the middleweight title at Chicago in February. If he does, Gavilan figures to have some claim on the vacated title. At least he will be one of the boys to fight for the honors.

Gavilan, perhaps a bit overtrained, at 146½, had his troubles whipping Miceli, a 146-pound kid from New York's East Side. The decision was split at the end of their toe-to-toe battle at Madison Square Garden.

14-5 Favorite

Both judges voted for Gavilan —a 14-to-5 favorite—but referee Petey Scalzo had Miceli on top 6-4. Judge Bert Grant saw it 7-3 and Frank Forbes 6-3 with one even, both in favor of the Cuban. The Associated Press card had Gavilan on top 5-3 with two even.

Miceli, a converted southpaw, troubled Gavilan with his busy left hook and uppercut. Still Gavilan seemed to solve the puzzle and to shake up his man in the sixth and stagger him in the ninth. Miceli bled from cuts around both eyes in the late round, but opened the tenth round with a flurry.

They slugged it out for the final minute of the tenth as the small crowd of 4,476 cheered. The gate was only $12,714 for the pre-holiday show.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Today gives us the opportunity to wish friends, athletes, fans—all our readers—a right merry Christmas. It also is the time to say thanks muchly for well wishes, cards and gifts. We send out a lot of cards, too, but can't possibly reach everyone with the old Christmas wish, though the medium of this pillar helps a great deal. If we all could but keep this spirit the year around, 'twould be Utopia, but then perhaps we're not ready for that for a time yet. So, it's something to have this festive giving and forgiving feeling for a week or so around Christmas, at least.

* * * * * *

It's all very well to say this is the season for peace on earth and goodwill toward man, except that this doesn't apply to Indo-China, Korea, East Germany, Asia, etc. However, all this can be pretty well traced to one guy in the big leagues a left-hander named Joe. He had a big celebration in East Germany the other day on his birthday, and wants Christmas there played down. So did a screwball a few years back by the name of Adolf—and it wouldn't surprise many to hear that his Chaplinesque moustach is pretty well scorched by now. Ah, well, let's scrounge what goodwill we can and try to enjoy a thoroughly merry Christmas this year—what do you say?

Haircuts At Eight Bucks

Do you know that there's a place where they charge $8 for a haircut? You didn't? Neither did we till we noted an item in the London sheet. The haircut is for race horses at Tropical Park, Florida. And we suppose it is a pretty thorough over-all job. You see the thoroughbreds head south for the winter meets and their heavy hairy coats so suitable in Canada and the northern states are rather uncomfortable and unraceworthy (a new word) in Florida. It is fortunate for the owners of the bangtails that a horse requires only one good trimming a year. We'd certainly figure we were taking a trimming if our barber nicked us for eight simoleons.

* * * * * *

Pat Flanagan, still excited over the Flans' new 8½-pound baby boy, told us at the last mat show that Promoter Tunney would not be staging another grapple card here for two or three weeks. The wrestlers come from all over the continent—with huskies like Layton and Atkins from overseas—and most of 'em want a week or two off around Christmas to go home. There are a number of Canucks in the game, but many come from California, Texas and intermediate points. They travel plenty and work regularly for darned good money, but they don't have much home life. So they head home at Christmas and usuaully take several weeks off also in the summer. But any regularly working heavyweight grappler makes from $10,000 a year up for a few hours work a few nights a week, so why should we feel sorry for them?

Petes Trim Belleville

The senior "B" Petes are back in a first-place tie on points with the Eagles, after downing Belleville Redmen 7-3 here last eve before a sparse gathering. They looked pretty fair in a scrambly sort of game, though still not looking their best. Still, they won it handily and that's what counts. Honey Tompkins was moved back on defence and should do an effective chore there and still be a scoring threat. Freddy Garvey and Junior West were the main snipers this tilt. Jake Wade sat it out with a pulled muscle in the side. Neither team had an extra goalie, due to injuries received recently by Edgar and Leforte. There's not another senior "B" game here till next Friday.

* * * * * *

Mrs. M. Post had a letter the other day from big Jim Kinna, out in Vancouver. He came here to play senior lacrosse last summer but left before the season ended. An enclosed clipping said he'd been playing a fine game of basketball when he suffered a severe back injury—somewhat similar to one he suffered in the gutted-stick game in Peterborough. However, Jim wrote that he was coming along well and wished to be remembered to the gang here. He also said that Bob Thorpe was out there (remember him in lacrosse, too?) and going okay in Pacific Coast minor pro hockey. Incidentally, Mrs. Post is quite an OLA and OHA fan, frequently sending down cases of cokes to the Eagles and Petes during game intermissions.

Dese, Dem And Dose

PCVS Old Boys, managed by Blair Thompson of Western, will play Bev Goulding's senior "A" PCI-ers a cage exhibition next Friday at eight at the Collegiate....Some 20 "old guys" from college home now, including Don Griffin and Henry Dinsdale of Queen's and Jack Matthews of Western, etc.; Doug Plunkett of Marines will go for em, too....The Cavanagh trundlers took over top spot in the men's City Bowling League with a shutout over Campbell & Best... But Shockey's had high pinnage of 3439, with Bond's getting leading single of 1299....Buck Legrow has 25 scoring points to lead Red Creighton's puck Port Hope intermediates, with Dave Casey next with 23....Jake Wade and Don Floyd were absent when we had pictures taken of the Petes' puckists, so don't blame us if they don't show; guess they had good reasons, though, Jake being on the injured list and Don working....Bill Hill had a big 921 to win a turkey in the YMCA Senior Bowling League this week....Nothing doing locally in amateur boxing these days....The pro mitt game is getting rather a bad name across the line with quite a few ring fatalities cropping up... And that about cleans the desk for this lengthy week-end....Once again, a most enjoyable Christmas to all.

If confidence wins hockey games, Canada has the world's amateur hockey title in the bag.

Lethbridge Maple Leafs, oozing confidence from every seam, boarded the liner Scythia at Halifax last night to carry Canada's banner into the 1951 world championships, Paris next March.

The Leafs, an intermediate team known as one of the Dominion's most amateur outfits, will land at London.

Before the title games they will swing into a 60 game exhibition series in various European centres.

In the world series they will be battling to retain the title brought to Canada last year by Edmonton Mercurys.

Jockey Willie Shoemaker bopted home four winners at Fair Grounds yesterday to climb within five of Joe Culmone, the country's leading rider.

Culmone, back in action after a four-day layoff due to a bad spill last Saturday, rode one winner in four tries at Tropical Park He leads Shoemaker, 371 to 366.

With only seven racing days left this year, Culmone has little chance to beat the record of 388 winners in a season set by Walter Miller in 1906.

Semi-pro player baseball contracts will be tighter next year to prevent raids by pro clubs, says Ray Dumont, president af the National Baseball Congress.

Present contract provisions, in effect for 10 years, have prevented pirating only among non-pro clubs. Now pro club scouts will be allowed to take talented semi-pros during the playing season only if the semi-pro team manager grants a release, Dumont said yesterday. He added:

"Many sponsors of non-professional teams have given up in disgust because they had no way of keeping their players together during the season.

"Under the new contract system, the player will agree to perform for a specific team for a one-year period. Drastic penalties will follow if players fail to live up to contracts."

The Columbia Broadcasting System announced yesterday that all kinescope or rebroadctsts of the Sonny Boy West-Percy Basset boxing bout had been cancelled. Film recordings of the Wednesday night boxing bouts carried over CBS television are usually presented anywhere from a day to a week after the fight over stations which do not get the program direct.

The decision to cancel the film recordings was made yesterday following the death of the 21-year-old West last night.

President Albert Molini of the Provincial Baseball League announced last night that Quebec and Three Rivers have been accepted into the circuit for the 1951 season.

The Quebec towns have had teams in the Class-C Canadian-American League for several years. The Provincial League was admitted into organized baseball last season as a Class-C loop. A reorganizzation of both leagues led to Quebec and Three Rivers seeking admission to the Provincial League.

Cavanagh In Front Of Men's Bowlers

Cavanagh's took over top place in the men's City Bowling League this week with a shutout over Campbell and Best, as Fashion-Crafts blanked Clapper's. Two-game victories were chalked up by Shockey's, Bond's, Esquires and Dunn's over Moore's, Swartz, McGillis and Sunocos in that order. High pinnage of 3,439 was rolled by Shockey's as Bond's hit high single of 1,299. Ross Hopkins had high three of 810 and a single of 339 for the night's work. Holly Mowry hit a single of 327 and Phil Pryde got a 323.

The turkey roll, with some chickens and cigarettes as the blind score prizes, was run off Thursday. Standing of teams with points: Cavanagh's 56, Shockey's 54, McGillis 52, Bond's 44, Fashion-Craft 42, Sunocos 40, Dunn's 38, Campbell and Best 36, Moore's 36, Esquires 28, Swartz 26, Clapper's 16.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Speedball artist Bob Feller was selected by the New York baseball writers for their annual "player of the year" award 10 years ago today. Feller in the 1940 season won 27 games and lost 11, striking out 261 batters. He had opened that season with the Cleveland Indians with a no-run, no-hit game.

At Least 12 Entries In Trent Valley Loop

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 23 — (ENS) — The Trent Valley Hockey League will begin operations in the first part of January, with all teams playing their games on natural ice rinks.

A meeting of the league held in Stirling resulted in the lifting of the 5,000 population limit for entries and more than doubled the size of the league for the coming season. There will be 12 certain starters this year with the possibility of the entry of two additional teams, whereas last season the league was a five-team loop.

The entries officially filed include Peterboough Brintons, Peterborough St. Peters, Norwood, Marmora, Campbellford, Stirling, Frankford, Wellington, Brighton, Belleville, Trenton Flyers and Trenton.

The league will operate in two sections, Northern and Southern, with the first four teams in each section making the playoffs. Each section will declare its own winner with the first round series best of three games, and second round best of five. The two section champions will then compete in a best of five series for the Thomas Bata trophy, currently held by the Marmora Millionaires.

Marlies, St. Mike's Tie Tigers, Dutchmen Draw

By The Canadian Press.

Four-goal leads were blown in both games last night in the Ontario Hockey Association's major series with two deadlocked contests as the final results.

The league-leading Toronto Marlies and St. Michael's Monarchs wound up in a 4-4 draw with the Monarchs overcoming the four-goal deficit.

In Waterloo—before the smallest crowd at a senior game since the arena was opened there—Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen blew the four-goal head start and settled for a 6-6 overtime tie with Hamilton Tigers.

Toronto Gains

Despite the two tie games, the two Toronto teams gained on the third-place Tigers and cellar-place Dutchmen. By splitting the four points awarded their games, Marlies and St. Mike's now have 24 points apiece, eight more than Hamilton and 10 more than the Dutchmen.

Al Buchanan scored twice for Marlies and the league's scoring leader, Bobby Hassard, and Bus Wycherley each got singles. Johnny O'Flaherty, Gord Hannigan, Dusty Blair, and Tom Fowler were St. Mike's marksmen.

Walsh Scores Three

Bill Walsh wielded the big stick for Dutchies in the Kitchener fixture, scoring three goals while Mickey Roth added a couple and Billy Flick got the other. Harvey Fraser and Murray Comfort each bagged a brace for Hamilton and Frank Liscombe and Holly Miocinovich got the other two.

The game was enlivened by a fight between Carl Smelle of the Tigers and Harvey Jacklin of the Dutchmen. Both were banished when they continued mixing it in the penalty box.

In the Junior Division, Barrie Flyers in a hometown contest defeated first-place Toronto Marlboros 7-4 to move within one point of the league leaders.

Wally Maxwell was the scoring ace of the penalty-ridden contest, notching three goals for the Marlies while Eric Nesterenko got the other. Jerry Toppazzini led the Barrie scorers with two goals and an assist while single counters went to Lionel Barber, Bill Hagan, Rick Hogg, Real Chevrefils and Jim Morrison.

Windsor Wins

Windsor Spitfires celebrated the return of Coach Jimmy Skinner—reinstated after being suspended for striking an usher at a game in Barrie several weeks ago—by invading Stratford and whacking the Kroehlers 9-5.

The victory lifted the third-place Spits to within five points of the leading Marlies and kept them one point ahead of the fourth place Guelph Biltmores.

In a hometown contest the Biltmores won sole possession of the spot by defeating Oshawa Generals 4-2 for their first win against the Generals in three starts this season.

Ron Murphy, with two goals, Andy Bathgate, and Herb Dickenson were Guelph marksmen, and Herv Dejordy and Alex Delvecchio, the league's leading scorer, scored Oshawa's goals.

AHL Announces New Game Schedule

NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP). — The American Hockey League, which has been operating under a week-to-week schedule since the withdrawal of New Haven, yesterday listed its program for the Dec. 27-Jan. 1 period.

President Maurice Podoloff said the league expects to prepare a new schedule soon for the balance of the season.

Dec. 27—Springfield at Cleveland; Buffalo at Cincinnati; Pittsburgh at St. Louis.

Dec. 28—Springfield at Hershey; Buffalo at Indianapolis.

Dec. 30—Buffalo at Hershey; Providence at Springfield; Indianapolis at Cleveland; St. Louis at Pittsburgh.

Dec. 31—Springfield at Buffalo; Cleveland at Providence; Cincinnati at Indianapolis; Pittsburgh at St. Louis.

Jan. 1—Cleveland at Hershey; Indianapolis at Cincinnati.

Hold Chicken Roll

Aces defeated Corvettes for the only sweep in the YMCA Senior Ladies' Bowling League this week. Lucky Strikes, Hurricanes and Commandos all had two-point wins over Bombers, Glengarrys and Tigers.

Marion Mahood had high three of 656 and high single of 287. Marjory Woods and Helen Reid had 621 and M. Arnold 605 with a 283 single. Helen McArthur had a 265 single.

The following won chickens in the annual roll: Ida Whitnall, Mabel Patterson, Shirley Heckman, Ada Merrett, Winnie McCarrell, Ann Reed, Ethel Stanbury, Zada Bell, Marion Mahood and Marjory Woods.

Leafs Want Win For Kids In Boston Joust

By The Canadian Press.

Boston's in-and-out Bruins are hoping history will repeat itself tonight as they invade Toronto for a National Hockey League joust with the pace-setting Maple Leafs.

But they're not likely to find their hosts in the mood to play Santa Claus for two good reasons:

1. The Leafs recall only too well that it was on another Young Canada Night just a year ago that the Bruins humiliated them 8-0 before a crowd liberally sprinkled with their most avid fans — kids.

2. With Detroit's onrushing Red Wings only three points back in second place, the Leafs can't afford to play Santa Claus.

Public sale of tickets is suspended by Maple Leaf Gardens for Young Canada Night, when each subscriber gets a free ticket to bring in one youngster.

Five Scheduled

The Bruins-Leafs clash is one of five scheduled games during the Christmas holiday weekend. Tonight's only other engagement find the Wings at Montreal.

Chicago Black Hawks will be guests of the last-place New York Rangers in the only scheduled game Sunday. On Monday, the Hawks travel to Boston while the Rangers journey to Detroit.

Fern Flaman, who went to the Leafs in the Vic Linn-Bill Ezinicki trade, will be making his first appearance against his old Bruins team-mates.

Needed Socko

The bashing rearguard from Dysart, Sask., made an impressive debut in a game at Toronto this week. He now is being mentioned as the sort of crashing player who might give the Leafs just the proper amount of "socko" they need to carry them through to the league title.

Montreal Canadiens learned last night that Jean Beliveau, high scoring Quebec junior centre, won't be available for action tonight. They had hoped to use him against the Wings, but he reported sick with the 'flu.

The Victoriaville, Que., youth turned in an impressive game against New York Rangers last week in his first start for Canadiens on a lend-lease basis.

Winnipeg Defence Projects Ease Flood Danger In 1951

By JOHN DAUPHINEE

WINNIPEG, Dec. 23 —(CP)— Wind-lashed freezing rain and snow fell the night of May 5, 1950, on Red River dikes through greater Winnipeg.

Barrier after barrier collapsed that night as radio stations blared warnings to the city of 320,000. Already a dozen Red River Valley towns were inundated. Civic officials threw in the sponge.

Brig. R. E. A. Morton, head of the army's Prairie Command became Red River flood controller. Five thousand service men and perhaps 50,000 civilian volunteers worked on the sandbags, threw up 20 miles of solid dikes.

Before the relentless, muddy river dropped below flood level June 10, at least one-seventh of greater Winnipeg and almost 700 square miles of southern Manitoba were under water.

For days, the twin cities of Winnipeg and St. Boniface were within an ace of army-directed, mass evacuation that would have slashed their normal population to a mere 75,000 fit men and working women.

Peak Level

The peak flood level—30.3 feet—was more than 12 feet above flood stage and the highest in a century.

Damage was set at $50,000,000 by the provincial government; at $26,000,000 by a federal-provincial commission. The Manitoba Flood Relief Fund—to which contributions came from all Canada and several other countries—raised $9,000,000 to restore personal effects and furniture and now has spent almost $8,000,000 of that sum.

The Red River Valley is about back to normal.

But what of future years?

Provincial and city engineers say greater Winnipeg this summer has been made safer than it has ever been.

A 24-mile system of raised roadways has been constructed to a river-height of 26½ feet—8½ feet above flood stage.

Danger Points Covered

"All danger points have been covered," says V. Michie of the Greater Winnipeg Diking Board.

"The risk has been greatly reduced," says city engineer W. D. Hurst of Winnipeg. "The new roadways mean that trucks and heavy equipment can be taken right to the danger spots to strengthen dikes or build emergency barriers above road level if the river goes above that level."

"We're not out of the woods yet," says D. M. Stephens, provincial deputy works minister who probably knows more about the Red's behavior than any other man. "But we have provided tremendously-improved facilities for coping with whatever flood may come."

One Flaw

One flaw in greater Winnipeg's defences so far is the lack of sufficient pumping stations. Many planned stations may not be ready by next year's peak run-off. Pumps are needed to force drainage and sewage water over the dikes into the river, because Winnipeg is so flat.

And virtually nothing has been done so far to protect the Red River Valley. Billions of tons of water pour each spring from the Red's headwaters in Minnesota and North Dakota.

The whole valley is level. There is no apparent way to control the river's flooding by construction of storage dams or reservoirs.

Ultimately, two man-made river channels may provide the complete answer to recurrent flooding. One which has been proposed would be built east of greater Winnipeg, providing an alternative route for the Red's flow from Emerson, at the international boundary, to Lake Winnipeg. The other would divert the treacherous Assiniboine, a Red tributary flowing eastward, into Lake Manitoba.

But cost may keep at least the first of these suggested waterways only an engineering dream. Best estimates are that the Red River diversion would cost not less than $70,000,000 and probably $100,000,000.

Detailed federal surveys now are being made to help engineers decide whether control by this or other means is feasible.

Archbishop Surprised By Hope School Report

OTTAWA, Dec. 23—(CP)—Most Rev. Alexandre Vachon, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Ottawa, said Friday some recommendations of the Hope Commission report on Ontario's educational system have caused "real astonishment" among the Catholic population of this province.

In a brief statement, he said this was the result of the Commission's majority report recommendation to limit the jurisdiction of separate schools up to and including Grade VI and to abolish Ottawa University Normal School.

Dr. E. C. Desormeaux, president of the French-Canadian Educational Association, said the report was calculated "to stir up trouble and to create a breach in the fine spirit of unity and tolerance with which we were favored during the last 25 years."

Bing Crosby And Family To Enjoy An Old-Fashioned Christmas Day

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 23 (AP)—What's the Crosby Christmas like? Probably the same as yours and mine.

"We do the same things most people do," says Bing. "The routine has become traditional and rarely varies from year to year."

Sometimes Bing, Dixie and the boys celebrate Christmas at their home on the Monterey Peninsula up north. But this year Bing is working in "Here Comes the Groom," so it will be a southern California Christmas for the family.

Preparations for the holiday are made several days before by Dixie, who is in charge of decorations. The Crosbys like lots of decorations and a big tree.

Christmas Eve means carolling by Bing and the boys—Gary, 17, Phillip and Dennis, 16, and Lindsay, 12. This is a tradition with them and they always visit the homes of Bob Hope (if they can catch him at home), songwriter Johnny Burke, Larry Crosby and other relatives and close friends.

At six o'clock on Christmas morning, the entire family attends Roman Catholic services at the Church of the Good Shepherd in Beverly Hills. They return home for breakfast.

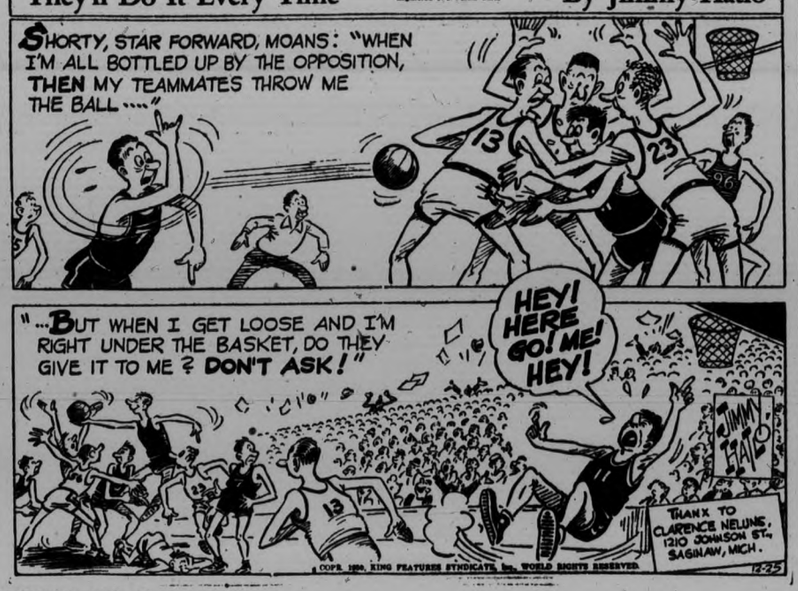

"We have a big farm breakfast with ham and eggs and all the trimmings," said Bing. Then come the gifts.

The afternoon is spent on family calls. Bing has three brothers and a sister in Hollywood and most of them have big families. They will probably converge on Bing's home, since Mother Crosby is spending the holidays with him. There will be a sad note to the gathering because of the absence of Bing's father. He died this year.

The evening after a late afternoon dinner is spent quietly, either calling on or receiving friends. The day ends with an inevitable song session, with the famed Crosby baritone joining in.

That's the Crosby Christmas. Hope you have a nice one, too.

with the Council Chamber above it. The reception given by the Council to the Rochester and Port Hope Councils in Sept. 1865, and the return visit of the Peterborough, Lindsay, Cobourg, Port Hope and Colborne Councils next month to Rochester have already been mentioned.

Confederation

"The new Dominion of Canada was ushered in at Peterborough July 1, 1867, by the discharge of heavy guns, musketry, etc., the ringing of bells and various other marks of the general rejoicing of the people. Early in the morning the Norwood and Hastings Volunteer Companies made their appearance, and at 10 a.m. the Battalion formed on the Market Square. The troops moved off to the Ashburnham Cricket Grounds where they went through a series of drill manoeuvres before returning to the market square to fire the feu de joie. Later a group of citizens gathered around an open fire on the square to witness the roasting of an ox and fireworks. The town constable had a busy time maintaining order in the town. Hotels and taverns did a roaring business." One last municipal event may be noted: In 1869 the Peterborough Gas Company was set up by Perry, Romaine, Carnegie and Stevenson to manufacture illuminating gas, and the Council allowed them to lay mains along Simcoe, Hunter and George Streets in return for erecting 20 lamps on these streets, which were to be kept alight from dusk to dawn for $400 a year; these lamps shone forth first on March 4, 1870.

Lamp Explodes 4 In Hospital

SMITHS FALLS, Dec. 23—(CP)—Mr. and Mrs. Truman Allan and two of their children were taken to hospital sufferng burns Friday after a gas lamp exploded in their frame, two-storey home here and the resultant fire gutted the building.

A 13-month-old Allan infant, Tommy, is in a critical condition with burns all over his body.

Mrs. Allan suffered burns to both legs and arms and the husband burns to the face and hands. A daughter, Eileen, suffered burned legs.

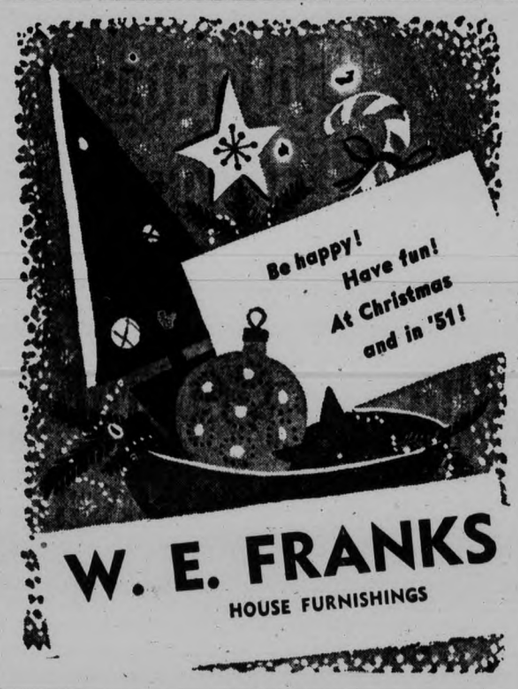

Three other Allan children, Truman, 11, Sheila, 9, and Lora, 3, escaped from the blazing home unhurt.

Searchers attempting to salvage personal belongings after the fire had been extinguished found the Allan's dog burned to death in the ruins.

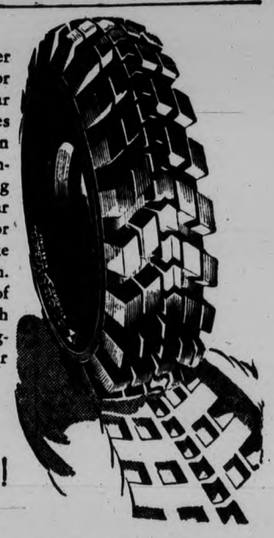

The Allans have seven children, all now homeless. Two elder daughters, Margaret, 15, and Dorothy, 13, were working at the Public Hospital when the fire broke out.

Shadow Of Prosperity Shows In Business

MONTREAL, Dec. 23 —(CP)— The Bank of Montreal, in its December business review, forecast Friday that "for some time to come, rising business indices are likely to reflect the shadow rather than the substance of enhanced prosperity in terms of civilian living standards".

Devoting the review to the "economic drama" that began 12 months ago with "ominous signs of recession" and ended with "activity at a hectic place," the bank says that the accent lies on supply and allocation, and adds that the price for preparedness on the scale now required implies "avid consumption" of economic resources.

The changing influences of the year, the bank finds, amount in broad outlines to a strengthening of the United States market for Canadian goods and a stepping up of the rate of capital expansion at home. These marked features were followed by the Korean situation and the consequent world-wide upsurge of demand and prices.

Christmas is coming, the geese are getting fat,
Please to put a penny in the old

If you haven't got a penny, a ha'penny will do.
If you haven't got a ha'penny,
God bless you.

A million thanks for your friendship and patronage in the past year!
May the holidays bring you as many happy tokens in the bright year a-coming!

Pope Confirms St. Peter's Tomb Under Vatican

By FRANK BRUTTO

ROME, Dec. 23—(AP)—Pope Pius announced today that the Tomb of St. Peter, Prince of the Apostles and revered by Roman Catholics also as the first Pope, has been found in subterranean grotos of the Vatican.

The Pontiff reported in his annual Christmas message, broadcast from the Vatican, that a scientific study of discoveries made during excavations beneath St. Peter's basilica was completed during the 1950 holy year.

These findings, the Pope declared, are of the highest importances and will be published soon.

"Has the tomb (of St. Peter) been truly found" the Pope asked and then gave the answer, "yes".

Belief Supported

Bones had been found near the sepulchre, but it was not possible to determine whether "these were those of St. Peter".

The Vatican reported last March that 10 years of digging in the long-hidden underground chambers below St. Peter's Church yielded archeological evidence supporting the Roman Catholic belief that the Prince of the Apostles was buried on that site.

In June, 1950, the Pontiff consecrated a central altar dedicated to St. Peter and located over the reported site of the Apostle's last resting place.

But as early as January, 1949, the Pontiff said that the Tomb of St. Peter "was and is under the cupola of St. Peter's Church". He declared then that this was demonstrated by archeological findings.

Today's announcement of the finding of the sepulchre—as proof that the first of the Apostles actualy came to Rome and died there—was the most positive yet made by the Pontiff.

The Pope's statement on the remains found in the grotto still left room for speculation but the most important thing, he said, was that the discovery "leaves intact the historical reality of the tomb".

Plea For Christmas

By JAMES ALLEN, D.O.

"Let not your heart be troubled", though
The world be swept with strife,
For once again the Carols sing
Of hope, of peace and life;
Above the faithless flounderings
Of fear, of hate and doubt,
The little Babe of Bethlehem
Still points the one way out!

The blood-stained Sword of Damocles
Swings wantonly once more,
The earth within the greedy grasp
Of Mars, the god of war!
Yet He can roll the clouds away,
Can still the angry sea,
Anf if we will, our wilful ways
Shall bow to His decree.

May revelry be not our goal
This crucial Christmas-tide,
But let the Saviour's natal day
For prayer be set aside!
And let it be a Song of Praise,
Exalting every heart—
No flippant, pagan parody,
No offspring of the mart!

Oh, let it be a Sacrament,
With Christ the unseen guest,
That men and nations, in their turn,
May all be truly blest.
Through all the tumult, all the gloom,
There shines but one bright ray—
The blessed Star of Bethlehem,
Still shining bright, today!

This Christmas-tide, to all mankind,
Once more the plea is hurled:
"Come unto Me, and I will give My Peace to all the world!"
Let men and nations humbly seek Clean hearts to do His Will—
And join with Him, in mighty voice,
The mandate: "Peace be still!"

Stock Market Holds Steady

By FORBES RHUDE,
Canadian Press Business Editor.

Stock markets this week showed their faith in these uncertain times.

In the last few weeks their long advance has had ample testing. If they were ready for a plunge, there were plenty of things to shove them into it. They have hesitated, and they have dipped, but they have come bounding back.

That is the market as a whole. Brokers advise careful selection of stocks, assessing each one in relation to the present situation.

Last Friday the market was on a downbeat, but Saturday it immediately reacted upward to President Truman's rearmament program.

The rest of the week was virtually a steady advance with New York ending the trading week at 20-year highs.

In Toronto in the six trading days the exchange's indices showed indusrtials up 8.51 at 285.28; golds up 4.75 at 76.59; base metals up 5.31 at 157.60; and western oils up 2.55 at 75.13.

Montreal averages showed banks off 0.19 at 31.82; utilities up 1.4 at 84.3; industrials up 1.9 at 181.5; combined up 1.7 at 149.1; papers up 14.13 at 614.51; and golds up 0.01 at 53.05.

In New York The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced $3.10 to $86.90.

Noted Conductor Dies At Age 88

NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (CP). — Walter Damrosch, 88, noted conductor and composer, died Friday night.

A heart attack ended his life at his home.

The white-haired, German-born musician retired in 1926 but came back a year later to begin a new career of bringing music to schools and homes via radio.

He quit for good in 1947 with the quip that he might try a comeback later.

Damrosch came to the United States with his father (also a musician, in 1871 and first gained attention 10 years later as conductor of the Newark, N. J., harmonic society.

Led Opera Company

At the age of 23, in 1885, he became manager of the Metropolitan Opera Company, a post held by his father, Leopold, who died suddenly.

In 1891, Damrosch opened Carnegie Hall with a musical festival, to which he invited the Russian composer Tchaikowski as the star attraction.

He formed ris own Wagnerian Opera Company in 1894 and toured the U. S.

He organized the New York Symphony Orchestra into a permanent group in 1903 and was its director until he resigned in 1926 when the Symphony was merged with the Philharmonic.

This retirement did not last long.

Joined NBC

He came back as musical counsellor for the National Broadcasting Company and held that post for 20 years.

Damrosch was president of the American Academy of Arts and Letters for eight years until he quit in 1948.

He composed a number of works, including "Cyrano," a four-act opera produced at the Met in 1913. His two-act "The Man Without a Country" had its world premiere at the Met in 1937.

As late as 1944, at the age of 82, Damrosch composed the comic opera "Congress and Elephants."

Wind-Fanned Fire Destroys Factory

PORT CREDIT, Ont., Dec. 23— (CP) — Fire of undetermined origin Friday swept through the factory of the Federal Sales and Engineering Company and an adjoining warehouse in this town seven miles west of Toronto.

For a time the blaze, fanned by a high wind, threatened several houses in the area and volunteer firefighters said their work was hampered when only one hydrant was available.

Sparks set afire the roof of a house nearby but firemen, aided by equipment and men from the volunteer brigades of neighboring Lakeview and Toronto township, used buckets to douse the flames.

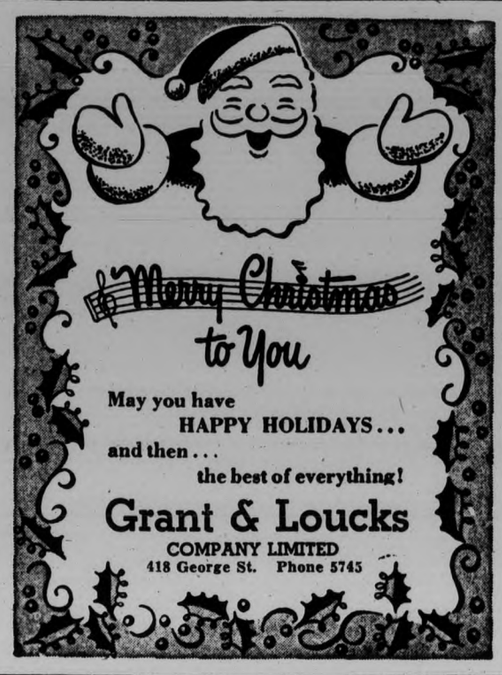

Leading Lawyer Dies In Toronto Home

TORONTO, Dec. 23 — (CP)— Frank Wilkinson, 51, one of Canada's top marine lawyers, died at his home here Friday.

Mr. Wilkinson, counsel for a number of shipping and marine insurance corporations, was born in Superior, Wis., but spent most of his youth in the Great Lakes port of Midland, Ont., where his father was a shipbuilder.

He was a director of the Colonial Steamship Lines and the G. H. Wood Co. Ltd.

He was one of the lawyers in the Royal Commission inquiry into the fire of the S.S. Noronic at Toronto last year which took 119 lives.

'Twas the Night Before Christmas...

'TWAS the night before Christmas, when all through the house
Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse;
The stockings were hung by the chimney with care,
In hopes that St. Nicholas soon would be there:
The children were nestled all snug in their beds,
While visions of sugar-plums danced in their heads.
And mamma in her kerchief and I in my cap
Had just settled our brain for a long winter's nap —
When out on the lawn there arose such a clatter,
I sprang from my bed to see what was the matter.
Away to the window I flew like a flash,
Tore open the shutters and threw up the sash.
The moon on the breast of the new-fallen snow,
Gave a lustre of midday to objects below.
When what to my wondering eyes should appear,
But a miniature sleigh and eight tiny reindeer.
With a little old driver so lively and quick
I knew in a moment it must be St. Nick!
More rapid than eagles his coursers they came,
And he whistled and shouted and called them by name!
"Now, Dasher! now, Dancer! now, Prancer and Vixen!
On, Comet, on, Cupid! on, Donder and Blitzen!
To the top of the porch, to the top of the wall!
Now dash away, dash away, dash away all!"
As dry leaves that before the wild hurricane fly,
When they meet with an obstacles mount to the sky,
So up to the housetop the coursers they flew,
With a sleigh full of toys — and St Nicholas, too.
And then in a twinkling I heard on the roof
The prancing and pawing of each little hoof.
As I drew in my head and was turning around
Down the chimney St. Nicholas came with a bound.
He was dressed all in fur from his head to his foot,
And his clothes were all tarnished with ashes and soot.
A bundle of toys he had flung on his back,
And he looked like a pedlar just opening his pack.
His eyes how they twinkled, his dimples how merry;
His cheeks were like roses, his nose like a cherry;
His droll little mouth was drawn up like a bow,
And the beard on his chin was as white as the snow.
The stump of a pipe, he held tight in his teeth,
And the smoke it encircled his head like a wreath.
He had a broad face and a little round belly
That shook when he laughed like a bowl full of jelly.
He was chubby and plump — a right jolly old elf;
And I laughed when I saw him in spite of myself,
A wink in his eye and twist of his head,
Soon gave me to know I had nothing to dread.
He spoke not a word, but went straight to his work
And filled all the stockings; then turned with a jerk,
And laying his finger aside of his nose,
And giving a nod up the chimney he rose.
He sprang to his sleigh, to his team gave a whistle,
And away they all flew like the down of a thistle;
But I heard him exclaim ere he drove out of sight
"Happy Christmas to all and to all a goodnight!"

Big Gains Made By Women Through 1950

By GLADYS LENNON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Steady advances in the struggle for equal recognition with men, and some noteworthy individual achievements marked 1950 in the women's world.

On the other hand the year brought sobering reminders of areas where progress has scarcely begun. A United Nations report for instance said that slavery or similar practices with women and children as the chief victims still are permitted in Nigeria, Malaya, Hong Kong, Singapore and French Equatorial Africa.

On the brighter side, two countries appointed women to cabinet posts for the first time. Panama in June named Senora Maria de Miranda as labor, social and welfare minister. And in October 39-year-old Helga Pederson became Denmark's minister of justice.

Another "first" for women was marked in El Salvador, where women voted for the first time in the March elections for president and congress of the small Central American republic.

First in US

First woman to hold the post of assistant defence secretary in the United States is Hungarian-born Mrs. Anna Rosenberg, an outstanding personnel expert. She was sworn into office in mid-November, in charge of manpower and personnel policy.

In Great Britain, Dr. Edith Summerskill, former parliamentary secretary for the food ministry, was appointed minister of national insurance, a non-cabinet post.

Two elections during the year resulted in slight shrinkage in the number of women in national legislative bodies. In Great Britain's February general election 20 women were returned to the House of Commons compared with 22 in the last House. The United States election in November reduced from nine to eight the number of women in the House of Representatives.

Women in Commons

A may by-election restored to the Canadian House of Commons the feminine representation missing since the 1949 general election. Mrs. Ellen Fairclough, Progressive Conservative, defeated two male opponents in Hamilton West.

In the liteary field, Gwendolyn Brooks of Chicago won the Pulitzer Prize for verse with her "Annie Allen," a book dealing with Negro city life.

Carson McCullers, at 32 the author of two best-selling novels, invaded the realm of drama with "The Member of the Wedding," which will celebrate early in 1951 its first anniversary on Broadway. Her sympathetic study of a lonely adolescent was named in April by the New York Drama Critics Circle as the best American play of the Broadway season.

Outstanding Reported

Marguerite Higgins, New York Herald-Tribune reporter in Korea at the outbreak of hostilities, was voted by New York newspaperwomen the outstanding woman reporter of the year for her "fine job of reporting and courage under fire."

Outstanding achievement in sport was Florence Chadwick's English Channel swim in August, when she bettered by more than an hour the record set in 1926 by Gertrude Ederle. The 31-year-old professional swimmer from San Diego, Calif., completed the distance in 13 hours and 28 minutes.

To you: we extend hearty wishes for happiness at Christmastime and for the New Year!

PCVS At Home First Party In Annual Christmas Whirl

The Christmas whirl of formal parties and much gaiety among the young set of Peterborough is again this year officially started with the PCVS At Home.

Though the setting was changed from the school gymnasium that is so familiar to students and ex-students through years of daily visits, some 600 young people found no difficulty enjoying the traditional big event of the school in the Club Aragon Friday evening.

At this most formal of all dances here, which continues to carry out the idea of printed dance programmes for each guest, were seen the loveliest of the season's new dance frocks of frothy nets, and rustling taffeta in varying degrees of sophistication in style.

Miss Mary Craw, president of the Students' Council, was receiving, assisted by the vice-president, Mr. James Armitage, and the patrons and patronesses, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Browne, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Jobbitt, Mr. and Mrs. G. Wilson Craw, and Mr and Mrs. John C. Rutherford.

Attending the dance were:

Misses Kay Canning, Laurene Keeting, Marie Minicola, Helen Black, Joanne Davidson, Mary Helen Matthews, Bev. Brooks, Jacquelyn Gosselin, Barbara Harrison, Carmie Shaughnessy, Mary Milburn, Clara Gillespie June Anderson, Betty Nott, Lois Hutchinson, Bev. BridgenorthSchool Presents Christmas Concert

The annual Christmas concert performed by the pupils of Bridgenorth school was held Friday evening in the Bridgenorth United Church. A very large crowd of parents and younger children watched the program unfold with its numerous skits, recitations and songs that were well carried out. The Rev. D. P. Morris was chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Patterson, teachers, were commended for their excellent work in training the children in their parts. Accompanying on the piano for all the carol singing and music was Mrs. C. Telford.

Crowning part of the evening was the arrival of Santa Claus with bells ringing and a merry ho-ho. Exchange gifts of the school children were given out, also gifts and candy bags presented by the Home and School Association. A bag of candy was given to every pre-school child in the community. Mrs. E. Nicholls was convener for the presents and candy.

NOTABLE DISASTER

One of the earliest recorded steamship disasters was the Royal Adelaide wreck off Margate, England, in 1850, with 400 dead.

Normal Students Are Hosts To Many Friends In City

Students of the Peterborough Normal School on Thursday evening were hosts to their friends, including the people with whom they are residing this year.

The entertainment took the form of a Christmas concert. Community carol singing was enjoyed and solos were rendered by Myrna Larke, Gena Vanderwater and Marilyn Eggleton.

An unpublished Nativity play by Jane Janis (Dorothy Jane Needles of Toronto) was presented by groups A and B. This beautiful offering opened with a stirring processional "Angels We Have Heard on High." The procession consisted of a singing choir and a verse choir who moved into chancels on either side of the main stage. Each chancel had a small blue altar with lighted tapers backed by three stained glass windows constructed by the art classes under Miss C. Wagar.

The narrative of the play was carried with conviction by the verse choir, speaking blank verse both chorally and individually. As the various tableaux were presented the singing choir sustained the mood of the scene.

The first tableau was "The Annunciation" with the scriptural recitative, composed for the occasion and sung by Marilyn Eggleton. The second was "The Scene at the Inn" accompanied by Mary and Joseph. This was followed by "The Annunciation to the Shepherds" as the choir sang "While Shepherds Watched their flocks by Night." Then came "The Three Kings" to the traditional 'We, Three Kings of Orient Are". This was followed by tableau of Mary and Joseph beside the manger, to the unaccompanied ladies' chorus singing the plaintive "Joseph dearest, Joseph mine." Into this tableau moved the Shepherds to "Three Shepherds" and the Three Wise Men brought their gifts to the lowly stable. The last tableau showed Mary and Joseph asleep by the manger. In a flood of light Gabriel appears to warn the parents of the child's danger. Joseph wakens Mary and the three quit the stage. The music here was "Silent Night" with a descant. At the end of the tableau the stage was impressive in its emptiness.

A recessional "O Come All Ye Faithful," was formed by the verse choir, followed by the cast of the tableaux and concluded by the singing choir.

The cast was as follows: Mary, Monica Allore; Joseph, John Battersby; Gabriel, Jean Cotten; the Angels, Helen Babcock and Fern Allen; the Shepherds, Allan Bennett, John Almey, Frank Brick, and the Three Kings, Bruce Braund, George Bedford, and Jim Edwards. The play was produced by Keith Borland and directed by Helen Alexander. Stage manager was Don Foster. Staff advisors were Mr. Q. MiKinney and Mr. John Londerville. Mr. George Munro's craft group and Miss C. Wagar's art group decorated the auditorium.

DOROTHY DIX

Girl's Unpopularity Can Be Result of Mother's Attitude

Every mother desires her daughter to be a social success. She wants her to have a gay time as a girl, to be admired by men, to have plenty of dates and eventually to make a good marriage.

Dorothy Dix

When this does not happen, when daughter spends her evenings at home, reading an improving book instead of stepping out with a young man, and when she is left at the last hanging upon the parent bough, Mother is even more chagrined and disappointed than the girl.

Mother can't understand it, because so far as she can see Julia is just as pretty and attractive as she was when she was young, yet she always had plenty of beaux, while Julia has never a one to bless herself with. But the answer to Mother's problem is often enough herself, and the reason why Julia isn't popular is because, without knowing it or intending it, Mother has handicapped her so heavily that she cannot possibly win out.

The most obvious type of this marplot mother is, of course, the woman who is so determined to keep her innocent little darling unspotted from the world that she shuts her completely out of the world of young people. She isn't going to have Julia carrying on like all the other Julias and staying out after 12 o'clock at parties and so as Julia can't run with the gang she is left at home lamenting.

Pinch-hitting Type

Then there is the other woman who ruins her daughter's chances by pinch-hitting for her and who pursues every youth with such fell determination that he flees in terror from her. Her daughters are going to have attention from men even if the men have to be bribed, cajoled, coerced and shanghaied into taking them places. In season and out of season she ballyhoos her girls' charms, and tells how beautiful, how amiable, how domestic they are until she depreciates their real value by her over-advertising.

There is the mother who blights her daughter's chances of success by enforcing perpetual babyhood on her. Mother does not want a grown-up daughter to date her, so she keeps daughter shut up in a nursery long after she should be learning her way about in society. Mother always refers to her as "my little girl" and gives the impression she is still playing with dolls. When the little girl, aged 20, and nearly six feet tall, does come forth from her hiding-place she is a good deal of the moron her mother has made her, and is shy and awkward and lacking in poise and conversation.

Another mother who is often her daughter's worst rival is the woman who is vivid, vivacious, dramatic, and who has the gift of showmanship. Only too often this kind of woman has a daughter who is just sort of an also-ran girl, good enough looking, intelligent enough, and attractive enough to hold her own if only she were not brought in deadly contrast with her brilliant mother. That just simply flattens her out and leaves her drabber and more commonplace than she really is.

Bossy Mother

Another woman who does her daughter a fatal wrong is the bossy mother who suppresses all of her daughter's personality and leaves her daughter seem like a dummy because she does not even let her answer a question. If you say, "Julia, will you have sugar in your tea?" Mother replies: "Julia never takes sugar. Just give her a little lemon." If you inquire how Julia enjoyed the symphony concert, mother says: "Julia was entranced. She is so fond of music." Very likely Julia could babble like the brook if she were given a chance and be a bright and interesting talker, but mother puts the lid on her until she acquires the reputation of being a boresome say-nothing, and she is left out of everything.

Then there are the mothers who take all of their daughters' beaux away from them by knowing the technique of how to handle men so much better than their inexperienced blundering young girls do that before they know it mamma is having a jolly little flirtation with the boy friend and the girl is sitting out in the cold on the sidelines. Mamma does not really intend any harm.

She is just trying to see if she has lost her charm for the opposite sex, but it makes the girl run such a poor second to Mother that it causes the boy to lose interest in her. Girls who have very attractive mothers nearly always suffer from an inferiority complex.

Or it may be that the reason a girl is not popular is because her mother is inhospitable to young people and does not like to have them tracking in mud, or running the radio after 10 o'clock, or scratching up the floors dancing. Or it may be because Mother thinks that all the young men come to see her instead of Julia and spends the evening monologing to them about her rheumatism, or how groceries have gone up, or telling them how cute Julia was as a baby. Every mother helps make or mar her daughter's popularity. Which do you do?

SATURDAY'S ENQUIRY COLUMN

QUESTION: A few months ago, you published in the paper a very good cake called Cherry Walnut Cake. I made it only twice, and lost the recipe. I was wondering if you could publish it again or mail it to me please.

All I can remember it was a loaf pan cake and had in it ½ cup chopped maraschino cherries, ½ cup walnuts and egg whites only, but don't know how many; ½ cup butter, I think. That is all I can remember. I would like to make this cake for the holiday.—Mrs. A. T.

ANSWER:

Cherry Walnut Cake

(I have made this up into a little larger recipe for those who want it for Christmas use.)

Two-thirds cup butter, 2 cups white sugar, ½ cup chopped drained maraschino cherries, 3 cups sifted cake flour, 5 level teaspoons baking powder, 1 cup milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup chopped pecans or walnuts, 4 egg whites. Cream the butter and sugar for at least 10 minutes, then add the chopped cherries and the juice from them. Sift and measure the flour, then sift it three times with the baking powder and salt (a pinch). Add the flour mixture alternately with the milk and vanilla, beating well. Add nuts and fold in the stiffly beaten whites. Bake in two greased and paper-lined loaf pans at 375 deg. Fahr. about three-quarters of an hour. A fluffy white frosting is good on this.

QUESTION: Two things I have been hoping to see before Christmas are ways to broil oysters on the shell raw. I know how to make stew, and my husband wants me to serve an oyster supper to some of his friends at the office, so I want to do it nicely.

I will watch the paper for this. I think my cooking is improving. I read your column every time and am certainly more interested than I ever was. If there is any charge I will glady send it. — Marge.

ANSWER: There is no charge. We are delighted to help you. While this is appearing before Christmas, I have mailed these recipes to you, too.

Broiled Oysters On Half Shell

Arrange two dozen oysters on broiler rack in their half-shells, with their natural liquid over them. Mix together 1½ tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon bottled condiment sauce, 1½ tablespoons finely chopped parsley, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, shake of salt, pepper, few drops tabasco sauce. Have ready some grated old or Parmesan cheese. Spoon the mixture over each oyster. Sprinkle each with a little cheese. Have broiler very hot. Broil oysters until cheese is lightly browned. The oysters themselves do not need very thorough cooking. Do not overcook them.

Raw Oysters On Half Shell

Serve oysters in their half-shell with their natural juices—in bed of crushed ice if possible. Pass

Cocktail Sauce: 2-3 cup catsup, 2 tablespoons chili sauce, 2 tablespoons horseradish, 3 tablespoons lemon juice. Serve cold.

This is the last line before Christmas, so "Merry Christmas" to all Mary Moore readers.

A Christmas Hymn

By REV. A. A. MATHEWS
Minister of George Street United Church

When Jesus came to Bethlehem,
His people were dismayed:
A Roman despot ruled with might,
And kept the world afraid.

But on the night when He was born
The angels sang above
The starlit hills of Bethlehem
Their song of peace and love.

Now people are afraid again,
There's dread throughout the world:
In lands afar new tyrants rule
With battle-flags unfurled.

But Christmas comes again, and clear
The angels' song rings out,

"Forget your feuds, ye sons of men,
Seek each your neighbor's good:
Make peace, exalt goodwill, bring in
The Day of Brotherhood!"

Story Of Birth Of Jesus Old Story That's Ever New

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

In thousands of churches, and in millions of homes, upon this Christmas Sunday, the story of the birth of Jesus will be read and heard by many who know it so well that they could probably repeat it by heart.

It will be read in the gospels by St. Matthew and Luke and listened to as if it had never been told before. That old, old story has lost nothing of its interest and meaning through the centuries. It is ever new.

Why does that story of the birth of Jesus so persist in its newness and interest? Partly because it is the story of a mother and a babe; and mothers and babes, in all the mystery, love and devotion that surrounds them, continue in generation after generation, each successive generation of motherhood and babyhood being a glorification of the story of Mary of Nazareth and the Babe of Bethlehem.

Then, too, the story symbolizes the faith and the hope that each successive generation has cherished. The central figures, the Mother, the Babe, and Joseph, were at Bethlehem, but there were others.

There is something rich and beautiful in the portrayal of Simeon, of Anna the Prophetess, and of Zacharias and Elizabeth, devout souls "waiting for the consolation of Israel," even as devout souls are waiting in faith and hope today for new revelations of the power and triumph of the Christ.

So, the story of Christ and Christmas lives on with all its newness and charm. Would God that we might all find the joy and gladness of revisiting Bethlehem, and of following the Babe born there, until the abundant life that He came to bring is our great possession for Christmas Day and for every day.

For many years it was my custom to greet friends at Christmas with a few appropriate lines. Perhaps I may offer to the many, in various places, who read this column, my best wishes for a joyous Christmas, and this word of greeting:

To Absent Friends at Christmas

We shall not meet around a common board,
Nor share the gladness of a common roof,
No festive hour shall bring us face to face
In Christmas feast or song. Yet not aloof
From love or life, along the mystic way
Our spirits shall outrun earth's trammelled feet
To Bethlehem; and in heart's reunion there
By friendship's highest altar we shall meet.
An ampler feast the gift of God shall spread;
The Christmas song shall richer, fuller be
As there, where Heaven met earth we join to share
The love of Christ with all humanity.

Hold Concert At Bethany

BETHANY, Dec. 23—(ENS)—The annual Christmas concert of Bethany Public and Continuation School was held in the town hall under the direction of the teachers, Lawrence Millson and Miss Marilyn Cavano, with Rev. James Hampson as chairman for the evening.

The program opened with O Canada and "Merry Christmas Greetings" in rhyme by the junior pupils. Eleanor Rowan recited a "Song of Christmas" with coral parts of "Silent Night" and "The First Noel" sung by senior pupils. A dialogue "Cinderella's Stocking" was well acted by Joan Morton as Cinderella; Paul Pomeroy, Murray Smith and Donald Smelt as the Elves and Muriel Sheckleton as Santa's Helper.

There were piano solos by Brenda Rowan, Dianne Bigelow and Paul Pomeroy, all junior pupils. Laverne Morton gave a recitation "Depression". A group of junior girls sang two choruses.

A play in three scenes revived the old fairy tale "Rumplestiltskin" and was well acted by Charles McGill as the Miller; Barry Smith as King Florimond; Levi McGill, the court herald; Marie Carr, the miller's daughter who later became the queen; and Bobby Ryley, the dwarf who could spin straw into gold.

A dialogue in three scenes, "A Christmas Gift" was also a good performance by junior room pupils with Muriel Sheckleton as the owner of the wonder toy shop; Phyllis Bristow as Santa Claus; Dianne Bigelow, Leone Jordan and Murray Smith as the Talking Toys; Donald Smith, a little sick boy; with Coleen Durham and George Scott, as the other members of his family.

Gordon Wood gave a monologue "Uncle Skinflint's Christmas Gift". A tableau in six scenes "Newspaper Girl" was well given, with Waultraud Rajski as the paper carrier who fell asleep in the cold. Her dreams of better things were acted silently by junior pupils dressed as angels and fairies. The stage setting of the street scene was most effective, the art work being done by two senior pupils, Stella and Carolyn Carpenter. During the tableau, Christmas carols were sung by the senior pupils accompanied by Miss Marilyn Cavano.

Levi McGill gave two violin selections accompanied by Marie Carr at the piano. Paul Pomeroy and Dianne Bigelow sang a duet.

The Junior Room Rythym Band, directed by Waultraud Rajski was heard in two numbers. "Frosty the Snowman" was acted by Levi McGill with a senior group singing the popular song. Santa Claus arrived in time to distribute the gifts from a well laden tree.

24 Cars, Truck Tangle In 11 Accidents

Twenty-four cars and a truck were involved in 11 city accidents Friday afternoon and night but nobody was injured. Icy roads were to blame for most of the accidents.

Donald Anderson, of Toronto, picked the wrong car to bounce against with his car. He was driving north on Water St. and at the intersection of Park Hill Rd. swerved to his left, hit a car driven by Lloyd McBride, 455 Rose Ave., bounced off and hit a car driven by PC Allan Edmison. Damage was not extensive to any of the cars.

Tangle On Bridge

Four cars were slightly damaged when they collided near the east end of Hunter St. bridge. R. Eagleton, of Brantford, was driving behind G. T. Hannavan, Coboconk, when Hannavan suddenly stopped.

Eagleton, because of icy roads, couldn't stop in time and hit the rear of the Hannavan car. A. I. Butcher, 14 Dale Ave., struck the rear of Eagleton's auto. A truck driven by C. A. McBride, 314 Mark St., was following the others and skidded into Butcher's car.

Damage to Eagleton's car was $75, to Butcher's $80, and to the truck $40.

Two drivers claimed each had the green light after their cars had collided at George and Sherbrooke Sts. Bryce McLeod, of Spalding, Sask., was driving east on Sherbrooke St., and Arthur Cummings, 1025 Braund Place, was driving south on George.

Evewitness Ralph Hunter, 198 Dublin St., said the light was green for east-west traffic. Damage to the two cars was light.

Joseph McTeague, 782 George St., was driving south on Park St. when a car in front of him stopped. McTeague said he couldn't stop in time, and slight damage was done to both cars.

F. H. Martin, 748 Monaghan Rd., was driving west on Lansdowne, and when well over the intersection of Park St., cut south and his car collided with an auto driven by R. V. Free, Campbellford. Damage to Martin's car was about $90 and to Free's about $100.

Just after midnight today, Morley James, 182 Adeline Ave., was driving south on Water St., and was blinded by the lights of two northbound cars. He pulled to the right and struck a parked car, doing about $150 damage to it.

W. McMullen, 210 Lake St., was driving south on Aylmer St. and skidded into the curb at the southeast corner of Princess and Aylmer Sts. When he was backing away, his car was hit by an auto driven by D. M. Peirin, 130 Perry St. Damage was light.

Frank Gardner, 175 Park St., was driving north on Park and crossing Wolfe St., Friday afternoon when his car was hit by an auto driven by Harry Clark, R.R. 11, Peterborough. Clark said he tried to stop, but skidded on the ice. The left front wheel of Gardner's auto was broken.

Slight damage was done to cars driven by Miss Ninita Bogue, 161 Romaine St., and David Traynor, R.R. 1, Lakefield, when they collided on Water St. north of Argyle St. Miss Bogue saw a car being pushed on Argyle St., stopped without signalling, and Traynor's auto hit the rear of her car.

Cars driven by Ronald Pue, Fraserville, and W. J. Woodcock, 291 Reid St., were damaged Friday night when they collided at Charlotte and Reid Sts. Woodcock told police he was driving north on Reid St., stopped at Charlotte St., and started across. The road was icy and three-quarters of the way across Woodcock saw Pue coming and stopped. Pue braked, skidded, and hit the Woodcock car. Slight damage was done.

Cars driven by Clarence Cournyea, 220 Lake St., and Kenneth Holbrook, 225 Lake St., collided in the afternoon when Holbrook was backing out of his driveway, didn't see the Cournyea car, and collided with it. Damage to the Cournyea car was about $150.

ANOTHER CHRISTMAS-GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY couple who will celebrate a double ceremony are Mr. and Mrs. James Knights of 545 Chamberlain St. They came from Yorkshire, England, to Peterborough in 1912.

Farm Market Offerings Much Lighter

Today's market started out fairly light with large stocks of eggs, poultry, and apples being offered.

Turkeys were selling at 60 cents for toms and 70 cents for hens. Geese and ducks were selling at 55 cents a pound, and chickens between 60 and 65 cents.

McIntosh apples were bringing $3 a bushel for large, and 65 cents a 6-quart basket, while smaller McIntoshes brought 50 cents a basket. Russets were selling at 55 cents a basket.

Not as many sellers were on the market as usual, and the morning's raw weather and predictions of rain from the weatherman kept buyers away, though marketers expected business to pick up toward noon.

2,000 Persons Peterborough 100 Years Ago

By HARRY THEOBALD

Peterborough names in Lovell's Canada Directory of 1851 have faded in identity vastly more than the appearance of this remnant and stray volume out of the past that has seemed always at hand inviting repose in some calmer archive than a top drawer in a newspaper office.

That date and its present connection with the waning year of Peterborough's centenary as an incorporated municipality invited today another scanning of the listed names of local men of prominence one hundred years ago.

The population in 1851 was counted at 2,000.

Ashburnham was known only as the Scotch village.

The Examiner has published so much interesting detail of Peterborough's past that even a glance into the old office worn directory hardly seems warranted. And yet, the impression remains and deepens that for all the repetition of names and place and incident, those personalities associated with the corporate beginning of Peterborough are forever vague and shadowy, reduced to the surviving names they bore with understandable dignity and pride of family.

Nicholls, Hamilton, Hall, Bradburn, Wrighton, Conger, Rubidge, Hudson, and so on down the list, names that once distinguished men from their fellows, leaving today no memory within the present generation, except in the belief records of position and occupation.

Robert Nicholls, the husband of Charlotte Nicholls, gratefully remembered as Peterborough's benefactress before the turn of this century, appears to have been of paramount influence in the community. He is listed as a dealer in dry goods, groceries, hardware, crockery, etc., corner of Simcoe and Water Streets (on the present site of the Bank of Montreal); the first treasurer of the town, presumably from his financial experience here and in New York, prior to his coming to Canada; local agent of the Bank of Montreal; agent for the Colonial Life Assurance Company; and also agent for the Mutual Fire Assurance Co. in the Newcastle district.

Charles Hudson, mayor, was a storekeeper on Hunter St.

James Hamilton was proprietor of a foundry on George St. He was the father of Peter Hamilton who succeeded him in the business which he enlarged; and grandfather of James Hamilton, mayor of Peterborough for year, and a member of Peterborough's centennial committee.

Thomas Bradburn was a dealer in dry goods, groceries, etc. Presumably he was the grandfather

Drilling For Iron and Gold In Marmora Area Brings New Hopes For 1951

People of Marmora are optimistic about the possible mining boom in their area but are keeping their fingers crossed, just in case, said Reeve Vincent Lynch on Friday. At the present time there are five drills under contract to Bethlehem Steel Corporation working south of the village, four on the Ross Rogers farm and one which started on Monday on the Victor Neal property. It was thought in September that if the drillers were not able to secure water sources for their drills that their operation would cease at freeze-up. Water has been found and as far as Reeve Lynch can tell, drilling will continue all winter.

In addition to diamond drilling for iron, the Ackerman Gold Mines, a gold property four miles east of Marmora, started drilling early in the week. One of the top executives of this property is Lieut. Col. C. H. Ackerman of Peterborough.

"We have already drilled 200 feet in the last two days," said Col. Ackerman on Friday. "It is under direction of General Engineering Company and we hope to accomplish 10,000 feet of it according to the present outlined program.

The General Engineering Company has completed a thorough review and examination of the property. Their opinion is expressed in these extracts from their recommendation.

"While the work so far done by Ackerman Gold Mines is definitely encouraging, values and tonnage developed to date do not yet justify the large expenditures necessary for a thorough underground test. It is believed that the expenditure of $15,000—$20,000 to do from 5,000—10,000 feet of diamond drilling would establish definitely, if one or more ore shoots could be developed on the Ackerman and parallel vein zones..." "To sum up, taking into consideration the results to date and the fact that this area has had very limited development, the property of Ackerman Gold Mines Limited offers a good chance of developing a sufficient quantity of good ore, to make it a profitable producer."

Based on this recommendation the company has been successful in obtaining sufficient funds to maintain essential options in good standing, and to test by drilling the most interesting ground.

20 Men Employed

Reeve Lynch estimated that 20 village men were being employed by these mining ventures and as far as villagers are concerned, they have several small business ventures in the offing in case results are encouraging. Real estate has been at a premium for some time, he added.

A few weeks ago news was released that 2 theatres were being built in the village. One of the contractors has dropped his project but the other building, to be known as the Plaza, is well on its way to completion; it is expected to open sometime in January.

OUTDOOR LIGHTS

Some of the outdoor lights around town this Christmas were exceptionally attractive in the occasional light snow Friday night. The bright colors against the background of green and white and the shapely limbs of pine were a gay festive effect in the neighborhoods.

Three Couples Observing 50th Anniversary

Three couples in Peterborough will be celebrating something more than Christmas over the holiday weekend.

Two couples will mark their golden wedding anniversary Christmas Day, and one couple will celebrate the day before.

Married on Christmas Day, 1900, were Mr. and Mrs. William Russell, 278 Brock St., and Mr. and Mrs. James Knights, 545 Chamberlain St. Mr. and Mrs. George Strain, 495 Bethune St., are celebrating their 50th anniversary on December 24.

The Strains were married in Peterborough, the Knights in Wakefield, Yorkshire, England, and the Russells in Fairville, New Brunswick.

Mr. Strain, who is 78, slightly deaf but quite cheerful, told the Examiner this week that he married the former Beatrice Tamblyn on December 24, 1900, at 683 Stewart St.

The ceremony was performed by Mr. R. J. Zimmerman of the Bethany Tabernacle. The best man was Bert Tamblyn, Mrs. Strain's brother who was killed in the First World War, and the maid - of - honor was Millie Nicholls. Mrs. Strain said she hasn't heard of her maid-of-honor in many years.

Mr. Strain was born in Peterborough county, and after working a few years in the lumber business, farmed for 30 years until he retired three years ago. He worked farms in North Monaghan, Emily and Smith townships.

Mr. and Mrs. Strain have four sons, Kenneth and Noble of Emily township, Vincent of Asphodel, George of British Columbia, and two daughters, Mrs. Sidney Field of Otonabee, and Helen at home. They had 11 children, and the youngest son, Clifford, was killed on active service with the RCAF in the Second World War. They have 17 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Come to Canada in 1912

Mr. and Mrs. Knights came to Canada from Yorkshire in 1912, and have resided in Peterborough since then. Mr. Knights worked with the CGE here until seven years ago when he retired on pension. He is a member of the company's quarter century club.

SHOWING A VERY MERRY CHRISTMAS spirit are Mr. and Mrs. George Strain of 495 Bethune St., who celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary on Sunday. They have seven children, 17 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. (Examiner Staff Photos)

He has one brother and one sister living in England, and Mrs. Knights, the former Elizabeth Parker, has three brothers and three sisters in England, as well as her sister, Mrs. G. Land, of Peterborough, who was bridesmaid at the wedding.

They have one son Jimmie, and on daughter, Mrs. H. Ferguson (Annie), both of Peterborough. There are two grandchildren, Anita and Patricia Ann Ferguson.

The Knights will be at home to their friends and neighbors on Sunday, when out of town guests are expected from Montreal, Toronto and Hamilton.

Born in England

Mr. and Mrs. Russell, who are living with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Russell, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary Christmas Day. Mr. Russell is 79 and Mrs. Russell is 74.

They have seven grandchildren and one great-grandchild, and three sons, Fred Russell, S. W. Russell and F. J. Russell, the latter two of Toronto.

Mr. Russell was born in Bath, Somersetshire, England, and Mrs. Russell, the former Ellen Howley, was born at Cirencester, Gloucestershire, England. Mrs. Russell came to Canada in 1891 and Mr. Russell arrived four years before.

Both came to New Brunswick from England, and lived in St. John until 1923. Three years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Russell, who had both been in poor health, came to Peterborough to live with their son. Their family will gather at Mr. and Mrs. Fred Russell's Brock St. home for the double celebration Monday.

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY AND CHRISTMAS DAY will be celebrated this year by Mr. and Mrs. William Russell of 278 Brock St. They expect many relatives to be with them on this important double occasion.—Examiner Staff Photo.

Santa Has No Demand For Atomic Bombs, Guns Or Other Weapons

Atomic bombs, guns and other violent weapons are not desired by Peterborough children for Christmas from Santa Claus as in many centres in Canada and United States. All they want is the every-day play things, wagons, dolls, trucks, water pistols and sleighs. This is evident from the thousands, and it is in the thousands, of letters received by local stores and the post office.

Many of the letters express concern for Santa's and Mrs. Claus' health. The children write that they heard that either one or both were sick and hope that they will be better by Christmas.

A great number list off several items as gifts from St. Nick and and then end by wishing him a merry Christmas. A tag-tail informs the white bearded man that a lunch, usually milk and cookies, will be waiting to give him energy to continue on his trip.

Most letters are written or printed by the tots themselves. Others are dictated to mothers, dads, big sister or brother. One district child explained: "Dear Santa, I'm not quite big enough to write, but I asked my Mommie if she would write and ask you if you would bring me a wagon for Christmas."

The stationery runs from wrapping paper to fancy, perfumed varieties. In some cases Christmas cards made by the children, apparently at school, are sent to Mr. Claus with a list of toys.

On the whole the letters are brief. One Christmas letter said: "Dear Santa, How is Mrs. Santa? I would like a doll and a nurse set."

Often the children besides asking for a gift for themselves include requests on behalf of the rest of the family. One local boy after listing his wishes for Christmas eve added a postscript explaining that his sister said she is too big to write letters to Santa and asked that she be brought a book.

Behavior is stressed in nine out of 10 letters. The children explain either that they have been good, are trying to be good or promise to be good if he brings what they want. Some even add a word recommending the behaviour of other friends.

The ending of the letters is usually quite plain, the name and address printed clearly. A number add such endings as Your Little Friend and Love and Kisses with many large XXXX's. Some even define the X's with kisses bracketed.

One look at the huge number of letters which began to pour into the post office and stores a month and a half ago, indicated Christmas is the children's day.

6—In Memoriams

EASON—Mr. and Mrs. Milton Eason. In loving memory of father and mother who passed away Dec. 3, 1945 and Dec. 23, 1949.
Gone from us but leaving memories
Death can never take away,
Memories that will always linger,
While upon this earth we stay.
—Ever remembered by son Leonard and daughter-in-law Rose.

HOOVER—In loving memory of a wonderful mother, Mrs. Sarah Hoover, who died two years ago, December 24, 1948.
Too dearly loved to ever be forgotten,
Forever in our thoughts.
—Sadly missed and ever remembered by her daughter, son-in-law and granddaughter, Ida, Bill and Helen Whibbs.

JAMIESON—In loving memory of W. J. Jamieson, who passed away December 23, 1949.
Gone is the face we loved so dear
Silent is the voice we loved to hear,
Too far away for sight or speach
But not too far for thought to reach,
Sweet to remember him who once was here
And, though absent, is just as dear.
—Ever remembered by W. J. Johnson.

KETCHESON—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Maud Ketcheson, who passed away Dec. 21, 1947.
Deep in the heart lies a picture
Of a loved one laid to rest,
In memory's frame we shall keep it,
Because she was one of the best.
—Sadly missed, ever remembered by husband, daughter Mildred, son-in-law Jack, granddaughter Helen.

MORROW—In memory of Edwin Morrow, who passed away December 24, 1947.
Sincere and kind in heart and mind,
What a beautiful memory he left behind;
God called him home, it was His will
But in our hearts we love him still,
His memory is as dear today
As in the hour he passed away.
—Remembered by brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Oliver and family.

MORROW—In loving memory of Edwin A. Morrow, who died in a highway crash two years ago today.
They say time heals all sorrow and helps us to forget,
But time has only proven how much I miss you yet.
God gave me strength to fight it
And courage to bear the blow,
But what it meant to lose you
No one will ever know.
—Sadly missed and never to be forgotten by his wife and daughter Maxine.

WHITTINGTON—In loving memory of Sgt. J. H. Whittington, who was killed in action in Italy Dec. 24, 1943.
We think of him in silence,
No evil eyes can see us weep,
But still within our aching hearts
His memory we keep.
—Ever remembered by father, mother, sisters and brother.

WILLIAMSON—In loving memory of father, Mr. A. L. Williamson Sr., who passed away July 7, 1943, also his daughter, Mrs. Fred Evans on July 31, 1940, and daughter Mrs. George Lindsell on February 18, 1945.
"Thy will be done." 'tis hard to say
When ones we loved have passed away.
Some day perhaps we'll understand
When we meet again in that better land.
—Ever remembered by loved ones.

7—Cards of Thanks

Mrs. John Sexsmith wishes to express her sincere thanks to the nurses at the Civic Hospital, attending doctors and to her many friends for all the kindness shown her during her recent illness.

Woman Mayor Leaves Town

VANCOUVER, Dec. 23—(CP)—Mrs. Sadie Young has left Stewart, B.C., where the summer days are 22½ hours long and the cabbages grow so big that a single one fills a wheelbarrow.

She has spent 40 years in British Columbia's northernmost port and for the past year has been mayor of Stewart.

The only mementos she brought south with her were a beaver-skin coat, 20 years old, a silver nugget, a box of perfumeries presented by the Canadian Legion, a silk scarf presented by Legionnaires of neighboring Hyder, Alaska, and a rose from her garden.

"The rest of the souvenirs are all in my mind," says Mrs. Young. She is 72 and has come to Vancouver to retire.

She went to Stewart in 1910 during the gold rush. The population was 10,000. Today it is 300.

"It's beautiful in the summer," she says. "There's only about 1½ hours of darkness and robins sing at two in the morning.

England was merry when England, when Old Christmas brought his sports again.
'Twas Christmas broach'd the mightiest ale;
'Twas Christmas told the mightiest tale;
A Christmas gambol oft could cheer
The poor man's heart through half the year.

U.S. Commission Supports Seaway Project

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 (AP) The Federal Power Commission Friday gave strong support to President Truman's oft-expressed desire that Congress approve legislation authorizing construction of the St. Lawrence seaway and power development.

The commission, in a decision denying a New York State application to construct only the power phase of the development in collaboration with the Province of Ontario, said:

"The critical international situation now facing the world calls for immediate commencement of construction of the combined project."

Debated 50 Years ... ...

The highly-controversial seaway proposal has been debated for more than 50 years. Congress, in one form or another, has turned it down three times.

Opposition to it and the related power development, have come mainly from port cities, railroads and private utilities.

The decision of the commission, with one member dissenting, ccincided almost exactly with a recommendation made last December by an FPC examiner after hearings on the New York application.

Under the new proposal, and that advanced by army engineers, the power yield would be shared equally between the United States and Canada. Each country would contribute like amounts for construction costs. It would cost an estimated $800,000,000.

Combined Project

The commission's decision said that international benefits from the seaway made it desirable for Congress to pass upon the combined proposal rather than "on a piece-meal basis."

This has been Truman's position in the numerous times he has commented on the St. Lawrence issue.

In this respect he has clashed sharply with Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York. Dewey, in effect, has said that the Truman administration has blocked New York proposals to develop the huge hydro-electric potential —estimated at 2,200,000 horsepower.

Engineers have testified before both Congress and the commission that an annual production of 12,600,000,000 kilowatt hours could be realized by harnessing the river near Massena, NY.

Woman Escapes Death As Car Hit By Train

CARLETON PLACE, Dec. 23—(CP)—Mrs. Ernest McPherson escaped death by inches Friday when her motor car stalled on a level crossing.

A Canadian Pacific Railway local sideswiped the car, ripping off the front fenders and a door. Mrs. McPherson, who did not have time to get out of the car, suffered only a severe shaking up.

TORONTO, Dec. 23 — (CP) — Ontario cocktail lounges, dining lounges and beverage rooms will be closed from 6.30 p.m. today until Dec. 26, the Liquor Control Board said Friday.

1,911 Residing In Douro For New High

The population of Douro has jumped almost 200 over a year ago, a detailed census of the township taken in September revealed when released today.

Biggest reason for the increase, said township clerk J. J. Coughlin, were the DVA settlements along the Warsaw road and many other houses along the road for some two or three miles east of the city. There were also a number of new houses and businesses along the River Road.

The population as of the end of September stood at 1,911, as compared with 1,733 last year.

The census figures were taken from the tax roll prepared by township assessor Bernard Dench. In accordance with a new regulation of the Municipal Board, he broke down the population total into several age divisions and into the five wards of the township.

The largest ward is No. 4 which stretches along the River Road north of the city some distance east. It has a population of 479. Next in size is Ward 2, the east ward which extends along the Dummer township border. It has 405.

Ward 1 which is the north ward up near Young's Point and Ward 5 which extends east of the canal to the eighth concession both have identical population of 353.

The smallest ward is No. 3, the centre ward around the settlement of Douro, with a population of 321.

Many Children

A large proportion of the population, almost half, consists of children 19 years of age and under. Of an 800 total, the east ward has the greatest number, 189, and the greatest percentage of children.

The west ward along the River Road is next with 182 children. The centre ward has 154 children; the north ward 133 and the ward along the canal 142.

But it is the west ward along the River Road which has the greatest number of children five years old and under, 91. Ward 5 has 51; ward 3, 51; ward 2, 54; and ward 1, 46.

Three of the wards have almost as many old people 60 years of age and over as they have children five years of age and under. Ward 1 has 47, ward 2 has 58, ward 3, 32, and the two remaining wards have considerably fewer in proportion, 40 and 13 respectively.

The township has quite a large number of the men and women who have lived their three score and ten and are still going strong. There are 24 oldsters in Ward 1; 28 in ward 2; 12 in ward 3; 19 in ward 4; and 5 in ward 5.

With the new breakdown in the taking of the township census, the township will be able to make many interesting observations such as whether the township people are getting older on the average, or younger; whether the number of births surpasses the number of deaths; whether there is any shift among the younger people from the township and in general how the township is developing or degenerating.

Train Reserve Force

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 23 (CP)—A national referendum on compulsory reserve force selective service training was recommended by the London Chamber of Commerce in a telegram to Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent.

A green Christmas makes a fat churchyard.

CLOSE SHAVE— Some 400 passengers, including the Montreal Canadiens hockey team, were rudely awakened on Thursday when a Toronto-Montreal pool train was derailed crossing the Dorion Bridge, 35 miles west of Montreal. One of the cars is shown keeled over, falling through ties churned up by the wheels.

Newsy Lalonde Top Player Since 1900 In Lacrosse

By JACK SULLIVAN

TORONTO, Dec. 23 — (CP) — Member of Hockey's Hall of Fame and a one-time printer's devil who was tabbed the Ty Cobb of hockey, Edward Cyril Lalonde—nationally known as Newsy—has been named Canada's outstanding lacrosse player of the last 50 years.

The title of the greatest team went to Montreal Shamrocks of the 1902-05 era.

Tricky, calculating smoothie of the ice and lacrosse lanes in the early 1900s to the mid-20s, Newsy was given the honor by sports editors and sportscaster participating in a Canadian Press poll. He gained 13 votes, six more than the late Billy Fitzgerald of St. Catharines, Ont.

The late Henry Hoobin, old-time player with the Shamrocks when they were in their heyday, was next in line with five.

Six Others Named

Six others were named, including Lionel Conacher of Toronto; Alex (Dad) Turnbull, a star with the New Westminster Salmonbellies at the turn of the century; Joe Lally, the Cornwall official and player; Lance Isaacs, killed in a game in Toronto in the 30s; and the late Didier Pitre, who played lacrosse in Canada at Montreal and in the United States at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., He died at the American Soo some 16 years ago.

The voters thumbed old-time record books to come up with the Shamrocks as the greatest team. They got the nod over the Salmonbellies 1909-10 Minto Cup titleholders. Others mentioned were top champion Orillia Terriers of 1935, Oshawa General Motors of 1929 and St. Catharines Athletics of 1938. One voter picked Montreal Nationales but did not stipulate the year.

Newsy came from Cornwall, where he was born in 1887, in his early 'teens. From then until 1926, when he finally called it a day, his name was a by-word with lacrosse and hockey fans across the country.

Started At 16

His lacrosse career started in 1904 with Cornwall of the old National League when he was only 16 years old. He remained with the team as goalkeeper through the 1905 and 1906 seasons.

Old-timers like to recall the night Fred (Cyclone) Taylor of the famous Ottawa Silver Seven hockey team in the early 1900s skated backwards the length of the ice to score a goal, but Newsy can match that.

In a game against the Montreal Athletic Association club in 1906 he stopped a shot, worked his way down field and scored the goal which broke a tie game to give Cornwall the title. From there in Newsy gave up his goal-tending duties to play inside home, although he was frequently used at outside home. He was occasionally shifted back to the defence and in the nets when his team was playing short-handed.

Had to be Tough

Newsy in his prime weighed around 170 pounds, was 5 feet 7½ inches tall and had a reputation as a tough guy. He said once: "Sure I was tough, and so was everyone else. Lacrosse was a rugged game and only the guys who could hand it out as well as take it could last in those days."

Fitzgerald played junior with St. Catharines Queen's at the start of the century and went to the senior athletics in 1906. He turned professional with Toronto in 1909-10, went to the west coast in 1911 and made his way east again.

He returned to the west in 1926 when an attempt was made to revive the game to its pre-war status, but he remained only three weeks, returned home and died June 30 the same year.

The "greatest lacrosse player of the half century" tag was the second honor Newsy received this year. Earlier, he was elected to hockey's Hall of Fame.

LACROSSE ACE — "Newsy" Lalonde, of Montreal, was chosen by Canadian sports writers the greatest lacrosse player in the last 50 years. "Newsy" also gained fame in hockey with Montreal Canadiens and Saskatoon Sheiks and is a member of Hocky's Hall of Fame.

Youths Steal $85

WINDSOR, Ont., Dec. 23 (CP) —Two armed, masked youths took $85 in cash from a west-end drug store Friday night. They escaped on foot with the store owner, Gordon J. Young, in pursuit.

For Parents Only

By NANCY CLEAVER

"Why do we have Christmas? Is it so Santa Claus will come?" a little tot asks her mother. It is not just the mother's answer but the family activities in the days before December the 25th which give to a child the reason for Christmas. Busy homemakers, burdened with extra work for company and all the preparation for meals on Christmas day, might well remember the carol writer's plea—

"From earthly tasks, lift up thine eyes,
Within a crib, in slumber lies,
A little child so young and fair!
'Tis Christ, the Lord, Who resteth there!"

In all the hurry and activity and excitement of December, the real meaning of Christmas may easily be lost for children as well as for adults. What is the most important thing which you want your child to associate with this greatest of days in all the year? Is it the discovery in the early morning what Santa has left in his stocking? Is it the fun of the family opening gifts in turn around the tree? Is it the merriment and jokes and games? Is it that wonderful dinner which mother cooks and that bird which father carves?

Yes, all these memories have their place in the pattern of Christmas day in our homes. But the reason for Christmas is that it is a Birthday, the Birthday of the Christ Child. As parents, let us never forget that this is its true significance—not Santa's journey, but the birth of the Babe of Bethlehem.

We need have no quarrel with Santa. . . he has his own special place firmly entrenched in our hearts. Who does not enjoy reading aloud "The Night Before Christmas" to an eager, wide-eyed child? Parents will do well to stick to Clement Moore's description of Santa in his poem "A right jolly old elf". Do not attempt to make an ordinary flesh-and-blood mortal out of St. Nick.

When boys and girls come to school age, they will be interested in the history of St. Nicholas, the Bishop of Myra, who lived in the fourth century. He was the first of the large Santa Claus clan. His parents had left him a fortune and he delighted in giving gifts to needy folk. But he did not want to be thanked. Often he left gold pieces for families in desperate distress. At last, the source of these generous presents was discovered. From that day to this, in parts of Europe, when people receive gifts from unknown donors, they say "Saint Nicholas must have been here."

Like many another person in a well loved story, Santa Claus has become an international figure. He is still St. Nicholas in Holland, but in France he is Pere Noel. While in some other lands he is called Kris Kringle. The Dutch children leave their wooden shoes in a neat row on Christmas Eve in the chimney corner. All over the world which celebrates Christmas, other little folk hang up their stockings. A shoe may be roomy, but after all it will not stretch like a stocking.

In our enthusiasm for the tale of Santa and his reindeer, let us not let it crowd out the immortal story of the First Christmas Day. Let us read aloud from the Bible, the account of the shepherds and the angels' song and the visit of the wise men. Let us try to see the picture of Mary bending over the manger cradle of her little son, the baby Jesus. In singing carols, in looking at picture books, in a place of honor for a creche in the home, in many ways, let us do our best to make real to our child the scene in the stable at Bethlehem. Then he will not need to ask the reason for Christmas, for he will know in his own heart its true meaning.

Welland Drydock Starts Busiest Season

PORT WELLER, Dec. 23 (CP) —The biggest drydock on the Great Lakes is preparing for the busiest winter since it was built four years ago.

More than 600 men will be employed in repair and overhaul of ships wintering at Port Weller on Welland Canals. They also will work on completion of Canada's largest freighter, the Scott Misener.

Twenty freighters are moored at the dock, at Lock 1 on the canal, and about 70 vessels are in for repairs.

The 654-foot Scott Misener, a 20,000-ton ore carrier being built for Colonial Steamship Lines, will be floated about the first week in January.

One of the major jobs scheduled for the winter is the lengthening of the Valley Camp, a collier owned by the Valley Camp Coal Company. It will be cut in halves and a 52-foot section built in the middle to increase its capacity.

Light Of Christ Resists Evil—Minister

TORONTO, Dec. 23 — (CP) — Rt. Rev. C. M. Nicholson, moderator of the United Church of Canada, said Friday "no evil power can defeat or obscure the divine plan."

"Christ came on the first Christmas, as 'the light of the world'," Dr. Nicholson said in a Christmas message. "In the intervening years, though hate and cruelty abounded, His light has shined on and led men in ways of compassion and love.

"It belongs to the Christian faith in this present hour to be persuaded that in the darkness of the times, the Light of Christ will shine on; and no evil power can defeat or obscure the divine plan. In this faith we fortify ourselves."

Juveniles' Party

WOODSTOCK, Ont., Dec. 23—(CP)—A unique Christmas party was held by the Woodstock city police association when they entertained some 30 juvenile offenders Friday. The juveniles were presented with gifts. Chief Constable James Ennis said the party was tried as an experiment last year and proved so successful that they decided to carry it on. "Very few of the juveniles entertained last year proved to be repeaters," said Chief Ennis.

PM Sends Greetings

OTTAWA, Dec. 23 — (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent Friday sent Christmas greetings to all Canadian armed forces serving outside of Canada. The telegrams went to Canadian destroyers in the Pacific, the Canadian army special force in Korea and Fort Lewis, Wash., and RCAF 426 Squadron in Tacoma, Wash., and Tokyo.

Play For Pay Highlights 50 Years Sport

By JACK SULLIVAN.

TORONTO, Dec. 23 (CP). — The almighty dollar won a spot right up there with all-time athletic greats when sports editors and sportscasters voted on outstanding developments of the half century just ending.

The voters in a Canadian Press poll decided overwhelmingly that the dollar's influence was the most significant sports trend of the last 50 years.

They said it in different ways —from "dough" to commercialization of amateur sport"—but almost half of those polled agreed that the trend from play-for-fun to play-for-pay highlighted the period.

The growth of football, introduction of the forward pass in 1931 and the Americanization of the game drew a large group of votes.

Hockey Supporters

Hockey's development also had its supporters. Scattered votes came through for the introduction of outdoor lighting, broadcasting of sports, introduction of artificial ice, and improved sports facilities generally. One voter detected a trend from team to individual-participation sports.

George Mackintosh of the Edmonton Journal answered the question "what was the most significant sports trend of the half century" with the single word "dough." Also answering in one word—"professionalism" — were Gerald Renaud, Ottawa Le Droit, Dave Price, CJBC, Toronto and Jim Panton, CKOV, Kelowna, B. C.

Andy Lytle of the Vancouver Sun used a succinct "$$$ and more of them."

Others mentioned "gradual commercialization," "more and more commercialization," and "complete commercialization."

Fergusons Ideas

Elmer Ferguson of the Montreal Herald was one of those who voted for pro hockeys progress. He thought the most significant trend was: "The development of pro hockey in the matter of scouting, farms, increased salaries and long schedules, together with installation of a pension system and the open payment of 'amateur' players."

Seconding him were Alex Nickerson, Halifax Chronicle-Herald, and Craig Swayze, Brockville Recorder and Times.

Jim Vipond, Toronto Globe and Mail, thought the introduction of artificial ice was most significant. The Patrick brothers, Frank and Lester, started it in Victoria in 1915 and its use spread across Canada quickly.

Baz O'Meara, Montreal Star, Vern DeGeer, Montreal Gazette, and Frank Redican, Chatham Daily News, plumped for the forward pass, while Americanization of football drew votes from veteran football coach Mike Rodden of the Kingston Whig-Standard, and Nelson Whitmore, St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Milt Dunnell, Toronto Star, and Chick Appel, Stratford Beacon-Herald, voted for night sports outdoors under lights.

New Trade Deputy

OTTAWA, Dec. 23 — (CP) — Mitchell W Sharp, one of Finance Minister Abbott's key economic advisers, Friday was transferred to the Trade Department and appointed an assistant deputy minister. Trade Minister Howe, announcing the appointment of the 40-year-old, Winnipeg - born economist, said Mr. Sharp's experience "will be of the utmost value in dealing with present-day problems."

Port Arthur Mayor

PORT ARTHUR, Dec. 23—(CP) —Mayor F. O. Robinson of Port Arthur was re-elected by acclamation for a third term Friday night. None of four others nominated, including former Mayor Charles Cox, filed qualification papers.

Canada Ready To Celebrate White Christmas Over Land

By The Canadian Press

Barrington, King, St. Catherine, Yonge, Sparks, Portage, Scarth, Jasper, Granville, Government. These downtown streets and avenues in cities from Halifax to Victoria, some thousands of miles apart, appeared pretty much alike today.

Most were decorated appropriately to the Yuletide season. All were hopelessly congested with wild-eyed Christmas shoppers on their last shopping day.

Also crammed to capacity were buses, trains and planes leaving terminals with cargoes of "home for Christmas" passengers in what travel officials predict may be the biggest peacetime holiday movement in Canada's history. The long weekend and a feeling that this could be the last Christmas for "easy" travel apparently inspired the large-scale movement.

Parties Saturday

With Christmas eve falling on Sunday, most night clubs in larger cities are making their bid tonight for the Christmas trade. Licensed establishments in Montreal, however, will sell beer and wines Dec. 24 and 25 until evening.

The festival of Christ's Nativity will be celebrated in churches across the country during the weekend. In Quebec City alone about 200 midnight masses will be sung in Romn Catholic churches, chapels and public places in the first hours of Christmas morning.

Most Canadian cities should have a white Christmas this year, but Vancouver and Toronto apparently are going to be exceptions.

Vancouver, which surprised everyone last year by having two feet of snow, has rain coming up for Christmas Day, and the snow lack already has forced cancellation of holiday-scheduled ski meets. However it hasn't disturbed the holiday spirit of the fishing fleet, which came into Vancouver harbor with Christmas trees perched gaily on ships' masts.

Rain also is in prospects for Toronto, which thus far has had only scattered wisps of snow.

Chinook Winds

Albertans had six inches of snow on the ground in most places but Chinook winds, if they continue, could change the picture. For the last couple of days Alberta has been basking in 40- to 50-above temperatures.

On the Atlantic coast, Haligonians got a promise from the weather man of a white Christmas. Most of New Brunswick also is expceted to be white.

Colder weather and more snow are in prospect for Quebec, and skiing in the Laurentians is expected to be a popular Christmas holiday pursuit.

Ontario White

Toronto notwithstanding most of Ontario will be white. Ottawa has had four inches of snow this week and flurries are predicted for Christmas Day.

Christmas will be black for a six-man army signal detachment at the Arctic outpost of Aklavik—but only because the sun disappeared two weeks ago. It won't be back until January.

But despite the 24-hour twilight, preparations are going ahead for a merry Christmas. Each family has been issued with a turkey and the single men will eat together. Three children of the Canadian Army signalmen, just old enough to understand the meaning of Christmas, are excited. Buildings are gaily decorated.

Indian and Eskimo families already have crowded into Aklavik for church services and the festive entertainment.

U.S. Living Costs Up

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23—(AP) —The cost of living in the United States rose another 0.5 per cent. to an all-time high between Oct. 15 and Nov. 15, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported Friday. The cost-of-living index reached 175.6 per cent of the 1935-39 average on Nov. 15. That was 3.2 per cent. higher than the index of last June, prior to the Korean fighting, and 4.2 per cent above a year ago.

Millbrook Arena Near Completion

MILLBROOK, Dec. 23 (ENS)—The memorial arena in Millbrook, being built in memory of all those from Cavan township who served in World War Two, is nearing completion. The official opening is planned for early in January.

There is still work to be done on the wiring, on dressing-rooms, and on seating.

At the meeting of the arena board held Wednesday night in the town hall, with Weldon Coulter the chairman, presiding, it was decided the committee would operate the cafeteria. They have secured the services of Mrs. Hugh Blair as attendant. Lloyd Hooton, a director of a fire insurance company, and its representative in Cavan, presented a cheque for $100 on behalf of the company.

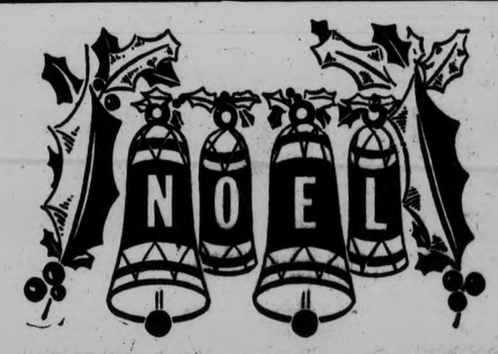

An offer has been received from a monument company in Peterborough to donate a memorial plaque.

Famous Paintings At University

TORONTO, Dec. 23—(CP)—A collection of famous paintings, some of which have been in the unusual position of hanging from the walls of a Georgian Bay log cabin, will be given a public exhibition in London, Ont., next spring.

The collection, which includes a 16th century Florentine Madonna and other old masters, belong to B. M. Greene, a Toronto publisher, and his wife, the former Margaret Lawrence, an author and reviewer.

Some of the rare paintings were hung in the unusual setting when the Greenes took them to their cottage for the summer.

The exhibition in London will be in connection with the inauguration of the Fine Art Department at Univerity of Western Ontario.

The Greenes, whose collection has one of the few portraits of Michelangelo in the new world, intend to give the paintings eventually to a Canadian institution, as yet unchosen.

Christmas Party Presented At Millbrook

MILLBROOK, Dec. 23 (ENS)—The annual Christmas concert and tree of Millbrook public school was held in the school Thursday afternoon.

The program opened with "Girls' Song at Bedtime," when little girls of the primary room sang their dolls to sleep. Those taking part were: Karen Powell, Patsy Hobbs, Judy Reid, Jane Ouellette, Sharon Ball, Gayle Sanders, Paula Husser, Mae Fickling, Gayle Olan and Judy Gilbert.

Boys of the primary room gave the "March of the Wooden Soldiers," a drill and song. Barry Wood was the toyshop owner, and the soldiers were: David McKnight, George Sheppard, Roddy McDowell, Donald Reid, Barton Medd, Bernard Ingham, Billy Blond, Peggy Sloan, Bobby Coulter, Jimmie Crough and Melbourne Hawkins.

Grade II put on the play "Why Santa Did Not Come." Those taking part were: Sharon Ann Bremner, Sharon Ball, Pamela Husser, Jane Ouellette, Yvonne Scott, Judy Reid, May Fickling, Roger Armstrong, Teddy Nattress, Alan Fowler, David Challice, Larry Gibbs and Bradford Medd.

Miss Jean Burnham's room, the intermediate one, put on the next section of the program. It opened with choruses by the whole class. Recitations were given by Elizabeth Ann McKnight, Elaine Crowley and Gloria Raper, and piano solos by Verdyn Perkin and Helen Ingham. Eight girls of the Brownies pack put on a square dance. They were: Dorothy Dawson, Helen Wright, Nancy Innis, Nancy Powell, Elain Crowley, Lenore Ouellette, Elizabeth Ann McKnight and Doreen Chapman.

The play "Santa's New Nose" was put on by Judy Hobbs, Verdyn Perkin, Helen Ingham, Elaine Crowley, Douglas Sheppard, John Stinson, Glenn Forsyth, Wayne Raper, Donald Earle and Bobby Bredin.

Mr. Percy Hamilton, the principal, acted as chairman. His room put on the final part of the program. It opened with a chorus of the whole room, followed by a vocal solo by Arlyne MacPherson.

Christmas drill was put on by: Janet Hobbs, Loreen Guthrie, Ada Olan, Barbara Ann Thompson, Glenna Sloan, Irene Olan, Carol Hawkins, Dorothea Chapman, Marilyn Sanders, Elsie Fickling, Doreen Chapman and Joan Gilbert.

The senior play, "The Cowboys' Christmas," had the following cast: cowboys, Ross Thompson, Gary Snelgrove, Alice Hawkins, Marion Kennedy, Ted Armstrong; Irish cook, June Blair; her daily helper, David Stinson; school teacher, Dorothy Ball; pupils, Laureen Guthrie and Joan Gilbert; the mother of the cowboys, Marilyn Husser; singing cowboys who accompanied themselves on guitars, Peter White and Ray Lowery.

There was an exchange of gifts from the Christmas tree, and each teacher gave his or her pupils bags of candy and nuts.

Five Are Nominated For Reeve Of Emily

OMEMEE Dec. 23—(ENS)—At the Emily township nominations Friday the present council was re-nominated for 1951—reeve, Vincent Fee, and councillors Elmer Mahood, Peter Perdue, W. E. Faulkner and George Magee.

In addition there were nominated, for reeve, Paul McGuire, Harry Endicott, W. E. Faulkner, and Geo. Magee; and for councillors, Edward Lowes, Arthur McQuade and Thomas Morrissey.

Mr. Fee outlined the year's work, including road building and repair, school rates, grants for libraries, road machinery and warble-fly treatment.

In presenting the problems of keeping roads open in winter, he called attention to the splendid co-operation of Road Superintendent Walter Herlihey and driver Don Griffin. He also told of the new building by-law.

Councillor Magee called attention to the fact that taxes were not as high according to the price of cattle as they were some years ago. "We are only giving people what they asked for," he said, "roads to travel on in comfort winter and summer."

Mr. Perdue welcomed any suggestions from taxpayers inviting them to make the same known to the council any time.

Other speakers were, W. E. Faulkner, E. Mahood, H. Endicott, Thomas Morrissey and Arthur McQuade.

Fierce Battle Raging In S. Korea

Chinese Soldiers Lashing Across 38th Parallel

TOKYO, Dec. 26—(AP)—South Korea and Chinese Communist troops tonight tangled in a fierce battle just south of the 38th Parallel and 28 air miles northeast of Seoul, the endangered South Korean capital.

Seoul itself was being rapidly emptied by citizens fleeing the gathering storm of combat.

The clash between Reds and Republic of Korea troops was fought in the Korangpo area, 10 miles east of Kaesong, transportation centre on the route from Pyongyang to Seoul.

Republic of Korea Force Headquarters described the action as "fierce." It also announced that Red patrols were sparring with United Nations forces all along the ROK-held section of the front lines.

Patrol Activity

The US Eighth Army, guarding the western end of the UN defence positions, also reported Communist patrols edging south of the parallel. The Communists were attempting to determine UN positions.

Tense UN forces continued to await a full scale attack by the enemy forces.

While Allied defenders regrouped for battle, new threats came from Red China's high command for all foreign troops to get out of the country entirely.

The Allied force, after abandoning its last stronghold in North Korea, had a new Commander on the job.

Lt.-Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway arrived by plane Monday afternoon from Washington via Tokyo. He succeeds Lt.-Gen. Walton H. Walker, killed Saturday in a jeep accident.

Ridgway took over command as the Eighth Army, in new positions along the border to South Korea, was awaiting an imminent Communist offensive.

Chinese and Korean Reds,-supplies and artillery were massed all along the front. Their patrols jabbed at numerous points along a 120-mile front stretching three-fourths of the way across Korea, awaiting only the signal to strike in force.

TORONTO, Dec. 26—(CP)—Santa Claus came one day early to Mr. and Mrs. William Waters of Richmond Hill, just north of Toronto. Triplets—two boys and a girl—were born to Mrs. Waters in St. Michael's Hospital here Christmas eve morning. Mother and babies were reported doing well.

40 Fatalities Across Canada Over Holiday

By The Canadian Press

The Christmas holiday weekend, a time of joy for most, brought tragedy to the families of at least 40 persons who died violent deaths in accidents across Canada.

More than 800,000 Canadians are estimated to have spent part of the holiday travelling, and two-thirds of the weekend's fatalities occurred in this movement.

The 26 traffic deaths are eight more than the 1949 traffic toll, but the national total last year was 45 violent deaths.

Ontario, whose highways were whipped by gusty snowstorms, contributed most of the traffic deaths and suffered by far the most loss of life of any of the provinces, a compilation by the Canadian Press showed.

Ontario Worst

Provinces with fatalities reported:

Ontario 27 (18 traffic); British Columbia five; Nova Scotia three; Manitoba two; Alberta one; New Brunswick one and Quebec one.

The 1950 Christmas may long be remembered as a time when families "were all home together." Transportation officials said it was one of the biggest holiday movements in Canada's history, and attributed it to the tense international situation and a feeling this could be the last Christmas for "easy travel" for some time.

A fall while attending a Christmas party proved fatal to Mervin Hilton, 71-year-old printer of Dartmouth, N.S. The Maritimes other fatalities, all in traf-

16 Survivors Of Crash Head Home

Pilots Give Lives To Save Passengers In B.C.

PENTICTON, B.C., Dec. 26—(CP)—A shorn airplane fuselage perched on a desolate mountainside today—a memorial to two fliers who died in saving 16 lives.

Meanwhile the 15 passengers who were aboard the Canadian Pacific Airlines plane when it crashed high on Mount Okanagan Friday reached their Christmas-holiday destinations after what some called a "miracle" escape.

For this "miracle" they thanked the pilot, Capt. Quinton Moore of Vancouver, and the co-pilot, First Officer Leo Doucette, both of whom are dead.

The other person aboard the plane was stewardess Lana Franco of Sundown, Man., who lived because she was in the rear of the plane when it belly-flopped in a dime-sized clearing more than 4,000 feet above sea level.

Doucette, although badly hurt lived until Saturday night. He died about 33 hours after the crash as the RCAF waited for the weather to clear to send a helicopter to his aid.

Both pilots died in the shattered front section of the silver DC-3. The fuselage was left virtually intact—a refuge from biting mountain winds — although one wing and the tail were shattered.

The deftly-guided aircraft, only minutes away from Penticton, mowed the tops of surrounding pine trees as it plopped down in the deep mountain snow.

A survivor of the crash said the DC-3 left Vancouver twice returning both times, before making the ill-fated flight toward Calgary.

Miss Iris McLelland of Penticton said when the plane returned the second time passengers were asked whether they wished a refund on their tickets. Only two or three did, she added.

(CPA officials in Vancouver confirmed her statement about the plane's return, but had no further comment. The plane left about three hours behind schedule.)

While she did not know the cause of the crash, Miss McLelland said she heard mention of "icing on the wings" shortly before the plane went down.

Send Greetings

OTTAWA, Dec. 26—(CP)—Viscount Alexander, the Governor - General, sent Christmas greetings to the King and Queen on behalf of the people of Canada. Text of the message, released today from Government House: "With my humble duty, on behalf of the people of Canada, I send to your Majesty and to Her Majesty the Queen our most respectful and loyal greetings and sincere good wishes for Christmas and the New Year."

Most Of Canada Shivers As Mercury Dips

By The Canadian Press

Jack Frost, nearly as nimble as Santa Claus at covering the country, gave the cold shoulder to a lafge part of Canada today.

On the prairies, temperatures moderated after skidding to an official 27 below zero at Winnipeg during the night. Ontario, Quebec and the Maritimes shivered in some of their coldest weather of the winter.

In British Columbia, temperatures stayed above freezing, except in northern sections, but fog made it clammy. During the morning, however, the sun was expected to break through the fog that formed over the Lower Fraser Valley and through Vancouver Monday night.

Forecasts generally were "continuing cold," although temperatures may not dip as far below zero on the prairies as was previously forecast.

Ottawa shared Ontario's ice-box honors with northern points Thermometers dipped to an official 21 below in the capital overnight and weren't expected to climb much over seven above zero today. Other overnight lows: North Bay 25 below; Port Arthur 23 below; Kapuskasing 21 below; Sault Ste. Marie 15 below.

Priceless Loot Taken From Abbey

Road Blocks Divide England, Scotland As Police Search

LONDON, Dec. 26—(AP)—Border road blocks divided England and Scotland today as Scotland Yard and police pressed a wide search for Britain's priceless Stone of Scone—stolen from Westminster Abbey Christmas Day.

Working on the theory that extreme Scottish Nationalists were behind the theft of the flat, rectangular stone on which British and Scottish Kings have been crowned since the days of the Celts, police in England's northern counties searched automobiles heading north.

The historic royal symbol was carted out of the musty old Abbey in the darkness of early morning. The thieves broke a large splinter off one leg of the ancient wooden Coronation throne—itself a priceless national possession—when they dragged the 336-pound slab from its shelf beneath.

Police surmized that the thieves attended a Christmas Eve service in the Abbey, concealed themselves in a side chapel, then removed the stone. Detectives and police were without a clue.

Stone May Be Buried

Some authorities expressed belief the thieves buried the stone with the intention of waiting until the hue and cry died down.

Searchers were asked particularly to be on the lookout for a small British car containing a man and a woman said to speak with Scottish accents.

Police noted that the initials J. F. S. had been scratched in the gilding along the front of the throne. There was speculation this might have been done by the thieves.

Although there are other initials and names carved on the throne, Abbey officials said as far as they knew all the other carvings were at least 150 years old.

Adjourn Hearing On Windsor Ballot Recount

WINDSOR, Dec. 26 (CP)—Recount proceedings of the votes cast in Windsor's mayoralty election began today but the hearing adjourned, following less than an hour's discussion, until Thursday without counting any ballots.

Bruce J. S. MacDonald, counsel for mayor-elect Tom Brophey, asked Judge Joseph A. Legris for an outright postponement or to delay the opening until the outcome of a motion for complete prohibition of the recount. Leave to present such a motion was granted Mr. MacDonald on Saturday. It will be heard in Toronto Wednesday at a session of the Ontario Supreme Court.

The judge declined to grant postponement, explaining that today's date was fixed at the specific request of Mr. MacDonald and his client. He did however, grant adjournment until Thursday, pending the result of Wednesday's presentation in Toronto.

"Had I known or had any suspicion there would have been a move made to block the recount, I would not have set the date for today," the judge declared.

The recount was asked by Mayor Arthur J. Reaume, who lost the election by 38 votes.

676 Fatalities Mar US Holiday

CHICAGO, Dec. 26 (AP)—The United States today counted a staggering death toll of 676 from violent accidents over the three-day Christmas holiday.

Traffic fatalities soared to more than 500, highest since the record of 555 in 1936. Mishaps on the highways—many ice-coated and others made slippery by freshly-falling snow—killed 523 persons. That was more than 100 above the 1949 Christmas holiday toll.

Accidents from miscellaneous causes—fires, drownings, falls, etc.—took an additional 149 lives. The grim total, one of the largest for any three-day holiday period, covered the 78 hours from 6 p.m. Friday to last midnight. Last year's total for the Christmas holiday was 580.

The traffic toll was far above the National Safety Council's estimate of 440, the highest ever predicted for Christmas.

Suggest Maginot Line Used As A-Bomb Shelter

PARIS, Dec. 26—(Reuters)—The Maginot Line, France's "impregnable" defence network which stretched from the Belgian frontier to the Swiss Alps, may never again be used—except perhaps as an atom-bomb shelter. There are two schools of thought about the potential usefulness of the 250-mile multi-billion-franc line in any future war.

Vincent Rotinat, chairman of the National Defence Committee of the French Senate, said it would be "unpardonable" to neglect the line. But a French War Office spokesman, representative of the other point of view, said he doubts whether it will ever again be occupied.

Rotinat, who headed a group of Senators on a recent visit to the Maginot Line, said afterwards that 95 per cent. of the installations are intact.

Only Value

The line's greatest potential value, he said, is against atomic attack. It has a network of passages 80 feet underground reinforced by 10 to 15 feet of concrete.

The French War Office does not share Rotinat's view.

"The Germans dismantled all the guns in 1943 and no reconstruction has since taken place," a spokesman said. "Some parts of the line, but nothing like 90 per cent of it, are intact.

"With changing methods of warfare, it is doubtful whether the concrete defences would stand up to armor-piercing shells of blockbuster bombing. We do not know enough about radio-activity to say whether it would give adequate protection."

Seize 123 Cars From Drivers

TORONTO, Dec. 26 (CP) — Gunmen and thieves were active over the holiday weekend, police reported today.

The theft of 200 dresses and a quantity of silk stockings—valued at several thousand dollars—was discovered today when a constable found the door to a ladies' apparel shop forced. A gunman held up a radio store on west-central Dundas Street Saturday night and escaped with about $100.

Toronto also rolled up a record of 225 arrests for drunkenness, 50 more than the previous high, police said. Cars were temporarily confiscated from 123 drinking motorists and 42 drivers were charged with careless driving, two with drunken driving. Ninety traffic accidents injured 43 persons and killed one.

Recruiting Staff

PARIS, Dec. 26 — (AP)—Recruiting of personnel already started for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's international army headquarters, although it still has no home. It was learned today that secretaries were being hired.

First Ont. Psychiatric Clinic Established At St. Catharines

ST. CATHARINES, Dec. 26 (CP)—The provincial government has authorized the St. Catharines General Hospital to proceed with plans to establish a complete psychiatric clinic, including a 21-bed in-patient department, and has made a grant of $150,000 for that purpose, it was announced today.

Establishment of the new clinic, which will be the first of its kind in Ontario, was announced jointly by A. A. Schmon, vice-chairman of the hospital board of governors and Labor Minister Daley, who is the member for Lincoln in the Ontario legislature.

The new clinic will mean a big expansion of the present clinic which serves the Niagara district but only on an out-patient basis. Dr. H. D. Mitchell, provincial psychiatrist here, will continue to supervise the clinic. It is expected the in-patient department will not start to function until the new hospital wing is completed, probably in a year's time.

Mr. Daley said it marked "a great step forward in our thinking about mental health, treating cases locally in our general hospitals and achieving great preventive work."

The clinic will be a "pilot plant for Ontario, and will be watched closely by mental health authorities who feel that much rehabilitation work can be accomplished without sending patients to mental institutions, as at present.

Gaye Stewart Fractures Hand

DETROIT, Dec. 26 (AP)—X-rays disclosed today that left winger Gaye Stewart of Detroit Red Wings suffered a fractured bone in his right hand in the National League Hockey game here Monday night against New York Rangers.

Stewart was injured in the third period of the National Hockey League Game which Detroit won 4-1.

A Redwing spokesman said that if swelling in Stewart's hand can be reduced and a protective cast applied he might be able to play this weekend against the league-leading Toronto Maple Leafs.

Otherwise, the spokesman added, he may miss several games.

Believe 2 Men Killed In Flying Accident

KENORA, Dec. 26—(CP)—Police reported today two men were believed killed in a weekend flying accident in northwestern Ontario near the Manitoba boundary.

Peter Vernon Mills, 34, former instructor at the Portage La Prairie, Man., flying club, and a sick Indian passenger were reported killed when an Ontario Central Airways Norseman was forced down Saturday on Kirkness Lake, about 140 miles north of Kenora.

Ontario provincial police said a search party which spotted the wreckage late Monday reported "no life apparent."

Ruest Will Appeal His Death Sentence

QUEBEC, Dec. 26 (CP)—Conviction and death sentence of Genereux Ruest in connection with a September, 1949, airline time-bombing that cost 23 lives will be appealed, Irenee Simard, Ruest's lawyer announced today.

Simard, who conducted the defence of the crippled 54-year-old watchmaker sentenced Dec. 13 to be hanged March 16, said he will lodge the appeal Wednesday.

It is unlikely that Quebec Court of Appeals will be able to take up the case until March and a postponement of Ruest's death sentence is expected.

Appeal of the Ruest case may also bring a postponement of the execution scheduled Jan. 12 of J. Albert Guay, 32, convicted master-mind of the time-bomb plot that destroyed the Canadian Pacific Airlines plane Sept. 9, 1949.

Say Canadian Ships Used In Evacuation

NEW YORK, Dec. 26—(CP)—The Associated Press Monday night reported from Tokyo that Canadian ships took part in the evacuation of United Nations' forces from Hungnam.

(The report did not amplify the participation, nor did it identify the ships involved. A check through the AP's San Francisco bureau—receiving point for AP cables from Tokyo—failed to corroborate or amplify the announcement.

The Canadian flotilla in Korean waters—composed of the destroyers Cayuga, Sioux and Athabaskan—was last reported off the west coast of the Korean peninsula. Hungnam, the evacuation beachhead, is on the east coast.)

American, British and Norwegian ships were reported by the AP in the fleet that carted off five combat divisions, two corps headquarters, vehicles and supplies.

Visit From Santa

QUEBEC, Dec. 26 — (CP) — Santa Claus carried a payload into Rimouski and Cabano during the weekend. The children of all the families left destitute in the big fires which swept the two towns last summer got $40 each as a gift. A provincial government spokesman confirmed Santa's visit today and added the money was distributed to all family members under 16 years of age.

Child 2 Wounds Father With Gun

OTTAWA, Dec. 26—(CP)— A happy Christmas eve turned into near-tragedy when Maurice Leger, 1? of Ottawa, was shot through the abdomen by a bullet from a .22-calibre rifle in the hands of his 2½-year-old daughter, Judy.

The accident occurred while Mr. Leger was playing with his two daughters, Judy and 18-months-old Sheila, in a bedroom of their home. The elder girl picked up the rifle, which her father had recently loaded, and is went off. The bullet missed vital abdominal organs by inches.

Hospital authorities described his condition as serious but satisfactory.

Ill-Fated Allied Offensive Saved UN Forces: MacArthur

TOKYO, Dec. 26 (CP)—Gen. MacArthur, in a communique announcing successful redeployment of United Nations forces from the Hungnam beachhead to a "juncture" with the United States Eighth Army, said today that the Allied moves in North Korea had exposed "secret policital and military decisions of enormous scope."

The short-lived November offensive probably saved the UN forces from total destruction, he said.

MacArthur said Red China's "surreptitious" intervention had blocked the UN from its objective. But the November offensive by the UN forces and their subsequent retreat before the Chinese masses had had possibly the most significant and fortunate results of any action in the Korean campaign.

The UN withdrawal, before overpowering Chinese forces, had not been due to a failure of military intelligence.

MacArthur said his field intelligence was handicapped by "the severest limitations." He noted that Allied planes could not fly beyond the Korean-Manchurian border, and the enemy was able to move from the Manchurian "sanctuary" to the battle areas overnight.

"No intelligence service in the world could have surmounted such handicaps."

He declared the Chinese had been given every assurance, politically and military, that their border would not be violated by UN forces.

However, subsequent events "have disclosed that neither political nor military reassurances could have had the slightest influence upon the momentous decision underlying Red China's commitment of her forces to war."

The Allied tactics "threw off balance enemy military preparations aimed at surreptitiously massing the power capable of destroying our force with one mighty, extended blow."

"The Eighth Army and affiliated UN units met powerful enemy resistance along the entire line—resistance which unmasked the fiction of 'volunteer' participation and disclosed the massive deployment of the fourth Chinese field army, an important segment of the entire Chinese Communist military strength...."

Results Decide Ideology Choice

NEW DELHI, India, Dec. 26 — (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru said today the struggle between Communism and Democracy will be decided, not on the field of battle, but by proving to the people which ideology yields the best results.

Speaking before the Indian Chemical Manufacturer's Association, Nehru said that in the final analysis the people might discard both Communism and Democracy for some "intermediary or other methods."

He said the people must stop thinking in terms of slogans and approach the question realistically.

The prime minister said that in the United States "the free enterprise" nature of capitalism is changing and today one worker out of every five works for the government.

As for Russia, he said, the Soviet leaders are interpreting Marxism as they see fit and "I am quite certain Marx himself would be astonished if he saw the various interpretations of his doctrine."

Got Right Turkey But In Wrong Car

SHELBURNE, Dec. 26 — R. David Evans, Crown attorney from Orangeville, bought a turkey here, then went in a restaurant for a cup of coffee.

When he came out the turkey was missing from his car. Being a legal light he decided the less said the better, and bought another. Sunday morning, at his home in Orangeville, he was informed by another Orangeville resident that his turkey was no longer lost.

"I found it in the back of my car, which was parked behind yours," the friend informed him.

Aliens In U.S. Must Report Before Jan. 11

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26—(CP).—All aliens in the United States, except those legally here on a temporary basis, must report themselves to the government within 10 days after Jan 1.

They are required under the Internal Security Act of 1950, the anti-subversive law, to notify the commissioner of immigration and naturalization of their present addresses.

A Justice Department spokesman said Monday there are no exceptions, that Canadians in the U.S. are included under the provisions of the law.

Follow-Up Reports

Follow-up reports must be made each year within the same 10-day period after the beginning of the year.

Failure to comply, the immigration service has warned, will subject aliens to prosecution.

Forms for the reports, which must include alien registration numbers, can be obtained at any immigration and naturalization service office, or at any post office.

The Justice Department has issued previous reminders on the alien registration provision of the law.

Displaced persons in the U.S must file reports with the immigration service just as any other alien.

Riel Veteran 60 Years Wed

TORONTO, Dec. 26—A veteran of the Riel rebellion, Mr. L. N. Phelps, and his wife, the former Cora Bennett, of Montreal, Saturday celebrated 60 years of married life. Since their wedding day in Eastman, Quebec, the couple lived in Montreal, Edmonton, Saskatoon, Regina, Camrose, Winnipeg, London, Stratford and Cuba.

Mr. Phelps, who was born 87 years ago in Hastings, Ont., went west in 1885 with the Montreal Garrison Artillery, a detachment of the Northwest Field Force.

Before his retirement in 1928, Mr. Phelps was employed as a construction engineer which took him and his family to many parts of Canada, the United States and Cuba.

The couple live with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Phelps, and grandchildren Kenneth, Joan and Carole. A daughter, Mrs. James Johnston, and two other grandchildren, Laurie and Faye Maureen Johnston, live in Winnipeg.

Temperatures Dip

Overnight tempertaures dipped to three above at Toronto, eight at London and 11 at Windsor, Snowflurries were forecast for today and Wednesday, with a northeast wind keeping temperatures at 20 above or lower.

For Montreal and Quebec city, which both had overnight lows of 12 below zero, the weather bureau said the outlook was "sunny and very cold." Little change also was in sight for the rest of Quebec, where a cold Christmas Day was followed by another drop in temperatures to 10 and 12 below along the St. Lawrence river.

The Maritime provinces had a comparattively mild Christmas Day but then the mercury started skidding. Temperatures dropped from 30 to 35 degrees within 24 hours in most sections, chalking up such overnight lows in New Brunswick as two below at Moncton and zero at Saint John. Nova Scotia weather was somewhat milder, with overnight lows at Halifax 12 above and at Sydney 18 above. In Prince Edward Island, the official overnight low at Charlottetown was two above.

Ceylon Cancels Flour Buying

COLOMBO, Dec. 26—(AP)—The Ceylon Government has decided to stop buying flour from Canada, a Food Ministry official said Saturday.

The decision was due to Canada's action in freeing her dollar in the exchange market, and to heavy freight charges in shipping from the Dominion, the official said.

He added that negotiations are proceeding for the purchase of flour from the United States, which is ready to supply all of Ceylon's needs.

Wm. H. Elmhirst Buried At Westwood

The funeral of William Henry Elmhirst of Otonabee, who died at his home Saturday morning, took place this afternoon to Westwood Cemetery. He would have been 86 on Tuesday, Jan. 2.

A son of Phillip Elmhirst and his wife, Jane Bolton, Mr. Elmhirst had become an elder farmer of the north-eastern section of Otonabee. He had resided all his life on the homestead which had been established by his father. Mr. Elmhirst was well known as a breeder of Shorthorn cattle, and had been an exhibitor for many years at Peterborough and other fairs. He leaves his wife, the former Jane Lancaster, his son, Alfred at home and daughter, Mrs. Maxwell Humphries of Asphodel Township; and also by three brothers, John of Carberry, Man., Alfred of Victoria, B. C., and Frank Elmhirst of Otonabee; and by five grandchildren.

The funeral, this afternoon, was from the family residence, lot 22, concession 3, the Indian River Road, south from No. 7 Highway, to St. Michael's Anglican Church at Westwood, where the service was conducted by the Rev. R. E. Lemon.

Pallbearers were: William Thompson, James Thompson, Harold Elmhirst, William Elmhirst, Robert Hope and Kenneth Lancaster.

Mr. Elmhirst had been for many years a Warden of St. Michael's Church. His death followed a lengthy illness from infirmities of his advanced age.

Mr. Elmhirst was widely known throughout the county and city and elsewhere in the district, and had a wide circle of friends. He was a progressive farmer and breeder of livestock, particularly Shorthorn cattle, sheep and horses.

Professor Hart Masonic Speaker

Professor Nelson Hart, deputy grand master of the Grand Lodge of Canada in the Province of Ontario will be the speaker at the Festival of St. John the Evangelist of Peterborough's three masonic lodges on Wednesday night.

Professor Hart who is head of the department of biology of the University of Western Ontario was made a mason in Lorne Lodge, Omemee, in 1914, and was master of Tuscan Lodge, London, 1929. For several years he has been a member of the Board of General Purposes of Grand Lodge and in 1949 was elected deputy grand master. Professor Hart has always been greatly interested in athletics and is a past president of the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union. He was manager of the last Canadian Olympic team.

Prior to the banquet which is being held in the Empress Hotel the offiecrs of Corinthian and Peterborough Lodges will be installed at a ceremony which will commence at five o'clock in the Masonic Temple.

Two Passengers Cut By Flying Glass

Two passengers of a car were cut by flying glass when their car met in collision with a horse-drawn milk wagon Saturday afternoon at Monaghan Rd. and McKellar St.

Driver of the car, William Jones, R.R. 9, Peterborough, received a deep gash on the forehead and another cut on the left side of his head. A passenger in the car, Paul McIlmoyle, 33 Armour Rd., received a cut on his right hand.

Driver of the wagon, Meryle Dolan, 144 Hunter St., driving west on McKellar St., said he stopped at Monaghan Rd. As he was crossing the street, he met in collision with the car. The car apparently actually hit the horse, because the right shaft of the wagon was broken. There was no report that the horse was hurt.

Jones said the wagon came right out in front of him as he drove south on Monaghan Rd. He was unable to stop because of the icy surface of the road.

The left door of the car was pushed in, both left windows broken, the panel behind the door pushed in, and the front post broken. The car ended up in the west ditch south of McKellar St.

Traffic Officer Claire McGillen investigated.

Santa's Neighbors In North Enjoy Cold, Merry Christmas

OTTAWA, Dec. 26 — (CP) — Santa's neighbors in Canada's sprawling outposts of the north enjoyed a cold but merry Christmas.

That was the word received by the transport department in messages from men manning radio and weather stations in frigid Arctic and subarctic spots of old St. Nick's vast northland.

The messages came from such places as Cambridge Bay, some 1,000 miles from the North Pole, from Coppermine, Baker Lake, Chesterfield Inlet, Nottingham Island, and from the northern Quebec points of Cape Hope Advance, Port Harrison, Fort Chimo and the Great Whale river.

There was no message from Alert, only 800 miles from the Pole, but it was believed Christmas there was much the same as in other outposts.

Santa Claus visited the native and white children on his way south. On Christmas Day the natives and whites joined in religious services, games, carol singing, dancing and traditional turkey dinners.

The white population includes representatives of the Hudson's Bay Company, the RCMP and the staffs at the radio and weather stations.

Baker Lake, about 250 miles north of Churchill, Man., reported the turkey dinner served by the Hudson's Bay Company was doubly appreciated this year because of the shortage of caribou.

At Cambridge Bay the feature of the day was a dog race. Some of the best husky teams of the north were entered. A dance was planned for Dec. 26 with an Eskimo orchestra supplying the music.

Chesterfield Inlet, on the shores of Hudson Bay, reported that Eskimos travelled in from lonely fishing and trapping camps to spend the day with the natives and whites at the outpost.

The brief four hours of northern daylight were used to run off outdoor games. Then everyone moved inside for singing and dancing.

At Coppermine, about 800 miles north of Edmonton, the Eskimos began arriving Friday for the Christmas celebrations. There was midnight mass at the Roman Catholic mission and on Christmas day there was a service at the Anglican mission. Later movies were shown for the Eskimos.

Proposal To Merge Three Schools Fails

South Monaghan has turned down the suggestion that it merge three of its public schools into a central school. The suggestion was made Friday at a nomination meeting in the township hall by the local public school inspector.

He suggested that S.S. No. 2 and S.S. No. 3 be merged with S.S. No. 1 to form a central school. The discussion was lengthy one but Russell Cruse and Melville Heaslip moved that the schools carry on as at present. It passed unanimously.

Industrials Mixed In Very Quiet Trading

TORONTO, Dec. 26 — (CP)— Industrials were mixed in extremely quiet post-holiday trading as the session progressed on the Toronto stock exchange today.

Papers, utilities, liquors and refining oils showed a majority of gains in the groupings. Steels, manufacturing companies and agricultures tended lower and foods were mixed. Consolidated Paper featured papers with a $2 jump whel Aluminum, a strong gainer last week, dropped $1.25. National Steel Car was off $1 and other price changes were limited to fractions.

Base Metals advanced with gains ranging to $1.50. Consolidated Smelters was up to $1.50, and Waite Amulet, Quemont, Steep Rock, Falconbridge and East Sullivan were leading issues higher.

Senior golds climbed fractions with Bralorne, Hollinger and Kerr Addison ahead. Junior producers added pennies.

Western oils were irregular and quiet.

Sheep and lambs 700; one lot of ewe and wether lambs cleared at 34.00.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Dec. 26 (AP) — Grains opened mixed, but soybeans jumped 1½ to 4½ cents a bushel on the Board of Trade today.

Wheat showed a little weakness at the start in the nearby March delivery. Heavy snowstorms throughout the corn belt feeding zone served to strengthen the yellow cereal, despite a weekend accumulation of 572 cars.

At the start wheat was ⅜ cent lower to one cent higher, March $2.45⅞-¾; corn was ¼ to 1⅛ higher, May $1.72⅛-¼, and oats were ½ to 1¼ up, March 98¼. Soybeans were 1½-4½ cents higher, January $3.16¾-3.16.

Parked Car Damaged

A parked car was struck by another car travelling on the wrong side of the road in an accident shortly after midnight Sunday night. Considerable damage was done to both vehicles.

The parked car, owned by J. S. Gregg, 451 Albertus Ave., was on the south side facing east in front of 371 Wolsley St.

C. D. Thompson, 704 Park St., was driving west on Wolsley St. on the wrong side, police said. Although the parked car had the emergency brake on and was in second gear, it was driven over nine feet by the impact.

Constable Sherman Kelleie investigated.

Window Pictures Carol Singers

Among the Peterborough Christmas homes that display tastefully decorated exteriors, that of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Potts, of Benson Ave., at Geraldine St., has caused much comment.

The front windows of the house depict a cutout picture in colored cellophane of four Elizabethan carol singers, pasted to the glass of the storm windows and shaded and outlined with candle wax and black paper strips. The decoration covers a glass space of six by fifteen feet. Mr. Potts, who lived formerly in Brampton and Toronto, moved to Peterborough this year and brought his decorating talents with him. It is his third successful presentation of window picturing but first in this city.

The Potts' have two children, Karen, 5, and Eric, 2, who enjoy this decorating scheme. It is full compensation for the 25 hours of labor required to plan and put together, Mr Potts said. However, interest waned for Karen on Christmas Day when she was taken to her bed with an attack of measles.

Skiing Good Over Weekend

A number of ski enthusiasts braved a chilly Christmas Day to break in new skis, poles and clothing on Kemp's Hill and on Bethany slopes. Skiing on all hills in the Peterborough area was excellent.

Mrs. Mollie Craig, editor of the Peterborough Ski Club's Telemarker, said today that only a few enjoyed the excellent skiing conditions at Bethany. The largest of the two tows was in operation.

The club will have the lights on at Kemp's Hill tonight for the first floodlight skiing this season. The hill there is packed and skiing is described as "fast."

On Sunday a fairly large group attempted the sticky slope in the morning and early afternoon. A strong wind cooled the area and skiing became "very fast." A group about the size of the Kemp's Hill skiers zipped down the grades at Bethany.

About 39 skiers enjoyed fair skiing at Kemp's Saturday. There is about five to eight inches of fresh snow on a fair-to-poor base. A larger crowd was at Bethany where the skiing was excellent on the fresh snow, about five inches, on a good, firm base.

Eggs Drop 22 Cents InPre-ChristmasTrade

The decline of 22 cents a dozen in the retail price of grade A eggs during the last two weeks was one of the sharpest setbacks in the business in almost twelve months.

Grade A large were quoted at 77c a dozen on Dec. 11, as compared with 55c on Dec. 20. The trade was dormant today under the effect of the holiday season.

Other retail prices of Dec. 11th were: A medium 72c, A pullet eggs 63c and Grade B 56s. And on Dec. 20: Medium large 51c; A pullets 49c and Grade B 49c.

One of the factors probably upsetting the price schedule was the season emphasis on poultry, combined with some gain in production, and virtually no recent exports to the United States.

Orphanage Children Given Parties, Gifts

Several parties and donations of gifts helped to make Christmas 1950 a happy one for the children in St. Vincent's Orphanage and the Children's Home. There were 12 children in the orphanage over Christmas and six in the Children's Home.

In addition to gifts and visits from Santa Claus, these parties included Christmas dinners, a movie and a car ride.

Parties and gifts for the children were given by the Mothers' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion George St. United CGIT, Board of Directors of the Children's Aid Society, the Canadian Associated Travellers, Chamber of Commerce and Businessmen's Association, Kiwanis Club, YWCA, Dominion Woollens, Odeon Theatre, Optimists' Club and the CGE.

The 12 children in St. Vincent's Orphanage were all guests in private homes in the city for dinner on Christmas Day.

Fierce Battle

AP correspondent Stan Swinton reported that Ridgway had been given command of all troops in Korea. This includes the U.S. 10th Corps—105,000 strong.

In Old Beachhead

The 10th Corps' evacuation was completed Sunday from Hungnam, 130 miles deep in North Korea, and most of the troops already are in the old southeast Korea beachhead around Pusan and Pohang ports.

The Red military leader, Chu Teh, warned United Nations troops to get out of Korea, the United States to pull its military forces out of Formosa, and demanded a seat for Red China in the U.N.

The first Communist blow was expected to fall somewhere along the 38th Parallel in western or central Korea, where the Communist troops are massed in strength.

Chu, in a Peiping broadcast heard in Tokyo by Kyodo News Agency, did not say what Red China would do if the non-Communist powers supporting the republic of Korea refused to leave.

But the Chinese and Red Korean masses swarming all along the Parallel 38 border to South Korea made his language clear.

Expect Offensive

Gen. MacArthur said a Communist offensive is expected momentarily.

"Participation in the Korean war by Chinese peoples' volunteers results from the insolent extension of aggression by American imperialists," Chu said.

"The Chinese people have time and again expressed their desire for a settlement of the Korean war but the imperialists stubbornly rejected a peaceful settlement.

"We still hope now that the Korean war can swiftly achieve peace.

"We insist that all foreign troops must swiftly withdraw from Korea and that the domestic affairs of Korea must be by Koreans themselves.

"The Peoples (Communist) Republic of China must have their legitimate seat in the United Nations.

"U.S. aggressive forces must withdraw from Taiwan (Formosa).

Chaning Scene

Chu's remarks were made against a swiftly-changing Korean scene.

Once again Communists controlled all of North Korea, that half of the country north of 38. This was the dividing line set by the U.S. and Russia for occupation after the defeat of Japan in the Second World War.

Allied troops completed Sunday the evacuation of their last stronghold in North Korea—the port of Hungnam.

The U.N. navy evacuated 105,000 American, South Korean, British and Puerto Rican troops and nearly 100,000 non-Communist North Korean civilians.

The northeast Korea port was left devastated. An army engineer estimated it will take six to eight months for the Communists to make it usable again

Priceless Loot

Brought to the Abbey by Edward I in 1296 from the little Perthshire, Scotland, parish of Scone (pronounced Soon), the stone represented the 17-century union between the crowns of England and Scotland.

The work, in any event, served to dramatize the demands of Nationalist Scots for more self-rule —demands long aired in Scotland and in the Houses of Parliament.

Though expressing complete loyalty to the King, almost 2,000,000 Scots last year signed the Scottish covenant asking governing privileges similar to those held by Northern Ireland.

The Scots call the stone the "Stone of Destiny." It was brought to Scone by Scotland's first king, Kenneth I, in the ninth century. He got it from the Celts, who already had worn it smooth as a coronation seat.

Twenty-seven British Monarchs have been crowned on it, including the present ruler.

Miss Wendy Wood, 57-year-old leader of the Scottish Patriots' Association, was visited by police Monday night at her cottage at Salen, Argyllshire. She said she knew nothing of a plot but was pleased the stone had been taken.

"The stone was retrieved, not stolen," she told reporters. "If someone stole your watch and you got it back you wouldn't be stealing. You would be taking back what belonged to you."

"The stone of destiny may have been removed but it hasn't been stolen. If the English people can be convinced of that, the people who took it can come out into the open."

Dollar Rising

MONTREAL, Dec. 26 (CP) — The American dollar today opened at 5 25/32 per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, 1/32 higher than Friday's close. That is, it took $1.05 25/32 Canadian to buy $1 American. The pound sterling was $2.06⅛, unchanged.

Policeman Shot Lay Charge Against Youth

TORONTO, Dec. 26. (CP) — Charged with attempted murder in the shooting of a policeman, Rudolph Bobbie, 19-year-old bowling alley pinboy, today was remanded a week for mental examination. No bail was allowed.

Police said Bobbie went berserk Saturday night, shot down one constable who tried to question him and tried to shoot another before he was overpowered and disarmed in a schoolyard.

Constable Victor Hargan, 31, had his elbow shattered by a bullet from a .303 army rifle when the policeman, on a routine query, asked Bobbie what he was carrying in a long, paper-wrapped parcel.

Police said Bobbie, working the bolt of his second-hand-store-bought rifle, fired three shots from his hip and then aimed two more at the disappearing police squad car. One of the shots shattered the constable's elbow and other riddled the police car.

The youth, for whom a medical examination has been ordered, was captured by two other constables after a chase to a public school yard in south-central Toronto.

Grabs Gun

Constable Milton Berger, the arresting officer, said he closed in on the youth who kept the rifle levelled at police, and wrested the gun from him.

Police said Bobbie told them he was on his way to rob an east-end sporting-goods store of two revolvers when he was stopped. The constable inquired what he was carrying in a long-paper wrapped parcel.

"Oh, do you want to see it?" Bobbie asked.

Then, police said, he turned sideways, fumbled at the paper and without warning worked the bolt and fired three times from the hip at 12-foot range. Two shots shattered the side window, another went through the car door and struck Constable Hargan. His partner drove away to hospital and put in a general alarm on his car radio.

Three bystanders saw the shooting and also put in a call to police. Two constable pursued Bobbie and captured him in the Brant St. school yard.

South Monaghan Returns Council

The reeve and council of South Monaghan township have been returned by acclamation. H. R. Campbell is now entering his third term as reeve and the 1950 council is returned intact.

Following is the complete municipal slate for 1951: Reeve H. R. Campbell; Councillors Reg. Atchison, Ray Bothwell, Charles Barnard and Merton Thompson; trustees—S.S. No. 1, Kenneth Dawson, No. 2, Lorne Harris, No. 3, Robert Dawson, No. 4, Harry Larmer, and No. 5, George Dean.

The newly-appointed road superintendent is Clair Libby.

The meeting saw one of the largest number of ratepayers present in many years. It was held in the township hall.

12-Man Group Chosen Award Stalin Prizes

LONDON, Dec. 26—(AP)— The Moscow radio today announced appointment of a 12-man committee which will award the first international Stalin peace prizes.

Prime Minister Stalin's 70th birthday last year was the occasion for a special decree setting up prizes of 100,000 rubbles ($25,000 by Soviet evaluation) each to from five to 10 persons who in the Russian view contribute most to strengthening the peace of the world.

Chairman of the committee is Professor Dimitri Skobeltsky of the Moscow State University, a member of the USSR Academy of Sciences. Professor Kuo Mo-jo, chairman of the All-China Associations of Workers of Literature and Art, and the French Writer Louis Aragon are vice-chairmen.

Mayor Ayrhart Acclaimed At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 26—ENS)— Campbellford's mayor, reeve, public school trustees and public utilities commissioners were all returned by acclamation following the nomination meeting held in the Masonic Temple on Friday night. An election to decide the deputy-reeve and the council for 1951 will be held New Year's Day.

Mayor J. E. (Ernie) Ayrhart will again be at the helm of the towns' affairs during the coming year, as will Reeve Ralph J. Locke, and the public school trustees, consisting of W. C. Tatham, Sid Hopping, C. A. Newman and Forrest R. Dennis. Up until a few minutes prior to the closing of nominations, only three persons had been nominated for the position of trustee, and when Clerk J. F. McGregor reminded those present that four names were necessary, the name of Mr. Dennis went on the list, making an election unnecessary. Mr. Dennis and Mr. Tatham will be new on the board.

The two public utilities commissioners, Walter W. Wiggins and James O. Benor were returned.

Council Re-Nominated

The entire council of 1950 received nominations and one new name was added, that of P. H. Macmillan, who had served on council in previous years.

Former mayor of Campbellford, and defeated at the polls in the election last year, H. M. Donald is contesting the position of deputy-reeve. He will oppose the present deputy-reeve, Oscar Mason.

Two names appear on the ballot for the job of deputy-reeve. that of present deputy, Oscar Mason and former mayor of Campbellford H. M. Donald.

The ballots will read—For deputy-reeve, Oscar Mason, H. M. Donald; for council: Fred M. Rutherford, Wm. Nicholas, Douglas Maybee, W. A. Kingston, C J. Maier, George Free and Peter H. Macmillan.

Ayrhart Happy

The mayor said in an innterview Monday evening that he was quite happy about his acclamation for the coming year. "I'm glad the people realize I have their intests at heart," he said. "I don't believe the 1950 council could be improved upon in any way. It was responsible for removing the parking meters, construction of new sidewalks and repair of roads and a great many other improvements. Any council that can do all these things, and prove as this one did, that 1950 was the best year in the history of the town, deserves re-election," said the mayor.

J. E. AYRHART

Stole 42 Chickens

COBOURG, Dec. 26—(ENS)—Ralph Shetler, Lionel Vivian, Arnold Egan and Robert Mahoney, Maritimes residents, were allowed on suspended sentence for one year when they appeared before Magistrate R. B. Baxter on Saturday charged with theft of chickens. The four stole 42 chickens from Archer Johnston in Cavan township last October while working in that township on a construction job. The accused men had been drinking at the time of the offense. Restitution was made to the owner of the fowl. The arrest followed an investigation by Provincial Constable Lyle Erskine.

OLDEST RESIDENT of Peterborough County, Mrs. Margaret Ashby Jennings, who died on Saturday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ezra King in Belmont township. Mrs. Jennings only recently celebrated her 104th birthday.

County's Grand Old Lady Mrs. Margaret Jennings Dies

HAVELOCK, Dec. 26—(ENS)—Mrs. Margaret Ashby Jennings, 104, Belmont township's grand old lady, and Peterborough county's oldest resident, died Saturday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ezra King.

Mrs. Jennings celebrated her 104th birthday on October 29 and was enjoying good health until a few days ago. It was only on Monday of last week that she sang Christmas carols with the radio and recited two poems. Tuesday she was indisposed but was able on Thursday to have her tea with the family. On Friday night she lapsed into a coma from which she did not revive.

Mrs. Jennings was born in Lincoln, England, and was formerly Margaret Gibson, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs William Gibson, and came to Canada at the age of eight years the family settling in the township of Clarke near Port Hope. Her parents hewed their farm out of bushland, later moving to what is now Pontypool where they were again pioneer settlers. At the age of 20 years she married Charles Ashby and settled at Belmont Lake. Mr. Ashby died in 1917. Her second marriage was to Simon Jennings who died 23 years ago.

Surviving besides her daughter, Mrs King, are: a son, Thomas Ashby, of Peterborough; eight grandchildren, Mrs. Edward Henderson, Mrs. Wilbert Barton of Havelock, Mrs. Randal Anderson, Mrs Edward Barker, Mrs Ray Forbes, Mrs. Eric Ellis, of Belmont township, Mrs. George Boyd of West Hill, and Clyde Ashby, of Peterborough. There are also 12 great-grandchildren. A son, Wilbert Ashby, died in 1947.

The funeral service was held this afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. King, and was conducted by the Rev. F. R. Vanderburgh, of Havelock United Church. Burial was in the Pontypool cemetery. The pallbearers were: Clyde Ashby of Peterborough (grandson), Randal Anderson, Eric Ellis, Ray Forbes, of Belmont township, Edward Henderson of Havelock, and George Boyd, of West Hill (grandsons-in-law).

Santa Claus Didn't Forget Princess Pats In Korea

By BILL BOSS

PUSAN, Korea, Dec. 26 (CP)—Santa Claus found Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, even in Korea.

After a carol session around the 2nd Battalion's Christmas tree Monday night, the men had an enormous turkey dinner with all the trimmings. Then they returned to their tents to find presents distributed by courtesy of women's auxiliary in Vancouver and Victoria.

Fountain pens, pipes, lighters, dart boards, cribbage boards and playing cards awaited the men who landed in South Korea earlier this month to bolster the United Nations forces in the embattled peninsular.

Lt.-Col. J. R. Stone of Salmon Arm, B.C., commander of the unit, urged the men to write individual thank-you notes to thank the auxiliaries for their remembrances.

Col. Stone, in his own Christmas message, said: "This is a peculiar way to be spending Christmas—in the filth and poverty of Korea.

A Different Christmas

"It always has meant for us a gathering of the family. Unfortunately, because the real spirit of Christmas isn't in the world, we have had to come to war. The spirit of law, of peace on earth and goodwil toward men isn't here. We have had to leave our homes to fight for what we believe is the right."

The 42-year-old commander of the Canadians said he had spent Christmas only three times since 1938 with his family.

"I am away from my family. But I am with another, the 2nd Battalion, the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, and I hope you'll feel that way about it too."

Capt. James Vallely, Roman Catholic padre, said during the carol sing-song: "Let's remember that we at least are celebrating Christmas while behind the Iron Curtain there are millions who are not—not because they don't want to but because they can't."

A Canadian soldier and a Swedish nursing sister were married Christmas Eve as the Canadian contingent's yuletide celebrations got under way.

The groom was Pte. Roy Lapointe of Ottawa and the bride was Lieut. Gulli Gunnarson of Gothenburg, Sweden, a nursing sister of the Starr Swedish Red Cross Hospital in Pusan.

First Marriage

It was the first marriage of a Canadian in the battalion which has come here to serve with UN forces, after undergoing final combat training.

The Christmas tree which brightened the dreary surroundings of the Canadians' tent camp was decorated by Lieut. Harold Hayes of Vancouver, Corporals George Voth of Edmonton and John Paille of Winnipeg and Pte. Dick Robinson of Toronto.

It was a Christmas far from home but the men's thoughts bridged the miles,

As Cpl. Kerry Dunphy of Carleton Place, Ont., put it: "This makes me feel so damn sentimental."

Marmora Ccuple Celebrate Golden Wedding

MARMORA, Dec. 26—(ENS)—Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bartlett were at home to their friends on Sunday afternoon as they celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary. Mr. Bartlett is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Bartlett of Brighton, Sussex, England, but has lived in this country since an early age. Mrs. Bartlett, who is five years his junior, is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Vilneff of Marmora township. to whom 12 children in all were born.

Their wedding was solemnized at the Methodist parsonage, Actinolite, on Dec. 24, 1900, by the late Rev. James Batstone. Attending them were Edith Campbell, cousin of the bride, as bridesmaid and George Vilneff, brother of the bride, as groomsman. During their stay in Marmora for the greater part of the half century, Mr. Bartlett was employed for a number of years by the Pearce Company and later by the Deloro Smelting and Refining Company. He also saw active service in the First World War, enlisting in the 39th Battalion, Canadian Infantry, at Belleville on April 8th, 1915 and proceeding with his unit to West Sandling Camp in England. He was later transferred to the 14h Canadian Mounted Rifles in France and on June 3rd, 1916, was wounded in the right arm at Sanctuary Wood, Ypres Salient. Returning to England he was transferred to the C.A.S.C.. Following his discharge he returned to Marmora and became an active member of the now defunct G.W.V.A., filling the office of sergeant-at-arms. As the Marmora branch No. 237, Canadian Legion, was organized Mr. Bartlett joined and for a time was sergeant-at-arms. He has also been on its color party and at the present time is chairman of the sick committee. Mrs. Bartlett is a member of the ladies' auxiliary. She is one of the best knitters of the district.

On this golden wedding anniversay the couple contrasted weather conditions of their wedding day with those of their anniversary day. On their wedding day there was no snow on the ground anywhere, but roads and ground were well frozen.

On Saturday evening members of the Legion and auxiliary visited their home to present each with a sum of money as well as with a gift for their anniversary. The evening was spent in asingsong. Mrs. Bartlett served refreshments.

Mr. Bartlett, who has been a member of LOL 319 has a long record as fifer, while Mrs. Bartlett also has been on the membership of Harmony LOBA 600. They left on Sunday evening for the home of Mr. and Mrs. Milford Steenburgh, near Peterborough.

Havelock Couple Married 55 Years On Christmas Day

HAVELOCK, Dec. 26 (ENS) — Married on Christmas Day, 55 years ago, Mr. and Mrs. John Cochrane, marked the occasion by celebrating the holiday with Mrs. Cochrane's sister, Mrs. L. Keene and family. Other guests present were Mrs. M. Dunlop, William Peoples and Robert Peoples.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Cochrane are enjoying much improved health in comparison to what they were last year and on Sunday were the guests of another sister of Mrs. Cochrane, Mrs. Bernard Smith, Mr. Smith and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Cochrane were married by the Rev. Dr. McClelland in the Presbyterian manse here on December 25th, 1895. The bridesmaid of 55 years ago was Miss Mae Stillman, a cousin of the bride, who is now Mrs. John McKelvie, of Calgary, Alta., and who visited her relatives in this district a short time ago. The best man was the groom's brother, Robert, who died some years ago.

Following their marriage the couple settled on a farm near the Rush Point church. They also lived for a time at Old Havelock and Victoria about five miles east of here. In 1903 they took trip to Manitoba and on their return in 1904 took up residence on what is known as the Dyer farm. In 1910 they moved to Havelock where they have lived since.

Born In Seymour

Mr. Cochrane was born in Seymour township, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Cochrane, while Mrs. Cochrane is a native of Belmont township and was formerly Esther McArthur, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alexander McArthur.

During their early married life Mr. and Mrs. Cochrane were active members of Rush Point United Church (formerly Methodist) where Mr. Cochrane was a member of the trustee board and a leader of the mid-week prayer service when the minister was unable to be present, and where Mrs. Cochrane officiated as Sunday school superintendent and teacher. Since coming to the village they are members of Havelock United Church and here Mrs. Cochrane continued her work as teacher in the Sunday school, serving 40 years in all as teacher. She is an honorary member of the session, a life member of the Women's Missionary Society and a vice-president of that auxiliary of which she has in the past been the president. She was also leader of the Mission Band and superintendent of the Baby Band.

Mr. and Mrs. Cochrane had two children both of whom died in infancy.

From tree to finished lumber

Next--
The Planing Mill

During the past several months our weekly advertisements in The Peterborough Examiner, have, we hope through photographs and words given our readers a more intimate knowledge of what goes on—from felling a tree to converting it into lumber or timber.

Peterborough Lumber hopes you have enjoyed this story!

It is now the intention through the advertisements to follow, to portray what happens when the lumber gets to our planing mill in Peterborough where there are one hundred employees handling, fabricating and delivering the lumber, doors, interior trim, stairs, mantels, shingles, gypsum board, plywoods, insulation and the many other items used in home building and renovations.

This series will include interior of the mill, the dry kiln, boiler room, storage shed and delivery facilities, all being maintained with the ultimate view of servicing our customers and friends in this community.

Poof! Up She Goes

In the last fortnight 122,000 railway workers have been granted sizable increases in pay.

In the last fortnight 100,000 servicemen in the army, navy and air force, have been granted sizable increases in pay.

In the last fortnight 125,000 civil servants have been granted sizable increases in pay.

If anybody thinks that this is not going to increase the cost of living in Canada, he's crazy.

It is the biggest inflationary jolt to the country since price ceilings were removed.

We are not saying that the pay increases should not have been awarded or were not warranted. We are pointing out their effect on the value of the Canadian dollar and the cost of living. The one is pushed down, the other up.

Helping Asia To Help Itself

The two wars, political education and social change have resulted in Asian demands for independence, many of them already met. India and the Dutch East Indies are notable examples. In French Indo-China, and even in Korea, there are strong forces at work for national independence. With this attainment or striving for political independence there has been a desire for change in the old economic and social order. Communism has been quick to seize on this and to promise the people paradise through land reforms, communal ownership and the like. What has the West to offer in this competition for friendship of the Asians?

* * *

The western powers, particularly Britain, the United States, France and the Netherlands, have a bad reputation to live down as colonial exploiters and interlopers, whether or not the reputation is deserved. Russia and international communism have no such stigma in Asia, where their bloody, nationalistic record is not generally known. And while the western colonial powers have granted—under pressure—independence to former colonies, these concessions themselves do not whitewash the reputations. Further, since the war the U.S.A. in particular has supported all over the world illiberal regimes—in Greece, Korea, Japan, for instance. It is a very unappealing way of winning the confidence and cooperation of Asian people desiring economic and social change.

* * *

True, the U.S.A. has forced these illiberal governments to institute land reforms and has helped improve the lot of the natives through gifts of money and food. But Communists walk into a native village and says: "Support us and we will take that rich man's farm and house and divide it among you. You will all be happy and full of food." Western democracy can make no such direct and simple appeal. The Communists may not live up to their promises, or, if they do re-divide the land, the people may not find themselves better off. They will merely have changed one set of masters for another. But by then the Communists have the power they sought by their promises and dramatic first actions.

* * *

The West, under the leadership of the U.S.A. is now finding itself in the role of foreign occupier, with its armies tearing up Asian soil and killing Asian people. In this unenviable position how can it gain the confidence of Asia?

* * *

Communism is now exploiting the Asian peoples' desire for change from the old economic and social order which has given them so little in terms of human welfare. The democratic West can nuture that desire, too, if less dramatically than Communism can. But it will not do it by guns and bombs and armed intervention for the sake of democratic principles which most Asians neither know nor understand.

* * *

In most areas of Asia the resources are insufficient to feed and clothe the people. The countries which have a new independence cannot from their own soil, machines and skills meet the tremendous tasks which confront them without help from external sources. If they are going to seek that help from the democracies rather than from Communist Rusia, the democracies must not only advertise the superiority of their methods and social conditions but give that assistance with both hands, not with the left only while the right holds out a gun.

* * *

President Truman's "Point Four" program to assist undeveloped and backward countries to develop themselves is much more powerful, inherently, than American arms in securing the friendship and co-operation of Asian countries. The 25 to 50 million dollars which Canada has promised as its share of the British Commonwealth version of the Point Four plan is saner and sounder insurance for politicaly democracy than sending a brigade to Korea.

Miscellaneous Protestants

Canada is a very religious, or denominationally-minded, country, if one judges from statistics. We have never yet read a federal, provincial or municipal report on the religions of our citizens where the tabulation did not add up to the total population. And there is never a category labelled 'atheists', 'infidels', 'free-thinkers', or just plain 'No Religion'. Everybody in Canada has a religion, it seems.

Take, for instance the annual assessment report for the city of Peterborough, the statement on religious denominations. At the time the survey was made (earlier this year) there were 36,716 people in Peterborough. Each one of those 36,716 people is given, or claims to have, a denominational affiliation. The last item in the tabulation is "Miscellaneous (Protestants)". Miscellaneous Protestants indeed: Here are the statistics in the Report: United Church 12,712; Church of England, 8,237; Roman Catholic, 8,303; Presbyterian 2,838; Baptist, 2,025; Salvation Army, 671; Pentecostal, 284; Jewish, 256; Church of the Open Bible, 183; Gospel Hall, 229; Apostolic, 137; Christian Missionary Alliance 65; Free Methodist, 76; Christian Scientist, 24; Assembly Hall, 14; and, finally, with all these categories exhausted, "Miscellaneous (Protestant), 662."

We take this to mean that there are 662 Protestants in the city who, for one reason or another have not put their names down as nominal adherents, even in a vague sort of way, of the Church of England or the United Church. We take this to mean that there is not a single atheist, agnostic, infidel, or freethinker in the whole city. That is really remarkable, and a tribute to the influence of organized religion in this area, or to the persistence of census-takers in demanding that everybody must have some kind of religion, that the space simply can't be left blank. We see the census-taker sucking his lips, his pencil hovering over the blank space. 'Come now, you must have some sort of religion. Who married you? Who is going to bury you? Well, if you aren't Roman Catholic and you aren't one of these others, you must be Church of England or United Church. Which?" And we can hear the bewildered answer: "Yes."

Lest we have read too much into these assessment statistics of 1950, we give the caution which is printed as a footnote to the table: "This statement is not to be taken as a religious census. In compiling the statement all occupants are classified according to the religion of the householder."

No Modern Carols?

During the past two or three weeks we have heard a great number of Christmas carols—some on the radio, some at church carol services, some in concerts—and we have been impressed by the small number of carols with good modern words. There are many living composers who have written fine carols, but in the main they have set to music words by poets long dead. Who among our modern poets has written a Christmas carol?

G. K. Chesterton wrote a few good carols which has been set to music, but Chesterton is dead. Hilaire Belloc has written a carol or two, but he is over eighty, and wrote his carols decades ago. Walter de la Mare has written some fine Christmas verse but not, so far as we know, a carol. T. S. Eliot, one of the finest of living poets, and also one of the greatest of living Christian apologists, has written no carols. Of living poets only the name of Eleanor Farjeon comes to mind as that of a writer of really good verses for carols.

What is the matter? Is it that modern poets lack the spontaneity, the unpremeditated upsurge of joy in the heart, which has given us so many of the fine carols of the past? The situation will right itself in the course of time, but meanwhile it is curious that this gap in modern poetry should exist.

NOTE AND COMMENT

"Every time you breathe," say the Detroit News, "ten Chinamen are born." Patriotism at the moment appears to dictate a prolonged holding of the breath.

Ottawa appears to be suffering from the pangs of despised love, because Barbara Ann Scott has gone to live in Toronto. And after they gave her that pretty yellow car too!

Musical Notes

By PETER PIPER

THREE weeks ago I inferred that the Common Canadian Music Critic (Criticus Musicus Canadiensis Vulgaris) is considered to be amongst the lowest forms of animal life in this country. Evidently this is not the case South of the Border. When the Chief Executive of State chooses to call down thunder upon the head of a critic who dared to write an adverse notice of a recital given by his daughter it is obvious to the meanest intelligence that a music critic is somebody in the States. It is not that the political situation was so unruffled that something had to be done to create some excitement: on the contrary dark clouds, both at home and abroad were lowering (they still are, alas). Yet the President managed to find time to tear himself away from all his awful responsibilities to write to the music critic of the Washington Post and tell him in terms more forceful than polite what he thought of him. I cannot approve of Mr. Truman's outburst, but I must confess that I would be surprised and proud if I were able to elicit a stinging rebuke from Mr. St. Laurent.

✧ ✧ ✧

SIR Hugh Allen, the well-known English organist, choirmaster, professor of music and general power behind the scenes in the English musical scene, was famed for his dynamic personality. On one occasion in his life, however, he was non-plussed. During a rehearsal of the Bach Choir in Oxford, which he was conducting, he suddenly stopped the singers in full course, and pointing to one unfortunate soprano (the wife of one of the Dons (professors) he snapped, "What the h—— do you think you're singing"? With an air of complete unconcern she replied: "I'm d———d if I know". In his later years Sir Hugh mellowed considerably, but now and then the brusque manner that had made him the terror of students in bygone years peeped out. His death in 1946 as the result of a traffic accident was a shock to his many friends, and yet it seemed somehow in keeping with his character that he should have a violent end.

✧ ✧ ✧

I AM afraid that I have been very good at keeping New Year's resolutions; in any case most of them would be of little interest to the public at large. It is with some diffidence, therefore, that I submit a few resolutions that might well be adopted by musicians of various types. To the famous pianist X: play with greater spontaneity, not as though you were saying "this is my reading of this passage". To choristers: make choir practice your first priority, rain or fine. To the celebrated conductor Y: less ham acting with that funny little stick and more solid musicianship. To Canadian composers: keep off musical impressions of Canadian landscapes for a year, if you can. To recitalists, programme arrangers, etc.: remember that Chopin wrote some fifty-three Mazurkas besides the famous one in E flat, Handel wrote an enormous quantity of oratorio besides "Messiah", Ravel's "Bolero" is one of his least interesting works—need I continue? The need of a little more enterprise in the choice of programmes is becoming more and more acute. To music critics: avoid the twin dangers of pomposity and facetiousness. Try and widen your sympathies, especially with regard to contemporary music, so that you can act as an interpreter to the public. To organists: play rhythmically on your unrhythmic instrument. If you cannot read from open vocal score or transpose fluently learn to do so; these are invalubale accomplishments. To radio recitalists: cut out the signature tune—it has become a stale device.

✧ ✧ ✧

WHILE writing this article news came through that E. J. Moeran, the composer, died on Dec. 1, in Ireland. Born in England in 1894, his father was a country clergyman of Irish origin, while his mother was of Norfolk stock. A good part of his life was spent in Norfolk, and he possessed in good measure the forthright realism of the East Anglian. At the same time, beneath the bluff exterior he concealed a highly poetic and idealistic temperament that may have come from his Irish ancestry. He served in the First World War from 1914 till 1917, when he was wounded. On his demobilization in 1919 he held a teaching appointment at his old school for a short time, but soon afterwards he studied music under John Ireland. He came into friendship with Philip Heseltine (Peter Warlock) and his group, and with them was strongly influenced by Frederick Delius. He wrote for a wide variety of smaller forms, of which his songs are probably the most significant. Amongst his finest works is the Nocturne for baritone solos, chorus and orchestra, to words by Robert Nichols, the poet, a personal friend of the composer, and dedicated to the memory of Delius. Later in life he seemed to be entering a new phase, and turned his attention more and more to larger works. His symphony, written in 1938, received favourable attention, and has been repeated since on several occasions. He has also written concerti for piano, violin and cello. He married Peers Coetmore, the cellist, comparatively late in life, and the cello concerto and other works for that instrument were written expressly for her.

✧ ✧ ✧

MOERAN was passionately interested in folksongs, and spent a good deal of time collecting and arranging them. This influence shows in his music, though in a different way from Vaughan Williams. Moeran is more personal, Vaughan Williams more universal. I still think that he was at his best in his shorter, more lyric works. Not that a good song is any easier to write than a good symphony. It is true that a symphony requires more sustained inspiration, but a song must be more compact, more perfect in every detail. In a letter to me Moeran writes "Really first-rate songs are inordinately difficult to achieve. Being miniatures, they must all the more be absolutely flawless". He was no believer in academic musical training. He says of it "It will probably only encourage one to think in terms of mere harmony, counterpoint, and in fact notes. This may be excellent practice for attaining the doubtful prestige of a Mus. Bac. or Doc., but it does not teach you to compose real music, at least, most certainly not instrumental music. Anthems, etc. perhaps!"

✧ ✧ ✧

HE prided himself on his knowledge of the craft of composition. I use the word 'craft' advisedly, for the knowledge of how to adapt one's inspirations to the idiosyncrasies of voices and instruments is hard to attain and entails much study, much patience and self-criticism. Moeran certainly knew how to get his effects. He was not an innovator: in fact I would class him as a late Romantic, though this label is, I confess, somewhat inadequate. His music, like his character, is a compound of contradictions, though there is more in common between the Irish peasant and the Norfolk Dumpling than would appear at first sight. Though he lived a good deal in London his main interests lay in the extreme East of England and the West of Ireland, and his music most often evokes the spirit of those two regions—the wide horizons and windmills of East Anglia and the romantic valleys of Erin. His death is a loss to the musical world and to his many friends and admirers.

Letters To The Editor

HYDRO ALWAYS READY TO HELP

Sir: I read with a great deal of interest and deep appreciation the two editorials which appeared in your issues of December 2 and 11 concerning assistance rendered to the Municipality of Peterborough following the unfortunate accident at the sub-station in Peterborough.

You may be sure that we are always ready at any time to do anything we possibly can to help out. Our local officials have complete authority to use our facilities immediately on behalf of any municipality in times of emergency such as you have just passed through.

Yours very truly,
ROBERT H. SAUNDERS,
Chairman Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission.

THE CHURCH OF JERUSALEM

Sir: May I remind your readers that, if I am not mistaken, this religious controversy in your columns was commenced by a Roman Catholic. I wrote discouraging such controversy which only confuses and perplexes those of the reading public who have not studied Church History and Theology for themselves. I prefer to follow that counsel which I gave but Catholic asks me a question which I must answer.

He asks if anyone on the street asked for direction to a Catholic Church where would I send him; and if I were asked whether I was a Protestant or a Catholic what would I reply? My answer (which I have given many times) is that I am a Catholic for I was baptized into Christ's Holy Catholic and Apostolic Church and from my youth I have confessed belief in the same in the Apostles' Creed. The title 'Protestant' is a comparative late arrival in Eccelesiastical History, and its opposite is not 'Catholic' but 'Papal'. There are more Communions than the Roman Communion which claim historical continuity with the Church of Christ and his Apostles. So to my enquirer I would ask: 'Do you mean the 'Roman' Catholic Church?' If he did, I would direct him accordingly.

In closing I repeat that many of the claims which the Roman Catholic Church makes have little or no historical or theological proofs to go on. We cannot think that all truth is confined to the Vatican, or to Roman Catholic writers.

Further, we must remember that after all Christ's Church did not start at Rome but at Jerusalem on Pentecost Day, and it had a long way to reach Rome and was organized in many countries before it did. I refrain from writing further, and feel that this season of all others should be one of Peace and Goodwill, and that especially among those who profess and call themselves Christians.

Thanking you sincerely,
CATHOLIC (NOT ROMAN).

(This controversy must now cease.—Editor.)

Why They Get Colds

(Lethbridge Herald)

Some friends of ours constantly complain about the miserable head colds they get during the winter season.

We bring up this distasteful subject because these friends of ours are members of that large fraternity which thinks that the taking of pills is a substitute for the wearing of a hat, a scarf or overshoes while out-of-doors during cold weather. These people are the ones you see dashing down the street for a cup of coffee in the mornings without bothering to wear an overcoat. "It's only a few feet", they reason when you admonish them for their carelessness.

These people who take pills and who consequently complain when they get colds, are the ones who sit in drafts; who get over-heated playing basketball or badminton and who then go out-of-doors without first taking a shower and putting on dry clothes; who wear a hat one day and go without the next; who don't bother to wear rubbers; and who think sweaters were invented for the sole use of female movie stars.

A cold is just nature's way of telling these people that they are not capable of looking after themselves.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Blessed art thou, O Lord: teach me thy statutes....Open thou mine eyes, that I may behold wondrous things out of thy law. (Ps 119: 12, 18.)

✧ ✧ ✧

And, behold, they brought to him a man sick of the palsy, lying on a bed: and Jesus seeing their faith said unto the sick of the palsy; Son, be of good cheer; thy sins be forgiven thee. And, behold, certain of the scribes said within themselves, This man blasphemeth.

And Jesus knowing their thoughts said, Wherefore think ye evil in your hearts? For whether is easier, to say, Thy sins be forgiven thee; or to say, Arise, and walk?

But that ye may know that the Son of man hath power on earth to forgive sins, (then saith he to the sick of the palsy,) Arise, take up thy bed, and go unto thine house. And he arose, and departed to his house.

But when the multitudes saw it, they marvelled, and glorified God, which had given such power unto men. (Matt. 9: 2-8.)

Western Canadian Oil Developments Establish Records In 1950, Main Work In Alberta

By A. B. GARRETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON, Dec. 26—(CP)—Western Canada oil development established new high marks in 1950, as drillers were spurred to greater activity by prospect of new markets opened by a pipeline from Edmonton to the Great Lakes.

Exploration, drilling, production and revenue all reached new peaks.

Main activity continued to centre in Alberta where more than 900 wells were drilled in the first 11 months of year. Three quarters of them found oil, boosting the province's daily potential to around 175,000 barrels, close to half the requirements of the whole dominion.

Actual production hovered around 100,000 barrels daily near the year's end. An oil company official estimated it would rise to 131,000 during next year's navigation season on the Great Lakes when tankers move oil to refineries from the pipeline terminal at Superior, Wis.

Comb Terrain

Meanwhile, a record 120 survey crews combed terrain from Manitoba to the Pacific Ocean in search of likely oil country. They travelled by truck, airplane, helicopter, on foot and on horseback. Many parties trudged through Northern Alberta Muskeg, seldom traversed by man.

In December, 145 drilling rigs were following up their work. Eighty - one were developing known fields. Sixty-four were assigned to wildcat (exploratory) ventures. Of these, 130 rigs were engaged in Alberta; nine in Saskatchewan, four in British Columbia and two in Manitoba.

While efforts spread far afield, the main success was recorded in Central Alberta.

Greatest drilling activity centred in the Redwater Field, 45 miles northeast of Edmonton, which more than doubled its total producing wells and almost trebled its output over the previous year. Much of the oil went into new pipeline.

Unlike the irregular Leduc Field, Redwater has shaped up so far as a solid oblong of producing wells in an area 20 miles long and three miles wide. Efforts are being mde to find whether the oil-bearing reef, 3,200 feet below the surface, extends beyond present known limits.

Leduc's irregular characteristics brought some surprises during the year. One company drilled on the site of a "dry hole" and got oil. An independent company brought a lease which a major oil firm had allowed to lapse, and struck oil. A persistent Calgary oilman, undeterred by a series of misfortunes, finally got oil south of the known limits and opened a new chapter in the field's history.

Fill Blank Spots

Numerous smaller companies launched ventures in the area. A number succeeded. Blank spots in the ring of fields around Edmonton were partly filled by discoveries at Stony Plain and Acheson, abotu six miles west of Edmonton, and at Ellerslie, four miles south.

Discoveries late in the year indicated the possibility of a line of oilfields extending southeast of Edmonton as far as Drumheller. Included in the chain were oil strikes at Camrose, Big Valley and Drumheller.

Further development was undertaken in two fields in the same general chain discovered last year; Stettler, which grew to 23 wells, and Joseph Lake, which increased to 20.

2000 Oil Wells

Near the year end, there were almost 2,000 producing oil wells in Alberta. Official figures for the first nine months of the year showed production totalling 18,850,000 barrels, an increase of almost 4,500,000 over last year's record. It was worth $56,570,000 to producers, an increase of $15,000,000 over last year.

Unofficial estimates for the whole year's output in Alberta ranged up to 27,100,000 barrels. Saskatchewan was expected to yield more than 1,000,000 barrels.

An unofficial forecast for next year, with great lakes pipeline in full operation, was 42,000,000 barrels.

During November the Manitoba government formally confirmed a show of oil near Melita, Man. It said however that more drilling is needed to decide whether the Manitoba well has commercial possibilities, and drilling was suspended until next spring.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel — And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out about 2 pints of bile juice into your digestive tract every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the digestive tract. Then gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

It takes those mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Effective in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills, 35¢ at any druggist.

Paris Hospital Establishes Bone Bank For Patients

By ROGER BARJERON

PARIS, Dec. 26 —(Reuters)—At least one Paris hospital has a "bone bank," established on the lines of the widely-used "blood banks."

Treatment of bone diseases, so difficult to cure before the Second World War, has become almost routine, and skull, hip, leg, arm and shoulder bones are replaced in surgical operations almost every day.

Since 1946, more than 1,000 bone operations have been successfully performed in French hospitals. Fifteen bone banks throughout the country maintain an adequate supply of limbs.

The bone bank at the Paris Beaujon Hospital last year replaced 150 bones ranging from shin bones to jaw bones.

Artificial bone grafting is the job of a medical joiner, different from heart and brain surgery, but calling for just as much precision. He works with instruments which, though greatly refined, resemble a carpenter's drills, saws, hammers and cold chisels.

Beaujon Hospital gets its bones from people who bequeath them before death or from anonymous corpses at the mortuary. Doctors perform an autopsy to ascertain that no infectious disease is present.

Last Six Months

Then they are put in the bank —a large ice box. They are preserved to last six months in the condition requisite for grafting.

During the 53rd International Surgery Congress held here recently, a professor reported that a cancer-ridden humerus (arm bone) was removed and changed "in one hour with the greatest of ease." The "spare part" cost only 8,000 francs (about $25).

Before this revolutionary development in surgery, a fractured bone could be treated but two operations were necessary—the first to take a fragment of bone from one of the patient's other limbs and the second to graft on this fragment.

Now, only one operation is needed, saving the patient considerable suffering—and expense.

"Spare part" bones have a surprising resistance. Whereas partial grafting often left an incurable weakness in the fractured bone, total substitution rarely leaves any after-effect. During the recent surgical congress, doctors reported that patients with new thigh bones are able to walk and run normally. One is even practising ski-jumping.

CHEVROLET TRUCKS

...and ONLY Chevrolet trucks give you

THE POWER YOU NEED — THE COMFORT YOU LIKE — THE STRENGTH YOU WANT

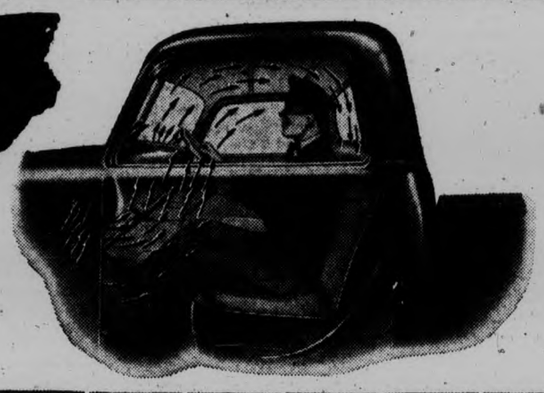

COMPARE ENGINE POWER

THREE GREAT ENGINES

Chevrolet's three great truck engines are now even finer. New Power-Jet Carburetor and larger exhaust valves mean greater power-per-gallon. And you get faster warm-up, faster pick-up, better low-speed operation, better hill climbing from Chevrolet's valve-in-head engines.

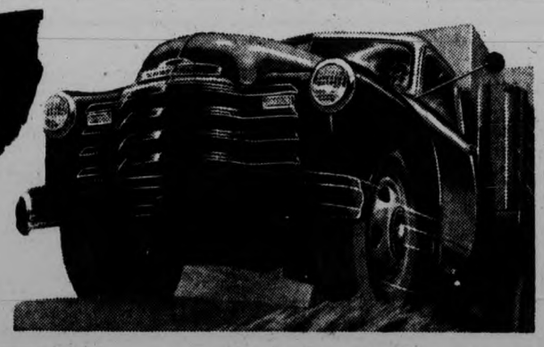

COMPARE CAB COMFORT

THE "CAB THAT BREATHES"

Finger-tip adjustment for its big, comfortable seats . . . observation - car spaciousness and vision . . . and such luxury options as rear quarter windows and "Cab That Breathes" heating and ventilating system . . . every way, Chevrolet Trucks give more solid driver comfort. Ask the drivers, they know!

COMPARE CHASSIS STRENGTH

ADVANCE DESIGN

Advance Design from the frame up — engineered for more work over more years, that's the new Chevrolet Truck chassis! New safety fuel tank . . . Ball-bearing Steering for greater driving ease at full load . . . Unisteel Flexi-Mounted Cab — every feature for stamina, safety, performance.

Now more than ever, Chevrolet is the most popular name in the entire trucking world — for it's the name that identifies the trucks that have every feature you've ever said a truck should have. They're big and husky — they're easy driving and comfortable. They're powerful — especially where power counts — on the tough going. They're economical to operate and they're built to last. We can't say more.

340 WATER STREET

BUILT IN CANADA • PROVED IN CANADA • FOR CANADIANS

GREATEST SWIMMER — The "Catalina Kid"—George Young—rocketed to international fame Jan. 16, 1927, when he won the $25,000, 20-mile Catalina marathon swim between Santa Catalina Island off the California coast and Pointe Vincente on the mainland. On the basis almost of that feat alone, Young has been named Canada's greatest swimmer of the last half-century by Canadian sports writers. Young, now 40, is a $50-a-week machinist with the Pennsylvania Railroad in Philadelphia. He is shown being helped from the water when he had to give up during the 1927 Canadian National Exhibition 21-mile swim in Toronto.

George Young Top Swimmer Of Half Century

By JACK SULLIVAN

TORONTO, Dec. 26 (CP)—Twenty-three years ago George Young tasted in full measure the sweets of victory almost unknown to most 17-year-olds and then saw his dream world fall apart. Today he is labelled Canada's greatest swimmer of the half century.

The tag was put on Young—now a machinist in Philadelphia on the Pennsylvania Railroad—by sports editors and sportscasters in a 50-year poll conducted by The Canadian Press. It is another tribute to the man hailed by some in his prime as a modern Leander and by others a bum.

He won the "greatest" title by a margin over seven other swimmers, some of whom brought honor to Canada in international events.

Won at 17

The tag was earned Jan. 16, 1927, when Young stroked to world-wide prominence by winning the 20-mile Catalina Marathon between the mainland and Santa Catalina Island off the coast of California. Just another name on the entry list of 105, George Young won screaming headlines in Canada and the United States.

He was feted and cheered and the acclaim to the Toronto youngster reached dizzy heights because George and his story oozed with human-interest.

Born in Scotland, he came to Toronto with his widowed mother who scrubbed floors to make ends meet. George learned to swim with other kids of his neighborhood — Cabbagetown — in the muddy Don River in Toronto's east-central section.

Seven Nominated

Seven others were nominated, swimmers whose careers date back to 1910 and up through every decade to the present.

There was George Hodgson of Montreal, a member of McGill University and the Montreal Athletic Association, who won the "outstanding" tag by winning the 1,500-metre event in the 1912 Olympics at Stockholm. He practically revolutionized swimming at the longer distances, such as the 1,500, and brought real speed to the game in those days. Hodgson still is living in Montreal.

Frank McGill of Montreal—now an RCAF air vice-marshal—was a swimming sprinter whose career dated around 1910-1923. Also from Montreal, he was a water-polo expert and starred on both McGill and MAAA water-polo teams. Both he and Hodgson were in the Royal Navy Air Service in the First World War.

Cliff Lumsden

Some voters thought these rated the "outstanding" label:

The brother-sister combination of Bob and Irene Pirie of Toronto who made great splashes in the swimming world in the 30s and 40s; Irene Strong of Vancouver and Pete Salmon of Victoria, BC, representatives of Canada in the 1948 Olympic games at London and the 1950 British Empire games at Auckland, NZ; and Cliff Lumsden, Toronto marathoner who won the 1949 and 1950 Canadian National Exhibition swims.

But Young, the "Catalina Kid," far out-distanced the other choices in public aclaim.

After he won the $25,000 big swim, the world resounded with praises of the Toronto youngster. His achievement, his ambitions, his childhood were front-page news. He appeared in the movies and on the radio. He made personal theatre appearance, movie contracts for 10 times his prize money were dangled in front of the bewildered kid. Seventy-five thousand hometown citizens turned out to welcome him and the city of Toronto gave him a $5,000 home.

Toronto Failures

Legal and managerial tangles had him in a constant state of confusion and despair and he failed several times to live up to his Catalina performance before Toronto crowds.

The cheers turned to jeers when he entered the 1927 Canadian National Exhibition 21-mile swim and was taken from the water after struggling through 5½ miles.

In 1928 not one entrant of the 199 completed the Toronto waterfront course owing to the extremely cold water. Young stayed in about four hours. It was declared "no race," and he received a slice of the purse, together with 13 others.

In 1929 he was removed from the water unconscious after an attack of cramps. In 1930 his nemesis was temporary blindness and cramps.

Won in 1931

He retrieved his falling fortunes and rewarded the hopes of his loyal following in 1931 when he won the 15-mile marathon but the following year he again suffered eclipse when he sank at the nine-mile mark and was hauled out. In 1933, temporary blindness forced him out after 5½ miles.

He married Margaret Ravior of Philadelphia, winner of the 1930 and 1931 women's marathon swims at Toronto and moved to the Quaker City in 1933. The marriage was broken up a few years ago.

Now he's a railroad worker with practically nothing to show for his one-time wealth and rise to fame except memories.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Three players were released by Moncton Hawks during the weekend. They let go Jean Paul Jeanneau, Winn Mousseau and Charlie Phillips.

Hawks played with 12 men Saturday night, winning a 2-0 shutout over Charlottetown Islanders, leaders of the Maritime Senior Hockey League. Reinforcements are expected for Hawks' next game Wednesday, when Halifax St. Mary's play here.

Two more players, a defenceman and a forward, are slated to join Hawks for the Wednesday game, both coming from Shawinigan Falls. The Cataracts still owe Hawks one player. They traded two recently for forward Lou Milani, and only one has showed up to date.

Middlesbrough, pace - setting team in the English Football League's first division, increased its lead Monday by defeating Newcastle United, a strong contender, 2-1. Tottenham Hotspur moved into second place by tying Derby County, 1-1, as Arenal was upset on its home grounds 3-0 by Stoke City.

New York baseball writers have voted Eddie Stanky of New York Giants the "player of the year." The fiery little second-baseman will receive the Sid Mercer memorial award at the annual dinner of the Baseball Writers' Association of America, Feb. 4. The 33-year-old veteran infielder had a banner 1950 season He batted .300, led the circuit in getting on base and, in his final time at bat, smacked the 1,000th hit of his major league career.

Lou Groza Monday won the national professional football championship for Cleveland Browns with a 12-yard place kick in the last 20 seconds at Cleveland to defeat Los Angeles Rams 30-28 in one of the wildest finishes the league has ever witnessed.

It was the second straight week that Groza's golden toe had booted the Browns into a championship. Last Sunday his two field goals gave Cleveland an 8-3 victory over New York Giants in the playoff for the American Conference.

A crowd of 29,751 paid customers surged on the field and tore down the goalposts after Groza's game-winning field goal, his 16th of the season.

Jockey Willie Shoemaker closed ground on Joe Culmone Monday and now trails by only two winners in their race for riding honors of the year. Shoemaker had four winners in eight races at Fair Grounds in New Orleans while the best Culmone could do was two winners in seven mounts at Tropical Park at Miami, Fla. Culmone now has 373 winners to Shoemaker's 371.

Choose Charles Fighter Of Year

NEW YORK, Dec. 26 — (AP)—Heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles has been named "fighter of the year" by N. Fleischer editor of Ring Magazine.

Fleischer gave Charles the nod over welterweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson, who was honored with a special citation as "best all-round fighter" in any division.

Fleischer wrote that he placed Robinson second to Charles "because the sum otal of his influence on the boxing situation was not equal to that represented by Charles' surprisingly-easy success against Joe Louis.

Robinson, now touring Europe was named winner of the Edward J. Neil memorial award recently by the New York Writers Association.

Behind Charles and Robinson, Fleischer listed Lee Savold of Paterson, N.J., in the No. 3 spot and bantamweight champion Vic Toweel of South Africa as No. 4.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Christmas is out of the way for this year, and we should be out of hock before the next one rolls around. Oh, well, you can't take the stuff with you—and we did get some nice presents in return. So, it's back to work for a flock of overfed folks today, though tired store clerks have another day of rest while rehearsing raised eyebrow queries like: "But, madam, are you sure that was purchased here?" With determined ladies side-stepping such leads and countering with a positive: "Quite certain, and it's two sizes too large." That, we suppose, is why they call it Boxing Day. Though there could be some other reason.

'Twas good to see a number of servicemen home for the festive occasion, some of 'em previously prominent in athletics. Some sport the insignia of NCO's, the backbone of the army. In more than one mess we've heard the remark made that a good RSM was worth one colonel, or two majors, or three captains or four lieutenants. And anywhere up to a dozen second-lieutenants. Nor have commissioned officers ever brought suit for slander. But then let's not start another war during this season of peace on earth—hah!—goodwill toward man. It was just a passing thought after seeing some fine guys strolling Civvy St. again as holiday visitors.

District Puckists Ready

Right after the first of the year, a lively district puck loop swings into action. The East Peterborough Hockey League, which begins play and runs till late February ere commencing playoffs. Entries include Keene, Lakefield, Millbrook and Warsaw, operating on natural ice and having a lot of fun for players and spectators to while away the winter months. The larger TVL is nearly ready, too, to pry off the lid on a number of fronts, two local teams going in the northern section which is in our district. The other section is down Belleville way.

No OHA games here until Friday night when Belleville Redmen take a crack at the McGillis-sponsored Eagles at Civic Arena. The Eagles go to Belleville tomorrow night, while the Swartz-sponsored Petes play Nylons that p.m. in Kingston. After this week, the clubs will be settling away in earnest. The teams have been queried by Convener Lorne Cook of Kingston on how they want this group represented in Allan Cup playdowns. As a group finals won't be over when a group team goes into the cup playdowns, probably the best bet would be to have the team which finished the schedule in top place start along the Allan Cup playdown path. But that's up to the majority of the clubs concerned. Our junior IOOF-ers are idle until Friday when they meander down the highway to Bella Villa for a "B" fixture.

Dealing 'Em Off Cuff

Bob Wyatt, Dean West, Brian Robinson and Jim Morrow presently are pacing the attack for IOOF as they battle it out for first place in the junior "B" standing. Statistics compiled by Fred Maybee for Bun Kingdon's crew show Wyatt with 18 points and West with 16, both having scored eight goals and helping on others: Robinson is next with 14, one ahead of Morrow. Though West and Robinson have but two minutes each in penalties whereas Wyatt cooled his heels for 38 minutes and Morrow for 15. Bill Stewart has seven points and no penalties, as Gary Robinson, Lefty Doris and Roy (Army) Armstrong are tied with six points each. They've served nine, eight and 14 minutes respectively.

Lindsay Muskies, proving that only the game fish swim upstream, downed the strong Port Hope intermediate "A" puckists 13-6 the other eve for their third straight win after a wobbly start. Red Creighton's pack fought back in the third period, led by Dave Casey with three goals in 75 seconds. Buck Legrow helping out on two of them. Schedule tomorrow calls for Bowmanville at Port Hope, and Cobourg at Lindsay. The Lakefield Indians, who finally have home ice available, go to Cobourg on Friday and play hosts the next night to the Port Hopers. A lot of good talent in this grouping and anything could happen ere the schedule concludes in six more weeks.

If they whisper to those below,
Peace—Peace.

The strife and woe which made them so;
I think the red, red poppies grow
To whisper Peace On Earth below.

Churchill Horse May Be Honored By Jockey Club

LONDON, Dec. 26 —(Reuters) — When Winston Churchill visited the Jockey Club subscription rooms at Newmarket following his election to the jockey club, a painting he saw was a portrait of the famous racehorse, Ladas.

It would fittingly commemorate a remarkable occasion if a painting of Churchill's horse, Colonist II, were to hang next to Ladas. Horses owned by the only two ex-Prime Ministers who have also been members of the Jockey Club would then hang side by side.

Ladas was owned by the Earl of Roseberry, who achived the ambitions he expressed early in life —to win the Derby and to be Prime Minister. Colonist II, which cost a mere £500 (about $1,500) has won no classic race, but by his great courage and staying power has earned the right to be classed with the great horses of the turf.

Elecion to the Jockey Club, a rare honor, is seldom given except for distingushed service to racing over a great number of years.

Including the King, the Duke of Gloucester, the Duke of Windsos, The Duke of Edinburgh, and the leading personalities from other racing authorities all over the world, there are only 57 members of the club, which forms the legislative body of racing.

Always Club Members.

The three stewards of the Jockey Club, who are responsible for the day-to -day control of racing are chosen exclusively from club members.

There has been only one woman member of the Jock Club—she was Mrs. Montagu Tharp, who dide 21 years ago.

Mrs. Tharp was the widow of the Spire of Newmarket. Her property included the world-famous Limekilns Gallops, where most of the training work is done in the summer. She told the stewards she would not sell its 212 acres and would not allow the use of it unless they made her an honorary member of the club. The stewards were forced to accedt, but shen she died her executors sold the Gallops for $168,000.

Today, the landed property over which the Jockey Club presides at Newmarket and elsewhere is worth $7,000,000. No wonder the club is known as the richest and most autocratic ruling body of sport throughout the world.

TENNIS MASTER—The late Dr. Jack Wright, of Vancouver, Canadian tennis champion in 1927, 1929 and 1931, is the choice of Canadian sports writers as the top Canadian tennis player of the last 50 years. Ranked as top Canadian player for seven consecutive years, he was a member of Canada's Davis Cup team from 1923 to 1933 inclusive. He died in Vancouver Sept. 21, 1949, while undergoing treatment for a leg ailment.

Jack Wright Canada's Best In Tennis World

By JACK SULLIVAN

TORONTO, Dec. 26 —(CP)—The greatest tennis player Canada produced in the half century just ending was Jack Wright, the handsome doctor who represented Canada in Davis Cup play for 11 years and was ranked first in the dominion for seven.

He was chosen today in a Canadian Press poll of sports editors and sportscasters by a decisive margin over Marcel Rainville, the pint-sized French-Canadian who was his partner in Davis Cup play.

They died within three months of each other in 1949, Wright of a heart attack in September and Rainville tragically in June. His body was found in the St. Lawrence River near Montreal. A pile of clothing and his name on a sheet of paper lay nearby.

Runners-Up

Brendan Macken of Montreal, Canada's top-ranking player in 1950, and Henri Rochon, his fellow townsman who ranks No. 2, were tied for third place in the poll. Lorne Main, the 20-year-old Vancouver shotmaker, and Willard Crocker of Montreal, Wright's doubles partner on several Davis Cup teams, were the only other players mentioned.

Wright was the first player Canada produced to rank with the best in the world. He frequently toppled men ranked among the first 10 in the United States, and in the 1927 Davis Cup series with Japan at Montreal he defeated Tacheichi Harada, ranked third in the world behind Bill Tilden and Bill Johnson of the United States.

Champion in 1927

Wright won the Canadian championship in 1927, 1929 and 1931 and ranked first in Canada for seven consecutive years. He was on every Davis Cup team between 1923 and 1933.

Rainville, the best player French Canada ever produced, was on Davis Cup teams from 1929 to 1934. Ranked No. 2 to Wright in 1930 and 1931, he took over the top spot and the Canadian title in 1932 when Wright retired.

Hurricanes Bow 7-4 To St. Kitts, Haven't Won Yet

By The Canadian Press

Santa Claus didn't hand out any victories to the luckless Waterloo Hurricanes during the weekend, but the last-place team in the Ontario Hockey Association's junior division did come close.

The Hurricanes in a hometown contest Saturday had a 4-3 lead early in the third period over St. Catharines Teepees. A victory would have been the Waterloo Juniors' first in 25 starts this season. But their luck ran out. The Teepees smashed home four goals in nine minutes to win 7-4.

Referees Pat Patterson and Andy Bellemer of Toronto handed out 35 penalties, 18 to Waterloo, with 20 coming in the second period.

Skip Teal with three goals paced St. Kitts, who moved into a fourth place tie with Guelph Biltmores as a result of the win. Bud Boone counted twice and Bob Taylor and Bill Young each got singles. Rich Campbell with two and Buddy Evans and Watters were Waterloo marksmen.

Overtime Tie

In the only other O.H.A. contest, also a junior game, during the weekend, Galt Black Hawks and Toronto St. Michael's, battled to an 8-8 overtime tie at Galt.

Murray Costello, who scored twice and helped on another, starred for the ninth-place St. Mike's who held the lead three times, but couldn't hold off the pressing Hawks.

The split in points moved Galt into a sixth-place tie with Oshawa Generals.

Other Toronto goal-getters were Bill Lee and Bob Sabourin, each with two, and Tom Fyles and Danny MacDonald. Don Hogan was ace Hawkes scorer with three goals, George Gosselin and Ken Wharram each had two and Don Cooke had the other.

The heartbreak of a marriage that made his life both heaven and hell was the tragic secret Ernie Pyle kept through the trying years that made him one of the best loved war correspondents.

January Reader's Digest brings you his intimate story, told—often in his own personal letters to his wife and close friends—against the heroic background of his devotion to America's fighting men.

Don't miss this 36-page best-seller book condensation in January Reader's Digest. It's just one of 34 articles of lasting interest, condensed from leading magazines and current books.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press

Detroit's Gordie Howe, picked up five assists in two games of the Christmas weekend to jump into second place in the National Hockey League's individual scoring race.

Howe now is six points behind Max Bentley of Toronto, who has 36 points. Bentley got one goal and one assist as Toronto tied Boston 2-2 Saturday night to increase his lead by a point.

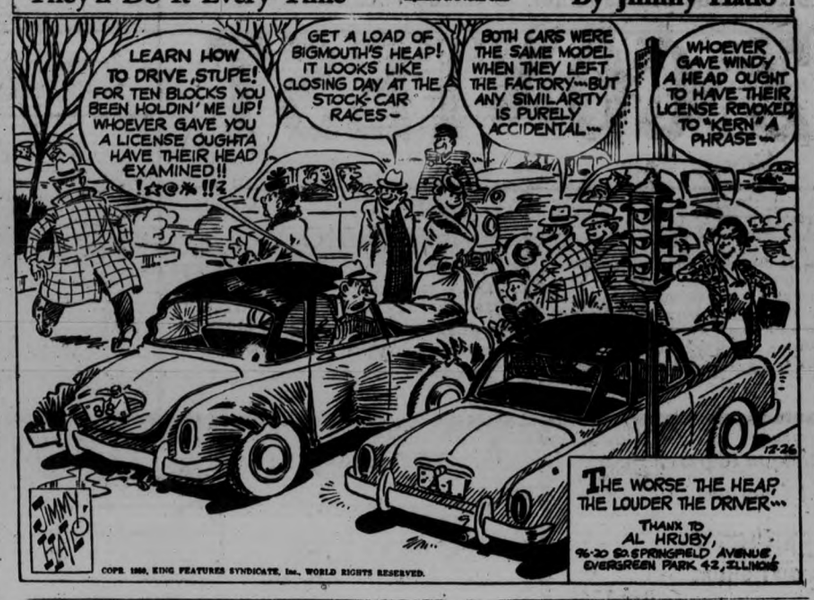

But Howe jumped ahead of Ted Kennedy, Tod Sloan, Cal Gardner and Sid Smith—all of Toronto—in the battle.

Maurice Richard got a brace of goals Saturday night but Sloan still is top goal getter with 17, while Richard has only 16. Bentley has most assists—22.

Leafs Lead Wings By Point After Weekend Tie Quota

By The Canadian Press.

Action in the National Hockey League produced the usual quota of Christmas ties during the holiday weekend, also a general tightening of the 70-game race for playoff spots.

A glance at the standing today shows Toronto Maple Leafs in the van by a single point over the fast-closing Detroit Red Wings, while a cat-and-dog fight is shaping the second-division clubs for the other two pay-off berths.

Boston's unpredictable Bruins played a major role during the weekend in bringing about this situation. They held the Leafs to a 2-2 tie at Toronto Saturday, then walloped Chicago Black Hawks 7-4 at home Christmas night.

The Wings meanwhile were held to a 4-4 draw by Montreal Canadiens Saturday but had better luck at home against New York Rangers Christmas night, extending their unbeaten string to 10 games on a 4-1 triumph.

All To Scratch.

The Rangers, who hadn't lost a Christmas night engagement in the N.H.L. since 1928, had pasted a 6-1 defeat on the Hawks in New York on the holiday eve.

Toronto who have played two more games than Detroit, now have 45 points, the Wings 44. Chicago follows with 28, Montreal and Boston with 27 each and New York last with 23.

Boston Bruins reverted to the outdated kitty-bar-the-door tactics to gain their single point against the Leafs Saturday. It was an unsatisfactory result for the homsters and 12,785 Toronto fans on young Canada night.

Veteran Max Bentley, the league's top scorer, and Danny Lewicki scored for the Leafs, while Vic Lynn and Hilt Schmidt connected for the Bruins. Action was dull, and there were only two penalties called all the way.

At Montreal, a pre-holiday crowd of 13,830 fans saw Maurice (Rocket) Richard tally twice in 27 seconds. Bert Olmstead, recently acquired from the Wings in a trade for Leo Gravelle, scored Canadiens' first goal and Calum Mackay got the toher.

Defenceman Red Kelly, Jimmy McFadden, Gaye Stewart and Sid Abel were the Wings' marksmen.

Overshadows Scorers.

Nick Mickoski overshadowed all other scoring feats of the week-end, however, as the Rangers ran roughshod over the Hawks Sunday. The Winnipeg forward scored four goals and also set up Don Raleigh for another. Edgar Laprade rounded out the scoring for the victors.

Jim Conacher bagged Chicago's lone marker, the first of the game in the opening period.

But the luck that had seen the Rangers win 16 and tie one game in their last 17 appearances on Christmas night deserted them in Detroit. The Wings tucked away the decision with a three-goal second period before 10,115 fans.

Detroit's top goal-producing line of Abel Ted Lindsay and Gordie Howe were right on the target accounting for three goals. Gravelle got the fourth. Lindsay potted two and Abel one, while Howe assists on three. Ed Kullman scored for the Rangers.

A slim Boston Gardens crowd of 7,836 fans saw the Bruins generate their highest scoring power of the season as they mauled the Hawks. It was Chicago's fourth straight defeat.

Bill Ezinicki and Dunc Fisher shone for the victors, each rapping home two goals. The others went to Lorne Ferguson, Woody Dumart and Schmidt.

Robinson Has Top German Tour

FRANKFURT, Germany, Dec. 26— (AP) — Flushed with triumph and money, Sugar Ray Robinson headed back toward the United States to-day after a European tour that netted him five ring victories and $45,000 in only one month.

The World Welterweight champion polished off his last European opponent here Monday night with a fifth round knockout. The victim was Hans Stretz, former German Middleweight champion. It was a non-title match scheduled for 10 rounds.

The American negro knocked Stretz down seven times before finally putting him away with a onetwo punch after 30 seconds of the fifth round.

Today Robinson and his entourage of 10 persons were scheduled to go by train to Paris. Wednesday they sail for the United States.

At Chicago on Feb. 14 Robinson will make a bid for a second world crown in a 15-round title bout with middleweight King Jake Lamotta. After that, according to Robinson's manager, George Gainford, Sugar is considering going to Australia to fight Australiia's triple champion, Dave Sands.

New "Soft" Look For 1951 Expert Predicts

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 26 (AP)—What will 1951 bring in women's styles? "The Soft Look," predicts beauty expert Bud Westmore.

Nothing could make Bud happier. He has been an outspoken critic of 1950 styles, which he has termed "The Frankenstein Look."

Bud should know. The youngest of the makeup Westmores, he is makeup chief at Universal-International studios, where he whips up Frankenstein monsters. He also has the more pleasurable chore of creating, adorning and preserving the beauty of movie stars.

In that capacity he blasted this year's vogues of long skirts, short haircuts, doe-eyes, heavy makeup and bee-stung lips.

Off The Beam

"Those styles came close to eliminating the appeal of American women," he remarked. "Seldom in history have women been so misguided in their attempt to be attractive. They went so far off the beam that several of the top movie actresses appeared on the screen with hair so short that they looked like men."

The reaction has set in, he added, and the New Year will see a complete reversal.

"Women are wising up to the fact that men desire femininity in a girl," he explained. "The guys don't want freaks who paint and clip themselves until they take the appearance of half-drowned cocker spaniels."

Westmore predicted the "Soft Look" will bring these features in 1951:

Skirts will be up to a more alluring length;

Makeup will return to soft, pastel shades instead of the dark, heavy goo;

Bosoms will be larger and more uplifted;

Hair will return to shoulder-length.

He concluded with these words of advice to American women: "If you want to get and hold your man, shorten your skirts, lengthen your hair and soften your face."

Capsule Review

"The Magnificent Yankee" is a splendid contribution to American history. It covers the years of service to the U.S. Supreme Court by Oliver Wendell Holmes, Jr. Naturally, this does not make the lieviest of movies, but it has an exceptional appeal, both in its portrayal of a patriot and the mature love story of Justice and Mrs. Holmes. The film points up the fact that Hollywood has too long ignored the great dramatic possibilities in the field of American history. Louis Calhern presents a careful but dramatic portrait of Holmes and Ann Harding is perfect as his wife.

Five Councils Returned By Acclamation

Douro, like the townships of Smith, Asphodel and Ennismore, and the village of Norwood, will have an election this year.

Reeve Roland Tedford and council were returned by acclamation at the nomination meeting Friday. Six were nominated for the five trustee vacancies on the newly-formed school board of School Area No. 2, raising the possibility of an election. Leonard Welch, however, did not qualify so the trustees were returned by acclamation.

They are Clinton Hough, Howard Quinn, William Amos, Frederick Agnew and David Armstrong.

Loyola Maloney, deputy reeve, was returned for his second successive term. Councillors are Bruce Dunford, Cletus Sullivan and Fergus Moher. Trustees for School Area No. 1 are John Allen, Joseph Sheehan and P. M. Condon.

Following are the results from the other four municipalities that held nomination meetings Friday and had their qualification deadlines late Saturday: (All were returned by acclamation.)

Asphodel: Reeve James Humphries; Councillors Bruce Graham, James Beamish, Max Scott and Walter Middlebrook; Trustees Irwin Russell and Richard Coughlin.

Ennismore: Reeve James Gifford; Councillors John Harrington, Thomas Harrington, Herbert Moloney and William Cavanagh.

Smith: Reeve, Ross Harrison; Deputy Reeve, Gordon Fitzgerald; Councillors Robert McAdam, Allan Mann and Sidney Brown; Trustees Clarence Mann and Cecil Northey.

Norwood: Reeve Rork Ferguson; Councillors Roderick Webb, William Gordon, Dr. A. R. Atkinson and Herb Bradley; Trustees Gordon Stackhouse, Jack Stewart and Wesley Hudson; Public Utilities Commissioners Kenneth Pakenham and Walter Bitten.

Police Pick Up 15 Saturday

Saturday was a big night for city police when they arrested 15 men and kept them overnight on various charges, mostly drunk charges.

They were all let go and most of them will appear in police court when it opens Wednesday morning. There was no magistrate's court today.

None of these men were on a charge of drunk driving. One accident was reported in which drinking may have played a part, but the driver was apparently not far enough gone to be charged as a drunk.

Tapered Off

After Saturday's big night, activity tapered off considerably. Sunday only two men were arrested, and Monday, Christmas Day, another two were picked up.

During Christmas Day, city constables who were lucky enough to be on the morning shift, 7 a.m. to 3 p.m., did not work a full eight hour shift. As in other years, they worked only four-hour shifts.

For the rest, while other people were enjoying Christmas in their own homes, or in the homes of relatives and friends, constables walked their beats, checked doors and went through the normal routine of any other day.

Minor Accidents Stolen Cars Quiet Weekend

Stolen cars highlighted the Christmas weekend action of the Peterborough detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police. Accidents were few and all minor.

Constable J. G. Healey's suspicions were aroused by a slow-moving car Saturday night on Highway 28 and the arrest of two men in connection with a stolen car and a third man on a liquor charge laid in 1947 followed. Warrants had recently been issued for Thornton Brick and Ernest Brick, both of Toronto and originally of this area, after a car, owned by W. P. Mapham of Young's Point was stolen on December 14.

The third man in the party was Joseph Brick, of St. Catharines. He was arrested by Constable Healey on a warrant covering a liquor charge in 1947.

At 9:30 Saturday night a 1934 model car, owned by Glen Brockley, 427 Edison Ave., was reported to the Peterborough city police as stolen. Constable C. A. Naismith of the provincial police at 2.00 a.m. spotted the car on Charlotte St. A chase through the city streets ended in the arrest of Norman Rendall of Peterborough. He was turned over to the custody of the city police.

Truck Stolen

Sunday night Ronald Dwyer of Dummer township was arrested on Erskine Ave. by Constables T. H. Fitzpatrick and J. C. McKendry. Saturday night the Standard Chemical Company in Harcourt was entered. A small amount of money was taken and a truck stolen.: Mr. Dwyer was held on both accounts.

The week-end's most serious accident occurred on Monday afternoon two miles east of Douro on the township road. A car, driven by Fred Fitzgerald of RR 2 Indian River, met headon at the top of hill, with a car driven by W. Stewart of Peterborough causing total damage of $300. Constables J. G. Healey and A. C. Russell investigated.

Car in Ditch

Sunday a car driven by Janis Veveris of Barrie was involved in an accident five miles west of Peterborough on Highway 7. While attempting to pass a truck, driven by W. R. Fife of RR 2 Peterborough, the Veveris car slipped off the edge of the highway, swung around hitting a tree and missing another. Finally it came to rest in the ditch. The accident was investigated by Constables A. C. Russell and J. G. Healey.

A third accident, also minor, was reported Monday night at 9 p.m. three miles west of Fowler's Corners.

2 Women Suffer Serious Injuries

Two women who fell in separate accidents in Lakefield Sunday are in Civic Hospital today with serious injuries.

Mrs. Jack Spargo, Lakefield, fell while up on a ladder helping to decorate the interior of St. John The Baptist Church. Her vertebrae was cracked when she fell back on the pulpit of the church. She was reported today in good condition.

Miss Agnes Millar, Toronto, an elderly sister of Andy Millar, of Lakefield, slipped on some snow on the top step in front of her brother's home. She fell down four cement steps and cracked her hip. Her condition was also reported as good.

Would-Be Thieves Foiled In Three Holiday Breakins

Three breakins were reported to police during the Christmas weekend. In each case nothing was taken. The first was reported at 8.30 p.m. Monday. The glass in the storm door of 556 McKellar St. had been broken to bits. The would-be thief apparently went no further. The owner K. W. Armitage was away. A neighbour said he had noticed the door was untouched Sunday at two a.m. Constable Dennis Traynor investigated.

Half and hour after midnight today, Constable John Conlin found a pane of glass in the rear door of Beatty's Tire Shop on Brock St. broken.

Marks On Door

He entered and saw marks on a door leading to the front of the shop. Thinking someone might still be in the shop, he went back outside and hailed a passing motorist to ask him to phone the police station for help.

The store and the area behind were searched but no one was uncovered. Mel Beatty, proprietor, said as far as he could see nothing had been taken. He had checked all the doors of his store at five p.m. that day and found them secure. The back door which the constable had found open was secured by a lock chain which was impossible to reach through the broken window.

Window Jimmied

Suspicious circumstances surrounded a breakin reported to police at 2.30 a.m. today. W. R. Johnston, 178 Adeline Ave., called police and showed them a kitchen window on the north side had been pried open and the catch broken. But Constable Sherman Keliele and Harold Andrew found that the window had been jimmied from the inside. There were no marks on the outside of the window and there were no tracks in the snow eight feet below the window to indicate someone had placed a ladder or box there. Nor were there any footprints.

Dresser drawers in one of the bedrooms had been rifled and a desk drawer had been opened, but apparently nothing had been taken.

Mr. Johnston said it was the third time his house had been broken into while he was away.

TOUGH ON BACHELORS

A sizeable number of bachelors who room in Peterborough but don't board found they had to fast Christmas morning. One of them complained to the Examiner today that they couldn't beg, borrow or steal so much as a cup of coffee in the downtown district Monday morning. Apparently the restaurateurs were all celebrating the yuletide.

Grave Choice Faces World King Declares

SANDRINGHAM, England, Dec. 26 — (CP) — The King in his 13th broadcast Christmas message to the Commonwealth that mankind must make most momentous choice in its history and decide between the creeds of love and hatred.

"For," he said in the broadcast carried world-wide Monday, "If our world is to surive in any sense that makes survival worthwhile, it must learn to love, not to hate— to create, not to destroy".

Speaking from his study at Sandringham, his Norfolk estate, the King referred to the sadness of British households whose men are at the Korean front and acknowledged that "it is hard to feel happiness and merriment which naturally belongs to Christmas when the grim shadow of war hangs over the world."

Reminded of Book.

These troubled times often reminded him of John Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress." Like the pilgrim, the King said, "We have gone forward, only to fall back.

"Like him, we have fallen back only to press forward once more.

The King said it was not surprising that the individual pilgrim—"The Christian of that great book"— should feel almost overwhelmed by his own insignificance and bewildered by continual blows of fate.

But he counselled his listeners not to take "faint heart" as their friend and guide, but to adopt as their motto:

"Whatever come or does not come, I will not be afraid."

Holiday Calls Set New Record

Outgoing long distance calls placed by a total of 66 operators on the Peterborough Bell Telephone switchboard hit a new peak for the Yuletide season when 2,699 were placed to out-of-town centres. This was reported to the Examiner by E. G. Baker, Bell manager here.

This total is an increase of 1.8 per cent over 1949 Christmas day figure of 2,651.

Christmas eve was almost as busy and Sunday's calls totalled 1,729 as compared with last year's 2,303.

These out-of-town calls were placed to centres all over Canada and the United States. Also included were calls to Australia.

WINTER HERE

When temperatures dropped to 13 below zero during the night and had warmed to a still frosty seven below zero at nine a.m., city policemen decided winter had really come and donned their long winter overcoats and fur hats.

CHANGED INTO BLINKER

The traffic lights at the corner of Sherbrooke and George streets were turned into blinkers for the three-day holiday. The yellow caution light is blinking for George St. traffic, and the red has been made to blink for Sherbrooke St. cars. Thus the comparatively few cars going up and down George St. are not held up, and the fewer Sherbrooke St. motorists are signalled to a stop, then go on immediately with no delay.

BIG BOTTLE TRADE

By mid-afternoon Christmas Saturday the in-an-out store was doing a land-office business. A queue two and three deep wound around the corner from Water in Brock St.

CHRISTMAS BASKET WINNER

Majorie Henderson, 220 London St., was winner of the Kinsmen Club Christmas basket when her ticket was drawn Friday. The lucky number 1418.

George Street Deserted

Not Single Person In Sight

From the customs house corner at Charlotte and George streets this morning at ten minutes to ten there wasn't a person in sight on the east side of George, up and down, and only one person on the west side up near Hunter.

That is a little statistic for the day after Christmas. Water St. was just as deserted, and it was altogether likely that on its east side there wasn't a soul all the way to Lakefield.

You began to feel lonesome in the comparative solitude of Peterborough's main street. All the familiars were missing, and the silence was heavy.

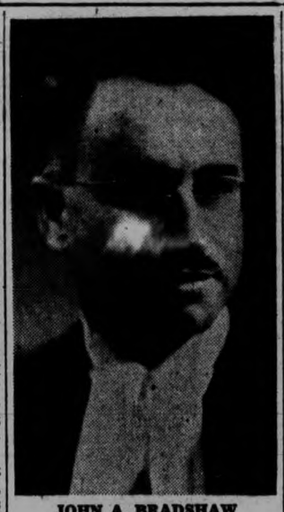

The vacancy recalled that salon scene of Byron's "and gone were all the guests on the eve of Waterloo." Canadians are giving this scene and occasion an alien, imported name—Boxing Day, which is probably as suitable as anything else that might be celebrated.

The weather at that time was still unofficially below zero. Reference to the Examiner's weather column shows that the low during the night was 13 below as compared with 46 above a year ago. That was a spread of 59 degrees.

People of industry and manufacture had set out at the usual hour before daybreak this morning, while the acolytes of commerce were luxuriating in the comfort of the pillow.

And not only the store people and their assistants, but the banks and government places, city hall and just about everybody else, were all absent from their customary marts and places of exchange.

Stores that had closed up on Christmas Eve at the tag end of the festal business leaving window decorations as they had been arranged in the sounds and spirit of "Hark the Herald Angels" showed the only traces of the great holiday and its seasonal buying and giving.

JOHN A. BRADSHAW

Crown Counsel Two Years Appointed KC

Peterborough county's Crown attorney, John A. Bradshaw, was appointed King's Counsel, together with 60 other lawyers, Attorney-General Porter of Ontario announced Friday.

Among the others was Lorne W. Jordan, Lindsay, crown attorney of Victoria county.

Mr. Bradshaw has been Peterborough's crown attorney for two years. He graduated from Osgoode Hall in 1939 and became a partner in the firm of Kerr, McElderry, Howell and Bradshaw three years ago.

Twenty-eight of the new KCs are Toronto men. The others:

John A. Bradshaw, Peterborough; Louis Hormisdas, Carreau, Hamnet Pinhey Hill, Albert Edwin Honeywell, Jr., Jacie Chas. Horwitz and Cuthbert Alden Scott all of Ottawa; Lovedy Kinnear Ellis and Helen Mary McTague, all of Windsor; Hubert Anthony Martin, Donald Sutherland Stephens and William Kenneth Warrender, all of Hamilton; James Allen Morrison, Abraham B. Siskind, and Michael Vincent Sullivan all of London; Sidney Leroi Clunis and William Carlyle Lewies, both of Chatham; John Richard Anderson, Stratford; Arleigh Armstrong, Newmarket, Wilfred Eustace Bonneville, Port Hope; John Gladstone Currie, Barrie; Hector Hugh Gilchrist, Owen Sound; Walter Edward Harris, Markdale; Harry Glenn Hays, Seaforth; Percy Victor Ibbetson, Port Arthur; Lorne Withrow Jordan, Lindsay; Allan Alexander McLean, Arnprior; Lawrence Allan McLennan, Kenora; Robert Percival Milligan, Cornwall; Will MacGillivray Pratt, Listowel; Henri Proulx, L'Original.

Sisters Injured In Crash

Two sisters are in Civic hospital, one with a fractured pelvis as a result of an accident at Simcoe and Bethune Sts. Friday night.

Audrey Patton, RR 4, Peterborough, has a fractured pelvis. Her sister, Helen, is badly bruised but is expected to leave hospital shortly. Audrey is a ward aid in Civic Hospital.

The two girls were riding in a light truck with Harold Sage, RR 4, Peterborough, who was driving north on Bethune St. His car met in collision with a car driven west on Simcoe St. by Richard Rutherford, 328 London St.

Truck Skids

Following the collision, the truck skidded northwest and hit the corner of the Simcoe Lunch, badly cracking the brick.

Rutherford's sister, Mary, also of 328 London St., received a severe bump on the head when her forehead struck the windshield and broke it.

Sage, received a bruised left leg.

Traffic Officer Gordon Trennum, who investigated, reported there were no stop signs at the intersection. He also said the roads were very slippery.

Damage to the Sage truck amounted to about $160 and included a smashed right front fender, front bumper, radiator, right door and running board.

About $360 damage was done to both front fenders, radiator, hood, grill, and headlights of the Rutherford car.

Two Baby Boys Born On Christmas Day

Hospital authorities reported that two Christmas babies arrived in Peterborough Monday. Both these babies were boys.

Mr. and Mrs. William Knight, 228 Rubidge St. became the parents of a boy weighing eight pounds, 14 ounces at 4.26 a.m. Monday, at Civic Hospital.

The other Christmas baby was born in St. Joseph's Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Goselin, 14 Wallace St. This baby was born at 8.05 p.m. Monday and weighed eight pounds, six ounces.

Brief Blaze Destroys Home Of Burleigh Family Community Rallies To Aid

The Burleigh Falls community is rallying to rehabilitate an Indian family of seven who lost their home and their possessions in a short but fierce fire Saturday. Help is being solicited from not only the villagers but from the disaster service of the Red Cross, the Canadian Legion, and sympathetic residents in the county and city of Peterborough. Until new accommodation can be found Joshua Johnston, his wife, and five children—Ruth, 12; Shirley, 10; Joe, 8; Johnny, 4, and Dorothy, 3— are staying with his mother, Mrs. Joshua Johnston, Sr., also of Burleigh Falls.

All five children were alone in the frame house, a half mile from the centre of the village, when the fire started Saturday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Johnston were away in Peterborough doing a last-minute bit of shopping before returning home to celebrate the holiday weekend.

Coat Ignited

According to Ruth, eldest of the children, an overheated stove ignited a coat that had been placed too near it. In a few seconds flames were leaping up the walls of the frame dwelling and the whole place—including the family Christmas tree with the gifts carefully arranged around it—was soon consumed in a fiery mass.

The frightened children had to flee for their lives, insufficiently clothed for the near-zero outside temperature. Ruth ran to the nearby home of Sandy Jacobs for help, but by the time the villagers arrived the dwelling was a crumbling heap of red-hot ash.

The other four children were all standing around helplessly in the bitter weather. Their home, possessions, and prospects for a happy Christmas had all disappeared in the flames.

They were bundled off to a neighbor's home and the family is now living in crowded quarters at their grandmother's home.

Fund Started

Local residents were quick to do something about their plight. Jars to collect money for Johnstons were placed in a couple of village stores. Red Cross branches in Lakefield and Peterborough were contacted for immediate help, and they complied with parcels of food, clothing and groceries.

Branch 52 of the Canadian Legion is also giving what assistance it can to the family.

An unofficial committee was soon formed to collect lumber and building materials for a new home for the Johnstons. The committee was headed by Provincial Constable Bert Howden of Apsley; the Rev. Willard B. Day of Harvey Township; Victor Brown, Bob Beal, Francis and Gerald Tedford, and Bert Mace, all of Smith Township, living in the Burleigh Falls district.

Biggest project to get the family back on its feet again is the building of a one-story frame house, similar to the one that burned down and on the same site.

Build New Home.

Today Gerald Tedford is hoping to cut some cedar logs back in the woods, and this together with some studding, would be the main materials for the foundation. Mr. Mace has nearly enough one-inch lumber for the house, but still badly needed are nails, windows, at least one door, tar paper, and roofing.

Furniture, clothing, and other household articles are being stored in the home of Mr. Day.

"At present three chairs have been collected," Mr. Day told the Examiner today, "and more are needed very badly. "We have two single beds and another three-quarter bed —but that is still insufficient— and we have been promised a table and a stove."

Mr. Day said he would be glad to accept any help from people throughout the county, and in the city who could help the homeless family.

With so many volunteer helpers in the Burleigh Falls district the committee hope that the house, if started Wednesday, can be ready to live in by the week's end.

Johnston is a veteran of five years' service in the Canadian army. He is now a pensioner and was recently rejected as medically unfit after a week's enlistment in the Special Force recruited for Korea.

A member of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment he served in England, France, Germany, Belgium, Holland, Italy, Sicily and South Africa. He was wounded three times while in action and was gassed in North Africa while volunteering at a experimental gas school.

Inquest Is Ordered

An inquest has been ordered into the death of Edward Joseph Lynch, 61, who died Dec. 3 in Civic Hospital while a prisoner of the county gaol.

The inquest will take place Wednesday at 2.30 p.m. in the police court. Lynch was serving a two month term on a charge of theft of three pen knives taken from the S. S. Kresge store.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, KC, said today the inquest was being held to comply with a federal law requiring an inquest into the deaths of all people who die while in custody.

Buses, Trains Handle Record Crowds

A record flow of travellers in and out of the city began early Friday and didn't let up until late Sunday night. Bus and railway workers had only a short breather for the rush began late Monday afternoon and is continuing today.

Although no extra schedules were added by the Colonial Bus Lines, the service was doubled and even tripled on the daily six services to Toronto and two services to Ottawa. The traffic to Lindsay was not as heavy but required double service. Travel northward equalled the Lindsay routes.

Eric Gill, regional supervisor, reported today that the rush was very heavy from Friday until Sunday morning. The load through Christmas day was light and in the evening the runs began to be heavier. Today the routes were again doubled for Ottawa, Port Hope and Toronto as holidayers returned.

Travel Is Split

Mr. Gill said that they are fortunate that the holiday travel is split. Some people have to return to work today while others have the day as an extra holiday. Therefore the load back is not quite as heavy but spread over a longer period.

The supervisor expected the traffic to be heavy until Wednesday and then "for a day or two's grace before the New Year's holiday rush".

Trains, both CPR and CNR, felt the increase in Christmas travel this year. The CPR added several extra sections Saturday and one Sunday as well as innumerable extra coaches. The CNR ran as usual but added extra coaches to each train.

Like the bus lines the railways began to feel the rush on Friday. Monday night the rush back required attention with extra coaches and sections. Monday afternoon a second section of the Montreal-Toronto CPR train was made up at Peterborough and left at 5:10.

On Saturday the CPR Montreal train ran in two sections. The first section was made up at Havelock and left here at 5:10 p.m. The second section came straight through from Montreal and arrived here at 5:30 p.m.

Saturday morning the first section of the Toronto-to-Montreal train arived at 11:40 a.m. and went as far as Havelock. The second section arrived 20 minutes later and made the through trip.

The 1:30 train from Toronto (CPR) this morning ran slightly late and stretched well back across Aylmer St.

Many travellers had a grudge against Peterborough taxi operators. Few taxis operated over the holiday from Sunday midnight until this morning. Most of the arivals on the train this morning were forced to continue their trip on foot as the several taxis at the station were filled quickly. The temperature was 13 below.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Relieving of the Pressure Day After Christmas

This is the day after, when, it is said, we are to relax.

Hmm.

Last week my young people were grim and grey from studying and writing examinations. Then they had the last-minute excitement of shopping for themselves and me. (Pete worked two days up until 9 p.m. earning the princely sum of fifteen dollars.) Then there was the eloquent quiet excitement of Christmas Day morning, mounting to quite a bit of noise by dinner time and evening. But now—the pressure is off.

Inevitably that situation adds up to this: "How many kids can we invite for a 'brawl'?" Translated that means how many will the house hold. The house never grows, but believe me,the parties do.

One year a motorcycle cop called at the house next door to find out about the noise. When our piano and many voices struck up "The Old Rugged Cross" he muttered (I am told) "There's nothing wrong with that at 10 o'clock at night," and quickly took off.

I did not hear about this little episode until the next day.

These teen-agers will play ping-pong and dance and eat and eat . . .

I was about to say I hope this year's party passes off quietly. I should say I know it will pass off without any violations but not quietly. Marked floors can be cleaned, broken dishes replaced . . .

I heard what to me is a new and unforgettable slogan (created by a group of men who are campaigning for a new hockey rink for a community centre): "It is better to build boys than to mend men." I subscribe to this—that's why parties at home are always welcome.

The menu is notable only for its abundance—not for elegance. Kids want food and lots of it—but no highbrow stuff.

Teen-Agers' Christmas Week Party Menu

Cheese-filled Split and Toasted Wieners in Buns.
Hamburgers with all the Trimmin's on Buns.
Celery. Potato Salad on request). Radishes.
Cider. Milk. More Milk.
Christmas Cake. Shortbreads.
Apples.
Cocoa.

Sounds a little queer, doesn't it? But it is what they asked for and it is what they will eat. If I make tea they ask for milk. If I make cocoa they drink one cup and go back to milk. They eat apples by the basket.

I do the wieners—the splitting and filling with spready cheese—in the morning of the day needed and broil them on the broiling pan, while the hamburg cakes are baking in the bottom part of a very hot oven at the same time. Marianne has the thankless job of slicing the onions—and it is thankless for her boy-friend does not eat them.

Pete makes a quick change into his chef's disguise to make the cocoa—over which he presides at serving time—using the soup ladles as a server. It's all fun. Do you find yourselves wishing yours wouldn't grow up so fast?

THE PYRAMID DUSTER and chukker cap (left) as well as the other style-right ensembles shown above are slated for spring. The coat has three-quarter sleeves pleated into taut cuff bands, mammoth pleated pockets. Centre, flared skirt and corselet and right skirtmaker jacket and button-front slim skirt. This outfit is a good example of smart "separates" which promise to be much in the fashion picture in the coming season.

Omemee H&S Holds Party

OMEMEE, Dec. 26—(ENS)—Omemee public school pupils enjoyed their annual Christmas party in Coronation Hall on Friday afternoon.

The party, sponsored by Home and School Association, consisted of treats and two Santa Claus movies, also a program arranged and conducted gy the pupils, with Ralph Oaks as chairman.

Exchange of gifts were received from a huge Christmas tree, which had been previously decorated by Miss Jones' room, with decorations made in class. A group of boys and girls of Mr Curtis' room led in carol singing, with piano accompaniment by a classmate, Jeanette Rich. Barbara and Elaine Rawlins played a duet, and Mary Ann Pooley thanked the Home and School, especially those who gave their time to prepare the treat, and the convener, Mrs. S. Northey.

Mrs. Green, Home and School president, replied and read a letter of thanks from the high school for their part of the treat which they received at their party at the school the day before.

SAIGON, Indo-China, Dec. 26 (AP)—A French army communique said Monday night at least 200 Communist-led Vietminh troops were killed and an important enemy base area swept clean in a combined French operation in the Travinh sector of southeast Cochin China. French navy, air and army units staged the week-long drive in the region 65 miles southwest of Saigon.

DOROTHY DIX

Lack of Latchkey Makes Young Lady Conspicuous

DEAR MISS DIX — Will you please help my father and me settle a problem which is very embarrassing to me. I am nearly 17, but I have no latchkey and when I come home from a date I have to ring the doorbell for my Dad to come and let me in. All the other girls have latchkeys and the boy friends ask me why I haven't one. I suggested to Dad that I ring the doorbell to let him know that it is I, and not a prowler, coming in and that I would wake him up and tell him where I had been but that he should give me a key as the other girls have, and he said for me to ask you about it. Please tell us what you think.

EVELYNN.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER—I think you suggestion a good one and one that your father might fall in with, if you have got the notion into your foolish little head that it makes you seem more grown up to have your own latchkey. One of the things that older people are likely to forget is the passion for conforming to a pattern that the very young have. Their ideal is the rubber stamp. They must all dress just alike and act just alike and have just the same things and say the same things. And inasmuch as this is a harmless vagary of adolescence, it should be gratified whenever possible.

You feel that you are made conspicuous by not having the key, and so your fatehr will be wise if he gives you one while still maintaining his check on the hours you keey. Parents who want to keep in touch with their childern have to do it by meetign the mhalf-way and trying to see things from the youngsters' point of view.

Father's Attitude Sound

I am glad to see that you have the good sense an dth good feeling to appreciate your father's attitude in trying to take care of you. So many resent their parents' efforts to protect them and consider it an unwarranted meddling in their affairs for their fathers and mothers to want to know where they have been and with whom they went and how long they stayed out. They little know how they cheapen themselves in doing this.

Just to know that her parents are standing behind a girl, that they are protecting her and that any man will have to answer to them for his conduct toward her, makes a man respect her and treat her entirely differently from the way he treats a girl whose parents apparently set no value on her.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a bachelor in my late thirties. Since my college days I have been in love with a girl who married my best friend. Both she and he know this and it makes a miserable situation for us all. No woman can ever possess as much as she does of my heart, but I want to marry and settle down and have a fine woman for a companion. I have met a woman who I think could fill this bill. I could give her a comfortable living and a deep friendship. Do you think I would be wrong in marrying her, even if I told her beforehand that she could never have such a large part of my heart as this other woman?

ALFRED

ANSWER: Have you ever thought of yourself as the victim of sentimental hooey? A lot of people are, you know. A man falls in love with a girl in his early youth and he goes along idealizing her and building her up into an ideal of perfection that she never was and nursing his own broken heart long after every vestige of the wounds in it have healed, and he is just as neurotic as the people who coddle imaginary ill health and refuse to get well.

My advice to you is to snap out of the maudlin sentimental condition you have got into. Realize that your unrequited love burned down to ashes years ago. Sweep the debris into the fireplace and marry this nice woman you have found. But don't ever, ever tell her about the other woman and how much you loved her.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Should I let my daughter, who is only a sophomore, go to a school dance with a boy? We have debated the question and I have told her that I never let her older sisters go anywhere with a boy at her age, but she says mothers nowadays let their girls go with boys.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Provided it is a nice party and a nice boy, why not? Also provided it is not during the school week. Times have changed and customs with them and girls have dates much earlier than they used to. Anyway, the mothers who won't let their daughters have dates or go to parties make their daughters consider themselves martyrs and alienate themselves from their daughter's confidences.

6—In Memoriams

JAMIESON—In loving memory of W. J. Jamieson, who passed away December 23, 1949.
Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent is the voice we loved to hear,
Too far away for sight or speech,
But not too far for thought to reach,
Sweet to remember him who once was here
And, though absent, is just as dear.
—Ever remembered by wife and family.

NILL—In loving memory of William Arthur Nill, who passed away Dec. 25th, 1949.
Nothing can ever take away
The love a heart holds dear;
Fond memories linger every day,
Remembrance keeps him near.
—Ever remembered by wife Lillian, and families Dan and Maurine, Audrie and Bruce.

Alnwick Scholars Present One-Act Play

ROSENEATH, Dec. 26 (ENS)—"Henry's Mail Order Wife," a one-act play with three scenes, was one of the outstanding numbers on the program at the Christmas concert at S.S. No. 10 (east of Roseneath) on Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Raymond Richardson is the teacher.

A senior pupil, Ted Ward, was chairman. Another one-act play, "Who'll Have the Car Tonight?" kept the audience in suspence from beginning to end. The cast of characters were adults of the community, namely: Miss Reta Yule, Messrs. Victor Morrow and Alan Dugan and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Richardson.

Other numbers by the pupils were: recitations by Boyce Hardy, Denton Ward, Lorne Grills, Tom Ward and Anne Pollock; a pageant, "The Christmas Story," by the school; a vocal trio by Ruth Hardy, Anne Pollock and Rosella Campbell; a playlet by Gerben De Jong and Ruth Hardy, "A Boys' Chorus"; a vocal solo, "She's My Old Rag Doll," by Ruth Hardy; a chorus by the juniors. The pupils sang four Christmas numbers.

Carols were sung by the audience. The gift of a set of figurines was presented to the teacher on behalf of the pupils.

Eleven-year-old Nelda Brown was piano accompanist for the evening's entertainment.

At the conclusion of the program, Santa Claus arrived and distributed gifts.

The concert was largely attended. Guests wre present from Peterborough, Plainville, Dartford and Roseneath.

OBITUARIES

MRS. ALEX LEESON

HAVELOCK, Dec. 26—(ENS)—Mrs. Eliza Ann Leeson, 85, wife of Mr. Alex. Leeson died on Saturday in hospital in Toronto.

Born in Seymour township, Mrs. Leeson, was formerly Eliza Ann McAlpine, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James McAlpine.

Surviving besides her husband are a son E. J. Leeson of Havelock, three sisters, Mrs. C. Oakley of Campbellford, Mrs. C. Baker of Toronto and Mrs. D. Akins of Stanwood.

The funeral service, conducted by the Rev. F. R. Vanderburgh will be held in the Curtis Funeral Parlor on Wednesday afternoon. Burial will be in Maple Grove cemetery.

MISS MADGE CURTIS

HAVELOCK, Dec. 26—(ENS)—Miss Madge Curtis, 55, died on Saturday at her home on Alexander Street. Her death followed an illness which began the early part of last October. Miss Curtis was born in Havelock a daughter of the late W. T. Curtis and Sophia Weymark and has lived here all her life with the exception of about eight years which she spent in Toronto and Florida.

She was a member of St. John's Anglican Church, was the church treasurer and was especially active in the work of the Sunday School where she served as superintendent for 10 years only relinquishing that office on account of failing health. She received her education in the Havelock schools and the Peterborough Business College and was the proprietors of the M. Curtis Wool Shop.

Surviving are three sisters, Mrs. Dorothy McMillan of Havelock, Mrs. Boyce Sprague (Helena) of Larder Lake, Ontario and Mrs. A. Contrucci (Bessie) of Williamsville, N.Y.; a brother Bruce A. Curtis of Havelock.

The funeral service was held this afternoon in St. John's church with a private service at the house preceding it. Both services were conducted by Rev. J. McKibbin of Campbellford. Burial was in Maple Grove cemetery. The pallbearers were Jack Davidson, Derwood Scott, G. Hubbel, B. Johnson, Carman Coon, E. D. Chiles.

Must Increase Prayers To Gain Benefits

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 26 (AP) — Roman Catholics throughout the world learned today that they will be expected to increase their prayers—particularly prayers for peace of the world—to gain the benefits of the extension of Holy Year.

The papal bull extending Holy Year through 1951 was signed by the Pope Christmas Day, after closing of the 1950 "Anno Santo." The bull, etnitled "Per Annum Sacrum," was published today by the Vatican newspaper.

The 1950 jubilee drew 4,000,000 Roman Catholics to Rome to gain the Holy Year's spiritual benefits. To achieve those benefits in in 1951, the papal bull said, the faithful throughout the world must say more prayers and must especially invoke the intercession of the Virgin Mary. The crowning event of the 1950 Holy Year was the proclamation as dogma of the assumption of the virgin bodily into heaven.

"Everyone," the paper said in explaining the bull, "can realize the opportuneness of invoking during this period, again so menacing, the most holy virgin, queen of peace."

Must Say Prayers.

When a Roman Catholic is offering prayers to gain the spiritual benefits, he must recite five times the "Our Father," the "Hil Mary" and the "Glory be to the Father," plus one of each for the intentions of the Pope. In addition the "Credo" must be recited. Then three additional "Hail Marys" must be recited along with the invocation, "Queen of Peace, pray for us," and finally one "Salve Regina." These are obligatory under the terms of the bull, but it also urges that the prayer composed by the Pope for Holy Year also be recited.

The 1950 Holy Year, the recitation three times of the "Our Father," the "Hail Mary" and the "Glory be to the Father" and "Credo," along with prayers for the Pope's intentions, were required. Otherwise, rules for achieving the 1951 indulgence—pardon for temporal punishment due for sin— are similar to those followed in Rome. Roman Catholics seeking the benefits will be required to visit designated churches. As during 1950, the Indulgence may be acquired as many times as the requirement for it are fulfilled.

White School Pupils Heard In Concert

MARMORA, Dec. 26 (ENS) — White school held its annual Christmas entertainment on Friday afternoon. Trained by Miss Verna Black, the teacher, the scholars performed creditably before the good attendance of parents and friends. Chairman was Carl Clemens, a grade four pupil. Following his cordial welcome to the audience, he announced the program in the following order: Butterfly drill, seven girls; play, A Slight Misunderstanding, Henry Hulsmans and Jean Davidson; song, Rudolph the Red Nosed Reindeer, entire school; play, Changing the Subject, entire school; recitation, Just Before Christmas, Douglas Richardson; drill, "Parade of the Wooden Soldiers," four boys and three girls; presentation of prizes; spelling, Grade II Linda Richardson; health grade IV, Joyce Rose; play "The Night After Christmas," nine boys and one girl; recitation, The Christmas Tree, Lawrence Hulsmans; song "Jolly Old St. Nicholas," Carl Clemens; play "Once In Royal David's City," fourteen pupils. The silver collection to defray expenses came next.

Santa Claus then appeared in festive mood and children succumbed beautifully to his wiles and enjoyed his antics with the aid of two of the elder scholars, the well laden Christmas tree was soon stripped and a treat also given each child. Thus ended one of the merriest parties the children of this school section have known.

Separate Schools Unite For Christmas Party

MARMORA, Dec. 26—(ENS)—Marmora and Deloro separate schools united for their Christmas concert held in the new parish hall on Thursday evening and there was a large attendance. The teachers are Miss Mary Shannon and Miss Florence Auger of Marmora school, and Miss Cecelia Townes of Deloro school. Mr. H. A. McNally acted as chairman and made a brief address.

Guy Belanger welcomed the guests and Kenneth Quinlan recited "A Boy's Letter to Santa Claus." Tommy Byrnes gave a monologue, and Carl McCoy a recitation. Songs were sung by Susan Callery, Connie Donaldson and Jack Black, and a piano solo was played by Elaine McCoy.

Hastings Reeve Returned By Acclamation

HASTINGS, Dec. 26—(ENS)—The former reeve of Hastings, J. S. Stevenson, was re-elected reeve of the village by acclamation Saturday when his nominated opponent, Clifford S. Howse, failed to qualify.

Four old members of the council and three others qualified to run for election to the council on voting day, Jan. 1. The retiring councillors are F. C. Foster, W. A. Thomas, Walter Dodd and Joseph Lynch.

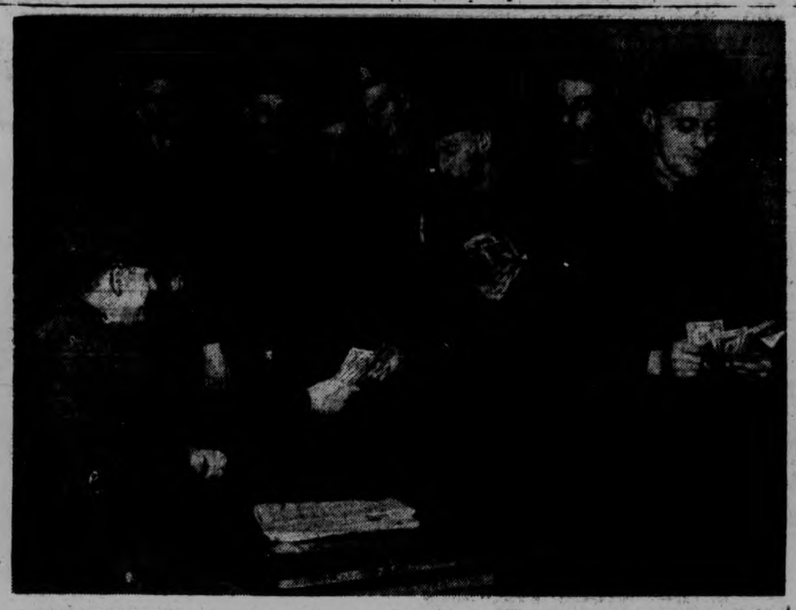

The three other men who qualified were Joseph R. Jones, a one-time councillor, James Calberry and Walter Peck, who was defeated last year when he ran for reeve.

Hastings voters will also be voting on whether or not they want to spend $80,000 for a new school for the village.

L. E. Kelly is returning officer as village clerk J. M. Baker is ill.

J. S. STEVENSON

PAY INCREASES granted the Canadian Army recently came in handy for these troops of Quebec Command Headquarters staff who were paid a few days ago in advance of going home for the Christmas holidays. They received pay hikes of $14 for private soldiers to as much as $50 for sergeants, including the increases based on subsistence allowances. This group, excluding the Paymaster, seated, went on leave following the pay line-up.

Ontario Cities Much Alike Says Humpage

In his scanning of the municipal scene from his post as municipal auditor, Edward Humpage remarked recently that Ontario communities are much alike in all the facilities they have to provide with consequent costs.

Peterborough is only one of the provincial cities within the 35,000 to 50,000 brackets facing the problems of increasing population and physical expansion. If others have been trying to put off the day of spending, it will finally catch up with them, and eventually they will all level off at about the same tax rates.

That is the price of the growth of Canada in the last ten to fifteen years, in which enterprising communities have been sharing, Mr. Humpage said.

Primary and secondary schools have to be built, townspeople require hospital accommodation, new housing sub-divisions impose expenditure for streets and sewers and water mains, electric light lines, sidewalks and all the rest of the pattern of improvement that is the evidence of new energy and liveliness.

Collection and disposal of garbage entail costs, and modern sewage channels have to be provided.

Peterborough does not stand alone in the pressure of problems of paved streets, parking space, annexations and so on.

If Peterborough has been more active than some of its sister cities, and at least as enterprising as the others, it has been accomplishing what all will have to do in turn. New fire halls and police stations, higher civic salaries, are only incidents of the general trend across Canada, with its increasing population. And as to costs, there is not much evidence that work which has been done or is in course of completion would have been any cheaper by delay until 1951.

Maybe there is a seed of comfort and reassurance in the comment of Mr. Humpage.

Mrs. George Walker

The Rev. Walter J. Gilling, of St. Luke's Anglican Church, officiated at the funeral service held in the church for Mrs. George Walker, who died on Wednesday. Burial was at Little Lake cemetery. Pall-bearers were Howard Miles, James Forbes, Howard Walker, Patrick Newmaster, William Purcell and Arthur Couch.

Picket Eisenhower

DENVER, Dec. 26 (AP)—Protesting the proposed rearming of Western Germany, three Denver housewives Monday picketed the home where Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is spending Christmas. The picketing, by two women of the Jewish faith and one Christian, was brief and orderly and was attributed to fears that rearming of the Germans might restore Nazi policy and lead to slaughter of countless Jews.

Christmas Eve Services Held

MARMORA, Dec. 26—(ENS)—Christmas eve services in Marmora churches were well attended. At St. Andrew's United at 11 p.m. Rev. G. D. Young officiated in a church decorated with a Christmas tree and chrysanthemums. Following hymns and scripture readings, was a meditation by the pastor on "The keeper of the stable". At the close of the service, the congregation joined in "The First Noel" with pictorial and musical interpretation as given on the screen.

St. Paul's Anglican was decorated for the festival with four Christmas trees and evergreen decorations, chrysanthemums — memorials by Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Neath for the latter's father William Nuttall and by Mr. and Mrs. William Regan for their son Ronald. The initial portion of the service consisted on carol singing and a scripture reading by the lay reader, W. J. Cottrell. At midnight Rural Dean J. M. Brownlie officiated at choral eucharist with a large number partaking of the sacrament. The choir rendered as the anthem "Falan Tiding", a Tyrolese carol with arrangement by Leslie Bell.

The rector preached an impressive sermon on the Nativity and urged people to take Christ into their lives.

At Sacred Heart Church, Rev. J. A. O'Neill celebrated midnight mass which were followed by other masses at 8 and 9 a.m. on Christmas Day at the midnight mass. Father O'Neill touched upon the unsetttled condition of the world and the advisability of nations living in peace and concord, as exemplified in the Christmas message. The church was decorated with chrysanthemums.

Quarterly services of a special Christmas nature were held morning and evening in the Free Methodist Church with Rev. L. C. Ball, district superintendent, in charge.

Discloses Tests

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26—(AP)—Wind-tunnel tests in which blasts of air travelled more than eight times faster than the speed of sound were disclosed Monday by Rear-Admiral A. G. Noble, chief of the United States Navy's Ordnance bureau. Noble said these and related experiments promise "invaluable data for the design of faster-flying and longer-range weapons." The speed of sound varies with temperature. At sea level, with the temperature at 59 degrees, sound travels at 761 miles an hour.

Philippines Next?

MANILA, Dec. 26 — (AP) — Maj.-Gen. Claire Chennault, wartime commander of the United States 14th air force, says the Philippines are in immediate danger of being engulfed by Communists. En route to Formosa, where he heads the China air transport line, Chennault told reporters he is convinced the Philippines are included in the Red timetable of invasion.

Playlet Is Presented By Marmora Children

MARMORA, Dec. 26—(ENS)—The annual Christmas party of St. Paul's Sunday School was held in the Parish Hall on Friday evenin. Rural Dean J. M. Brownlie was in charge of the program.

Opening with carol singing with Mrs. R. Frost at the organ, a pretty playlet was staged under her direction, in which twelve girls presented "The Different Christmas Presents," the scene being a doll store. Ruth Spry followed with a recitation after which scholars of Miss Margaret Ann Smith's class sang "Jesus Bids Us Shine" and "Away in a Manger" as a candle light number.

Sandwiches, cookies and chocolate milk were served the children. Santa Claus duly appeared to assist in the distribution of gifts and treats. Also given out were prizes for best attendance in the year to the following scholars: Patricia Spry, Sandra Neath, Ruth Spry, Pearl McCaw, Eddie McMurray, George Horton and Glen McCaw.

Power Plan Rejection Defence Blow–Dewey

ALBANY, N.Y., Dec. 26—(AP)—Governor Thomas E. Dewey said Saturday that the federal power commission dealt "a serious blow to our national defence program" in denying New York's application to develop electric power resources of the St. Lawrence river.

Dewey said he would ask the 1951 legislature to endorse a resolution requesting Congress to permit New York to develop the project jointly with the Province of Ontario.

He said the FPC action Friday was "a federal runaround," and contended that the Truman administration was "playing politics."

The FPC denied New York's application and urged that the United States government go ahead immediately with a joint St. Lawrence seaway and power project in collaboration with the Canadian government.

OmemeeElection Set For Jan. 1

OMEMEE, Dec. 26 (ENS)—An election will be held here Jan. 1 to choose a reeve and four councillors for the village. In Emily township, the reeve and councillors were returned by acclamation.

Six men will be contesting the four councillors' chairs, and two are seeking the reevship. The school trustees and hydro commission were acclaimed.

Running for reeve are Harry Deyell and John Bent. For councillor, the following are candidates: Smithson Nurse, Walter Mitchell, George Stephenson, L. W. McKenzie, S. D. Vaughan, D. T. Deyell. The first four named were on the 1950 council. Mr. Devell was reeve this year.

Returned as school trustees were Howard Dent, Russel Rawlins, Arthur Weir; and as members of the hydro commission, Cecil Jones and Austin Hayes.

In Emily, Reeve Vincent Fee was acclaimed, as were councillors George Magee, Elwood Faulkner, Elmer Mahood, and Peter Perdue.

Farm Organizations To Plan Activities

COBOURG, Dec. 26— (ENS)—Heads of all farm activities in Northumberland plan to meet at the agricultural office in Brighton on Thursday of this week to shape the future of farm organizations in this area. The commodity groups each serve definite things such as livestock breeds or canning crops, but the Federation of Agriculture co-relates the various groups. Ralph Banbury, county agricultural representative, points out that a special effort is being made to get the Women's Institutes, the farm forums and township council officers out all are needed if the international ploughing match is to be featured in this county in 1953.

At a recent meeting of the Northumberland County Crop Improvement Association, Allan Curle of Campbellford wa selected president and Reg. McCann, vice-president. Delegates to the Toronto meeting are Elmer Laver of Warkworth and Will McKelvie of Campbellford.

Dies At Organ

DETROIT, Dec. 26 —(AP)—Paul C. Fierle, 68, died of a heart attack at the organ in St. Theresa church Sunday night as he was preparing to play for the Christmas mass.

Christians Hope For Peace In Coming Year

LONDON, Dec. 26 —(AP)—Christians throughout a war-menaced world observed Christmas Monday with a fervent hope for peace—or at least survival—in the year to come.

The Red clouds swirling across ravaged Korea cast their shadows over yuletide celebrations in freedom-loving lands the world over.

The worried solemnity of this year's celebration of the birth of Christ was reflected in religious services, in the messages of church and state leaders and in gatherings about the family hearth.

In many homes the customary rejoicing was muted by the knowledge that sons, husbands or fathers — fallen before the advancing Communist host in Korea —will never return.

The general spirit of solemnity was mirrored in the annual Christmas message of the King, broadcasting to Britons all over the world.

Must Not Hate

"If our world is to survive in any sense that makes survival worthwhile," the ruler said, "it must learn to love, not to hate—to create, not to destroy."

The Pope underlined his Christmas plea for peace extending Holy Year indulgences throughout the Roman Catholic world in 1951. He called for a year of prayer, penance and peace.

Behind the Iron Curtain in Communist-ruled Warsaw, Poland's primate, Archbishop Stefan Wyszynski, issued a courageous pastoral letter read in all churches and calling on the faithful to be devoted first to God and not to party or worldly things.

Western Europe, fearful that it might be the scene of the next act of Red aggression, shared the general anxiety.

In the Holy Land itself, the spirit of Christmas was dimmed by new rumblings of Arab-Israeli conflict.

An Egyptian foreign office spokesman in Cairo confirmed newspaper reports that 40,000 Israeli troops were massed south and east of Bethlehem, giving rise to speculation that Israeli-Arab fighting might be renewed.

Daniel Martin

Funeral for the late Daniel Martin, 81, of Peterborough, was held today from the Duffus Funeral Home to St. Peter's Cathedral where requiem mass was said by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. P. P. Butler. Pall-bearers were: Herbert Masterson, Bertram Kok, John McKee, William, Charles and James Russelle. Graveside prayers were said by the Rev. Raymond Garvey and burial was at St. Peter's cemetery.

Mrs. Elizabeth Tindle

Mrs. Elizabeth Tindle, who died Friday at her residence, R.R. 2, Peterborough, was buried Saturday at Little Lake cemetery. The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt of the Omemee United Church in the Comstock Funeral Home chapel. Pall-bearers were Gordon Bocock, Harvey Sanderson, James Curtis, Gus Johnston, George Westlake, Charles E. Moore.

Mrs. John A. Freeman

The funeral service for Mrs. John A. Freeman was held in Comstock's chapel Saturday with the Rev. Dr. Bruce Gordon, of Trinity United Church, officiating. Mrs. Freeman died Thursday and was buried in Little Lake cemetery. At the request of the mother, sons and sons-in-law were pallbearers. Mac Freeman, Jack Freeman, Claude Freeman, Sidney Constable, Gerhard Loescher, and William Brotherstone.

House Stocked With Food Man Dies of Malnutrition

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 26 (CP)—An 81-year-old man, found unconscious with his wife in his home Monday by neighbors bringing him a Christmas pudding, died three hours later of malnutrition.

A doctor's report said William Steggal died of malnutrition, although his home was stacked with an abundance of food.

His 79-year-old wife, May, was reported in extremely critical condition in hospital Monday night.

Neighbors Mr. and Mrs. J. Woods found the couple slumped in the kitchen, Mrs. Steggal on the floor and her husband in a chair by the stove, when they brought them a pudding in the early afternoon.

Police said Westminster township ha dbeen providing for the couple with food through its welfare service and there was "plenty of food" in the house but no sign of any Christmas meal having been eaten.

Township authorities had made arrangements to move the couple from the four-room shack to the Middlesex county home at Strathroy Wednesday.

The aged couple were emaciated and shrunken ot little more than skin and bones, police said, but neighbors had seen them about the yard just the day before their collapse and they appeared relatively well then.

Scores of empty wine bottles were found about the house, which was untidy and unkempt, police said.

Coldsprings School Has Christmas Concert

COLDSPRINGS, Dec. 26—(ENS)—Coldsprings school was filled to capacity, when Miss Marion White and pupils presented theier Christmas concert. The sum of $42 was raised.

Rev. P. C. Brown was chairman for the following concert: Opening chorus, "Everybody Smile on Christmas," songs by juniors, "The Evergreen Tree," and "There's a Jolly Old Fellow"; dialogue, "Mother Runs the Family"; choral reading, "Long, Long Ago"; solo, "A Christmas Tree," by Kathryn Harper; junior dialogue, "The Night After Christmas"; a Christmas tableau; Flower drill by the girls; tramp drill by the boys; junior dialogue, "The Enchanted Shirt"; senior dialogue, "Advice to the Lovelorn"; song by juniors, "Sunbonnet Sue and Overall Jim"; duet taken by Kathryn Harper and Larry McIntosh. For the closing chorus, "Santa Claus Is Coming to Town." Mrs. G. Campbell was accompanist.

Santa Claus arrived and distributed gifts.

Rome Subdued As Holy Year Comes To End

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 26 — (AP)—Holy Year—called by the Pope "the year of the great return"—was over today.

The great ceremonies, the panoply, the fervent spiritual dedication were history.

The last foreign pilgrims who were here to witness the closing of the holy door Sunday were going home. Or else, like the Romans, they were celebrating Christendom's greatest festival quietly in their hotels and boarding houses.

Rome at Christmas time normally is subdued. The religious, rather than the festive atmosphere predominates. But especially Monday, under a grey and dripping sky, it seemed to have a peculiar atmosphere of melancholy.

Square Deserted

St. Peter's square, which had embraced so many millions of pilgrims in these last months, was deserted. The great dome of the basilica, many times illuminated for the Holy Year's spectacular occasions—the canonizations and beatifications and the proclamation of the dogma of the ascension—was dark against the murky sky.

In his modest apartment overlooking the square, the Pope rested after a year of fatigue, possibly unprecedented for a man of his 74 years.

That he was happy with the "great return" he already had made plain in his Christmas eve broadcast to the world. That the faithful had come to Rome in such numbers as never before in a jubilee year was his satisfaction and joy. But withal, his heart also was sad because of the state of international tension.

Depletion of iron ore reserves in the United States has resulted in the greatest search in history by major iron and steel companies for new sources of supply. An advantageous feature of Naneek's location is the proximity of rail and shipping facilities. The claims being about 10 miles in from Chapleau, Ontario, on the main line of the C.P.R. and within easy reach of Lake Superior ore boats.

Unwilling Pilot Loses Yule Dinner

SAINT JOHN, N.B., Dec. 26 — (CP)—While his wife and four children awaited his return with their Christmas turkey, harbor pilot William J. Murray found himself an unwilling passenger aboard the steamship Assyria, bound for Baltimore.

A stiff wind prevented his transfer to the pilot boat after he had guided the Assyria out of St. John harbor Sunday night.

As it turned out, Murray's family had turkey dinner after all, but without him. While he was forced to remain at sea the family salvaged the bird from the back of his car. He had left it there, planning to take it home after finishing his pilot duties.

Six Elderly Men Die In Hotel Fire

BUFFALO, N.Y., Dec. 26 — (AP)—At least six elderly men perished Monday night in a three-alarm fire in Sam's hotel on Michigan Avenue, east of the downtown district.

Dr. Max A. Schneider of Buffalo General Hospital said he found three of the victims in their beds. Two others were found in a hallway. All were burned badly.

The fire broke out in the top floor of the small hotel shortly after 11 p.m. EST. It sent roomers fleeing into 11-degree cold outside, some of them clad only in bed sheets and many barefooted.

About a dozen elderly men were led safely from the fourth floor.

Mission Trio Said Missing

CHURCHILL, Man., Dec. 26—(CP) — Three members of the Northern Canada Evangelical Mission—one a woman—Monday were reported more than three days overdue on a 185-mile flight from Churchill to Magrose River NWT.

The three missionaries left Churchill Friday in a three-seat Piper Super-cruiser plane. They have not been seen or heard from since.

Bernard Fredlung and his wife are from Saskatchewan and are said to have been students at the Prairie Bible Institute of Three Hills, Alberta. They were married 3 weeks ago. Gleason H. Ledyard, the other missing person, flew here from Magrose River Thursday. They started the trip at noon Friday.

An RCAF Dakota and a Norseman and a civilian aircraft are searching the area.

Havelock Church Marks Christmas

HAVELOCK, Dec. 26—(ENS)—Christmas Sunday was observed with special services at Havelock United Church. At the morning service the senior choir led the service of song and sang two anthems, ' Reginald Dooley was the soloist. The Rev. F. R. Vanderburgh took as his sermon subject "Where is the King" and also gave a junior story "The Angel and the Shepherds". The young people's choir of 39 voices sang at the evening, and entered the church in processional. Mrs. John Beatty sang a solo. Anthems were sung with Miss Helen Anderson taking the solo part. The following girls sang a two-part chorus: Misses Marie Vanderburgh, Marion Forsyth, Helen Anderson, Elva Gerow, Beulah Chase, Kae Agnew, Lorraine Thompson, Mesdames T. Ellis, F. Oliver and M. Barton. The choir numbers were sung to piano and violin accompaniment by Mrs. W. M. Platt and Harry Anderson.

The message by Mr. Vanderburgh was in story form entitled "The Shepherd's Story".

Next Sunday evening there will be a watch night service from 11 to 12 p.m., with singing, explanations of the background of some of our Christmas and New Year hymns and a brief message, with appropriate greetings and prayers for peace.

A Welcome Gift

HONG KONG. Dec. 26 — (AP) —Hong Kong Monday received a welcome Christmas gift from the United States—permission to unload 2,100 tons of American cargo. It was the first discharge permitted at this British Crown colony since the United States banned exports to Red China, Hong Kong and Macao.

Jail 1,222 Drunks

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 26 (AP) —Holiday drunkenness waned toward the close of a three-day weekend that sent 1,222 drunks to jail in Los Angeles, more than 900 persons to hospitals as a result of traffic accidents—and 11 to the morgue. Police, cruising the streets and highways in double strength, counted 1,084 accidents.

Tries Assassination

SEOUL, Dec. 26 (Reuters)—A gunman Monday attempted to assassinate Tex Ban Chang, 54, vice minister of the Korean National Assembly, in one of Seoul's main streets. Chang, in an automobile at the time, escaped injury. The gunman escaped in the crowd.

Meet God halfway when you pray

Do you know how to meet God halfway in your prayers? Do you realize the wisdom of adding "Nevertheless, not my will but Thine be done"?

In January Reader's Digest Fulton Oursler tells how great men—like Lincoln—have learned to listen to God when they pray for guidance. How prayer brings inner harmony to the life of the humblest—how hard-boiled skeptics who study with an open mind become impressed with the results of prayer.

Famous Statesmen Head '50 Record World Deaths

By JOHN TRACY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Death cut deeply into the ranks of statesmen and political leaders in 1950.

It removed three former heads of government in Commonwealth countries.

Rt. Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King, 75, former Canadian prime minister, died peacefully at his summer home near Ottawa July 22. His aggregate of 21 years, five months and five days as Liberal prime minister was a Commonwealth record. He died nine months after giving up the leadership of his government.

Field Marshal Jan Christian Smuts, 80, a leading architect of the British Commonwealth, the League of Nations and the United Nations, died Sept. 11 in South Africa where he had twice headed the country's government.

UN Co-Founder Died

In Wellington, NZ, another co-founder of the United Nations, Peter Fraser, Died Dec. 12 at the age of 66. A Scottish-born cobbler's son he emigrated to New Zealand as a youth and rose to head his country's Labor government through the critical years from 1940 to 1949.

In Bombay, India, Sardar Vallabhai Patel, Indian strong man deputy prime minister, died Dec. 15 at the age of 75. Sarat Chandra Bose, 61, leader of India's leftist United Socialist organization, died at Calcutta Feb. 20.

Two of Mackenzie King's former colleagues who died during the year were Humphrey Mitchell, labor minister, and James A. Glen, resources minister from 1945 to 1948.

British Politicians

Among British political figures who died in 1950 was Oliver Stanley, 54, ranked next to Winston Churchill and Anthony Eden in the Conservative party hierarchy. Others were Dr. Harold J. Laski, 56, political scientist and Labor party leader; Viscount Hailsham, 78, former Lord High Chancellor, and the Duke of Devonshire, 55 former parliamentary undersecretary for dominion affairs.

France lost two of her former leaders in the deaths of Leon Blum, 77, a former Socialist premier, and Albert Lebrun, 78, last president of the Third Republic.

Henry L. Stinson, 83, United States secretary of state under President Hoover and war secretary under Presidents Taft, Roosevelt and Truman, died Oct. 20.

Royalty Hit

Some prominent names were taken from the sphere of royalty. Dowagar Marchioness of Milford Haven, 87, granddaughter of Queen Victoria, died in London Sept. 24 at the age of 87.

In Stockholm, King Gustaf of Sweden, 92, died Oct. 29 after a reign of nearly 43 years. Prince Erik, cousin of the late King Christian X of Denmark, died in Copenhagen Sept 11. The Prince renounced the right of succession to the throne to Marry Lois Booth of Ottawa, from whom he was divorced in 1937.

Death cut a wide swath in the entertainment world.

Sir Harry Lauder, 79, world-famous Scottish comedian and minstrel, died at his Lanarkshire home Feb. 26. Al Jolson, 67, the stage screen and radio singer died in San Francisco Oct. 3.

Other deaths were those of Walter Huston, 66, Canadian-born actor; Vaslav Nijinsky, 60, one of the world's great dancers; Jane Cowl, 65, America's most famous Juliet; Nina Boucicault, 83, the actress for whom Barrie wrote Peter Pan; and Julia Marlowe, 85, most accomplished Shakespearian actress of her day.

The greatest name removed from the literary world was that of George Bernard Shaw. Ranked as literature's most biting wit and the greatest playwright of his time, Shaw died at Ayot St. Laarence in England at the age of 94.

The deaths were also recorded during the year of Edna St. Vincent Millay, 58, one of America's greatest poets; Warwick Deeping, 73, British novelist; Rafael Sabatini, historical novelist and biographer; and Edgar Rice Burroughs, 75, the novelist who created Tarzan.

The death in London Feb. 4 of Baron Montagu Norman, 58, former governor of the Bank of England, removed one of the most powerful international financial figures of his time.

From the lists of Britain's drmed services death removed the names of Field Marshal Earl Wavell, 67, commander in the Middle East early in the last war, and Admiral Sir Henry Harwood, 62, commander of the British cruiser squadron that fought the German batleship Graf Spee in 1939.

In the United States, General Henry (Hap) Arnold, Second World War commander of his country's army air forces, died Jan. 15 at the age of 63.

Church Leaders Die

Prominent figures in religious life who died in 1950 were Most Rev. G. F. Kingston, 61, Anglican Archbishop of Nova Scotia and Primate of all Canada; Msgr. Alfonso de Romanis, 64, the Pope's vicar general for Vatican City; and Gen. Evangeline Booth, 84. Former international Salvation Army supreme commander.

Mrs. Henry Ford, 84, widow of the auto maker and a philanthropist, died at Detroit Sept. 29. Deaths of other prominent women were those of Alice Stone Blackwell, 92, pioneer women's suffrage leader in the United States; and Lady Mendl, 84, American-born international society leader.

A plane crash March 28 killed Laurence Steinhardt, 57, United States ambassador.

One of Canada's all-time hockey greats who died in a motor accident near Gravenhurst, Ont., Oct. 9, was George Hainsworth three times winner of the Vezina Trophy as the National Hockey League's best goalie.

The famous National Baseball League pitcher, Grover Cleveland (Pete) Alexander, died Nov. 4. He had a record of winning 373 games.

VICTIM NUMBER NINE—Richard Lavery, who was shot and criticaly wounded on a Philadelphia street corner, is comforted in the hospital by nurse Mrs. Catherine Williams. Lavery is the ninth victim of Philadelphia's mysterious sniper. One woman was killed, the other eight injured.

ROLAND MAXWELL GLOVER

Office Boy To Publisher, Great Citizen and Friend Roland Maxwell Glover Dies

By HARRY THEOBALD

Roland Maxwell Glover, who rose from office boy to publisher of the Examiner, died suddenly at his home, 361 Park St., late Tuesday evening. He had put his car in the garage after a brief trip down town, and was striken by a heart attack almost as he sat down to read the evening paper. Mr. Glover had been in indifferent health recurrently for the last year, and apparently his many friends had not recognized the seriousness of his condition in its reality when the report of his death circulated Tuesday night and today.

Since 1935 Mr. Glover had been in retirement from the publication of the Examiner which he had directed to the only daily newspaper in Peterborough. Associated with him in the proprietorship was the late R. R. Hall, K.C. at the time of their decision to sell the paper and its allied job printing establishment to Mr. Rupert Davies, now Senator Davies, and the late Harry B. Muir of Kingston.

For the half century, R. M. Glover was one of the most widely known citizens in Peterborough and its district, with many friends elsewhere throughout the country. One of them is Senator W. A. Buchanan of Lethbridge, Alberta, who learned the rudiments of newspaper work as Norwood correspondent of the Examiner, later expanded his training in Peterborough and Toronto, finally went to the west and became a national figure as publisher and Senator.

Served On Council

Mr. Glover was a member of the council four years from 1942 to 1945, inclusive, and was twice chosen as Liberal candidate in Peterborough west as opponent of Gordon K. Fraser, MP. For many years he was a director of the Peterborough Exhibition, chairman of its flower committee, and was in charge of its grandstand attractions when that program reached its peak of quality and variety.

Mr. Glover had a keen sense of publicity which expanded in his newspaper connection. It was reflected in bringing to Peterborough vocal and instrumental

Volunteer Skiers Search Mountain For Two Girls

VANCOUUVER, Dec. 27 (CP) —In a blinding snow storm, police and volunteer searchers today sought two missing girls on Mount Seymour.

The hunt for Marilyn Long, 15, and her 13-year-old companion, Frieda Neufeld, is directed by a force of RCMP officers.

Lightly-clad, the girls have been missing since about noon Tuesday when they separated from a Sunday school hiking party near the 3,100-foot level of the mountain.

Skiers found no trace of the missing pair. A group of army skiers is expected to join in the hunt.

Mount Seymour, on the north shore of Burrard Inlet, is dotted with skiers' cabins where the girls may have sought shelter.

The weather remained comparatively mild, but the snowstorm hampered searchers high above the snow line.

Friends said the girls weren't dressed to withstand the night cold. They both wore slacks, low shoes and light coats for the hike.

Parents of the girls participated in the search, along with 14 RCMP officers and many civilian volunteers. Skiers of the Mount Seymour Ski Club, familiar with the rugged terrain, said they would press on throughout the night.

North Vancouver RCMP issued an emergency call for "any available walkie-talkie sets" to assist in the search.

The last persons to see the girls were two hikers, Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Protham. They told police they saw the youngsters playing beside a frozen mountain lake.

Canada Plans To Train Allied Fliers

Study Possibility Of Operating Large Air Schools

OTTAWA, Dec. 27 —(CP)— Canada has under consideration a plan to open her spreading air schools to fliers and ground crew men from her Atlantic Pact allies to train them beside members of her expanding military Air Force.

Officials in Ottawa said Tuesday night the plan has been under consideration for some time. But with her present facilities already taxed no hard decision has yet been taken.

However, these sources said it would not be surprising if Canada eventually emerged again in the role of the "schoolhouse" of military flying this time for the benefit of Atlantic defence. It was a role she played particularly well during the Second World War with operation of the vast British Commonwealth Air Training Plan under which thousands of Commonwealth airmen were trained. At present Canada is training about 100 fliers and navigators from Atlantic Pact nations such as Norway, Italy, Belgium, and the Netherlands. In addition, the first of 200 members of the Royal Air Force will arrive in Canada next month to begin training in this country.

It is understood here that Britain would like to see Canada train at least 1,000 RAF men a year. And it is no secret that other Atlantic Pact countries regard Canada as ideally suited to carry out a vast, new air training role in the pact setup. They would like to send more embryo airmen here.

Nothing Official

Officially nothing has been said for or against the plan. Defence officials have indicated that Canada would be willing to take more trainees from Atlantic Pact allies providing she would be able to handle them.

Robbers Loot Lindsay Store

LINDSAY, Dec. 27 (CP) — Burglars Tuesday night blew open a safe at the A. T. Claxton department store here and escaped with the firm's entire Christmas receipts.

Mr. Claxton, the owner, said the loot was "in the thousands of dollars."

The theft was discovered by a clerk opening the store today after the Christmas holiday. He found the shattered safe in an alcove, where the thieves had covered it with coats to conceal the noise of the blast.

Police said it was an "expert" job. The burglars entered the store through a second-storey window and moved the safe into the alcove before blasting it with nitroglycerine.

18 Wolves Form Ring Around Trapper

Man and Small Daughter Escape Through Gap After Shooting One

FORT FRANCES, Ont., Dec. 27 (CP).—A ring of 18 wolves surrounded trapper Bobby Calder and his 10-year-old daughter, the trapper said here on Tuesday in describing what he called the most harrowing experience of his life.

Calder, veteran trapper and fisherman at Rainy River, said he made a pre-Christmas visit to his trap line. He said that 17 miles north of here, shortly before sundown, he noted a wolf crouching beside the last trap he had to check.

In a moment, he said, 17 others formed a ring around himself and his daughter. He had five shells for his 30-30 rifle.

He said he decided to try to scare one of the animals and fired two shots at one of them. The animal rolled over in the snow, leaving a gap in the wolf ring, and Calder carried his daughter through.

Walking slowly, he said, he went through without hesitation as the wolves backed away, fangs bared.

Calder said it was the first time in his experience that wolves had threatened him but that the smell of gunpowder frightened them usually.

He said wolves would not hesitate to attack a child, however.

Wolves in the area have increased in the last few years to the point where a $50 bounty has been suggested to preserve the deer population.

Must Risk War Can't Yield In Korea Lie Says

OSLO, Dec. 27 (AP).—UN Secretary-General Trygve Lie said Tuesday night the United Nations must not give up in Korea even though this determined stand risks involvement in a war with Russia.

If the United Nations is forced into war with China, he said, the blame will rest "upon those who have been pulling the strings and perhaps hoping for advantages through aggression.".

Lie, who is vacationing in Norway, spoke over the Norwegian state radio network. He said he had not given up hope for a peaceful solution in Korea, but added that failure of the United Nations to stop the attack on South Korea would mean an end to United Nations hopes for achieving its aims in Korea or any other place.

Unified Community

He said the final goal of the United Nations in Korea is to promote a unified free community governed by the people and to make it possible for Korea to live in peace with her neighbors. He added:

"The United Nations cannot go back on this standpoint and this goal. We cannot permit that a certain system of government, whether Fascist, Communist, Socialist or capitalist, to be pressed and formed upon a nation by means of arms. This simple principle is the key to the Korean conflict.

"Should the attack on the Republic of Korea not be repelled or stopped, there'll be no basis for fulfillment of the further aims of the United Nations, neither in Korea nor elsewhere. If we lose in Korea we'll have to ask ourselves: What nation will be the next victim?"

Lie said that if the United Nations should become involved in a state of war with China's 475,000,000 people, "the threat of a new world war would be close to us."

No More Clues In Stone Theft

LONDON, Dec. 27 (Reuters)—Police today checked a theory that a modern Bonnie Prince Charlie led the Christmas Eve raid on Westminster Abbey which netted the ancient scone stone, historic symbol of English monarchy over Scotland.

The 350-pound, 1,000-year-old chunk of rock formed the seat of the ancient wooden throne on which every British king has been crowned since the year 1296 when an English King removed it from Scotland and brought it to England.

Working without a firm clue after three days of combing England, London detectives were investigating possibility that a "woman" known to have been in raiding party was actually a man dressed in woman's clothing.

Bonnie Prince Charlie,. fiery young prince of the deposed Scottish royal house, eluded the English army in 1746 by wearing women's clothes to board a ship for France.

An anonymous telephone caller told a Glasgow newspaper last night the stone now is "safely in Scotland."

New Port Security Rules Introduced By Coast Guard

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27—(AP)—The United States Coast Guard today laid down new port and ship security rules designed to screen subversives from the ranks of the country's Maritime workers. The security regulations were ordered by Coast Guard commandant Merlin O'Neill. He acted in the face of a strike threat at West coast ports, the embarkation point for men and supplies to Korea.

Heads of two unions—both expelled from the C.I.O. this year on charges of following the Communist party program—threatened a strike a month ago unless the then-proposed regulations were changed to suit them.

The final regulations put out by Admiral O'Neill differ in many respects from the initial proposals, but whether the changes go far enough to kill the danger of a strike could not be determined immediately.

The strike-threatening union heads are Harry Bridges of the 70,000 - member International Longshoremen and Warehousemen's Union and Hugh Bryson, Jr., of the 10,000-member Marine Cooks and Stewards Union. Both unions are chiefly active on the United States west coast.

Denied Cards

Bridges and Bryson centered much of their fire on a proposal to empower the coast guard to deny any worker the "security card" to be required for employment on U.S. vessels or waterfront facilities. This would have allowed denial of a card to a worker:

"When reasonable grounds are found to warrant the belief that such person is affiliated with, sympathetic to, any organization, group or combination of persons subversive or disloyal to the

Weather Not Factor In Okanagan Crash

VANCOUVER, Dec. 27 (CP)—Officials of Canadian Pacific Airlines said Tuesday weather was not a factor in the crash of their DC-3 on Mount Okanagan.

The plane crashed Friday, killing the pilot and co-pilot. Fifteen passengers and the stewardess escaped injury.

The cause has not been determined and may never be known. But a statement from CPA said it has been determined by reports from other pilots that the weather was not unfavorable.

Minutes after the aircraft crashed on the side of the snow-covered mountain, 200 miles east of Vancouver, a second flight from Vancouver landed at Penticton, reporting good weather.

Car Crashes Train 1 Dead, 1 Injured

KITCHENER, Dec. 27 (CP)—One man was killed and another critically injured today when their small English type auto crashed the side of a CNR passenger train at a crossing 2½ miles north of Kitchener.

The dead man is believed to be Jerome Heintzman, Kitchener. The other man in the car, believed to be Dick Heintzman, his brother, was critically injured.

The mishap occurred just off No. 7 Highway on a lane leading to Kitchener Stockyards, Ltd., where the brothers were employed as carpenters. They were on their way to work.

Force of the impact tore both men from their shoes. Members of the train crew said that when they reached the car they found the dead man with his head and shoulders buried in the snow.

Order Prohibits Vote Recount

TORONTO, Dec. 27—(CP)) — An order prohibiting a recount of votes in the recent mayoralty election at Windsor, was issued today by Mr. Justice W. F. Spence of the Supreme Court of Ontario.

In effect, it confirmed the Dec. 6 victory of Thomas E. Brophey over the present mayor, Arthur Reamue, by a margin of 38 votes. Mr. Brophey is scheduled to be sworn in Jan. 2.

An Essex county judge recently granted Mayor Reaume's application for a recount. Mr. Brophey, in weekly court here today, sought the order to block the recount.

Mr. Justice Spence said that, in his opinion, Mayor Reaume had failed to show justification for a recount. Mr. Reaume had made it appear to the county judge who granted the recount only that "someone" believed there were reasons for a recount and that this "someone" had passed on the information to Mr. Reaume.

Dynamite Caps Cache Explodes, Man Killed

ROUYN, Que., Dec. 27 (CP)—Adrien Petit, 39, was killed instantly when a cache of dynamite caps exploded in a mining exporation camp in the wilds of Chibougamau, 200 miles northeast of here Sunday.

The accident occurred on the Nubar Mines property, currently being explored by Miners Incorporated of North Bay. Two other men, Hervey Levesque, 22, and Adjutor Fortin, 31, both of St. Pacome, Kamouraska county, Eastern Quebec, were injured by the explosion and flown from Chibougamau to Noranda where they were recovering today in Youville Hospital. Both men suffered leg injuries.

According to survivors, a fire started in a shack on the property, and Petit, who was employed as a cook, rushed towards the blaze in an effort to extinguish it. As he reached the hut, the dynamite caps exploded, severing his head from his body.

Allied Soldiers Turn Back Light Blows, Big Offensive Likely Soon

Revamped North Korean Divisions Expected To Help Launch New Drive

Strategy Use of Overwhelming Numbers

TOKYO, Dec. 27—(AP)—Gen. MacArthur's headquarters said today that more than 1,350,000 Communist troops are poised to strike at United Nations forces in Korea. Light attacks were beaten off along Korea's mid-section but the Reds still held off their threatened second invasion of South Korea with their vast tide of manpower. MacArthur estimated that 444,406 Reds are deployed along the front stretching across the peninsula south of parallel 38. He reported 277,173 of those troops are Chinese and the rest are North Koreans.

Nearly 1,000,000 others, he said, are either en route to the front or in reserve in Manchuria.

In the forefront of the expected assault is a revamped Red Korean army of 23 divisions and three brigades. Eleven of the divisions were identified during the last 12 days as their patrols probed the allied defence positions.

New Divisions

Many of the new North Korean divisions are believed comprised of newly-trained troops. Headquarters said as many as 130,000 Koreans were reported in training in Manchuria. Headquarters added:

"The enemy has the capability of placing several additional North Korean divisions in the field in the very near future."

The new allied field commander in Korea set the motto for his troops. Lt.-Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway met President Syngman Rhee of South Korea for the first time and said:

"I am to stay."

His remark, coupled with redeployment of the 105,000-man U.S. 10th corps, in Southeast Korea and regrouping of U. S. Eighth Army troops all along the 150-mile border, gave mounting indication that the allies intend to make a strong fight for South Korea.

Chinese and Red Korean patrols probed restlessly for soft spots along the 150-mile border. This is a customary Communist prelude to battle.

Try To Snap Ghost

LONDON, Dec. 27—(Reuters) — British television cameras will try Jan. 10 to pick up the ghost of one of the wives of King Henry VIII. The ghost of Henry's fifth wife, Catherine Howard, is said to drop into Hampton Court palace from time to time. Three television cameras will be set up along Catherine's reported line of march. Said a BBC spokesman: "We're hoping for the best."

Won't Bomb Korean Dams Fear Russian Intervention

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27—(AP) —Why don't Allied bombers blast the big power dams on the joint Communist border of Manchuria and North Korea?

Unofficially and informally (which means they can't be named) some defence officials in Washington offer one explanation:

Russia might seize on destruction of the Communist power plants on the Yalu river boundary as a pretext to take an open hand in the Far East war. On the other hand she might not, but the gravity of the risk outweighes the military value of destroying the dams.

Just who has the responsibility for staying bomb attacks on the dams isn't quite clear. Defence officials vaguely refer questions to "a higher level" and to Gen. MacArthur's headquarters at Tokyo.

There appears to be no tactical, purely-military reason why the bombing couldn't be done.

The U.S. air force could use a technique developed by the R. A.F. during Second World War in attacks on German dams.

In those attacks, large delayed-action bombs were dropped, somewhat in the fashion of marine mines, near the base of the dam. When they exploded a few minutes or a few hours later, the foundation of the dam was blasted away and the structure collapsed at that point.

In the Yalu river power development there are seven dams, two off which are operating and five projected.

With China's open entrance into the Korean war, the dams would appear to have a higher priority than in the days when only North Korean Communists were battling the U.N. forces.

Apple Picker Questioned In Strangling

UTICA, N. Y., Dec. 27 (AP). — An upstate apple picker held for questioning in the strangling of a former Ziegfeld Follies girl denied today he had engaged in a struggle with the victim.

Birger Nordkvist, 41, was seized here at the request of New York city police after the body of Evelyn (Yvonne) Hughes, about 50, had been found Tuesday in a Manhattan hotel.

Deputy Chief Vincent Fiori of the Utica police said Nordkvist told him he had met the one-time showgirl while he was on a holiday spree in New York and that they had drinks together.

But the Swedish-born Nordkvist said he had not struggled with the woman, Fiori reported.

Nordkvist was charged with being a fugitive from justice.

Fiori quoted Nordkvist as saying that a taxi driver and Miss Hughes had been in his hotel room frequently and that all three had drinks there.

Nordkvist had $14.06 when arrested. He told police he had nearly $500 when he left Hamlin last Friday to spend the holidays in New York.

He said he left the hotel in Manhattan about 5 a.m. Tuesday and checked in at a Utica hotel 12 hours later.

Police said he had with him a scrap of paper bearing Miss Hughes' name and the address of the New York hotel.

Iranian MP's Go On Strike

TEHRAN, Iran, Dec. 27 (AP)— Sixteen deputies and editors opposed to Iran's government were camped in parliament today in the Persian version of a sit-down strike. They are protesting recent suppression of opposition newspapers for publishing stories the government considered insulting to government officials.

The demonstration started Dec. 20 when the three national front deputies walked into parliament and announced they would stay there until government attacks against the press stopped. They later were joined on their sit-down in parliament. They cannot be molested, even though the government is sorely displeased.

The editors are carrying on their publishing business as usual, having transferred their offices to the parliament press rooms.

Allied Planes Force 100 Reds To Surrender

U.S. FIFTH AIR HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Dec. 27 — (AP)—Allied Mustang planes were credited today with causing the surrender of nearly 100 Reds on the eastern Korean front.

Headquarters reported the survivors of repeated strafing attacks surrendered to U.N. ground forces. The Reds were entrenched in a mountainous sector.

Pilots reported more than 800 Communists were killed or wounded in North Korea Wednesday. Most of those casualties were inflicted in the Chorwon area, site of a big enemy buildup in the central sector.

13 Chinese Prisoners Want To Join US Army

TOKYO, Dec. 27 (Reuters)—A platoon of 13 Chinese Communist troops captured in northeast Korea want to join the United States army.

They say they want to start fighting "as soon as possible."

When first captured on the Hungnam beachhead before the Christmas Eve evacuation, the Chinese were indignant. They claimed they had been "unfairly captured" when they were questioned by Maj.-Gen. Robert H. Soule, commander of the U.S. 3rd Division, who speaks Chinese.

Though indignant when first questioned, the Chinese, marvelling at Soule's command of their language, soon asked if they could join his army and start fighting "as soon as possible."

US Stops Snubbing Franco Griffis Envoy To Spain

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP) —President Truman today picked Stanton Griffis to be American ambassador to Spain, thus ending a five-year snub of Generalissimo Franco's regime.

Griffis, 63, of Boston, has previously served as ambassador to Poland, Egypt and Argentina.

His appointment to Madrid was forecast a month ago, after signs appeared that diplomatic snubbing of Spain by the United States would be ended. Relations have been maintained with Franco's one-party government, but not at the ambassadorial level.

The United Nations General Assembly voted early in November to lift a ban in effect against Spain and permit member nations to send ambassadors to Madrid.

Griffis' new appointment will go to the Senate for confirmation when the new Congress meets next week.

Norman Armour, the last American ambassador to Spain, was withdrawn in December, 1945. For most of the intervening period the U.S. has been represented by Paul Culbertson as charge d'affaires.

The Madrid government is expected to name Jose Felix Lequerica, former Spanish minister, as ambassador to Washington.

Lequerica has been in Washington for about two years with the title of "inspector of embassies and legations."

Halifax Has Explosion Scare Again

Two Ships Aground With Dynamite Near Navy Magazine

HALIFAX, Dec. 27—(CP)—Residents of this explosion-conscious city learned today that two ships, one loaded with 300 tons of dynamite and 35 tons of detonator caps, had run ashore just three miles from the heart of Halifax.

The vessels grounded close to the Navy ammunition magazine on the eastern shore of Bedford Basin.

Haligonians, many still bearing the scars of the great explosion in December, 1917, usually hound radio stations and newspaper offices for information when "explosion rumors" are circulating. However, few were aware of the cargo when the latest grounding occurred.

The small freighter Amoricain, with ammunition aboard, started dragging anchor, and the converted sealing vessel Theron began taking the explosives aboard. During the operation, high winds drove the ship ashore just as the dynamite caps were being transferred.

Pulled Off Shore

Later Tuesday night the salvage tug Foundation Vera pulled both ships off the shore and stevedores were able to resume the transfer of the cargo.

The Amoricain arrived here a week ago from Sorel, Que., en route to South American ports. She is owned by Sam Marcus of Halifax, and Canadian Industries, Ltd. own the cargo. The Theron is owned by Christense Canadian Enterprises, Ltd., of Montreal.

The R.C.M.P. marine section had ships in the area during the night and officers said "we are keeping a close watch on things."

The Amoricain had been anchored between two small islands near the mouth of the harbor, but later moved into Bedford Basin where she was anchored Tuesday night when the high wind caused her to drag anchor.

Then she was shifted to the ammunition pier where stevedores started to transfer the cargo.

Canadians Take Over New Training Base

PUSAN, Korea, Dec. 27. — CP) — The 2nd Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, today took over the area in which it will train until called into action in the Korean war.

Under Maj. Henry Tighe of Victoria, its second-in-command, it established a new camp. At the same time, it completed the outfitting of the men with the equipment with which they will train and fight.

The battalion's sole remaining administrative task before concentrating on battle preparation will be to reduce its kit to the barest essentials, leaving in a rear depot any gear not required.

Holiday Death Toll Reaches 70 In Canada

By The Canadian Press

Canada's toll of death from violent causes during the long Christmas holiday weekend reached 70 today with reports of five more fatalities in the Maritimes and one in Quebec province.

A compilation by The Canadian Press showed 46 deaths occurred in traffic accidents, 22 of them in Ontario.

MORE ABOUT—

R. M. Glover

soloists for concert work, usually associated with the late Walter Stocker.

One of his outstanding contributions to the social welfare of Peterborough was during the depression which broke upon the world early in 1930. During the First War he placed the Examiner behind the continuing campaign for support of the families and other dependents on active service, at a time when most of that financing was by local effort.

Red Cross Work

In later years his main interest was centred in the Red Cross Society and the Blood Donors Clinic during the Second World War, and more recently in the organization of its blood bank.

Mr. Glover led a full and active life. He possessed the newspaperman's sweep of interests and as manager of the Examiner he placed its influence behind all the public and civic causes in the promotion of Peterborough enterprise.

In his younger days he was a star in hockey and lacrosse, and out of his experience in athletics he finally became president of the Ontario Hockey Association from 1918 to 1920, finally a life member of its directorate.

He was long associated with the Peterborough Club of which he had been a director, was a member of the Curling Club at one time. Gardening and music were enduring hobbies, indicating a facet of his character on the cultural side of life.

Great Patience

Mr. Glover possessed a great gift of patience and forbearance, and as reported of him on one occasion of centennial year recollections his personality was above such pettiness as the grudge and spite. It may be mentioned again as illustrating that side of his fine nature, that he was one of the few remaining friends of the late John Hampden Burnham, the Conservative candidate who defeated J. R. Stratton in 1911.

Mr. Glover was great in the fineness of heart and sentiment, a man of deep loyalties to those associated with him in many affairs of athletics and business and community engagements. His sympathies reached out to men of misfortune, and it is a fact some of those whom he first met during the relief days of the depression still received occasional aid since then. He was happy in his home life, in business, in his fraternal connections, and remained unchanged in the modesty of his spirit with all the success and color of his career.

Kindly Guidance

Several generations of Peterborough newsboys learned the essentials of business life under the fatherly interest of Mr. Glover, and many have always looked back gratefully on that relationship as timely and kindly guidance into the responsibilities of youth and manhood.

"Rollie Glover was a great citizen, and one of nature's gentleman," is the tribute of John E. Sullivan, who was in the city council with him, and that briefly summarizes his fine qualities of heart and mind.

Mr. Glover headed the aldermanic poll in the election of 1936.

As one of the little ironies of life, a friend recalled that he had tickets for a recent hockey game and invited Mr. Glover.

The declining reply was: "Thanks, but I don't feel like it."

Once upon a time, Rollie Glover was the defense idol of Peterborough fans in the old Brock St. rink.

He was president of the Peterborough Hockey Club 15 years, and this year was elected Life Member. Owner of the Brock St. Arena before its last transfer, and also the Royal Theatre, he was once co-owner of the Grand Opera House with the late R. R. Hall and the late G. L. Hay.

Mr. Glover was one of the oldest members of Corinthian Lodge having been a Mason for almost 50 years. He was also a member of the Independent Order of Oddfellows, the Peterborough Club and the past president of the Kawartha Golf and Country Club.

Mr. Glover was a member of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, had served on its board of managers, and was an exemplary member in his attendance. He was at one time a lieutenant in the 57th Regiment.

He leaves his wife, the former Armene Laplante, his son Maxwell Glover and daughters, Mrs. William McFadden (Isobel), Mrs. James White (Nina) and Mrs. E. A. Ayrheart (Jessie), all of Peterborough; his brother Mr. Terrett Glover, and sisters, Miss Jessie F. Glover, also of Peterborough, and Mrs. Carleton Perry of Proctor, Vt.

The body is resting at his late residence, 361 Park St. North, until Friday at 2 p.m. when the funeral will be conducted at St. Paul's Church by the Rev. C. G. Boyd. Interment will be a Little Lake cemetery.

Mr. Glover was born in Ashburnham son of Peter Glover and his wife, Isobel Milligan. That neighborhood across the river was a separate municipality in those days, with thriving industry and a spirit of self-sufficiency which probably stemmed from its numerous Scottish community. Even beyond the turn of the century it was still known as the Scotch village suggesting to Mr. Glover a kinship of common ancestry. His father was a retail meat dealer, occupying a shop on the west side of Mark St., around the corner from Hunter St.

From the High School class in the old Ashburnham school, among whose teachers at various times were the fathers of Hon. J. R. Stratton and E. R. Wood, Toronto financier, Mr. Glover switched to a course in bookkeeping and shorthand at the Peterborough Business College.

Started As Office Boy

When that preparation was finished he went directly to the Peterborough Examiner as office boy, and gradually became the confidant and eventually adviser of the man who had engaged him and ultimately became Provincial Secretary of Ontario, Hon. J. R. Stratton. Mr. Glover was strongly attracted to newspaper work from his first day's introduction to the Examiner, and while he took increasing interest in it he also managed to find time for lacrosse and hockey in which he developed remarkable proficiency.

He played point or rear defense on two Peterborough OHA championship hockey teams in 1902 and 1906.

In winning that first title, Peterborough took the final round from Galt 7-6; and in 1906 they travelled west to Goderich, taking the two-game series by 14-8. That was one of the great provincial teams of those first 10 winters of the century. Just to recall them: Goal, Ernie Wasson; defense, R. M. Glover and Harold Armstrong, and subsequently Bill Crowley; rover, Fred Whitcroft; wings, Roy Armstrong and Chris Graham, and centre, Harry Morgan. Bill Cavanagh also played on that team.

Mr. Glover was a powerful defense man, fearless in bodily contacts of the game, and always a fine sportsman.

The Peterborough Lacrosse Club is almost forgotten with PAAA grounds in Ashburnham that was their playing field. Some of the stars of that time were: Percy Rubidge, Lionel King, Jim McCabe, Jack Mein, Walter Phelan, Fred Dobbin, George Lipsett, Jack McCabe, Rollie Glover and others. They captured one championship. Glover and Lipsett had tough assignments at inside and outside home, within the enemy's defense. Jack McCabe and Mr. Glover were a clever combination, someone has said of them that they had much to do with the development of the short passing game.

In those years Mr. Glover grew up in business and in personal popularity and in the deep respect of the public who could see characteristics reflected in the heat of those strenuous games.

Additional Responsibility

As J. R. Stratton expanded his political ambitions, more of the responsibility of management of the Examiner devolved to Mr. Glover then and later when he was associate proprietor and publisher with R. R. Hall, KC. That period of his career was during the years of final competition of two or three newspapers, largely political organs in every town and city in the country.

Competition was keen, reaching out in the news service as the background to the circulation department. Foreign news, in those days before The Canadian Press was organized, was received daily by express from Toronto ,in the form of columns of plate metal, reproduced from matrices in a service from the old Toronto World.

It may be recalled as evidence of expedience in amplifying news from the world at large that stock brokerage rooms upstairs at the corner of Hunter and George streets used to receive brief flashes of foreign events, telegraphed from some Buffalo headquarters. They afforded incidental news to the customers, but to the Examiner they became almost daily features, amplified in office elaboration, and dressed up with eye-catching headings.

That source proved valuable, but Mr. Glover's chief interest was in local news of the city and district even down to the personal column and the brief "nuggets". It seemed that nothing in the opposition papers, both the old Daily Review and Morning Times, escaped his roving eye for "scoops".

Comparison with the "enemy" was a daily staff anxiety. In his mild manner, Mr. Glover often would mention some four or five line item that had not appeared in the Examiner, a miniature "scoop". To balance the account with approval he would also name Examiner stories which had been exclusive, and with more emphasis of appreciation he would casually comment: "That was a fine story we had last night".

There were the little daily stuff of newspaper work, apart from major reporting, that doubtless carried the Examiner in an increasing number of homes.

Management took charge of larger phases of newspaper enterprise, for that contribution in those days most of the credit was due to Mr. Glover. He had a sound sense of publicity, and also of his newspaper's responsibility to the public. And, many a page of advertising was designed and written by his own hand.

That was the course of his advancement from office boy to owner.

He had spent long hours in making the Examiner a better newspaper, and his attention embraced every department, news, mechanical, circulation, accounting advertising.

Depression Years

In the depression of the 1930's R. M. Glover quietly assumed a leadership which is most gratefuly remembered by those who were aware of his contributions and leadership in marshalling aid for persons and families who had no way of helping themselves.

The Examiner itself became an agency of relief, and only last night a little item in the "Days Gone By" corner of the Examiner, appeared this significant mention under date of Dec. 26, 1930: "A midnight show at the Capitol theatre raises $540 for the Examiner relief fund".

It is also recalled that even homeless men on the road passed the word to many of their wandering jobless fellows that there was a haven of hand-out in clothing, boots, stockings, and temporary roof over their heads, available at the Examiner.

It is too long a story to recall now as a prolonged distressful experience. Miss Cathleen McCarthy who shared much of Mr. Glover's confidence in the charitable work he carried on as obscurely as possible mentioned today one Christmas when they distributed two baskets of groceries and other domestic goods to homes in dire need. They motored about the city until after midnight making calls that had come late to their list of recipients. Mrs. Harold Dunford assisted them on one of those late occasions.

When some one mentioned a few repeaters, Mr. Glover's comment was "Oh, well they need it, and what if it is an extra basket".

The Examiner relief fund at one time reached $1,500 collected from dances, theatre nights and other community affairs in which the public cheerfully assisted.

Mr. Glover and Mr. James Dutton were appointed to a relief committee set up and financed by the city council, a grim and heartbreaking duty that had to be performed with kindness on the one hand, and restraint on the other in disbursing public money.

The council became a tearful place at those meetings when many good citizens were reduced to the stage of having to seek public charity.

Some of the recipients were men wearing medals of the First World War, and of those who were tramping the highways and riding trains many were sockless and with holes worn through the soles of their shoes.

It was a cold world, but that committee, some of the members are forgotten at the moment, managed to keep destitute families with fires in their stoves and food on their table, and with clothing for their children, without too heavy a demand on the civic treasury, reinforced by government aid.

It was an unforgettable experience in a protracted social and industrial crisis for which the nation as a whole was unprepared.

Miss McCarthy remarked today that Mr. Glover gave largely of his own money for the cause of relief when the Examiner Fund was drained to a low level by the necessities of families.

Defence, Rearmament Top Conference Topics

LONDON, Dec. 27 (Reuters)—Defence and rearmament will be the main problems for the Commonwealth prime ministers when they begin their 10-day closed-door conference in London Jan. 4

Meeting under the continuing anxiety of the international situation, the conference will deal with issues going far beyond the Commonwealth itself.

It is expected to disclose some of the strains and stresses in the loose-knit Commonwealth relationship.

Political observers feel that India, through her prime minister Jawaharlal Nehru, will play a vital part in the talks.

European problems are not expected to raise many controversies, as the last Commonwealth conference discussed the North Atlantic liance in general terms. But observers expect protracted discussion on policy affecting the Far East.

OBITUARIES

MRS. FRED M. DIXON

Mrs. Fred M. Dixon of Lakefield, died in hospital Tuesday following a lingering illness. She was born in Peterborough, the former Bessie Sim Knox, daughter of the late John Knox and Mary Hair. She has lived in Peterborough for four years, coming there from Otonabee.

Mrs. Dixon was a member of the Church of St. John the Baptist, Lakefield, and was active in all branches of the church, particularly the Women's Association.

She leaves her husband, Fred M. Dixon and one sister, Mrs. George Hazlitt, of Peterborough.

The funeral will be held at the Comstock Funeral Home, Friday at 2 p.m. The Rev. L. J. Delaney of the Church of St. John the Baptist, Lakefield, will conduct the service. Burial will be in St. Mark's cemetery, Zion.

MRS. MARGARET McGILL.

BETHANY, Dec. 27 (ENS). — Mrs. Margaret McGill died at Lindsay on Wednesday following a long illness. She was 78 years of age. Mrs. McGill, the former Margaret Jane Lowery had lived her entire lifetime in the Bethany district. As long as health permitted she had been a particularly active member of the Women's Institute, the Presbyterian Church and later in St. Paul's Anglican Church.

Immediately surviving are four sons: Cecil of Vancouver, B. C.; Earl of Peterborough; Louis and Bruce of Bethany, and one daughter, Mrs. James Ward (Mae) of Chesley. Four grandchildren, Joan and Joyce McGill, Vancouver, B. C.; Charles McGill, Bathany, and Kirkwood Ward, Chesley; three brothers, Gibson and Hugh Lowery of Bethany; Thos. Lowery of Chesley and three sisters, Mrs. Cephas Staples, Bethany; Mrs. Wilfred Mulligan, Lindsay and Mrs. L. McQuade, Omemee.

Her husband, Orr Herbert McGill, died several years ago.

A private service was held on Saturday at her late residence, Lot 21, Concession 10 of Manvers Township, followed by a service in St. Mary's Church with Rev. T. S. Gault officiating. Burial was in the family plot at St. Mary's Cemetery.

Pallbearers were six nephews: Lawrence Staples, Thomas Mulligan, Lowery McQuade, Bruce Ryley, Lloyd Ashton and Harvey McGill.

Flower bearers were: Talbert Kellett, Weston Hutchinson, Douglas Logan, Harry O'Brian, Morton Davis, Ralph Rowan, Leslie Lang, Louis Staples, William McCullough, Elmer Barnsley, Percy Russell, Addison Scott, Percy Sarginson, Clarence Page, Stewart McGill, Frank McGill, Milton Weatherilt and James Turnbull.

MRS. FLORENCE B. NIGH

Mrs. Florence Beatrice Nigh, of 74 Hunter St. E., died suddenly in hospital on Monday. She was born in Toronto, daughter of the former Emma Baier and the late Frederick Bensinger, and came to live in Peterborough 20 years ago from Springfield, Ont. Her husband, Henderson Nigh, predeceased her.

She leaves her mother and two daughters, Mrs. Michael Clancy (Elsie) of Hamilton, and Mrs. Ruby Gilpin of Toronto. There are two sisters, Mrs. Albert Oldfield, of Guelph, and Mrs. Leo Burke, of Miami, Fla.

Funeral service will be held at the Belleghem Funeral Home on Thursday evening at 8 p.m. The Rev. B. S. Morwood, of Mark St. United Church, will officate and burial will be at Prospect cemetery, Toronto, on Friday.

government of the United States."

That provision was rewritten extensively in the wake of arguments by the two union chiefs that such charges are too vague and no man can defend himself against them. They contended that denials should apply only to persons convicted of or proved to be trained for spying or sabotage.

As put into effect, the provision now reads that the basis of card denials shall be "reasonable grounds for the belief" that the individual has done such active things as committing acts of treason, sedition or sabotage; has actively advocated or supported the overthrow of the government by force; has intentionally disclosed secret military information; or is employed by "or subject to tthe influence of" a foreign government.

Roseneath Minister Given Pair Of Blankets

ROSENEATH, Dec. 27 (ENS)—Following the Christmas service at Centenary Church on Sunday afternoon, the Rev. and Mrs. R. C. White were presented with a pair of white blankets on behalf of the board of stewards and the congregation.

An address voicing the appreciation of the congregation to Rev. and Mrs. White for their untiring efforts during the year was read by Silas Sherwin.

The presentation was made by Allen Elder.

Canada Plans

But it is pointed out that there are numerous problems. With her own buildup of military strength —particularly that of the air force —training facilities are going to be taxed to the limit.

The RCAF, whose manpower, at over 17,000, stands at its highest in peacetime history, has a big recruiting drive on. Construction and renovation of airfields is going at a fast pace for the establishments of new squadrons and new training facilities but most of them are going to be needed to train Canadians in the arts of modern warfare.

Expect Mass Attack

Military sources said the Reds, when they hit, likely will throw massed thousands into battle as they did in North Korea. There they crushed by sheer weight of numbers an allied offensive and turned the U. S. Eighth Army back down the road into South Korea.

Now the Eighth Army, including its British, South Korean and other units, is strung along the mountainous defensive terrain fronting and parallel 38 border.

Sharp valleys and broken mountain terrain stretch along the border. Before the war erupted, both North and South Koreans maintained strong defensive positions there.

Military sources in Tokyo said Allied troops can command all approaches to South Korea. They said it was unlikely that any sizable force of Chinese or Red Koreans could launch a southward drive without being hit hard.

Push Build-up

The Reds pushed their buildup of power in central North Korea, springboard for the offensive which Gen. MacArthur's headquarters has said for the last several days is imminent.

Allied troops Wednesday beat back light probing attacks northeast of Chunchon, in the centre of the peninsula.

The eighth army reported Chinese Reds massing north and northwest of Seoul, the South Korean capital.

Allied planes hammerd at the Communist gathering close behind the front lines. The Far East air forces bomber command sent B-29s against enemy forces near Parallel 38.

South Korean troops methodically cut to pieces a North Korean regiment surrounded south of Chorwoh, near the centre of Parallel 38.

MacArthur said South Korean forces contained an enemy attack near Taedong which lasted for nearly an hour Tuesday. Some small ground gains were made by the Communists but original positions were restored later.

Dollar Higher

MONTREAL, Dec. 27 (CP) — The American dollar today opened at 5 29/32 per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, 3/32 higher than Tuesday's close. That is, it took $1.05 29/32 Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.96⅝, up ⅝.

Industrials Advance In Quiet Trading

TORONTO, Dec. 27 (CP)—Industrials advanced in quiet trading as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today.

Gains ranged to more than $2 and outnumbered losses about two to one. Papers sparked the climb with St. Lawrence Paper up $1.50. Utilities, foods, textiles, banks and refining oils showed a majority of gains. Constructions and manufacturing companies tended lower and the rest of the board was mixed. Strong advances were made by Consumers Gas, Atlas Steels and Aluminum.

Base metals were higher with gains up to 75 cents.

Golds eased quietly. In the senior group Hollinger, Lake Shore and Teck Hughes dipped fractions and among junior producers Belleterre, Macassa, Newlund, O'Brien and Upper Canada lost pennies.

Western oils were mixed with very little trading. Home Oil and Selburn advanced while Pacific Petroleum and Foothills declined.

Meet God halfway when you pray

Do you know how to meet God halfway in your prayers? Do you realize the wisdom of adding "Nevertheless, not my will but Thine be done"?

In January Reader's Digest Fulton Oursler tells how great men—like Lincoln—have learned to listen to God when they pray for guidance. How prayer brings inner harmony to the life of the humblest—how hard-boiled skeptics who study with an open mind become impressed with the results of prayer.

General's Return

The appointment of General Dwight D. Eisenhower to command the combined forces of the North Atlantic powers has been greeted with warm approval by all the countries concerned. General Eisenhower has above all other qualifications for the position, great administrative and diplomatic abilities. As he demonstrated as Supreme Commander in Europe during the last war, he can command the confidence and co-operation of even the most strong-minded, self-determined generals, and the loyalty and devotion of brilliant staff officers, strategists and tacticians.

* * *

Two other generals famed for their successful leadership in Europe during the last war come to mind as deputy commanders: Field Marshal the Viscount Alexander, our Governor-General, and Field Marshal the Viscount Montgomery, who is military head of the Western European Union defence organization. Field Marshal Montgomeary's command is expected to come into the broader organization under General Eisenhower.

* * *

It may be objected that these three great military leaders are now ten years older than they were when the first steps were being taken to organize the successful campaigns which brought Germany to subjugation in Western Europe. Viscount Montgomery is now 63; General Eisenhower is 60, and Viscount Alexander has just turned 59. They are not old men, and there are none more experienced or reputable to assume direct command of western democracy's military organization for its own defence.

Weather Proud

Canadians are pretty cocky about their country. They are even proud of its weather. The Englishman's complacency in the wetness of that country (the British groaning about their rain is an inverted national snobbery) is outdone by the Canadian smugness when the weather here is "typical". By typical, they mean hot as the devil in summer, radiant as a tapestry in the fall, and cold as all-get-out in winter. When Canadian weather lives up to its reputation, we as a race positively ooze self-satisfaction.

For instance, this Christmas Nature was just what the picture post-cards ordered: white snow on the ground, brilliant sunshine, and a real nip in the air. Most people we know kept one eye on the thermometer and only the other on the turkey. When the mercury went down to zero their pride was unbounded. "Gosh, it's cold, isn't it? Better watch your ears . . . Real Christmas weather". From one end of this sub-zero district to the other the pride in the temperature kept hearts warm. Fortunate the few with visiting friends from overseas or the Antipodes who could take special pleasure in showing off "real Canadian Christmas weather".

The fact is that we as a people are heartily proud that Kipling dubbed Canada "Our Lady of the Snows". And it's wonderful when the little lady dresses up as she is supposed to—especially at Christmas. Pride goeth after a fall in temperature.

Little Encouragement To Save Money

While the government boosts the pay of more than 300,000 persons directly or indirectly in the service of the country—the armed forces, the civil servants and the railway workers, it at the same time urges people to save money. The pay increases are, as we have already pointed out, inflationary. The salting away of money, in government bonds, banks and the like, is a check on inflation. But what real encouragement have private persons to save money to restrict inflation, when the government itself gives inflationary increases in pay and in other ways spends money hand over fist? In fact, what the Government is expecting is unreasonable. It expects a person to put away a dollar (or a hundred) now, when its value is perhaps 60 cents, and take it out again when the rainy day comes in two, five or ten years, and find it worth only 45 cents. For the government itself, by its spending, is depreciating the value of the dollar and inflating the country's economy.

Many Canadians will look coldly on the appeal to save money and buy bonds in these days of falling dollar values. Many will think that the best kind of roof to build over their heads for a rainy day is a real roof, now, and not a financial one of paper dollars. Among them will be ex-service men—and there are about one million of them—who were disillusioned before. During their war service years they built up their savings, either by compulsory deferment of pay, remittances home, favourable bank balances, or by buying Victory Bonds. (Canadian army troops overseas, not counting those based in Canada, or naval and air force people, subscribed to $60,227,050 worth of Victory Bonds). Those members of the armed forces were not at home to deal in real estate, buy houses and furniture, summer cottages or to expand businesses. But they came home in 1945 and 1946 with their nest-eggs to discover that their fortunes of several hundred or several thousand dollars, together with their war service gratuities, were worth perhaps seventy cents on the dollar which they thought they had invested.

It is true that the salting away of money now is, from a national point of view, a good thing. It is a check-rein on inflation. But the Government will have to do a large job of selling to convince private people that it is a good thing for them. And how can the Government, which spends so lavishly and itself seems so little concerned about inflation, be a convincing salesman of an economic device to which it pays little attention? Let the Government start to save money and the people may follow suit.

Politics and Baseball in the U.S.A.

Unhappiness has come to Happy Chandler. Readers who are baseball fans will know that Mr. Chandler was appointed Grand Commissioner of Organized Baseball in the United States after the death of Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis. They may also know that Mr. Chandler was recently voted out of the job by a majority verdict of major league baseball club owners. That is what has made Mr. Chandler unhappy, and he has refused to accept an offer of two years' salary—$120,000—in exchange for a letter of resignation.

Mr. Chandler appears to be puzzled by the dismissal vote, but that vote is not nearly as puzzling as his appointment in the first place. He enjoyed reasonable success as a Kentucky politician, and was elected as Senator from that State. His campaign ammunition consisted largely of a pleasant singing voice, the ability to play a genial buffoon, an infectious laugh, and an amiable personality. These qualities, added to a genuine love of baseball, hardly seemed to qualify him for the post of Grand Commissioner. It quickly became clear they did not do so.

The great mistake made by Mr. Chandler—but not the only one—was to look upon organized baseball as merely another and less complicated form of politics. The Washington Post points to the gravity of this error by saying that "whereas Americans have a very frivolous attitude toward politics, their attitude toward baseball is one of almost religious solemnity. It is perhaps the one sphere of our national life in which they will tolerate no nonsense." Judge Landis was the ideal man for the job; he ran the ball parks as though they were Federal District court rooms. If a ball player bet on a horse race, the judge was implacable. The pitcher who hid a bit of emery paper in his glove to produce a "shine ball" was instantly and severely punished.

And Judge Landis was revered, at times cheered, by fans and by most owners and managers. Some of the latter were often hurt by his decisions, but they knew only too well he had the full support of the fans. Whoever thought that this austere, impartial and able jurist could be replaced by genial, bumbling Happy Chandler was thinking fuzzily indeed. Mr. Chandler has now been told this fact of baseball life, and he is unhappy.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A dentist says that it is socially acceptable to use a toothpick in public. Good! Now let's hear a lecture on dentistry from an etiquette expert.

In these strange days, it's a rare house that lasts as long as its mortgage.

The reason that we know that Santa Claus is very, very old is because of his interest in empty stockings.

Invention, as the Calgary Herald points out, is the mother of necessity. You have only to invent something, and immediately everybody thinks he needs it.

A book called Quick Canadian Facts informs us that in 1949 Canadians paid $1,544,000,000 in direct taxation, and $1,859,000,000 in indirect taxation, which suggests that the Government is not merely heavy-handed, but also light-fingered.

ON THE MARGIN

Soldier's Biography

ARTHUR CURRIE: THE BIOGRAPHY OF A GREAT CANADIAN, by Hugh M. Urquhart, C.V.O., D.S.O., M.C. (J. M. Dent & Sons).

THE frontispiece of this biography is a photograph captioned "Lieutenant-General Sir Arthur Currie (G.O.C. Canadian Corps) and Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig (Commander-in-Chief, British Armies in France), February, 1918". In the background is half a wall of sodden, solid sand-bags. The sandbags put the biography in its setting.

This book should have been published 25 years ago, or 25 years hence. Hague and Currie are in the oblivion to which recent history has cast them and from which history written in the next half century may rescue them. No biography in this decade can fully revive these names. Even the author, Colonel Urquhart passed to the shades this year, without seeing his opus of 25 years' labour in print. But libraries and other institutions must have it, and the remaining few of senior rank who fought with or under Currie.

Sir Arthur Currie was the first Canadian to command Canadians in foreign fields. He was trained and educated as a teacher. He moved to British Columbia where he eventually established himself in Victoria as a real estate and insurance agent, and where he joined the non-permanent militia. He early clashed with Sam Hughes (later Sir Sam), the Lindsay politician of dim, unenshrined memory, who became Minister of National Defence.

Currie was nobody's yes-man, but his post-war administration as Principal of McGill University shows an affirmative acceptance of Montreal business standards.

Colonel Urquhart knew General Currie well, and leans over backwards in his attempts to balance his reverence for his old chief and friend with post-war criticisms. Colonel Urquhart is scrupulous: "What happened immediately thereafter at Currie's Command Post cannot be stated positively or in any assured sequence. The shorthand notes available cover no more than disjointed parts of the telephone conversations passing to and fro, and the one field message available is fragmentary only." (p. 83) It does not matter what the incident. This indicates the scholarly care of the work, and the stuff of which history is made, but not the stuff which makes history.

The book is an invaluable contribution to military annals by one who knew the circumstances, the General and the times. There is a chapter of special interest to local readers on the Cobourg Libel suit, when Sir Arthur won his case against the Port Hope Guide. He sued for damages of $50,000 and was awarded $500 and costs. The costs of the great suit were very heavy for the Port Hope Guide had published the statement in 1927 about "deliberate and useless waste of humane life at Mons for the glorification of Canadian Headquarters". The case became a cause celebre.

A great Canadian? It is possible to believe so, after reading this book. The reputations of generals always suffer after the war in which they became national heroes, and recover slowly. Colonel Urquhart has diligently and patiently examined his hero's stature in the light of Currie's detractors, and found Currie not wanting in the important things which make for greatness.

Sir Arthur has been dead 17 years. It is not long enough to put him in adequate perspective.

The late Field Marshal Smuts says of Currie in his foreword to the book: "Men like Currie are rare, and their story is an enrichment of the history of their country and of our human record as a whole, and should never be allowed to pass into oblivion."

❖ ❖ ❖

STOLEN JOURNEY, by Oliver Philpot (Hodder & Stoughton, Limited).

THIS is a wonderful story full of suspense and drama, and the fact that it is a true story of real people makes it even more incredible and thrilling. Oliver Philpot, the author, was the third man in the now almost legendary "Wooden Horse" escape from the German prisoner-of-war camp, 'Stalag Luft III'. This is the tale of his imprisonment and escape to neutral Sweden. The story of Codner and Williams, the other two escapees, has already been told in another book "The Trojan Horse" but even readers of that book cannot fail to be enthralled again by the incredible audacity of their continual tunnelling and other nuisance-value escape attempts.

On the personal side Oliver Philpot has managed to convey very clearly the feelings of the men separated from their families and limited in their correspondence and, at first, completely deprived of any news at all unless they were willing to credit the fanatical boasting of their Nazi guards.

This is an ideal choice of book for all ex-airforce personnel in flying wing, if they do not actually find old friends in it they will certainly find familiar names and stories and the feeling of camaraderie which seems to be irrevocably lost in civilian life will be temporarily restored.

Rural Night Schools

(North Bay Nugget)

Mr. and Mrs. Rural Ontario and members of the family more than 16 years of age are heading back to school.

This back-to-the-classroom movement that started three years ago in Ottawa has now spread to 19 counties each having one rural community school open one night a week. Some 4,000 rural residents are attending the schools that offer anywhere up to 21 classes a night in farm, home and recreational subjects ranging from soil conservation to dramatics and interior decorating, to music.

The rural night schools are co-sponsored by the Ontario Department of Agriculture and the Community Programs Branch of the Ontario Department of Education. Area management committees, made up of local residents, are in charge of the schools with the buildings provided by district school boards.

Letters To The Editor

RINKS ON VACANT LOTS

Sir: Having read considerable adverse comment, recently, in the Sports Section of your paper regarding the curtailment of open air rinks it occurred to me that perhaps the author, who apparently achieved fame and fortune south of the border depression years is unaware of the present financial strain on old age pensioners and war veterans allowance recipients, who are struggling along on a meagre pittance and eternally confronted with higher living costs and also higher taxes.

Some years ago worthy citizens in this and other cities found it a source of great pleasure to band themselves together in various sections and utilizing their own garden hose and other materials, established rinks on vacant property, with the owner's permission of course, and thus became good samaritans to the community kiddies, without dipping into the coffers of the sorely pressed ratepayers.

Perhaps the city fathers would appreciate similar action on behalf of your sport's editor and he might through the medium of his column receive voluntary donations from those unable to contribute labour or materials. A similar project is now underway on Park Street, South.

OLD AGE PENSIONER.
Crawfords Grove, P.O.

WOMAN OF PEACE

Sir: Could I write a few lines in your Voice of the People as a woman who has lived through three wars and dreads another. Could not the women of all nations and cities and towns join together through radio, the press and telegraphy and vote together to insist that U.S.A. withdraw their men and ships. To swallow stupid pride and save the world or at least not be the ones to destroy our Christianity. In years past the women of Greece stopped a war, why not join all our forces any way possible and demand that our men and boys not go to the slaughter again.

If there is to be another terrible catastrophe in the world let the heathen and the atheist, start it, not the Christian people. So let all the women of every creed, colour and class add our strength and stop the wild plunge to disaster.

I beg to remain,

A WOMAN OF PEACE.

MEMORIES OF CHILDHOOD

Sir: Yesterday—the library here—Kent, where I live I saw a book called "Canada, Today and Tomorrow," so thinking I might read something of Peterborough, Ontario—in which I lived as a child, I took home the book, but they mention all other cities but Peterborough, which must be a very big town now. I lived there—Peterborough, during the first war. My father was killed with the Canadians and my mother came home for a holiday but later remarried and so here we had to stay whether we liked or not.

I've never forgot Peterborough and the fine school I attended, the town streets, George and Simcoe, Rubidge St., where we hold All Saints Church, the fine times we had and in the winter how we loved the sleigh. The wonderful colour of the maple in the fall. My children are always being told of the maple. They too like to hear of mother's childhood in Canada and sometimes tease me, but then listen all the same.

If you think this a strange letter after all these years away, blame the book, which after all, because it failed to mention Peterborough at all. It must be so busy and so big by this time.

I do so wonder how different it is, as I left it when 11½, but remember it very clearly, how it all was.

Yours sincerely,
EMILY GARNHAM.

Pedestrian Hero

(Brantford Expositor)

Some months ago the travelling world rejoiced over the case of a sturdy individualist who refused to get off a train at a point many yards from the regular station platform, and insisted that the engineer pull up the required distance. Since the man had paid his fare and since the fare was supposed to cover point-to-point travel, he was right in demanding his rights. If all passengers were similarly insistent, far fewer folk would have to tramp a cinder stretch from 'way down east along the tracks to the Brantford C.N.R. station!

And all that is by way of prelude to another celebrated incident, this time in Windsor, where a pedestrian has triumphed over a thoughtless and ill-mannered motorist. When a car stopped at a red light, blocking the cross-walk for pedestrians, most people walked around the car. Not so our hero. He calmly and purposefully opened one of the car's rear doors, clambered through and went out by the opposite door. And, quite justifiably, he left both doors swinging, so that the erring motorist, who had no business whatever to halt abaft a pedestrian traffic lane, had to get out and close them. It is related that a policeman on traffic duty stood by smiling. That must have been due to the onset of the Christmas spirit or a lack of constabulary knowledge; in strict conformity to duty, the cop should have handed the motorist a ticket.

ORDINARILY

Alice's new beau had hardly got seated on the parlor sofa when her little brother brought him a glass of water.

The young man drank it and returned the glass to the small boy, who looked disgusted.

"He don't," he said audibly to his sister.

"Doesn't what, dear?" said the girl.

"Why, he don't drink any different from anyone else, and pop said he drank like a fish."

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

The preparations of the heart in man, and the answer of the tongue, is from the Lord. (Prov. 16: 1.)

❖ ❖ ❖

I will stand upon my watch, and set me upon the tower, and will watch to see what he will say unto me, and what I shall answer when I am reproved. And the Lord answered me, and said, Write the vision, and make it plain upon tables, that he may run that readeth it. For the vision is yet for an appointed time, but at the end it shall speak, and not lie: though it tarry, wait for it; because it will surely come, it will not tarry . . .

For the earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters cover the sea. (Hab. 2: 1-3, 14.)

❖ ❖ ❖

And I saw another mighty angel come down from heaven, clothed with a cloud: and a rainbow was upon his head, and his face was as it were the sun, and his feet as pillars of fire: and he had in his hand a little book open: and he set his right foot upon the sea, and his left foot on the earth, and cried with a loud voice, as when a lion roareth. . . .

And I went unto the angel, and said unto him, Give me the little book. And he said, Take it, and eat it up. (Rev. 10: 1-3, 9.)

"Did it cure your husband of walking in his sleep when you put the tub of water by the side of his bed?"

"Yes, and it cured me of putting a tub of water by the side of his bed."

CAYUGA'S CHRISTMAS — This Navy photo shows Christmas mail bags being transferred to the Canadian destroyer Cayuga from the Australian destroyer Bateau off the northwestern coast of Korea. More Retreats Facing UN Troops, But Results Better Than They Look

By RELMAN MORIN

NEW YORK, Dec. 27—(AP)—A clear-cut military victory in Korea is out of the question now, for sheer lack of numbers, but the net results of a heart-breaking campaign are better than they appear.

Perhaps they are more apparent on the other side of the Pacific than on this side.

Out there, morale of United Nations troops is good. In neither Korea nor Japan is there any pessimism or despair.

The soldiers are simply mad. They had won their victory. And then, in late November, it was snatched away, not by better men with better weapons or better leadership, but simply with greater numbers.

Today the only prospect is for a slow, grinding retreat down the length of Korea. Possibly the Allies may be driven off the peninsula entirely. That depends on how many of their best divisions the Chinese are prepared to spend. The cost of such a campaign to the Chinese would be enormous, but political and military observers generally believe that Peiping will pay it.

May Have To Leave

At the moment, the United Nations cannot furnish the necessary divisions to counterbalance Chinese and Korean numbers. Therefore it may be necessary to pull out of Korea entirely, although there was no open discussion of this when I left the orient.

But that will not be the end of the struggle. It will simply enter a new phase.

The full details of the planning for that phase cannot be disclosed now. It is obvious, however, that they call for a naval blockade, intensified bombing, and pressure from within Korea through a Korean underground resistance, and by well-supplied patriot guerrilla bands.

The Koreans—North or South—want their independence. After 40 years of Japanese occupation, they will not willingly accept a Chinese master. They know that the Chinese program is to make Korea a vassal state.

So the war will not end if the U.N. Army is forced to evacuate Korea. The pressure will continue, from sea and air, and eventually from the land. Actually, that type of pressure—rather than the use of ground forces—was advocated, early in the war, by some of the best-informed American Generals. It may become a necessity.

RCAF Declares Year 1950 Best In History

OTTAWA, Dec. 27 (CP) — The RCAF today called 1950 "the most significant peacetime period in its history" and predicted 1951 will be more important still.

An official year-end review said this was a "year which saw the air force authorized to proceed with plans for recruiting many more officers and men, ordering hundreds of new aircraft and generally expanding its activities at home and abroad."

At year's end, one transport squadron had been busy on the trans-Pacific airlift for Korea for five months. A fighter squadron was preparing to go to Britain to train with the RAF in the British Isles and on the Continent.

On Nov. 30, the total manpower for the force was 17,284 and an unparalleled peacetime recruiting drive was on. Construction or renovation of airfields was proceeding faster than ever in peacetime. A big program of radar construction was unfolding.

More money was being funnelled into the air force buildup than into either of the other two services and this emphasis appeared likely to get greater.

Hundreds of two types of Canadian-made fighter planes were on order and were expected to flow into big production in 1951 for the "considerably more than five fighter squadrons" slated to come into existence.

Urgent Talks

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP) —President Truman flew back to the capital Tuesday for urgent talks with his top military and diplomatic advisers. Press Secretary Joseph Short told reporters firmly that no new crisis had arisen—such as the one which sent Truman hurrying back to Washington after the Communist invasion of South Korea last June.

Building Burned

BERVIE, Ont., Dec. 27 (CP)—A $20,000 blaze levelled the two-storey frame building containing this hamlet's general store and the flat occupied by owner Charles Farrell Tuesday night. The 10-man firefighting team turned streams of water on nearby homes and an adjacent machine shop to protect them from flying embers. Cause of the fire was undetermined.

Shabby Unkept Floor Spoils Neatly Furnished Room

A shabby unkept floor in a neatly furnished room is as incongruous as a pair of shabby shoes beneath an up-to-the-minute costume.

If the floor is waxed frequently, surface scratching may be prevented and the life of the coating prolonged. Never let an old floor coating become completely worn through before revarnishing, otherwise a smooth finish will be impossible to attain without removing the original coating. At the first sign of surface impairment, the floor should be refinished. Worn spots may be touched up on either varnished or shellacked floors by carrying the renewed finish to the edges and ends of the boards to make contrasts between the new and old less noticeable.

Before re-varnishing or re-shellacking a floor, wash is thoroughly with strong soap suds, rinse well and dry. If there is any doubt that the wax is entirely removed by the soap and water scrubbing, the floor may be wiped over with turpentine. To make sure that the wax is entirely removed, varnish one floor board and leave it overnight. If the varnish sems sticky the next morning, that is proof that the wax is not thoroughly removed and the floor must be re-cleaned.

Plug All Nail Holes

Be sure that all nail holes are plugged with putty or filler and the edges smoothed level with the floor. To help prevent the absorption of the oil from the putty by the dry boards—which would cause it to crumble away—brush linseed oil along the edges of the cracks. Any excess of oil must be removed, however, or it will cause trouble with the new finish.

Modern varnishes may be used in gloss, satin or dull finish. A floor finish that turns out to have too high a luster, incidentally, may be toned down by rubbing with oil and powdered pumice or pumice and water. For floors subjected to an extra amount of wear and tear, span varnish is an ideal coating. Too, it gives such floors additional protection against water left by dripping umbrellas and wet goloshes.

Shellac is also recommended for floor coatings. It combines the qualities of long wear with ease of application and quick drying.

To keep floors in good condition, sweep with a hair broom or else a broom encased in a soft cloth. Wipe them over once a week with cold water and dry immediately.

For a floor whose finish is to be changed from paint to stain, first remove the old paint coating. A paint remover will dispose of the old finish. Apply and allow it to remain as long as the manufacturer's directions advise, then scrape away with a cloth soaked in turpentine to remove any wax left by the paint remover. Next, apply the stain—also according to the directions on the can—and finish with a coating of shellac or varnish.

Paste Wood Filler

After using a paint and varnish remover it is sometimes, though not usually necessary to use a paste wood filler—if the wood is open grained—for old wood, like new, requires a surface that is made perfectly smooth before refinishing. In preparation for this, apply the paste wood filler directly to the bare wood according to the directions on the package. After the filler has remained on the wood for the length of time advised, the excess should be removed by rubbing with a piece of coarse cloth or burlap against the grain of the wood. After 12 hours or more have elapsed, go over the surface with fine sandpaper.

If you wish to reverse the process and paint over an already stained surface the sanding down and dusting of the surface is the only preparation needed except to treat the knot holes. Coat any sappy streaks or knots with thin shellac or aluminum paint—when aluminum paint is procurable—to prevent the from bleeding through the final finish. Before applying the actual finish, prime the wood with one or two coats of enamel undercoater, then sand it lightly. For the finishing coat, a good grade of floor enamel is advisable. Painted floors, kept well waxed, need only wiping over with cold water occasionally, if the wax coating is kept renewed whenever it shows signs of wear.

Sues For Divorce

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 27 (AP) —It took screen producer Sid Luft a long time to buy a paper, actress Lynn Bari, 30, complained Tuesday in winning a divorce. She testified that Luft, 34, would tell her, of an evening, that he was going out to get the paper. But: "He would come home with the milkman, explaining that he had been out with the boys," she said. Luft did not contest the charges.

What is the Miracle of Canada?

The miracle of Canada is the reward of its thrifty people; it is a standard of living wrought by men and women who believe in spending and saving wisely. The average Canadian, for example, owns his own car and his own home. He pays his bills when due. His pattern of living is excellent.

When the pattern breaks

But unexpected emergencies do break the pattern. Usually the emergency requires more money than he has available: This can happen to anyone. Then help must come from a dependable outside service.

Ask Jamblyn's
LATE VISITOR: "My daughter, 16, has a boy friend 18. They're going steady four nights a week. In my opinion he stays too late. I've called down to him from upstairs telling him it's past his leaving time. He pays no attention. I don't want to turn my daughter against me but I do feel she should get more sleep. What's your advice?"
Why don't you ask the boy friend for supper one night, then sit down quietly with the pair of them and really give them a good "talking to." Most times that does more than nagging or getting cross.
SILVER CLEANING: "When I clean my cutlery by boiling it in an aluminum kettle should I use baking soda or washing soda?"
Fill a large aluminum kettle with enough water to cover silver. To each quart of water used add 1 tablespoon table salt, 1 tablespoon baking soda. Heat solution to boiling point. Place silver at bottom of kettle, a few pieces at a time. Boil solution from two to five minutes. Remove silver, wash, rinse and dry in usual way.
LIPSTICK FOR JUNIOR: "Is a girl of 14 too young to wear lipstick? I think so. But here's what happens. The minute she is away from the house my daughter puts it on anyway. Her father gets very much annoyed. What should we do with her?"
Buy her a lipstick and teach her how to use it. Nothing you say will stop a youngster this age from looking exactly as the other girls look.

Bobbie Rosenfeld Chosen Leading Woman Athlete

By JACK SULLIVAN

TORONTO, Dec. 27 (CP) — Bobbie Rosenfeld, a gal who now tosses quips as well as she used to curve a discus, has been chosen Canada's outstanding all-round woman athlete of the last 50 years.

The great track, basketball, ice hockey and softball star of 26 years ago, who doesn't look a day of it, was chosen by the toughest jury possible—sports writers like herself and radio station sportscasters.

Their opinion in a Canadian Press poll was that no woman athlete has surpassed her in the last 50 years. The announcement was made Tuesday night on Bobbie's birthday—but she didn't say which one.

For the Russian girl who came to Canada as a youngster, it was the race of her life, with Ottawa's pert Barbara Ann Scott a battling second.

The athlete-turned-sports columnist received 15 votes, just one more than Barbara Ann, with Ada Mackenzie, veteran Toronto golfer, third with three votes.

IN FIRST PLACE — Bobby (Fanny) Rosenfeld now a sports writer on a Toronto newspaper, but Canada's outstanding all-round woman athlete in the 20s, tops the poll of Canadian sports writers as Canada's top woman athlete of the last 50 years. Born in Russia, she became a naturalized Canadian in 1920. She achieved fame in track and field, ice hockey, basketball and softball.

Others Mentioned

Six others were mentioned — Montreal's Myrtle Cook McGowan and Ethel (Saskatoon Lily) Catherwood, Olympic track and field stars of nearly 25 years ago; 1948 Oylmpic swimmer Irene Strong from Vancouver, Mrs. Dorothy Walton of Toronto, badminton artist; Noel McDonald, great basketball player with the famous Edmonton Grads, and Pat Macken, Toronto and Montreal tennis star.

But it was strictly a two-way battle between Bobbie and the world and Olympic champion figure-skater who had practically all Europe and the North American continent at her feet just two years ago. Barbara Ann, now living in Toronto, had more international awards heaped on her than any other Canadian athlete—male or female.

And Bobbie, from her Toronto Globe and Mail desk, pounded out thousands of words about the 22-year-old ice star.

Bobbie hit championship stride in any sport in which she competed. She didn't receive the almost-universal acclaim of Barbara Ann, never won a world's championship, but eclipsed most Canadian athletes in her varied sports career.

Many Victories

She was first leg on Canada's 400-metre relay team which set an Olympic record of 48.2 seconds in the 1928 games in Amsterdam. She was joint holder with Ross Grosse of Toronto of the 100-yard world record at 11 seconds. She broke the world record in the 220-yard sprint at Toronto in 1925 with a time of 26 seconds —2/5 seconds better than the world mark—but it was found the track was one foot short and the mark was washed out.

She still holds three Canadian records established in 1928—the running broad jump with a distance of 16 feet, three inches; the discus with a throw of 120 feet and the standing broad jump of eight feet one inch.

In the Ontario ladies' track and field championships at Toronto in 1925, Bobbie was the only entrant from the Pats Athletic Club. She single-handedly won enough points to take the club title. That is one instance of this amazing athlete's versatility.

Besides her second-place effort in the 1928 Olympics 100-metre final—a race that many Canadian officials still claim she won—Bobbie gained a fifth in the 800 metres. She coached the Canadian women's track team at the 1932 British Empire Games at London.

She played on Eastern Canada and Ontario championship basketball teams in the mid-20s, Ontario title-holding ice hockey and softball teams of the same era, and won the Toronto grass-courts tennis championship in 1924.

Started In Montreal

Bobbie got her newspaper apprenticeship with the Montreal Herald in 1932, was Canada's only woman superintendent of insurance for a short time and joined the Globe and Mail in 1937. Her column "Sports Reel," started soon after.

Bobbie was one of the first members elected to the recently-established Amateur Athletic Union of Canada Hall of Fame.

Barbara Ann joined the pro ranks after her 1948 sweep of world honors, and has appeared in the leading role in American, Canadian and British productions.

She won the Women's Amateur Athletic Federation rose bowl as Canada's outstanding woman athlete in 1945, 1947 and 1948; was voted by sports editors as the outstanding woman athlete in the CP polls of 1946-47-48; captured the Lou E. Marsh trophy as the outstanding athlete in Canada in 1947-48, an award donated in memory of the late Toronto sports editor; and topped these off with the Police Gazette's gold cup in 1948 as the world's outstanding woman athlete.

Curling News

By HERB MARTIN

We are indebted to the wife of one of our prominent curlers for this piece of Curling philosophy. We think it's smart and up-to-date and we pass it on to readers.

CURLING PHILOSOPHY.

Inside the club rooms at the rink
Are arm chairs in a row,
Where fellows sit to watch the games
While wreaths of smoke they blow;
And if you really want to learn
The fine points of the play,
Don't shoot your rocks, just stay inside.
And listen to what they say.

So light your pipe and take a seat
Where it is warm and nice,
Where better games are always curled
Than out upon the ice.
For soon you'll hear, "He's narrow," sure.
He's coming far too hard.
No, No— don't sweep—just let it go.
He's going' aw, get a guard.

"Now what's he playin' that shot for?
What can he be about?
He ought to have a running shot
And take that rock right out.
He'll never get it with that ice—
Well! Look at what he struck.
He got it after all, but then
He had a lotta' luck."

But when these men are called to play,
These curlers, skilled and wise,
They make the very same mistakes
As those they criticize.
They find it takes but little skill
To dispute advice,
And play a scientific game
When they are off the ice.

So as we pass along life's way,
And as we hear men talk,
We're always skillful when we throw
The other fellow's rock.

This disposition is not strange,
Through life it's much the same,
We're always wisest when we skip
The other fellow's game.

FLEET SPEEDSTER—Percy Williams, now 38 and in the insurance business in Vancouver, was termed "the world's fastest human" when he reached the peak of his career winning the 100 and 200 metres for Canada at the 1928 Olympics in Amsterdam. For such exploits, Canadian sports writers chose him the top Canadian track star of the half-century. This photo shows him winning the 100 metres at the 1930 British Empire Games in Hamilton.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

News Lalonde, one of the greatest field lacrosse and puck players of them all, recently was rated tops in the gutted-stick game in Canada during the half century. Mike Rodden looks with favor upon this, being an oldtime friend and sometime athletic opponent of Lalonde's. The Kingston scribe, who once told us that Jerry Coughlin of this city was a star stickhandler in his day—when that phase of the game was highly important—brings to mind, in words by Newsy, another ace hockeyist from here. Fred Whitcroft was outstanding in the early part of this century, we've been told time and again.

* * * * * *

Anyway, Newsy recently regaled Mike with an account of the "Battle of Haileybury" in 1910 when the mighty Renfrew Millionaires were cut to ribbons. Said Newsy: "Owing to some misunderstanding the Haileybury defence, sparked by my old pal Art Ross, objected strenuously to being assailed by Cyclone Taylor, the Patricks, Fred Whitcroft, Bobby Rowe and a few others. I detected the trend early in the combat because under the circumstances I had to keep my head up, and also on. It was a delightful experience and that Ross was terrific." He described how Ross finally got him and knocked him right into the customers' laps. Robust days and nights in the history of Canada's great winter sport.

* * * * * *

Lots Of Opportunities

But there are far more opportunities today for young would-be hockey stars. Only good senior stars in the old days could get a crack at pro company. Later junior "A" players received more consideration as they were hand-picked and young enough to warrant some outlay of mazuma by pro interests. But nowadays, while youth is still all-important, scouts check junior "B", juvenile and even midget games such as playoffs for possible pro talent to be developed. For instance, our junior "B" IOOF-ers have a hookup now with Boston Bruins. And look at the interest shown in the perennial juvenile hockey champs from St. Catharines.

* * * * * *

Their sponsors were giving up, due to high costs, when the "A" club jumped in and took the franchise so they'd have a "farm" club for future material. Showing how news gets around, the Welland manager, Coach Ace Bailey of Stamford, Hal Cotton of Bruins and Bob Davidson of Leafs all hustled to grab some of the released players. Whether or not they got any on the dotted line, we don't know yet. But it's really something when NHL and other clubs start hounding outstanding juveniles. It shows the demand all the way up the line for young puckists of ability, and it shows the need the pro squads have for future material.

* * * * * *

Well Worth The Effort

We've had several from here in the last decade or so who made good, the latest being George (Red) Sullivan. Just another junior "B" player but he had plenty of hustle and ambition. He got a crack at junior "A" ranks and made good with St. Kitts. Now he's doing real well at Hershey and may well be up with Bruins next winter. Others make minor pro company, and some just don't click and return to amateur play. But the chance is there, with good money for those who make good. And those who don't click at least have had the fun—healthful fun, too—of trying and they no doubt gained a lot of experience to stand them in good stead both in amateur hockey and in the year-around competition of earning a living.

In the death of R. M. (Rollie) Glover, Peterborough has lost a grand citizen, sports has lost a prominent supporter, and this writer has lost a very good friend. Mr. Glover was interested in many amateur sports and was a star at several, but hockey was his favorite down the years. He was with junior and intermediate provincial championship clubs around the turn of the century and for some years afterward, and was one of the best of the pucklsts at that time here. Later he went in for the executive end of it, holding various local offices right up to the time of his death. He was president of the Peterborough Hockey Clubs for years, highly respected and liked. Not only that, but Rollie Glover was president of the OHA in 1918-20 and later was made a life member of this body. We started newspaper work under him and found him tops at all times in every respect. He was a swell gentleman and sportsman. Our sincere sympathy to the family.

Major league baseball has sold the television rights for its all-star games and the world series for the next six years for $6,000,000.

Signing of the contract with the Gillette Razor Company, will give baseball a bulging $7,370,000 for the all-star-world series radio and television rights during the next six years. Gillette already had agreed to pay $1,370,000 for radio rights alone.

Announcement of the signing of the television agreement came from baseball commissioner A. B. Chandler who, less than a month ago, said he would serve out his present term even though he doesn't get a new contract as commissioner to begin in 1952.

Chandler made that statement after major league club owners had declined to vote renewal of his contract.

In the 1950 the television rights for the world series were sold for $800,000 and radio rights for $175,000. The radio-television rights for the all-star game went for $184,000.

The commissioner said Tuesday the television money "will be applied, in large part to the baseball players' annuity and insurance plan."

Jockeys Joe Culmone and Willie Shoemaker continued neck and neck Tuesday in their race for riding honors of 1950 as each booted home two winners.

Culmone now has 375 for the year and Shoemaker 373.

Culmone had two winners at Tropical Park and Shoemaker rode two winners at Fair Grounds in New Orleans.

Culmone said Tuesday he may fly to Cuba to finish out the year.

Shoemaker announced he will fly to Agua Caliente, Mexico, Sunday to end the year there.

Walter Miller set the all-time riding record in 1906 when he booted home 388 winners.

Detroit Red Wings have sent veteran right wing Joe Carveth on loan to its farm hockey club at Indianapolis.

Carveth has been used by Detroit almost exclusively as a utility player since he was acquired in a trade with Montreal a year ago. He will report at Indianapolis in time for the game with Buffalo Thursday.

Claude Satterfield, pitcher with Toronto Maple Leafs when the International Baseball League team won the Little World Series in 1926, died in an automobile accident in Georgia, friends here were advised Tuesday.

Canadian and United States buyers offered fabulous prices for horses ridden by the British show jumping team during its recent tour of North America.

At a reception given to the team on its return to London, Col. H. Llewellyn, Britain's leading show rider, said he had been offered £10,000 (about $30,000) for his ace jumper Foxhunter. Another prospective buyer had approached him with "the sky is the limit" proposition.

"Of course we had no intention of selling," Llewellyn said.

New York Giants announced on Tuesday they have received the signed contracts of pitchers Sal Maglie and Sheldon Jones.

Maglie, who rejoined the Giants last spring after an extended stretch in the Mexican League, led National League pitchers in winning percentage with an 18-4 or .818 record. Guesses on his new contract ranged up to $15,000, or about double his 1950 pay.

The Mexican bullfighter Alfonso Ramirez Calesero was reported still in a serious condition Tuesday as the result of seven horn wounds suffered in a bullfight in Guadalajara.

One shallow wound is in the abdomen and the others in the legs. Calesero's first bull tossed him, caught him on his horns as he fell, and then gored him on the ground.

Percy Williams Unanimous Choice As Top Track, Field Performer

By JACK SULLIVAN

TORONTO, Dec. 27 —(CP)— Percy Williams, Canada's only double Olympic winner and a kid whose sprinting style violated every principle of the game, today was named Canada's outstanding track and field performer of the last 50 years. His choice was almost unanimous.

Balloting in The Canadian Press half-century poll, sports editors and sportscasters toed the mark on Williams and shot him to the front from here to there over London's Bob McFarlane, in the runner-up slot, and former greats such as Bobby Kerr of Hamilton, who won the 200 metres in the 1908 Olympics, and the late Tom Longboat, peerless Indian marathoner. Williams' total vote was 80 against McFarlane's four.

Percy, now 41, a bachelor and a Vancouver insurance salesman, is only 13 pounds heavier than he was in those track-pounding days of 1928 when his flying feet carried him into the headlines of the world's newspapers.

Canadians Stunned

Canadians were stunned and joyful July 29, 1928, when the news came from Amsterdam that their 19-year-old, curly-headed pride and joy had won the 100 metres in 10.8 seconds. But that was only the beginning. Three days later the Canadian schoolboy whipped the world's best in the 200 in 21.8, establishing himself the second double Oympic sprint winner since 1912.

The kid with the twisted grin and the appeal of a movie matinee idol returned home to an excited populace. Years later, his track days over, he confided to friends that the Amsterdam jaunt was "just another track meet—it didn't seem any more important than any other meet until we got home and found out what it meant to people."

The reception in his native Vancouver was overwhelming. He rode through the streets with the premier of the day at his side. Fellow-citizens presented him with a roadster and a $14,500 trust fund (it was closed out seven years ago) but the end of his track days was in sight.

He beat the cream of the United States crop a year later in New York's Madison Square Garden and in 1930 went to Hamilton for the British Empire Games.

The 21-year-old reached the final, was on the mark when suddenly the band broke into the National Anthem for a victory ceremony and the finalists were waved off the track. Williams was cooled off when he toed the mark and as he put on a drive near the finish line something clicked in his leg.

Danger Signal

That was the danger signal and the start of his decline. He was not required to compete in the 1932 Olympic trials and went directly from Vancouver to Los Angeles. The best he could do was fourth in the 100-metre semi-final.

That was the finish of the track star when pollsters across the country chose as Canada's No. one track and field promoter of the last 50 years.

Gets Third Place

Third place in the poll went to Walter Knox, all-round athlete from Orillia, who started his championship career in 1900 and during the next 20 years won more than 400 first prizes, 126 seconds and almost 100 thirds. He won the all-round professional track and field championship of North America in 1913, taking seven of 10 events, including the shot put, discus throw and hammer throw.

The next year he won the world championship in a match at Manchester, Eng., garnering six of eight contests over the British champion. He set up such records as 9.6 seconds for the 100 yards (equal to the world's record of the time); 46 feet five inches for the 16-pound shot; 12 feet six inches for the pole vault; 24 feet two inches for the running broad jump; 128 feet for the discus throw; 19 feet 7½ inches for the standing broad jump; and 22.8 seconds for the 200 yards—all approximating world records of the era.

Then there was Frank Lukeman of the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association, pole vaulter, sprinter and broad jumper who competed in the 1908 Olympics; Larry O'Connor, Toronto, Olympic hurdler; Phil Edwards, Montreal, middle-distance pointwinner for Canada in 1932 and 1936 Olympic Games; Syl Apps, Toronto, 1936 Olympic pole vaulter; and Gerard Cote of St. Hyacinthe, Que., who finished far back in the 1948 Olympic Marathon.

Louis Gets Lowest Rating In 13 Years Campaigning

By TONY CATELLA.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP). —The National Boxing Association Tuesday gave ex-heavyweight champion Joe Louis his lowest boxing rating in 13 years of campaigning.

In issuing its final boxing ratings for 1950, the NBA declared there are no logical contenders to the crown now worn by Ezzard Charles of Cincinnati.

In announcing the ratings, Fred J. Saddy, chairman of the championship committee, praised Charles as "a champion worthy of the title and ready at all times to met all comers. He has proved to be a fighting champion."

The NBA placed Louis alongside Lee Savold of New Jersey and labelled the two as "outstanding boxers."

It was the lowest rating for Louis since he won the crown in 1937 by knocking out James J. Braddock.

Honorable Mention

For honorable mention the NBA listed the heavyweights in this order: Rex Layne, Utah; Joe Walcott, New Jersey; Lee Oma, Michigan; Rocky Marciano, New York; Cesar Brion, Argentina; Roland La Starza, New York, Bob Baker, Pennsylvania and Jack Gardner, England.

Saddy criticized several champions for failure to defend their titles.

He said he will recommend to the NBA executive committee that the titles of lightweight champion Ike Williams, Trenton, and light heavyweight champion Joe Maxim, Cleveland, be vacated "unless they defend their championships by March 1, 1951."

"The same holds true for middleweight champion Jake La Motta if he fails to go through with his proposed bout on Feb. 14 with Sugar Ray Robinson, Saddy said.

If Williams fails to defend his title, Saddy said, John L. Davis of California and Fred Dawson of Illinois could battle it out for the championship.

No Canadians were mentioned in the champion, logical contender or outstanding boxer divisions. L'il Arthur King, British Empire lightweight champion from Toronto and Philadelphia, received honorable mention among the lightweights.

Hold Christmas Dance

BETHANY, Dec. 27 (ENS). — Members of the local Orange Lodge 1022 held a Christmas dance in the town hall Saturday night with music furnished by Ruth Wilson's variety band. There was a large attendance with many home for the holiday weekend. Tickets had been sold previously for turkeys and chickens. Bobby Ryley and Levi McGill drew the lucky numbers and turkeys were won by Lewis Ryley, Ryan Rodman, Arthur Wartsman and Miss Grace Bigelow. Those who won chickens were Walter Kerr, E. Mitchell, G. W. Mulligan and James McGill. Mrs. Maurice Walker, Janetville, won the prize for the spot dance.

SPORTSMANSHIP IN "CANADA UNLIMITED"

There's a roar as the puck bounces crazily away from the defending net. Gleaming skates flash and the boards echo to the thump of hard sticks and hurtling bodies. Every moment brings its own thrill as the home team's fortunes ebb and flow . . . and once again Canada thrills to the excitement of another hockey season. Each year on tiny ponds and in great modern arenas, hockey holds Canada in its spell.

Hockey's spirit of joyous exciting competition is traditional in Canada. It's this spirit and the good sportsmanship it develops, that keep your opportunities for work and play in Canada . . . unlimited.

Can't Hold Demarco

NEW YORK, Dec. 27 (CP). — Abe Demarco, veteran centre of Buffalo Bisons, continues to burn up the American Hockey League The native of North Bay racked up five points last week to increase his point total to 58—25 goals and 33 assists in 30 games—to continue his stranglehold on the league's scoring race. His 25 goals topped the league and he shared honors in the assist department with team-mate Grant Warwick with 33 each. Warwick also was second in total points to Demarco, with 43.

Wings Crowding Toronto In NHL Standings

MONTREAL, Dec. 27 (CP). — Detroit Red Wings are crowding the pace-setting Toronto Maple Leafs in the National Hockey League.

The Wings climbed to within one point of the Leafs during the week by virtue of two victories and one deadlock. This gives Detroit 44 points to Toronto's 45, and the Wings have played two games less than Toronto.

Far behind in third spot are Chicago Black Hawks with 28 points. Following are Boston Bruins, who won two and tied two or their last four games Bruins and Montreal Canadiens have played the same number of games and both have 27 points, but Boston has scored eight goals more than the Habitants' 70 to take possession of fourth place.

New York Rangers bring up in the rear with 23 points. Rangers, following a series of changes among team directors and players, has drooped only one game in their last seven starts.

Tied With Sloan

One Detroit player, Gordie Howe, has broken the Toronto monopoly of first positions in the individual scoring race, moving into second place to tie Tod Sloan of Toronto with 30 points.

Both are six points behind Toronto's Max Bentley, who has scored 14 goals and assisted on 22 others so far. Bentley's assists remain the league's record for the season, while Sloan is best sniper with 17 goals to his credit.

Terry Sawchuk of Detroit has a team average equal to the combined efforts of Turk Broda and Al Rollins in the goaltenders' fight for the Vezina Trophy. Sawchuk allowed 61 pucks past him in 31 starts for a goals-against average of 1.97. Broda's 44 goals-against in 22 games, combined with Rollins' 21 in 12 games brings the total to 65 in 33 games for an average of 1.97.

Broda leads in shutouts with five, one more than Sawchuk and Montreal's Gerry McNeil.

Ted Lindsay of Detroit is the most-penalized player with 62 minutes spent in the cooler, while most-penalized team is Toronto with a total of 381 minutes.

British Doctors Discontented With Pay Rates

LONDON, Dec. 27 (AP). — Many British doctors who operate the National Health Plan and get most of their income from the government are discontented.

Their chief complaint is that their pay, based on 1939 data on the cost of living, is too low.

However, it is premature, say spokesmen of profession organizations, to speak of a "strike against the health service." The prospect of mass withdrawals from the health program is remote, but there is enough discontent to make it certain that Health Minister Aneurin Bevan faces some sharp negotiations with the aroused doctors.

A new organization, the British Medical Guild, has suggested that under certain circumstances doctors drop the health service en masse and resume private practices, with patients paying the bills, as physicians are free to do under the health plan. The Guild is a creation of the powerful British Medical Association, and stands parallel to it. It was necessary to set up the Guild to make a strike threat, because the constitution of the British Medical Association bars it from trade union activity.

Work Out Plan

The Guild has worked out a cautious plan which, if carried out in full, would involve the simultaneous resignations from the service of thousands of Britain's 20,000 general practitioners. The plan calls for physicians to sign letters of resignation and submit them to the Guild. The Guild would take no action if less than 80 per cent of the doctors signed resignations. But if it got 80 per cent or more it would have a powerful weapon.

Up to now the doctors have not been asked to sign such tentative resignations. They merely have been informed that the program is being debated by regional medical groups.

The move to collect resignations has been deferred by new proposals submitted by the health ministry. The ministry suggested that a survey of the doctors' real income be made on the basis of income tax returns. A study has been started by the Department of Inland Revenue but it is expected that several months will be needed to dig out the data.

CRASHED AIRLINER — Two died as a result of the crash of a Canadian Pacific Airlines plane Dec. 22 on the side of Mt. Okanagan, near Penticton, BC, 150 miles east of Vancouver. It was bound for Calgary from Vancouver with 18 aboard. Pilot Capt. Quintan Moore and co-pilot Leo Doucette, both of Vancouver, died of injuries. The stewardess and passengers were unhurt. The letters "DOC" tramped in the snow signal a request for medical aid.

Movie Industry Goes Through Tough Year

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 27 (AP)—Another stormy year for Hollywood is drawing to a close.

The movie industry which hasn't had it easy in the years since the Second World War, took another buffeting in 1950. This was the year when names like Ingrid Bergman, Senator Johnson, Judy Garland, Ava Gardner and Frank Sinatra made news that didn't help Hollywood.

It was also a year in which cupid took an unprecedented beating. The divorce news included such stellar attractions as Betty Hutton, Elizabeth Taylor, Bette Davis, Myrna Loy, Barbara Stanwyck and Robert Taylor, Marie Wilson, Linda Darnell, Kathryn Grayson, Dan Dailey, Groucho Marx, Frank Sinatra, etc.

And there was a nasty thing called "television" to bedevil the industry.

Good And Bad

But troubles aside, here is how the year looks to this observer in my annual selection of the Hollywood highs and lows:

Best pictures: "All About Eve," "Sunset Boulevard," "The Asphalt Jungle," "The Third Man," "King Solomon's Mines."

Biggest flop: "Stromboli."

Most over-rated news story: The Judy Garland throat-nicking.

Best musical: "Annie Get Your Gun."

Best female performances: Bette Davis, "All About Eve"; Gloria Swanson, "Sunset Boulevard"; Judy Holliday, "Born Yesterday"; Anne Baxter "All About Eve"; Josephine Hull, "Harvey."

Best male performances: Jose Ferrer, "Cyrano de Bergerac"; William Holden, "Sunset Boulevard"; Louis Calhern, "The Magnificent Yankee"; Gregory Peck, "The Gunfighter"; James Stewart, "Broken Arrow."

RELEASED ON BAIL — Mrs. Marion Sullivan of Toronto is shown with her son, Frank, Jr., after her release on $2,000 bail from a 33-day police custody. She is charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of her lawyer husband, Frank, in an Ottawa hotel room Nov. 18. The charge was reduced from one of murder after preliminary hearing in Ottawa police court. She will face an Ontario Supreme Court jury Jan. 29.

Mining Industry Stabilized In Nova Scotia

HALIFAX, Dec. 27 — (CP) — Nova Scotia's important mining industry is on a more-stabilized footing than at any time during the last half decade, Prime Minister A. H. MacKinnon said Monday.

In a year-end review, Mr. MacKinnon noted that coal production for 1950 is estimated at 6,600,000 tons, an increase of nearly 300,000 tons for the first six months.

This increase, together with expanded mechanization in the pits, put the industry on a strong footing.

Independent mines benefited greatly from the Federal government's offer of a $10,000,000 loan to assist in mechanization costs.

Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation, the province's biggest operator, announced a $7,000,000 program of mechanization and new mine development.

Greatest Expansion

During the year, however, the greatest expansion occurred in the industrial minerals division, especially in the gypsum industry.

A barytes milling plant was opened in Colchester. Present provincial output of barytes is 50,000 tons.

Gold, following a trend in evidence during the last 10 years, fell off rapidly and was almost dormant in 1949. But prospecting is being pressed and better results are anticipated.

The department itself carried out a number of exploration and scientific tests. The largest undertaking is the investigation of the low-temperature carbonization of Nova Scotia coal which is being carried on at Windsor, Ont.

Newspapermen Compete For Scholarship

TORONTO, Dec. 27 (CP)—Applications for the fifth Kemsley scholarship awarded in Canada were invited from Canadian newspapermen in a circular distributed Tuesday by W. A. Craik, honorary secretary of the Canadian section, Empire Press Union.

The scholarship gives the man selected a year's training and experience at offices of Kemsley newspapers in the United Kingdom. Women are not eligible. Last year's winner was Jean Pouliot, Montreal Gazette.

The annual award is given in Australia New Zealand and South Africa as well as Canada. Its object is to encourage an exchange of ideas and experience between British and Commonwealth newspaper men and to strengthen the ties among members of the Commonwealth.

The scholarship entitles the successful candidate to first-class passage to and from Brftain and a year's training at Kemsley offices throughout Britain. An allowance of £15 a week is made plus a £4-a-week non-taxable to cover travelling expenses.

The successful Canadian candidate for 1950-51 will be selected by a committee headed by Senator W. Rupert Davies, publisher of The Kingston Whig-Standard and chairman of the Canadian section EPU. Applications will be received until Jan. 24, 1951, and the successful candidate will go to Britain in mid-April.

Candidates must be on the permanent staff of a Canadian newspaper, be under 30, have five years experience (a lesser period will be considered in the case of war veterans) and must undertake to return to their newspaper for at least two years following their year in Britain.

Home Destroyed

TORONTO, Dec. 27 (CP)—Fire Tuesday gutted a home in suburban Port Credit while owner Fran Mable and his wife are visiting Cleveland. Firemen who answered a neighbor's alarm said the flames are believed to have started from an oil heater. Loss is estimated at $7,000.

Rivers Of Stars Discovered By U.S. Scientist

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 27 — (AP)—Discovery of vast rivers of glowing gas and stars formed by cosmic collisions was reported Tuesday by Dr. Edwin F. Carpenter of the University of Arizona.

Long and thin, they stretch like a faint filament or link between two galaxies, the great star cities of the universe, he told the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

He suggested they were formed by a great side-swiping collision of two galaxies that lasted for 1,000,000 years. Hot gases were sucked out as a long streamer of wreckage as the galaxies tore through each other, and then rushed on apart.

The swirling river of gas apparently condenses into stars as it cools, and thus keeps glowing all the time.

The rivers give a clue as to how some stars are created, and indicate that more stars are continually being born.

Many Collisions

Dr. Carpenter said he found 15 cases in which pairs of galaxies are engaged in a collision, or emerging from one. Galaxies are great collections of stars, containing up to 100,000,000,000. The Milky Way is one of the largest.

Some are spiral shaped, some globular, and they may be 100,000 light years wide. There are millions or billions of galaxies in the universe.

Stars in a galaxy are so widely separated that one galaxy can go right through another "without either group being aware of the other," Dr. Carpenter said. But gas clouds in the galaxies collide and grow hot, and the glowing filament of gas is pulled and trailed out as the star clusters race on away.

Some are relatively thin, forming almost thread-like streams. Others are wider and fuzzy in appearance. Some look like an axle connecting two spiral-shaped galaxies.

Dr. Carpenter found the rivers in studying pairs of galaxies, or even larger groups, far out in space.

New Loan For Israel

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP)—The United States today granted a new $35,000,000 loan to Israel to buy U.S. equipment, materials, and services for furthering agricultural development in the Jewish state.

Irish Writer Dies

LONDON, Dec. 27 (Reuters)—James Stephens, 68, Irish poet, writer and story teller, died at his home here Tuesday. The author of "Crock of Gold" and other books steeped in Celtic legend, Stephens was a prominent figure in the Irish literary revival.

Pulp-Paper One Of Canada's Best Industries

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

The Canadian pulp and paper industry is one of the major industrial enterprises of the world.

The Canadian Pulp and Paper Association, in its annual issue of reference tables concerning the industry, sums up just how important it is and what it means to Canada. It says, in part:

In newsprint paper Canada has a production five times that of any other country. Ninety-four per cent of it is exported and provides three of every five newspaper pages printed in the world.

Amidst Canadian industry, pulp and papers stand first in employment; first in total wages paid; first in export values; first in value of production; first in capital invested.

Pulp and paper output is currently some $900,000,000 a year. In value it approximates Canada's output of wheat and all other grains combined; it is twice as great as the gross value of production of the automobile industry and it equals total annual mineral production.

Largest Item

Pulp and paper is being exported at the rate of $670,000,000 annually and is the largest item in Canada's trade abroad, accounting for 36 per cent of exports to the United States and 21 per cent of all exports.

Pulp and paper is the largest industrial buyer of goods and services in the Dominion. In 1949 it paid out $246,000,000 in wages; $130,000,000 for transportation; $158,000,000 for supplies and electricity and $72,000,000 for purchases of pulpwood.

There are 85 pulp and paper companies in Canada, operating 130 mills in seven provinces. In addition to pulps and newsprint, they have a highly-developed production of fine paper, wrapping paper, tissues, paper board, and other cellulose products.

In 1949 the industry took pulpwood valued at $240,000,000 and converted it into products having a gross value of $836,000,000, thus increasing by 3½ times the value of the wood which it uses.

Queen Sees Horse Chalk Up Third Win

LONDON, Dec. 27—(CP)—The Queen saw her new steeplechaser Manicou, win its third straight race against high-class opposition at Kempton Park.

Manicou, a five-year-old bay in his first season of jumping, scored by three lengths in the three mile King George VI Handicap. Silver Frame and Colored School Boy, both veteran Grand National jumpers, finished second and third respectively.

The victory was worth about £2,000 (about 6,000). Manicou, sired by Last Post out of Mylae, paaid 5 to 1.

Freight Derailment Causes Factory Fire

ORR, Minn., Dec. 27 CP)—A freight-train derailment here Sunday, touched off a liquid gas plant fire which caused about $80,000 damage.

A broken brake rod caused the derailment of five cars of the 30-car freight on the Duluth-Winnipeg-Pacific Railway line, operated by the Canadian National Railways.

The cars crashed into the plant, owned by the Anchor Fuel and Gas Company. Flames from a hot-box ignited the warehouse which contained gas, stoves, heaters and other appliances.

Duluth to Winnipeg passenger service was not delayed as trains were rerouted on a siding past the wreck area.

Railman To Retire

MONTREAL, Dec. 27 (CP)—E. J. O'Brien, of Montreal, for the last eight years assistant general superintendent of transportation, Canadian Pacific Railway Company, will retire at the end of the month. He will be succeeded by F. G. Smart, of Montreal, at present assistant to the general superintendent of transportation. A native of Chaffey's Locks, Ont., Mr. O'Brien has been with the CPR here for 49 years.

Plan Deferred

MONTREAL, Dec. 27—(CP)—The transmission of short wave radio programs to Russia by the CBC International Service, tentatively scheduled to start Dec. 31, has been deferred to Feb. 4, it was learned here Tuesday.

Worker Killed

KINGSTON, Dec. 27 — (CP) — Stafford Byrnes, 49, of Napanee, died in hospital Tuesday from injuries suffered when he was struck by a falling partition in the century-old Golden Lion building, under demolition here. Byrnes was employed in the demolition job.

U.S. Air Force Holds Special Flight Tests

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP) —The United States Air Force completed flight evaluation tests Tuesday in its search for a new general purpose liaison plane. The Canadian-built De Havilland Beaver was among the contestants.

The "phase one" test was conducted by the Air Material Command at Wright-Patterson Airbase, Dayton, O. Only eight of he 31 companies which accepted the invitation to take part sent planes to the base for test.

The second phase is technical evaluation. It will cover such items as ease of manufacture, use of scarce materials and general efficiency of design.

The air force and army already have bought six Beavers for special study.

UAW Asks Ottawa For Price Controls

TORONTO, Dec. 27 (CP)—The United Automobile Workers (CIO-CCL) Tuesday urged the federal government to institute price controls without placing similar curbs on wages.

A spokesman announced that a recent meeting here of 75 delegates in the union's district 26, representing 60,000 workers in the automotive industry urged the controls. Delegates said skyrocketing business profits, not wage increases, cause inflation.

The district council also supported George Burt, UAW Canadian director, who said Communists in the unions Local 200 at Windsor had sabotaged and delayed recent negotiations to obtain wage increases at the big four plant there.

Mrs. Tibbits Dies

OTTAWA, Dec. 27 (CP)—Mrs. May Snowball Tibbits, prominent in social, philanthropic and church circles in the capital, died Tuesday in hospital after a short illness. Mrs. Tibbits was a niece of the late lieutenant-governor J. B. Snowball, of New Brunswick, and a grand-daughter of Sir Adams G. Archibald, one of the fathers of confederation.

No Canadians On Job.

OTTAWA, Dec. 27 — (CP) — Canadians are not expected to hold down any of the top posts on Gen. Dwight Eisenhower's international army staff, informed quarters said Tuesday. They were commenting on a Paris report that recruiting of personnel for the new headquarters already had started with a search for secretaries.

Something to remember

This is one of a series of words and expressions whose origins and meanings are published in the interest of a better understanding, use and knowledge of the English language.

"CHAMPION"

"Champion" is a word which awakens echoes of the days of chivalry when, if a lady were offended, a knight was ever ready to take the field to defend her. And from the Latin campus, "field," came the Late Latin campio, campion, meaning "fighter in the field." In French and English the knight became "champion" and since he could remain in the arena of such affairs only if unconquerable, the term took on its present meaning of one who defends the cause of another; a hero; a successful competitor against all rivals.

NEW TELEPHONE RATES

EFFECTIVE JANUARY 1, 1951

The Board of Transport Commissioners for Canada has rendered judgment on the application we made in October, 1949 for our first general rate increase in 23 years. The Board has now ordered new rates that will replace the temporary rates which it authorized in its interim order last July.

NEW RATES FOR PETERBOROUGH

CLASS OF SERVICE	NEW MONTHLY RATE Effective Jan. 1, 1951 See note below RESIDENCE
Individual	$ 3.75
2-Party	3.00
Rural	2.75
Extension	1.25
BUSINESS
Individual	7.00
2-Party	5.75
Rural	4.00
Extension	1.65

NOTE: The new rates are for services provided with any standard type of telephone supplied by the Company.

PRESENT LONG DISTANCE RATES AND MOST OTHER RATES AND CHARGES REMAIN UNCHANGED

An explanatory folder will be enclosed with the first bill you receive affected by the new rates. If you wish to obtain further information, please call our nearest business office.

FAIR and REASONABLE RATES

These rates will adjust the temporary rates ordered by The Board of Transport Commissioners last July, and in most cases will result in only small differences.

While some rates will increase, others will not change or will decrease. The changes and adjustments provide reasonable rates that will fairly reflect the difference in value of the various classes of service.

IMPROVEMENT and GROWTH TO CONTINUE

The additional revenue from the new rates will enable us to maintain and improve your service and to keep pace with growth in the territory we serve. We will keep on working to give the kind of service you want, when and where you want it.

TELEPHONE SERVICE MORE VALUABLE

Today more of your friends have telephones than ever before. You can call more people and more can call you. More telephones and better service mean bigger value for you.

The cost of telephone service has not gone up as much as most other things you buy. The telephone bill is one of the small items in your family budget. When you think of its many advantages, telephone service certainly gives you big value for your money.

City Came First Mayor's Tribute To R. M. Glover

The death Tuesday night of R. M. Glover brought shocked comment from prominent Peterborough citizens.

The consensus was that Mr. Glover had been a fine citizen, a good athlete, and an extremely popular man.

Mayor Max Swanston said "we have lost one of the best citizens in Peterborough. He did a lot more good than any person in this city ever thought. I have known him and worked with him for years and his death will be a shock to the city."

"With Roly, Peterborough came first," said the mayor. "No matter what he was doing, the city was always in his mind."

C. G. (Chris) Graham, who played with Mr. Glover on the 1902 and 1906 championship intermediate O.H.A. teams in Peterborough, declared that Mr. Glover was one of the best athletes of my time. He was the finest of fellows and his death is a great shock to me.

"He has done so much fine work for charity and for the city that it is hard to know just what to say about him," Mr. Graham added.

Mr. Glover played defence on the 1906 team, with Bill Crowley. Others on the team were Ernie Wasson, Fred Whitcroft, Harry Morgan, Bill Cavanagh and Chris Graham. The 1906 team beat Toronto Marlboros at Toronto Mutual St. rink for the provincial intermediate championship.

Former Peterborough mayor, James Hamilton, described Mr. Glover as a "very public-spirited and very generous man. He was a great citizen, and the city will miss him.

"I have always admired him very much, and felt that he was one of the finest men in Peterborough in our time."

Mrs. Charles Ray, president of the Peterborough branch of the Red Cross, said today the association would miss Mr. Glover "terribly."

"He was one of the best workers we ever had, and has been a great help to the Red Cross since he joined it many years ago. I don't know how long he has been a member."

Mr. Glover was "a good citizen of Peterborough," Mrs. Ray said, and a "very fine member" of the association. He was one of the members who established the blood donor clinic in Peterborough.

ROGERS STREET ZONING

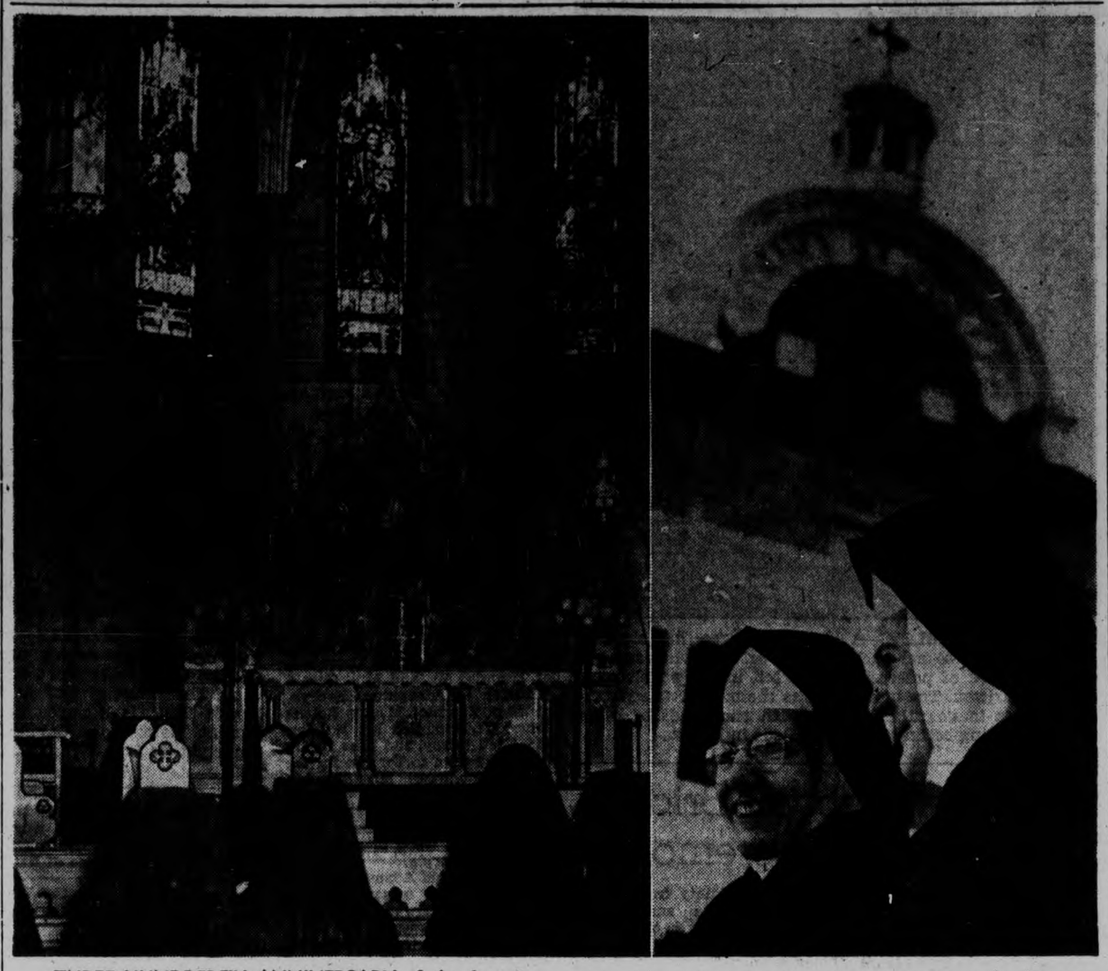

It is proposed that the City Council should change the zoning of a piece of land owned by the city on the west side of Rogers Street, immediately north of Tivey Street, which extends back to the Canadian National Railways right-of-way, from Residential use to Light Industrial use. The land immediately fronting on Rogers Street would still be zoned for Residential use.

The use to which the land would be put is as a site for a Concrete Block manufacturing plant and Builders' Supply Depot.

The Council invites residents of the area to express their views by letter addressed to the City Clerk.

E. A. OUTRAM,
City Clerk.

300th Anniversary Marked By Sisters of St. Joseph

The 300th anniversary of the founding of the Order of the Sisters of St. Joseph was celebrated today at Mount St. Joseph with Pontifical Mass celebrated by the Most Rev. Gerald Berry. Assistant priest was Rt. Rev. J. V. McAuley, D.P.; the deacons of honor, Very Rev. V. J. Corkery and Rev. J. J. Garvey; deacon of the mass Rev. P. J. Lynch, subdeacon Rev. Doctor Grant; master of ceremonies, Rev. J. F. Coughlin. The majority of the diocesan clergy were present in the chapel.

Three Monsignori occupied chairs in the Sanctuary: Rt. Rev. J. F. O'Sullivan P.A., V.G.; Rt. Rev. J. J. O'Brien D.P.; Rt. Rev. P P Butler D.P.

At the conclusion of the Mass, His Excellency congratulated the Sisters on their privilege of celebrating the anniversary of the founding of their Order, and of having nobly carried on the works of mercy for which their Community was instituted. He drew a parallel between the work of the Sisters of St. Joseph and that of the Canadian Martyrs. Like these saintly men the Sisters originally came from France and carried the Word of God to the Indians in the north where they still labor to educate the children of the natives and to care for Indian orphans.

The occasion was one of more than local importance, the celebration of the tercentenary of the founding of the Community of the Sisters of St. Joseph. This historical event occurred at Le Puy in France on October 15, 1650. The Rt. Rev. Bishop de Maupas du Tour and Rev. Father Medaille S. J. received from six young women the vows that formally constituted them members of a new religious body. Previous to this, all religious women had been cloistered. Impressed by the need of ardent souls who would go out among the needy and suffering in the then disturbed condition of France, the founders, with the approval of Rome, chartered the new company to go outside the cloister to instruct the young, care for the sick and comfort the sorrowful. The combination of retirement and prayer with works of charity and zeal was made the foundation stone of the enterprise. The founders wrote into the charter the motive for the change: "I was hungry and you gave Me to eat . . . naked and you clothed Me." Sixteen years later, letters patent from King Louis XIV authorized the establishment.

It is this event that was commemorated today. Confirmed by civil and religious authority they spread rapidly even outside of France. A century later, rumblings of revolution began to be heard, and as is the case today, again, in Europe, the first to suffer at the hands of ruthless tyranny were those whose lives were consecrated to suffering humanity.

The National Assembly separated the church in France from the authority of the Pope; nonjuring bishops were driven from their sees, priests from their parishes, communities were disbanded. Among these were the Sisters of St. Joseph. For those who would not take the oath of liberty and equality the penalty was imprisonment and this almost invariably led to the scaffold. The Sisters were sought out even in the homes of their parents and five Sisters of St. Joseph were executed. Three others escaped the same fate only by the fall from power of Robespierre. One morning as these three awaited the guillotine, word of his fall was brought to the prison. This ended the revolution and the prisoners were free.

One of these, Mother St. John Fontbonne, lived to re-assemble and organize the community scattered throughout the country in secular dress, in hospitals or in private homes. In 1807, after the signing of the Concordat and the return of peace to the church, Cardinal Fesch, Archbishop of Lyons, restored to his diocese the Congregation of the Sisters of St. Joseph and named Sister St. John, one of the three who had escaped the guillotine, as the Superior-General of the restored Community.

Established in 1890

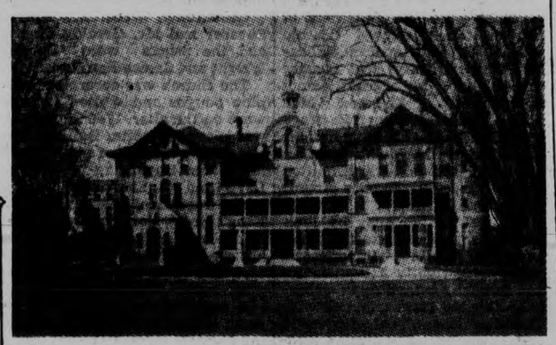

In 1836 the first connection was made with the New World. At the request of the Most Rev. Bishop Rosati of St. Louis, Missouri, six Sisters were sent from Lyons to assist in the work of his diocese. Among these were two nieces of Mother St. John Fontbonne. They came to St. Louis and made their home in a small log cabin in Carondelet on the bank of the Mississippi. In response to requests from various parts of the United States, new foundations followed; one of these was made in 1850 at Chestnut Hill Philadelphia; the following year from Chestnut Hill, four Sisters came to Toronto at the request of Rt. Rev. Armand de Charbonnel, then Bishop of Toronto. They were placed in charge of the orphanage on Nelson St. (now Jarvis Street), and three years later built an Convent on Power St. From the Toronto Mother House "The Sisters of St. Joseph of Peterborough" were established in 1890.

During the first five years of its existence the Mother House of the Community was in Lindsay. In 1895 Mount St. Joseph Peterborough was purchased and here the small Community made its home. Growth was steady and the care of the sick, of the indigent old people, and of orphans has been carried on. From the first education has been a chief occupation; at the beginning one school of two class-rooms in Peterborough; now seven Separate Schools and a High School with a total of sixty teachers.

The work for which the Community was founded three hundred years ago, has been faithfully attended to in Peterborough. Besides their successes at music and in the schools, the Sisters have kept pace with the rapid advance in Hospital work, have served scores of indigent old and infirm in the House of Providence, and have cared for hundreds of orphans. They have held their place bravely among the laborers of Peterborough during sixty years of the municipal century so beautifully and fittingly commemorated. The Sisters are pleased to terminate the centennial celebrations with this joyful event at "The Mount".

After the Pontifical Mass of thanksgiving, an anniversary dinner was served; this festive event was brightened by brilliantly executed instrumental and vocal music.

"Mother St. John Fontbonne," a dramatic biography showing the childhood, school and convent days, prison experience, and subsequent work as a re-organizer and Mother-General was presented in the auditorium at Mount St. Joseph last evening at 7.30. The author of this dramatization is "A Sister of St. Joseph", and the producer, Sister Dolores the present Mistress of Novices at Mount St. Joseph.

Truck Licenses Not Available

Owners of trucks and other commercial vehicles will be unable to procure 1951 licence plates until January 15, according to Jim Dorris, issuer for this district.

Mr. Dorris received information this morning from the Motor Vehicles Branch of the Department of Highways that due to unavoidable delay of steel delivery to the marker plant, commercial licences would not be available until January 15.

Owners of new trucks and commercial vehicles which have not been previously registered will have to apply directly to the Motor Vehicles Branch in Toronto between January 2 and 15. After that date they may be procured at the Chamber of Commerce office, Peterborough.

The issue of passenger car plates will begin on January 2 according to Mr. Dorris.

CAKES DOWN

The pre-fabricated Centenary Cakes which hung over main intersections since mid-summer, replacing the tattered and dirty bunting, have been taken down. Utilities men began their removal Tuesday and today there is not a trace of centenary notices except in memory and on a few shop and office signs. Peterborough's centenary year ends officially next Sunday.

Second Charge Following Death

A second charge of dangerous driving was laid in police court today against Floyd Michels, 690 Frank St., taxi driver of a car which struck down Mrs. Sarah Edwards, 63, a pedestrian, on George St. at Brock St. Sept. 13. Michels was remanded to Jan. 17.

Mrs. Edwards died in St. Joseph's Hospital Dec. 10. Michels was previously charged with careless driving. The case has been postponed several times until Mrs. Edwards' fate was known.

Michels is on $1,000 bail. Mrs. Edwards' injuries included a fractured pelvis, internal injuries and a severe scalp wound. She had been in hospital from the time of the accident until her death.

Two Local Men Attached To Red Indians

When Canada's first RCAF fighter squadron to go overseas in the cold war arrives in England in mid-January, two Peterborough men, F.O. John Greatrix and F.O. Allan Marshall, will be among the 100 officers and men.

The Red Indian Fighter Squadron is now stationed at Chatham, New Brunswick. The squadron will be going to the same English air base where the first RCAF overseas squadron went in 1940, Odiham, Hampshire, 40 miles from London.

F.O. Greatrix, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Greatrix, 438 Park St., has been a member of the fighter squadron since last January. He has made several speedy flights into Ontario. During the past year he also spent two weeks on a survival course in British Columbia. He expects to be home early in January.

F.O. Marshall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Marshall, will be public relations officer attached to the squadron. Recently he made a flight to Japan and throughout the Pacific area. Prior to that he made a flight to England in Canada's Ice Wagon, a scientific aircraft.

Now based in Chatham, the squadron is scheduled to train in the U.K. during 1951 and is expected to take part with the RAF in exercises on the continent, sharing in preparations for the Western European defences. The Red Indian squadron will leave its Vampire jet fighters in Canada and will be re-equipped with Vampires of a more advanced type on arrival.

G. M. Hamilton Dies In Montreal

Funeral service was held today in Peterborough for the late George Maxwell Hamilton of Montreal. The Rev. Walter J. Gilling of St. Luke's Anglican Church officiated and burial was at Little Lake Cemetery.

Mr. Hamilton died at his Montreal residence, 5825 Cote St. Luke Rd., on Tuesday at the age of 87 years. He was born in Peterborough at Inverlea, son of the late Hon. Robert Hamilton, member of the North West Council of the Hudson's Bay Company, and Annie Seaborne Miles. He attended school in Peterborough. As a young man, he too joined the company and had many years of service to his credit. After leaving the fur trade, Mr. Hamilton was Canadian representative for a British bank which had large real estate holdings in the Maritimes. Upon retirement from this work, he lived for some years in Lakefield and moved to Montreal a year ago.

A former member of St. John's Anglican Church, he was also a member of the Masonic Order, Clementi Lodge, Lakefield.

He leaves his wife, the former Eleanor Rackham and one daughter. Mrs. Maxwell Caulkins and two sons, Col. V. C. Hamilton, OBE, and Kennin Hamilton, all of Montreal. There are also three grandchildren.

R. A. Wainman Opposes Lamb

LINDSAY, Dec. 27—A total of 17 candidates have qualified for the various offices to be contested in the Lindsay municipal elections Monday.

Mayor Charles Lamb and Ald. R. A. Wainman, a former Peterborough jeweller, will be the two contenders in the mayoralty contest. This will be Mr. Lamb's 6th election contest since taking office as mayor in 1942. Mr. Wainman has been a member of the council for several years.

Two members of the council, James C. Kingsborough and Richard Butler are contesting the reeveship. Miss Ada Greeves who was elected as deputy-reeve last January was returned to office by acclamation.

Eight have qualified for the six council seats: H. J. Williamson, Frank Speer, Harry G. Puffer, C. E. Ferguson, L. Burrows, V. Cote, H. Pierce, J. L. Baker, Williamson, Pierce, Baker and Burrows are newcomers in the municipal field.

Three cadidates will contest the two vacancies on the hydro board. W. Jardine, L. Waddell and R. Cozens qualified. Waddell is the only one of the three who has previously been on the hydro board.

Residents of the North Ward will also have a choice to make for the school board. Mrs. Joy Wansborough and William D. Stevens both have qualified for the one office.

Dr. R. M. Parker was returned by acclamation for the south ward, as was Russell Lamb for the east ward.

Duncan Sinclair was returned to the Board of Water Commissioners by acclamation.

Norwood Council Nominee Thought Acclaimed; But Failed To Sign Papers

Herbert Bradley, a nominee for the Norwood council, feels that he's the goat in a last-minute bit of political manoeuvring that followed the annual village nomination meeting. As a matter of fact the Examiner shares some of the blame for announcing that Mr. Bradley, along with three 1950 councillors, was returned by acclamation. Most Norwood ratepayers thought he was too. Came the dawn, however, and everybody realized that the fourth councillor was John Nixon and Mr. Bradley, politically, speaking, was out in the cold.

It seems that Mr. Bradley, a newcomer at the subtle game of municipal politics, didn't know he had to sign qualification papers if an acclamation was indicated. So he went home and dismissed the matter from his mind. As far as he was concerned he was one of the 1951 council and he didn't have to fight an election to get there.

Now The Twist

Now comes the twist: Mr. Nixon—a 1950 councillor who had indicated at the nomination meeting that he wouldn't stand this time — apparently changed his mind and signed the necessary papers just before the clock struck 9 p.m. for the deadline Saturday.

In fact none of the five men who had been nominated for council bothered to qualify until just before deadline. And this causes further suspicion in Mr. Bradley's mind.

The sequence of events run something like this. By about 8.30 p.m. (i.e. half an hour before deadline) only Reeve Rork Ferguson had qualified. The village clerk, R. A. Dean, phoned Mr. Ferguson and told him of this state of affairs. Mr. Ferguson then phoned Councillor Dr. A. R. Atkinson asking him to get cracking (or something to that effect) or there would have to be another nomination meeting for council.

All But Bradley

Details of the consultation among the old councillors as to their course of action are lacking, but according to Bradley, Dr. Atkinson then picked up the other three men—Mr. Nixon, William Garden and Rod Webb — and rushed them to the village hall by car. And they got there just in time.

Somehow (and somewhat suspiciously, reasons Mr. Bradley) the newcomer was overlooked. And the old council went in by acclamation.

In a statement to the Examiner today the disillusioned nominee writes: "Why I wasn't notified to sign has not been explained; so one can only conclude my presence was not wanted on the council by the remaining members."

A reasonable deduction, one might say, and according to a person "in the know" who doesn't want to be quoted, that just about sums the whole thing up.

Changed His Mind

"Not at all," is Mr. Nixon's reply. "I said at the nomination meeting I didn't think I would stand but I reserved the right to change my mind and I did. Later I told Mr. Bradley that if he would stand I wouldn't. When it came close to deadline Saturday and he hadn't qualified I signed along with the other members of the old council—just to avoid another nomination meeting."

"How is it nobody bothered to get in touch with Mr. Bradley to find out if he intended to run?" queried the Examiner.

"I don't know," said Mr. Nixon.

Village Clerk Dean puts it down to ignorance of procedure. "I read over the relevant parts of the municipal act twice, including that dealing with qualifications. Mr. Bradley should have known he had to qualify by 9 p.m. Saturday."

Not In Controversy

Reeve Rork Ferguson refuses to be drawn into the controversy. "I get along with both Mr. Bradley and the councillors," he said. "As far as I'm concerned the councillors are fit to fight their own battles."

So here's he final rundown:

Reeve, Rork Ferguson; Councillors, Dr. A. R. Atkinson, Rod Webb, William Garden and John Nixon.

That ends the series for 1951, but certainly not the arguments. To Mr. Bradley it will go down as the series of the "great squeeze play."

Motorists Find Cold Spell Hard On Cars

The two-day cold snap has resulted in many inconveniences and car troubles for Peterborough motorists according to garage services. One garageman reported that he had received more than 40 calls during the past two days from owners who were unable to start their cars.

The general reaction of all garagemen questioned was that they had the largest number of calls received for several years during such a short period.

The suddenness of the cold snap which caught everyone off balance was blamed by most of the garagemen for the greater part of the car troubles. However, two garagemen claimed that a great many car owners had been somewhat careless and had not had their cars properly winterized.

Private car owners were not the only ones to have trouble during the last two days. Some of the city taxicabs also reported difficulties. In addition to batteries freezing, one taxicab operator said because it was impossible to keep the inside of the car warm, drivers had to change over every hour.

City and out-of-town bus lines reported no trouble whatsoever during the cold snap. The reason—"We keep our buses in heated garages and the buses themselves have been well winterized."

Burnley Couple Celebrate Ruby Wedding

ROSENEATH, Dec. 27 (ENS)—Forty near relatives of Mr. and Mrs. George Beatty, Burnley (3 miles southeast of Roseneath) gathered at their home on Friday evening in honor of their 40th wedding anniversary, their ruby wedding.

A turkey dinner was served by the family, the table centred with a three tier weddifig cake, made and decorated by their daughters.

A nephew, Mr. John H. Beatty, Roseneath, was master of ceremonies for the entertainment. Mrs. Arnold Elder, also of Roseneath, was pianist for the singing of Christmas carols. Mr. Wm. Townsend of Toronto, a son-in-law, sang "Through the Years" and "I'll Walk Beside You."

On behalf of the family a presentation of a gold necklace set with rubies was given to Mrs. Beatty and a gold ring set with a ruby was given to Mr. Beatty, also a mantel clock to both of them.

On behalf of the nephews and nieces an address was read by Mrs. Harrison George, Morganston and the presentation of an electric table lamp by Mr. Arnold Elder. Numerous other gifts were also received.

Mr. and Mrs. Beatty, nee Maude Healey, were married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Healey, Carling, in the Parry Sound district on December 21, 1910, by Rev. W. Watch, Methodist minister at Carling. For three years they lived near Parry Sound but for the past thirty-seven years they have lived in Haldimand township. Of this union seven children were born: Mrs. Earl Brown (Eva), Warkworth; Mrs. Wm. Townsend (Mildred), of Toronto; Mrs. Jack Webb (Bernice), Roseneath; Arnold Beatty of Warkworth; William Beatty of Burnley; Miss Ethel Beatty and Frank Beatty at home. All were present with their parents on this anniversary occasion also their eight grandchildren.

A nephew and niece, Mr. Ernest Healey and Mrs. Jack Braund of Oshawa were also present and were present at the wedding forty years ago at Carling.

Also included among the guests from a distance were: Mrs. James Scott, Rochester, New York; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Isaac, Castleton; Mr. and Mrs. Harrison George, Morganston; Mrs. George Buchanan, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Disney. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Braund, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Healey, Oshawa.

Belva Payne Wed

The marriage of Belva, daughter of Mr. Cephas Payne, to Mr. William Robert Curry, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Curry of Welland, took place on Saturday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Selby, 872 George St.

The Rev. J. W. Wilkinson, of Oakwood, performed the ceremony, with Christmas decorations as the setting and wedding music played by Colin Selby, nephew of the bride. During signing of the register Mr. Ralph Selby sang "Because."

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Clinton Payne, the bride was wearing a dress of burnished copper crepe with green accessories and her corsage was of yellow chrysanthemums. As matron of honor Mrs. Jack Curry wore grey bengaline with maching accessories and corsage of red roses.

Mr. Jack Curry was goromsman.

Mr. and Mrs. Curry will live in Petrolia.

Two Sisters Become Brides In Double Ring Ceremonies

The weddings of two sisters, on the day after Christmas at Christ Anglican Church, Norwood, were double ring ceremonies performed by the Rev. David E. Lemon.

Brides were the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. George Harold Wright, RR 3, Havelock, Elizabeth Muriel (Betty) who became the bride of Mr. Stuart James Shearer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clark Shearer of Harwood and Marion McGill who became the bride of Mr. Mallory Arthur Hamilton, son of Mrs. Hamilton and the late Dr. Thomas Arthur Hamilton of Brinston.

Escorted to the altar by their father, they wore identical bridal gowns of white slipper satin styled with tightly fitting bodice and full skirt extending in gracefully flowing train trimmed with Chantilly lace. Their finger-tip veils were of tulle illusion with applique of satin and velvet and caught to tiaras of seed pearls. Elizabeth carried a white prayer book with ribbons and pink rosebuds and Marion carried a cascade of red roses.

The brides' attendants were Mrs. Bert Mortlock of Peterborough, matron of honor, and Miss Marion Cuthbertson of Norwood, maid of honor, Miss Barbara Halligan and Miss Joan Callen, bridesmaid. They wore gowns of cinnamon brown and laurel green silk velvet with matching plume hats. Carmen Burrison as flower girl wore a dainty frock of gold bengaline taffeta and matching halo. Each carried an old-fashioned nosegay of yellow roses and mauve 'mums.

Groomsmen were Mr. Morris Shearer and Mr. Gerald Munro and the ushers were Donald Wright and James Hamilton.

The church was decorated with pine boughs and white flowers were on the altar. Wedding music was played by Miss Reta Turpin and during signing of the register Mr. Glenn Hogg sang "O Perfect Love" and "At Dawning."

The reception was held in the King's Hotel, Norwood, where the brides' mother received, wearing a gown of claret wine with a hat of blush pink and a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Frank Shearer also received and was wearing a gown of intermission with matching hat and corsage of pink roses.

The bridal couples left later for Ohio and points west. For travelling Mrs. Shearer wore a dusty rose velvet dress and matching hat with a mouton coat and had a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Hamilton wore a wine velvet dress with a black persian lamb coat trimmed with white mink and had black accessories and a corsage of red roses.

On return Mr. and Mrs. Shearer will live at 588 Division St., Peterborough, and Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton at 57½ Hunter St. E., Peterborough.

Woman Invades Composing Room

VANCOUVER—(CP)— One of the last of the men's strongholds, a newspaper composing room, has been invaded by women here.

Mrs. Charlotte Maitland, an all-around newspaperwoman, is working among 50 men in the composing room of The Vancouver Sun. One of the few female linotypists in Canada, she began her career when she left high school to set type in Hartney, Man.

Three years later she moved to another weekly newspaper at Souris, Man., and eight years later retired in favor of marriage. Now the shortage of help finds her back among the machines, She came here after the death of her husband.

DOROTHY DIX

Hesitant Bachelor Finds Himself Afraid to Marry

DEAR MISS DIX: I am very much in love with a girl who is about as perfect as any girl could be. I have been engaged to her, but I have broken it off because I have had such a fear of marriage instilled in me lately by different friends that I dare not risk it. Virtually all of my men friends have been married from one to five years and they warn me not to even think of giving up being single. They say that everything is perfect before marriage, but afterwards it all changes and everything is wrong. Several of the marriages of some of these fellows have gone completely on the rocks and they are either separated or divorced from their wives. I feel that a home with a wife and family of my own would be a wonderful thing, yet the experience of my friends makes me afraid to try it. What do you think? BOB

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I think you are a coward to let your friends panic you with their dismal croakings about marriage. Suppose they did fail to make a go og it it. That is no indication that you will. Of course, there is a risk in marriage. So there is in everything else in life. You have got to have enough backbone to take a chance.

If you never do anything that someone warns you against doing, you will have to sit down on the do-nothing stool the remainder of your life. There are failures in every line of human endeavor. There are ministers who can never keep a pulpit. Doctors who have no patients. Lawyers who never have a client. Clerks who are always out of a job — merchants, bankers, brokers who go bankrupt.

Don't Heed Failures

Every one of them would warn you against following his occupation and tell you there is nothing in it, but would you let yourself be kept from doing any kind of work because some other man had failed in it? Not at all. You would look around and see hundreds of men who were successful along those lines and who had made fame and fortune, and you would roll up your sleeves and jump in and show them that it is the man and not the job that counts.

Well, that is just the way it is about marriage. It is no sure thing, but it is a good sporting proposition, and how it turns out depends altogether on the individual man and woman who go into it. They can make it an earthy paradise or a hell, whichever they choose, and what other people have done has no bearing on their individual proposition. It is up to them.

Don't be afraid to try it. The pessimists who cry out that marriage is a failure are those who have never really tried to make it a success.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am approaching middle age and have been very active in the business world for more than twenty years. Now I find myself drifting away from some of my old friends. For instance, yesterday I met a girlhood chum who married when we were quite young. I used to consider her the most beautiful and interesting of my friends, but frankly she bored me stiff. Her conversation was just silly gossip and childish comments. Then recently I met an old beau, the very sight of whom used to thrill me through and through. He is now an old playboy and his talk is all of the parties he goes to. I cannot but compare these two with the men and women I meet in the conduct of my business and its social side and with the young people I employ. What has happened to me? Have I become a sour old maid, or so absorbed in business that I have cut out of my heart these two dear old friends? I am sorry to have lost them, for this is what has happened. A CYNIC.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: There is nothing the matter with you. There is nothing the matter with your old friends. It is only that you have gone different ways, developed in different directions, had different aims, aspirations and experiences and that now you have nothing in common.

We can't go back in our friendships any more than we can go back to any other condition in life. Most of us find when we meet our old friends whom we have not seen for years that we have less to say to them than we have to strangers. Our real friends whom we enjoy are the friends of today, not yesterday.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX:I have just found that I was born out of wedlock. I was stunned, but I have tried to take it philosophically. However, I am engaged to be married to a very fine girl, and what I want to know is whether I shall let this fact rob me of my happiness? If I tell her, I fear I will lose her. I have a good job and am well liked and respected. Shall I tell her? JACK.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: By all means tell the girl. If she loves you, it will not make any difference to her. Sooner or later she will be bound to find it out and then she wouud have a right to feel that you had not given her a square deal by keeping the fact of your birth from her.

Bethany S S Holds Christmas Concert

BETHANY, Dec. 27—(ENS)—The Christmas party for the children of the United Church Sunday school was held on Friday night with more than 150 in attendance. The supper was provided by the parents and the program was given by the Sunday school members, with Rev. James Hampson as chairman. Christmas carols were sung in unison. The Beginners' Class trained by their teacher, Mrs. George Waddell, sang a motion song "Away In A Manger." Other members of the Beginners' Class who sang and gave recitations were Leone Jordan, Ray Porteous, Linda Miller, Randy Longfield Dianne Mulligan, Sharon Capstick, delighting everyone with their excellent performance.

The Intermediate Girls' Group sang "Mary's Lullaby" accompanied by Mrs. Ona Thorndyke. Norman and Wilma Jakeman sang a duet accompanied by Mrs. Carleton Patton. Ruth Miller gave a recitation "A Letter to Jessica". A flute duet was given by Muriel Sheckleton and Phyllis Bristow. Harry Jakeman sang "I Know, Don't You." Wilma Jakeman sang "Lullaby."

Miss Elsie Richardson, elocutionist gave a reading "The Street Arab's Christmas." Allan Beer sang two numbers "She's The Lass For Me" and "The High Road." Rev. James Hampson and Mrs. Hampson sang a duet "Sleep Holy Babe."

The superintendent, Mr. A. H. Monk, was presented with a gift from the senior members of the school in appreciation of his 20 years of service as superintendent, also teacher of the Adult Bible Class.

Santa Claus arrived in time to distribute the parcels on the Christmas tree, which included the Sunday school's gift to each junior member.

Variety Program Omemee Church Concert

OMEMEE, Dec. 27—(ENS)—Santa Claus again visited Omemee—his last public appearance in the village this year—when he provided the last number on the United church Sunday school Christmas concert.

Bright little recitations were given by the following small children: Yvonne Parker, Neil Young, Douglas Weeir, Myrna Lee, Barrie Lang, Marilyn Lee, Barrie Corneil, Norman Chritten, Wendy Laidley, Ann Williams, Darlene Nelson and little three year old David Whitmore.

Elvin Connell sang a solo and duets were rendered by Eileen and Verna Zufelt and by Joan Whitmore and Joan Saulter. Gaail and Marie Robinson sang to usher in Santa. Two pantomimes were presented, "Away in a Manger" by Mrs. Cavers' primary girls, and Silent Night" by Mrs. R. Brooks' intermediates.

Mrs. Raffan's junior girls put on two playettes, "Making Christmas Merry" and "Christmas on a Doorstep." "The Christmas Story" was artistically presented by Miss Ruth Lytle's senior boys and girls. The two act play "Christmas at the Stebbins," was put on by Mrs. Vaughan's young people's class, the cast being: Mr. and Mrs. Raymond by Laverne McKee and Dorothy Connell; Mr. and Mrs. Stebbins by Don Sandy and Joan Zufelt; Hettie Stebbins by Grace Sibley; Tom Stebbins by Don Raffan; Jake Jarley by Cyril Pogue; Mary, the help, by Dorothy Smith; Grandma Stebbins by Marion Zufelt, and Joey by Homer Brooks.

Mr. Garnet Pogue, assistant superintendent, addressed the parents and made an appeal for a better adult attendance.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

New Year's Dinner Menu

I have crowded myself down to this column for such a special event as New Year's dinner.

The English part of me is clashing with the columnist part of me and it is a draw: I'm giving you the menus both parts of me want—but just notice which gets first position.

New Year's Dinner

(Return-hospitality-for-Christmas-dinner invitation.)

Cranberry and lemon juice cocktail.
Tiny anchovy and sardine Canapes.
Standing roast ribs of beef.
Horseradish cream. Brown gravy.
Corn gems.
Brussels sprouts with Hollandaise (mock or real).
Finely shredded tossed salad of endive, watercress, thin tomato slices, shredded heart of head lettuce, Cheese French dressing.
Warm mince pie.
Danish blue cheese.
Mint wafers. Coffee.

New Year's Menu No. 2

(The one I am serving to my own brother and sisters and family.)

Oyster bisque
(that's for pride—so I can use my heirloom silver soup tureen —of course we like oysters too.)
Lobster souffle (very popular).
Baby Limas.
Spinach with lemon butter.
Homemade hot rolls.
Moulded avocado and grapefruit salads on lettuce with tomato.
Lemon mayonnaise.
Pineapple refrigerator cake (see notes).
Christmas cake. Shortbreads.
Coffee. Milk.

Directions:

The Cranberry Juice Cocktail is merely thin cranberry sauce strained, and flavoured with lemon, and diluted with ice.

Horseradish Cream is made by whipping ½ pint heavy cream (sweet or sour) until stiff, then adding 3 tablspoons mayonnaise, 2 tablespoons drained horseradish, 1 tablespoon vinegar or lemon juice, 1 teaspoon French mustard and shake of salt and pepper. After the cream is whipped all of the ingredients are slowly folded in. While some people think this should be served at once, I find it delicious on the second day, too, if kept covered and cold.

Corn Gems. These may be baked in gem pans or fried in shallow or deep fat like fritters. One can kernel corn, 2 eggs, 1¼ cups milk, ½teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1¼ cups flour. Beat egg youlks, add corn and milk and salt. Sift in unsifted flour and baking powder. Mix. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Drop into hot greased gem pans and bake at 450 deg. Fahr. for about 12 minutes, then reduce heat for about 5 minutes. These may be fried.

Lobster Souffle. Very similar to cheese souffle. Make 2 cups medium white sauce: add 3 beaten egg yolks and 1 or 2 cups shredded canned lobster. Fold in beaten whites. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. about 30 minutes. Serve immediately. Other canned fish may be used.

Pineapple Refrigerator Cake: ½ cup sugar, 1¼ cups canned crushed pineapple and juice, 1½ teaspoons cornstarch, ¼ cup butter, 1 cup icing sugar, 1 dozen lady fingers or strips of sponge cake same size, 1 cup heavy cream, 1½ teaspoons gelatine, 2 tablespoons cold water.

Mix sugar with cornstarch, then with pineapple and cook, stirring, until thick. Line mould with lady fingers. Cover with layer of icing sugar and butter beaten well together. Add layer of pineapple mixture. Repeat these 3 layers. Sweeten the whipped cream, add gelatine dissolved in cold water and heated until clear. Spread cream mixture over. Chill overnight. May be made 24 hours ahead of time. Serve with extra whipped cream and garnish with pecans and cherries.

Christmas Concert At Harwood

HARWOOD, Dec. 27—(ENS)—Harwood community hall was crowded to capacity Thursday evening for the annual Christmas concert by the pupils of Harwood school and the teachers, Mrs. Jack Stillman, principal and Miss Shirley Drope, junior and music teacher.

The wine velvet stage curtains which were put up this week were the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Baker. The back stage was covered with velour wine curtains, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Milne. Palm branches and Spanish moss, brought from Florida by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burrison were used as part of the decorations.

The chairman for the evening, Major R. E. Drope announced during the evening that the proceeds amounted to $79. Ushers were Mr. Wm. Baker and Mr. Ellis Isaac.

The Nativity scene opened the program with the angels in the gallery. The angel Gabriel was protrayed by Pauline Drope, Mary and Joseph by Elva White and Eddie Stephens, innkeeper and friend by Jerry Corkery and Allan Harvie. A grandmother's minuet number by eight couples of small children dressed in costumes of the days of the minuet delighted the audience and formed the background for Rosalind Stephens, dressed in colonial costume, to sing "The Second Minuet".

A musical playlet, "Preparing for Christmas" and a well acted play "Bringing Up Junior", with Helen Patch portraying the role of the mother, and Brian Kerr as Junior, were presented.

An umbrella drill with Betty Isaac, Barry Kerr, Margo Hornby, Brian Kerr, Fae Murney, Billie Waldie, Sharon Hogg and Bob Butcher used the song "One Umbrella Built for Two". The next number, a French garden scene, with a painted backdrop, showed two marble statutes, portrayed by Ian Douglas and Patricia Zufelt. Ballet dancers and girls dressed as Flowers completed the scene while they sang, "Waltz of the Flowers" and "Rendez-Vous."

The Pageant of the month was presented with Barry Kerr as King of the Year, Guardsmen, Jack Minifie and Eddie Stephens ushering in the seasons—winter, Phyllis Isaac, spring, June White, summer, Rosalind Stephens, Autumn, Elva White. The following represented the months of 1950, Nelson White, Karen Butcher, Roger Kerr; Ian Douglas, and Carmen Burrison in Colonial Costume; Louise Stevenson, Billie Waldie, Kirk Butcher; Fae Murney and Richard Stevenson in rain coats; Maurice Wellwood and Margo Hornby with spring flowers; Freda Stanworth dressed as a tiny bride and Bruce Sherwin dressed in a dress suit and top hat; June Riley and Patricia Zufelt dressed as national girls while four soldiers followed, Kenneth Riley, Allan Harvey, Jerry Corkery, Dick Riley; Wayne Young dressed as an umpire and Nancy Patch ready for the beach; Lloyd White, Helen Patch and Bruce Hornby; Caulene Riley and Glenn Harris, Pauline Drope, Sharon Hogg, Bob Butcher, Larry Bird and Beverley Sherwin.

The pageant of the months was concluded by singing Auld Lang Syne. The concert was concluded with the entire school singing in three-part harmony the Ukrainian carol, "Carol of the Bells". Santa Claus arrived and distributed candy and gifts.

Social Evening Held at Ida

CAVAN, Dec. 27 (ENS). —The fellowship of St. John's Club, Ida, held a social evening in the parish hall on Thursday evening when euchre was played during part of the evening.

When the guests sat down a three-storey birthday cake gayly lighted with candles was placed before Mrs. Richard Vance in whose honor the evening had been planned. Mr. Clare Winslow, president of the club, spoke in appreciation of Mrs. Vance's faithful service in the club and Mrs. Leonard McNeil made the presentation of a leather purse.

The Rev. Arthur Chote, the Rector of the church then added his voice in appreciation of Mrs. Vance's willing help in the club and all branches of work in the church. The guests then rose and sang "Happy Birthday."

6—In Memoriams

TURNER—In loving memory of our son and brother, Charles William Turner, of Ida, who died in action, Italy, December 27, 1944.
Six sad and lonely years have passed,
Since our great sorrow fell.
The shock that we received that day
We still remember well.
How his life was shed we know not,
What his last word, look or thought.
Only that he did his duty,
Died as he bravely fought.
—Lovingly remembered by mother, father, sisters and brothers.

SICKLER—In loving memory of Faye Marilyn Sickler, who passed away Dec. 27, 1949.
There's an open gate at the end of the road,
Through which each must go alone,
And there in a light we cannot see,
Our Father claims his own.
Beyond that gate our loved one
Finds happiness and rest,
And there is comfort in the thought
That a loving God knows best.
—Sadly missed by mother, sister and brother.

7—Cards of Thanks

I wish to thank the people of Campbellford for the confidence they have reposed in me, and for the acclamation for the coming year. I will endeavor to continue during 1951 the progress that has been proven during 1950. I also wish to thank the members of last year's council for the marvellous co-operation they gave me, and sincerely hope that the 1951 council will be equally as good. Wishing one and all a happy and prosperous New Year. Sincerely, Ernie Ayrhart, Mayor of Campbellford.

The officers of Duke of Manchester LOL No. 50, wish to thank all those who in any way assisted to make their annual Christmas draw a success, and especially E. A. Scott who sold 1,452 tickets, Wm. Casey who sold 1,064, and Eddie Payne who sold 662 tickets.

The family of the late Mrs. Margaret McGill of Bethany, wish to take this opportunity of thanking the friends, relatives and neighbours for their acts of kindness, flowers, cards, etc., during the long illness and at the death of our dear mother.

Railway Freight Rate Increases Have Improved Gross Revenues

MONTREAL, Dec. 27.—(CP).—Railways are the backbone of national strength, for no other form of transportation can provide the means for mass movement of people and goods, Donald Gordon, chairman and president of the Canadian National Railways, said here today in a statement reviewing 1950.

He said the Canadian National management will continue to exert every effort to meet the demands of traffic.

Wage increases to non-operating railway employees would add more than $15,000,000 to the Canadian National annual payroll, and when applied to all employees would amount to more than $18,000,000 annually.

"It is not possible yet to establish the actual cost of the 40-hour week, but it is certain to add many more millions to the annual payroll," Mr. Gordon said.

Improved Revenues

Heavier freight traffic and freight rate increases, granted the railways last March and June, improved gross revenues for the year. Mr. Gordon estimated they will exceed $550 millions and said indications are that this may be the break-even point for this year.

Revenue tons of freight moved in 1950 totalled approximately 80 millions, or four per cent. more than in 1949. There were increased loadings in coal, forest products, woodpulp, paper and mine products. Substantially higher loadings of crude oil and fuel oil reflected the importance of new oil fields under development in Western Canada.

As compared with 1949, Mr. Gordon said passenger earnings in 1950 will show a decrease of approximately 10 per cent. This is attributable not only to the levelling off of passenger traffic, but to the curtailment of service for two months at the beginning of the year owing to a fuel shortage, to the rail strike in August and to the Manitoba flood.

Hotel Revenue Down

Hotel revenues declined slightly. Gross revenues for the Canadian National Telegraphs again reached all-time high levels, with private leased wires, radio program facilities, stock quotation services and domestic message traffic at record peaks. Express business was heavy, although earnings reflected the effect of the interruptions to train service. Earnings of the Canadian National (West Indies) Steamships were reduced owing to the tightening of import restrictions in the West Indies and reduced rates on flour and sugar: passenger revenues increased by about 10 per cent.

The general price index shows an increase of 2.4 per cent. in the prices of materials and supplies purchased by the railway in 1950. The average cost of rail increased 5.7 per cent. over 1949; iron and steel products, 4 per cent.; lumber, 20.3 per cent. The cost of locomotive coal rose by 1.7 per cent.

New Facilities

"Indications of our endeavor to keep pace with the development of Canadian industry and materially assist in advancing it may be seen in the construction of the new freight-handling facilities in Montreal, the extension and improvement of the freight yards at Mimico, the enlargement of the Vancouver freight yard, the building of a new freight shed with additional trackage at Edmonton, the extension of the MacDonald Hotel in that city, the building of an annex to the motive power shop at Stratford and of a new wheel shop at Point St. Charles.

"In 1950 we handled 152,000 tons of less-than carload freight at Edmonton and the new facilities, with extensive track revisions, will improve our service to the shippers. . . .

"Our dieselization program was advanced during the year when eight 1,500-horsepower diesel locomotives were put into operation in freight service between Montreal and the Lake St. John area of Quebec."

Eighteen 600-horsepower Diesel electric locomotives were delivered for use on Prince Edward Island, which will be the first province to be completely Dieselized.

Accelerated Program

An accelerated shopping and repair program has returned a substantial number of "bad order" cars to service and 5,000 steel box cars are now on order for 1951 delivery. We added 688 units of freight car equipment, including 490 flat cars.

"In 1950 we took delivery of 25 new coaches and 20 duplex roomettes, a new type of sleeping car with all enclosed space which has proved to be very popular with the travelling public. Sleeping cars and dining cars are being converted and modernized in our own shops."

During the emergency at Winnipeg the Canadian National handled more than 30,000 evacuees, of which 231 were stretcher cases and 259 hospitalized walking cases. "As the only means of transportation for a time between Winnipeg and St. Boniface, we operated a shuttle service which carried 100,000 passengers. After the fire at Rimouski, Que., we provided relief by means of a shuttle service. Both here and at Winnipeg, Canadian National Telegraphs made essential contributions to the welfare of the stricken people."

Try To Prevent Budget Slash

PARIS, Dec. 27 (Reuters). — The French administration battled hard in the Assembly today to protect its billion-dollar special arms budget from slashes proposed by the Assembly finance committee.

The administration rejected the committee's plea to lop 85 per cent off the new taxes designed to pay for the program. The committee argued the program could be paid for by juggling books of other accounts.

Finance Minister Maurice Petsche claimed the committee's scheme would leave him $250,000,000 short.

The administration has pledged its office on the budget. If it is defeated, the government will resign.

The special budget will jump France's 1951 war spending by 65 per cent over this year.

Point by point debate on the budget is scheduled to start tomorrow.

Driver's Condition Reported Critical

BELLEVILLE, Dec. 27 (CP) — Condition of Woodrow Hewitt, 30, of Brockville, severely injured on Tuesday when his truck hit a tree three miles east of here, was described today as critical. He had not regained consciousness since the accident.

Hewitt was pried from his smashed truck cab after his transport brushed against a stalled car on the road and slammed into the tree. An unidentified woman sitting in the car was shaken up.

Fried By Pirates

HONG KONG, Dec. 27 (Reuters)—The 516-ton Panamanian steamship Islas Visayas, attacked and held by pirates off the Chinese coast Christmas day, was released Tuesday. A radio message from the ship said the pirates had looted some of her cargo and personal belongings of the crew.

Three Plead Guilty, Had Liquor In Cars

Three men pleaded guilty in police court today to having liquor in their cars and two pleaded guilty to being drunk Saturday night.

The three who had liquor in their cars were James Bronson, RR 2, Peterborough; Lyle Thackeray, 465 Stewart St.; and Basil Goulah, 996 High St. They all paid fines of $15 and costs.

The two who pleaded guilty to being drunk and paid fines of $10 and costs were Thomas McDonald, 185 King St.; and Irving Morgan, 128 Park St.

Picked Up As Vagrant

Picked up at the junction of Highways 28 and 9 by Provincial Police Corporal Lloyd McClure, Arthur King, no fixed address, was brought into Peterborough and charged by city police with vagrancy when he failed to explain how he obtained several new articles found in his pockets.

Detective Sergeant W. A. (Bud) Clarke testified earlier the same evening a constable off duty had heard a woman clerk of a George St. store calling after King. The constable stopped King and found him with three gloves in his pockets. The store didn't wish to lay any charge and King was released.

Sergeant Clarke said King would not explain where he got the new articles found on him when arrested. He had not had them when stopped previously.

He was fined $10 and costs or 10 days.

Letters, Cards Set Record

Cards and letters through the local post office this year from December 12 until December 23 totalled 974,300. In addition to this, was mail originating from 47 meter machines placed in various businesses in the city.

The incoming mail, letters and cards originating in centres other than Peterborough, is believed to have equalled those through the machine. This means that the sorters handled nearly 2,000,000 letters and cards in the 11-day period.

The increase over last year was 41,200.

The peak arrived earlier this year by three days. On December 16, there was handled 158,100 as compared with a higher peak of 167,400 on December 19, 1949. But the rush was heavier prior to those dates.

Today the sorters and carriers began the task of catching up with backlog mail which had been set aside for the first class mail. These included pictures of cowboys, hockey players, calendars and cards.

Work at the armouries is expected to close today, two weeks after the extra office was opened for incoming parcels.

After the morning mail was sorted today, the postal clerks began to sort the decreasing piles of letters not addressed properly. The total last week was nearly 10,000 and this figure has been greatly reduced. Letters and cards in the office today with some error in address have been into the hands of two carriers at least attempting to find destinations.

Given Four Months As Third Offender

Frank Johnston, 472 Brioux St., was sentenced to four months in Guelph reformatory when he pleaded guilty in police court today to a charge of a third offence drunk.

When first asked if he acknowledged being previously convicted twice of being drunk within a year, Johnston said merely "I guess so."

"I beg your pardon?" asked the magistrate.

"I think so," Johnston replied.

When shown the records of his previous convictions, Johnston said "I see now. It is from the time you are convicted. I thought it was from the time you were picked up." He was referring to the year's time limit in the charge.

He said he had been steadily employed until sentenced little more than three months ago to three months on another third offence drunk charge.

"That three months was for intoxication wasn't it?" Magistrate W. B. Philp, KC, asked.

"That's right," Johnston acknowledged.

"Johnston, I think you're just a straight alcoholic, nothing else," the magistrate commented in passing the sentence.

Three German Barges Held In Soviet Zone

BERLIN, Dec. 27. — (AP). — Three West German barges carrying scrap metal from Berlin have been held for four days in the Soviet zone, Allied officials reported today.

They said no reprisals against Soviet zone barges in West Berlin canals are under consideration.

In previous clashes over water traffic, the western powers have compelled the Russians to release German barges by tying up eastern craft in Berlin.

AN ERA ENDED and a new age began in 1900, and many great events have taken place in the last half-century. TOP LEFT: The automotive age really got under way in the first half of the 20th century. The chrome-plated beauties of today are a far cry from this early model. It is the first Daimler car, conceived and designed by Gottlieb Daimler, shown here in the back seat. TOP RIGHT: Sinking of the Titanic April 14, 1912, with the loss of 1,517 lives, shocked the world. The Titanic—then the largest ship afloat—was on her maiden voyage to New York when, shortly before midnight, she struck a giant iceberg a glancing blow, slicing a hole below the water-line practically from end to end. There were only 711 survivors. LOWER LEFT: "A miracle of deliverance" was Winston Churchill's description of the evacuation of the British Expeditionary Force from Dunkerque during the Second World War. More than 335,000 British and French troops were taken off the beaches by their respective navies and the "little ships." From May 30 to June 4, 1940, the open beaches were crowded with tired men drawn up in order as shown in this photo, some of them waiting as long as 48 hours before being taken off. LOWER RIGHT: Scientific development reached a climax with atomic fission, first used in the dropping of an atom bomb on Hiroshima August 6, 1945. Some 78,150 died and 40,000 were injured. This photo shows the mushroom of smoke from the second bomb, dropped on Nagasaki 10 days later. The Emperor ordered cessation of hostilities the same day as the Nagasaki bomb.

New Age Forged In 50 Years As 2 Big Wars Grip World

By CHARLES BRUCE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

On the evening of Jan. 22, 1901, a portly, bearded man dispatched a telegram from Osborne House, the Royal residence on the Isle of Wight, to the Lord Mayor of London.

"My dear mother, the Queen, has just passed away ."

Victoria was dead.

Her death may be taken as the first of the great news stories of the past half-century.

Any backward glance at news must always waver between the fading banners of single breaks and the long trends of life and habit, reported—often unconsciously and by implication—in soberer columns, on inside pages. Between what was known then and what we know now. But Victoria's death stands up as a story that will not fade.

Not because it was unexpected—death is inevitable.

Not because in itself, it could after a way of life. But because it remains a milestone in time. The end of an era. The beginning of an age.

Ten of the first 50 years of this new age, the world gave to war.

Sharp Impact

It is almost impossible to measure the impact of news in wartime against the stories we call "great" in periors of peace. Suffering, sacrifice, heroism, death by violence, make the news that pulls the heartstringh of humanity But in wartime the examples of these are multiplied a thousand times. They become the usual. And so, only the sweep and clash of fleets and armies, in which these things are dramatized en masse, stand out; the tide-turning stand of armies along the Marne or at El Alamein; the entry of another neutral; the thundering guns at Jutland. And of course, to those corncerned, the casualty lists.

By any standard, the clashes of fleets and armies must head the list of great news stories of 1900-1950.

But in the 35 years of actual or nominal peace before and between and after the wars, men and women still worked from day to day. They made news. News trends developed, new forces were discovered that determined their habits, how they should live and die. New personalities rose like stars, used the trends, the discoveries, the men and women. For peace, and for war.

New Era Opens

Months before that winter day on which Victoria died, Ladysmith had been relieved Kruger had fled to Europe. The United States had ousted Spain from Cuba. The time of small wars, red plush and wax fruit was over.

At about this time, a man named Henry Ford, whose father had once given him 40 acres of land to keep him out of machine shops, was thinking of going into business for himself in industrial Detroit. In 1902 he did so. A little later, by accident, he came across a piece of vanadium steel —the thing he needed to build the light strong car he visioned. So was born the model-T, and universal use of the automobile.

In 1901 also, two younger men than Ford had set up a small wind-tunnel in a workshop at Dayton, Ohio. There they measured the lift and drag of wind, the position of the centre of pressure on cambered surfaces, the effect when one surface was placed above another. As a result, they turned out a machine equipped with a four-cylinder petrol motor of 12 horsepower. It weighed 750 pounds with Orville Wright aboard, and at Kitty Hawk, N. C., on Dec. 17, 1903, it left the ground and flew—for 59 seconds at 30 MPH.

(It should be noted here that the achievements of Ford, and the many others who pioneered the automobile industry, and of the Wrights and others who believed in the possibility of heavier than air flight, were largely made possible by improvements in a gadget with which engineers had been puttering for 10 years—the internal combustion engine. A gadget which by "putting the furnace into the cylinder" achieved a ratio of power to weight sufficient to make automotive travel practical.)

Making Progress

In 1901 also, Guglielmo Marconi was getting somewhere with his experiments in electro-magnetic waves. Working for the British post office, he had transmitted signals in the late '90s across Bristol Channel from Penarth to Brean Down. On Dec. 12, 1901, he succeeded in communicating across the Atlantic between Poldhu in Cornwall and the odd-looking structure he had erected on Signal Hill, St. John's, Nfld.

(As in the case of Ford and the Wrights, others were concerned in the theory of wireless telegraphy. Others came after Marconi to develop the radio business as we know it. It was he who caught popular imagination with its early commercial application.)

Loss of Titanic

Late on Sunday night, April 14, 1912, bands were playing dance music off the Grand Banks of Newfoundland aboard the biggest ship afloat, speeding on her maiden voyage from Southampton to New York. Passengers felt a slight jar; the ship ran on, came to a stop, began to list and settle by the head. Hours later, as her engines tore loose and roared down the slant of the 'tween-decks, she went down — taking 1,500 men, women and children.

Destruction of the Titanic, the so-called unsinkable, caught the world's imagination as no other single peacetime catastrophe in the half-century. A small thing, compared to the mass slaughter Europe was to know within three years. But the Titanic story was redolent of all the drama of human courage and folly. The sinking, incidentally, quickened by years the general adoption at sea of Signor Marconi's gadget which 11 years before had sputtered its faint signals between Cornwall and Newfoundland.

At about this same time in 1912 a man named Vladimir Ilyich Ulyanov Lenin, leader of a split-off section (they called themselves Bolsheviks) of the Russian Revolutionary Party, was organizing from abroad the publication in St. Petersburg of a new newspaper, called Pravda. Long before this he had formulated his ideas of a so-called "dictatorship of the proletariat," which culminated Oct. 25, 1917 in bloody revolution, and which today in the version of Joseph Vissarionovitch Stalin is the world's chief threat to peace.

Powerful Results

At the same time of the October revolution in Russia the disciple of another ideology — although onetime Socialist Benito Mussolini had not yet completed his swing around the political circle to Fascism—was recuperating from a trench-mortar wound and resuming his prewar work on the newspaper Popolo d'Italia. Five years and five days later—October 30, 1922— as victors in a long running fight between Extreme Right and Extreme Left (for power nominally held by a constitutional but futile government) his Fascists seized Rome. Seized it peacefully, although there were, according to an account of that time, a few isolated killings of Communists by Fascists, and vice versa. Thus began the long reign of a new Caesar. It was to end in death and ignominy; but not before it had been linked in an iron Axis with the reign of another, a rouser of vaster rabbles, whose ambition was to rule the world.

Hitler A Choirboy

Adolf Hitler, at the time of Victoria's death, was singing in a church choir, a boy of 12. When the Titanic went down, he was selling drawings. At the time of the October revolution he was serving as a private in the Bavarian Army. By 1922, when Mussolini came to ascendancy in Italy, he had graduated to the beer halls of Munich to expound a theory—the idea of an authoritarian, totalitarian state, controlled for and by Aryans. It came to flower on January 30, 1933, when his Nazzi Party won power by election and Hitler was Chancellor of the Third Reich. From that date, for a dozen years, until he died cowering in a Berlin cellar, his was the world's most-feared name.

The paradox, as the half-century ended, was that the new incumbent as lord of fear was the man whose guns sounded in dying Hitler's ears.

Stock Market Crash

At about the time Mussolini was coming to the zenith of his power, and while Hitler's star was still low on the horizon, an event occurred which symbolized a condition that was to contribute mightily to their joint sway over lands and people. And to that other influence working outward from the grey city where Lenin's body lay. On Oct. 29. 1929, the New York Stock Market crashed. There is little that is compelling about dry figures. But here were figures written in blood. For the crash itself was only the dramatic first symbol of a world condition. It signalled the collapse of trade, the great depression. In the decade that followed, the field of human flesh and blood was fertile to the seeds of hate. And they were sown.

In the midst of that decade, however—Mussolini's conquest of Ethiopia was complete, civil war in Spain was under way — the world paused for a moment to hear a former king speak "at long last . . . a few words of my own. On the afternoon of Dec. 11, 1936 the British parliament had passed into law the first voluntary abdication bill in the long history of the Empire. That night the former Edward VIII broadcast to the world his explanation: "I have found it impossible to carry the heavy burden . . . without the help and support of the woman I love."

The King's abdication, to make possible his marriage to a divorced woman, was the romance of the half-century. His broadcast was heard by the greatest audience up to that time in the history of radio—more than had listened to the bombast of Mussolini or the stridency of Hitler.

Outgrowth of War

Out of the second of the two world wars that splash with red the history of the half-century, came two developments of which the full significance belongs to the future.

One of these was the formation in San Francisco, in the spring of 1945, of the United Nations, an attempt by the victors to ensure a just peace through worldwide rule of law.

Five years later the organization—already divided by the enmity of one of its founders, Russia—held together to stand against the invasion of South Korea by the Communist North. Whether or not this clash was the sprouting of a third world war was still unclear.

The second development—long in growing, secretly nursed in the minds of men—was signalized by the blast which on Aug. 6, 1945, wiped out the Japanese city of Hiroshima. Of all the stories of this half-century, the harnessing of atomic power, of which the bomb is one aspect, hold the wildest potentialities for the future. So much is shrouded. It is hard to say, even, where the knowledge of atomic power began.

In the year of Victoria's death a young New Zealander named Ernest Rutherford was professor of physics in McGill University, Montreal. His researches established the existence and nature of radio-active transformations, the electrical structure of matter, the nuclear nature of the atom. He published books about this and in 1908 won a Nobel prize.

Other Developments

Enrico Fermi, an Italian physicist, and others, split the atom in the mid-thirties, and Otto Hahn of Berlin split the uranium atom in 1939. But it is still uncertain whether they quite knew what they were doing. Many others worked specifically toward the result blazoned by that blinding flash over Hiroshima. And others still work.

In the end it comes back to people. Where this knowledge leads—to ultimate self-destruction or a new world of growth and structure to end life or to make life more worth living—depends on men. On men who sit in high places, ruled by the instincts, greeds, passions and ideals that are the common inheritance of flesh and blood.

Cavan Schools Present Christmas Shows

CAVAN, Dec. 27 (ENS). — Bright lights glowed from the windows of Whitfield's school on Thursday evening and the interior was gay with Christmas decorations and a well laden Christmas tree.

Mrs. Alex Miller, the teacher, and her 14 pupils presented a splendid concert of drills, songs, and dialogues.

Donald Lang, who was chairman, called on Ernest Brackenridge, a trustee of the south school area, to speak.

Siv pupils, Eva Lawrence, Frances Elson, Edith Pantling, Carol Pantling, Kenneth Archibald, and Murry Gillis sang a two part song, "Were I a Bird." The dialogues, "Santa's Homecoming" and a pantomime "The Doctor Visits the School," were acted by Kenneth Archibald, Frances Elson, Eva Lawrence, Murry Gillis, Edith Pantling, Carol Pantling, Barbara Young, Russell Young, Sharon Armstrong Robert Crow Douglas Temple, Kenneth Temple, Ralph Long and Marjorie Hogg. Frances Elson played a piano solo.

Mr. Gay, the musical director, led the children in their singing and played the piano accompaniments.

Santa arrived to distribute the gifts from the tree to every child present.

Beechwood School

Beechwood school held their annual school concert and Christmas tree Wednesday. The pupils, under the direction of their teacher, Alex McLeod, put on a program of drills, dialogues, choruses and songs.

The distribution of gifts from the prettily decorated tree by Santa Claus who arrived after the National Anthem was sung.

Cargo Ship Aground

WELLINGTON, N.Z., Dec. 27 (Reuters)—The 7,126-ton Montreal cargo ship Ivor Jenny still was aground today on the dangerous Horseshoe Reef about 100 miles from Suva Fiji, after two unsuccessful attempts to refloat her under her own steam. The ship went aground Tuesday. Earlier she had been reported on fire between Panama and Suva.

2 Die In Fire

CANASTOTA, N.Y., Dec. 27 (AP)—Two children perished early today when fire swept their two-storey frame home. Firemen found the bodies of Anthony Sorbello, 12, and his sister, Joan, 7, in a second-floor bedroom. The parents and another child escaped.

Five Stores Burned

FAIR LAWN, N. J., Dec. 27 — (AP)—An early-morning fire in the heart of the business district today destroyed a string of five stores. Police said five stores in the one-storey business block were "completely gutted" and others were badly damaged. No damage estimate was immediately available.

Composer Dies

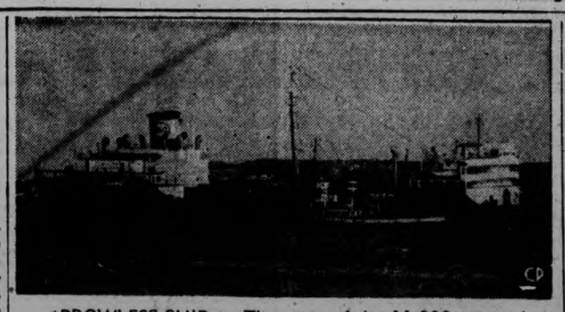

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 27 — (AP).—Ben Black, co-composer of the song "Moonlight and Roses" died yesterday in hospital. He was 60. Black, once a band leader, composed several romantic tunes including the popular "Hold Me." But his most famous was "Moonlight and Roses," which he wrote in collaboration with Edwin H. Lemare and Neil Moret.

Win Second Test

MELBOURNE, Dec. 27.—(Reuters).—Australia went two up today in the best-of-five cricket test series, defeating England in the second test here by 28 runs. England, needing 179 to win, was put out for 150 in the second innings on a fast pitch. The match provided even greater thrills than the first test, which Australia won by 70 runs.

Orders Recount

GODERICH, Dec. 27 — (CP) — Judge T. M. Costello has ordered a recount of ballots cast in the recent municipal voting for mayor of Goderich, in which J. E. Huckins defeated John Baker by a majority of one vote. The recount will take place Jan. 5 at the town hall.

PROWLESS SHIP — The stern of the 11,000-ton tanker Esso Rochester is brought into Halifax harbor after the ship came to grief in a Gulf of St. Lawrence gale. The 250-foot section of the vessel was hauled from Seven Islands, Que., by the Foundation Maritimes tug Josephine. The bow section foundered in a second storm while being towed by the Foundation Lillian.

Cobourg Merchants Report Trade Good

COBOURG, Dec. 27 (ENS). — Christmas trade, on the whole, was good, Cobourg merchants report. Figurines were popular, as well as ceramic and similar types of artware. Sales of radios were smaller than the previous Christmas and this is said to be due to the desire of customers to hang on to the old set until they could afford or desire a television set. However, while the general volume of trade in regard to number of sales, was as good as last Christmas, and in the case of some stores, even better, the actual amounts spent for gifts was smaller per customer. One factor responsible for less individual spending power is the high cost of living, particularly the fact that the grocery bill is larger than ever before.

Thieves Strike Twice

TORONTO, Dec. 27 (CP) — Shopbreakers Tuesday night carried off a safe containing $5,400 in cash and cheques from a ladies' wear store. Earlier in the day a different branch of the same firm was broken into and several thousand dollars worth of ladies' clothing stolen.

Firemen Get Two Calls

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 27 — (ENS).—Firemen had a busy time for a few exciting moments about noon on Tuesday, when they answered a call to the home of Peter Monaghan. They had just arrived at the blaze when another call for help came, this time to the residence of Charles Holmes in another section of town.

They managed to look after both fires however, which were chimney blazes of a minor nature, and no damage resulted in either case.

Airliner Hits Plane

VILLAHERMOSA, Mexico, Dec. 27 (AP)—A four-engined airliner smashed into a private plane while landing here Tuesday, killing two mechanics working on the smaller plane. The pilots of both planes were injured, but the 32 passengers aboard the airliner escaped.

Russian Officers With Chinese In North Korea

TOKYO, Dec. 27 (Reuters). — Russian officers in uniform interrogated American prisoners-of-war in Korea, informed military sources here report.

One American officer captured by Chinese was released after questioning by a Russian, these sources said.

The Russian officer was said to have questioned the American at a Chinese divisional headquarters about 18 miles north of the 38th Parallel.

The Russian spoke English and was said to have treated the American in a friendly way.

The American said four Russian officers appeared to be assigned to each Chinese divisional headquarters.

A Tokyo spokesman said he had "no knowledge" of the alleged presence of Russians in Korea.

Answer Roll Call By Exchanging Gifts

HAVELOCK, Dec. 27 (ENS).—The Christmas meeting of the Belmont Women's Institute coupled a short Christmas program with a quilting when two quilts were worked on.

The roll call was answered with an exchange of gifts. Mrs. W Corneil sang a Christmas carol playing the accompaniment on her autoharp. Community singing of carols was enjoyed and Mrs. Corneil was the winner of a quiz contest. Lunch was served at the close of the meeting.

Mrs. Dolly May Hall

The funeral for Mrs. Dolly May Hall, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. T. E. Barnard, Sudbury, was held Monday at the Bailieboro Anglican Church. The Rev. A. A. Choate, of Millbrook, conducted the service.

The pallbearers were Charles Fisher, W. C. Dawson, Fred Perrin, Charles Barnard, John Breckenridge, Jim Lewis, Lewis Lunnie. Burial was in Bailieboro cemetery.

Alcohol Problem Discussed By Boys' Group

TORONTO, Dec. 27 (CP)—The Ontario Older Boys' Parliament, in a throne speech read by its lieutenant-governor, Tuesday night outlined a step toward solving the problem of alcohol consumption among youth.

Ninety-three members of the boys' parliament were present at the official opening of the 30th session of their legislature.

Premier L. V. Van De Wall of Barrie, 20-year-old merchandising student, and opposition leader Victor Shimizu, philosophy student at the University of Toronto, addressed each other in impeccable parliamentary style.

The lieutenant-governor — better known as Toronto's Mayor Hiram McCallum—was thanked by members of the government and oposition alike.

A course in alcohol education is to be given at the sessions, directed by the Rev. Albert Johnson of the Ontario Temperance Federation.

"It is alarming that up until now absolutely nothing has been done to educate Ontario youth in the harmful effects of alcohol," said Premier Van De Wall.

The boys will also take a course in leadership training given by the Ontario Boys' Work secretary, the Rev. J. A. Foster, and lectures in Christian faith.

Course and meetings will be held Wednesday through Saturday with legislature sessions each afternoon and evening.

Old Havelock School Has Christmas Concert

TRENT RIVER, Dec. 27 (ENS). —Mrs. James Barlow, teacher of Old Havelock School, Belmont, and pupils presented their annual Christmas concert in the schoolhouse on Thursday night. There was a large crowd in attendance who enjoyed the dialogues, choruses, pantomimes and recitations which were so ably enacted by the children. After the evening's program Santa appeared and presented gifts and candy from the gaily lit Christmas tree. Mrs. Austin Wilde was prompter and Miss Eleanor Wilde and Mrs. Eric Little were piano accompanists.

Belmont WI Sponsors Christmas Dance

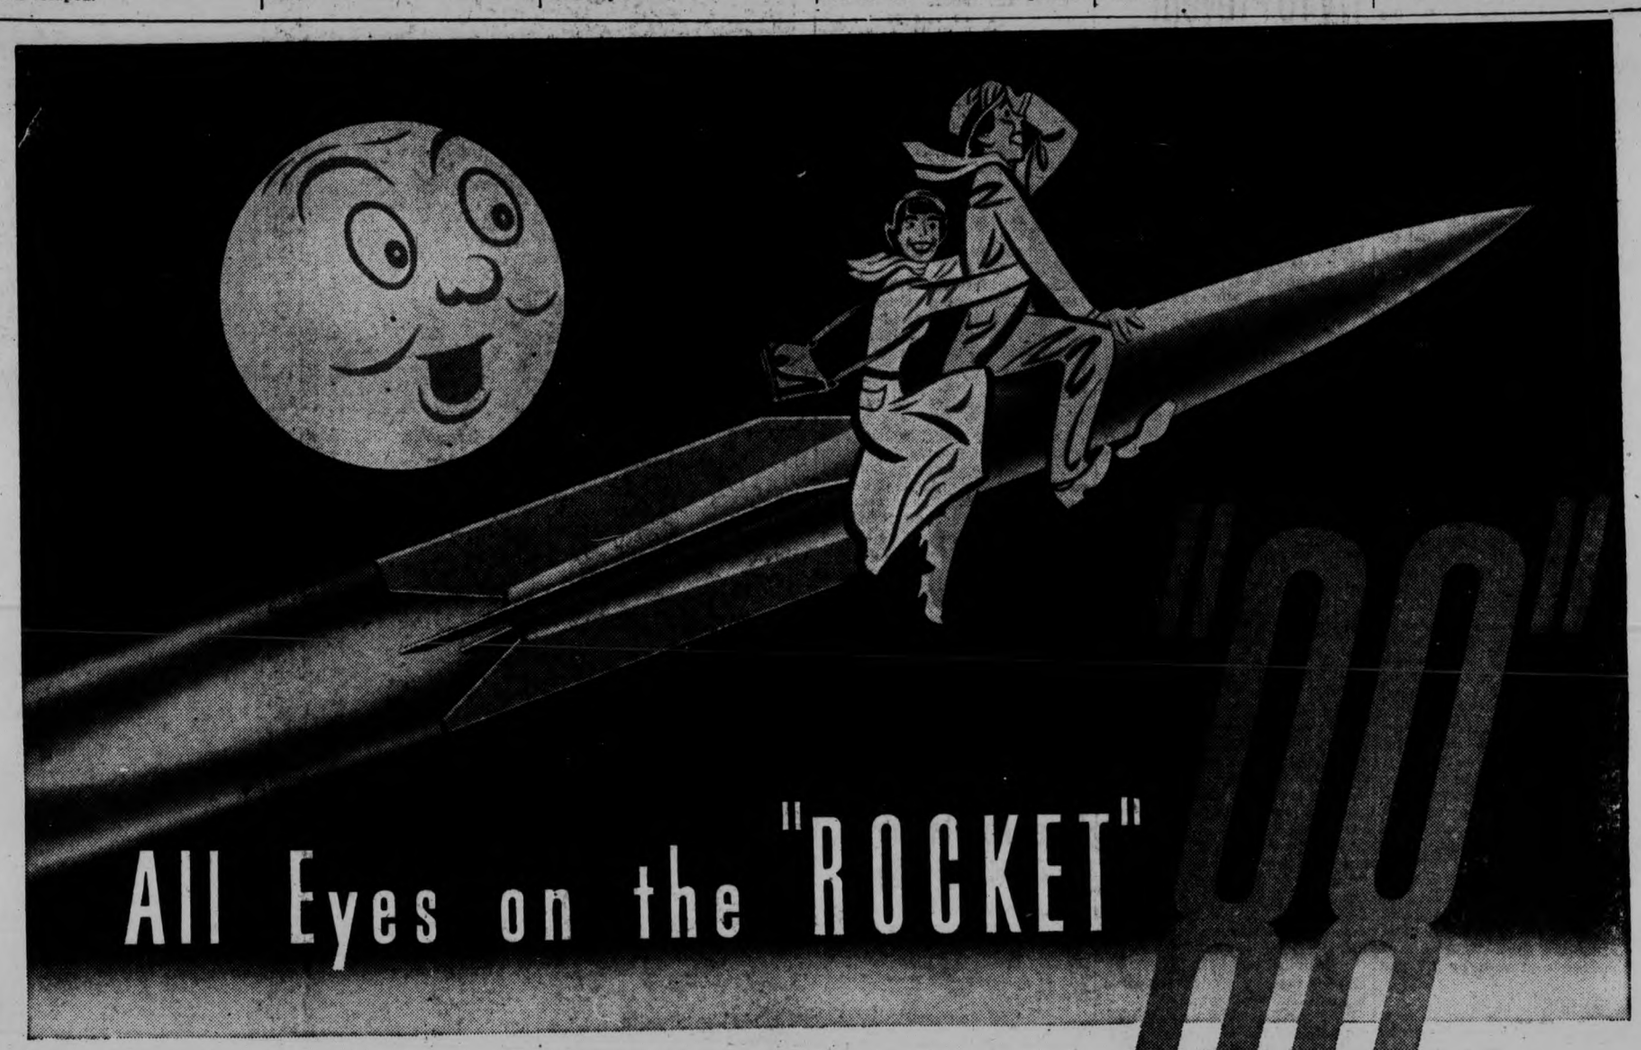

HAVELOCK, Dec. 27 (ENS)—The dance in the township hall on Christmas night, sponsored by the Belmont Women's Institute attracted a large crowd, the proceeds amounting to approximately $60.

Miss Nellie McGowan was the winner of the draw for the quilt made by the institute for display at the district annual meeting last summer. James Calnan won the second prize of $3.

The Belmont Girls' Club held a draw for a turkey and Christmas cake at the Christmas tree at the township hall on Friday night, the net proceeds from sale of tickets amounted to approximately $21. Muriel Gough was the winner of the turkey and Donald Cassan won the cake.

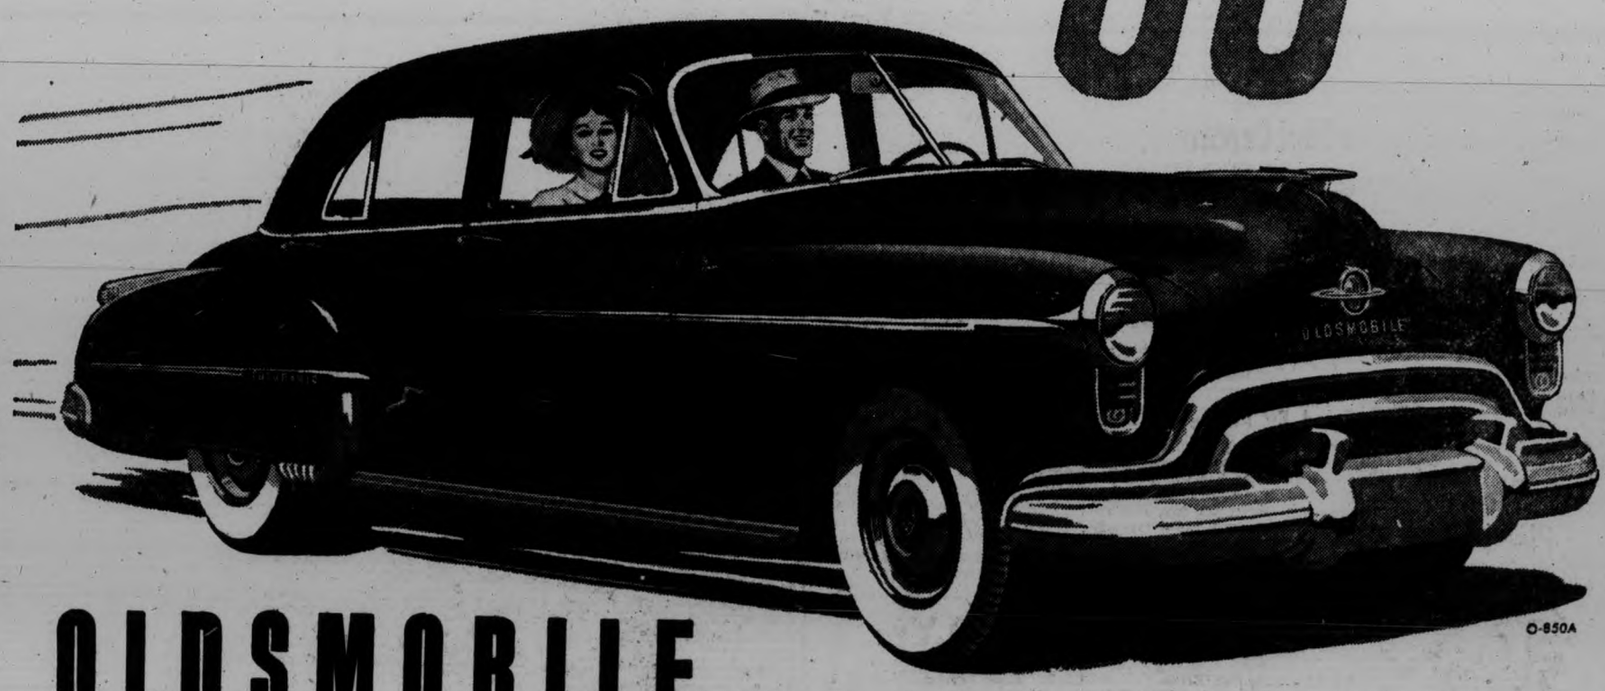

COLLECTOR'S PRIZE

A first edition copy of poems by Robert Burns sold at auction in London for $2,640.

Communist Menace In Asia World's Top News In 1950

By JOHN TRACY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

This was the year that the cold war turned hot and the advance of Communism behind Soviet satellite armies brought closer the possibility of a third world conflict.

As in 1949, Communism made big news in 1950. The headlines told the Communist big shots walking out of a United Nations meeting; little followers of Marx and Stalin convincted as Red spies in the United States and Britain; Communist guerrillas fighting in the jungles of Malaya and Indo-China; and Red Chinese armies driving against troops of the free nations in Korea.

By mid-December relations between the free world and Russia were fast approaching a crisis. Russia herself had performed no warlike act but the democratic nations were fighting troops from Communist China which had a friendship pact with the Soviet Union.

Hordes of Chinese and North Korean Communist soldiers had pushed back a powerful United Nations force in Korea. Prime Minister Attlee of Britain made a flying trip to Washington to consult with President Truman on what was called a "military disaster."

In Brussels, representatives of the 12 Atlantic Pact nations had met and decided to form an integrated armed force to protect Western Europe. There was a possibility Canadian troops might become part of this protective force under Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, the Second World War commander called back to head the defence of Europe.

There were other big stories during the year—the $1,500,000 payroll robbery in Boston in January; a coal strike in the United States which halted some trains on Canadian railroads; the Red River flood in Manitoba; a $400,000,000 storm in the eastern US; disasters such as the "Canadian Pilgrim" plane crash in which 58 died.

But the struggle with Communism dominated the running story of this mid-year of the 20th century. And Canada was in the thick of the struggle.

In midsummer Canada sent three destroyers to serve with UN ships in Korean waters. An RCAF transport squadron ferried men and supplies for Korea between US and Japanese bases. Near the end of the year one battalion of the 10,000-man force the dominion raised as an international peace-enforcement force for the UN arrived in Korea.

Canada's external affairs minister, L. B. Pearson, was named to a 3-man UN committee which late in the year was trying to arrange a cease fire in Korea. Pearson heads Canada's UN delegation.

Formosa A Problem

Early in the year, the US refused aid to Formosa, the fortress island to which Chiang Kai-shek and his Chinese Nationalist armies retired after the Red sweep across China.

It was part of the cold war when the Saviet Union Jan. 16 boycotted the UN committees because it failed to get Nationalist China expelled. But Soviet delegates returned to their seats in the Security Council six months later.

The Communists turned on the heat June 25 when well-trained North Koreans Reds with Russian-made arms crossed their country's 38th parallel and smashed South Korean defences.

The UN Security Council asked all UN members to support South Korea with military aid. The help came, mostly from the US, but it was slow. The North Korean onslaught pushed the South Koreans and their US comrades into a narrow beachhead around Pusan, Korea's major port.

The turning-point came Sept. 15 when forces under Gen. Douglas MacArthur, UN commander in Korea, landed at Inchon and broke out from the beachhead. They drove northward reaching the high-water mark of their advance Oct. 26 when South Korean units arrived at the Korea-China frontier.

Then China's Communist intervened. They invaded Korea, blunted the edge of Gen. MacArthur's "end-the-war" offensive in late November and a month later had pushed the UN forces back south of the 38th parallel.

Elsewhere the Communists were driving ahead. Red Chinese had invaded Tibet. In Indo-China the Communist-backed Vietminh were weakening the French hold on the country, and in Malaya some 25,000 British troops and 80,000 police were struggling with Chinese Communist guerrillas.

It was the Communist threat that caused President Truman to order his country's atomic energy commission in January to go ahead with the hydrogen bomb, more feared than the atom bomb. Britain lengthened the period of military service of her fighting men and laid down a $10,000,000,000 defence program.

Truman and Attlee had a series of meetings in Washington near the end of the year and pledged "no appeasement" to the Communists. A few days later, Truman went on the air and told Americans of his plans for a state of national emergency.

Britain, with land and naval forces in Korea, was having troubles elsewhere, although there were abundant signs she was pulling out of her financial difficulties.

Labor Re-Elected

The Labor government was re-elected by a narrow majority in February and had a precarious time retaining control of parliament.

The throne speech at opening of parliament in London in October forecast perpetuation of wartime economic controls.

One indication of Britain's economic recovery after the Second World War was suspension of Marshall Plan aid, effective Jan. 1, 1951.

Britons rejoiced Aug. 14 when a daughter was born to Princess Elizabeth.

With war and threats of war ringing around the world, the Vatican was a calm spot. There the Holy Year opened Christmas Eve, 1949, and through the year millions of pilgrims visited Rome.

Tragedy darkened the Holy Year in November with the crash in France of the "Canadian Pilgrim" while it was bringing pilgrims home to Canada from Rome.

Other tragedies included the accidental sinking Jan. 12 of a British submarine in the Thames Estuary with a death toll of 65 and the March 12 crash near Cardiff of a passenger plane with a death toll of 80 football fans.

Thirty one died in February in the wreck of a suburban train on New York City's outskirts. And on the eve of Thanksgiving Day 78 more died in a similar wreck only a few miles from the spot.

One of the big stories of the year was the Nov. 1 attempt on the life of President Truman in Washington. Two Puerto Rican revolutionaries tried to storm the presidential residence and were cut down by guards. One of the would-be assasins and one of the guards died in the gun fight.

Elections in the United States Nov. 7 saw President Truman's Democrats retain control over Congress but the Republicans cut deeply into Democratic majorities.

As the year drew to a close, the UN Assembly ended its 1950 session with most of the items on its agenda cleared away. But there still remained the big question of what to do about Formosa and how to settle the Korean war.

HAM GREETINGS — Some 1,000 amateur radio operators received shortwave Christmas greetings from Vice Marshal W. A. Curtis, chief of air staff. Practising for actual sending of the message is Group Capt. E. A. D. Hutton, chief controller of the Air Force Amateur Radio System. Shown with him in this RCAF photo at Ottawa headquarters are, left, FO. C. L. McManus of North Bay, Ont., acting as assistant operator, and Air Commodore W. A. Hot Debate By Foreigners On Chiang's Army Strength

By WARREN WHITE

TAIPEI, Formosa, Dec. 27 — (Reuters)—How strong is Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek?

The answer to this question has a major bearing on events in the troubled Far East—but foreign observers here do not agree on the answer.

Whether Chiang's 500,000-strong army on Formosa could become a military factor in the Far Eastern situation is the subject of hot debate among these observers.

A year ago, as Chiang's defeated army regrouped on Formosa, 100 miles off the Communist-held Chinese mainland, Nationalist leaders claimed that they could hurl back any Communist invasion attack.

Today, the Nationalists talk boldly of soon launching their own invasion attack on the mainland, of setting up a new Chinese capital in Nanking within a year, and completely routing the Communist armies by 1953.

These claims coincide with widespread "intelligence reoprts" from the Chinese Communist interior that preparations are being rushed for a defensive war.

Very Confident

A small team of unofficial American military advisers, attached to Chiang's headquarters in a private capacity, express great confidence in Chiang's claims. But most popular individual in China do not share this enthusiasm.

In support of their views, the American advisers say that Chiang, despite his mainland defeats and responsibility for crippling corruption and inefficiency in his lower echelons, is still the most popular indiivdual in China today. Nationalist troop defections are blamed on Vice-President Li Tsung-Jen, who sued for peace—a move with which Chiang would not associate himself.

Genuine dissatisfaction with the Communist government has aroused a popular desire among the mainland population for a change of government, they add.

Chiang claims that 1,600,000 guerrillas on the mainland are loyal to him and are daily harassing the Communist forces, holding down large numbers of troops which would otherwise be available for service in Korea and Indo-China.

Although most foreigners other than the Americans believe that the Nationalists could, even without American help, beat back a Communist invasion attempt, that is the extent of their optimism.

Chiang, they say, is holding out on Formosa only in the hope of a world conflict in Asia. This, he hopes, would find him back with western support as president of the whole of China.

The biggest imponderable, these foreigners believe, is still whether Nationalist troops would be prepared to fight in a mainland counter-offensive. Past experience has shown that troop defections are the key to Nationalist defeats.

On Other Side

On the other side, authoritative estimates say Red China, with her vast reservoir of manpower, may have a fighting force of 12,000,000 men by the end of 1951.

That seems a fair estimate unless something unexpected happens to plans for Red China's war machine.

New additions to the Communists' huge army are reported daily, but it is becoming increasingly difficult to keep track of mobilization statistics.

Available figures show that Red China now has a regular army of 5,000,000. "Irregular" forces are understood to number another 5,000,000, and many of these are being shaped into fighting form.

Hundreds Of Magog Citizens Pray As Fire Sweeps Town

50 People Left Homeless As $350,000 Blaze Threatens Second Rimouski

Flames Race Through Block Becoming Inferno In Few Minutes, Nearby Centres Send Fire-fighters To Help

MAGOG, Que., Dec. 28—(CP)—Hundreds of townsfolk of this eastern townships centre early today joined a Roman Catholic priest in praying that their homes might be spared as a raging inferno destroyed three buildings and threatened to reach the proportion of the disastrous Cabano and Rimouski fires last summer. As the priest, the Rev. Roch Poitras of St. Jean Basco Church, led the spectators in prayer over a loudspeaker, the fire raced through a residential and business block, causing an estimated $350,000 damage and leaving 50 persons homeless.

The blaze broke out about 8 p.m. Wednesday night and within minutes developed into an uncontrollable inferno that threatened to wipe out this town of 5,000 residents.

Get Help

Fire-fighters from here and three nearby municipalities battled until 12:30 a.m. today before bringing the blaze under control.

Fire Chief Telesphore Lavoie of the Magog department reported early today that seven business establishments and 10 family dwellings had been burned out.

Ontario To Bring 75,000 Workers From Europe in '51

TORONTO, Dec. 28—(CP)—With the peak movement expected in March, 75,000 workers from Europe will be brought to Ontario during 1951, Provincial Planning Minister Greisinger announced Wednesday. Mr. Griesinger said the scheme was the outcome of talks between provincial and federal authorities and in response to demands of industry. About 35,000 skilled workers and their families are expected from Britain. Another 40,000 workers are to come from continental Europe. About two-thirds of the immigrants will be skilled tradesmen.

The workers will be screened overseas and in many cases they will be hand-picked for special jobs. Needs of the Ontario Hydro Commission, the automotive industry, radio and electrical manufacturing concerns and the building trades are most urgent, Mr. Griesinger said.

10,000 For Toronto

F. W. Stanley, assistant director of the planning department's immigration division, said no more than 10,000 of the new Canadians will settle in Toronto. Many would go to London and Windsor areas.

He said rather than cause the housing situation in cities in which they settle to deteriorate, the influx may well improve conditions. Many of the newcomers would be skilled building tradesmen and it has been the lack of just such workers, Mr. Stanley said, that has held up the home-building industry in many cities.

Some of the workers would be brought over by Trans-Canada Air Lines, but no more than 10 per cent. First arrivals should be here by the end of January.

Council Plans Special Session Over Recount

WINDSOR, Dec. 28 —(CP)—A special meeting of council will be held Friday night to consider the question of a recount of mayoralty votes in the city election which gave Thomas R. Brophey a margin of 38 votes over Mayor Arthur J. Reaume.

Board of Control decided to call the special meeting after hearing that Mr. Justice Spence of the Ontario Supreme Court had granted Mayor-elect Brophey's application to stop recount proceedings which opened Tuesday at the City Hall.

On Tuesday, an hour after the opening, Judge J. A. Legris of the Essex County Court adjourned proceedings pending the outcome of Wednesday's Toronto hearing of Mr. Brophey's application to stop the recount.

Controller Lawrence A. Deziel moved that the question of a recount be considered by council.

The controller said he was not prepared to vote Wednesday whether or not he favored a recount, preferring to defer that decision until he had an opportunity to study Mr. Justice Spence's ruling.

...ors Recount

Controller W. Ernest Atkinson said he was in favor of a recount.

Controller Gordon B. Ellis said at the last meeting of council, when a recount was discussed, he was opposed to it unless specific evidence was brought forward indicating there was something wrong with the election result.

"However," he said, "I have now changed my mind. I think Brophey showed poor sportsmanship in making a move to block the mayor's application for a recount. I now think that the question of a recount is an issue for council to take up."

Controller John E. Martin suggested a special meeting of council should be held Friday night to consider the question.

Cabinet Holds Special Meeting

OTTAWA, Dec. 28 (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent met with his top military and diplomatic advisers today amid predictions Canada's defence bill for the next fiscal year will boom beyond $1,000,000,000.

Mr. St. Laurent went into conference with the high-level group of ministers and officials who meet as the cabinet defence committee. Their meeting preceded a cabinet session this afternoon, one which is expected to name a January date for the opening of parliament and to consider greater defence exertions.

The figure of $1,000,000,000 has already been mentioned by Mr. St. Laurent and other ministers as a round estimate of Canada's defence bill for the 1950-51 fiscal year. There are predictions now, however, that a world situation which has provoked tremendous new American efforts will force Canada to do more too.

The cabinet defence committee includes Defence Minister Claxton, Trade Minister Howe, External Affairs Minister Pearson, Finance Minister Abbott, the Chiefs of Staff, and the deputy ministers of External Affairs and Defence.

Russian Furs Arrive For U.S. Air Force

SEATTLE, Dec. 28—(AP)—The Post-Intelligencer says today a shipment of furs for the United States Air Force from Russia via Britain was unloaded from the British freighter Dorrington Court in the foreign trade zone here Wednesday.

The newspaper says it is reported the furs will be used for lining heavy weather clothing for the air force.

The shipment consisted of 20 bales of raw skins. Twelve bales were of wolf skins and eight of bear skins. The shipment totalled about 3,500 pounds.

The article says another shipment via Vancouver is expected shortly, and that a shipment a few weeks ago was diverted from Seattle to San Francisco after longshoremen here refused to handle the Russian furs. There was no word of unloading difficulty Wednesday.

3 Indians Claim $500,000 Fortune

NIPIGON, Ont., Dec. 28 (CP)—Three Chippewa Indians who claim that an aristocratic French fur trader was their grandfather are seeking to establish themselves as heirs to a $500,000 fortune.

They are John Deschamp, 77; Mrs. Louise Deperry, 68, and Joe de la Ronde, 54. They say their grandfather was Louis Denys de la Ronde, French nobleman who managed a trading post here about 100 years ago and who died at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Aug. 23, 1868.

They claim that control of the nobleman's estate passed to a trustee. Now the Indians, living in humble circumstances here, are taking steps to find the trustee's heirs and try to recover the estate.

Conductor's Music Vanishes At Concert

SYDNEY, Australia, Dec. 28—(P)—All the conductor's scores and printed music for a concert of Vaughan Williams' works mysteriously disappeared tonight just as the program was about to begin.

A packed town hall audience waited an hour for the Sydney Symphony Orchestra to start and then heard a substitute program.

Sir John Barbirolli, conductor of the Halle Orchestra, Manchester, England, who was the guest conductor, said: "A thing like this must be just about unique in the history of music."

Lost 25 Hours On Mountain Two Missing Girls Safe

VANCOUVER, Dec. 28 (CP).—Two Vancouver schoolgirls missing for 25 hours on snowclad, mist-shrouded Mount Seymour were found safe and unharmed Wednesday—about 12 miles from where searchers were looking for them.

Marilyn Long, 15, and Frieda Newfeld, 13, stumbled down the treacherous slopes of the 4,700-foot mountain alone and came out on a deserted stretch of beach on Indian Arm, 20 miles east of Vancouver.

"God saved us; we prayed all night," the girls said. "We were just going around in circles. We didn't know where we were. Every time we tried to find the road—it just wasn't there."

From their cottage on a small island near the shore, Dr. W. H. Hatfield and his wife heard plaintive cries for help.

Rescued By Boat

The doctor pulled to the mainland in a rowboat, took the girls back to his cabin and popped them into a hot bath. They were returned to their frantic parents shortly after.

"They are perfectly well despite their experience," Dr. Hatfield said. "They were uninjured and remarkably cheerful although bone cold and soaking wet."

The girls became lost Tuesday on the mountain overlooking East Vancouver when they became separated from a Sunday school hiking party.

Frieda told this story:

"We just got off the trail somehow when we were heading for Goldie Lake. It was still quite light out.

"We walked for a while and started following a stream. We walked until it was dark and had to slide down lots of waterfalls.

"We were awful wet. When it got dark we found some level ground and lay down. It began to rain and we got under a tree. We were wet and cold all night. We were sick, too, most of the night.

"When it got light enough to see, we built a little hut with pieces of wood and crawled under.

"Later, we began hiking again. Suddenly, Marilyn screamed to me: "There's a house."

Marilyn said that during the night they could see the lights of the city, "but every time we set out for them, they would disappear."

UN Soldiers Braced For Attack

Repulse Light Probing As Red Forces Massed At Frontier

TOKYO, Dec. 28—(AP)—United Nations forces manning the 150-mile defence line across Korea's mid-section braced today against the expected flood of massed Communist manpower. But there was little action.

Gen. MacArthur predicted that more than 19 Red divisions—up to 190,000 men—would rush against his tightened new lines in the next two weeks.

(Reuters News Agency quoted a spokesman for Eighth Army headquarters in Korea as saying that troops "tentatively" identified as Chinese had already crossed the 38th Parallel in force.

(An unconfirmed front-line report said the Chinese had swarmed over the parallel and occupied the undefended city of Kaesong, north of Seoul, Reuters reported.)

The UN commander said Communist China has mobilized its "war effort on a national scale."

Last Known Location

In his war summary, MacArthur said the last known location of the 19 divisions, which compose the Chinese Communist Four Field Army, placed them in a position to hit the Eighth Army sometime between Jan. 1 and 10. He said there are six Chinese corps in the area and that limited

Urge US Discuss Asian Settlement

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Dec. 28 (AP)—Tense Asian countries in the United Nations, it was reported today, are pressing the United States to negotiate with Communist China for a settlement of all Far Eastern political problems.

They are said to feel that such negotiations are the only possible means for a solution to the Korean war without a military knockout.

Ever since the Chinese Communists sent their hordes into Korea the countries of Asia—with the exception of the Philippines—have been urging that the U.S. listen to Communist Peiping's demands that:

1. The U.S. withdraw its troops from Korea;

2. The U.S. withdraw the Seventh Fleet from Formosa.

3. The U.S. stop its opposition to the seating of the Communist Chinese regime in the U.N.

They believe these concessions would bring peace to Asia, at least temporarily. This view was implied in a 12-power resolution they put before the U.N. Assembly two weeks ago, pledging Red China a political conference in return for peace in Korea.

MORE THAN 750,000 INHABITANTS have fled the ancient Korean city of Seoul as advancing Communist Armies again probe within a few miles. Every available form of transportation has been pressed into service. In the above photo refugees crowd aboard a railway flat car in the northwestern front area awaiting removal under the supervision of U.N. forces.

Gold Producers Facing Ruin Government Told

OTTAWA, Dec. 28 (CP). — A delegation representing the Canadian mining industry will tell the government today that some of the industry's small gold producers are threatened with being driven out of business.

The delegation was scheduled to meet Prime Minister St. Laurent and a committee of his cabinet at noon to discuss, as an industry spokesman has put it, the future of Canadian gold mines in the light of reduced federal cost-aid subsidi...

The in... is concerned about a rev... rmula, announced in October, which reduced the government subsidy paid to marginal mines. Those are mines which produce a low grade of gold-bearing ore and have a tough time making their financial ends meet.

This development, the industry claims, may result in the closing down of some of the smaller mines.

Well Represented

The delegation includes representatives of the Canadian Metal Mining Association, the Mining Association of British Columbia, Midwest Metal Mining Association and Western Quebec Mining Association. These five groups want to make their views known in a joint brief to the government.

They are supported by the Ontario Mining Association, which, however, will present a brief of its own as representative of the country's largest gold-producing province.

The gold subsidy, figured out on a complicated formula basis was initiated in 1947 to assist new and marginal mines. Since then as a result of official alterations in the rate of the Canadian dollar it has had its ups and downs.

A year ago, when the Canadian dollar was dropped from official parity with the U.S. dollar to a discount of 10 per cent, the government reduced the gold production subsidy by $3.50 an ounce. That was done because the lowering of the dollar meant the producers would get $3.50 more for their product.

U.S. Casualties Total 38,325

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 (AP)—Announced United States casualties in the Korean war rose to 38,325 through midnight Dec. 22, an increase of 1,904 over the cumulative total reported in the previous week.

The department of defence, in releasing the figures today, emphasized that they represent only the number of notifications sent to next-of-kin and do not reflect all casualties suffered through Dec. 22.

The total included 6,432 deaths. Of these, 3,742 were killed in action, 684 died of wounds and six deaths were recorded among men who had been reported missing in action.

The wounded total was 27,012, including those who later died of wounds.

Total army casualties reached 32,066. The navy total was 429, the air force 306 and marine corps casualties reached 5,524.

Police Believe Abbey Stone Has Been Dumped In River

LONDON, Dec. 28—(AP)—Rural police 40 miles from London today said they believe the venerable Stone of Scone, stolen from Westminster Abbey, was unceremoniously dumped into the river Crouch under cover of night. A spokesman at Essex police headquarters in Chelmsford reported a group of persons was seen dumping a "heavy bundle" into the river from a small boat.

Foot patrolmen and radio cars quickly prowled five miles of river bank, while other police looked for the hallowed block of yellow sandstone, heavy in weight and tradition, in small boats along the stream.

They found no trace of the relic on which British kings have sat for crowning since Edward I looted the slab from Scotland in 1296.

This ancient grievance still rankles in the breasts of fiery Scottish Nationalists, who think the stone should be restored to Scotland.

Extremists among their number are generally suspected with carting off the stone during the early hours of Christmas morning from the coronation chair in the depths of the hallowed abbey.

London police today had another lead, a five-ton stolen truck they recovered in suburban Kensington. The truck was snatched from a factory yard in the Scottish city of Glasgow. If detectives confirm their suspicion that the vehicle was used to haul away the stone, it would strengthen the belief that the robbery was the work of Scottish Nationalist extremists.

Many Englishmen, stolidly unruffled by the eccentricities of Britain's weather and the menace of international crisis, were apoplectic over the shenanigans in the abbey.

There were wisecracks galore, too—mostly from sections of the British press, which declined to be unduly perturbed over the deed and whose cartoonists were having a field day.

But the dean of Westminster, the Very Rev. Dr. Alan Campbell Don — himself a Scotsman — vowed grimly that if necessary "I will go to the ends of the earth" to recover the stone.

US Communists Keep Convention Secret

NEW YORK, Dec. 28—(AP)—United States Communists drew a miniature "iron curtain" around their convention sessions today after opening rallies at which U.S. policies were blasted as war-making.

Approximately 2,600 delegates —at three widely-separated rallies Wednesday night — cheered and applauded as speakers denounced American rearmament plans and the presence of U.S. troops in Asia.

The biggest gathering — about 1,500 persons — was at a hall in Manhattan. About 600 attended a Brooklyn rally. Another 500 met in the Bronx.

Where today's closed sessions were to be held was a party secret.

ASK SMALL A-PLANT

DUESSELDORF, Germany, Dec. 28 (AP).—A group of German scientists today proposed the erection of a small German atomic plant for peaceful purposes. At the same time, the "working group of research science" demanded the lifting of all allied restrictions imposed on German scientific work. Several German Nobel Prize winners are among the group's members.

Girl Given Award For Lindsay Rescue

TORONTO, Dec. 28 (CP). — The Girl Guides' gilt cross for lifesaving has been awarded to Sea Ranger Ruth Ann Babcock, 16, of Toronto.

In announcing the award today, the Canadian Council of the Girl Guides' Association said Miss Babcock rescued Maureen Murphy from drowning in Sturgeon Lake, near Lindsay, last Aug. 24, revived her by artificial respiration and treated her for shock.

Open Verdict In Plane Crash

PENTICTON, B. C., Dec. 28 — (CP) — Investigation into the cause of the Okanagan Mountain plane crash pressed on today after a coroner's jury announced they couldn't supply the answer.

Jurors returned an open verdict Wednesday after hearing testimony by survivors, the only living crew member, and airline officials who have been at the scene of the wreck.

The two men who would likely know are dead.

The Calgary-bound Canadian Pacific Airlines DC-3 took their lives when it went down Friday 21 miles north of this Okanagan Valley city.

The jury decided only that pilot Quinton Moore and co-pilot Leo Doucette, both of Vancouver, died of injuries received when the aircraft sheared the tops of pines and came down high on the side of Mount Okanagan.

Testimony was that the plane was not overloaded and that weather conditions were suitable for flying.

Offers 6 Lives For Freedom

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 (AP) —The father of a St. Catharines boy in the United States army who lost his life while fighting in Korea has offered the lives of the six other members of his family if necessary to preserve what his oldest son died for.

James Shea of St. Catharines, made this offer in a letter to the U.S. Army adjutant-general, Maj.-Gen. Edward F. Witsell.

Shea wrote that his son James fought with the U.S. 9th infantry regiment of the 2nd Divsion in Korea and was no less a patriot than George Washington, Thomas Jefferson and Patrick Henry because he "along with many other poor lads was fighting the cause of liberty."

"And now your letter of December 11 comes to me, that somewhere in that distant land he has found his final resting place. Well, let it be, and if need be, there are six other lives from the father of him, and the mother of him, to the youngest of his brothers, who will willingly give what he and countless others before him have given, and what countless others will give in the preservation of human rights and dignity."

The death of Pte. James Shea was reported in the casualty list released Dec. 17 following notification of next of kin.

PAY THEIR RESPECTS

TOKYO, Dec. 28 (AP).—High-ranking officers, members of diplomatic missions and United Nations liaison groups will pay their respects to the late Lt.-Gen. Walton H. Walker Saturday at a ceremony at Haneda Airfield.

Canadian Army Units Show 25% Increase Over 1949

OTTAWA, Dec. 28—(CP)—The Canadian army has 76,546 men in its active and reserve units, a boost of 25 per cent over 1949, and looks forward to continued growth next year. The bulk of the 1950 increase arose from formation of the special force.

The over-all total includes some 20,000 men in the regular force, 10,400 in the special force and about 46,000 in the reserves.

An official year-end review today said the present total is 15,500 higher than in 1949, and quoted Defence Minister Claxton as hailing this growth as an "outstanding" sign of the "manner in which the army has grown and come of age since being reorganized as a peacetime formation four years ago."

The big event of the year, and the one which provided the big manpower boost, was the formation of the special force brigade group for service in Korea or elsewhere. One of its battalions has been sent to Korea, the others are training at Fort Lewis, Wash.

In addition to the 400 men it recruited swiftly, the regular army took in another 2,000 men and the reserves another 3,000 during the year.

Other Highlights

The review picked these as other highlights of a year which saw Korea spark a general defence expansion:

1. Placing of the whole regular army on active service or a war footing so its manpower could be used anywhere at any time.

2. Exercise Sweetbriar, which took 5,000 Canadian and American troops into the Arctic and taught them to respect—but not fear—its regions.

3. Various experiments which included one to build roads with snow, an experiment which "showed great promise and probably will be continued"; testing of lightweight, prefabricated Arctic barracks; new methods of northern insect control; design and testing of Arctic clothing, food and equipment.

4. Training of 11,000 reservists and 8,000 army cadets at summer camps.

5. Creation of an anti-aircraft command headquarters and formation of new anti-aircraft...

Jets Guarding New York Round-the-Clock

MITCHEL FIELD, N.Y., Dec. 28 (AP)—The United States Air Force disclosed Wednesday night that lightning-fast F-94 all-weather jet planes now are guarding New York City and the industrial east.

The Lockheed Interceptors are designed for round-the-clock defence against enemy bombers.

The new jet planes are equipped with radar and devices to give them additional power for combat or faster climbing speed. They are operating from McGuire air force base at Fort Dix, N.J., and other bases of the eastern air defence force.

The Air Force said the planes are on a 24-hour standby basis. They have a service ceiling of more than 45,000 feet and a top speed in excess of 600 miles an hour.

Britain, Spain Near Agreement

LONDON, Dec. 28 (AP). — Britain and Spain were reported near agreement today on the restoration of full diplomatic relations.

Informed sources said the two countries soon will name ambassadors to each other's capitals — the first to be appointed in nearly five years. They already have swapped nominations. Each government has formally to approve the nominee of the other.

Most-favored British candidate seems to be Sir John Balfour, presently ambassador to Argentina and once minister in Moscow.

Since the United Nations called on all its members in 1946 to withdraw their ambassadors from Madrid as a protest against the Fascist nature of Generalissimo Franco's regime, Britain has been represented by a Charge d'Affaires in Spain. The Madrid government has been similarly represented here.

(Canada has no diplomatic representative in Spain.)

Left-wing Labor members of parliament protested the new British action. The United States Wednesday announced that Stanton Griffis would be the American ambassador to Madrid.

German Prince Joins Invasion

HAMBURG, Dec. 28 (CP) — A German prince today joined the protest invasion of Helgoland to win back that island—now a target for training RAF and American bombers—for its ousted inhabitants.

The new recruit in the Helgoland crusade is Prince Hubertus Zu Loewenstein, a former anti-Nazi refugee who has been a bitter critic of allied occupation policies since returning to Germany after the war.

As Prince Hubertus set sail from Hamburg, six Germans were already on the island which has been barred to Germans and used for allied aerial bombing practice since the war. The island was once Hitler's mightiest naval base.

British officials were reported considering drastic measures to halt the protest movement which was threatening to grow into a mass demonstration. The British authorities, however, issued orders halting the aerial bombing of the target island until further notice—thus sparing the invaders from the threat of ... by bomb.

Drunk Driving Charge Fails In Court

A charge of drunk driving against J. Joseph Murphy, Donegal St., was dismissed in police court today.

Constable John Morrow testified he was called to an accident at Elm and Cambridge Sts. about 7 p.m. Dec. 9. He found that a car driven by Murphy had been involved in a collision with a car driven by Christopher Commiskey, a taxi driver for Call-A-Cab taxis. The road was very slippery and was covered with a thin layer of snow.

The Murphy car which had been travelling south on Elm St. was turning left into Cambridge St.

Claimed Son Driving

When Constable Morrow asked who was driving, Murphy told him his son Paul was driving. In the police station a little later, both he and his son still maintained that Paul, not the father had been driving.

The next day the accused came into the police station and started up a conversation with Constable Morrow and then told him he had been driving the car.

The constable told the court when he first saw Murphy at the scene of the accident, the accused was drunk, unsteady on his feet, his eyes were bleary and he smelled strongly of liquor. He said he knew the man and he was not acting normally.

He said he understood Murphy was released about 11 p.m. and collapsed on his way out and a doctor was called.

Commiskey said Murphy might have been drinking but he "didn't seem too bad."

J. Clare Donnelly, owner of the taxi, testified he went to the scene of the accident some time after the collision. He said he was not in a position to say whether or not Murphy was drunk.

"In the presence of the accused, didn't you tell the constable to lock Murphy up? demanded Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, K.C.

Donnelly said he did not tell the officer to lock up Murphy.

Dr. Robert Young testified he examined Murphy in his home about 11.30 p.m. He said the accused was nervous, restless and upset.

"I didn't see any evidence of alcohol," he said.

Edward Hynes, who was a passenger in the car, said he had had three or four drinks of beer with Murphy that afternoon and Murphy was driving him home. He said in his opinion Murphy was sober.

He denied hearing Murphy tell the officer Paul had been driving.

Hosanah Vinette, Stanley St., said he had been drinking with Murphy and Hynes in the hotel and Murphy then drove him home. He said his driving was perfect.

Alfred Pepe, a friend of Murphy's who lives on Elm St. said he went to the scene some time after the accident. He said Murphy was pale as if he had been frightened. He said he was going to suggest that Murphy go home for a stimulant.

Murphy said he had nothing more to drink than three or four beers in the hotel. His explanation for not telling the officer that he was the driver was that he was too nervous to tell the constable anything about it.

He told his son to "tell them what happened" because he thought it only a routine accident.

"There was no question of trying to get out of anything," he said.

"Do you recall telling the officer that the taxi was going 40 to 45 miles an hour?" the crown attorney asked.

"I may have said it in the excitement," he said.

He said he was highly nervous because it was just a new car even though very little damage was done to it.

A charge of careless driving against him was dismissed when the crown offered no evidence.

EYE TOPICS

DR. SIEGMUND CREDE
Saviour of Infants' Eyes

Most babies born in these times are given special treatment to prevent loss of eyesight due to the dreaded "sore eyes" of babyhood (ophthalmia neonatorum). Babies lost their eyesight during the first week of life simply because no one knew a way of killing the germs that snatched away vision so ruthlessly.

Since these germs got into babies' eyes at the time of birth, what was needed was some means of destroying them before they could do any damage. In 1884, Dr. Siegmund Crede announced to the medical profession that he had found a treatment which would do this. The Crede treatment consists of placing a few drops of weak silver nitrate solution into the child's eyes immediately after birth. This precaution is required by law in most states.

To Dr. Lucien Howe, of Buffalo, goes the credit of first instigating such laws. Thanks to Drs. Crede and Howe, loss of vision due to this cause has been reduced at least 75 per cent. That is true progress—and it should inspire the nation to correct all preventable causes of poor eyesight.

Ex-Railman Dies

MONTREAL, Dec. 28—(CP)—T. M. McKeown, former manager of Canadian Pacific Railway's dining and parlor car department, died here Wednesday night after a lengthy illness. He was 61. Funeral service will be held Saturday. Mr. McKeown, who served with the company at Quebec, Montreal, Winnipeg, Vancouver and Victoria, retired from service last May.

Dollar Unchanged

MONTREAL, Dec. 28 (CP) — The American dollar today opened at 5 29/32 per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, unchanged from Wednesday's close. That is, it took $1.05 29/32 Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.96½, down 1/16.

THE WORLD THAT GREETS 1951 is one big pattern of Soviet-sponsored trouble. Note the growing land mass under Russian domination. Trace out its 15,000-mile-long perimeter. At every turn there is strife and the threat of Communist conquest. Most worrisome problem to the Western World is the fact that the Kremlin is able to arrange this difficulty—including shooting wars like those in Korea and Indo-China—without committing a single Russian to action. Further, Russia is able to supply and assist her Red-fringe trouble-makers over relatively short, land-locked supply lines. Western nations, on the other hand, must move supplies vast distances overseas to bolster countries fighting communism. While doing this, they know that however effectively Red aggression may be stifled in one spot, other explosions can always be touched off by a word from Moscow.

Urge Bitterness Be Conquered

TORONTO, Dec. 28 (CP). — The Ontario Older Boys' Parliament was told Wednesday night that Christian youth throughout the world must prepare to "meet the problems of international relationships and strive to remove the tensions, animosity and bitterness that prevail in the world today."

The statement came from Don Clubine, member for Brant riding, who spoke on a bill that called for youth to try to develop a "world point of view." The bill said racial discrimination has been "a prime cause of previous world conflicts."

It urged that members recognize that "the best method of promoting international understanding is to stress the educational aspects of world brotherhood."

During the debate, some of the 90 youthful legislators delivered speeches in English, French, Spanish, German and Japanese in token of international brotherhood.

Magistrate Objects To Office Parties

DUNDAS, Dec. 28 (CP). — Strong objection to "office parties where there is liquor involved" was voiced by Magistrate John E. Robinson Wednesday in County Magistrate's Court, in passing sentence on George Maud of nearby Carlisle, convicted of being intoxicated while in charge of an automobile.

He was sentenced to 14 days. He told the court he was returning from an office party.

"This practice of office parties where liquor is used is to be deplored, and is one that I would like to see discontinued," said His Worship.

U.S. Jets Destroy Two Russian Fighters

TOKYO, Dec. 28—(AP)—Two Russian-made MIG-15 jet fighters probably were destroyed and a third damaged today by American F-80 jet Shooting Stars in three air battles over North Korea.

Maj.-Gen. Earle E. Partridge, Fifth Air Force commander, said 12 MIGS jumped a flight of F-80s at low altitude near Sinuiju, in far northwest Korea.

Twelve MIGS were involved in each of two attacks and two in another.

The Communist planes quickly broke off the fights after American pilots blasted them.

OBITUARIES

STEPHEN H. BEAVIS

A Lakefield resident for 44 years, Stephen Henry Beavis of Lakefield died in Peterborough hospital Wednesday after a short illness. He was in his 93rd year.

Mr. Beavis was born and educated in Asphodel Township. He was the son of the late Adam Beavis and Janet Nelson.

For many years he farmed in Dummer Township. And for 11 years he was superintendent of the Old People's Home, Lakefield. Later he worked at the cement works and the Isolation Hospital in Peterborough.

Left are a son Howard, RR 4, Peterborough; a daughter, Mrs. A. H. Clark (Maude), Lakefield; and a sister, Mrs. E. J. Laing of Norwood. His wife, the former Jane Webster, died in 1931.

The funeral will be at the Hendren funeral home, Lakefield, 2 p.m., Friday, the Rev. H. Kaye of Lakefield Presbyterian Church officiating. Burial will be in Lakefield Cemetery.

JOHN H. SEELS

John H. Seels, 132 Brock St., died Wednesday night following a lengthy illness. Mr. Seels has been retired since 1935. Before that time he was Peterborough agent at the CPR express office.

He began service with the CPR in 1890 and filled various clerical positions in Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal. Thirty years before his retirement he became agent and served in this capacity in Woodstock, Kingston and Peterborough.

He was a member of St. John's Church and the Perfection Masonic Lodge. He was also a very active member of the Rotary Club and served as general manager of the Rotary carnival for several years.

His wife, the former Mary Bell Wrisley died in September of this year.

He leaves one son Aubrey and two grandchildren, Eleanor and Katherine, all of Chicago and one sister, Esther Brown of California.

The funeral will be held at the Comstock funeral home, Saturday at 2 p.m. Archdeacon W. P. Robertson of St. John's Anglican Church will conduct the service. Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

General Increase For Westinghouse

HAMILTON, Dec. 28—(CP)—Effective Jan. 1, 1951, a general increase for most salaried employees of the Canadian Westinghouse Company Limited was announced today by Herbert H. Rogge, president.

Some 2,000 employees from coast to coast will benefit by the increase which amounts to $425,000 annually.

Increases will average about $17 a month for the largest number of employees. These increases will be retroactive from Nov. 1, with payment being made Jan. 8.

Coastal Indians Study Plan For Revised Act

VANCOUVER (CP). — When Citizenship Minister Harris starts to revise the new Indian Act for presentation to parliament he will have proposals from British Columbia to consider, among others.

A bill amending the present Indian Act was presented to the House of Commons last July but after getting first reading was withdrawn for further study before parliament meets again in February.

The federal minister is hearing representatives of Canada's Indians, of whom 3,000 live in British Columbia. A delegation sponsored by the provincial government may be sent from this province, probably headed by Chief William Scow, president of the Native Brotherhood of B. C.

Chief Scow presented a petition to the provincial authorities that B. C. Indians be fully protected and their problems be brought to the attention of the federal government.

The petition now is under consideration of a provincial cabinet committee on Indian affairs. The committee plans to name a permanent advisory committee on Indian rights and status.

Indian "Magna Carta"

In this connection the Vancouver Civil Liberties Union under direction of Prof. Hunter Lewis of the University of British Columbia has prepared an Indian "Magna Carta."

It calls for eventual full citizenship, with the right to vote, for Indians.

"The act should be designed to bring out among the Indians the qualities of independence, initiative, self-respect, responsibility, self-reliance and heightened morale," says a brief prepared by the CLU for presentation to Mr. Harris.

Prof. Lewis charged the federal government with "keeping Indians as children permanently in the first grade."

He envisioned an expansion of Indian life from the cramped reserve to communities similar to those of the white men.

Prof. Lewis, who is chairman of the Vancouver CLU committee on Indian citizenship, said the natives should be restored to self-government and their standards of living raised to "our level."

The brief also advocates improved educational facilities and a policy of decreasing governmental regulation.

It would have Indian courts and police to deal with matters of law not covered by established courts.

Industrials Climb In Quiet Trading

TORONTO, Dec. 28 — (CP) — Industrials climbed amid quiet trading for the second straight day as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today.

Advances ranged to about two points and outnumbered losses about two to one. Refining oils, steels, utilities, constructions, foods, liquors, banks and textiles showed a majority of gains in the groupings. Canada Cement was a standout, jumping $4.50 to a new high at $62.

Base metals were well ahead on an average although several leaders eased. Steep Rock, a feature for the last two sessions, again held the spotlight, posting a new high of $8.35 in early dealings and then settling with a 15-cent gain. Noranda, Quemont, United Keno Hill and Golden Manitou went against the trend for small losses.

Senior golds declined over a broad front. McIntyre, Hollinger and Kerr Addison dipped fractions. Junior producers were mixed with narrow price changes.

Western oils firmed quietly.

Red General Offensive Opens In Indo-China

SAIGON, Indo-China, Dec. 28. —(AP)—Battered by waves of Communist-led Vietminh attackers, French forces withdrew today from two outposts of their shrinking North Indo-China frontier salent. It looked like the first phase of the long expected Vietminh general offensive.

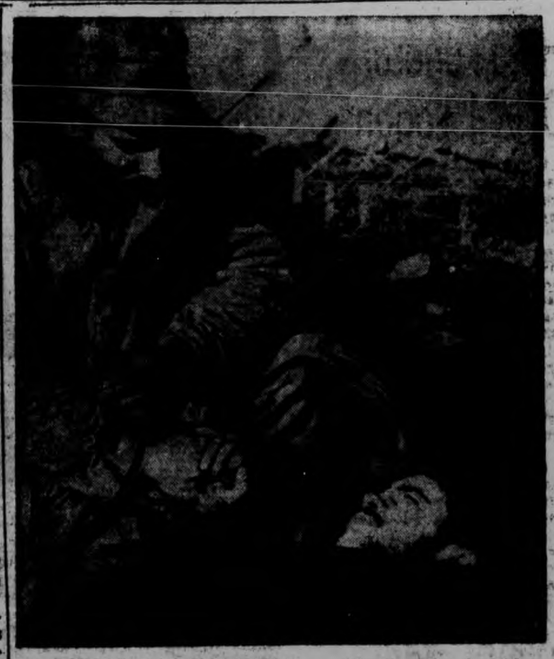

After a hard-fought battle, the outnumbered French garrison at Binhlieu, 35 miles southwest of Moncay, withdrew and joined a relief column. During the battle the relief column itself had briefly re-occupied the post. Most of the garrison escaped, a communique reported.

Discovers Fire

Working after midnight has its compensations. It probably saved Stanley C. Elliott of Elliott Stationery and Advertising Sales from facing a large fire loss.

Mr. Elliott was working in his office around 1 a.m. today when he noticed some smoke drifting in. He investigated and found flames creeping up a wooden pillar in the shipping room near an overheated oil burner. He called the fire department and they extinguished the blaze but not before $100 damage had been done.

The oil burner was damaged and the base of the pillar partly burned.

UN Soldiers

attacks in lesser strength of one or more armies (corps) can be launched at any time. But a coordinated attack could be expected by the 10th of next month.

"The character of a major military effort by the Chinese Communist government, though initially masked under the treacherous ruse of a "volunteer participation," is only too apparent in the deployment of all elements of the 3rd and 4th Field Armies, which represent two out of the five field armies constituting the entire military structure of China," the communique said.

The vanguard of a 1,350,000 Communist force, mostly Chinese, was only 35 miles north of Seoul Thursday night.

Repulse Attacks

Allied troops continued to repulse enemy attempts to penetrate defence lines in the area southeast of Taedong. One South Korean unit pushed the enemy back several thousand yards in that sector.

Air strikes in the Taedong sector destroyed and routed Communist groups located by UN ground patrols.

AP correspondent William J. Waugh said reports had been received for several days at U.S. Eighth Army headquarters that Kaesong, the big South Korean town about 25 miles northwest of Seoul, would not be defended.

UN Troops Getting Break In Weather

TOKYO, Dec. 28—(AP)—United Nations troops have left behind them the worst part of the cold war in the hot war for Korea.

The withdrawal from the northeast front removed the biggest weather obstacle Allied units have yet encountered in this mountain laced peninsula. Climatic conditions have improved generally for United Nations troops fighting on the northwest front since they pulled below the 38th parallel.

A little more than two months of winter remain before the biting chilled winds sweeping out of the north and west begin shifting to bring warmer south and east winds from the Pacific.

The battleground today is far from the extreme mountainous northern border where some of the bitterest cold of the war was experienced.

Can't Pay Debt Will Sell Dog

TORONTO, Dec. 28—(CP)—A big Labrador retriever from Edmonton is to be sold here because his owner, kennel operator C. B. Freeland of Edmonton, allegedly would not pay a $100 debt for dog food.

The dog, Ranger, was seized two months ago by an Edmonton sheriff at the request of General Foods Ltd. of Toronto. It did not bring the asking price at a sheriff's auction two weeks ago and was shipped east. Since its arrival here by train Wednesday, two offers have been made to buy it.

It was reported in Edmonton that the refusal to pay the balance of the dog food account arose after Freeland's kennel business failed.

Canadian Destroyer Helped In Evacuation

TOKYO, Dec. 28—(AP)—British Commonwealth forces headquarters said today that the Canadian destroyer Athabaskan took part in the Hungnam evacuation.

The Athabaskan escorted ships removing United Nations troops and North Korean civilians from the Allied beachhead. The Canadian vessel also took part in the naval gunfire barrage.

The Athabaskan is one of the three Canadian destroyers serving with the U.N. naval forces in the Korean theatre. The others are the Sioux and Cayuga.

Civic Centre Destroyed

CANBERRA, Dec. 28 — (Reuters) — A fire swept through Canberra's Civic Centre early today and caused about £35,000 damage. Important government record offices were burned out and the offices of the South African High Commissioner destroyed. It was Canberra's worst fire in history. The cause is not yet known.

Hold Funeral Of P. J. Logan

HAVELOCK, Dec. 28 (ENS)—The funeral of Patrick Joseph Logan, 58, was held on Wednesday from the family residence, Victoria Street, to Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church where Requiem Mass was celebrated by the Rev. C. J. Carroll. Burial was in Norwood cemetery. Pallbearers were Wesley Steenburgh, John Woods, of Havelock, Thomas Wight of Trent River, Bernard McGarity of Peterborough and the Fox brothers of Hastings.

Mr. Logan was a native of this district, being born on the Logan homestead about three miles west of Havelock. He was employed as a locomotive engineer with the Canadian Pacific Railway and resided in the village until his work necessitated his moving to Smiths Falls some years ago. From there he went to Renfrew, returning to Havelock last February. His death took place in a Peterborough hospital on Sunday following an illness of 12 weeks. Mr. Logan was twice married. His first wife was Mary Wight, who died nine years ago. Later he married Mary McIlvenna of Smiths Falls.

Surviving besides his widow are two daughters, Mrs. J. Quinlan (Elfrieda) of Belleville, Miss Annie Logan, of Toronto; a son, Alvin, of Peterborough, and a stepdaughter, Shawn McIlvenna, at home; four sisters, Mrs. G. Fox of Hastings, Mrs. P. Collins of Saskatoon, Mrs. T. McGarity of Peterborough; Mrs. M. Mursiki of Toronto, and a brother, Leo, who resides on the Logan homestead near Havelock. There are also two grandchildren, Marilyn and Barbara Quinlan, of Belleville.

Triple Funeral

BRANTFORD, Dec. 28 (CP) — A triple funeral was conducted here Wednesday for Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Carl Lewis and their infant son Melvin Jr., three of the five persons who met death in a Christmas holiday tragedy on No. 2 Highway at Thamesford last Saturday.

Ten Cases Reported

COBOURG, Dec. 28 (ENS). — Only 10 new cases of communicable disease were recorded for the week ending December 23, it was reported by the Northumberland and Durham Counties Health Unit. The listing was: Chickenpox, Cobourg, 3 and Millbrook, 1; mumps, Bowmanville and Cavan township, 3; scarlet fever, Murray township, 1; tuberculosis, Bowmanville, 1.

"ONCE A GUNNER, ALWAYS A GUNNER," is a byword in the Malcolm family of Magog, Que. With Artillery service dating back to the First World War, the Malcolm family is at it again with three brothers serving in the Canadian Army Special Force. Senior N.C.O.'s, they are all members of the 2nd Field Regiment, RCHA, now at Fort Lewis, Wash. A fourth brother, Ronald, is an officer of the 73rd Battery, Royal Canadian Artillery, Reserve Force. Their father served with the Royal Artillery during the Great War. Married and Second World War veterans, the brothers are shown above during a training period at Fort Lewis. Left to right, they are, George, (Troop Sergeant Major), Bob, (Battery Sergeant Major) and Bill, (a Troop Sergeant).

Egypt Fears War Coming Rushing Civil Defence Plan

CAIRO, Dec. 28 (Reuters). — Fearing that the Middle East will become one of the battlefields in any new world war, Egypt is making elaborate civil-defence preparations.

Experience gained in the Second World War is to be used in setting up protection against both old and new methods of warfare.

Egyptian missions in the United States and Britain are studying latest methods of civil defence, including protection against the atom bomb.

A civil defence department is being created with the approval of the council of ministers.

Cairo's fire department has sent a note to all government departments urging that adequate precautions be taken against sudden air attack.

New emergency hospitals are to be set up and large orders for drugs and medical equipment are to be placed abroad.

The Korean crisis has led to a feverish stock-piling throughout the country, and the government is giving priority to the import of machinery for local industry.

Egypt's concern at the worsening international situation is reflected in a new attitude towards the Korean conflict. At the outbreak of hostilities she adopted an attitude of strict neutrality; now she appears to be leaning towards active support of United Nations policy. She was one of the 13 Asian and middle eastern countries who Dec. 6 appealed to the Chinese Communists to halt at the 38th Parallel.

Crowd Attends Christmas Party

ROSENEATH, Dec. 28 (ENS)—"A Catastrophe", a playlet by the boys of the senior room of Roseneath school was one of the outstanding numbers on the program at the Christmas concert of the school held in the LOL hall Friday evening. The hall was filled to capacity. Mrs. Ira Merriam is the senior room teacher and Mrs. Louis King is the teacher of the junior room.

A senior pupil, John Coyle, was chairman, Don Pollock, music supervisor, was pianist. A number of choruses were sung by the school pupils; recitations by Carmen Down and Randy Aldcroft. A one-act play, "Miss Samantha's Christmas Concert," starring Douglas Aldcroft drew much applause. A Christmas pageant was well portrayed by the girls of the school. A rooster drill was given by the junior room; two dialogues, "Changing the Subject" and "Good-Bye"; Miss Barbara Pollock responded to two encores on her instrumental solo on the piano accordion. The junior pupils' dialogue was "A Mad Tea Party." Christmas carols were sung.

CHICAGO, Dec. 28—(AP)—A comely redhead obtained a divorce Wednesday because her husband, she said, wanted their marriage run on a week-end-only basis. Mrs. Harriett Sherry, 24, told the court her husband, Fred, 25, saw her and their daughter only over weekends and holidays.

Carols, Play Make Up Christmas Service

HASTINGS, Dec. 28 (ENS). — Trinity United Church was beautifully decorated with garlands of evergreens for the Christmas services held on Sunday.

The Rev. N. Cole was in charge of the services. The male quartet, R. Burnham, Cliff Scriver, L. Humphries and F. Crate rendered "Oh Holy Night." Mr. Humphries sang a solo "The Birthday of a King."

Mrs. E. Hess and Mrs. J. G. Thompson sang "And There were Shepherds."

In the evening, the junior choir sang "The Slumber Song." The choir presented the "Ragged Cloak" under the direction of Mrs. J. G. Thompson. The play was presented by candle light. The cast was as follows: Darius, Ted Young; innkeeper, Fred Scriver; Sarah, Mrs. Alton Thompson; Mary, Mrs. H. Youngs; Joseph, Ross Burnham; three shepherds, L. W. Humphries, Clifford Scriver, F. S. Crate.

Weekend In Cobourg Free Of Accidents

COBOURG, Dec. 28 (ENS). — Provincial police detachment at Cobourg is gratified with the accident-free holiday weekend in the area covered by the members of the detachment.

"Traffic was very heavy but there were no accidents in which injury occurred. We had our patrols out 24 hours a day during the weekend and it was noted that motorists were driving carefully and at moderate speeds," said Corporal Douglas Wilson of the provincial police here.

Dispute Settled

HAMILTON, Dec. 28 (CP) — Settlement of a wages-and-hours dispute involving Hamilton's white-collar civic employees was announced Wednesday night. An agreement calling for a shorter work week for some employees without loss in take-home pay, a $1 cost-of-living bonus effective the beginning of the year, and other concessions, was approved by city council and the 1,000-member local 167, Hamilton Municipal Employees' Association.

Have No Orders On Destination

FORT LEWIS, Wash., Dec. 28 (CP)—Brig. J. M. Rockingham, commander of Canada's special brigade, said Wednesday that he has received no orders regarding the future disposition of his troops.

He was commenting on the announcement that most of the 345 Canadian soldiers in the advance party in Korea have been ordered home, an indication there is little chance that the main body of the special force will go to that theatre.

"There's been a lot of talk and speculation on the matter as to where we should go," Brig. Rockingham said, "and this sounds more official than anything I've heard so far.

"Our destination is in the hands of the United Nations, and we will go where required. But I have not been given any orders on this as yet."

He said there are between 7,000 and 8,000 Canadian troops training here at the present time.

Show Christmas Story At Havelock Church

HAVELOCK, Dec. 28 (ENS) The Christmas story was presented with song and pictures at Knox Presbyterian church on Sunday evening when the combined senior and junior choirs of 31 voices led the service.

Lighted candiles placed in the windows and a candelabra of seven candles behind a table in front of the altar railing made a fitting setting for the service.

The choir entered the church in processional, singing "The First Noel." Special music included an anthem by the juniors, "Away in the Manger," an anthem by the combined choirs, "What Is That Light," with Misses Elaine Graham and Barbara Pollock taking the duet part, two anthems by the senior choir, with Misses Shirley Bennett and Shirley Seabrooke singing the duet part. A vocal trio was sung by the McNeely brothers; a duet by Misses Joan Graham and Beverley Bennett. A pantomime, "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," was given by Dorothy Graham and Sheila Seabrooke. The soloists were Fred Bennett and Donald Pollock. A moving picture, "Christ is Born," in technicolor, was shown by the Rev. R. D. Duncanson. The congregation joined in the singing of the carols as they were illustrated on the screen.

Good Railway Schedules

Our readers may have remarked a small news item on the local page yesterday, which noted that the C.P.R. 'midnight' from Toronto had made the run from that city's north-east Leaside station to Peterborough in an hour and a half. The train was late leaving the Toronto Union station, owing to heavy post-holiday traffic, and that lateness may have been an incentive. Certainly it provided leeway to gather speed to meet the usual schedule. Anyway, that Toronto train made the Peterborough run of about 80 miles in 90 minutes.

* * *

Such timing beats anything that private cars or autobuses can offer. The railway has the advantage of the shortest mileage on direct tracks. By road the trip is generally reckoned to be more than 90 miles. On Boxing Day night it pressed the advantage by a good speed and impressed passengers. What the railway company can do once it can do many times. The C.P.R. service to and from Toronto is ordinarily quite good. If it could speed up its schedule to the rate set Tuesday night the service would be so attractive that the company would get even more passengers than it now has.

* * *

It is said that the railway companies are financially uninterested in providing passenger service. It is said that they make their money out of freight and express business. That may be so, but what prevents the railways from trying to make passenger service financially profitable—except their own attitude to it? They have the rails, unimpeded by highway traffic congestion, the potential of speed, and very often the most direct and shortest route between cities. In these times, travellers would flock to the safety of the rails, if time-tables catered to them and the engines were put to the satisfactory speed of which they are capable. Are the railway companies so big, old and secure that, like some other big, old and secure companies, they fail to keep pace with the times through inanition and stultifying complacency?

* * *

There is this point which the railway companies must never forget. Lucrative as may be the express and freight business, tiresome and less profitable as the passenger business may be, the railways must devote themselves to serving people. It is the Canadian people as voters and taxpayers who for the last hundred years have subsidized in one way or another the railways. Their interests should therefore be kept paramount. It is a happy conjunction of affairs when the people are well served as passengers, and the companies, in giving this service, find it profitable. We believe that this happy state of affairs can be reached and maintained when the trains, using their special advantages of free track, power, safety and dependability, make runs such as the one we have mentioned from Toronto to Peterborough in an hour and a half.

High Thinking Is Healthy

It is little remarked that one of the achievements of modern medical science has been to make people who do not think live long. Nowadays on this continent, what insurance statisticians call the 'life expectancy' of women is 70, and of men around 67. So all sorts of people who do not think well and do not live well (that is, who only exist) will reach their three-score years and ten. It was otherwise in the good old days, in the good days of classical Greece—between 450 B.C. and 350 B.C.

In those days, according to the record, the people who use their brains and developed them, who used their sensibility as well as their voice, stomach and powers of procreation, lived to ripe years. Sophocles the dramatist was 90 when he died; Hippocrates, the founder of medical practice, was 83. Plato the philosopher was 80. Euripides the tragedian was 78 and Thucydides the historian was 70. Socrates himself was 71 when he voluntarily took poisonous hemlock at the behest of his judges and thus cut short what was indubitably a useful life. (Useful, despite his wife and his ragtag mode of existence on the battlefield and market-place, and his roistering.) Aristophanes was only 66 and Aristotle 62 at the time of death, but they dabbled in physical or scientific lore. The orator Demosthenes was 62 when he died, which shows that the gods do not favour oratory above high thinking. (Politicians, beware!)

We have in our own times, in this country, evidence of the virtue (as regards longevity) of high thinking. Professor Maurice Hutton, the Greek scholar of the University of Toronto attained a venerable age. Professor John Watson, the great exponent of the philosophy of Kant, lived into his nineties. Another Queen's professor of note, the Reverend John MacNaughton, lived to ripe years on his intellectual strength, abetted by a vigorous vocabulary to which he gave unrepressed freedom when he reached an age when he felt he did not need to give a damn, for any one or anything. So he gave many.

Modern medical practice (that is, medicine from the year 1600) has outmoded the respectful reverence which old age used to demand when longevity was a mark of personal achievement. (There were exceptions, of course. Mr. Thomas Parr, of no note except for his great age, lived to be 152. He was born, it is said, in 1483, and died in 1635, and was honoured by burial in Westminster Abbey because of his great age. He is honoured in modern times by a whisky named after him).

In our times anybody at all can be old. Why, the King automatically sends greetings to any couple in the Commonwealth married for fifty years. Modern science has succeeded in putting its prowess above the just deserts of high thinking. In Socrates' day only the virtuous—that is, the people who used their heads as well as their limbs—survived into their seventies. Now anybody can do it. Now anybody whose only claim to distinction is that he is ninety makes local headlines. In the good old days only people like Sophocles made the headlines at the age of ninety, and then not because they were ninety, but because they were Sophocles.

We permit ourself to remark this, with complacency: In the march of progress from the time of Sophocles (496-406 B.C.) it has taken scientists 2,500 years to match the longevity which high thinking bestows with the longevity which their calories, vitamins, blood counts, allergies, sulfas and penicillin give. We, after 2,500 years, pride ourselves on our technics to make people live longer. To what avail? Does it matter that all sorts of people are living to be ninety, if there is not one Sophocles in the bunch? Is the medieval accomplishment of cutting off King Richard, Coeur de Lion, at the age of 42, not preferable to the longevity of nincompoops?

Rau Woos; Wu Rows

The fifth General Assembly of the United Nations which adjourned before Christmas pending a report from its committee of three who are attempting to get a cease-fire in Korea. The session began on September 19th, and despite the awful mess into which the U.N. has tumbled in Korea, some progress was made.

Here is a summary of the principal business which the Assembly got into and over with:

(1) Authorized, tacitly, the crossing of the Thirty-eighth Parallel into North Korea by U.N. forces and reaffirmed the U.N. objectives for Korea; unification of the country under a democratic regime. The resolution was passed over Soviet opposition. It was destroyed in effect by the intervention of the Chinese Communist armies.

(2) Adopted the Acheson collective-security plan—officially, "United Action for Peace"—over Russian objections. The decision allows the Assembly to recommend the use of armed force by its member nations to put down an aggression when action in the Security Council is stymied by a veto.

(3) Agreed to a plan to federate Eritrea with Ethiopia.

(4) Lifted the ban on sending Ministers and Ambassadors to Spain.

(5) Called for a conference on the future of South West Africa.

(6) Decided to hold its session next year in Europe.

(7) Established a committee to work on a covenant for an international criminal court.

What the Assembly has left undone on its agenda is:

(1) It has not yet made a recommendation on one of the most difficult questions on its agenda—whether the Chinese Communists should replace the Chinese Nationalists in the U.N.

(2) It has taken no action on an El Salvadorean request to debate the Chinese Communist invasion of Tibet.

(3) It failed to decide the future of the Holy City of Jerusalem.

The Kingston Whig-Standard, reviewing the Assembly's work and tone, recalls an unnamed delegate's description of it, with reference to Sir Benegal Rau the Indian delegate on the three-man committee to seek an armistice in Korea, and Red China's spokesman at U.N., General Wu: "This assembly has been characterized by a great deal of wooing and rowing. The trouble is Rau woos and Wu rows."

NOTE AND COMMENT

An old-timer writing to the St. Thomas Times-Journal says that there are no singers today to equal Patti, Melba, Tetrazinni, Battistini or Edouard de Reske. All of these, except Patti, were fatties. Perhaps science should investigate the relations ip which seems to exist between obesity and a fine voice.

A man in the Southern U.S.A. recently got his name in the papers because he spent 30 cents to buy a bottle of glue and a yardstick with which he hoped to recover a nickel from a drain; in the end he lost both the yardstick and the coin. The Hamilton Spectator suggests that he must have been a government planner taking the afternoon off.

A Canadian Against Russians

Coolest Man In The Cold War

By G. E. R. GEDYE

(Ed. Note: Austria is losing 130,000 tons of oil products a month to the Soviet Mineral Oil Administration. The Russians pay for only 20,000 tons of it. SMOA buys—at well below world market prices—15,000 tons from Shell-Vacuum and 5,000 tons from the Canadian firm of Van Sickel whose ownership of oilfields in Zistersdorf Russia now recognizes. Here G. E. R. Gedye, in this special despatch from Vienna, copyrighted to the Peterborough Examiner from the London Observer, tells the story of Van Sickel's long struggle to get payment for his oil—a struggle that Vienna has dubbed "Van Sickel versus the Hammer and Sickle".)

VIENNA calls Richard Keith van Sickel "the coolest man in the Cold War". This stocky, soft voiced, good-looking, 30 year old Canadian has earned the description by the calm tenacity with which he has held his own and won his struggle with the Russians to get payment for the yield of his oil wells. "Van Sickel versus the Hammer and Sickle" they have called the long-drawn-out battle in Vienna.

He is the third generation of a well-known Canadian oil family — one of a number of such families who drilled for oil in Canada and then used their experience to look for it in Poland. His mother, a Keith of Lambton County, Ontario, came from another pioneer oil family. It was in Lambton that his farmer-grandfather began investigating the possibilities of exploiting the black oily pools that interfered with his crops. He opened up three oil fields, Oil Springs, Oil City and Petrolia. His father drilled for oil in Canada, then in Poland, went to Queensland in search not of oil but of water, and sank a number of wells there. Then he settled down as an expert oil employee on the Campina fields, in Roumania. There Keith van Sickel was born in 1900. Later on, van Sickel and his partner, Hendry Drader, sold the wells which they had acquired at Ploesti, to Sir Hendri Deterding, who incorporated them in the Shell properties. The family returned to Petrolia, Ontario. Keith's education began at Greenfield School, Hamilton. In 1912 he was sent to school in Yorkshire and went to Cambridge, where he got his M.Sc.

* * *

OIL was in his blood. He got a job at once as oil driller and tool-pusher in Roumania. He had just struck oil on his own when, in the early thirties, he read of oil strikes in Lower Austria. He moved there, and struck oil with the first well he sunk in Zistersdorf—on a small property he had acquired with his savings. Practically all the subsequent development of Zistersdorf is founded on the pioneer work of Van Sickel on casing programmes and cementing systems. He is a practical driller and the workers believe in following his lead because he is a man who knows his job. "Of course, it is technically correct to call me a capitalist," he says, "but I don't think even the Russians look on me primarily in that light. They know my work — and when I say work, I mean work—in Zistersdorf from its earliest days, and I believe they respect it".

* * *

BY 1938, when the Nazis invaded and annexed Austria, the Van Sickel property had become very valuable. When war came in 1939, Van Sickel got out just in time, abandoning everything. Of the wells still in his name, 40 per cent. were sequestrated to become German property; ten per cent. only was left in the name of Van Sickel, the Nazis enjoying the right of using it under their Controller of Enemy Property.

Van Sickel joined the British forces. With the rank of Lieut.-Colonel he was sent to the Western Desert, where his expert knowledge made him an invaluable water-driller in the campaign against Rommel. Later, he was attached to the British Embassy in Teheran, as Oil Liaison Officer. His job was to act as link between the Western Allies, Russia and the oil companies in seeing that Russia got the supplies she needed to repel the Nazi invaders—4,000,000 tons a year on Lease-Lend account. The war over, he returned to Vienna in August 1945, after the Russians had fulfilled their obligations to make it a quadrupartite city. Van Sickel found that the Russians had taken over his entire property.

* * *

NOW began the long battle to recover his rights. Quite alone—even the nearest Canadian consul was in Germany, at Frankfurt — the only ray of hope was that he found his pre-war secretary still in charge of affairs. Frau Elfriede Krasa had stayed on under the Nazis, and when the Russians came she saw to it that all the oil they took from the ten per cent. of the Van Sickel wells still standing in his name was duly noted down.

Conference succeeded conference with the Russians. Van Sickel doesn't talk Russian, but he can say "nyet" as distinctly as Molotov. For the first twelve months the "conferences" seem to have consisted mainly in each side ejaculating this emphatic word to every proposition put forward by the other. Until 1948 Van Sickel was not even given a permit to visit his fields. Now he has a permanent pass. But he always telephones his manager 24 hours ahead of a visit. His property lies at the heart of the Russian-run fields, and as all Vienna telephone lines are tapped by the Russians, they have ample time to conceal anything they don't want him to see en route, and to arrange to keep a check on his movements. Van Sickel contended, year after year, that his property remained his property, whether or not the Nazis had acquired it by sheer sequestration or forced sale. He got no backing from the Western Allies and is still sore about that. Finally, in their anxiety to get an Austrian treaty, the Allies gave in to the Russians, and agreed that they should keep all but ten per cent. of the Van Sickel fields as "German property".

* * *

VAN SICKEL dislikes suggestions that he "fought the Russians and beat them". "It is more accurate to say", he explains "that I just sat tight and stone-walled over my last ten per cent. The Russians are good at stone-walling too. But after a while there was a strange development. I think the Russians, having secured 90 per cent. of our fields, and seeing that I got no backing from my own side, felt I was getting a tough deal; anyway, they came to an arrangement". Possibly the Russians, too, were ashamed of being exposed as worse than the Nazis who had always kept scrupulous account of all the oil they took. Certainly the Russians knew Van Sickel well from the days when it was he who regulated in Teheran their supplies of Lease-Lend oil. At that time his opposite number was one of Russia's big oil experts Mr. Stupin, today in charge of the exploitation of all the Roumanian fields. More than once during his negotiations in Vienna, Van Sickel has been told: "Stupin wishes to be remembered to you".

Van Sickel's 5,000 tons of oil a month bring in 300 dollars a day—money the Russians could not be forced to pay against their will, money which Van Sickel's tenacity, good nerves and refusal to admit defeat have earned for him. Not only other businessmen whose property the Russians hold, but diplomats and statesmen are astonished at his success. "Van Sickel" an American official expert told me the other day "is a Russian-charmer—you can't explain it any more than you can the success of other snake-charmers. But Jeez—you've got to hand it to Keith".

* * *

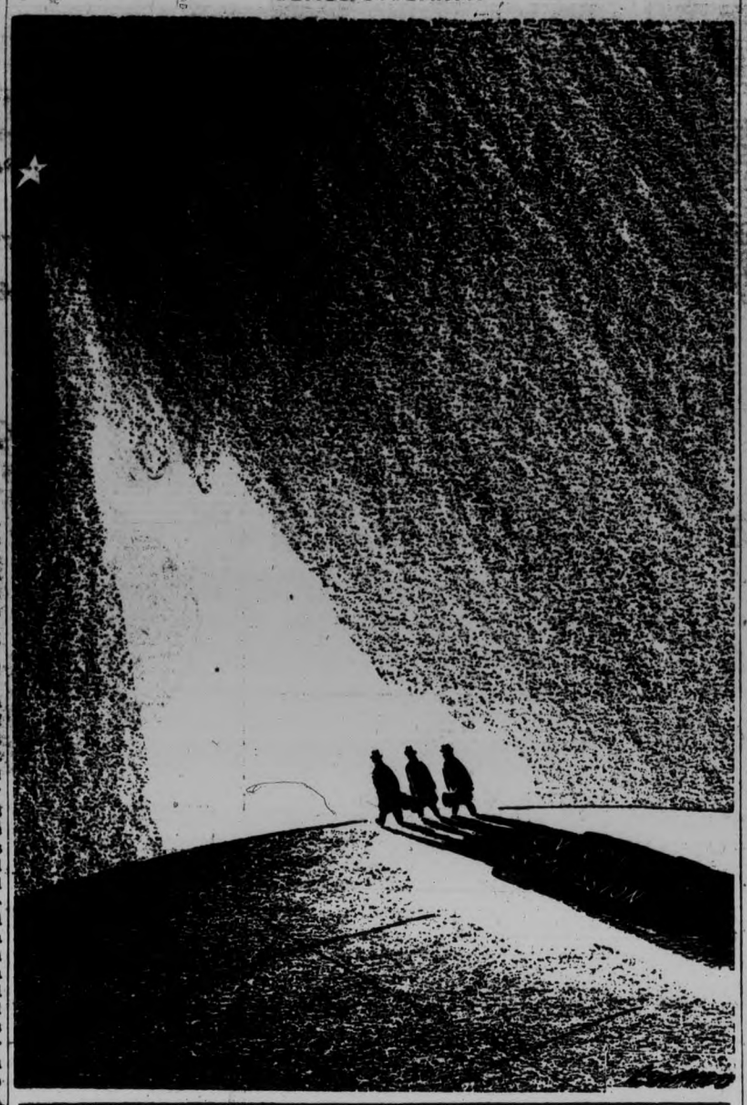

THE Russians pay today — and paid their back debts too—at their own price, which they fixed at only 40 per cent of the world market prices. But the figure went up this summer. The Russians refused to pay more than 122 schillings a ton. Suddenly Van Sickel's workers — he has 300 of them, all Austrians, of whom some 120 are highly skilled men — demanded high wages. Van Sickel refused to pay.

The Van Sickel men have stuck to their employer throughout the rule first of "Brown" and then of "Red" totalitarianism in Zistersdorf. They are Van Sickel fans. And Van Sickel speaks of them with glowing admiration. The more active the strike leaders become, the often did Van Sickel repeat: "It is not I who am exploiting you. At 122 schillings, which is all the Russians will pay for our oil, the firm would go bankrupt if we paid the increases you demand. Now if the Russians would pay 148 schillings a ton. . . ." After a couple of months' strike, while the quiet reiteration of Van Sickel's attitude began to attract the attention of oil workers throughout Zistersdorf, the Russians found they could pay him 148 schillings a ton. The same day he put up wages and the men returned to work.

It would not be surprising to hear of a new strike in the Van Sickel fields. Costs of living have shot up again, the schilling has lost purchasing powers, Van Sickel demands that the Russians come a little closer to the world price and pay him 346 schillings a barrel. When they do he will no doubt satisfy his men's demands for more wages to meet price increases—but not before. He just puts it to the friends of the working men, the Soviet Union, to decide.

That is the trouble about Keith van Sickel. He doesn't shout, he doesn't bang on the table, he doesn't even look like a rapacious oil magnate. But he is always there—and the Russians have to deal with him. And they have just learned, with some annoyance, that he is starting extensive geophysical and geological surveys next spring of a possible new oilfield in Styria—in the British zone—near the Yugoslav frontier.

PEACE ON EARTH

The Dairymen's Proper Answer

(KITCHENER-WATERLOO RECORD)

THE Ontario Federation of Agriculture says the dairy industry of this province will put its "answer" to margarine on the market in a year. It will be a "dairy spread" made of butterfat and non-fat milk solids and will sell at a competitive price with margarine.

Dairymen have decided that there is no further use trying to persuade the government to abolish the manufacture of margarine. Many consumers seem quite well content to buy the substitute at a considerably lower price than what is asked for genuine butter.

Apparently a butter substitute can be made with the use of 30 per cent. butterfat instead of the 80 or more per cent. required by law. All these enterprising dairymen have to do is get the government's consent to remove restrictions on the amount of butterfat required and a new substitute will be placed on the market.

This is the kind of answer to margarine that the dairymen should have made long ago instead of trying to outlaw their competition. It is the kind of an answer Canadians expect in a free enterprise economy.

Consumers will be looking forward with interest to tasting a new delicacy.

EVERYTHING BUT.—

One girl seemed to be just what the film producer, interviewing applicants for the heroine's part, wanted.

"Yes, you're just what we need," he told her. "Right face, right colouring, right voice, everything called for in the part. By the way, what salary are you expecting?"

The girl named her figure.

"Sorry," said the producer, hurriedly. "You're too tall."

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I lay in Zion for a foundation a stone, a tried stone, a precious corner stone, a sure foundation: he that believeth shall not make haste. Judgement also will I lay to the line, and righteousness to the plummet: and the hail shall sweep away the refuge of lies, and the waters shall overflow the hiding place. (Isa. 28: 16, 17.)

* * *

And it shall come to pass, that before they call, I will answer; and while they are yet speaking, I will hear. (Isa. 65: 24.)

* * *

When Jesus came into the coasts of Caesarea Philippi, he asked his disciples, saying, Whom do men say that I the Son of man am? And they said, Some say that thou art John the Baptist: some, Elias; and others, Jeremias, or one of the prophets.

He saith unto them, But whom say ye that I am? And Simon Peter answered and said, Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God.

And Jesus answered and said unto him, Blessed art thou, Simon Bar-jona: for flesh and blood hath not revealed it unto thee, but my Father which is in heaven. And I say also unto thee, That thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church; and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it. (Matt. 16: 13-18.)

NORWOOD NOMINATIONS

Sir: At the nomination meeting held Friday evening Dec. 22, 1950, in Norwood, five members were nominated for the new council, being Wm. Gordon, Dr. Atkinson, Rod Webb, John Nixon and myself, H. Bradley. However, before the meeting closed, Mr. Nixon declined the position leaving the remaining four to stand. I was willing to stand and at 11.30 p.m. was talking to the Examiner reporter and was informed that as matters stood there wouldn't be any need of an election. At no time was I informed that to qualify I must sign on before 9 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 23, and being new to municipal matters didn't learn it until too late.

Mr. Nixon apparently had a change of mind, and just before the appointed hour went with the remaining Mr. Webb, Dr. Atkinson and Mr. Gordon to sign on. Why wasn't I notified to sign has not been explained. So one can only conclude my presence was not wanted on the council by the remaining members. In Tuesday issue of the Examiner the report of the acclamation was printed. This explanation is sent in solely for the purpose of informing the residents of Norwood village and those interested how matters stand regarding the nomination.

HERBERT E. BRADLEY.

'Nation Of Medicine-Drinkers'

(London Daily Mail)

A warning that Britain is becoming a nation of medicine-drinkers has been given by Sir John Charles, chief medical officer to the Ministry of Health. He was commenting on the fact that in 1949 a total of 201,000,000 prescriptions were dispensed for National Health patients and figures for 1950 show that up to June 211,000,000 were issued.

Addressing the Executive Councils' Association, Sir John said: "It is difficult to believe that medicine-drinking on this scale is of even temporary benefit to the nation's health."

Average cost of a prescription is 3s. 1¼d, In the first year of the Health Service only 190,000,000 prescriptions were dispensed; average cost 2s. 9¾d.

UN Had To Cross 38th Parallel Reporter Says

By RELMAN MORIN

NEW YORK, Dec. 28—(AP)—Parallel 38, where it bisects Korea, is a blood-red line in American military history.

Should the United Nations' forces have stopped there?

Would the Chinese Communists have remained neutral — at least in the military sense—if the Eighth Army had remained south of the line.

There are no easy answers to these questions. They will be debated for many years in the study of this first armed collision between the Communist world and the free countries. When the Eighth Army went over the parallel it moved toward a date with destiny. These were the issues:

Parallel 38 was not, and never was intended to be an international boundary between two different "states." It was a military "phase line," meaning it was fixed, for convenience, by Russian and American commanders in the Orient. For administrative purposes, the Russians agreed to handle the surrender of the Japanese army north of Parallel 38; the Americans disarmed and demobilized the Japanese south of the line.

Made It Boundary

Soviet advisers to the North Koreans, however, quickly turned Parallel 38 into an actual boundary. The iron curtain dropped on it, and two Korean "states" thus came into being, in fact if not in law.

The U.N. army was created for two purposes.

One was to destroy the North Korean forces which invaded South. The other was to clear the way for the Korean people, unimpeded by Communist overlords, to establish a single government for both halves of the country.

The Eigth Army reached the 38th Parallel Oct. 1.

Army Destroyed

At that time, the North Korean army had been virtually destroyed as an organized fighting force. It was splintered into small bands running for their lives.

But all of them, organized and disorganized, had orders to make their way through the mountains to rendezvous points on the other side of parallel 38. This has been proved by documents from captured officers.

If the Eighth Army had halted at the border, the Reds would have carried out this reorganization, safe and unmolested in the vast reaches of North Korea. It would have been a matter of a month of two, at best, before they had regrouped, received new arms and equipment from China, and been ready again for the field.

No Alternative

Hence, from the military point of view, there was no alternative. The enemy had been defeated. Not to have pursued the shattered Reds and completed the job would have been a classic of military stupidity.

Moreover, the second objective —a unified Korea under one government—could not have been attained. The Communist regime was still in Pyongyang. And with Communist troops controlling the north, no U.N. commission could possibly have gone up to supervise the proposed Korean elections.

Thus, from the political view as well, the job was only half finished when the army reached the parallel.

Eight Hunters Guilty Pay Fines At Windsor

WINDSOR, Dec. 28 —(CP) — Eight hunters went before courts Wednesday, pleaded guilty and were fined for varying Game Act offences committed both in Windsor and in the townships of Essex county.

Conservation Officer Delmer Bailey, Leamington, said hunters are running rampant in their violations of the law.

Two were fined $50 and costs for shooting pheasants out of season and the other six paid $10 and costs for shooting black squirrels, having loaded guns in cars, and firing from a highway.

NEW G.E. Head — Ralph J. Cordiner, of New York, above, is the new president of the General Electric Co., succeeding Charles E. Wilson, who resigned to head the government's new Defence Mobilization Board. Cordiner has been with G.E. for 24 years and has been executive vice-president since 1949.

Dutch Talks Fail To Settle Future Of Western N. Guinea

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands, Dec. 28 (Reuters).—Netherlands Indonesian talks on the future of Western New Guinea, strategic jungle island north of Australia, broke down Wednesday night.

The Indonesian Foreign Minister, Mohammed Rum, who has sought to get Indonesian sovereignty over the area recognized, said: "The situation is very serious."

Deadlock between the Indonesian demand and the Dutch policy to defer a decision on the last remnant of the once-great Dutch East Indies Empire came as no surprise. The possibility of international arbitration had been mooted for some time.

In line with this, an announcement after the talks broke down said the Dutch had proposed that negotiations be continued with the help of the UN Commission for Indonesia or another body which could offer its good offices.

But the Indonesians said their instructions did not allow them to give their view on the proposal. Rum told reporters: "We could not find a solution as there was complete disagreement." He added he would return home with his delegation Friday.

Wednesday Deadline

Wednesday was fixed as deadline for settlement of the New Guinea question in the agreement which one year ago gave independence to the United States of Indonesia, formerly The Netherlands East Indies.

The Dutch view is that western New Guinea—claimed by Indonesia—should remain under Dutch sovereignty until its people can decide for themselves whether to join the Indonesian republic, remain with The Netherlands or become independent.

The Indonesians have stood by their claim that sovereignty must be legally accorded them by Wednesday, but have said that the actual transfer of sovereignty need not be carried out at once.

Western New Guinea, 90 miles north of Australia, adjoins the 93,000 square miles of Australian mandated eastern New Guinea. Economically and politically one of the most undeveloped areas in the world, it has a population of 1,000,000.

Australia regards the whole of New Guinea as vital to its defence and has claimed a say in any decision on the future of the western half.

Dog's Affection Stolen–Charge

DENVER, Dec. 28 (AP) — A $125,000 damage suit was filed in district court Tuesday against Paramount Pictures for the alleged loss of a dog and its affections.

The suit was filed by attorney W. T. Moyers for Mrs. Florence L. Peschel of Denver. It said the movie company obtained her trained fox terrier, Tippy, and used him as a foil for Bing Crosby in "The Emperor Waltz."

Moyers and Mrs. Peschel didn't explain how or when the dog disappeared or where Tippy is now. But Moyers said "this thing is a real tragedy."

In the suit, Mrs. Peschel is described as a "childless woman" who "loves this dog."

Democracy Course Urged By Teachers

TORONTO, Dec. 28—(CP)— A recommendation that a course be designed to stimulate the study of democracy was made in a report presented Wednesday to the annual meeting of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation.

The report, prepared by a special committee on citizenship to investigate methods of improving the teaching of democracy in schools, suggested "vivid and stimulating" texts should be provided.

Coach Bev Goulding will put his good senior "A" PCVS cagers in against the Collegiate Old Boys at eight tomorrow eve in the school gym for an exhibition tussle. An annual affair, and it's usually quite good. The Old Boys are by no means elderly, some of 'em starring in college basketball now. Don Griffin is a standout at Queen's, with Henry Dinsdale another good one there. Jack Matthews of Western, where Blair Thomson—who will manage the Old Boys is now studying, is another. Doug Plunkett of the OABA Marines is a keen cager, and there are half a dozen more. It ought to be okay.

We have a program of the 1905-06 intermediate Petes' provincial champions, showing pictures of the players. On the front page is that of Rollie Glover, who died day before yesterday. Teammates were W. E. Wasson, Wm. Crowley, R. M. Moore, Fred Whitcroft, Harry Morgan, Chris Graham and W. H. Cavanah. The late Mr. Glover was keenly interested as a player and later as an officer in many Peterborough sports—as well as being a prominent OHA executive member. If you needed backing, counsel or a trophy in golf, ball, track, lacrosse, hockey, etc., you could depend on R.M. A fine gent he'll certainly be missed in local sports' circles.

PMHA-ers Going To It

Hockey in gobs holds forth tonight at Civic Arena. No less than six Peterborough Minor Hockey Association tussles listed. They start at six and are run off like this: Empress bantams vs. Trojans, St. Peter's vs. the midget Trojans, Clapper's juveniles vs. Lakefield Lions, St. Peter's bantams vs. Otonabee Wolves, the Martin-Hewitt midgets vs. Outboard Marines, and Oddfellows vs. Trojan juves. These schedules have just a bit better than a month to go yet ere playoffs, so the boys are hustling for every win. The games should be worth seeing this e'en.

* * * * * *

Senior "B" hockey returns to the local scene tomorrow night at 8.30 in Civic Arena after a week's layoff. It's Belleville Redmen vs. the Peterborough Eagles, and a right rousing struggle is assured. The Eagles always serve up a speedy, rugged scrap and Wally Bent's fast forwards and big defencemen from Bella Villa generally produce crowd-pleasing hockey. With 1951 looming, the tempo of this keen senior group race is speeding up as players plan for league playoffs and also maybe a crack at Allan Cup playdowns. Now that Christmas is out of the way, folks will get quite interested again in the hockey scramble, and there should be a hefty Friday night crowd out for this one, as the Redmen are vowing vengeance for last eve.

Pulling No Punches, Eh?

After a close first frame on Quinte ice last p.m., the Eagles roared to the attack to blast home 11 goals in the second and third periods for a 13-2 win. When the Magee men get rolling, they pull no punches, though the Redmen were off-form in this tilt—and you have to be at your best against that team most of the time. Score could have been closer but for Ross Nicholls' stellar work between the pipes for the victors. And star Jackie Wardhaugh was lost to his side for 12 minutes, drawing a misconduct on top of a minor penalty for pushing ye ref. Bob Parnall and Joe Rochetta led the Eagles, each being in on four. Munroe, Milne and Crowley counted a pair apiece, with singles gained by Vitarelli, Burns and Montgomery, as Greenlaw aided on two. Game was rugged in spots with stiff checking seen, and there'll be no powder-puff play shown in the return tilt tomorrow.

* * * * * *

It was a different story down in Kingston where Nylons squeezed out a 6-5 verdict o'er the Petes. Keen, close hockey all the way with both sides hustling and little to choose betwixt them. The surging Nylons are in third slot now but half a game back of the second-place Petes—the latter in turn being a game and a half back of Eagles so far. The Joping homes had Nylons plenty worried in the late stages, earlier penalties — including misconducts to Mason and Horton—hurting their chances a lot. They were minus Honey Tompkins, too. And they yelled plenty at some of the decisions handed out by Referee Bill Shannon of Marmora, especially when he ousted an official from the Petes' bench. Then he penalized Patterson of Nylons who dropped his broken stick and kept on playing, quite legally.

Tigers Outscore Irish 6-1 In Surprise Win

By The Canadian Press.

The underdogs won out Wednesday night in Ontario Hockey Association games, Hamilton Tigers outscored Toronto St. Michael's 6-1 in the major series and Stratford Kroehlers whitewashed St. Catharines Teepees 8-0 in the Junior A division.

Veteran Tom Smelle, Tiger forward, paced Hamilton with a three-goal effort. The victory for the Bengals ruined St. Mike's chance of pulling ahead of Toronto Marlies for the lead in the four-team senior circuit. Now four points ahead of the last-place Waterloo-Kitchener Dutchmen, the Tigers still trail the leaders by six points.

Dusty Blair got the only goal for the Saints as the Toronto team displayed one of its weakest performances of the season.

Veteran Johnny Conick, Murray Comfort and Miocinovich got Hamilton's other goals.

Great Net-minding

In the junior game at Stratford the eighth-place Kroehlers got spectacular net-minding from Al Bennett in their lop-sided win over the fourth-place Teepees.

Doug Williams, Roy Leckie and Guy Henri each tallied two goals while George Aitken and Bob Armstrong got in on the scoring parade with singletons.

Kroehlers outplayed Teepees by a wide margin in the first two periods, nicking five markers in the opening frame, but slackened their pace early in the third period and let Bennett hold them up.

Curling News

By HERB MARTIN

With the death of Rollie Glover our curling club and our lawn bowling club have lost a real supporter, the city of Peterborough has lost an outstanding citizen, and we have lost a very good friend. We have on many occasions curled and bowled with him and against him, and he was always the same—played hard to win but was the first to congratulate his opponent when he lost. He was one true sportsman and a real gentleman. On behalf of both of these sporting organizations we extend sympathy to the family.

The Neill Trophy competition played two rounds last evening and will continue next Wednesday evening.

Tonight it will be groups No. 4 and No. 5 in the schedule.

How about an entry for the Examiner Trophy bonspiel. All day next Saturday?

Neill Trophy Results

7:00 o'clock draw.

O. Steer won from M. Knox; R. Payne won from J. Richmond; R. Downey won from V. Selkirk; E. Northey won from C. Mathers of Keene, C. Mowry won from K. Hamley; A. Lister won from W. M. Cruthers; R. Bacon won from D. Rankine.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press.

Few changes in the National Hockey League's individual scoring race were brought about in the upper brackets following Wednesday night's contests.

Max Bentley of Toronto continues to head the pack with 36 points, six more than Tod Sloan of Toronto and Gordie Howe of Detroit. Bentley also has the most assists, 22, while Sloan is top man in goals with 17.

TOPS THEM ALL — Lionel Conacher, 50-year-old politician and business man, is the choice of sports writers as Canada's outstanding male athlete of the half-century. His record speaks for itself — an all-star performance that marked a 20-year era unprecedented in Canadian sports history. He was outstanding in football, hockey, lacrosse, baseball, boxing, wrestling, sculling, swimming and track.

Lionel Conacher Greatest Player In Half Century Of Football

By JACK SULLIVAN

TORONTO, Dec. 28 —(CP)— Lionel Conacher, the "Big Train" of the gridiron, is the oustanding Canadian football player of the half century.

He was chosen by sports editors and sportscasters who made him an overwhelming choice in a Canadian Press poll on sports greats of the past 50 years.

Conacher, a Toronto Argonaut giant in the 1920s and a headliner in lacrosse, baseball, hockey, boxing and wrestling as well, had almost three times as many votes as his nearest rival, Joe Krol, brilliant kicking half of today's Argos.

In the same vote, the 1950 Argonauts were chosen the best football team of the half-century, giving them a clean sweep of the football section of the poll. The 1950 Grey Cup winners took a close contest by two votes.

Tied for Second

The Queen's University teams of the early '20s and Montreal Alouettes 1949 Canadian champions, tied for second. Argonauts consolidated their position with added votes for their 1937 and 1938 teams, both Grey Cup winners.

Although Americans who had competed for a full season were eligible for the outstanding footballer vote, only two were named in the voting. Not a lineman was mentioned and players who starred before 1920 drew no votes.

Fritz Hanson, the speedy blonde half who brought the west its first East-West title in the 1935 Winnipeg-Hamilton cup game, was in third place, and Frank Filchock, Alouettes' brilliant quarterback, took fifth place, the only other American import who drew votes.

Harry Batstone and Pep Leadlay, the great running and kicking halves who won Queen's national titles in 1922 and 1923, were prominent. Batstone took fourth. Leadlay was mentioned along with Ab Box, the Balmy Beach and Argonaut kicker, and Tony Golab, the Ottawa plunger. Hugh (Bummer) Stirling, who booted Sarnia to their Grey Cup win in 1934, also drew a vote.

Thrilled Fans

Conacher, now 50, Liberal member of parliament for Toronto Trinity, a successful business man and father of five, thrilled fans of the '20s when football was a different game from today's variety.

Without the forward pass, emphasis was on kicking, running the ends and plunging, and Conacher was good at all of them. Thousands of older fans have an unforgettable memory of Conacher—a peaked cap pulled down on his forhead and wearing old-fashioned, short canvas football pants—galloping down a gridiron with his distinctive high-knee action.

In his first year of senior football he led Argos to a 23-0 victory over Edmonton Eskimos in the East-West final. Turning pro in hockey cut short his football career but not before he had sampled the American variety when he played on the Bellefonte Academy team at Pittsburgh. Then, when he was over 30, he appeared briefly with a professional team which played exhibition games in Toronto in 1933.

All-Round Athlete

As an outstanding all-round athlete, Conacher starred in wrestling, boxing, lacrosse, baseball, football, and became one of the greatest defencemen of his day in professional hockey.

He was a better-than-average sculler, swam well and ran 100 yards in 10.4 seconds in a baseball uniform. He boxed four exhibition rounds with Jack Dempsey and won the praise of the heavyweight champion.

Possessed of a powerful physique and phenomenal endurance, he often played lacrosse and baseball games or football and hockey games in the same day—and starred in them all.

Badminton Star Jack Purcell Outstanding Athlete Of 50 Years

By JACK SULLIVAN

TORONTO, Dec. 28 —(CP)— Jack Purcell, who dominated Canadian badminton for 15 years and scaled world heights in the game, was named today as an outstanding Canadian athlete of the half century just ending.

Sports editors and sportscasters, voting in a Canadian Press poll, chose him as the top man in the miscellaneous sports division—those sports apart from hockey, football, basketball, golfing, lacrosse, rowing, swimming, soccer, tennis and track and field.

Barbara Ann Scott, former world figure skating champion, ran Purcell a close second and the voters named a score of others in every sport from bowling to pro wrestling. Ottawa's Barbara Ann was also a close second to Toronto's Bobbie Rosenfeld in the outstanding woman athlete ballot announced yesterday.

Ken Watson, the Winnipeg Strathcona Club draw-shot curler, the only skip to win three Canadian championships, was just a step behind Barbara Ann; Mooney Gibson, the former Pittsburgh Pirate catcher who came to St. Thomas, Ont., finished in fourth place; and Johnny Longden, the top jockey who was born in Taber, Alta., was fifth.

Votes Scattered

Other votes were scattered among such sports personalities as Gerard Cote, the cigar-smoking St. Hyacinthe, Que., marathoner who competed in the 1948 Olympics; Torchy and Doug Peden, the Victoria six-day bike - riding brothers; and Charlie Justice, American import to Toronto softball pitching.

Softball had another nominee in Russ Johnson, the Toronto and Hamilton pitcher, and wrestling was represented by Whipper Billy Watson of Toronto and Yukon Eric.

Stan Cutts of Ottawa, 1948 world badminton champ, got a vote and others went to Syl Apps, former Toronto Maple Leafs hockey centre and Canadian pole-vault entry in the 1936 Olympic games in Berlin; Aubrey Ireland, old-time Toronto paddling champ; Ernie Hewer, a Toronto bowler of the 30s who rolled nine perfect games in 10-pins; and Tom Longboat, the old Indian marathoner.

BADMINTON ACE — Jack Purcell of Toronto, 47-year-old former world champion badminton player, was chosen by Canadian sports writers as one of the outstanding Canadian sports figures at the last half-century. Purcell, now a Toronto broker, held the Canadian amateur title in 1928 and 1929. He later turned pro and held the world title from 1932 through 1945.

Purcell, who was 47 on Christmas Eve, swept all before him in Canadian badminton from the late 20s until he retired in 1945. Prematurely white-haired but slim and fit, he is a Toronto stock broker.

Began in Guelph

He began playing badminton in Guelph when he was 21 and was defeated in the first round of every event in the Canadian championships at Ottawa the next year.

During the following five years, however, he won every title in Ontario, taking the men's singles five times in a row and the mixed doubles in four consecutive years.

He won his first Canadian singles title in 1928 and reached his peak in 1930 when, besides retaining the singles crown, he defeated on successive nights the four best British players of the day who were touring Canada, losing only one game.

The quartet were D. C. Hume, R. C. F. Nichols, R. M. White and J. F. Devlin, who among them dominated the all-England singles championship for 10 years.

Never Done Before

In 1930 Purcell accomplished something no other visitor to England had done when he won the Surrey doubles, partnered with K. C. Livingstone. He was defeated in the semi-final round of the all-England singles.

Purcell was suspended by the Canadian Badminton Association in 1931 for writing instructional articles on the game and engaging in the sporting goods business. He immediately turned pro and the following year competed with the leading Canada, American and British money players, decisively defeating them all. He was generally considered the world champion and defended his unofficial title against all comers until his retirement.

N.Y. Rangers Go To Town Dump Leafs 3-1

By The Canadian Press

New York Rangers, striving to keep in the National Hockey League race, have accomplished something they've been trying to do since the schedule opened — beat Toronto Maple Leafs.

The cellar-dwellers' 3-1 victory at home Wednesday night went a long way toward proving, too, that they're not as bad a team as their season record shows—six wins, 13 losses and 13 ties.

It also came at an opportune time to help them boost a sagging attendance for the season's largest crowd — 13,465 fans — saw the rugged clash.

The Ranger reversal of form couldn't have come at a more inopportune time for the league-leading Leafs. The loss prevented them from extending their margin over the idle Detroit Red Wings, one point back in second place.

Boston's surprising Bruins staged a whirlwind finish before 10,202 home fans to tie Chicago Black Hawks 4-4 in the night's only other game. The Bruins tallied three third-period goals in extending their unbeaten string to five games—two wins and three ties.

The stalemate left Chicago in third place with 29 points, 15 back of the Wings and one ahead of the Bruins who took over sole possession of fourth place. The idle Montreal Canadiens dropped to fifth with 27 points, and Rangers trail with 25.

Action Rough

Action was rough and feelings ran high throughout the Leafs-Ranger tussle. Twelve penalties were called, four of them majors for fighting.

The Rangers, who in six previous meetings with the Leafs this season had managed only a 2-2 tie Nov. 4 while dropping five decisions scored first and were never headed.

Tony Leswick put them in front midway through the opening period with what proved to be the winner after Cal Gardner tallied unassisted to knot the count.

Rookie Reggie Sinclair connected for the insurance tally in the third period. The middle frame was scoreless.

Defencemen Gus Mortson of the Leafs and Ed Slowinski put on a good boxing show before being separated by the officials in the first period. Featured in the other bout were Ted Kennedy, Leafs' captain back in action after a week's lay-off because of injuries, and defenceman Allan Stanley.

Pays Off

At Boston, the Bruins pulled goalie Jack Gelineau in favor of a sixth forward, and the strategy paid off when veteran Woody Dumart scored the tying marker with but 31 seconds to play. It was Dumart's second consecutive goal.

The Hawks, who had lost their previous five games, ran up a score of 4-1 in the first two periods but wilted before the Bruins' late drive. Roy Conacher scored twice for the Hawks, with Pete Babando and Doug Bentley notching the others.

Johnny Peirson and Bill Ezinicki tallied once for the Bruins, and veteran Milt Schmidt got assists on both of Dumart's.

RE-ELECTED BOMBER HEAD

Ralph Misener of Winnipeg Wednesday night was re-elected president of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers football club for his second consecutive term. The election took place at an annual meeting of the club's executive.

Eagles Claw Redmen 13-2 To Grab Off Top Spot Again

BELLEVILLE, Dec. 28—Scoring 12 goals in the second and third periods, the Eagles handed Belleville Redmen a stuinning 13-2 defeat in a senior OHA fixture here last night.

The Eagles vaulted into first place in the group standing over their city rivals, the Petes, who were defeated 6-5 by the Kingston Nylons on the latter's ice last night.

It was not the best hockey in the world. The Redmen had a decided edge in territorial play in the first period which ended in a one-all stalemate, then faded in the second when the rampaging Eagles fired home five goals, and in the third when the "Birds" grabbed seven markers with but a single return from the off-color Redshirts.

Rugged Scrap

Played on a lightning fast sheet of ice the game was a more or less rugged affair with 11 penalties handed out by Referee Bill Reason of Kingston, with the Redmen drawing the odd one. One sentence was a 10-minute misconduct to Jack Wardhaugh, ace centre of the Reds, who, it was alleged, "swiped" Referee Reason with his stick after being handed a minor penalty.

Every playing Eagle except Nicholls feathered his scoring nest as the flock roared in for goals in the last two chukkers. Parnall led the scoring parade with three goals and an assist; Rochetta got one and three helpers; Munroe, Milne and Crowley scored a brace each with Vitarelli getting a single. Greenlaw drew two assist with Burns and Montgomery getting credit for single helpers.

Nicholls Shone

The outstanding work of Nicholls in the Eagle nest, plus a hard-hitting defence and lines that skated miles both ways, tell the story. The Reds deserved a better fate as they were thwarted time after time after racing in on Nicholls' doorstep for the kill. Their offensive plays and passing inside enemy territory were not up to the mark while Eagles grabbed every opportunity to turn goalward efforts into tallies.

Parnall, Vitarelli, Rochetta, Milne, Crowley and Nicholls looked the best for the Eagles with Johnny Green, Lou Schmidt, Brian Mulvihill and Keith MacDonald standing out for the losers. Keays, despite the large score against him turned back many an Eagle attacking foray.

Lineups:

Belleville: Goal, Keays; defence, Williams, Goyer; centre, Wardhaugh; wings, Mulvihill, Green; subs, Jones, Day, Macdonald, King, Semark, Badeo, Schreider, Schmidt.

Peterborough, Goal, Nicholls; defence, Munroe, Burns; centre, Montgomery; wings, Parnall, Milne; subs, Greenlaw, Vitarelli, Rochetta, Crowley, Hill, Mortimer.

Referee—Bill Reason, Kingston; linesman, D. Barrett, Belleville.

Nylons Edge The Petes 6-5 To Narrow Gap For Second

KINGSTON, Dec. 28—Paced by Jack McKeown, who scored three goals and set up two others, Nylons edged the Petes by 6 to 5 in last night's OHA senior fixture in the Harty Arena. With the locals' high scoring veteran line weakened by the absence of Walter Gerow, the attacking trio made up of McKeown, Bob Joyce and Buddy Aitken carried the main burden and with deadly effect they racked up five goals and three assists while two defencemen, Eddie Plumb and Joe Watts, accounted for the other two points.

Nylons led all the way and held a marked advantage during the first two periods but the much-penalized visitors rallied strongly in the last session, scored two goals and had the locals hanging on tenaciously in the closing minutes. The Petes drew 11 penalties for a total of 43 minutes as against 16 minutes served by their conquerors. Mason, who served a minor and one misconduct sentence, and Horton, who got a minor and a 15-minute misconduct, were the most flagrant offenders against hockey law and order.

Checked Hard

While serious trouble did not break out, the same was narrowly averted with some of the rivals persistently checking illegally and carrying high sticks. Referee Shannon of Marmora had his troubles and many of his decisions calling for penalties were disputed. One of the Petes' bench directors was ejected in the final period for directing uncomplimentary remarks at Shannon as he fled past the Peterborough bench.

Doug Patterson drew a penalty in the final period that revived

Barons Trip Indians As Bison Triumph

By The Canadian Press

Cleveland Barons pulled eight points ahead of Cincinnati Mohawks at the top of the American Hockey League's western division Wednesday night by beating Springfield Indians 6-5 while Buffalo Bisons beat Cincy 7-5.

Buffalo thus increased its eastern division to five points over the idle Hershey Bears. In the third game of the night, St. Louis Flyers edged Pittsburgh Hornets 2-1. St. Louis is in fourth place in the western division, now six points behind Pittsburgh.

Les Douglas scored the winning goal for Cleveland and it was his third of the night. In the rough game, Springfield took a second period lead and in the last period came from behind three times to tie the score.

Believe 1951 Vital Year For Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 28 (AP)—There can be no doubt that 1951 will be the year of decision for the motion picture industry.

A number of vital issues will come to a head in the New Year, and their solution may change the whole nature of the industry. The prime topic will be television.

A year ago, Hollywood made jokes about television. George Jessel remarked at a banquet: "How can you be afraid of a medium which makes everybody look like Singer's midgets?"

Then came bigger TV screens and better TV entertainment and sales of millions of sets. People began spending more time in darkened living rooms instead of darkened film theatres.

The film industry launched a campaign based on the angle that "movies are better than ever." They were better than they had been in years, but still movie business was down.

Trends of 1951

Here are some trends which I believe the New Year will bring:

1. Theatre television will come to a great number of the movie houses. Patrons will see a feature film plus the televising of a sports or news event as it is happening.

Many sports enterprises are shying away from home TV because of loss of attendance; they might be friendlier to theatre TV, which could provide them with greater revenue.

2. More new talent will be developed.

3. Many established stars will be dropped from the payrolls as their options and salary boosts come up. The studios can no longer afford $5,000-a-week salaries.

4. Escapist subjects will be the main movie diet. Hollywood will dish up more comedies, musicals and adventures.

Not Getting Break

BOMBAY, India, Dec. 28 (AP)—The fabulously wealthy Gaekwar of Baroda charged Wednesday that India's princes aren't getting a fair shake from the government. Since the emergence of India as a dominion, the country's hereditary rulers have agreed to merge their territories with the Indian Republic, with the understanding their personal property, titles and privileges will remain untouched.

Something to remember

This is one of a series of words and expressions whose origins and meanings are published in the interest of a better understanding, use and knowledge of the English language.

"IN THE GROOVE!"

"In the groove" is an expression currently used to tell us that something is exactly right, that it fits the occasion perfectly.

Evidence points to this phrase having its origin from the fact that fine musical reproduction is made possible by having a needle or stylus travel accurately through the grooves of a recording. Coined originally in the times when jazz and swing music were extraordinarily popular, this term "in the groove" is now applied generally whenever we wish to express our feelings when things are functioning smoothly.

Army Discloses Details Of Hungnam Evacuation

By STAN SWINTON

TOKYO, Dec. 28 (AP)—Hitherto-unpublishable details on sea evacuation of the 105,000-man United States 10th Corps from Hungnam were disclosed today.

Correspondents who covered the evacuation were forbidden to give tactical particulars of the beachhead battle. It would tip off the enemy on how the army might fight in any similar future situation, said public information officers who doubled as censors.

Apparently security considerations have been erased by the inter-service scramble for credit for the Hungnam evacuation, however. Maj-Gen. Edward M. Almond's headquarters rushed out a special release today to tell the world Wednesday's secrets.

Among other things, he said, the enemy knew the when and where of the evacuation, since "there was only one way to go—out through the port of Hungnam."

Forbidden To Write

Only Sunday afternoon, correspondents on the beachhead had been forbidden to write either about the evacuation or Hungnam port activities. The ban held after the story was published in detail from Tokyo. Bulletins that the final withdrawal had taken place Saturday still were being held Sunday when the news was broken in Washington. That the enemy knew about it all the time came as no surprise to correspondents. But the complete turnabout in the army's official position caused raised eyebrows.

There were three phases of the withdrawal. Almond said the corps entered phase one Dec. 15, when the 1st Marine Division completed loading on the ships. At that time, the defensive arc extended roughly 8,000 yards from the beach.

Hamhung, location of the corps command post, was evacuated. Yonpo airfield was vacated by the 1st Marine Air Wing Dec. 15 also, but was still included in the defence perimeter because it was needed to carry out supplies and troops.

The South Korean 3rd Division sailed south directly from Songjin. The rest of the Republican troops were cleared from Hungnam by Dec. 17.

Perimeter Reduced

By Dec. 20 the defence perimeter was reduced to "phase two" proportions with a two-division-front. Yonpo airfield was used to ship out troops and supplies until Dec. 18, totalling 2,500 men and several tons of supplies.

The U.S. 7th Division was on board ship by Dec. 22 as the 3rd Division took the defence line set for phase three.

In the final phase, just before the 3rd Division withdrew, the defence arc had shrunk to a maximum of 4,000 yards.

All artillery battalions of the divisions continued firing until dawn on the final day of the withdrawal.

Jockey Rides Hard To Overtake Culmone

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 28 (AP)—Jockey Willie Shoemaker is riding every mount he can get in a win-or-bust effort to overtake Joe Culmone, currently leading rider in the United States.

Shoemaker rode four winners Wednesday and Culmone three. That gave Shoemaker a total of 377 wins against 378 for Culmone.

Shoemaker's agent, Harry Silbert, said Wednesday he would have full cards (eight mounts) Friday and Saturday at the Fair Ground in New Orleans. After Saturday's races, the jockey plans to fly to Agua Caliente, Mexico, to ride Sunday.

Culmone is riding at Tropical Park, Miami. He has 279 seconds, 212 third places; Shoemaker, 278 seconds and 223 thirds. Culmone has had 1,644 mounts, Shoemaker 1,600.

The record, by Walter Miller (1906) is 388 firsts, 300 seconds, and 199 thirds, on 1,384 mounts.

Charged With Murder

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C., Dec. 28 (CP)—Fisherman Harold Ryan 30, Wednesday was charged with murder in the death of his commonlaw wife, Lorraine Tait. The woman's beaten body was found floating in nearby Port Simpson harbor Saturday night. Ryan was remanded for eight days.

Christmas Concert

OTONABEE, Dec. 28—(ENS)—The pupils of St. Joseph's School, Otonabee, entertained their parents and friends last Thursday with a concert presented in the Assumption Hall. The program consisted of songs, drills, dialogues, piano selections and recitations. Rev. W. C. McCarney was chairman. Accompaniment for the musical numbers was provided by the teacher, Miss Patricia Twomey. The arrival of Santa to distribute presents brought the evening to a close.

Made Fire Instructor

TORONTO, Dec. 28 (CP)—Herbert J. Mallory of Kingston has been appointed fire services instructor on the staff of the Ontario fire marshal's department here. Mr. Mallory, a member of the Kingston fire department for 13 years, will divide his time between field work with municipal fire departments in Eastern Ontario and the instructional staff of the Ontario Fire College. He assumes his new post Jan. 15.

Review Finances

TORONTO, Dec. 28 (CP) — The Ontario Older Boys' Parliament devoted Wednesday's session to the subject of finances, and gave second reading to a bill providing for the raising of $14,000. The money would be used to further boys' work in Ontario in 1951. It would be raised by the sale of "shares" in a campaign from Feb. 11 to Feb. 24.

Need Amendment

OTTAWA, Dec. 28 (CP)—Judge Allan Fraser of juvenile court said Wednesday an amendment to the Criminal Code is necessary to make it impossible for boys to purchase firearms and shells.

Hungary Offers To Aid Exiles' Return

By ENDRE MARTON.

BUDAPEST, Dec. 28 (AP). — Hungary's Communist-led government is beckoning to thousands of exiled Hungarians and its welcome-home program is meeting with some success.

The call to return home is being given to great numbers who left Hungary during the wartime occupation by the Germans and the postwar upheavals in the changeover to Communist leadership.

As evidence that the outgoing tide is turning, it has been estimated that about 2,000 Hungarians already had returned last fall under a government-assisted plan. A source close to the Jewish community said about 1,000 Jews who had gone to Israel either had or would return.

A decree of Hungary's presidential council has granted amnesty for practically everybody who left the country illegally (without a passport) before or after the end of the Second World War.

This decree, however, excluded prominent personalities, hangers-on of the German occupation, and anti-Communist politicians who opposed the building of a Socialist state. Former Premier Ferenc Nagy, who escaped to Austria and is now in the United States, was put in this group.

After Little Man

The decree is aimed at the little man who was carried away by the trend of mass immigration and skipped the country.

The people's democracies are taciturn if asked about figures on mass exodus. Nobody here seems to know exactly how many Hungarians fled during the last five years.

There were waves of hurried departures following political or economic events. Screws were tightened and many former civil servants, the former owners of big estates, factories and shops now nationalized, decided to leave.

Some reports from Vienna, usually the first city where exiles meet a western journalist, said there were times when about 1,000 Hungarians slipped over the border in a single month.

The Communist decree and other government action has helped some of these exiles return. From time to time, newspapers here publish official statements saying "a considerable number" who have been living in such countries have been repatriated.

No actual figures are given of the number returning. The statements say the government has helped the wayfarers to get back to "a constructive work."

Nylons Defeat Petes

memories of the famous Peterborough broken stick episode of several years ago with the rather important difference that Doug had no stick at all and continued to play according to liberties allowed by the code. His amazement knew no bounds when he was paraded to the penitents' pew.

A Fine Game

The crowd larger than expected, saw a rattling fine game waged by two well-matched teams, interest in the game being provided by the close duelling, Jack McKeown's spectacular pinch hitting and Eddie Plumb's dynamic bodychecking. Plumb played no favorite and unwary attackers who didn't keep their heads up invariably found themselves in horizontal positions.

The Petes playing without the services and expert guidance of Honey Tompkins, appeared to lack cohesion during the first two periods when they were outscored by 6 to 3. They trailed at the first intermission by 4 to 2 and were outplayed in the middle session when Jack McKeown scored before and after Wade had beaten Glynn Udall.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Canada will not have team representation at the Pan-American Games opening at Buenos Aires, Feb. 14.

Bob Osborne, president of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada said at Vancouver Wednesday an invitation had been received from the Argentine sponsors some time ago.

"We considered the financial burden too great at this time," he said. "A February meet is also a bad time of year for Canadian athletes."

He said, however, it is possible that there might be some individual entries, providing proper certification and financial arrangements could be made. So far, no entries have been filed with the AAU of C.

Commonwealth athletes made a near clean-sweep of the track and field events at the opening of the Canterbury Centennial Games at Christchurch, New Zealand.

Bill Degruchy of Australia ran the 100-yard dash in :09.7 to beat Art Bragg, United States Amateur Athletic Union champ. McDonald Bailey of England was third.

Arthur Wint of Jamaica, Olympic 400-metre king, finished before Mal Whitfield, former Ohio State runner. Wint's time was :46.9.

Ingvar Bengsston of Sweden took the 1,500-metre race in 3:56.4. Maurice Marshall of New Zealand was second.

Derek Steward of New Zealand won a 400-yard hurdle in :53.7, nosing out Southern California's Don Halderman.

Jimmy Flood slugged his way to a technical knockout over Artie Diamond in New York on Wednesday night when Dr. Vincent Nardiello stopped the sensational brawl at the end of the eighth round because of Diamond's badly cut right eye. Flood weighed 162½, Diamond 160.

The fight, a scheduled 10-rounder, went as an 8th round technical knockout. Diamond was ahead on points when the head to head battle was stopped.

At Toronto Bobby Prentice, 22-year-old third baseman, said he has received word that he is to report to the training camp of Cleveland Indians of the American League at Tucson, Arizona, Feb. 15. Earlier, he was assigned to San Diego of the Pacific Coast League.

Prentice, graduate of Toronto sandlot baseball, has spent three seasons in professional ranks.

He started with Batavia Clippers in the Class D Pony League and moved onto Pittsfield Indians of the Class C Canadian-American League. Last year he played for Cedar Rapids of the Class B Three Eye League.

At Omaha, Neb., Rex Barney said he has signed a contract to pitch for Brooklyn Dodgers again next year.

Barney, right-hand fireball hurler who has failed to live up to expectations with the Dodgers during the last two years, didn't reveal terms of the contract but said they were the same as last year.

There had been speculation that with a change of Dodger leadership, Barney might be traded.

Stanley S. Sayres, owner of the world's fastest speedboat, received the medal of honor of the Union of International Motorboating at Seattle yesterday.

The medal was for the "great boating achievement of 1950." The Union has headquarters in Belgium. It is made up of motorboat associations in 28 countries.

Sayres' Slo-Mo-Shun IV set a world speedboat record of 160 miles an hour on Lake Washington and won the famed gold cup and Harmsworth Trophy events.

Carol Service Presented At Millbrook

MILLBROOK, Dec. 28—(ENS)—On Christmas eve a candlelight carol service was held in St. Andrew's United Church. The well-filled church had been decorated for the occasion with evergreens, poinsettias, and lighted Christmas trees.

Special music by the choir was directed by Mrs. G. A. Spicer and Miss Mabel Clarry; and Miss Estella Hetherington was at the organ. Anthems by the whole choir included "Now is the Time", "Unto Us a Boy is Born," "Gesu Bambino", "O Nightingale, Awake", and "The Birthday of a King". An old French carol "Whence is that Goodly Fragrance?" was sung as a girls' chorus by Yvonne and Marlene Richards, Marie-Claire and Marlyn Husser, Betty North, Frances Dawson and Yvonne Richards.

A mixed quartette comprising Mrs. G. A Spicer, Mrs. Lawrence Winslow, Gordon Might and Homer Ouelette sang "The Inn at Bethlehem", and "The Shepherd's Christmas Song".

"What child is this?" was sung by Yvonne Richards, Anne Dawson, Ronald McKnight and Donald Spicer. The male quartette—Gordon Might, Donald McKnight, Homer Ouelette and Melville McDowell—sang "The Coventry Carol", and Brahm's "Lullaby".

The contralto solo "He Shall Feed His Flock", and the Soprano solo "Come Unto Him" from Handel's Messiah were sung by Mrs. Lawrence Winslow and Mrs. G. A. Spicer respectively.

Edward Hewitt, tenor soloist from Galt, sang "The Little Road to Bethlehem".

Rev. T. G. Husser gave Scripture readings between the musical numbers, and there were carols by the whole congregation.

The church was decorated by Miss Mabel Clarry assisted by Mrs. A. R. Payne and Donald Spicer.

U.S. Approves Building Big Steel Mill

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 (AP). —The government gave a go-signal to U.S. Steel Corp. Wednesday to erect a $351,414,000 steel mill, believed to be the biggest single steel expansion project in U.S. history.

The plant is to be located near Morrisville, Pa., on the Delaware River opposite Trenton, N. J.

It was one of 32 defence plant expansion projects approved Wednesday for tax benefits by Chairman W. Stuart Symington of the National Security Resources Board. Rapid tax write-offs are permitted on such projects. Such certificates now amount to more than $1,000,000,000 for the steel industry alone.

The certificates entitle companies to write off the costs of defence expansion during the next five years for tax purposes. They are designed to encourage plant expansion which might otherwise not be undertaken for fear the facilities would be idle when the national emergency ended.

The new, completely integrated Morrisville plant will produce 1,800,000 ingot tons of steel annually. It will be called the Fairless Works in honor of Benjamin F. Fairless, U.S. Steel's president.

Construction on the Fairless Works will start early next spring U.S. Steel announced, and will be completed by the end of 1952.

Eventually the plant will use Venezuelan ore from another U.S. steel subsidiary, the Orinoco Mining Company. Until this ore is available, the Fairless plant will use other foreign ores as well as domestic ore.

HEADS SQUADRON — Flt. Lt. Don Laubman, DFC, 29, of Edmonton, ace fighter pilot of the last war, who has been appointed officer commanding the RCAF's new 416 fighter squadron. The new squadron, which is being formed at Uplands airport, near Ottawa, will eventually be equipped with Canadian-built jet fighters.

Caribou Herds May Be Largest In Many Years

By BERNICE MACIVER

CHURCHILL, Man. —(CP)— Caribou from the barren lands in numbers greater than ever before are reported along the Hudson Bay Railroad south of here.

But that does not mean the natives necessarily got what they needed as the animals migrated southward from their summer feeding grounds. Caribou do not always follow the same route.

Tension grips the Caribou-eating Indians at migration time. If the animals pass within 100 miles the Indians will know, for scouts are scattered through the area. The Eskimo will range quite as far when the caribou are expected.

Necessary Item

Caribou are necessary to the welfare of the northern native, except Eskimos who live along the coast and on the Arctic islands. These people use seal. The others—by far the greater number — depend on Caribou meat for food, caribou skins for clothing.

The government comes to the rescue when it learns of natives being without food. But missionaries who have worked many years among the Eskimos say the white man's food does little more than prevent starvation. For vigorous health the natives need their natural diet: The easily-digested, strength-giving meat of the caribou. And no man-made fabric approaches caribou hide, tanned with the hair on for lightness, warmth or wind-proofing.

Travel Long Distance

Caribou are long distance travellers, always on the move, eating caribou moss. Where the moss has been closely cropped, it takes several years to become re-established. This explains the absence of caribou for a number of years in some districts.

At one time these northern deer grazed on the flats near the present town of Churchill. Then for 25 years not one was seen. Eight years ago they returned, even running through the streets. But this year no caribou have been seen here.

Men well-equipped to judge believe the number of caribou is diminishing. The natives at times kill many more than they need. But far greater is the number destroyed by wolves.

Wolves Increase

And while the number of caribou descreases, the number of wolves is said to be increasing. The caribou has one calf a year, the wolf has three to eight pups. Through the long winter, caribou is the wolf's main food.

This year, along the western shore of Hudson Bay, some Eskimos have had to return from their traplines because wolves have destroyed caches of caribou meat put up in the fall for their own use and for their dogs.

A greater caribou migration is an awe-inspiring sight. If crowded, calves are sometimes forced on to the backs of older animals.

The herds are at their most beautiful during the fall migration. The hairy coats are ready for winter, the long, spreading antlers of the bucks are at their best.

Real Partnership With West German Dream

BY JOACHIM NORTMANN

BONN, Dec. 28 (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said today the relationship between West Germany and the free countries of the West is "on the way to developing into a real partnership."

In a year-end statement prepared for the Associated Press, the Chancellor again stressed his goal of equality:

"The federal government is fully aware of its responsibilities as a member of the community of free nations and is convinced of the necessity that peace and freedom must be defended.

"But equality, as the most important symbol of freedom, is indispensable for the realization of international justice upon which alone a lasting peace can be based."

Insists On Partnership

Adenauer has frequently insisted West Germany must be accepted as an equal partner before she contributes to the west European defence system. He has asked the United States, Britain and France to end their occupation controls and sign a "security treaty" restoring West Germany to virtually complete national sovereignty.

The Chancellor pledged that the main goal of his government in 1951 will be to contribute "with all our energy to securing and maintaining the peace of the world and to support all honest efforts in that direction."

"By joining the Council of Europe and co-operating in the Schuman plan (for pooling Europe's coal and steel resources), the Republic has undertaken the most important steps toward a reorganization of Europe and a constructive solution of centuries-old European problems," Adenauer said.

Domestically, he said, West Germany has made great economic progress during 1950. He emphasized the home-building program, which he said has topped all similar European projects.

Housing Minister Eberhard Wildermuth said 340,000 new homes have been built in West Germany in the last year to help overcome the losses from wartime bombing and take 1,250,000 persons from bunkers, cellars and hovels.

Have Discovered Third Hormone Fights Arthritis

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 28 (AP)—A third potent hormone to fight arthritis and other diseases has been made synthetically.

Called Compound F, it comes naturally from the adrenal gland. The discovery of a practical way to make it by chemistry was reported today by Dr. Max Tishler of Merck and Company to the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Tests will start soon to learn if compound F is as good as or better than the other two anti-arthritis hormones, Cortisone and ACTH. There is hope it might be better.

In particular, it is hoped it will avoid the ill effects that may result from big or long-continued doses of Cortisone or ACTH.

Both Cortisone and ACTH bring amazing relief from the pains and swelling of rheumatoid arthritis, but the relief usually lasts only as long as the hormone is taken. They knock out the fever and may prevent heart damage in rheumatic fever, have temporarily shrunk or halted some forms of cancer, and shown surprising results in burns and other diseases.

Comparable Effects

Compound F showed comparable effects in one case of arthritis and one case of leukemia or cancer of the blood. Tiny amounts of it were obtained by using animal adrenal glands, kept alive outside the animal's body.

New Compound F can be made in fairly large amounts, if it proves useful, Dr. Tichler said.

Compound F differs only slightly from Cortisone, first known as Compound E. The chemical trick was to change one part of the complex Cortisone molecule without changing the rest of it

1950 Results Not Satisfactory CPR Head Says In Review

TORONTO, Dec. 28— During 1950, the Canadian Pacific Railway "achieved something less than satisfactory financial results from its railway operations," president W. A. Mather declares in his year-end review.

Although freight rate increases which became effective in April and June resulted in increased earnings for the balance of the year, the ratio of net to gross earnings continued its recent tendency to reflect the effect of inflationary tendencies in the steadily rising burden of cost for labor and materials, Mr. Mather said.

The volume of freight carried in the first five months of 1950 showed a marked decrease, but had taken an upturn when the general railway strike in August brought operations to a halt for a nine-day stretch.

The increased costs faced by the railways are beyond the control of management, Mr. Mather declares, and adds that "the railways of Canada have no alternative but to apply for higher rates to meet them."

Adverse Influence

"The year did not pass without the appearance of situations adversely affecting the welfare of our country," the C.P.R. president says. "Reduced off-shore purchases lessened the production and sale of higher classed commodities and frosts greatly affected the quantity and quality of our grain crops."

"The uncertainty which existed throughout the year, and which still exists with respect to freight and wage rates makes necessary so far as the railways are concerned, the exercise of some restraint in their program for improvements recognized by management as overdue."

The long-drawn-out dispute which reached its unfortunate climax in the strike of last August has now been disposed of by the report of Mr. Justice Kellock, and the settlement must last at least until September, 1952, Mr. Mather points out.

"It is difficult to predict the effect on future labor negotiations of the results of the methods followed to dispose of this dispute. Nothing is more important to Canada today, in the light of the present international situation, than industrial harmony.

Need Freedom

"It is my view that much progress toward that goal can be accomplished if union membership, particularly those connected with public service corporations, were to be afforded the same freedom of expression that is given Canadian citizens in the exercise of their electoral franchise. Given that opportunity and a ballot in regard to which the issue is stated in an unbiased manner, it should be possible to settle disputes as to wages and working conditions by the ordinary process of negotiation with resort only to compulsory arbitration in the event that matters reach the stage where they threaten to harm the public interest."

Get Less Enipment

Notwithstanding the uncertain financial outlook, Mr. Mather says, the CPR expended considerable funds during 1950 in purchasing new equipment and improving the capacity of its various rail facilities.

Additions were also made to the coastal steamship fleet and to the Canadian Pacific Air Lines. Large sums continue to be spent on many improvements which enable the company to match the growth of the country's industrial output.

"From present indications and assuming no further major deterioration in world affairs, 1951 promises to be a year of high level in industrial activity and development. If Canadians are imbued with a will to work, nothing short of a national catastrophe will prevent the attainment of that degree of progress which we all desire."

Father Christmas Heeds Child's Note

VANCOUVER, Dec. 28—(CP)—Christmas will be a little late this year for Linda Rankin of Liverpool, England, but she hasn't been overlooked.

The 11-year-old girl's note addressed simply to "Father Christmas", ended up in the main postoffice here by unknown routes.

Part-time workers at the postoffice saw the postmark, knew there was little time to be lost. They quickly collected $10, hustled off to the stores and on Saturday an 11-pound box of gifts was on the way to Liverpool.

In the box, are a doll, picture books, toy dishes, sewing equipment and some "nice soap for Mummy", just as Linda had asked.

Bessie Butler All Done In; Cornwall Demise

Flagship of the Trent Canal system, the "Bessie Butler," left Peterborough waters just before freeze-up to tie up in Cornwall. She is through, finished, on the beach, her stern timbers water-rotted after 43 years of faithful maintenance service from Trenton to Georgian Bay.

She was built at the Poulson shipyards, Toronto, in 1907. The "Bessie" will be replaced by the Diesel tug "Trent." The latter has been in service on the waterways for the past few years.

Passing of the popular ship recalls many of district men who crewed her for years: the late Capt. James Johnston of Young's Point, Jimmy Simpson, Billy Gilman and Reginald Murduff, all of Lakefield, and the last of a famous line of steamboat captains of Youngs Point Capt. Harold Young who captained her for the past 12 years.

Though often jeered by political ridicule, the "Bessie" made many notable trips and carried celebrated passengers in her long years of service. The most illustrious was probably the late Governor-General, Lord Tweedsmuir, who made a voyage of considerable length on her through the Trent system in 1939.

In a news release today Trent Valley Canal superintendent of engineering T. J. Ryan was not prepared to give any definite plans to the re-allocation of the ship's crew as result of her disposal.

New '51 Council Inaugural Jan. 2

Mayor M. J. Swanston has invited Major Cyril G. Everitt, president of the Ministerial Association, to assist the city council in its inaugural Tuesday, January 2 at 11 a.m.

Major Everitt has been requested to offer prayer at the opening session of 1951, invoking the blessing of God on the council's work and on the city next year. Presumably Mayor Swanston is working on his inaugural address, and he also has a speaking engagement with Rotary Club.

Council will meet in committee of the whole immediately after the simple function of inauguration. The business session will take place at 7.30 p.m.

Police Find Door Of Store Wide Open

Gosselin's grocery store on Hunter St. at Aylmer St. was broken into Wednesday night and a piece of meat taken.

Constable Edward Niziol, patroling his beat about 12:30 a.m. today found the rear door of the store wide open. A light wooden panel replacement in the door had been pried loose far enough for a man to put his hand through and slip a large bolt which secured it.

BOASTING "more cars per capita than any place in the world," bustling, booming Corner Brook, on Newfoundland's west coast, is on its way to becoming the second city of Canada's new island province. A "transitional council" was recently set up in the first move toward cityhood. A tiny hamlet 25 years ago, Corner Brook now has a population of nearly 20,000, making it second only to St. John's, the capital, in size. Pictured above are, UPPER LEFT—aerial view of the large pulp and paper mills, industrial backbone of the centre; LOWER LEFT—typical residential street. RIGHT, from top to bottom, the court house, which will become the first city hall; one of the modern dairy farms that help supply home-delivered fresh milk to Corner Brookers daily; and a scene on the new nine-hole golf course.

Sewage Plant Remodelling Not Yet Finished

Three of Peterborough's municipal projects in the substantial program of improvement that was carried on by the council this year are still in motion.

One of them is the sewage disposal plant job for which the contract was let to Hardy Construction Company. City council had expected its completion at least by sometime in December, but the work remains in progress.

R. A. Blyth is finishing a sewer job in the northwest section of the city, east of Jackson Park; and Mohan Construction Co., Toronto, is engaged on an extension of his sewer contract in the southwest section.

The original contract for a sewer on Cameron St. westerly from the foot of Park St. was eventually carried through to Erskine Ave., one of the longest stretches of sewer work done this year. The Mohan crew is now advancing up Monaghan Road to Orpington Road. This work had a block thrown up and across Monaghan Road yesterday and today.

Hurt In Canoe River Wreck Soldier Being Discharged

Gordon Thompson is adrift again. The blond strapping young soldier from Johannesburg who worked in Peterborough before joining the Canadian Special Force and sped unknowing into the train crash at Canoe River, B.C., is being discharged as medically unfit.

Now only 24, he has behind him four years in the Army as an infantryman in World War II, two years of wandering through the countries of Europe and a short four months in the Canadian Korean force.

With two of his best friends, he was in the first coach behind the engine which was travelling west toward Fort Lewis, Washington, with its cargo of soldiers bound for more training and eventually Korea.

The train failed to receive an order to stop to wait for an eastbound passenger train and the two crashed head-on as they rounded a bend in the Canadian Rockies.

One of his friends was burned from head to foot and is now slowly and painfully recovering from third-degree burns. His other chum suffered a broken back. Thompson had the left side of his face smashed and split and for some time paralyzed. His nervous system received a severe shock from which it hasn't yet recovered.

One More Operation

For this reason he is being discharged and he is sorry. He has one more operation to be performed on his face and he will be finished with the hospital and the army in about six to eight weeks.

This week he came to Peterborough to visit some of his friends. He has been in Chorley Park military hospital in Toronto being treated.

At the end of his treatment he will come to Peterborough again to work as a machine fitter until August or September when he hopes he will have enough money to return home to Johannesburg for next Christmas.

In a clipped accent not unlike Australian, he observed that Canada was a fine country and the Canadian Red Cross did "a magnificent job at the train wreck."

"I used to think Christianity and capitalism in the world was on the way out but now I've changed my mind," he said.

Fought in North Africa

Thompson joined the South African army as a youth and after his initial training was sent to North Africa. From North Africa he sailed to Italy where he received a slight wound in the abdomen. He was back in North Africa again and when the cease fire came he was in Italy near the Swiss border.

He was stationed in England a short time before his discharge. Following his release from the army he went on a tour of the countries of Europe working his way around. He estimates that in the last two years he has travelled some 37,000 miles. He has seen more of Canada than most Canadians, but he never got farther west than Canoe River.

He is eager to go back home, but doesn't expect to stay. He is a wanderer, he says, looking for something, but doesn't know what it is. He has an older sister and a younger brother and sister, but he is the only one of the family so far who has taken to travelling.

In spite of his wandering lust, he is an intense South African nationalist. He approves of the Malan government with its policy of strict and ever widening division between black and white. But conscious to some extent of world opinion he says, "of course Smuts was a great man, but he was too much of an internationalist."

Telegraph Wires Buzz On Holiday

The volume of telegrams for Canada, United States and overseas countries is expected to be lighter this weekend than over the Christmas holiday. Both the CNR and CPR telegraph offices expect the New Years' rush of business to begin Friday night.

These telegrams are mostly divided into three classes. The majority are New Year's greetings from family to family but others are invitations for the week-end and notices when holiday company will arrive.

The CNR telegraph reported a good Christmas volume in Canada and the United States and a good cable business to the United Kingdom. The office also sent a few telegrams to families in Greece and Sweden.

To Aklavik

The local telegram which travelled farthest in Canada the past week-end went from a local family to a daughter in Aklavik, Northwest Territories. This telegram was sent by CNR wire to Edmonton and then to Aklavik by wireless.

The CPR telegraph office said that their heaviest flow was to the United Kingdom. The volume in Canada and the United States was only fair. Some telegrams were sent to Alaska and Australia.

Sentenced To 3 Years

ORILLIA, Ont., Dec. 28 (CP)—Kenneth Mitchell of Udney, Ont., yesterday was sentenced to three years in penitentiary for breaking into and theft from summer homes in the Simcoe and Couchiching Lakes area. A former resident of Atherley and Peterborough, Mitchell was arrested Nov. 24 after an investigation by Beaverton and Orillia detachments of the provincial police.

Chief To Jail Soused Drivers Christmas Record Not Bad

Jail is a poor place to celebrate the beginning of 1951, but that is where drivers who drink will end up, Chief Constable John W. Thompson warned today.

He said Peterborough had got off rather lightly in the way of acidents during the Christmas weekend. And if close checking by a double-duty police force has any effect, the New Year's weekend will show an even better record he said.

He noted that not one driver was charged with drunk driving during the weekend, although there were a couple of drivers involved in accidents who came very near the borderline. Those drivers found themselves in jail to sober up.

The city police force fears there may be more people drinking at New Year's than there were at Christmas and the reinforced police staff on duty is going to be checking that much more closely.

Wednesday three men paid fines of $15 when they pleaded guilty to having liquor in their cars Saturday night. That's expensive drinking, the chief observed.

If the streets are as slippery over the weekend as they are today, beer-soaked drivers will have great sport knocking fenders off parked cars. But they may not enjoy seven days in the county gaol quite as much.

World Placed On Masonry Duty To Perform

Festival of St. John the Evangelist was marked on Wednesday evening by the masonic brethren of Peterborough and district with a dinner in the Empress Hotel at which R.W. Bro. Nelson C. Hart of London, deputy grand master of grand lodge was the guest speaker.

More than 200 attended the banquet which had been preceded by the installation of officers of the Corinthian and Peterborough lodges. W.Bro. George Kennedy was the toastmaster and music throughout the evening was provided by Bro. Robert Johnson and the soloist was Reginald Peters.

The deputy grand master in his address told of the great responsibility placed on masonry today. He deplored the drifting of Canada into a form of state control, where the child is not being taught to work, but is becoming to a large extent the product of the state. This condition, he maintained, was what Russia wanted in the world.

A professor of biology in the University of Western Ontario the deputy grand master was born near Omemee. A large delegation of brethern from Lorne Lodge, Omemee, Profesor Hart's mother lodge, attended headed by the ruling master F. Faulkner and the senior warden, Garnet Shields.

Outlook Gloomy

The outlook today is gloomy and we don't know where we are going" Professor Hart said. He was inclined to think that too much of the blame was being put on Russia and China for present world conditions and that the democracies were themselves some to blame. "I wonder if we really appreciate the great position masonry holds in the world at the present time and the great responsibility placed on masonry" he asked.

He was most critical of the tendency of modern times to do away with the desire to work, the lack of knowledge of the Bible, the failure of many people to go to church and lack of interest by parents in the spiritual welfare of their children.

He pointed to the wonderful music that had been heard over the radio during the past week and the general stirring up of the inner life of man, but unfortunately, he said this will be let lie dormant for another 50 weeks.

W.Bro. S. G. Payne thanked the speaker and presented him with a travelling clock.

The toast to the absent brethern was proposed by Bro. W. E. Kibblewhite and to the visiting brethern by W.Bro. Harry Baptie. W. Bro. Bruce McNevin of Lorne Lodge replied. W.Bro. G. R. E. Melton introduced the three new masters F. G. Parsons of Corinthian, A. C. Elliso of Peterborough and J. A. Bradshaw of Royal Arthur. Bro. William Nash proposed the toast to Grand Lodge and this was replied to by R.W. Bro. R. L. Dobbin who introduced the speaker.

Flying Saucer, Air-Borne Ball, Jet Plane? Whatever It Was, It Was Over City Today

At 10:47 this morning, Mrs. James Mills, 283 Townsend St., hanging out her washing, looked up to see A Thing in the sky. There it was, white round, circling silently through the blue above the C.N.L. She thought at first that it was a plane. But no; it did not look like one and was making no noise.

She called her neighbors, Mrs. Robert Batley and Mrs. G. Batley to witness the wonder. "It was travelling quite fast," Mrs. Robert Batley said, "but not fast like a jet I think. It circled around, white, silent and lazy-like for three or four minutes "below the blue", Mrs. Batley explained.

A flying saucer? The three were at first sure that it was because of its shape, its silence and its general oddity. But it made a tail of vapour and after third thought, second sight, and consultation with an ex-flyer, they now believe that it could possibly have been a new type jet plane, flying high in the bright light, pathfinding or stunting for its squadron somewhere back of beyond.

H. T. Millard, sporting goods merchant, claims that the object in the sky was not a saucer, but is not sure that it was a plane. He was walking along the north side of Simcoe St. just before eleven and saw a crowd of people, waiting for the buses, all rubber-necking. He too looked up. His observations: "It was a round ball, travelling from west to east at about the speed of an ordinary plane, and it left a long trail of smoke behind. Gradually it disappeared into thin air." Mr. Millard, getting a late view of it, saw it for only 30 seconds. He says it in no way resembled a saucer. It was a ball, a round, white ball.

Say Blood Clot Caused Death County Prisoner

A coroner's jury Wednesday found that Edward Joseph Lynch, 63, died Dec. 3 of a blood clot which probably resulted from an operation to the lower part of the largel bowel performed by Dr. R. K. Magee in St. Joseph's Hospital Nov. 24.

"We feel he received proper medical attention," the verdict read.

Lynch was a prisoner of the county gaol and for that reason an inquest into the cause of his death was demanded by a federal law.

Goaler Stanley D. Johnston testified Lynch had entered the gaol Nov. 2 to serve a two months' term. He said Lynch had served many sentences in the gaol for breaches of the Liquor Control Act.

The morning of Nov. 23, Lynch complained of being sick. Mr. Johnston said and he called the gaol's doctor, Dr. Ralph Clark.

Habitual Alcoholic

Dr. Clark described Lynch as a habitual alcoholic. He said he learned that Lynch had been sick after his supper of beans Nov. 22.

"The food is not too bad in gaol," Dr. Clark commented. He said Lynch obviously had acute abdominal pains and he suspected Lynch was suffering from an early stage of a bowel obstruction.

He immediately had Lynch taken to hospital where he was "treated the same as any private patient." He said because of the nature of Lynch's ailment, he had to be treated before an operation could be performed.

Dr. Magee performed an operation the following morning and Lynch "did fairly well." The operation revealed Lynch had a large bowel obstruction in the form of a cancer and he was "not a good surgical risk" because his heart "was not too good" and his kidneys were not as they should have been.

He said after the operation Lynch received the latest drugs and two or more blood transfusions and "his condition was proceeding quite well".

But December 2 he went suddenly into shock with a pain in his chest. Doctors thought then he was going to die, but he pulled through it. An X-ray revealed a small clot near the lung.

Within 24 hours, Lynch suffered another blood clot or pulminary embolism in the main blood vessel to the lung "which was probably due to the operation" and he died.

Dr. C. B. Waite, provincial pathologist, testified that a post mortem confirmed Dr. Clark's diagnosis. He said Lynch was in very poor physical condition which "might have been due to alcohol". But he said many other reasons could have explained his condition.

He said the pulminary embolism Lynch suffered was the normal risk of a major operation especially for a man Lynch's age.

The inquest was presided over by Dr. Herbert N. Young, coroner. Members of the coroner's jury were Norris Williamson, Chemong Park, foreman; Stanley Darling, 529 Weller St.; John Russelle, Water St.; Harry Tudhope, 299 Frederick Ave.; and Reuben Wilson, 23 Manning Ave.

Boys' Parliament In Session At Queen's Park

Peterborough's representative at the Ontario Older Boys' Parliament now in session at the legislative chambers in Toronto is Jack King, son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. King, 544 Chamberlain Street. The formal opening of parliament at Queen's Park was held Tuesday night, the speech from the throne being read by Toronto's Mayor Hiram McCallum as lieutenant-governor.

Sessions of parliament are open to the public. The prorogation is on December 30. This is the 30th session. It is sponsored by the Ontario Council of Christian Education.

This is the first time in a number of years that the boys' parliament has been held in the Legislative Assembly Chambers, John Hunter, a graduate of parliament, told the Examiner today. The parliament is organized and conducted similarly to the provincial parliament.

Several questions will be discussed at this session, but the word, temperance, will not appear on the order paper. Instead, there will be a resolution called for a "constructive approach," through a course of study during the parliament period, on the problems of alcohol consumption.

"Graduates" Reunion

Mr. Hunter, 309 Mason Ave., will attend sessions on Friday and the graduate members' association reunion on Saturday. The reunion of former members held every five years in conjuction with the parliament's sessions. He will be one of the speakers.

In 1929 Mr. Hunter was an ordinary member of the boys' parliament but in 1930 rose to be Minister of Education. He climaxed his boys' parliament career in 1931 when he was elected premier. In 1932 he acted as an adviser.

Scattered throughout Canada and abroad are over 3,000 graduates and many of them are expected at the reunion. It is proposed to organize local groups of graduates in cities in Ontario and to consider also the development of leaders for boys' work.

Citizens Come To Aid Of Indian Family

Residents of Peterborough and district are responding generously to appeals for aid for the Johnston family whose Burleigh Falls home and possessions were destroyed by fire last Saturday afternoon.

A three-times wounded war veteran, Joshua Johnston and his wife went to Peterborough Saturday afternoon to do some Christmas shopping. When they returned they found all their home and its contents burned to a heap of ashes and their five children ranging in age from three years to 12, sheltered with friends.

The family temporarily took shelter with Mr. Johnston's mother where they are now living in crowded quarters.

A group of neighbors formed a committee to help them out. Appeals were made to the Red Cross in Lakefield and Peterborough, the Canadian Legion, and interested citizens in the city and county. Plans were laid to build and furnish another house on the same site.

Jack Rogers, secretary of Branch 52, Canadian Legion, told the Examiner today that the response of local people had been "excellent." The Legion has either acquired or been promised a wood-burning kitchen range, three chairs, two tables, two solid doors—one of them complete with hardware, two windows complete with sashes, three chesterfield chairs, three beds with springs, a mattress, and quantity of clothing — including one complete boy's outfit.

Jack Wigley of Wigley Express has volunteered his services to pick up any donations with his truck. This includes furniture, clothing and other articles whether obtained through the Legion, Red Cross, or by private donation.

Those wishing to help can contact Mr. Rogers at the Legion, phone 6203.

Wednesday Mrs. Earl Johnston of Smith township phoned the Examiner offering a complete window—sash, glass and storm window; a "good varnished door complete with hardware; and possibly some clothing.

When Mr. Wigley has accumulated a load of furniture and other household goods for the Johnston he will transport it to Burleigh Falls.

Christmas Story Chosen Topic At WA Meeting

ROSENEATH, Dec. 28—(ENS)—"The Christmas Legend of the Bethlehem Star," was the topic chosen by Rev. R. C. White, pastor of Roseneath United church, for the devotional period at the December meeting of the United Church WA, held in the township hall Wednesday evening. Members of the executive were joint hostesses.

The president, Mrs. Ford Dersy, presided with Mrs. Bart Thackeray, pianist. The minutes and correspondence were read by Mrs. Ivan Thackeray. The good cheer report was presented by Mrs. Arthur Braithwaite.

Twenty-six members answered the roll call. The first vice-president, Mrs. Harold George tendered her resignation and Mrs. Bart Thackeray was appointed to that office.

It was decided to donate $20 to the M and M fund of the United church and $10 to the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto.

It was also decided to have Sunshine Pals among the members for 1951. Mrs. Fred Norris, program convener, announced the following Christmas numbers: readings by Misses Helen Sandercock and aMry Skuce; a piano solo by Miss Mary Halstead; a vocal duet by Misses Mary Skuce and Mary Halstead, with Mrs. C. W. Varcoe, piano accompanist; Mrs. Lorne Thackery read "The Gift." Christmas carols were sung, with Mrs. Bart Thackeray playing piano accompaniment.

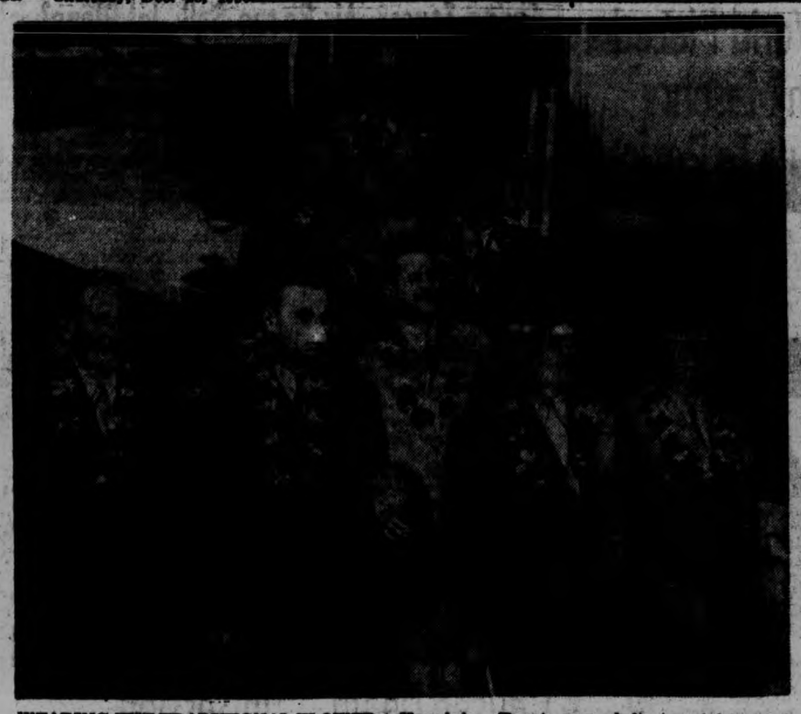

Mrs. Ivan Thackeray and Mr. Fred Norris were in charge of the Christmas gift exchange. There was an attendance of 34 members and visitors. Lunch was served by the executive.

Managing Director

HALIFAX, Dec. 28—(CP)—Appointment of Graham W. Dennis as managing director of the Halifax Herald, Ltd., publishers of the Halifax Chronicle-Herald and the Halifax Mail-Star, was announced Wednesday following a meeting of the board of directors. $400,000 Settlement

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 28 (AP)—Mrs. Mary Areta Beery Foyt, 52, former wife of the late Wallace Beery, Wednesday settled her claim against the movie stars estate for $400,000. She had asked $1,524,300 in charging that Beery defrauded her by concealing assets when they made a property settlement for their 1939 divorce. After payment of taxes, Beery's estate totalled $1,400,000.

Still Opposed To Pushing Seaway Plan

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 (AP).—Representative J. Harry McGregor (Rep., O.) says he still is opposed to building the proposed St. Lawrence seaway.

McGregor said he expects new legislation to authorize the huge project will be introduced soon after the 82nd Congress convenes Jan. 3.

The Ohioan said the proposal has come up just about every year during the 10 years he has been in Congress.

McGregor is a member of the House of Representatives public works committee, which has held hearings on the proposal for months at a time. He has made personal visits to the area in which the seaway would be built.

He said the war situation has strengthened his opposition.

"I'd rather see the materials and manpower necessary to build the project put to use on armaments and military equipment," McGregor told a reporter.

Primary Target

In addition, McGregor said that enemy bombers, should they attack the United States, could be expected to earmark such a water artery as a primary target.

Supporters of the seaway idea argue that the great Mesabi iron ore fields in Minnesota are rapidly being depleted. They say that the steel and fabricating industries along the Great Lakes and at Pittsburgh will be in serious trouble within a few years, unless ore can be brought in from Labrador and Venezuela.

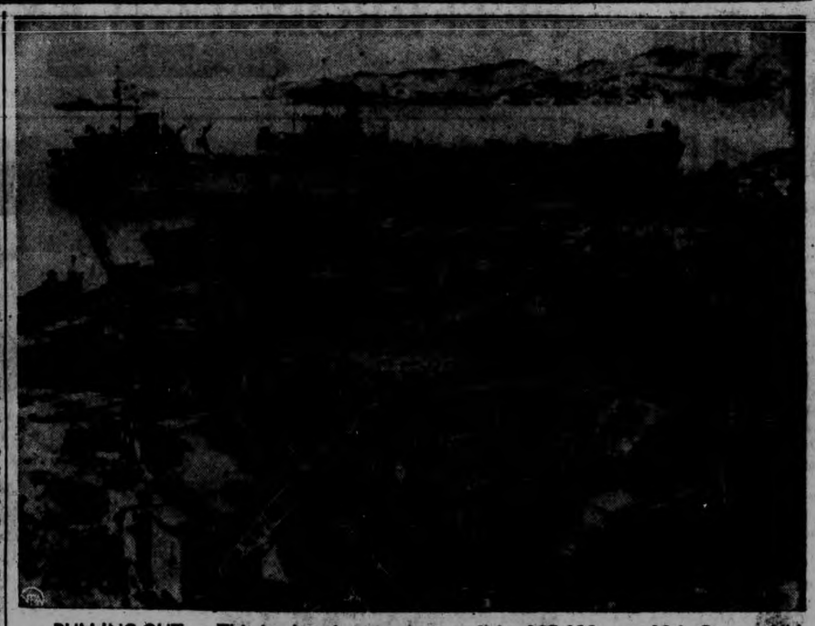

McGregor said "there still is plenty of land up there (in the Mesabi) that has not yet been surveyed for its ore content."

Expect 330 Fatalities

CHICAGO, Dec. 28—(AP)—The three-way New Year's holiday weekend will take 330 lives in traffic crashes in the United States, the National Safety Council estimated today. The forecast, covering immediate deaths occurring between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Monday, came on the heels of one of the bloodiest Christmas holidays in U.S. history when 545 motorists or pedestrians lost their lives.

Christmas Service

HASTINGS, Dec. 28—(ENS)—A large congregation attended Christmas worship at St. George's Anglican Church. Holy communion was celebrated by Rev. Rickard, formerly of Norwood. A choir of 17 voices accompanied by Miss D. Plant at the piano, sang "And There Were Shepherds."

Riddell-Whitmore Wedding Rites In Apsley Church

Trinity United Church, Apsley, was the setting for a pretty wedding Saturday afternoon when the Rev. Earl Whitmore of Pefferlaw performed the marriage of his cousin, Alga May Whitmore, to Ralph Mervin Riddell. The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Whitmore of Apsley and the groom is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Harford Riddell of Baldwin.

Traditional white satin was the bride's choice for her gown which was fashioned on princess lines with peplum and bertha collar trimmed with French frosted lace. Her fingertip veil was held in place with a pearl beaded tiara and she carried a bouquet of American beauty roses. Miss Flora Alexander of Mimico as her bridesmaid was gowned in midnight blue silk velvet with accessories to match and carried pink Talisman roses. Little Jean McCauley, niece of the bride, was flower girl in a dress of American beauty silk velvet and matching hat and carried a nosegay of 'mums and roses.

The groom was attended by Mr. Merlin Crowder of Baldwin and the ushers were Sidney McCauley and Ronald McDonald, both of Apsley.

The wedding march was played by Mrs. Goldie Newell of Lakefield. Before the ceremony Mrs. Ralph Fitzgerald of Apsley sang "I Love You Truly," and while the register was being signed she sang "Because."

A reception was held in the Apsley parish hall where dinner was later served to 75 guests.

For her going-away outfit Mrs. Riddell chose a navy gabardine suit with black accessories. The honeymoon trip included Belleville and other Eastern Ontario points. They will live at Jackson's Point, Ontario.

Envoy's Wife Grants Interview

LONDON, Dec. 28 (AP)—Mrs. Walter S. Gifford, wife of the new United States ambassador to Britain, created a diplomatic precedent of sorts Wednesday by holding a full-dress press conference.

Normally the wives of ambassadors prefer to be seen and not heard in this city, where diplomacy is a delicate and highly responsible occupation.

"My name is Augustine and let's have no more confusion about that," she said. "I am not very interesting."

There was a little manoeuvring about her age.

A woman reporter held out for a straight answer and Mrs. Gifford finally said: "I am 56."

On housekeeping, she confided: "I frequently say, although I know I shouldn't, that threading a needle makes my back ache. Cooking is fun, but I haven't much time for it."

Musical Concert At Anson House

The residents of Anson House were treated to a Christmas entertainment arranged by members of the board, and Mr. James Hamilton was the chairman, opening with a brief address.

Mrs. F. E. Hooper told the history of carol singing and this was followed with carol singing by the whole group, Miss A. Robinson, superintendent, accompanying on the piano.

Numbers by the "Barber Shop Quartette" of Messrs. Larry Maguire, Victor Farrant, Ronald Dalzell and Robert Baldwin with Mr. Ed. Murphy as leader, were received with great enthusiasm and the audience was most delighted when Mr. Murphy invited them to join in the singing.

The Cecil Searles' trio rendered beautiful music, Mr. Searles also playing a violin selection, Mr. Trethewey a number on the cello and Mrs. Searles an instrumental solo.

Two piano selections were played by Miss Sheila Young and a comic song skit presented by the three Shaw children.

The evening was concluded with singing "Silent Night."

Survey Shows TV Sets Not Harmful

By WAYNE OLIVER.

NEW YORK — (AP). — Like most innovations, television gets praise mixed with blame for all kinds of handicaps.

Perhaps the chief complaint over the new medium is that it hurts the eyes. But it is not television that hurts the eyes; it is excessive concentration, and that will bring eyestrain in the movies or even in the office and home.

The Journal of the American Medical Association said flatly: "Television in itself does not produce eyestrain."

Ohio state University polled more than 700 doctors in eight States in an effort to get a comprehensive report on this angle. The consensus was that television has no harmful effect on vision.

Learn How to Run It

Some of the doctors said that a few patients complained of eye strain which they blamed on television, but the average was less than 3½ per cent. And most of these reported their difficulties disappeared after they had learned how to tune in the set.

Another survey from the University of Pennsylvania said that the long range effect of television on sports attendance is not harmful, and in the long run may actually help to increase it.

Attendances Drop

Attendance figures in the National Baseball League were 1,459,000 lower this year than last. But among those suffering lower patronage were the Pittsburgh Pirates, the only major-league team whose games are not televised. And the only team showing a gain was the pennant-winning Philadelphia Phillies, whose games are televised.

Then there is the effect on movie theatre attendance. But the decline is of practically the same proportions in areas that have television and areas that don't have it.

Various reports have been heard of television viewing causing a drop in school children's grades. But a survey in Stamford, Conn., showed that only 9 per cent of children with lower grades blamed television. Another in Fort Worth, Texas, indicated an increase in scholarship among pupils whose homes have television.

Television has also been accused of causing people to do less reading, but a survey by two Princeton University researchers showed the average television set owner spends 3.1 hours a week in reading, compared with 2.5 hours for persons owning only radio sets.

Trustees of a library in Ohio blamed television for a decline in book borrowing. But the same library later decided to buy a set "for educational purposes."

One claim appears uncontested. That's the argument that television causes people to stay at home more often. The set makers and broadcasters are willing to plead guilty to that. Their answer is: "Is that bad?"

Meet God halfway when you pray

Do you know how to meet God halfway in your prayers? Do you realize the wisdom of adding "Nevertheless, not my will but Thine be done"?

In January Reader's Digest, Fulton Oursler tells how great men—like Lincoln—have learned to listen to God when they pray for guidance. How prayer brings inner harmony to the life of the humblest—how hard-boiled skeptics who study with an open mind become impressed with the results of prayer.

DOROTHY DIX

Sharp-tongued Financee Will Make Man Poor Wife

DEAR MISS DIX: The girl whom I am going with makes me so ridiculous that I have been made the laughing stock of my crowd. I love this girl, but when I tell her so we always get into a quarrel and it ends up by me getting the worst of the bargain. I am convinced that I can win her love if I am patient and bide my time, but is it worth the price I have to pay for being the goat of my crowd? Shall I continue to go with her or shall I find another girl who will treat me decently? J. L. A. H.

✦ ✦ ✦

ANSWER: Very likely the girl is in love with you and her ridicule of you is just her defense mechanism. She may not want to marry and settle down right now, so she scoffs at love. Or you may not be just the type of man she thought she would fall in love with and she is fighting against the attraction you have for her and won't admit it. But whatever her reason for making you the butt of her jests, your technique in handling the situation is all wrong.

Dorothy Dix

Give Her Own Medicine

Patience is not your play. Nor is submission. Neither is humility. What she needs is a dose of her own medicine. Turn the tables on her. Treat her rough. Wisecrack about her hats. Make sport of her dancing. Take it from me, son, and I've been a woman a long time and know all the answers to the secrets of the feminine heart, no woman ever falls in love with a man whom she can make look ridiculous.

Anyway, don't you think that a girl who finds pleasure in tormenting you and holding you up as a figure of fun before your crowd is a mighty poor bet as a wife? There is something essentially cruel in the nature of any one who finds pleasure in wounding the self-love of another and who is willing to stab to the heart one who loves her for the sake of getting a laugh. And if I were you I should not let myself in for a lifetime of being my wife's stooge.

What a man wants in a wife is a woman who will put him in an attractive light before the public, not one who will make him something to laugh at. So I should advise you to pass up the humorous lady in favor of one who appreciates your good points instead of turning the spotlight on your weak ones.

PERPLEXED.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a widower 37 years old with two children, one 8 and one 10. I am very much in love with a young girl 21 years old and she loves me and is willing to marry me. Her mother objects very strongly to our marriage and is doing everything possible to prevent it. We are thinking of marrying secretly as we feel that is the only way we could prevent scenes, as the mother has threatened several times to make trouble if we marry. Is this a wise thing for us to do?

✦ ✦ ✦

ANSWER: I think the girl's mother is right in doing everything she can in trying to prevent a highly inadvisable marriage, and that if she succeeds in breaking up the affair, both you and the girl will live to thank her.

To begin with, sixteen years is entirely too much difference between your ages. But if you were a bachelor, that would be your affair and you would have the right to take the risk of marrying a woman so much younger than yourself.

But when a man has children he has no right just to consider himself in choosing a wife. Their happiness and well-being come before his own and he should not jeopardize their whole lives by putting over them an unfit woman who takes the place of a mother to them.

The roles of the stepmother is the most difficult one that any woman ever undertakes. It requires almost superhuman wisdom and patience and self-control all qualities that no very young girl possesses.

No young girl is fit to be a stepmother, and if you marry one, you will bring down sorrow upon your own head, for you will live in a house of perpetual bickering and quarreling between her and your children. You will be constantly called upon to arbitrate the differences between them and you will be torn in pieces between them.

✦ ✦ ✦

DEAR MISS DIX: Will you please give us your opinion of the long versus the short engagement. THE GIRLS

✦ ✦ ✦

ANSWER: I think a long engagement is a mistake; that it is very trying on the nerves and affections of both the man and the woman, for it puts them in an unnatural position. They are neither bound nor free. They have not the authority over each other that a husband and wife have, yet they feel they have a right to control each other's actions. Furthermore, they are taking a long shot on the future and binding themselves to do something they may not want to do when the times comes.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Turkey Pie is Second Best Dress for Christmas Fowl

'I know the crowd. Everyone of them loves garlic".

That is how Dorothy assured me that she was right in putting two whole cloves of garlic, chopped, in her meat balls for spaghetti and meat balls.

Now I too have a crowd that I know. At Christmas and New Year's time they want to put off coming to our house until there are some turkey leftovers, and from these they want me to make a turkey pie.

The success of my turkey pie is not a mystery. I try to remember to keep the pieces of meat big, and to end up at the table with plenty of gravy under the pie crust.

A dry meat pie is not a success.

Turkey Pie

(With Pastry Crust and with Biscuit Crust)

Six servings: Three cups leftover turkey meat cut in pieces not smaller than 2 inches long and 1 inch wide roughly, 2½ cups turkey broth or diluted gravy, ¾ cup top milk, 5 tablespoons flour (or 6 if you want the gravy quite thick), 1½ cups chopped celery, 1 cup drained canned peas or fresh frozen, ¼ cup chopped or grated onion. Mix together green pepper is optional, 3 tablespoons of finely chopped the turkey broth, top milk and add some salt and pepper if needed. Mix the flour with a little cold milk to make a paste and stir it into the brother and milk until thick. Remove from heat and add remaining ingredients. If frozen peas are added mixture should be kept hot over boiling water, as it takes them too long to thaw to cook properly when they are put in oven. Pour turkey mixture into large casserole. (If you are using pastry the side of the casserole should be lined with it). Put pastry crust or cut out biscuits on top (see both below) and bake at 450 deg. Fahr. for 10 minutes and reduce heat to 400 for another 15 or 20 minutes.

Rich Plain Pastry

Two cups pastry flour, ½ cup good quality lard or shortening, ¼ cup butter or margarine, ¾ teaspoon salt, ice water. Cut the lard or shortening into the flour and salt until it is a crumbly mixture. Add ice water—about 6 tablespoons—to make dough just hold together. Roll out on floured board. Place butter on rolls ed out pastry in dots, fold pastry over twice, and roll out again. Fold twice, wrap in wax paper and chill. Roll out to desired shapes—that is lining for sides of casserole an gashed top. Seal top to walls of pastry by moistening with water.

Biscuits For Biscuit Topping

Plain: Two cups of cake flour, 4 or 5 teaspoons baking powder, ¾ teaspoon salt are sifted together; work into these 2 or 4 tablespoons shortening or butter, and add just enough milk—about 2-3 cup to moisten. Pat out on floured board and cut out with 2-inch floured biscuit cutter.

Extra Fine Biscuits: Two cups all-purpose flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon cream of tartar, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons sugar, ½ cup best shortening or butter or margarine, 2-3 cup milk. Mix same as plain biscuits above.

NOTE: These extra fine biscuits may be used for tea biscuits. A delicious variation is to substitute some of the shortening with ½ to 2-3 cup grated old dry cheese.

6—In Memoriams

HAMILTON—In loving memory of mother, who passed on Dec. 28, 1936.
In our hearts your memory lingers,
Sweet and tender, fond and true,
There is not a day dear mother,
That we do not think of you.
—Ever remembered by daughters, Minnie and Elizabeth.

LITTLE—In loving memory of a beloved husband and father, Leonard Little, who passed away Dec. 28, 1949.
God saw what was before him,
And what he had to bear.
So smiling down upon him
He took him in His care.
So tears in our eyes do not glisten,
And our faces are not always sad.
There is never a night or a morning
But we think of the husband and dad we had.
—Sadly missed by wife Muritta and daughters, Marion, Annette, Doris and sons Bobby, Jimmie and Jackie.

Death Penalty Restored After 9 Years

By J. C. GRAHAM
Canadian Press Correspondent

WELLINGTON, N.Z. — (CP) — After nine years without a death penalty for murder, New Zealand will restore capital punishment under a bill passed by the House of Representatives. It is virtually certain to be passed by the Upper House also.

Capital punishment was abolished in 1941 by the Labor regime as a policy measure. Actually no persons convicted of murder had been hanged for the six previous years, as the Labor government had commuted all death sentences to life imprisonment from the time it took office.

The results have been a source of controversy ever since. Figures have been produced to show that there has been a big increase in killings since the death penalty was abolished, whereas opponents of capital punishment have taken other figures over different periods to show that the proportions of murders per head of population has decreased.

B. L. Dallard, former Under-Secretary of Justice, claims that the best comparison can be made by taking the 16 years before 1935, when the annual average of murders was 10.5, and the eight years after 1941, when the annual average was 12.75.

The bill for restoration of the death penalty was brought forward by the National Party government in line with its election policy. When evidence on the bill was heard by a select committee of both houses, many witnesses appeared on both sides. Restoration of capital punishment was recommended by the Under-Secretary of Justice, the Commissioner of Police, the Director-General of Mental Hospitals, and other persons closely associated with criminal administration. They maintained that the death penalty definitely acted as a deterrent.

Restoration of the death penalty was opposed chiefly by church organizations and the Howard League for Penal Reform. They maintained that there was no proof that murders had increased and that to reintroduce the death penalty would be a retrograde step.

The select committee reported in favor of the bill and the House of Representatives passed it by 38 votes to 31. The government allowed a free vote on the issue, but only one government member voted with the Labor party against it.

The government undertook to make an inquiry into whether a more humane way of carrying out the death penalty than hanging could be found.

A bill will also be introduced during the present session to restore corporal punishment for certain crimes of violence. This also was abolished by the Labor party during its term of office and it has indicated that it will maintain its opposition when the bill is brought forward.

Many Parties Given Aged At Counties Home

COBOURG, Dec. 28 (ENS) — The Counties Home for the Aged was the scene of many parties for the old folk during the week which preceded Christmas and also on Christmas Day. The fun for the old people started on Wednesday, December 20, at which time the Barbershop Quartette came up and presented a program of song.

The same evening the local Legion Auxiliary brought up treats for the inmates. Next day the United Mission Church of Port Hope gave candies and fruit to the people in the Home and also presented a program of music.

The regular Christmas tree was held on December 22 at which time the inmates received gifts. Candy for the party came from the members of Enniskillen church. The Kiwanis Club sent more candy and fruit on Saturday and on Christmas Day the old people were given a bountiful Christmas dinner.

Strikers Tighten Watch On Irish Banks

DUBLIN, Dec. 28 (Reuters) — Striking bank employees posted observers today at all banks in the Republic of Ireland's 26 counties after one of their leaders had alleged that some branches had been handing out money at back doors.

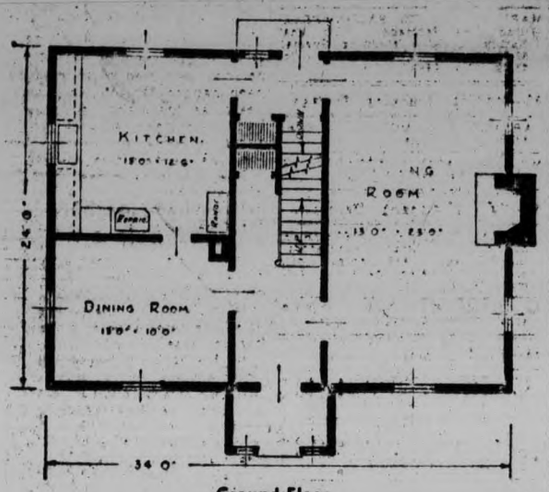

The government closed all banks for four days starting Wednesday at the banks' request because 5,000 bank employees announced they would not return after the Christmas holidays until salary cuts made in 1941 were restored.

The banks have refused the demands, claiming that the officials have repudiated an agreement made Dec. 31, 1948.

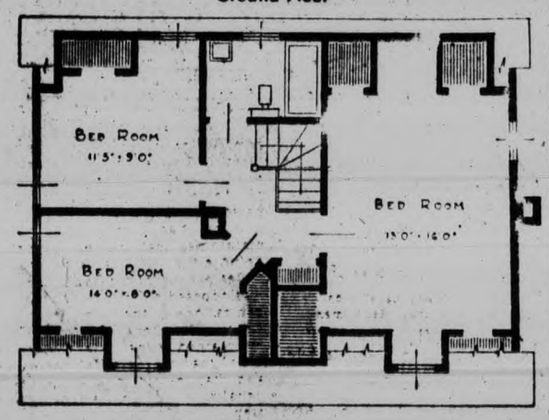

Mating Dance

WINNIPEG (CP). — A film showing the mating dance of the prairie chicken has been shown to members of the ornithology section of the Manitoba Natural History Society. The film was partly made at Estevan, Sask.

Ground Floor

Second Floor

HOUSE No. 269 — This sparkling white clapboard house shows off well on its site high on a hill, with views in every direction. Shutters and roof are blue-black. The centre-hall plan provides three big rooms on the first floor. As shown in the sketch, there is ample space in the kitchen for breakfast table and chairs without crowding the food preparation area. Upstairs we find three bedrooms, each with ample closet accommodation and window openings. Very few homes of this size can boast a master bedroom like this one! The single bathroom is particularly well placed for convenience for both floors. For working plans, write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

Utilizing Your Attic Space As An Extra Bedroom

The idea of utilizing your attic space for nothing more important than storing old trunks and discarded mementos went out when modern insulation boards came in.

Making over an attack into an extra bedroom, a study, a hobby room, or even a bathroom is no longer a major operation. You can now insulate your attic and create added housing space at the same time and at a comparatively moderate cost.

The sloping ceilings can actually be an added charm note. The irregularities caused by the chimney or supporting beams can be blessings in disguise. Play them up. Interesting effects can be achieved by the new wallboards, or by wallpaper panels, or even by plastering spaces between beams.

Get Competent Advice

Don't let the "before" appearance of your attic scare you. Call in your material supply dealer or your contractor and get his advice. He may suggest the enlargement of a window at the gable end which may make unnecessary a dormer, or he, may have ideas about enlarging a gabled dormer into a shed dormer for added light. He can help you plan your room arrangement. He can help you devise ways to utilize the space behind the perpendicular panels for all the storage you need. Or he may suggest the segregation of one part of the attic for moth proof closets, and the remainder for living.

Many Decorative Effects

The new insulating panels can be utilized in their natural colors, or they can be painted any colour you wish Thanks to the ingenuity of manufacturers, the joints between boards can now be practically disguised. They will effectively seal out dust, wind and noise and look attractive as well. Adequate attic insulation can reduce your fuel bill as high as 30 per cent.

Because attic rooms are from the main parts of your home you can afford your less conservative decorative ideas. You can have those flaming colors there, if you like. And this remoteness from the hurly burly of living can also make such rooms a priceless retreat. A comfortable chair, a table, a lamp, and a shelf of books can may any attic room a paradise for noise-harrassed housewives, or tired business men.

Quality In The Entrance

Perhaps the first things you notice about a man are his hat and necktie and one of the very first items that catches your eye about a house is the front entry not just the front door, but the entire assembly which composes the entrance. In other words, your front door probably has more influence in creating the "first-night" impression of your home than any other single item aside from the shape of the house itself.

Early Colonial builders in Canada and the United States, who functioned as both carpenters and designers, were well aware of the importance of the entry from an architectural standpoint. They spent countless hours painstakingly reproducing, in flawless carpentry and native woods, the classical front entrances of contemporary Georgian houses in England. Two hundred years have seen little improvement on the door and entryways designed and executed by these master artisans. The specimens of their work which have come down to us are used today as patterns by the millwork manufacturers whose factories do by machinery detail work which originally consumed weeks of hand work.

The home builder today may thus buy for his new home a design of classical beauty created by a Colonial craftsman, but produced with the economy of standardized factory methods. Factory-built entrance assemblies are known as "stock" millwork in that they are ready-made and not produced specially for a given building job. Most millwork factories limit the number of entrance designs available to no more than a dozen with the result that they can be sold for one-third to one-half the cost of producing a specially designed entrance for a given job.

Catalogues issued by millwork manufacturers are obtainable from many lumber merchants. They offer a range of "stock" entrances intended to be used for Colonial, Dutch Colonial, English, and French types of residential architecture.

When you are having your new home planned or when you are selecting plans from a plan book, remember that even a modest home can be greatly improved with a well-proportioned "architectural" entrance. In many small homes it is this one feature which leads the rest of the house out of the commonplace class.

May Restore Controls In UK Fish Markets

LONDON, Dec. 28 (Reuters)—Britain's meat shortage is creating such a demand for fish that the government may consider restoring prices controls in the fish markets at the new year, it was learned today.

Fish was freed of price controls last April. Prices first rose sharply then fell for a time when meat was fairly plentiful.

Recently they have climbed again, and in many cases are from a third to a half higher than the old controlled rates.

FOOD IN FLIGHT FROM REDS—Korean women work feverishly to load a ship before boarding Korean-manned vessels in mass exodus from burning Hungnam and Hamhung. UN forces have formed tight defense perimeter around Hungnam, port for abandoned Hamhung.

6 County Council Changes But Only One Newcomer

The 1951 Peterborough County Council will have six changes among the 18 councillors, but only one man will be a newcomer. He is David McIntyre, deputy-reeve of Otonabee.

Eleven of the 1950 councillors were returned for the coming year by acclamation, and Charles Flynn, who is replacing Gale Elliott as reeve of Harvey, also got in without an election.

One of the biggest changes will be the absence of Melville Johnston of North Monaghan. Mr. Johnston, one of the key men in deciding the county's business, was defeated by Willard G. Waterman as he was completing his 12th term as reeve. Mr. Waterman, a former North Monaghan councillor and deputy - reeve, polled 205 votes to Mr. Johnston's 120.

Otonabee Changes

Dick Stewart replaces Harry Reid as reeve of Otonabee. Mr. Stewart was deputy-reeve for 1949 and 1950, but this year made a successful bid for the 1951 reeveship. He defeated Mr. Reid by 627 votes to 454 in a "fairly light" poll. Mr. Reid held office for the last two years.

Dave McIntyre, the only newcomer to the County Council, is the 1951 deputy-reeve. He defeated his fellow Otonabee Township councillor, Roy Spears, by 32 votes.

A former warden of Peterborough County is returning to Council. He is Ernest W. Seeney, who defeated Ernest J. Leeson by 30 votes—288 to 258 — for the Havelock reeveship. Mr. Leeson has had his ups and downs while running for reeve, having been elected six times and defeated six times.

Reeve-elect Seeney temporarily retired from office in 1945 after serving 17 consecutive years—10 as reeve and seven as councillor. He was warden of Peterborough County in 1941.

Another Veteran

Another veteran of municipal politics, returning to Council after an absence of two years, is W. E. Griffiths of Belmont-Methuen. Ross Barrons, who defeated Mr. Griffiths for the reeveship in the 1949 elections, dropped out this year. This brought on a two-way fight for reeve, and Mr. Griffiths, after a strenuous campaign, defeated Donald Anderson, a 1950 Belmont-Methuen councillor, by 313 votes to 189.

Charles Flynn, reeve of Harvey Township in 1948, returns this year by acclamation after Gale Elliott dropped out of the running. Mr. Elliott defeated Mr. Flynn in the 1949 elections, was returned by acclamation in 1950, but decided not to run in 1951.

Taking over from his predecessor, Mr. Flynn will probably press hard for work to get under way on a causeway at Gannon's Narrows. The Department of Highways said their engineers would take soundings there this winter.

Begins 7th Term

Norman Wilson, reeve of Burleigh-Anstruther, and warden of the county, is beginning his 7th term. He edged out Norman Bolton, a former township councillor, by the narrowest of margins—a single vote. Mr. Wilson polled 169 and Mr. Bolton 168.

Voting was heavy, and it was the closest election in the history of the tow hip. Boosted assessment, causing some dissatisfaction among ratepayers, is believed to have been the cause of the close contest.

Reeve Roland Tedford and Deputy - Reeve Loyola Moloney were returned by acclamation at the recent Douro nominations. Both are starting second terms. The office of deputy-reeve was created in 1950 when Douro, for the first time, had enough electors to make it eligible for two votes on the County Council.

Deputy-Reeveship

(Computing the number of electors in a municipality, to determine its voting strength in the County Council, the clerk must count only owners, tenants and farmers' sons. If the number is more than 1,000 a deputy-reeve is allowed; if more than 2,000 the reeve gets two votes; and if more than 3,000 the deputy-reeve gets two votes. In Peterborough County only Smith has three votes, though Otonabee is on the border line, and next year may pass the 2,000 mark.)

Clive Hoard of Chandos is beginning his first full term. He completed the unexpired portion of Glen Nichols, who resigned the reeveship during the summer. At the 1951 nomination meeting Mr. Hoard was returned by acclamation.

In Smith

In Smith Reeve Ross Harrison is beginning his third full term. He was elected reeve early in 1948, after the death of Gilbert McIlmoyl made he reeveship vacant.

Gordon Fitzgerald is starting his second term as deputy reeve.

Apple-Picker Admits Strangling Showgirl

NEW YORK, Dec. 28 (AP) — An upstate New York apple-picker admitted today after a night of questioning, police said, that he strangled Evelyn (Yvonne) Hughes, former Ziegfeld Follies showgirl.

Police quoted Birger Nordkvist as saying he "blew his top" when the woman resisted his advances in his Manhattan hotel room.

"I remember taking my handkerchief and putting it around her neck and pulling tight," he was quoted as saying. "I remember putting a scarf in her mouth."

The body of the brunette actress was found Tuesday morning in a hotel.

Old Boys' Game To Open PCVS Basketball

Sixteen "old boys" will play Friday night at the Collegiate against the PCVS senior "A" basketball team in their annual exhibition match. Most of the 16 fall into two groups, those who played senior here in 1946 and those who were on the 1949 championship team.

From the 1946 squad are Jack Matthews, Al Menzies, Doug Plunkett, Bill Thompson and Paul Estlick. The 1949 representatives include Don Griffin, Henry Dinsdale, Hugh Dibben, Don Richardson, Carl Sergeant and Tom Taylor. In addition, Doug McKee, Clare Connell and Paul Welsh of 1948 will play along with Bob Nelson of '47 juniors and Darrell Ackford of last year's seniors. The game will be 48 minuates, divided into six periods.

This game marks the opening of the 1951 basketball season at PCVS. Besides the senior contest, the junior "A" PCVS boys will see some action. These members of this year's team will be playing: Neil Thompson, Al Northcott, Paul Frise, Bryon Young, Ted Evans, Ted Cranfield, Don Ash and Al McIlraith of the seniors; and Dave Langhorne, Lionel Hempstead, Jim Hendry, Murray Grafstein, Larry Cunningham, Reg. Fowler and Creighton Johnston from the juniors.

BANDING TOGETHER—In their first appearance before the news camera since their recent wedding, Shirley Temple and her new husband, Charles Black, show off their wedding rings at his parents' San Francisco home. The 22-year-old screen star said she is giving up her career and will devote herself to being a housewife and taking care of her daughter.

Couple Is Highly Honored On Golden Wedding Day

A happy gathering took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Evans Storey, 3rd Concession Emily, on the occasion of their Golden Wedding Anniversary, Dec. 19.

Mr. and Mrs. Storey have both lived in the immediate vicinity all their lives Mr. Storey was born and still lives on the Storey homestead, where the fourth generation has now been born. He is the youngest and only surviving member of his family, son of the late David Storey and Mary Ann Evans.

Mrs. Storey the former Edith Jackson, daughter of the late William Jackson and Bevin Mann, was born on the Jackson homestead, Orange Corners, where her brother Herbert Jackson still lives.

They have one son Esmond E. Storey, East Emily, and two daughters Mrs. Roy Miller (Helen) and Mrs. Frank Meegan (Marion) both of Toronto, also three grandsons Alan and Ray Storey and Bobby Miller. Both have always been active members of Bethel United Church and held many offices in their church.

Mrs. Storey is a charter member, also a life member, of the W.A. and was a Sunday School teacher for 55 years. An ardent lover of flowers, many baskets find the way to the church and to the homes of sick or shut-in friends.

To commence the activities of the celebration the immediate family enjoyed a sumptuous turkey dinner served in the green room of the YWCA, Peterborough. When they arrived home, first guests from Colborne greeted them and during the afternoon and evening almost 200 called to congratulate the couple. Many telephone calls were received but the highlight of the afternoon was a telegram of congratulation from the Governor-General and Viscountess Alexander.

Among the gifts received was a purse of money from the family, a beautiful lounge chair presented by the Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt on behalf of the Bethel congregation. Mrs. Elwood Faulkner read an address and Mrs. George McCague presented a purse of money from the neighbors, a walnut chime clock from Mrs. Storey's brother and sisters, nephews and neices also two woollen blankets from Mr. Storey's nephews and neices. Many gifts of cut flowers, potted plants, china, silver and candy were received.

During the afternoon and evening solos were rendered by Ray Storey also piano duets by Barbara and Alden Mann. Among the guests were several who attended the wedding fifty years ago. Mrs. Gordon Mann, the bridesmaid, was present, but the groomsman, Mr. Harry Evans of Toronto was unable to attend.

The table with a beautiful lace cloth was centered by a four-tier wedding cake made by the daughters of the house. Silver tea services were at each end and tea was poured by Mrs. Gordon Mann, Mrs. Herbert Jackson and Mrs. Will Dawson. Those assisting with the refreshments were daughters Helen and Marion, Mrs. Esmond Storey, Mrs. Harry Jackson, Mrs. Reg. McMullen and Mrs. Clarence Mann.

Mrs. Joseph Mann and Mr. Ray Storey welcomed the guests and Alan Storey attended to the guest book. Friends were present from Toronto, Oakwood, Lindsay, Omemee, Peterborough and Colborne.

Barn Destroyed, 27 Head Of Cattle Lost

LINDSAY, Dec. 28. — A disastrous fire struck Wednesday, virtually wiping out the livestock holdings of Lorne Snodden, Valentia. The fire was first noticed by Snodden's son "Bob," who was sleeping upstairs.

Rousing around 4 a.m. he noticed a reflection on his bedroom wall. Going to the window he discovered his father's barn was afire, part of the roof having already fallen in. The Snodden farm is located 2½ miles south of Valentia. The barn was a large steel sheathed structure.

While the Lindsay Fire dept. was called and responded, there was nothing it could do to save the main building. Neighbors say it did an effective job of saving a nearby driving shed and pig pen. The home was not reported to have been endangered.

Lost in the fire were 12 milk cows, (his entire herd), 15 young cattle, 20 small pigs, and one sow. All hay and straw, said to have been a large quantity, was also destroyed. Equipment burned included the Snodden's milking machine, separator and water pumping equipment installed in the oarn.

Saved were three fat cattle, 10 young cattle and two horses.

Cause of the fire is undetermined and it is reported that some insurance was carried on the building, equipment and livestock.

Cargo Steamer Taken Off Reef

WELLINGTON, N.Z., Dec. 28 (Reuters)—The Montreal cargo steamer Ivor Jenny today was reported refloated from a dangerous reef about 100 miles from Suva, Fiji, where she went aground Tuesday.

A message from Suva said the 7-126-ton ship was expected to arrive there Friday.

The Ivor Jenny, which left London Nov. 6 with general cargo for Wellington, was reported on fire between Panama and Suva before she went aground.

Two attempts to refloat her under her own steam failed Wednesday.

GM Trying Out Futuristic Ideas On Cars

By DAVID J. WILKIE

DETROIT, Dec. 28—(AP)— A lot of futuristic ideas about automobiles are to be tried out in a new experimental test car being built by General Motors.

The brain child of Harley J. Earl, G.M. vice-president in charge of styling, the car is a low, sleek sports unit with sweeping lines that give it the appearance of many recent concepts of "the car of the future." Earl says it is the car of the future only in the sense that some of its design or mechanical features may appear some day in standard autos.

Magnesium and aluminum alloys will be used in constructing the car, which has been named Le Sabre. It will be powered with an experimental V-8 engine, with 10-to-1 compression ratio plus a super-charger. It will have a dual fuel system to permit injection of enriched fuel at certain speed levels. The engine will develop more than 300 horsepower with supercharger.

There will be a special torque converter of the type used in GM's Buick line.

Weight Held Down

Le Sabre will weigh about 3,000 pounds, the weight being held down by use of heat-treated magnesium and aluminum alloys in body and engine construction.

In appearance the experimental car, a two-seater, brings to mind the sweeping lines of a jet aircraft. The body is only 36¼ inches high at the cowl and 50 inches high with the convertible top raised. Wheelbase is 115 inches but over-all length is 200 inches. Despite the low profile the car's ground clearance is six inches.

Most of the cars almost-fantastic appearance comes from the long simulated jet-type tail cone with long rear fenders that have twin tail fins. In the tail cone is centred a "spinner" or bomb-shape hub that serves as a rear bumper.

The twin tail fins house aircraft-type 20-gallon rubberized fuel cells. One is used for gasoline and the other for methyl alcohol.

Le Sabre has been in development four years. Its mechanical and styling ideas have been assembled from thoughts G.M. designers have sketched on drawing boards and discussed in engineering shop talk.

Ruest Files Appeal

QUEBEC, Dec. 28 (CP)—Genereux Ruest, 54-year-old Quebec watchmaker, Wednesday appealed his murder conviction and death sentence in the Sept. 9, 1949, time-bomb destruction of an airliner. The appeal will be heard at the next term of Quebec Court of Appeals which starts in February. He is under sentence to be hanged March 16.

A NATION-WIDE search was under way today for the historic Stone of Scone, which was ripped out of the Coronation Chair in the Poet's Corner of Westminster Abbey and hauled away before dawn on Christmas Day. The famous Stone of Scone, which has disappeared from Westminster Abbey, is shown under the coronation chair of the Kings of England.

$10,000 In Prizes Offered For Industrial Designs

By FORBES RHUDE,
Canadian Press Business Editor.

Industrial design, a relatively-undeveloped profession in Canada is getting a boost from a competition for $10,000 in prizes.

The competition is being held under the auspices of the National Industrial Design committee, the National Gallery of Canada, Ottawa.

Entrants may submit designs for any manufactured object for use in house or garden, or for any accessory in the house itself, which forms part of normal living requirements.

There will be two classes, one for products made basically of aluminum, and one for products made basically of wood; though auxiliary use of other materials is allowable.

Each class will get three prizes: $2,500, $1,500, $1,000. Half the money is being put up by the National Gallery and the other half in equal shares by the Canadian Lumbermen's Association and the Aluminum Company of Canada.

First Attempt

D. W. Buchanan, secretary of the Industrial Design committee, comments:

"This is the first contest of its kind in Canada. Our members consider this competition our most important venture to date. This is because we now have conclusively demonstrated that industry in Canada is willing to share with government the cost of promotional activities directed towards furthering design of Canadian products. . ."

The committee hopes that other branches of industry will come into similar competitions in future years and make them an annual event.

The present competition will close next March 15 and awards will be made by April 15 by the following jury: Ernest Cormier, architect, engineer, Montreal; L. V. Randall, industrial banker and professor of art, University of Montreal; J. K. E. Cox, Aluminum Company of Canada, Toronto; W. J. Le Clair, secretary-manager Canadian Lumbermen's Association, Ottawa; and Serge Chermayeff, director of the Institute of Design, Chicago.

Canadian-Made

The contest is open to residents of Canada, and the products must be made of Canadian material, produced in Canada. They must conform to the basic principles of good industrial design, which are: Satisfactory relation between function and appearance; honest use of material; convenience in handling; durability; ease of production.

The industrial design committee was formed in 1948 and is a national advisory body of manufacturers, retailers, designers, research and educational officials, formed to promote the cause of good design in Canadian manufactured goods, acting in co-operation with the industrial design section of the National Gallery.

Its present chairman is W. A. Trott of Winnipeg, who recently succeeded Donald B. Cruikshank of Ottawa.

The committee's objective is to encourage development of designs for manufactured goods which will make them attractive not only at home, but also abroad in competition with the goods of other countries.

Trade With China

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 (AP) The United States bought $19,600,000 worth of raw materials from China in October, the Commerce Department reported Wednesday. That was $5,000,000 more than September. These totals were registered before the Chinese Reds clamped a ban against trade with the U.S. in retaliation for similar action by this country.

Holy Door Sealed

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 28 (AP) —The work of sealing up the Holy Door of St. Peter's basilica, symbolically closed Christmas Eve by the Pope to end the 1950 Holy Year Jubilee, was completed Wednesday. Unless a special jubilee is called, it will not be opened again until the 1975 Holy Year begins.

BELGRADE, Dec. 28 (AP)—The official Belgrade radio said a Romanian officer was shot to death Wednesday for trespassing on Yugoslav territory and 150 Romanian soldiers fired "many shots" across the border in an attempt to recover the officer's body.

Old Cowboy Dies

HICO, Tex., Dec. 28 (AP)—An old cowboy who claimed to be Billy the Kid of New Mexico shooting fame, died Wednesday with his boots on. He was O. L. (Brushy Bill) Roberts, who was walking along the streets of Hico at noon Wednesday when he fell and died of a heart attack.

Pays $100 Fine

TORONTO, Dec. 28 (CP) — A 34-year-old man Wednesday was fined $100 for violating regulations of the Ontario Securities Commission. The Crown said that Nathan Fields, when applying for a licence to trade in securities, "deliberately concealed" the fact that, when 19, he was fined $20 for shooting on Sunday.

Sunday School Gives Christmas Concert

COLDSPRINGS, Dec. 28 (ENS) —The annual Christmas program was held at St. Pauls Sunday school on Sunday, Dec. 24th.

Rev. P. C. Brown presided over a short program, which opened with the carol "Hark the Herald Angels Sing" and included prayer by Rev. Brown, "Away in a Manger," recitation by Roy Turk, Christmas song trio by Marlene Turk, Elaine and Viva Minifie; a reading on "One Christmas Eve", solo by Linda Turk, "A Christmas Lullaby," reading by Margaret Lang. A Christmas offering was taken in aid of needy children. Attendance prizes were given out, junior prizes going to Garth Gordon, Kathryn Harper and Larry McIntosh; intermediate to Nadine Morrison and Robin Maughan. Each teacher distributed gifts to their members. All joined in singing "Silent Night."

Consult Chicken Coop About Husbands

FRANKFURT, Dec. 28—(Reuters)—Unmarried girls in some German villages have been consulting chickens to learn how long they'll have to wait to find a husband. According to custom, the maidens troop out to the henhouse and knock on the coop. If the rooster responds first, the girl can expect to find a mate right away. If the hen cackles she will have to wait another year.

STRATFORD-ON-AVON, England, Dec. 28 (Reuters)—Shakespeare lovers the world over are being asked by the mayor of Stratford-on-Avon to contribute £33,000 ($99,000) to restore and furnish Hall's Croft, home of Shakespeare's daughter Susanna.

Have No Obligations

BONN, Germany, Dec. 28 (Reuters)—British officials said here Wednesday the western allies had no objection to West Germany answering East German offers of a round-table conference to restore German unity. East German premier Otto Grotewohl suggested in a newspaper article Sunday that representatives of West and East Germany get together for talks without waiting for a meeting of the "big four" foreign ministers.

Check On Russia

CALAIS, Me., Dec. 28—(AP)—Sumner Pike, United States atomic energy commissioner, said Wednesday that new atomic weapon developments by the U.S. in the next few years will keep Russia from "being too aggressive." Pike said the U.S. is "definitely ahead of Russia in development of atomic weapons." He told Calais Rotarians, however, that there is no way of telling exactly how far Russia has gone.

Montreal Leads Contributions To Air Operations

MONTREAL, Dec. 28 (CP). — Montreal came to the fore in 1950 in her contributions to civil and military aviation.

International air co-operation, defence production and sending of air transport to the Far East were highlights of the year.

Montreal became the headquarters of world aviation last June with official opening of the 10-storey International Aviation Building, presenting solid proof that representatives of more than 40 countries could work and plan together for improvement of air communications.

Alongside ICAO came the International Air Transport Association, made up of 70 commercial air lines whose systems cover the globe. Here, too, co-operation reached a high peak in formulation of operating ethics and practices acceptable in all parts of the world.

Other aspects included conversion of a Montreal aircraft plant into production of first-line jet fighter planes, opening of a direct air link between Canada and France, and, tragically, the greatest disaster to befall Canadian aviation.

Switch To Jets

Early in the year, Canadair Ltd. completed contracts for passenger aircraft and switched to build the jet-propelled F-86 Sabre, United States-designed plane said to be the world's fastest.

On the tragic side of the 1950 Montreal ledger was the crash of a DC-4 Skymaster, operated by Curtiss-Reid Air Tours here, into the French Alps while returning to base from Rome with Holy Year pilgrims.

The death toll of 58 persons was Canada's largest tragedy in civil aviation.

The RCAF also had a busy year and one of the most important events was the sending in August of a transport squadron to the Far East to fly men and supplies in the Korean airlift.

Recommend Increase In Legislature Pay

TORONTO, Dec. 28 (CP). —Increased salaries for members of the Ontario Legislature will be recommended by a select committee now studying members' indemnities, it was reported Wednesday in political circles.

The committee is reported prepared to recommend increases of $2,000 for cabinet ministers and $600 for members that would raise a cabinet minister's compensation to $10,000 and a member's to $3,600.

The $2,000 increase for cabinet ministers would restore a cut made in 1934 by former Premier Mitchell Hepburn.

Authorizes Masses

QUEBEC, Dec. 28 (CP)—The Most Rev. Maurice Roy, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Quebec, Wednesday authorized midnight masses Dec. 31 so Quebecers can greet the New Year with prayers for peace. Archbishop Roy said that masses may be celebrated in the early hours of New Year's day after an hour's prayers for peace from 11 p.m. to midnight Dec. 31.

The Pontiff was the first to enter St. Peter's through the Holy Door last Christmas Eve, and the last to leave through the same door in the world's largest church this Christmas Eve. The ceremony marked the end of the church's 25th Holy Year.

Millionaire Acquires 2 New Sons-in-Law

HOUSTON, Tex., Dec. 28 (AP). —Multi-millionaire Glenn McCarthy had two new sons-in-law Wednesday night—one a son of a banker, the other a son of a shoe repairman.

Mary Margaret, 19, oldest of five McCarthy children, was married in an elaborate church ceremany a few hours after her oilman father confirmed the elopement of another daughter, Glenna Lee, 17.

Mary Margaret became the bride of Harry Richards, Jr., son of a Houston banker. Glenna Lee was the matron of honor.

Glenna Lee and George Pontikes, 19, son of a Houston shoe repair shop owner, were married by a Waco, Tex., justice of the peace Dec. 2.

McCarthy said the Waco marriage was a "surprise" to him although the couple had been seen together at many social functions in recent months.

NameBetteDavis Best Actress

NEW YORK, Dec. 28 (AP). — The movie "All About Eve" Wednesday was named the best picture of 1950 by New York film critics.

The star of the film, Bette Davis, was named best actress and the director, Joseph L. Mankiewicz, was cited as the year's best.

Gregory Peck was selected as best actor of the year for his role as an air force general in "Twelve o'Clock High."

"All About Eve" dealt with an aging actress and her younger rival.

Gloria Swanson's comeback picture, "Sunset Boulevard" was runner-up in the voting, and one ballot each was cast for "Asphalt Jungle" and "Devil's Doorway."

The critics selected a best foreign film of 1950 the trilogy that included "The Miracle," the Roberto Rosselini film banned last week by the New York Licence Commission on the grounds it was "blasphemous."

Felt Rundown; Suffered Stomach Gas; Indigestion

Got Bilious Attacks, Dizzy Spells. Also Backache and Sore Limbs, Joints. Nerves On Edge. Couldn't Sleep. Says Syntona Helped Her.

MRS. CARRIE JAMES

"For several years I suffered with stomach troubles and constipation, but now I have obtained grand results by taking Syntona Herbal Compound," said Mrs. Carrie James, well known London, Ontario, woman, who resides at 59 Euclid Avenue.

"After my meals I would bloat with gas, sour risings came up in my throat and I would get a full, heavy feeling across my chest. Heartburn became very bad and I was subject to throbbing headaches, bilious attacks and awful dizzy spells. It seemed that my entire system became rundown, as I couldn't get my proper sleep at night, suffered from backache and pains set in my limbs, joints and muscles.

"It was only after several of my friends had told me about Syntona that I decided to try this medicine, but now I am sorry I didn't start using it sooner. For the first time I am relieved of the stomach disorders so I can enjoy my meals once more. Gas, fullness, sour risings are cleared up and I am now free of heartburn, headache and dizzy feelings, also my nerves are calmed down so I sleep soundly and feel ever so much better in the mornings. The aches and pains in my back and elsewhere gradually went away.

"I am very grateful for this relief Syntona gave me and I will recommend it to others suffering this same way."

Thousands of men and women rely on Syntona for relief from common disorders of the stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels. Made from 12 of Nature's finest herbs and roots the good results it gives are accomplished without pain-killers or harsh drugs. It is safe, pleasant to take, and results are quickly felt.

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store. (Advt.)

VICTORIAVILLE, Que., Dec. 28 (CP)—A young Victoriaville couple learned Wednesday that two of their children were killed Tuesday in an accident near here—but their baby daughter escaped without a scratch.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Parent were also injured in the level crossing mishap which occurred between Plessisville and Princeville, 20 miles north of this Arthabaska county town.

In Hotel Dieu Hospital of Arthabaska where they have recovered sufficiently to be told of their children's death, their condition reported "as satisfactory".

Killed in the accident were Gateane, 2½-years-old, and Francoise, 1½-years-old.

The child who escaped uninjured was Ginette, 5 months. She escaped when the impact of the accident threw her from her mother's arms into a snowbank.

Major H. P. Lafferty Dies In Kingston

KINGSTON, Dec. 28 (CP) — Maj. Herbert Pembroke Lafferty, 60, retired permanent force officer and one-time top gunnery instructor in the Canadian army, died Wednesday.

A son of the late Dr. James Lafferty, he was born in Calgary and attended Royal Military College here. On graduation in 1910, he was commissioned to the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery with which he served in France and Belgium during the First World War.

After the war, he served as a gunnery instructor at the Royal School of Artillery here.

Commonwealth World's Largest Trading Area

LONDON, Dec. 28—(Reuters)—The Commonwealth maintained its position in 1949 as the world's largest trading area, the Commonwealth Economic Committee announced in a memorandum published Wednesday.

Both Britain's and Canada's 1949 exports were more than 50 per cent above pre-war volume, while in Australia, New Zealand and Ceylon they were up more than 20 per cent. The volume of imports was above the pre-war figure in all Commonwealth countries except Britain.

The committee gave these figures of world trade for 1949, with the corresponding figures for

World Exports

Commonwealth, 29 per cent of the world total (25 per cent in 1938); United States, 21 per cent (14 per cent); Europe, 28 per cent (37 per cent).

Commonwealth, 32 per cent of world total (33 per cent in 1938); United States, 12 per cent (nine per cent); Europe, 34 per cent (38 per cent).

The large increase in world prices meant that in value, British and Canadian exports were more than three times the 1938 figures. The increase for Australia and South Africa was appproximately five-fold and for the colonies as a whole four-fold.

Canada, which normally has a considerable surplus of trade account, found this sharply reduced in 1949, the report said.

To Cut Production

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Dec. 28 (AP) — Studebaker Corporation announced today a 20-per-cent cutback in passenger car and truck production next month. Harold S. Vance, board chairman and president, attributed the cut to government restrictions in civilian use of defence materials.

Cobourg Constable Picks Up Man With Bogus Bills

Alert patrolling by Provincial Constable Douglas W. Wilson of Cobourg resulted in the arrest Thursday night of a Barrie man with 11 counterfeit $10 bills. RCMP headquarters in Ottawa believe his arrest may end the trail of counterfeit money in Eastern Ontario. The man in custody is James Thomas Frost of Barrie. When searched by Corporal Wilson he had one bogus $10 bill on him and later 10 more were found under the floormat in his car.

He had unsuccessfully tried to pass one of the bills at a Belleville service station. A description was broadcast to police and he was picked up at Cobourg in a Drive-Yourself car from Barrie.

A Good Job

"A very observant bit of work on the part of Corporal Wilson," was the way it was summed up today by District Inspector C. W. Farrow, Peterborough. "A very good job."

Frost (who at first gave the name of Gladstone) answers the description of the man who has passed bad bills in Kingston and Brockville. At first police thought a second man was involved but late today they were satisfied that Frost is the one who has been using counterfeit money in Kingston, Brockville and Belleville.

Efforts are being made to take to Cobourg persons in Kingston and Brockville who had seen the alleged passer of bogus bills. If they can identify the man being held there, the search for a second man will be halted.

The counterfeit bills were identical with those passed in large numbers in various parts of Ontario on Labor-Day week-end in 1949. They were similar, as well, to counterfeit bills discovered several months ago in a vacant building in Toronto.

Appear Genuine

Police said that at first glance the bills appear genuine. They suggested one of the best ways for an amateur to tell the difference was to close his eyes while holding a genuine bill in one hand and a suspected bill in another. There was a definite difference in the texture of the bills.

The counterfeit bills also had a dull, dead appearance in the scroll work. Wetting the serial number to see if it would run was no longer a reliable test of a bill.

Police said abobut 14 or 15 of the counterfeit bills were passed in business establishments in Kingston. Another two were discovered in Brockville.

The trail of counterfeit bills that led to the arrest of Frost, 35, was first picked up in a theatre in Brockville, police there said today.

Mrs. Norman Poole, cashier at a local theatre, detected one of the bills yesterday and gave police a description of the man who passed it.

California Man Crowned Liar Champion

BURLINGTON, Wis., Dec. 29—(AP)—A Californian who wandered far afield for the locale of a weird story was crowned today as the world's champion liar of 1950. L. W. Tupper of Patricia, Alta., received honorable mention.

The Burlington Liars' Club picked this one by Frank J. Goulette, of Los Angeles, from a pack of lies submitted in its annual contest:

'One winter, while I was working on a pile driver in North Dakota it got so cold that one night a member of our crew froze to death in bed.

"The ground was frozen so hard that it was impossible to dig a grave. In fact, we never did find out how far down it was frozen. But this I do know, seeing we couldn't dig a grave, we stood the fellow on his head under the pile-driver——and we had to drive on him seven days and seven nights before we got him down far enough for a decent burial!"

Honorable Mention

Tupper won honorable mention with the following:

"This summer a terrific hail storm came sweeping across the prairie and caught a bunch of steers out in the middle of a lease.

"The hail beat them on the back so hard that when the storm was over every one of those steers was sway-backed and bow-legged.

"The owner didn't kick, though. The hail had pounded them so hard that when he sold them he got $3 per hundred premium — the steaks were already tenderized."

French Smash Red Attack

SAIGON, Indo-China, Dec. 29—AP).—Communist-led Vietminh forces, pressing a new northern offensive, smashed against French troops on a 25-mile front north of Hanoi today, but a French counter-attack drove them back.

The Vietminh drive hit the French defence perimeter at Yenphu, only 10 miles north of the northern Indo-China capital. Six French outposts along the front between the Duy and Songcau rivers bore the brunt of the Vietminh assault, which began in darkness.

French reserves were committed to the battle. The counter-attack drove back several attacking Vietminh battalions, and French positions which had been broken by the force of the assault and faced with encirclement later were restored.

The Vietminh offensive now is in its fourth day. Because of a series of French reverses along the frontier, the Communist-led Nationalists are in positions directly threatening the Hanoi-Haipong area.

French officials have decided to send all French women and children out of northern Indo-China—but they denied Singapore reports that the women and children would be evacuated from all Indo-China.

Teachers Ask Member Expelled

TORONTO, Dec. 29. (CP)—The Ontario Public School Men Teachers' Federation took an unprecedented step Thursday when it decided to ask the minister of education to cancel the teaching privileges of one of its members.

It was the first time in the 30-year history of the body that such action had been asked.

Neither the name of the teacher nor his school or location was indicated in the announcement which followed a closed meeting of the Federation's provincial executive.

The organization decided that the teacher should be removed from the profession on grounds of incompetency in the classroom. The decision will be subject to approval by the Ontario Teachers' Federation, governing body for all Ontario teachers.

The request for dismissal was addressed directly to the Minister of Education, Hon. Dana Porter, since only he can revoke teaching certificates which are issued by the Department of Education.

Massed Reds Drive Allies Back 10 Miles

U.N. Officers Report Attack Contained, Skirmishing Continues

KOREAN FRONT, Dec. 29—(AP)—A United States Eighth Army spokesman said tonight a sudden enemy attack through the east central sector of the Allied defence line "can now be said to be contained."

The spokesman said the attack was made Thursday by 10,000 North Korean troops. He said they penetrated three miles through United Nations positions northeast of Chunchon.

He blamed "communications difficulties" for an earlier report that the enemy had driven eight to 16 miles south of the 38th parallel.

The spokesman said the "situation is confused," and added "there is now a dent in our line" extending four or five miles south of the 38th parallel in a limited sector.

"But our forces have been counter-attacking steadily and the attack can now be said to be contained."

There was skirmishing all along the defence line.

Lt.-Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, United States Eighth Army commander, expressed "complete confidence in the ultimate success" of the United Nations effort in Korea.

Gen. MacArthur said two Red regiments seized high ground northwest of Oron, 35 miles inland from the Sea of Japan coast and about 10 miles south of Parallel 38.

Another thrust rolled Allied forces back southeast of Yongpo, 13 miles due east of Oron.

MacArthur said the Communists were active in almost all sectors across Korea's waist. He reported 5,000 to 6,000 Reds were massed west of the frozen Imjin river. Another concentration was spotted south of Yonchon, in the central sector.

Final Split With Soviet Likely Over Japan

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP)—A final split between Russia and the United States over drafting a Japanese peace treaty appears almost inevitable.

An exchange of notes between the two powers, the latest released here Thursday night, disclosed several major points of conflict which diplomats doubt can be resolved. The United States shows every intention of pressing for a treaty regardless of Russia's attitude.

Points of difference which now emerge from the exchange are mainly these:

1. The U.S. rejects Russia's contention that any of the great powers should have a veto over the treaty. This means that if Russia will not go along on terms acceptable to the United States and other friendly countries, then the U.S. is prepared to go forward without Russia.

2. The U.S. is going ahead without consulting Comunist China, despite Rusia's emphasis on Red Chinese interest in Japan.

Stamp Annoys Western Folk

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., Dec. 29 (CP) — Some officials of Northern Saskatchewan's $1,000,000-a-year freshwater fishing industry aren't happy about the new $1 postage stamp scheduled to go on sale Feb. 1.

After examining an enlarged photograph of the stamp, A. H. MacDonald, supervisor of fisheries for Saskatoon, said it ignores entirely the teeming fish population of Western Canada's lakes.

"Why, they didn't even include a whitefish," said Mr. MacDonald.

An Ottawa announcement said the stamp is intended to "emphasize Canada's great fisheries wealth." It shows a "typical fisherman" hauling in his net in an open boat.

A former Vancouver resident now living here said the stamp also discriminates against the Pacific coast.

"If my eyes don't deceive me," he said, "the fish are all from the Maritime Provinces. Not one from the west coast."

Red Satellites Sprout Wings Put Liquor On Purge List

LONDON, Dec. 29 (AP)—East Europe's Communist-led states have put John Barleycorn on the purge list.

Hard drinks are getting harder to get. Temperance lectures are on the increase. The penalties for drunkenness are getting stiffer.

Strangely, in the Soviet Union, which usually sets the line which the satellites carry out, there are few curbs on drinking. There are laws against drunken driving, of course, and drinking at work is not tolerated.

In general, however, drinking in Russia is a matter largely left to social custom and individual discretion. General grocery stores throughout the USSR carry Vodka and other liquors and they are served freely as long as the stores are open. There are no curfews on liquor sales in restaurants and no rationing of any kind.

The situation is much different in the satellite states, except in Hungary where there are no regulations intended to curb drinking and no signs of such intentions reported.

The idea behind the dry campaign in countries such as Poland and Czechoslovakia is to keep the worker on his job in the factory and so increase production.

Even without new restrictive laws a good shot of whisky is hard to get in Poland. Retail prices were increased 50 per cent when the Zloty was revalued at the end of October. A liter (about a quart) of 90 per-cent straight Vodka now costs the equivalent of $22.

Despite increased prices and restrictions, restaurants and liquor stores say the sale of Vodka hasn't dropped any.

Believe Missing Stone In Hyde Park Lake

Scotland Yard Men Find Object Same Size As Coronation Stone

LONDON, Dec. 29 —(CP)— Scotland Yard detectives probing in a Hyde Park lake found an object today the same size and shape as Britain's missing coronation stone.

They sent for special tackle to raise the object from its resting place, about a mile from Westminster Abbey where the 458-pound stone was stolen Christmas morning.

Police said they hoped to be ready to make the lift about dusk.

Earlier in the day hundreds of onlookers groaned when another object seized by the police grapples turned out to be a rusty old safe.

The uniformed boatmen, who already had found six long-lost park benches and a variety of common stones, went back to their dredging.

The Hyde Park search was touched off by a telephone tip late Thursday from an anonymous caller who told Scotland Yard he saw the coronation stone dumped in the Serpentine.

Detectives were hot on the trail today of a Swiss watch, a five-year-old trail leading back to a British army post exchange in Rome.

A wrist watch was abandoned by one of the thieves in the abbey. Arthur Morris, of Ross-On-Wye, told police he bought an identical watch from a PX while serving at an army hospital in Rome in autumn, 1945.

Morris' watch carried the serial number 3046. The timepiece found in the Abbey was numbered 3045. Morris said only three watches of this type were sold in his unit.

Police were also investigating reports from a waterworks official at Hendon, North London, that he had found mysterious tire tracks leading to the edge of a reservoir there. They appeared to have been made by a hand cart.

Army Brigade Likely Sent To Germany

OTTAWA, Dec. 29—(CP)— A posting in Europe for one of Canada's two tank regiments is under consideration here as part of the planning for dispatch of an Army Brigade Group to Germany within a few months. The regiment — either the Lord Strathcona's Horse or the Royal Canadian Dragoons—would go as an armored shield for the three battalions that make up the infantry component. They could be changed but present plans call for dispatch of a 5,000 to 6,000-man brigade group to Germany in the spring or early summer.

They would come from the Special Force now in training at Fort Lewis, Wash. The rest of the force—now 10,400 strong—would be formed into a Second Brigade Group and kept in Canada to train and get ready to replace the first contingent in Europe in about a year.

Another 3,000 to 4,000 men would be recruited as reinforcements for the two brigades.

Under Consideration

There has been no mention publicly in the past of sending Canadian armor to Europe but this has come under consideration in recent weeks.

The two tank regiments now are reported nearly up to strength after a recruiting drive started in mid-summer when they were only about 50 per cent up to strength. The Strathconas are stationed at Calgary and train at Wainwright, Alta. The Dragoons are at Petawawa.

Both are equipped with American-made Sherman tanks basically of Second World War type. Canada makes no tanks. She would have to get them either from the British or Americans if she didn't send her own.

The armored regiment would be in addition to a squadron or battery of 17-pounder anti-tank guns mounted on so-called Priest tank chassis. This battery already is with the special force.

Plans to send a brigade group to Germany within a few months are already going forward. The move to set up a duplicate formation here arises from the belief that it would be unwise to keep troops overseas too long and that there must be a man ready at home to replace the man overseas about a year's interval.

Police Question 4 In Slaying

SARNIA, Dec. 29 (CP)—One man was held as a material witness and three other persons were being questioned today as police investigated the slaying Thursday night of a 41-year-old transient cook.

David Edward Houle, a native of Sudbury and former resident of Kirkland Lake, was killed in the kitchen of a ramshackle, two-room dwelling at nearby Blue Water. His body, sprawled on a blood-spattered floor, bore head wounds and a stab wound in the left side of the neck.

Detectives said a piece of lead pipe may have been the death weapon.

Held as a material witness was Joseph Mogines, 52, owner of the shack. He said he found Houle's body when he returned home from supper at a hotel.

Meanwhile, police questioned Mrs. Leona Phillipont and her husband, Gerard Phillipont, 39, and Michael Waldermaras, all of Blue Water. Phillipont was taken to provincial police headquarters here Thursday night. His wife and Waldermaras were picked up later this morning for questioning.

Will Advance Immigrants Part of Travelling Costs

OTTAWA, Dec. 29—(CP)—Immigration Minister Harris announced today a government plan to advance to prospective immigrants part of the cost of transportation to this country. The plan goes into effect Feb. 1 next. Mr. Harris said it will be made "on a recoverable basis" to the heads of families or single persons who have not enough money to pay their own way to Canada.

The assistance will be available to selected immigrants from the United Kingdom and western Europe. They may make their applications to Canadian immigration offices in those areas.

Terming the step a "major development" in Canada's immigration policy, Mr. Harris said the advances made will apply to transportation from port of embarkation to destination in Canada.

The immigrants, however, will be required to contribute not less than $30, or an equivalent amount in the currencies of their own countries.

Make Agreement

"Immigrants accepting these advances must agree to work for a Canadian employer and remain in the same type of employment for a period of one year, or until such time as they have repaid the money advanced to them by the government.

"To facilitate repayment, the immigrants will also be required to give their employers the authority to deduct amount from their wages which will be applied against the loan.

"The period during which these deductions will be made will depend on the immigrant's earnings in Canada, but will not exceed 24 months."

Today's announcement follows a move earlier this month to facilitate the flow of much-needed immigrants to Canada.

Today, Mr. Harris explained that the latest step—advancing of funds for passage—was being taken "because of the increasing difficulty being experienced in obtaining workers who can meet Canadian requirements."

"There are, however, many persons on the continent and in the United Kingdom whose skills are needed in Canada now, and will be more urgently needed in the event of an extensive manpower shortage in the spring of 1951."

Sent To Reformatory On Robbery Charge

OTTAWA, Dec. 29 (CP)—Margaret Sanderson, 26, of Calgary, and Donat Portelance, 27, of Hamilton, today were sentenced to reformatory by Magistrate Glenn Strike on a charge of robbery with violence.

Miss Sanderson received a term not exceeding two years. Portelance was sentenced to two years less a day definite and one month indefinite.

They were convicted of stealing $600 from Norman Hunt, a middle-aged Pembroke, trucker after he had been lured into a hotel beverage room by the woman.

Freezing Rain Makes U.S. Roads Dangerous

NEW YORK, Dec. 29—(AP)—A driving rain that froze as it fell sheathed large sections of the United States northeast in ice today.

Driving was hazardous. Heavy snow accompanied the freezing rain in New England. One man was killed under the wheels of a truck on the Worcester, Mass., turnpike near Natick.

Southeastern New York was pelted with freezing rain, which was expected to spread to north and south central sections of the state during the day.

Drop Embargo On U.S. Pork

OTTAWA, Dec. 29 (CP). — Economic experts said today the government has decided to go ahead with elimination of the three-year embargo on imports of United States pork.

The embargo, applied late in 1947 as a dollar-conserving measure, will be lifted Sunday. However, export controls will still be maintained, pending the outcome of Anglo-Canadian bacon negotiations for 1951.

Lifting of the embargo will mean that Canadians will be able to obtain a large supply of low-priced U.S. pork products, such as shoulder cuts and fat-backs.

Supply of these cheaper-priced items up to now has been limited by the Canadian program to produce a lean hog to get the Wiltshire-type bacon the United Kingdom wanted under war and postwar bacon contracts.

The United States has concentrated on a fatter type of hog. Much of their fat-back has been in demand in Canadian lumber camps and in Newfoundland.

Moslem Brotherhood Gains Power In Egypt

CAIRO, Dec. 29—(CP)—The Moslem Brotherhood, one of the most dynamic and most publicized associations in Islam, is preparing for a rebirth in Egypt.

Often accused by authorities in acts of political violence, the Brotherhood was outlawed Dec. 8, 1948. Twenty days later, Prime Minister Nokrashi Pasha was assassinated by an alleged Brotherhood member.

Within six weeks of the prime minister's slaying, Sheikh Hassan El Banna, "Supreme Guide" of the Brotherhood, himself was killed by assassins' bullets.

The Brotherhood is now believed on the way back to legal existence. Political observers say this may mean new troubles for Egypt in view of current unrest in the country. The Brotherhood, which once claimed a membership of more than 1,000,000, boasts it has rallied large numbers to its banners since 1948.

Duke of Edinburgh Heads List of 'Magnetic Males'

LONDON, Dec. 29 (Reuters)—The Duke of Edinburgh, husband of Princess Elizabeth, headed a short list of "magnetic males" announced by Lisa Lengyel who came here from New York to compare the British "dynatype" with the American male.

Miss Legnyel, a New Yorker of Hungarian origin, is director of "The Institute for the study and Development of Male Magnetism."

Winston Churchill placed second on her list.

After three weeks here, Miss Lengyel described the British male creature as an "exciting potential." But, she said, British women complained of a "deplorable lack" of magnetism in their menfolk. They said British men preferred an evening at the tavern to more romantic pursuits.

However, at least among her first 10, Miss Lengyel found such qualities as "charm and restrained force" (in the Duke of Edinburgh) "pugnacity, defiance and wisdom" (in Churchill) and "masterful menace" (in orchestra conductor Sir Malcolm Sergeant).

Sir Malcolm, who came in sixth, had "the appeal of a fallen Lucifer."

The full list was: The Duke of Edinburgh; Churchill; Lord Lovat, Scottish peer who led the "Lovat Scouts" and wartime commandos; Sir Gladwin Jebb, Britain's representative to the United Nations; Robert Boothby, 50-year-old Conservative member of parliament; Sergeant; Harold Drayton, London financier; Sir Laurence Olivier and Michael Wilding, both screen and stage stars; and Jimmy Edward, a mustachioed star of radio variety.

Miss Lengyel said Churchill was "a combination of Socrates and Barnum and Bailey, with a strong dash of Jack Dempsey—the most magnetic male of the world."

Sir Laurence Olivier was "the moody romantic lover of whom every woman dreams."

Frozen Hydrant Foils Aid From Firemen, Form Bucket Brigade

Parents, 3 Other Children In Hospital As Flames Level 5-Room Frame House In Half Hour

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 29—(CP)—Five young children died and their parents and three other children suffered burns and shock early today in a roaring fire that levelled their five-room home while a frozen hydrant hampered fire-fighting operations. An explosion in an oil-burning space heater in the kitchen was blamed for the swiftly-spreading blaze in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Bezeau in Westminster township on the fringe of southeast London.

James Sinclair, brother of Mrs. Bezeau, made a frantic rescue attempt. Sinclair, one of the first persons to reach the fire scene, said later:

"I grabbed an ax from the woodpile and chopped a hole through the downstairs bedroom window."

Firemen added that Sinclair climbed into the blazing room but was forced out by searing flames. When the firemen searched the ruins, they found the bodies of Audrey Bezeau, 8, and Betty, 4, in the twisted metal of a large double bed, and that of two-year-old Lorene in a fire-blackened crib at the foot of the bed.

The bodies of Russell, 12, and David, 5, were found an hour later in another part of the ruins.

Not Serious

Bezeau, 34-year-old trucker and his daughter, Shirley, 11, were taken to hospital suffering burns but their condition was described as "not serious." Also taken to hospital were Bezeau's 33-year-old wife Madeline, suffering extreme shock, and two other Bezeau children, Judy May, 13, and Jacqueline, 9.

The parents and the three surviving children escaped from the flames with only seconds to spare. The mother and the two girls were given shelter at the home of a neighbor, Charles Ridler, until they and the father were bundled in coats and blankets and went to hospital in a police cruiser.

Firemen said the flames in the kitchen apparently cut off the escape of the children in the downstairs bedroom. To reach the back door, they would have had to pass

Heated Controversy Expected In Windsor

WINDSOR, Dec. 29—(CP)—A heated controversy is expected tonight when city council meets in special session to discuss the calling of a council-sponsored mayoralty recount.

A poll of council members today indicated the odds are still against council calling for a recount following the decision Wednesday by Mr. Justice Spence that Mayor Arthur J. Reaume had not produced enough evidence to warrant a recount.

The question was taken to Supreme Court by mayor-elect Thomas R. Brophey who won by 38 votes in the Dec. 6 election which saw 32,973 votes cast for the two leading candidates.

3-Man Board To Settle Teacher Dispute

SUDBURY, Dec. 29 (CP). — Establishment of a three-man reference board to settle the salary dispute in Sudbury's secondary schools was approved Thursday by the Education Minister Porter of Ontario. Secretary J. G. Lowe of the Sudbury High School Board was advised of this by letter today.

As previously predicted the minister's directive named Judge James M. Cooper, of Sudbury as chairman of the reference board.

The Sudbury High School Board has named Dr. W. L. Whitelock of Hamilton to act as its representative on the reference board, along with Judge Cooper.

No information is available on who will represent the teachers. He will probably be appointed by the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation, who have handled negotiations on behalf of the 62 Sudbury teachers who have handed in resignations effective Dec. 31.

Impartial Choice

"Dr. Whitelock was one of the members of the Hope Commission on Education," said secretary Lowe. "We think he will be very impartial, with wide experience in educational affairs."

Because the board has been set up the teachers are prohibited by law from taking another position, but they are not obliged to resume teaching until a decision has been handed down. Any decision reached by the board is binding on both parties. Failure to comply by the teachers can mean cancellation of their teaching certificates.

If the high school board refuses to comply it can lose its educational grants from the province.

Food Contract Decision Delayed

OTTAWA, Dec. 29 — (CP)— With defence planning to the forefront, the government has shelved for the time being at least final decision on 1951 Anglo-Canadian food contracts, informed quarters disclosed today.

The United Kingdom has offered to take 130,000,000 pounds of bacon and 77,000,000 pounds of cheese at 1950 prices, that is, 28 cents a pound for cheese and 29 cents for bacon.

However, the government has not yet decided whether to accept these prices. At the Nov. 30 Federal-Provincial agricultural conference, Agriculture Minister Gardiner said he was not entirely certain that the prices were as good as they might be under current circumstances.

1950 Year Of Progress In Ontario—Frost

TORONTO, Dec. 29 (CP). — Premier Frost said today in his New Year's message 1950 was a year of progress and unsurpassed prosperity for the province.

"Providence has been kind to us," he said. "The many social and economic problems with which we have had to deal have been met and solved in accordance with our best Canadian traditions. Much has been achieved; much remains to be accomplished.

"We enter upon the new era in a spirit of determination so characteristic of our Canadian people.

"My earnest wish is that everywhere throughout Ontario the year 1951 will bring to each and peace, health, prosperity and all the fullest possible measure of happiness."

McCubbin Urges Bacon Pact At 1950 Prices

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 29 (CP)—Signing of bacon and cheese contracts with Great Britain even at the prices received in 1950 was urged Thursday by Robert McCubbin, parliamentary assistant to Agricultural Minister Gardiner.

Mr. McCubbin, speaking at the University of Western Ontario Rural Life conference, said Great Britain is willing to take 77,000,000 pounds of cheese in 1951.

"The price has not been determined. Great Britain is willing to pay the same as last year, 28 cents f.o.b. seaboard. I think they'll pay more. Even if they don't, I think it is a good policy to sign the contract and maintain British markets."

Should Sign

During 1951 Great Britain will seek 130,000,000 pounds of bacon from Canada, said the Liberal MP for Middlesex West. Last year producers received $29 f.o.b. seaboard plus a $3.50 federal subsidy of bacon shipped to Great Britain.

"I feel we should sign an agreement with Great Britain at $29 and at the same time oppose opening the American border to Canadian bacon," he said.

He said opening the American border is being sought by Western Canada farmers. The West has a lot of frozen grains, good only for hog feed, and is turning to hog production.

"During the last 10 years Canada has built up a good bacon industry. Canadian bacon now is superior to Danish bacon. If we open the American border, the natural thing is to fatten hogs as quickly as possible. This would reduce the standard.

New Tax Schedule Studied In France

PARIS, Dec. 29—(AP)—The French government's special $1,000,000,000 rearmament program moved a step closer to adoption today as a proposed new tax schedule won wider support in the National Assembly.

The Assembly's finance committee in a close vote adopted the schedule which members of the group said would provide an extra 145,000,000,000 francs (about $410,000,000) in new taxes needed to pay for part of the arms project.

Park Board Builds New Greenhouse

The Peterborough Parks Department have completed the erection of a new greenhouse behind their office on Townsend Street.

This greenhouse was started a few weeks ago and was built by employees of the department.

The building is approximately 50 feet long and 24 feet wide. It will be used for the winter cultivation of plants which will be transplanted in the city park gardens and rockeries next spring.

Farmers' Income Shows Drop of $300,000,000

OTTAWA, Dec. 29—(CP)—Canada's farming population has been struck by a $300,000,000 blow that may have repercussions in other parts of the Canadian economy. The cash income they received from the sale of farm products has slipped to $1,467,000,000 in the first nine months of 1950, the Bureau of Statistics reported Thursday.

This is approximately $330,000,000 or 18 per cent. lower than the $1,799,000,000 in the same period a year ago and may mean that with less money received, Canada's farmers, particularly those in the west will have less money to spend.

Most of the blow fell in the west where an unseasonal autumn blast of frost hit into a bumper wheat crop, reducing a big part of it to low-priced unmillable grades.

Price Lowered

The decline, too, said the bureau, resulted from a reduction in the initial payment for wheat, lowered to $1.40 a bushel for No. 1 Northern on Aug. 1 from $1.75.

Government aid to the tune of $13,700,000 was paid to farmers of the drought-stricken areas of the prairies during the 1950 nine-month period, compared with $9,200,000 last year, the bureau said.

"The decline in cash receipts from the sale of grains and substantially smaller grain equalization and adjustment payments up to the end of September this year largely account for the significant drop in 1950 farm income," the bureau said.

"While approximately $218,000,000 were paid to prairie farmers in the form of participation and equalization payments during the first nine months of 1949, only $6,900,000 were disbursed during the Jan[illegible] period this year."

India Reports Lama Has Gone From Lhasa

NEW DELHI, Dec. 29 (AP).—Indian government officials said today the Dalai Lama has left Lhasa but that they had no information that he was fleeing to Indian protection.

India's representative in the Tibetan capital, S. Sinha, telegraphed here that the Tibetans' 16-year-old spiritual and temporal ruler had left his palace "on an official tour."

A dispatch published here on Thursday said the Dalai Lama, with high officials and 600 troops was headed toward India, seeking to evade Chinese Communist invaders of his mountain realm.

Local sources considered it possible the Chinese might try to intercept the party, reported Thursday at Gyangtse, about 100 air miles southwest of Lhasa and halfway to the Indian-protected Himalayan border state of Sikkim.

Army Call-up Pushed Ahead

LONDON, Dec. 29—(Reuters)—About 180,000 18-year-lids learned today they must register for the armed forces one month earlier than they expected.

The Ministry of Labor and National Service announced that to meet the needs of the forces, the next two quarterly registrations of youths—expected March 3 and June 2, 1951—will be brought forward to Feb. 3 and May 5.

Also, authoritative quarters have predicted there will be a call-up of Second World War veterans in a partial mobilization for brief training periods.

Armed forces chiefs are known to favor such a call-up because they expect little warning in case of a real emergency. They want the mobilization and training machinery to be ready for instant action.

If the cabinet approves their plan, thousands of veterans may find themselves back in uniform for recurring refresher training.

Say London Fire 2nd Worst this Year

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 29 (CP)—The fire that took the lives of five young children in one family here today was the second worst in Ontario this year, measured in terms of family loss.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Harding of the Toronto suburb of Scarborough lost six children and rescued two when their house was burned April 20. That blaze took the heaviest toll of members of a single family.

Today's fire in which Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Bezeau lost five children and saved three was the next largest.

Third was an Oshawa blaze Nov. 29 that brought death to four children of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Burns.

Altogether, 40 children have died in Ontario fires in 1950.

Australia Won't Send More Troops To Korea

MELBOURNE, Australia, Dec. 29—(AP) — Defence Minister Philip A. M. McBride said today Australia plans to maintain its battalion in Korea at full strength but will send no troops other than reinforcements required for that purpose.

McBride made the statement to reporters in commenting on a suggestion by a Melbourne newspaper that the government should raise a volunteer corps of postwar immigrants for Korea.

The minister expressed hope it "will be possible for some these migrants to become me... bers of the regular army."

"The government is negotiating with the governments of Italy, Holland, and other European countries for permission call up selected groups for ... tional service," he said.

He explained that at present, under international law, Australia had no right to call up nationals of another country.

Massed Reds

Korean Communists were in the forefront of the enemy action. Behind them were hordes of Chinese. MacArthur estimated Thursday that more than 1,350,000 Communists — Chinese and North Korean—were poised in Korea and Manchuria to strike allied forces.

Planes Active

United Nations warplanes struck the enemy all along the frigid front and at his supply lines from Manchuria. Observation planes spotted camouflaged vehicles in the forward areas.

MacArthur said the assault in the Yongpo area began lightly, with UN troops dispersing 100 Reds in the initial attack. Later, a regiment of Communists was thrown at the allied troops and ground was lost.

A briefing officer at US Eighth Army headquarters said one allied unit was thrown back 10 miles. Another battalion lost three miles.

Air observers reported mounting evidence of Chinese and North Korean forces moving up toward the battle zone.

Tight Restrictions

The Eighth Army commander imposed tight restrictions on pinpointing any units of his huge force at this time.

Dollar Unchanged

MONTREAL, Dec. 29 (CP).—The American dollar today opened at 5 15-16 per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, unchanged from Thursday's close. That is, it took $1.05 15-16 Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.96¾, up ⅛.

Washington Cuts Private Loans

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 — (AP)—The government cut down sharply today on money available for private loans and forged strong new links for harnessing the national economy more firmly to the defence drive.

A Federal Reserve Board order to its 6,885 member banks called for freezing $2,000,000,000 out of the loan market.

The board said its action would cut off a potential further increase of $12,000,000,000 in the already record-high volume of bank loans. This is because banks could have lent the $2,000,000,000 over and over again.

The economic stabilization agency announced that it will open 13 regional offices "to handle price and wage problems," a step apparently paving the way for stricter controls expected later.

The national production authority decreed that the U.S. will take over immediately as sole importer and distributor of natural rubber. Since it already controls synthetic production this move puts the government in virtual control of all rubber.

Rail Man Goes Berserk Shoots Child 9 Years

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 29 (AP).—Eugene Miller, 42, a railroad fireman Thursday night forced his way into a home where he once lived and shot to death nine-year-old John Rost, police chief Nick Antonelli of McKees Rocks said. He said Miller wounded himself and two other persons, one of them a child of three.

Antonelli said Miller went on his shooting rampage apparently out of jealousy. He said Miller had threatened Mrs. Isabella Lober, who lives in the house, after he refused to see him.

Miller was charged with murder.

ndustrials Decline On Toronto Exchange

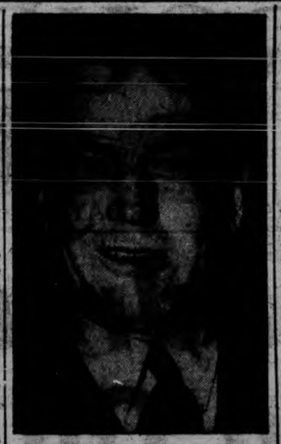

TORONTO, Dec. 29 — (CP) — Industrials declined steadily as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today.

Following four days of advance they opened firm, turned mixed and then drifted downwards in dull dealings. Refining oils, utilities, textiles, papers and steels showed a majority of losses in the groupings and the rest of the board was mixed.

Base metals followed the industrial pattern and declined from earlier gains. Consolidated Smelters, Steep Rock, Waite Amulet, International Nickel, Noranda and Normetal paced the list lower with losses up to 25 cents.

Western Oils traded firmly and fairly quiet after their strong climb yesterday. Calgary and Edmonton, National Petroleum, Federated Petroleum and Royalite added pennies.

Senior Golds eased with Giant Yellowknife, Kerr Addison and Lake Shore down fractions. Junior Producers tended lower in quiet trading.

RUMORED—James D. Mooney, above, of Hubbard, Tex., figures prominently in persistent rumors that Navy Secretary Francis P. Matthews will leave the cabinet soon and be replaced by Mooney. Now with Technical Managers, Inc., and a former head of Willys-Overland, Mooney is a long-time Army and Air Force veteran.

Frozen Hydrant

through the kitchen. The only other avenue of escape was the bedroom window.

Roaring Furnace

Fire Captain Stewart Smith told reporters:

"When we arrived, the house was a roaring furnace. We laid 750 feet of hose to the nearest hydrant—and then, when we went to turn on the hydrant, we found it frozen."

Neighbors and police formed a bucket brigade while firemen connected hoses to a 100-gallon booster tank on a fire truck. Despite their efforts, the blaze gained headway and the frame structure at 198 Helena Street was burned to the ground in less than half an hour.

Charles Ridler, whose house is on the south side of the Bezeau home, said Mrs. Bezeau went to his door after escaping from her flaming dwelling.

"I was in bed and woke up when Mrs. Bezeau came to our door, hammering to get in," he said.

Too Late To Help

Another neighbor, Fred Nelson, whose home is on the other side of the Bezeaus' house, said:

"My wife woke me a little before two o'clock. She had been wakened by the reflection of the flames. When I looked out, the flames were leaping out of the windows and out the back. By the time I got outside, it was hopeless to do much to stop the blaze or rescue the children."

One of the neighbors telephoned firemen.

Constables Wilfred Linder and Jack Morgan were the first police officers to reach the scene. They got there shortly after the firemen.

"When I first saw the place, the walls were standing but the inside was roaring away," Constable Linder said.

Started Back

"The father was running around outside in his pyjamas and I could see his face was burnt. Then shortly after we arrived, he hollered something about his children inside and started to run toward the burning building. I thought he was going to run back into the flames and I hollered over to Jack Morgan, was closest to him, to head him off."

A small cluster of police and residents stood by in zero weather and watched the flames turn the building into an inferno. One policeman said, "a man wouldn't mind risking his life to save a child, but what could anyone do against that?"

The old frame building was located in a sparsely-settled area in Westminster township. Mr. Bezeau, a trucker, had housed his family there temporarily while he built a larger home on the same lot. He had already dug a large excavation in front of the frame building.

Canadian Quadruple 'Amp' Consoles Soldier In US

TORONTO, Dec. 29 (CP) — Curley Christian, believed the only quadruple war amputee in the British Commonwealth, took a pen in one of his artificial hands today and wrote a letter of consolation to the first quadruple amputee of the Korean war.

He wrote 20-year-old Pte Robert Smith of the United States army, warning him against overindulgence in sympathy and telling him to have "patience, a sense of humor, and a faith in God."

Pte. Smith is in hospital in Washington. He lost both hands and both legs below the knee as a result of frostbite suffered in fighting around the Chosen Reservoir Nov. 27.

Christian, 66-year-old U.S.-born negro, lost both arms below the elbow and both legs below the knee while fighting with the Canadian army at Vimy Ridge in 1917. A stretcher-bearer, he was buried 18 hours when a shell exploded in a trench.

"You'll have to get a new outlook, son," he wrote Smith. "It's not a question of bravery but a question of facing the situation . . . it's a matter of looking forward, not back.

"You've got to be wary of sympathy and you've got to have patience and a sense of humor. But the greatest secret is to know for sure that God will take care of you. What He has done for others He will do for you."

Christian was a semi-pro baseball player in Brandon, Man., before he enlisted with the 78th Grenadier Guards in Winnipeg. After the war, he got two artificial hands and two new legs and became a cigar salesman. He retired a few years later and has been living on pension since then.

He married after his accident, and has one son, Douglas, 25, who served in the Royal Canadian Navy during the Second World War.

725,000 Tons Of Arms Sent To Friendly Lands

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP) —The United States delivered more than 725,000 tons of military equipment to friendly countries abroad this year under the Mutual Defence Aid program, it was announced today.

Maj.-Gen. Stanley O. Scott, MDAP director, said that despite the daily demands for armament in Korea, the flow of arms has more than doubled during the last two months.

Bulk of this equipment, 478,000 tons, was shipped to Western Europe. Greece, Turkey and Iran shared 187,000 tons and 60,000 tons went to the Philippines, Indo-China, Malaya, Indonesia, Burma and Formosa, Scott said.

The tonnage figures do not include ships and aircraft. Major items already delivered or on the way include more than 1,600 tanks, 750 artillery pieces, 6,000 general purpose vehicles, 800 planes and more than 50 naval vessels and small craft.

Canadian Navy Ships Patrolling Off Korea

TOKYO, Dec. 29—(CP)—Units of the Royal Canadian Navy continued to patrol and support operations of United Nations forces along the west coast of Korea Thursday.

The U.N. fleet on the west coast includes American, British, French, the Netherlands, Canadian, Australian, New Zealand, Siamese and South Korean vessels.

Three Canadian destroyers—the Sioux, Cayuga and Athabaskan—are serving with the U.N. fleet in the Korean theatre.

No Ill Effects

OTTAWA, Dec. 29 (CP)—Just about the only individuals that didn't mind this week's cold spell were Mr. and Mrs. Allan Keefer's goldfish. The goldfish bowl froze into a solid chunk of ice when the Keefers' furnace went out while they were visiting Montreal. T[illegible]owed out, the goldfish took up life as usual, apparently refreshed by the enforced rest.

Ontario Plans To Limit Labor Imports

TORONTO, Dec. 29. (CP)—As many skilled workers as Ontario industry can absorb are to be brought from Europe within the next few months to relieve a labor shortage in the skilled trades.

Planning Minister Griesinger announced the project Wednesday night and explained in an interview Thursday that the Ontario government will assist the passage only of workers who can be fitted into the provinces industrial and commercial situation.

His announcement gave no figures. Asked for details Thursday, he said the number of 25,000 might be about right, although plans still were being worked out.

(The Canadian Press erroneously attributed to Mr. Griesinger Wednesday night a statement that 75,000 workers would be involved in the new immigration scheme — 35,000 from Britain and another 40,000 from continental Europe.)

Won't Bring Surplus

"Our plan is only to bring in the number of skilled workers that industry can properly absorb and the number that will fit into our economy," said Mr. Griesinger. "We have a list of the skilled trades that are needed or will soon be needed and we are concentrating on that, not on any specific number.

"We are sending our own selectors over to screen the applicants and some industries will do the same."

He added that the province will be working closely with federal authorities on the project but that he did not know what the Federal government proposes in the way of mass immigration."

Two Navy Officers Exchanging Jobs

OTTAWA, Dec. 29 (CP). — The navy announced today the executive officer of the aircraft carrier Magnificent and the Director of Naval Reserves will exchange jobs early in January.

Cmdr. Angus G. Boulton, 38, of Russel, Man., and Toronto, will leave the carrier to head reserve recruiting and training ashore and afloat. He will hold the acting rank of captain.

He succeeds Acting Capt. Howard L. Quinn, 40, of Vancouver, who goes to the Magnificent after 15 months as director of naval reserves.

Cmdr. Boulton became the first RCNVR officer to command a destroyer in the war, taking over HMCS Annapolis in December, 1942. He also commanded the Corvette Rimouski and the destroyer St. Laurent and served as senior training officer at HMCS Somers Isles, wartime Canadian Navy sea training base at Bermuda, and as Chief of Staff to the Flag Officer, Atlantic coast, at Halifax.

Cmdr. Quinn, who started as an ordinary seaman in the RCNVR at Prince Rupert, B. C., 25 years ago, won the Distinguished Service Cross in 1945 while senior officer of the 25th escort group on convoy duty in the Atlantic.

E. J. Collins Named Assistant Manager

The appointment of E. J. Collins as assistant manager of the Peterborough branch office of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation was announced today from Toronto by Angus McCaskey, M.B.E., Ontario regional supervisor.

Mr. Collins is a veteran of four years' war service with the Royal Canadian Air Force, holding the rank of warrant officer when discharged in 1945. A graduate of St. Patrick's College, Ottawa, Mr. Collins joined Central Mortgage head office accounting department in Ottawa in January, 1948. He takes up his duties in Peterborough Jan. 1, 1951.

US Plants Ready To Cut New Car Output

DETROIT, Dec. 29 (AP)—The American automobile industry prepared today to cut output of new cars at the start of the new year. National emergency demands will force curtailment.

Production cutbacks will cause layoffs of a large number of auto workers. The unemployment, however, is expected to be only temporary as the industry converts to defence production.

The car makers said government restrictions on use of critical materials make the cutbacks necessary. The trade paper Automotive News said the cutbacks will range from 20 to 30 per cent throughout the industry in the early months of the new year.

Four companies have announced plans for cutbacks. They are General Motors, Packard, Ford and Studebaker.

General Motors said a week's shutdown at its Linden, N.J., plant starting next week would make some 3,000 workers idle.

Packard Motor Company announced it will curtail auto production approximately 20 per cent starting Jan. 2. The firm will lay off 1,800 workers here.

The Ford Motor Company Lincoln-Mercury division announced a cut in car production from 440 to 280 units a day at Metuchen, N.J. More than 1,000 workers will be idle. This will bring total layoffs in Ford plants throughout the United States to about 13,000.

Studebaker Corporation, at South Bend, Ind., has announced a 20 per cent cutback of automobiles and trucks during January.

Mail, Phone Calls Set New Cobourg Record

COBOURG, Dec. 29— (ENS)—An increase of 15 per cent in cards and other envelope mail was noted during the Christmas season at Cobourg post office. From Dec. 14 to Dec. 23, the number of cards that went through the post office was 130,000. Parcels were about the same as the previous year. By last Friday the bulk of the Christmas mail had been sent. Thirteen extra employees were hired to handle mail.

Calls Set Record

The local Bell Telephone office hit a new high last Saturday in local calls handled in one day when a total of 13,591 calls were placed, plus 860 outside connections. The number of local calls last Friday were 11,375 and 766 outside: Sunday was 6,943 and 518 and on Christmas Day, 7,569 and 752. Last year on December 24, 11,376 local and 854 outside calls were handled; December 25, 6,546 and 712, and on Dec. 26, 6,908 and 602.

Bush Wolf Shot Near Cobourg

COBOURG, Dec. 29—(ENS)—A 22-pound male brush wolf was shot yesterday afternoon about a mile-and-a-half north of No. 2 Highway, and three miles east of Cobourg.

The animal was shot by Russell Baker, John Street, Port Hope, after a two-hour run by two hounds. Baker and Ross Archer of R.R. 4, Cobourg, went fox hunting in Turpin's swemp and toward midafternoon they heard their two hounds giving tongue.

The hunters thought it was a fox but the chase continued for two hours and then the animal doubled back where the hunters were. Baker was surprised to see that it was a wolf. The first shell from his 12 gauge shotgun struck the animal in the hip but it continued on for 20 minutes until a head shot killed it. The first shot fractured its hip. Northumberland and Durham Counties pay a $50 bounty on wolves.

Community Rink Busy

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 29 — (ENS)—The last few days of zero temperatures have stepped up activity at the local Community Arena. The Arena Board has opened the rink for skating, and local youngsters are spending considerable time at the centre. Local hockey teams are getting regular workouts in preparation for the coming packed schedule in the T.V.L. and minor leagues.

The building has been given a fresh coat of paint both inside and out.

Canada, US Continuing Co-operation of Wartime

By CRAIG ARMSTRONG

NEW YORK, Dec. 29 —(CP)—Canada and the United States are facing an uneasy peace with the co-operation and co-ordination of wartime.

An economic pact, signed by the two countries Oct. 26 in Washington, renews partnership of the Second World War under which the neighboring powers pooled their economic resources and skills for the common defence.

The unprecedented accord not only highlighted the relations between Canada and the United States in 1950 but, since the treaty has no termination date, also may be the forerunner of a partnership representing the world's most powerful combination.

The pact sets forth a set of economic principles which untimately will virtually eliminate all barriers to the free flow of arms and equipment between the two countries. Skills, raw materials and finished products will be shared in building up North Atlantic defences against the threat of aggression—just as the 1941 Hyde Park agreement linked the two countries in war.

Fuel Consultations

As measures familiar during the war, such a controls and allocation of materials, become necessary to assure success of the defence program, the two governments will take steps to meet them after the fullest consultations.

Canada's trade minister, C. D. Howe, said the Canadian government welcomed the pact as a "major step in our joint effort to strengthen the defences of North America and the entire free world."

Dean Acheson, American state secretary, said the pact reaffirms and reinvigorates the principles of the Hyde Park agreement "which played so vast a part in enabling our two countries to make a common effort in the last war."

Steps were taken during the year to allow a freer flow of civilian goods across the border in the ordinary exchange of the two countries' products. Canada has actively campaigned for such measures and in a New York speech last February Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent called on the United States to lower trade barriers as a possible huge boost to Western security.

Tariffs Cut

American tariffs on a number of items were reduced and a new bonding procedure and a new-type bond for import transactions were introduced eliminating much red tape which had been hindering entry of Canadian products into the American market.

Canada did away with emergency import controls imposed in 1948 as a dollar-saving measure, allowing many US goods which had been on the banned list to be imported into Canada.

The St. Lawrence Seaway and Power Project remained stymied because of inaction by the American Congress. The House of Representatives held hearings on the $1,000,000,000 plan and heard administration leaders, industrialists and many congressmen urge its approval. Canada already has approved the long-awaited project.

Treaty Ratified

A treaty between the two countries to increase the output of power from the Niagara River and safeguard the scenic beauty of Niagara Falls was signed in June and ratified by the US Senate in August.

The pact, which runs for 50 years, provides additional hydro-electric power for Ontario and New York State. There was little progress on the Passamaquoddy Power Project which would harness the tides of Passamaquoddy Bay lying between Maine and New Brunswick.

Officials and delegations of the two countries continued to visit each others' capitals and discussed fields of mutual interest such as defence, customs, immigration, finance and economics.

Wife Dies Suddenly But Clown Gives Show

MANCHESTER, England, Dec. 29 (Reuters)—A real-life version of "Laugh, Clown, Laugh" was enacted here Thursday night when La Fay, a clown from Copenhagen, scampered around a circus ring while his wife Olivia lay dead.

She collapsed and died at his side as he was putting on his make-up for the show. She was 67.

For 36 years she had been his dresser and had helped him make circus and theatre audiences laugh in many lands.

The circus management told him he need not go on Thursday night.

"I felt I had to ," he said. "I said to myself 'I must keep at it.'"

Explorer In Arabia Bertram Thomas Dies

LONDON, Dec. 29—(Reuters)—The death was announced today of Bertram Thomas, 58, an Englishman who became Vizier (Prime Minister) to an Arabian monarch and was one of the greatest explorers of Arabi.

During the First World War he served in Mesopotamia (Iraq) and stayed there as an assistant political officer from 1918 to 1922. Then he became British representative in Transjordan till 1924. In 1925, he became vizier and finance minister to the Sultan of Omar and Muscat.

He remained in the posts for five years and made many long journeys into unknown southern Arabia. In 1931, he became the first European to cross and vast Rub Al Khali desert.

He wrote a history of the Arabs and other books.

In 1944 he went to Palestine as director of the Middle East Centre for Arabic studies. He also had served as adviser to the Shell Oil group in the Middle East.

300 Canadians To Leave Korea

PUSAN, Korea, Dec. 29 (CP).—Some 300 specialists, the first Canadian soldiers to serve in Korea, are headed home after preparing an advanced training camp for the Dominion's United Nations combat troops.

Next stop now for the advance party of the 25th Infantry Brigade is a staging camp in Japan. There was no information here today as to how long the Canadians will remain there before continuing to North America.

Their destination is Fort Lewis, Wash., where the bulk of Canada's U.N. force is undergoing intensive brigade training. Some of the returning soldiers likely will fly to the United States but most will go back by sea.

These are the men who set up a South Korean camp for the 2nd Battalion Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, a crack unit expected to move north soon into the thick of the Korean fighting.

Announcement last week of the decision to order the advance party home led to speculation that there now is little chance that the entire 10,000-man special force will be committed in the Far East. A popular belief in Canada is that the full brigade eventually will be sent to Western Europe.

Charles Doupe

The funeral for Charles Doupe of Hamilton, formerly of Peterborough, who died Sunday, was was held Thursday at the Comstock funeral home.

The Rev. W. J. Gilling of St. Luke's Anglican church, conducted the service.

The pallbearers were Roy Spears, Harold Bennet, Earl Huston, William Hill, Harold Rose and Arthur Long. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Slight Fire Damage

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 29 — (ENS)—A fire in the pipes at the home of M. Curry at the northern outskirts of the town Thursday morning was brought under control before the arrival of firemen. Some delay was experienced in obtaining permission to send the fire fighting equipment to the house, which is located outside the town, but their services were not needed when they did arrive, as the occupants of the home had subdued the blaze.

U.S. Newsprint Comes Under Hoarding Law

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP)—Newsprint is moderately tight but not "seriously" so, and there are no present plans to limit its use, the National Production Authority said Thursday.

Newsprint and other paper products were covered by an anti-hoarding order issued Thursday by NPA. The action prohibits United States users—including newspaper publishers — from accumulating supplies "in excess of reasonable demands for business, personal or home consumption."

A spokesman for the agency said this requires no change in present purchase or delivery practices. He said a "reasonable supply" may be defined as the amount needed to sustain normal operations without interruption—but not more.

For ordinary purposes, the spokesman said, newspapers may consider themselves subject to the same restraint as manufacturers who use steel. Under the Industrial Inventory Controls, they are permitted a "practicable minimum working inventory."

Could Use More

Newsprint output has increased about five per cent from a year ago. NPA officials said, however, that many publishers could use more if it were available.

If the gap between supply and demand thus widens, the spokesman said, NPA would call in the newspaper publishers and ask their advice on how to establish a fair apportionment of supplies.

It is quite conceivable, the spokesman said, that publishers might decide on some limitation system; if so, NPA will be willing to give it full consideration, the spokesman promised.

There is little chance of expanding the production of newsprint, 75 per cent of which is produced in Canada, NPA has stated. Some mill expansions which had been under consideration were abandoned when the paper producers learned that construction materials and needed equipment might be difficult to obtain during the emergency.

5 Conventions Will Be Held

TORONTO, Dec. 29 (CP).—The Ontario Older Boys' Parliament at its night session in the legislative chamber at Queen's Park, passed the "Conference Act 1951," calling for five conventions next year.

Discussion of the measure concerned the setting up of a program of Christian youth meetings to publicize the work and activities of the Boys' Parliament.

The Act calls for conventions to be held at North Bay March 2-4; Ottawa, March 30-April 1; Brantford, Oct. 5-7; Toronto, Oct. 12-14 and Kitchener, Oct. 19-21.

Delegates to the conventions must be between 15 and 20 years of age. One aim of the meetings is to discover leadership material among boys and to promote Christian fellowship and the discussion of problems peculiar to boys.

It also was decided to hold conferences for boys between 12 and 18 years next year in London, Simcoe County, Brockville, Kingston, South Porcupine and Kirkland Lake.

Delegates will be divided into junior and intermediate groups and will discuss such activities as camps, finance campaigns, athletic meets and social events.

Bites Kittens' Tails

WINDSOR, Dec. 29 (CP)—A five-day jail term was imposed on Nicholas Kozubiak for biting the tails off three kittens. Defence counsel J. E. Zeron said he believed it was a common practice to bite off animals' tails in Kozubiak's homeland, Poland. He said Kozubiak had been drinking wine and did not remember the incident.

THE US AIR FORCE disclosed that lightning-fast F-94 all-weather jet planes, like this, now are guarding New York city and the industrial East. The new jet planes are equipped with radar and devices to give them additional power for combat or faster climbing speed. They are operating from McGuire Air Force base at Fort Dix, NJ, and other bases of the Eastern Air Defence Force. The planes have a service ceiling of more than 45,000 feet and a top speed in excess of 600 miles an hour.

Comedy Main Fare For 1950 On Broadway As War Looms

NEW YORK, Dec. 29 — (CP)—Broadway in 1950 offered headline-conscious theatre-goers more escapism than any year since last war. Throughout the year there was a preponderance of comedies— some of enduring humor— and many musicals.

Two light pieces which opened early in the year survived the summer lull and still are box-office hits, joining a number of comedies which have established themselves in the new season that opened in September, "Peter Pan" Sir James Barrie's eternal favorite, brought Jean Arthur to Broadway in the title role now nearing the 300-performance mark. Set in Ottawa, Robert Fontaine's "The Happy Time" is a roisterous comedy soon to hit the 400-performance mark.

Hold-over comedies of a previous season are "Mr. Roberts," "Kiss Me Kate" and "South Pacific" in the musical field.

Still leading.

Comedies have held the upper band in the new season, now three months old. British poet Christopher Fry is responsible for two of the current comedies on Broadway— "The Lady's Not for Burning" and "Ring Round the Moon."

The former stars John Gielgud and Pamela Brown; the other is a translation of Jean Anouilh's "L'Invitation au Chateu" starring Quebec-born Lucille Watson.

A serious piece, handled lightly at times, was the most controversal play to reach Broadway in decades. It was T. S. Eliot's "Cocktail Party." Despite critics' admission of failure to understand what the American-born British poet is attempting to say, the Eliot sermon on predesination still brings full houses.

the Eliot sermon on predestina-Carson McCullers, is a tragi-comedy produced by two Montrealers, Robert Whitehead and Stanley Martineau. Alexander Knox, of London, Ont., wrote, directed and starred in his own play, "The Closing Door," and his fellow - townsman, Hume Cronyn, had two directorial successes during the year. "Now I Lay Me Down To Sleep" last season and "Hilda Crane" this season.

Toronto-born Raymond Massey tried his hand at directing and starring in "The Father." a tragedy of last season, and Gene Lockhart, of London, Ont., starred for a while in "Death of a Salesman," the hit of two seasons ago.

On the dancing stage Allen McLerie, of Grand 'Mere, Que., had the lead in the msuical "Miss Liberty," then sailed to Europe with the New York City Ballet to dance the lead in "Rodeo," joining Melissa Hayden, of Toronto, a star of that company.

This season has seen a good many Canadians featured. As well as Miss Watson in "Ring Around the Moon," that play has Betty Low, of Ottawa, in its cast. "Bell, Book and Candle" features Jean Adair, of Hamilton, and the new Ethel Merman musical "Call Me Madam" has Montreal comedian Pat Harrington.

Patricia Denise, Vancouver dancer, is featured with the new Olsen and Johnson show "Pardon Our French."

Newcomers to Broadway include Richard Carlyle, of St. Catharines, who appeared in "Mr. Barry's Etchings"; George Hall, Toronto comedian, who was in "Touch and Go"; Lloyd Richards, of Toronto, in "Freight," and Henry Beckman, of Halifax and Yarmouth, N.S., who had a part in "The Golden State," a comedy of this season.

Press Freedom To Be Discussed At 3-Day Meet

OTTAWA, Dec. 29 (CP). — Freedom of the press and international news coverage—as related to university newspapers — will be among topics discussed at a three-day meeting of the Canadian University Press. The sessions opened Thursday.

Jack Stedmond of the University of Saskatchewan is chairman of the convention. Some 50 embryo journalists representing campus papers in 14 universities from coast to coast will attend the 13th CUP conference. Host is the 102-year-old University of Ottawa's French-language weekly, La Rotonde.

"You have a great mission — the mission of influencing for the good of the student body," the university president, the Very Rev. J. C. Laframboise said in his welcoming address. "CUP means a lot to the welfare of our Canadian universities."

Six topics have been lined up for round-table discussion. They are: the college editor and the present crisis—his function, objectivity on news reports; staff problems, censorship and freedom of the press—relations between paper and student council, faculty; international news coverage; the editorial page; the place of sex in the university paper. The latter topic was suggested by the University of Toronto's paper, The Varsity.

Keep The Blighters Out!

Is the Ontario Government out of its wits? Fancy the folly of it—planning to bring out from Europe 75,000 workers, chiefly industrial ones, next year. Where are the jobs for them—aren't some Ontario people now unemployed? Where are they going to live—and they will go to cities, obviously, since they are factory workers. Why, there are lots of good Canadian Ontario families now living in basements, garrets, or two rooms. This province is already crowded with people.

* * *

That is one way of looking at the Government's announced intention of bringing 75,000 skilled workers to the province in 1951. It is a faint-hearted, uninspired view, we feel, and if too many people held it, this province and country would rot from inanition, fester from self-satisfaction, or suffer invasion because of selfishness and the lack of power to defend ourselves.

* * *

In the first place, Ontario needs more skilled workers. The demands on our factories next year are going to be staggering and there are not enough trained men to meet them. There are jobs for these immigrant workers. There is virtually no permanent unemployment in Ontario now; although a few thousand are jobless because of seasonal limitations (in construction projects, for instance). While the housing situation is far from satisfactory, it is not as bad as pessimists say. Further, the experience of the last war shows that when new housing is needed it will be provided. The war-time houses were not built before the need for them came. If cities, provinces and the country waited on houses before they got the occupants they would never have the houses. In matters such as housing, the supply never anticipates the demand. The demand creates the houses.

* * *

A policy of wait-wait-wait is not constructive. It is not by such means that places and nations grow strong and prosper. And there is no time to wait until Ontario's house is in apple-pie order, and, literally, all the houses of the built-which may be required, all the jobs laid out in blue-prints, and all the economic strains resolved. Ontario is not crowded. It is empty compared with countries like Belgium and Britain. It is potentially and in reality very wealthy, but we in this province have to help ourselves to the wealth by calling in more people to make it. Finally, Ontario, the chief industrial province in the Dominion will have to provide most of the tools to make and keep the country strong. The men which the Ontario Government proposes to bring out are necessary to the re-armament program, if for no other reason.

Better Success Away From Lake Success?

One of the promising actions taken by the U.N. General Assembly which disbanded before Christmas was the decision to hold the next Assembly in Europe. The United States is already very dominant in U.N. matters because of its size and power. To hold the Assembly meetings in Flushing Meadows, a suburb of New York, increases the suspicion that many nations may have, justly or no, that U.N. is under the thumb of the American State Department. Further, now the atmosphere in the U.S. is so charged with war-sparks that delegates must live and work there as if they were beside an explosive furnace. The world situation can be seen more steadily this year in quieter Europe. The people of most of U.N. member nations will not feel that their delegates to the next Assembly are in danger of getting their fingers burnt in an American cauldron . . . . The Security Council is still consigned to Lake Success.

Drink For Quebec Drivers

Over the Christmas holiday Toronto police made a great effort to prevent accidents happening because of drinking drivers. Patrol men were stationed at hotel doors to nab tipsy celebrants who showed any inclination to get behind the wheel of a car, and their cars were impounded over night. In other ways the police brought their weight down on drinking drivers. But they permitted illegal parking, to encourage woozy drivers to pull up wherever and whenever they felt like stopping rather than continuing. There were good results from this intensive drive against drinking drivers. Fewer traffic accidents than usual were reported and there was not one fatality.

Montreal, on the other hand, did not get down to business in the same way. And Montreal, as everybody knows, is a place where booze flows freely from five thousand 'outlets'. Montreal has the reputation o. being a pretty liquid city, and has always had that reputation. And traffic conditions in Montreal at the best of times are shocking. Yet in Montreal the police took no extraordinary measures at all, which seems rather lax to our stern Ontario eyes. The result? Over the Christmas week-end there was not one fatality in Montreal caused by a traffic accident.

As a matter of odd fact, close-bunged Ontario had eighteen fatalities altogether over the Christmas holiday, that is, fatalities due to traffic accidents (and we suppose that there was a bit of booze involved in some of them). The wet province of Quebec had precisely one fatality due to a car accident.

We dislike taking such examples as a generalized proof of anything relating to the methods and amounts of liquor consumption, but we have a notion that in the province of Quebec, where liquor has never been under the ban, people are more familiar with the effects of liquor on their systems, and have a better notion of how to drink. Really, it is not what is in the bottle, but the way you use it, which counts.

The Late R. M. Glover

It was with deep regret that this newspaper published the news of the sudden death of Roland Maxwell Glover, who was associated with The Examiner from his fourteenth year until 1935—a period of forty-five years in all. There are at present fifteen men on this newspaper who began their association with it during the time that Mr. Glover was general manager. It was not primarily his association with The Examiner, however, which made Mr. Glover a man of consequence in Peterborough. He was keenly interested in municipal affairs, in politics, in sports, and indeed in every side of Peterborough life which gave the city vitality and contributed to its growth.

He was not a man who gave his confidence readily, and although he had a very large circle of acquaintance his circle of intimates was a small one. He was popular as an employer, as a sportsman and organizer of sports, and during his years in municipal politics he enjoyed widespread confidence and respect. His reserve, however, was not easily surmounted; like many men of reserved temperament, those who knew him best spoke of him in the highest terms.

He was one of a generation of men who served this city ably during an important period in its growth. Although Mr. Glover twice contested the Federal seat it could not be said that his heart was in national or provincial politics. Peterborough was the focus of his interest, and it was to Peterborough that he gave his best.

Who Done It?

We share in the consternation which has arisen because of the robbery of the Stone of Scone from Westminster Abbey. Nevertheless we cannot blind ourself to the fact that the robbers have achieved a remarkable piece of larceny: they have removed a large and heavy piece of stone (about 350 pounds) from a conspicuous place in a public building, and they have vanished. That takes clever planning and neat execution. We hope that we shall soon learn the Who of this spectacular crime, but we shall be even more interested in the How of it.

All the reports appear to think that the stone was stolen by Scottish Nationalists. Perhaps so. There is a legend that so long as the Stone remains in the Abbey the friendship of England and Scotland will endure, and they will continue their political union. Scottish Nationalists may have done the deed to break the union. But it is equally possible that English Nationalists, eager to get rid of the Scots who have been descending hungrily from the North for so many centuries, have stolen the Stone for the same reason.

Or it may have been Irish Nationalists, for the Stone was stolen by the Scots from Ireland. The Stone is Lia-fail, the sacred stone of Tara, which was for long the inauguration stone of the Kings of Ireland. The Scots stole it from the Irish, and the English stole it from the Scots.

And from whom did the Irish steal it? Presumably from the Hebrews, for the legend is that Lia-fail was the very stone upon which the patriarch Jacob rested his head when he dreamed of the ladder to Heaven. It is said to have been taken to Ireland by the Dedannans; who the Dedannans were we have not yet been able to discover. But obviously the Stone is of great symbolic importance to the Hebrews, and for this reason we advance the theory that the Zionists have stolen it and that it is at this moment being conveyed to Israel.

The Irish stole it from the Jews; the Scots stole it from the Irish; the English stole it from the Scots. If the Scots have it now, they have no right to it, nor have the Irish. When found the police should return it at once to the Jews.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Problem of the day: Will we get all-out war, or just all wore out?

"There is altogether too much talk about everything", said Myron Taylor, back in the U.S.A. from Rome where he represented his country at the Vatican. Does he mean lower tones, rather than less talk, after his experience gained in the "whispering gallery of Europe"?

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

DEAR ALPHA: I wonder if you happen to know the rhyme about a child who is born on Christmas day being fair and wise. I am one who should be!

ANSWER: Perhaps you are referring to the rhymed calendar of birthdays which has many variations. Here is one:

Monday's child is fair in face,
Tuesday's child is full of grace,
Wednesday's child is full of woe,
Thursday's child has far to go,
Friday's child is loving and giving,
Saturday's child works hard for its living;
And a child that's born on Christmas day
Is fair and wise, and good and gay.

Often in the second last line, Sunday replaces Christmas. This is set down in J. O. Halliwell-Phillips' collection: Nursery Rhymes and Nursery Tales of England, (1845). I hope, at this season, that you are good and gay, as well as fair and wise!

There are all sorts of verses and doggerel about days and weeks. Here is an old English one about finger-nails and when to cut them:

Cut them on Monday, cut them for health;
Cut them on Tuesday, cut them for wealth;
Cut them on Wednesday, cut them for news;
Cut them on Thursday, a pair of new shoes;
Cut them on Friday, cut them for sorrow;
Cut them Saturday, see your true love tomorrow;
Cut them on Sunday, your safety seek
The Devil will have you the rest of the week.

DEAR ALPHA: (1) Where was the stone obtained, that went into the R.C. church in Douro?

(2) When Tom Moore went to see Bobbie Burns, he was told Bobbie was in the cow byre. When he arrived there Bobbie was sweeping it out.

"You Scottish loon,
Lay down your broom
And let Tom Moore pass by."
"You Irish ass,
There's room to pass
Between the wall and I."

Who recorded this incident? Where is it found?

ANSWER: I pass both questions on to my readers. Surely a Douro resident can answer No. 1 for me.

The jingle about Tom Moore and Robert Burns is obviously apocryphal (as well as ungrammatical). Moore was only 17 when Burns died.

I doubt that Moore had anything to do with concocting the rhyme. He was a pleasant, bright person in a drawing-room but the byre or its earthy language was hardly his nest. His friend Lord Byron used to write him—or tell him—the most scandalous anecdotes about his own (Byron's) improper behaviour, just to embarrass Tom Moore. But many incidents in Byron's career would make even the most hardened sinner blush.

SIR: How old was Catherine Parr Traill, the noted Lakefield writer, when she died?

ANSWER: Catherine Parr Traill, nee Strickland, was born January 9th, 1802 and died August 29th, 1899. She was, therefore, 97 when she died.

ALPHA: When people say 'Oh he's a Cassandra', what do they mean?

ANSWER: A Cassandra is a person who foretells doom, or takes the worst or most gloomy view of things present and future—and is not often proved wrong afterwards. Cassandra was the daughter of Priam, king of Troy. She received the gift of propnecy from Apollo who was enamoured of her. But she slighted him and the god contrived that no trust should be placed in her predictions. After the fall of Troy, Agammemnon got her and took her back to Greece. She foretold the calamity which awaited him, i.e. that his wife would put him to death. Which she did. So Cassandra was right, as Casandras are supposed to be, even if they are not believable.

The phrase must not be confused with 'Oh, he's a Casanova!' Casanova was a horse of another colour, so to speak; at least of the other sex.

SIR: I came to Peterborough only this summer, and I find it strange and comic that people here talk about their "wheels" instead of their bikes. Down in the metropolis from which I hail, a wheel is a bike, and a bike is not a wheel.

ANSWER: 'Bike' is more modern than 'wheel'. In England as in Canada, communities which refer habitually to the machine as a 'wheel' are probably longer accustomed to such useful gadgets of civilization as a bicycle. I would almost say that communities in which bicycles are wheels and not bikes are more civilized.

You could retort, of course, that the word 'wheel' is the mark of a small and poor place, unable in earlier days to afford many carriages, and in later days many limousines; it therefore had to depend for its means of locomotion on shank's mare or on 'wheels'. You could say that in such places it was a common means of getting about, and that the common means of gettin gabout, and that the dependence on the word 'wheel' proves it.

What I mean to indicate by all this is that a 'wheel' was the natural word to describe a bicycle of earlier days. It was not obviously a bi-cycle i.e. two-wheeler. It had one big wheel and a little one to accompany it. It is only since 1890 that the bicycle has had two wheels of the same diameter.... Incidentally, in England 'bike' usually means a motor-bike, or motor-cycle.

SIR: Why do they call a small bottle of liquor a Mickey? Has it anything to do with Mickey Mouse?

ANSWER: That is an ingenious suggestion—Mickey size for a mouse—but the term is older than Disney's Mickey Mouse. I believe that it originated in the Foreign Legion. Mique was the French nickname for the small phial the soldiers used sometimes to conceal valuables in their bodies, and khee was, of course, the native drink. Thus any small bottle of intoxicants was referred to as a Mique-khee. There are those who insist that the Mickey was named after Mickey O'Houlihan, the notorious bootlegging dwarf from Detroit who flourished during the probition era, and was so small that he couldn't deliver full quarts, even United States quarts. This, however, scarcely seems tenable.

FOR THE RECORD: Thus ends (a) 1950, (b) Peterborough's centenary year, (c) the anniversary cakes which were internally illuminated with some kind of weak-fired brandy, obviously, and which hung over down-town intersections, there to toss drunkenly when the wind blew, (d) Alpha's efforts for another year. Herewith my compliments of the season to all readers, kind and unkind, friendly and malicious, great and small, sour and sweet, sober and reeling. I wonder if Mr. Robert Browning were alive now whether he would revise his famous lines to make them read:

The worst is yet to be,
The last for which The Bomb was made.

No, I think not. The future always looks black to people who do not see the spectrum of life. Browning did.

Fable For Our Times

(ECONOMIC INTELLIGENCE)

ONCE upon a time, in the First World War, to be exact, a young chemist was assigned by the Army to a job in a munitions factory. He worked in a small wooden building, well separated from any other valuable property, where he and an assistant brewed one of those particularly vicious concoctions which explodes if you so much as look at it cross-eyed.

One day the chemist was assigned a new and untried assistant. Our hero explained to him his few simple duties, showed him which dials to watch, what valves to turn, and where the escape chute was. In particular, the chemist explained that the temperature of the kettle must remain below a certain point, if all sorts of horrible explosions were not to occur.

All this taken care of, the chemist went out for lunch. He turned, as he reached the doorway, with a final caution: "Whatever you do," he said, "don't let that thermometer get over 400 degrees!"

Back from lunch an hour later, the chemist found the boy bent over a washbasin in the corner of the shed, carefully rinsing off a small object.

The boy turned and smiled proudy. "That thermometer," he said, "was just about to reach 400 a little while ago, and you said it shouldn't, so I'm cooling it off under the cold water."

The chemist barely had time to shove the boy and himself through the escape chute and light out for cover before the big blow-off.

Any resemblance between this story and the use of price controls to cool off the inflation thermometer is purely coincidental.

Sunset Over Tibet

(NEW YORK TIMES)

TIBET has been a romantic place for all of us to read about, but it is a grim reality to India and always has been. One casual glance at a map will give a general idea of why New Delhi must worry about the existence of a strong and potentially hostile neighbour on her northern frontier. It will be even more evident if one looks at a Chinese map.

The Tibetan-Indian border is by no means fixed or agreed upon, especially in the eastern part. Indian maps place it on the crest of the high mountaintops of the Himalayas, but the recent Chinese maps show it well down in the foothills only a few miles north of the Brahmaputra River, inside the territory that India calls Assam. As a matter of fact, our own maps more generally agree with the Chinese than the Indian.

Until now it has been an academic question, for Tibet was a remote buffer state, under Chinese suzerainty but autonomous in rule. It used to take weeks to get to Lhasa from India or China, but now a whole Chinese army is making the journey in a few weeks. Airplanes, jeeps and improved roads render Tibet accessible. From the defensive viewpoint, it will make all the difference to India whether the frontier is on the mountain crests or whether the Chinese can jump off without hindrance into the Brahmaputra valley.

Nepal is already in a ferment; Sikkim, Bhutan and Kashmir are also involved. India has to worry about such things because of the offensive way in which the Chinese Reds are seizing Tibet. The latest news tells of a demand by Peiping that India withdraw the troops she stations in Tibet to guard the trade routes.

The whole Tibetan incident is further evidence of the way every spot on the globe is being drawn into the conflict of East and West. Communism is no respecter of history or geography. Tibet has a simple, pastoral society, but there are families that trace their land-holdings back a thousand years, and the religious system has even deeper roots and spreads into all surrounding countries.

Tibet has been an anomaly in our modern world, a country on the other side of the looking glass. As the globe shrinks it becomes less and less possible for any region or any people to be different or even to be a No Man's Land in the cold war. The flood tide of our century has at last reached the roof of the world.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Righteous art thou, O Lord, and upright are thy judgements . . . Thy word is very pure: therefore thy servant loveth it. (Ps. 119: 137, 140.)

O thou afflicted, tossed with tempest, and not comforted, behold, I will lay thy stones with fair colours, and lay thy foundations with sapphires. And I will make thy windows of agates, and thy gates of carbuncles, and all thy borders of pleasant stones. And all thy children shall be taught of the Lord; and great shall be the peace of thy children. (Isa. 54: 11-13.)

* * *

Enter ye in at the strait gate: for wide is the gate, and broad is the way, that leadeth to destruction, and many there be which go in thereat: because strait is the gate, and narrow is the way, which leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it. . . .

Therefore whosoever heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them, I will liken him unto a wise man, which built his house upon a rock: and the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell not: for it was founded upon a rock. . . .

And it came to pass, when Jesus had ended these sayings, the people were astonished at his doctrine: for he taught them as one having authority, and not as the scribes. (Matt. 7: 13, 14, 24, 25, 28, 29.)

CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

Sir: I thought that you might be interested in what I did with two Centennial Editions of the Peterborough Examiner.

My hobby is the making of scrapbooks to add to my scrapbook library. I made a "Peterborough" scrapbook using two copies of the paper in order to paste on both sides of the pages. I am,

Yours very truly,

The Mayor's Red Face

(Edmonton Journal)

That bright red glow in the west of England is the face of the Mayor of Penzance.

His Worship, according to a news story, was presiding at a public function when he discovered that his medallion of office was missing. He apparently assumed that one of the guests had stolen it, and he took drastic action to recover it.

Three hundred people were locked in a hall for questioning—amid loud protests, we imagine, and appeals to the rights of free-born Englishmen. Then the medallion was discovered safe and sound in the mayor's parlor, where he had left it when he forgot to put it on.

This misadventure recalls a yarn about the unhappy experience of a prominent Ottawa man. According to the story, he was driving to Toronto one day when he saw a young fellow "thumbing a ride" and picked him up. The Ottawa man soon became uneasy over his kind act. His suspicions came to a head when he felt in his pocket—and discovered that his wallet was gone.

Here was obviously a crisis; any time now, our hero thought, his passenger might finish the job of murdering him. However, he was a man of quick decision. He suddenly stopped the car and announced that he thought he had a flat tire. Would the hitchhiker please step out and take a look?

As the young man opened the door, the Ottawa man gave him a mighty shove that sent him flying into the road. Then he roared away at full speed.

When he reached his hotel, he found a telegram from his wife informing him that he had left his wallet on the dresser at home.

"She says will we please be very careful as it's a trinket set and the one she sent last year got broke."

Use Helicopter To Measure Depths Of Rapids

BUFFALO, Dec. 29 (AP). — A helicopter has proven successful in measuring for the first time the depth of the upper Niagara river rapids.

The district U. S. engineer's office announced Thursday completion of the last of 252 soundings by helicopter and described the venture as "highly successful."

The eight or nine miles an hour current previously had defied all efforts to probing its depth for chartmakers.

Engineers started the survey of the Niagara river from its source at Lake Erie to Niagara Falls, 13 miles downstream, Oct. 16. Its purpose is to help find a way to protect the beauty of the falls from erosion.

The last mile proved inaccessable to ordinary methods of dropping a line from a boat because of the swift current.

Balloons were contemplated. Also moving towers. The 4,200-foot width of the river on the Canadian side of Goat Island, just above the Horseshoe Falls, made this impracticable.

Put To Work

The helicopter was put to work several weeks ago. A wire line was suspended from a system of pulleys with a weight and a bright pennant attacked. This was counter-balanced by another weight which showed slack when the first one touched the river's bottom.

At this instant, the helicopter observers signalled men on the shore by radio. The shore observers, using surveying instruments took readings on the pennant, which enabled them to determine the elevation of the river bottom at that point.

Still to be measured is the part of the rapids on the American side of Goat Island. This is only about 300 feet wide and, because of tree-fringed shores, is impracticable for helicopter soundings. The balloons can be controlled from the shore successfully, however, because the river is narrow there.

An aerial photo survey of the surface waters to determine currents will complete the job.

The data will be used to build a 60-foot model at the U.S. engineers' waterways experimental station at Vicksburg, Miss. The model will be studied to determine a way to reduce erosion at the American and Canadian falls, which each year chisels from one to five feet from their rock crests at the centres.

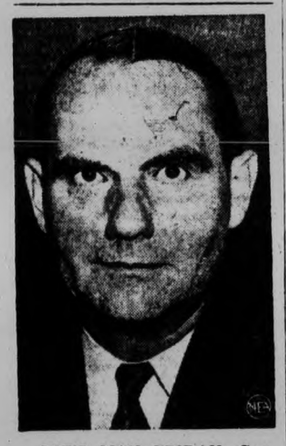

FLAMES RACED through an entire blocks of buildings in Magog December 27, leaving more than 50 persons homeless and causing damage estimated at close to $350,000. There were no serious injuries reported during the outbreak, shown at its height in the above telephoto picture.

Hold Up Drug Store

TORONTO, Dec. 29 (CP)—Two gunmen escaped with $250 in cash Thursday night in a holdup of a Tamblyn drug store at Bloor and Sherbourne Streets. Police said the robbers are believed to be the same two who held up the store three weeks ago, escapping with $146 after locking up the staff in the cellar.

Deny Damage Action Over Bull Purchase

TORONTO, Dec. 29 (CP)—The Ontario Appeal Court Thursday denied a New York man's action for $3,300 damages arising from the purchase of a bull, now said unfit for breeding purposes.

Lewis L. Strauss, former banker and until last April a member of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, bought the bull in November, 1948, from John Bowser of Newmarket, Ont.

Straus sought return of the $1,800 purchase price, plus $1,500 for "expenses."

The court upheld an earlier decision by Mr. Justice F. H. Barlow of the Ontario Supreme Court, ruling that the bull was in sound condition when sold.

Forestry Committee Holds First Meeting

TORONTO, Dec. 29 (CP) — Ontario's new advisory committee on forestry, appointed Dec. 1, Thursday held its first meeting.

Premier Frost told the group it should be principally concerned with "over-all policy directed toward sustained yield and integrated and efficient forest operations."

The committee has yet to name a chairman and a secretary. Eight of its nine members attended the initial meeting. The ninth, Maj.-Gen. Howard Kennedy, was out of town.

The committee is intended to advise Lands Minister Scott on forestry practices and policy.

Don't Like Pictures

ROME, Dec. 29 (AP)—Jack L. Begon, publisher of Rome's English language Daily American, was convicted Thursday of distributing obscene literature in the form of the Esquire girl calendar. The calendar is published annually by Esquire magazine and features illustrations by its artists showing luscious young women in various stages of undress. No sentence was imposed.

Charges Isolationism

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP) —President Truman stamped an isolationist label Thursday on former president Herbert Hoover's hold-off-on-aid-to-Europe program. That's isolationism and nothing else, Truman said. And he added: The country is not going back to isolationism. You can be sure of that.

Believes Japan Potentially Most Effective Western Ally

By RELMAN MORIN.

NEW YORK, Dec. 29 (AP). — Japan is potentially our most effective ally anywhere in the world now.

When the Korean fighting broke out last June thousands of former Japanese soldiers and officers volunteered to fight. Newspapers proclaimed Japan's right and duty to assist in the Korean struggle. And the entire people, in effect, placed themselves at the disposal of the warring democracies.

The more compelling reasons for the Japanese attitude are:

1. Japan's interests, politically and economically, are tightly tied with the western powers.

2. The Japanese are naturally anxious to have an end to the occupation, to resume normal trade relations with the rest of the world and to take their place in the United Nations.

3. Having had three wars with China and Russia, and with a high degree of hatred and suspicion for both countries even when they were not actually at war, the Japanese are under no illusions about their own fate if the two Communist giants ever break loose in the Orient.

Those are the true reasons why Japan is a powerful potential ally of the United Nations.

In spite of Russian propaganda claims, and Japanese desires, no Japanese troops are in the field in Korea today. We are using the great Japanese air and naval bases in fighting this war. Japanese personnel are employed as guards, mechanicians, truck drivers and in many other ways

It is an incongruous fact that the main U.N. base for the Korean war is the territory of a country still, technically, an "enemy."

And although it was necessary practically to strip the country of the whole allied garrison force there have been no disturbances, no incidents, no efforts by the Japanese to take advantage of that fact. (There have been some ominous outbreaks fomented by Korean Communists living in Japan.)

What are the results of the occupation?

I do not believe—and I put this in the first person because it is a personal appraisal—that the theory of practice of "democracy" has penetrated deeply into Japanese consciousness. So far as I could tell, the emperor still is their great symbol of authority and leadership. Their tendency still is to believe in the value of the ruling class, rather than in the wisdom of the masses.

Some disagree with this view. Only time will tell which is correct.

In terms of consumer goods there are actually more articles in the shops than there were 10 years ago when I last previously saw the country. You see more metals and more rubber goods, tires, for example.

Financially, Japan is in fair shape and improving steadily. It has a balanced budget and the currency is getting stronger.

What about the future, when the occupation ends?

Japan needs the United States both as a market and as a source of raw materials. Until they can be rearmed, the Japanese will need American military protection against the ancient enemies, Russia and China.

Vice versa, the United States, and all the other democracies, need Japan as the great balancing factor against Communist in the Orient.

ACCUSES REMINGTON — Mrs. Ann Remington, ex-wife of William Remington, accused the former-U.S. Commerce Department economist of handing "a top-secret formula to make explosives from garbage" to a Soviet spy in 1943. Remington was also accused of meeting confessed spy Elizabeth Bentley. He is on trial in New York for perjury.

Rising Costs Make Future Uncertain With The C.N.R.

By DONALD GORDON, C.M.G., LL.D., Chairman and President

The year just closing has been one of almost constant tension in world affairs and 1951 bids fair to be a year of continuing anxiety. We cannot afford to relax in the hope that conditions will improve. It is a tragic thing that, after centuries of what we fondly call civilization, mankind should still be so immature that we scarcely know from one day to another when we shall again have to yield to what seems to be a recurrent desire to cut each other's throats. But we must face facts and while we hope for the best and work for it through such organizations as the United Nations, we must prepare for the worst.

The Canadian economy, like that of other countries in the western world, is being geared to the defence programme. In our years, expenditures have risen from $195 millions to more than $987 millions per annum and we know that the end is not in sight. As some types of controls are revived and we hear warnings of the need for increased taxation, the Canadian people are realizing that we are moving into something like an emergency atmosphere. Our defence preparations cannot be paid for out of ordinary income. Extraordinary provision must be made for extraordinary expenditure. Heavy contributions will be demanded of all of us and these contributions the Canadian people should make gladly, knowing, as they have always known, that no price is too great to pay for freedom.

Canada is in a much better position than it was in 1939. Our productivity is enormously increased. Industrialization of a country not so many years ago recognized chiefly as a primary producer has gone on apace. Financially sound, matured industrially, technically and politically, we are able to pull our weight as a free nation with the responsibilities of freedom. As a North American nation, we are closely interlocked with the United States in the strategy and facilities of hemisphere defence.

Heavier freight traffic and freight rate increases, granted in 1950 to the railways in March and June, have improved the gross revenues of the National System for the year. It is estimated they will exceed $550 millions and the indications are that this may be the break-even point for this year. However, large and immediate expenditures are confronting us for equipment and maintenance as well as substantial increases in the cost of labor and materials so that it would be misleading to assume that the 1950 results are typical or that the need for some relief from the burden of excessive fixed charges has become less acute.

Revenue tons of freight moved in 1950 totalled approximately 80 millions, or 4 per cent more than in 1949.

Through improved equipment and service, efforts are made to stimulate passenger travel, but for some years past the railways have had to accept a decline in this traffic. As compared with 1949, Canadian National passenger earnings in 1950 will show a decrease of approximately 10 per cent. This is attributable not only to the levelling off of passenger traffic, but to the curtailment of service for two months at the beginning of the year owing to a fuel shortage, to the work stoppage in August and to the Manitoba flood.

Hotel revenues declined slightly. Gross revenues for the Canadian National Telegraphs again reached all-time high levels, with private leased wires, radio programme facilities, stock quotation services and domestic message traffic at record peaks. Express business was heavy, although earnings reflect the effects of the interruptions to train service.

The general price index shows an increase of 2.4 per cent in the prices of materials and supplies purchased by the railway in 1950. The average cost of rail increased 5.7 per cent over 1949; iron and steel products, 4 per cent; lumber, 20.3 per cent. The cost of locomotive coal rose by 1.7 per cent.

Wage increases to non-operating railway employees under the terms of the Maintenance of Railway Operation Act and the award of Mr. Justice R. L. Kellock of the Supreme Court will add over $15,000,000 to the Canadian National annual payroll, and when applied to all employees on the railway it will amount to more than $18,000,000 annually. It is not possible yet to establish the actual cost of the 40-hour week, but it is certain to add many more millions to the annual payroll.

Whether the world will continue to exist in the armed truce called the "cold war," or is forced into the third world war, it is vital to the interests of Canada, and of the United Nations, that our railways be healthy. We should be able to meet our labor and material costs in day by day operations, and pay our fixed charges, and have enough left over to maintain, renew and improve our property so that our efficiency is not impaired.

During the year, we experienced shortages of all types of freight cars, particularly in the latter months, owing to the increase in car loadings and the backlog of traffic accumulated during the work stoppage. An accelerated shopping and repair programme has returned a substantial number of "bad order" cars to service and 5,000 steel box cars are now on order for 1951 delivery. We added 688 units of freight car equipment, including 490 flat cars. We are still badly short of various types of rolling stock both freight and passenger, and a careful survey has just been completed to establish what is needed to handle adequately the existing volume of traffic and provide some margin for expected increases. Unfortunately, shortage of materials and congestion arising out of accelerated defence purchasing, etc., means that deliveries of equipment are likely to be very slow and that we shall have great difficulty in meeting traffic requirements for some time to come. In such circumstances we can only put first things first so that we shall concentrate on obtaining the rolling stock most urgently needed.

Pontikes, 19, the son of an immigrant cobbler, was on the Rice Institute football squad. McCarthy was reported "furious" over the marriage, revealed to have taken place Dec. 2.

Teachers Urge Higher Standard

TORONTO, Dec. 29—(CP) — The Ontario Public School Men Teachers' Federation Thursday urged that all elementary school teachers be required to have university degrees.

The Federation asked also that Normal schools — where high school graduates now take a one-year course in preparation for elementary school teaching — be abolished and that candidates for the teaching profession be "screened."

Another resolution passed at a Federation meeting asked for Federal aid to education "on a per capita basis."

The proposals will be submitted to the Ontario Teachers' Federation for study.

The Federation seeks a three-year teachers' training course, leading to a Bachelor of Education degree. It asked that all universities have faculties of education.

Five bursaries with a total value of $1,000 were established for deserving students entering the elementary school teaching profession.

Limit Pupils

Another adopted resolution asked that enrolment be limited to 25 pupils to a teacher in kindergarten and primary grades and 30 in other grades. The organization seeks also a province-wide basic minimum salary schedule and an arbitration law for settling salary disputes between school board and teachers.

Another suggestion adopted at the closed meeting called on the Department of Education to revise its Board of Reference Act to include a board which would settle salary disputes. At present such boards can be set up to deal only with the question of teacher dismissals.

The Ontario English Catholic Teachers' Association board of directors held a one-day meeting Thursday and endorsed the minimum salary schedule recommended by the Ontario Teachers' Federation.

Killed On Tanker

HENSALL, Dec. 29 (CP)—The W. G. Thompson grain elevator was destroyed by fire here Thursday night with loss estimated unofficially at about $125,000. Firemen of six brigades fought the blaze for four hou in near zero weather. About 40,000 bushels of beans and wheat stored in the building were lost.

HISTORIC ONE-GAME GOALIE—Lester Patrick's 1928 goaltending feat has been chosen by Canadian sports writers as one of the most dramatic Canadian sports events of the last half-century. Patrick was manager of the New York Rangers at the time when they met Montreal Maroons in the playoffs. In the fourth minute of the second period of the second game, Ranger Goalie Lorne Chabot sustained an eye injury and, under the rules, Maroons refused to allow a substitute. Patrick had never played goal and had retired from his hockey career five years previously, but he donned the pads and limited Montreal to a single tally as Rangers won, 2-1.

Leaf Comeback, Patrick As Goalie Dramatic Events In Half Centur

By JACK SULLIVAN

TORONTO, Dec. 29 —(CP)— Toronto Maple Leafs' comeback in the 1942 Stanley Cup finals and Percy Williams' double sprint victory in the 1928 Olympic Games were the most dramatic sports events of the half century just ending.

Sports editors and sportscasters voting in a Canadian Press poll couldn't decide between the unknown Williams' meteoric flash across the sports horizon and Leafs' dogged comeback after they had been beaten by Detroit Red Wings in three games.

The majority called it a tie, but dissenters voted for Lester Patrick's famous goaltending in the 1928 Stanley Cup playoffs and listed a dozen other dramatic performances in the last 50 years.

The memory of Williams' victories in the 100- and 200-metre sprints at Amsterdam stayed with the voters for 22 years, although Williams himself passed quicky from the athletic scene. He suffered an injury at the British Empire Games in Hamilton in 1930 and retired in 1932. A bachelor at 41 and an insurance salesman, he lives quietly in Vancouver.

The same voters named Williams the outstanding track and field athlete of the last 50 years.

Come From Behind

Toronto's Leafs were counted out of the running after Detroit beat them in the first three 1942 games by 3-2, 4-2 and 5-2 scores. They won a place in the half-century poll by coming from behind to bring up four wins by scores of 3-2, 9-3, 3-0 and 3-1 and take the world title.

Of the 1942 team, only goalie Turk Broda remains on the present Leaf roster.

Lester Patrick's 1928 goaltending feat is a hockey epic that will always be remembered. Patrick, a famous star in the early days of the game, had played until he was 39 but retired to a manager's post five years before his New York Rangers met Montreal Maroons in the 1928 playoffs.

Lorne Chabot, Ranger goalie, suffered an eye injury in the fourth minute of the second period of the second game April 8, 1928. As the rules then permitted, Maroons refused to allow a substitute, although Joe Miller of New York Americans was in the crowd.

Patrick Takes Over

Patrick, who had never played goal, donned pads and went into the nets, his mop of grey, curly hair incongruous in that setting.

For almost two periods he kicked out shots—22 of them—and allowed only one goal, by the master sharpshooter of the day, Nels Stewart. Rangers won 2-1 and went on to win their first Stanley Cup. Miller finishing out the series in goal.

The victory of George Young, an unknown Toronto youngster in the 25-mile swimming marathon at Catalina Island in California in 1927 also appealed to the voters' sense of drama.

Others chose the Ace Bailey incident at Boston in 1933 when the Toronto Leaf wing suffered a fractured skull when he hit the ice after Boston defenceman Eddie Shore body-checked him.

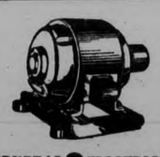

Some like the drama of the longest hockey game on record, the playoff tilt that went 176 minutes and 30 seconds at Montreal on March 24-25, 1936. Modere (Mud) Bruneteau took a pass from Hec Kilrea to give Detroit Red Wings a 1-0 win over Maroons.

There were votes for such sports epics as Billy Sherring's marathon win in the 1904 Olympic Games at Athens when the Hamiltonian brought Canada her first win, and for Fritz Hanson's fleetness of foot in the west's first Grey Cup win, the Winnipeg victory over Hamilton in 1935.

Krol's Kick Remembered

Joe Krol's kick of the winning point for Toronto Argonauts against Winnipeg Blue Bombers on the last play of the 1947 East-West final to give Argos a 10-9 win also drew votes, along with Calgary Stampeders' upset win over Ottawa Rough Riders in 1948.

Other events mentioned: Ernest Vierkoetter's 1927 marathon swim victory at Toronto; the Montreal Canadiens-Seattle 1918 Stanley Cup series which was halted by a 'flu epidemic which later took the life of Canadiens' 'Bad Joe' Hall; Luther McCarthy's death in a Calgary ring in 1913 when Arthur Pelkey knocked him out in the first round; and Barbara Ann Scott's Olympic and European figure-skating title wins in 1948.

Calumet Stable Owner Dies At Miami Beach

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Dec. 29 (AP).—Warren Wright, 75, owner of the fabulous Calumet Farm thoroughbred racing stable, died at his winter home here Thursday night after an illness of three weeks.

Wright was master of the most successful racing and breeding thoroughbred farm in the history of the American turf.

Wright and his wife arrived here early in December for the winter. He was stricken three weeks ago and died at 8:45 p.m. EST. Death was attributed to natural causes.

Mrs. Wright and their son, Warren, Jr., were with him at the end. The son arrived here two weeks ago from Lexington, Ky.

Wright, slender and quiet-spoken, had an inherent love for race horses and he bred them to win. He travelled thousands of miles to see his thoroughbreds run, but made only an occasional sentimental wager.

Built Empire

He began building his turf empire in 1931 when he inherited the bulk of his father's $30,000,000 estate. The father, William Monroe Wright, had founded the Calumet Baking Powder Company in Chicago in 1888.

The elder Wright himself had been a successful breeder and turfman and won the Hambletonian, Kentucky Futurity and other major harness events. His estate included the Calumet Farm near Lexington, Ky., which the son inherited.

Warren Wright was born in Springfield, O., Sept. 25, 1875, and joined his father's baking powder company as an office boy in 1890.

Ten years after he inherited Calumet Farm, Wright's colt Whirlaway won the Kentucky Derby, the Belmont and the Preakness. Three more Calumet horses went on to win the Kentucky classic—Pensive in 1944, Citation in 1948 and Ponder in 1949. Citation also won the triple crown of racing in 1948.

By 1949 Calumet Farm had been the leading turf money winner for nine years. This year it is a close second to Brookmeade Stable. In 1950 Citation became the world's leading turf money winner with total earnings of $948,630.

Other great Calumet Farm horses include Armed, Bewitch, Coaltown and Faultless.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press.

It was Gordie Howe night in the National Hockey League Thursday night as the Detroit winger picked up five assists to move within one point of Toronto's Max Bentley, the man who has been heading the league's individual scoring department for many weeks.

Bentley now has 14 goals and 22 assists for a total of 36 points while Howe has 13 goals and 22 assists. The two share the top honors for assists. Tod Sloan of Toronto has scored the most goals —17.

Turk Broda of the Leafs continues to pace the goalers with five shutouts while another Torontonian, Gus Mortson, has spent the most time in the penalty box—67 minutes.

The leaders:	G	A	Pts.
M. Bentley, Toronto	14	22	36
Howe, Detroit	13	22	35
Sloan, Toronto	17	13	30
Gardner, Toronto	13	17	30
Kennedy, Toronto	9	20	29

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

The high-flying Eagles tackle Belleville Redmen at 8:30 tonight in Civic Arena, first senior "B" game here in more than a week. And the last one until next Wednesday. So, it should draw a hefty Friday night crowd. Redmen are roaring for revenge after taking a thumping at home from the men o' Magee, and upsets are fairly frequent in this senior puck scramble to date. Eagles now have 23 points to lead the pack with the Petes next with 21, having played one more game. Nylons are right on their heels with 18 in 15 games played as Belleville has 12 in fourth slot. Queen's and Gans trail. Tonight's tilt might well be a rugged one.

* * * * * *

Lindsay scribe, following the Canadian Press pattern of naming half-century Canuck stars, picks Elwood (Sixty) Coombs as the greatest player developed in Lindsay in that span. Not the Sixty Coombs of the Eagles, but his uncle—a starry puckist of the early 20s and before. He was just a bit before our time but we hear he was a grand hockeyist. We can't begin to name a top star in Peterborough's past 50 years, except on hearsay. Most oldtimers, it seems to us, favor Fred Whitcroft. He scintillated here in the first decade of this century ere seeking greener (folding stuff) fields. Okay, we'll settle for him, and let's hear the arguments.

* * * * * *

Old Men Vs. Youngsters

Cage fans can see an interesting exhibition at eight tonight at the Collegiate, when a 48-minute game (six eight-minute periods) will be run off. It's between the "old boys" and the present PCVS senior "A" pack under Bev Goulding. Latter has the pick of the big school and some classy juniors in the lineup. Blair Thomson is managing the elderly chaps, most of 'em now shining in college cage contests. From 16 to 20 of them will be on deck, we're told, and they predict they'll pin back the ears of those—their expression, fellows—Johnny-come-latelies. It adds up to keen hoop competition and lots of fun during school holidays.

The recent death of Sonny Boy West in a New York ring has again caused many to say the boxing game should be outlawed. Too dangerous, causing more fatalities by a considerable margin than any other sport. We don't entirely agree but hasten to add that something most definitely and immediately should be done to protect boxers from suffering serious injury. A rule now calls for a doctor to examine each fighter before a bout starts. That's all to the good, but more is required. A heavy rubber pad should cover all ring floors so that a boxer banging his head on the floor isn't going to suffer a fractured skull. Also, we feel that some sort of light headgear should be made compulsory. They're worn in football and often in lacrosse and hockey, and don't slow the games down any.

* * * * * *

Fans Yell "Kill The Guy"

One other suggestion, and that's to have heavier gloves worn. Then you'd see more boxing and less brutal stuff, and you'd see practically no serious injuries. The manly art can be made just that, but the bloodthirsty fans scream for blood and the kill when a hard-hitting fighter has his opponent in trouble and moves in on him. We've done a bit of boxing and like the game. Every one should know how to defend himself if attacked by a hoodlum—like those zoot-suited bums that sprang up fungus-like in Toronto a year or so ago. And in other cities to a lesser extent. Don't condemn boxing, a sport that English lords among others went in for at one time, but blame the laxness in protective rules in this game, pro or amateur.

The fur was flying in half a dozen keen PMHA tussles last e'en down Civic Arena way. Lakefield Lions outlasted Clapper's in a fine juvenile joust to win out 2-1, whilst the Ashby Trojans took a juvenile verdict against Oddfellows 3-1. Marines midgets finished strong to bang out a 4-1 victory o'er Martin-Hewitt and keep intact their winning streak. Trojans midgets drove hard and late to earn a 4-3 nod against St. Peter's in a lively fray. Otonabee Wolves—who with Lakefield are the only outside teams in the circuit—yanked a 2-1 win from St. Peter's bantams, while the other bantam battle betwixt Empress and Trojans wound up in a 5-all draw. Yes, plenty of speedy and close action dished up by the PMHA-ers down there every Thursday night.

Wings Swamp Habs 8-1 Take Over Lead In NHL

By The Canadian Press

Detroit Red Wings have made good on their boast of a few weeks ago that they would be leading the National Hockey League before the new year.

They used Montreal Canadiens as stepping stones to first place Thursday night, trampling the visitors 8-1 before 11,959 Detroit fans. The lopsided triumph gave them 46 points, one ahead of the idle Toronto Maple Leafs.

Whether or not the Wings can hold the coveted spot will be open to argument at the weekend when they clash in a home-and-home series with the Leafs.

Gordie Howe had a brilliant night, gaining assists on five goals to take over second place among the scoring leaders with 35 points, just one back of Max Bentley of Toronto.

Howe's performance almost was matched by Marty Pavelich and Metro Prystai each of whom picked up four points. Prystai had two goals and two assists, Pavelich four assists.

Just Miss Whitewash

The Wings ran the count to 8-0 on the helpless Habitants before Rookie Paul Masnick counted with but 28 seconds left to play, saving them from a whitewash.

The onslaught started early with goals 11 seconds apart by defenceman Bob Goldham and Jim McFadden at the four minute mark of the first period. Leo Reise and Sid Abel ran the count to 4-0, scoring 20 seconds apart, in the last minute of play.

Prystai got both his goals in the middle session. Abel got his second early in the third period and linemate Ted Lindsay completed the route.

The game was fairly clean, only three penalties being called—all three to Canadiens.

It was shortly after the Wings had defeated the Leafs for the second straight time Dec. 13, that they made their boast of taking over the lead by Jan. 1.

No other games were scheduled Thursday night.

Lindsay Muskies Nip Cobourg 7-6

LINDSAY, Dec. 29.—Breaking out in a five-goal scoring rash in the last 10 minutes, Lindsay Muskies came from behind to nip Cobourg Pavs 7-6 in a Lakeshore OHA Intermediate "A" game.

Both teams scored twice in the dull first period and the visitors rapped home three unanswered tallies in the second and added another in the third before the Bertlett-Jackson crew started to roll.

Mike Burns turned the hat-trick for the second straight game, while veteran Cliff Maundrell paced the losers with four markers.

Dave Turner Voted Top Soccer Player

By JACK SULLIVAN

TORONTO, Dec. 29 —(CP)— Dave Turner, a tricky forward with the famed New Westminster Royals of some 20 years ago, is the choice of Canadian sports editors and sportscasters as the outstanding soccer player of the half century.

Typical of a sport whose followers are noted for their willingness to argue about merits of teams or players at the drop of a hat, Turner topped The Canadian Press half-century poll by the thin margin of a single vote over Art Halliwell and Gordie Campbell of Toronto.

There was a more decisive touch to the team voting from which New Westminster Royals of 1929 emerged as the greatest soccer team of the period. Second place went to Calgary Hillhursts who won the Canadian championship in 1922 with a club that grew out of the famed 21st Reserve Battalion team, outstanding in soccer competition overseas during the First World War.

The pollsters spread their votes for the outstanding star among 16 players, 13 of them winding up in a tie for fourth place.

But the top choice was Turner, a native of Scotland who came to Canada as a youngster and learned the game in Edmonton where he grew up. He set out on a soccer career in earnest in 1922 after a spell at school-teaching north of Edmonton.

First he went to the Pacific coast with a boyhood chum, George Graham. Together they played with Cumberland and St. Andrew's in the top-notch British Columbia league. Then they went to the United States to play with Fall River, Mass., and from there headed for Toronto where they joined Ulster United in 1926.

Soccer Power

Turner spent only one year with Ulster and then went back to the Pacific coast to join the New Westminster team which was a socer power in the late 1920s and early '30s. He taught school again and later joined the BC Department of Lands and Forests for which he now is director of conservation.

Rather heavily built, Turner stood five feet, eight inches. Tricky and good with his head, he was an effective goal getter. In his playing days, his thick, black hair was close-cropped and teammates often called it steel wool.

Halliwell, one of the few native Canadians to get a chance with top-ranking teams in the Old Country, still retains his connection with the sport as president of the Toronto Ulster United club. He started his career as a goalkeeper with Ulster in 1914. After the First World War he joined Dunfermline of the Scottish League and later returned to Canada to wind up his career with Toronto Scottish. Now in the automobile business, he owns a racing stable.

Great Fullback

Many soccer fans look on Campbell as one of the greatest fullbacks ever to play in this country. He was with Toronto Scottish teams of 30 and 40 years ago.

Behind Halliwell and Campbell the following 13 were tied: Doug McMahon, now of Montreal Carsteel who left Winnipeg several years ago to play with Wolverhampton Wanderers of the English League and returned to Canada after the war; Les Medley, who came to join Toronto Greenbacks after the war and then returned to the Old Country to play with Tottenham Hotspurs; Jackie Whent of Vancouver St. Andrew's who has made good with Brighton and Hove Albion in the English League; Harry Phillips of Toronto; Hugh Carson of Saskatoon; Trevor Harvey of Vancouver; Dickie Stobbart of Vancouver; Johnny Jones of Toronto Ulster; Stan Wakelyn, a star with the old Calgary Hillhursts; Archie McRae of Edmonton; Dempsey Castonguay of Montreal Carsteel; Heck Fowler of Saskatoon Thistles and also a pro hockey goaltender; Jock Cowan, who played in British Columbia before going overseas to join Dundee.

Walton Rolls Highest

Turk Walton rolled high single of 361 and tied with Bert McCarrell for high three of 815 this week in the Major Bowling League as Plazas led in pinnage with 3,474 and Parkway hit top single for teams with a 1,318 smash. Blanks were racked up by Cherney, McWilliams, Caccavella, Calvert, Odeon, Plazas and Bassell over Bickell, Selkirk, Post Office, Kaw. Deaf, Modern, Hunt's and Wonder respectively. McLeod's, Parkway, Edgewater, Wood and Campbell had 4-2 wins over Mongraw, Crowley, E & B, Kingsmen and Wade's in that order.

Other good individual counts were: P. Pryde 811 (359), R. Suddards 783 (327), D. Abraham 774, J. Barnes 769 (318), W. Harris 762, D. Moriarity 750 (350), M. Nill 754, T. Giardino 752 (304), S. Sanderson 739 (300), H. Legrow 736 (311), C. Lustic 735, F. Williams 732, D. Pilling 720, H. Roberts 720, M. Mackay 714, R. DeCarlo 713, K. Mills 712, E. Poast 711, B. McElroy 708, C. Signoretti 700, B. McCarrell a single of 314.

Lakefield Edges Clapper's In Keen PMHA Fixture 2-1

Lakefield Lions nosed out Clapper's 2-1 and the Ashby Trojans defeated Oddfellows 3-1 at Civic Arena last night in juvenile PMHA fixtures. Marines won from Martin-Hewitt 4-1, with Trojans taking St. Peter's 4-3 in midget melees. Bantam frays saw Otonabee Wolves win 2-1 over St. Peter's, while Empress and Trojans drew 5-all.

In a rather rugged juvenile joust, Twist of Lakefield scored from Pratt in the first frame, while Heffernan got the winning goal in the third after Pammett scored from Mongraw in the second for Clapper's. The other juvenile tilt saw Buchan tally from Gooley in the first for the only IOOF markers, while G. Seabrook counted in the first for Trojans. Brioux hit the mark in the second and R. Dunn finished it in the third canto. The losers drew five of the seven penalties.

Strong Finish

Marines midgets finished strong to beat Martin-Hewitt in a fairly clean fixture. Hunt counted in the second from Chambers for the losers' lone goal. Corbett scored in the first for Marines, Bethune got one next heat from Corbe... while Frizzelle and Bethune hit the target in the third. McGillen and Turner each drawing an assist. McDougall and Herbison put SPS midgets up two in the first, with McFadyen getting one back on the second. Herbison tallied another from McDougall in the third, but Smith, McFadyen and Whitnell scored in a late drive by Trojans to take the duke.

Blodgett batted in the disc from Townsend for the SPS bantams' only counter in the second frame, B. O'Heron scoring in the same heat for the Wolves. Mullen sank the winner in the third chukker for the Otonabee boys. The other bantam battle was a nifty draw. Floyd got a pair for Trojans, with Rusaw, Trudeau and Godfrey getting the others. Buckley aiding on two, and Forestell on one. Brown shone for Empress with four goals, Lagana getting the other, with an assist apiece going to Jones and Naish. Teams:

Lakefield: Wingett, Sabatino, Pue, Twist, Coyle, Henry, McIlmoyle, Heffernan, Pearson, Hunter, Wilson, Allan, Pratt, McCracken, Brown.

Clapper's: Pammett, Richardson, Jones, Tyndall, Killen, Ferguson, Murdock, Batley, Parry, Mongraw, Sanders, Sullivan, Cupoli.

Here's A Chance Ann Miller Seeking Mate

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 29 (AP)—Here is the opportunity of the week—Ann Miller is looking for a mate.

The dancing actress is one of Hollywood's most socially-active glamor girls. She admits to attending an average of seven parties a week. So it was a surprise to learn that she really wants to settle down and be a home gal.

"Oh, yes, I'm really looking for a husband," she admitted. "But I've just about given up in Hollywood. Good men are too hard to find here."

I asked her what was wrong with the Hollywood men.

"They fall into categories," she analyzed. "There's the playboy type. He's the kind who is always getting up a game of tennis. He takes you to a party and leaves you, to go table-hopping all over the room and talk to other girls. Heck, when I go to a party, I don't strain to see whether there are better-looking men than my date.

"And the gigolo. When you pass a jewelry window, he drools over the gold cuff links and says, 'why don't you ever buy me something like that?' And when the cheque comes at a night club, he always says, 'gee, honey, I left my wallet at home; will you take care of the cheque?'"

Nor does Ann much favor dating actors. She explained: "They are too vain. When a girl goes out with a man, she wants him to look at her all evening, not himself."

I noted that the gal often goes out socially with mature men, and asked if she prefers males with more years of experience.

"Not necessarily," she replied. "I'll go out with any man who is 25 or above. But, no matter what his age, he has to have a mature mind. I like men who have something to talk about."

Cattle Prices Up $1 During Week

TORONTO, Dec. 29—(CP) — Cattle prices were 50 cents to $1 higher at the Ontario stockyards this week the Dominion Marketing Service reported today. Calves, sheep and lambs were strong with hogs 50-75 cents higher.

A light run of 1,915 head was cleared at the higher price level. Good to choice weighty steers sold at $29-$30.75. Good light steers were $28.50-$29.50 and good heifers sold at $27.50-$28. Medium to good cows were $21-$23. Canners and cutters mostly sold at $16-$18.50. Good bulls brought $25-$26 and choice fed yearlings sold at $31-$32.50. A few common stockers sold at $22-$26.

Calves totalled 271 head. Prices were strong at $32-$33 for choice vealers with a few tops at $34. Common to medium vealers were from $28-$30.

Hogs were only 1,027 head. Prices were 50-75 cents higher at $31.50 for Grade A. Sows sold at $26 dressed.

Sheep and lambs totalled 91 head. Good ewes and wether lambs sold mostly at $31 and a few choice Southdowns were sold at $33. Good light sheep were mostly $15-$16.

The Toronto market will be open on Tuesday, Jan. 2.

Electricity Plays Vital Part In Productive Capacity Of Canada For Peace Or War

By H. M. TURNER,
President, Canadian General Electric Co.

Canada can feel a justifiable confidence in her electrical industry during the strenuous days ahead. The strength of our economy and defence effort will continue to be based, in considerable part, on the effectiveness of our electric utilities and manufacturers.

The contribution of the electric manufacturing group during the coming months will be determined largely by international developments. The prospect is for a year of great activity with increased emphasis on the needs of national security. The industry, recognizing its responsibility to co-operate fully in defence programs, is already playing a direct part through the production of equipment for the armed services. Most important also is its indirect participation in the defence structure through the capital goods it supplies for utilities and industry. Generators, transformers, wire and cable, motors, control and many other types of electrical equipment—these are highly essential weapons for the 'production front.'

Greatly Expanded Production

To meet this challenge, the industry is equipped with greatly expanded production facilities, engineering of the highest calibre; manufacturing and installation skills based on long experience. All these are brought to bear, to produce the massive and intricate equipment which contributes as much to our nation's security in an emergency as to its prosperity in times of peace.

The extent to which it will be possible also to maintain the flow of electrical consumer goods will depend largely upon the amount of raw materials—principally steel and base metals — made available for their manufacture. However, present indications are that—unless the situation worsens—production of appliances and other domestic products in most common use will be maintained at a fairly high level. This one considerable segment of the industry should not be considered 'expendable'—for it has an important part to play in an "armed camp economy" which seems to be our prospect for some time to come. Provision should be made to serve not only the more urgent part of existing demand, but the needs of the increase in population, immigration and the special requirements of camps and defence housing.

Statistically, the record of the electrical manufacturing industry is an imposing one. The latest Dominion Bureau Statistics figures indicate that about 365 plants are in operation, employing almost 60,000 with wages and salaries currently being paid at an annual rate of $156 million. In 1950, goods of a gross value of over $500 million were produced. The industry now holds second place in Canadian manufacturing, in point of number of employees and in value added to materials by production.

Imports Only 18 Per Cent

It is interesting to note that the industry was able to supply an increasing part of national requirements for all types of electrical equipment — only about 18 per cent of the total being imported in 1950, as compared with 27 per cent in the immediate post-war years. In the face of continuing international currency and tariff difficulties, it was able also to maintain an export trade of approximately $15 million in 1949. Much of this was in apparatus and supplies to Central and South America and to the Caribbean.

A healthy development of the mid century is the increasing awareness, on the part of governments, utilities and general public alike, that adequate supplies of power must always be available to meet the nation's sharply increasing electrical needs. The vision and enterprise of our utilities in meeting this challenge is noteworthy. During 1950 a total of about 1,100,000 h.p. was added to our generating capacity, bringing the total of installed horsepower in electric utilities to about 12 million horsepower. An additional 3½ million is under construction or authorized, of which 1,000,000 h.p. is expected to be added in 1951. In spite of the nation's increased generating capacity and a record-breaking output of approximately 50 billion kilowatt-hours during 1950, some utilities were faced with power shortages during the autumn.

While by far the larger part of power developments are hydro-electric, over 800,000 h.p. in steam turbine stations was in operation by the end of 1950, with approximately the same amount planned. A new power source—the gas turbine—is now emerging from the experimental stage, with successful installations already in operation in utilities. Large-scale production of these machines is now under way in the United States—and developments are being studied carefully, for possible application in Canada, especially where supplies of natural gas are available.

Largest Users

Canada's manufacturing and mining industries are the largest users of electricity and electrical equipment. Over 70 per cent of all the power generated by utilities is used to drive motors, heat furnaces, control machinery and perform myriad service tasks. In addition to the continued expansion of established companies, over 1,000 new manufacturing firms have begun operations in Canada since 1945. Currently employing over 41,000, these constitute an important additional market for electrical equipment and power.

By far the most significant electronic developments outside the home are taking place in the communication field. About 6,000 mobile Frequency Modulation units are now in operation by police, fire departments, logging and construction companies, taxis, utilities and hospitals. Important in times of peace, these new and expanding FM networks provide the basis for vital communication systems in times of emergency—capable of being integrated quickly by civilian defence, Red Cross or similar organizations. In addition, in the field of standard multi-channel communications, microwave radio is being employed increasingly by telephone and telegraph companies and other similar organizations in almost every province in Canada, as well as by the armed services.

Important Customer

The electrified housing units of Canada—now 2,600,000 in number—are always an important customer of the electrical industry. According to the latest DBS figures, the average annual consumption of power in these units is 1,951 kilowatt-hours, at an average rate of 1.6 cents kw.-hr. 'Saturation' for appliances varies widely from toasters and irons, which are almost 100 per cent, to home freezers, garbage disposals, electric dishwashers and other new developments for which a general demand is just beginning to appear. Electric refrigerators are in 35 per cent of all electrified homes and the demand for well-known brands still exceeds supply. Other major appliances considered essential to our standard of living—such as washing machines at 73.5 per cent, and electric ranges at 28 per cent—are still far from saturation.

The early months of 1950 found many appliances in fairly free supply, with still greater production facilities coming into operation or planned. During the last half year, demand remained generally high for appliances, lighting, air conditioning and heating equipment. However, conditions of raw mat'l supp have made it difficult to meet this demand, even though it has been only slightly affected by 'precautionary' buying.

New housing is a particularly significant part of the domestic market because of the importance of providing adequate wiring in the building structure to meet all the owner's needs today—and the almost certainly greater demands of tomorrow. Architects, builders and electrical contractors are helping to assure that new housing units are completely modern in their power facilities. The building rate in 1951 should approximate that of 1950, if supply conditions are adequate.

Aid To The Farmer

In the farm home, too—and in the farm 'factory'—electricity is finding ever wider use. Almost 66,000 rural customers (of which about half were farms) were added in 1950 and it is estimated that in the next five years, 200,000 more will be served by electric utilities. Ever-greater production from a farm population decreasing in relative size, is being achieved through further mechanization. Electric motors for pumping, milking, separating, refrigeration, hoisting and hay curing; electric incubators; welders for repair work—and many other devices add to the comfort and profit of farm life. Increased availability of power in smaller communities also makes possible further decentralization of industry to these areas.

The history of Canada's development is closely related to her railways. A great deal of interest has been shown, therefore, in the recent trend from steam to diesel-electric locomotives. The higher efficiency and greater economy of these sleek, new locomotives have proved under the most difficult operating conditions. Increased supplies of fuel oil from Canadian sources, greater 'availability' of diesel-electric locomotives, and many other advantages, make them most welcome to Canadians generally, as well as to those who operate and service the equipment. A total of about 500 are already in operation or on order for Canadian railways—over half of them built in Canada. Industrial concerns, too, are making use of diesel-electric switchers and more than 150 of these units are now in operation, adding to the intra-plant efficiency and safety of the companies concerned.

The electric trolly-coach continues to expand its usefulness in 14 major Canadian cities from coast to coast. Hamilton is making its initial installation of these quiet and economical vehicles—bringing the total operating in Canada to over 900.

It has been said that modern living has an almost insatiable appetite for more and better light. In 1950, over 100 million electric light bulbs of all types were made in Canada. The spectacular development of fluorescent lighting—which in 1950 celebrated its tenth birthday as a commercial development—played an ever-increasing part in this expansion. Made in Canadian factories, this high-efficiency lighting source is becoming available in a great variety of sizes, shapes and colors.

Floodlighting in many of Canada's parks and playgrounds is now adding as much as 25 per cent to their 'in-use' time. New street lighting and traffic control installations in many of our cities and towns are adding to civic efficiency and safety.

In 1950, the sharply increased expansion of Canada's aircraft industry has resulted in the development of a great variety of electrical equipment required for airborne and ground installations. Communication and navigation units; electrical systems, lighting and testing equipment and many types of instruments and control devices are being supplied for the new jet planes now being produced in Canada.

The study of the possibilities of nuclear energy for power applications has continued during 1950, but reliable predictions are still not available. Revolutionary reduction in power cost is not anticipated where electric power is now readily available at reasonable cost, because the cost of fuel or hydraulic drive which would be replaced, is only a comparatively small part of the cost of electricity to the consumer.

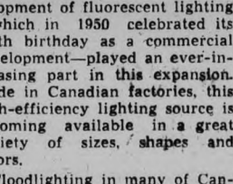

There is no way at present of converting directly to electricity any significant amount of the energy released from the splitting of the atom. Present research is based on the assumption that the heat of nuclear fission will be used to generate steam to drive a conventional steam turbine. Investigations were begun during the year to apply this technique to the propulsion of ships and these findings may eventually be applied to land-based power station developments.

The long-term prospects of Canada's electrical industry are challenging. Adequate supplies of electricity, utilized at rates as low as any in the world, have contributed in a great variety of ways to our nation's prosperity in peace and to its strength in war. The industry is prepared to make a full contribution to even greater development in the future—for ourselves, for our children, and for those who come from other lands to share our heritage with us.

PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER

VOL. CI. No. 151 — FRIDAY, DECEMBER 29, 1950

City May Pay $60,000 More For 1951 Hydro

Peterborough is likely to pay $50,000 to $60,000 more for electric power next year. This was an estimate at the meeting of the Utilities Commission Friday, based on a notice from the Hydro-Electric Power Commission announcing an increase in the interim rate.

G. S. Matthews presided with other commissioners present, G. A. Macdonald and Fred Hills.

The interim rate is a current rate that is applied tentatively until at the end of the year the actual rate can be determined from the known cost of producing Hydro power. Then, early in the following year an adjustment is made in charges as between the temporary or interim rate and the actual and final rate or cost of generating Hydro power and delivering it to municipal customers.

The hydro letter informed the Utilities Commission that the interim rate for 1951 would be increased from $32.80 to $35.20 "per kilowatt per year", effective Jan. 1.

$50,000 Increase

Ross L. Dobbin, manager, told the members that this rate boost would probably exceed $50,000 in the total of Peterborough's 1951 bill for hydro power.

At some time in the new year, the commission will probably have to face the question of increasing the retail rates to local power users. Action in that direction will not be taken, however, until the commission receives its 1950 financial statement from the Hydro.

Utilities rates were increased for electricity early last year, but not to the same extent as in many other communities. Peterborough's commission hoped that the cost to consumers would hold at that level. Now, they will have to reconsider their position, with the possibility that some further increase will have to be passed on to the electric power customers.

Hydro's increase in its charges was said to be a result of a higher level of wages and cost of materials, and also the financing of building big power generating plants on that same basis of advances in labor and practically the whole range of construction materials.

BUILT BY CAFE WORKER

Not A Cake, Structure Of Icing, Candy, Cardboard Weighs 75 Pounds, Is Yard Tall

A beautifully intricate structure of icing, candy and cardboard patterned from a government building in Canton and built by a member of the staff of the Silver Moon Grill with some help from his fellow workers, is catching the eyes of everyone who walks past it.

Standing three feet high and weighing about 75 pounds it has been placed near the front of the cafe above a cupboard. About four men took the better part of an afternoon to move it carefully to the front of the store and raise it up to the top of the cupboard.

It resembles the government building erected in the former Chinese capital after Dr. Sun Yat Sen became president of the country and started it on the road to unity in 1911.

The model is not a strict copy of the original building. Considerable imagination has gone into adding to it. It is a dazzling sight of white icing and silver ornaments, and took about a month and a half to work out all the hundreds of detailed parts.

The back is not identical to the front. A slightly different pattern has been followed in it, but it is no more plain.

The man who is mainly responsible for the work made cakes formerly, but before Christmas time last year, it was decided to try something really spectacular. No one who sees their handiwork will doubt that they have succeeded. The maker says it is not a cake.

New Year's Eve Revellers Offered Variety

The New Year will be introduced Sunday midnight to the Peterborough area by the ringing of church bells, and with dances, shows, and private parties.

For most people goodbyes to Old Man 1950 and welcome to Little 1951 will not be too expensive. The high for entertainment for the night is $12.80 a couple and the low, the price of admission for two seats at a midnight show.

About 600 are expected at the Club Aragon where admission is the high of $12.80. The evening will begin with a full course southern fried chicken dinner on Sunday at 7 a.m. and carry on at 10 p.m. wtih a floor show, the feature act, Buddy Hawkins and his Keynotes.

Many have indicated that they will be spending the night at the Brock St. Arena where dancing will begin shortly after midnight to Hal MacFarlane's orchestra. Tickets are $5 a couple.

Amid the blare of horns, midnight dancers will bring in the New Year at the Brookside Pavilion on Highway 7. Dancing there will be to Cress Sproat and his orchestra.

For the non-dancers all theatres have arranged special showings, in several cases Peterborough previews, for the midnight hour. Capacity crowds are expected at all.

Private parties have been arranged for the Kawartha and the Peterborough golf and country clubs. About 300 will attend the party at the Kawartha club where members and friends will have a turkey supper early in the evening with television for added entertainment until midnight. Dancing will go on into the wee hours of the morning.

Plowmen Elect Henry Batten

Henry Batten of North Monaghan was elected president of Peterborough Plowmen's Association Tuesday night. Vice-presidents for the new year are: Lyle McMillan of Norwood and Reg Ferguson of Smith. Frank C. Paterson is secretary-treasurer again, assisted by Stuart Hall.

Harlan Payne was appointed chairman of the social committee; and delegates to the provincial convention are: John Batten and Gordon Bradfield; alternates are Sandy Carlow and Morris Telford.

Sentiment of the members was in favor of an autumn match in 1951, and the local association may hold a dinner before spring.

Blacked Eye Costs Man $15.50 In Court

Found guilty in police court of a charge of causing a disturbance by hitting a Chinese in the eye for no reason, Leonard Titus, 194 Hunter St., was fined $10 and $5.50 costs.

A similar charge against his companion, Ron[illegible]y, Lakefield, was dismissed when it was learned there was no evidence to connect him with the affair.

Constable Robert Menzies testified he was on his way to investigate a report of a fight on George St. when he was met by Joe Kwong in the market lane. Kwong had a black eye. He took the officer to George St. and there pointed out Titus walking up the street supported by Emery.

Kwong said as he was coming out of a drug store Titus suddenly hit him with his fist for no reason.

Titus said it was Christmas time and he had had a "a drink too many." He said he didn't remember seeing Kwong at all.

"You didn't know who you were hitting, is that it?" Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, asked Titus.

"Yes," Titus replied.

"There is no excuse for this sort of thing, Titus. He didn't do anything to you," the magistrate said.

Midnight Mass At St. Peter's

Most Reverend Gerald Berry will announce on Sunday the celebration at St. Peter's Cathedral of solemn Pontifical Mass at midnight beginning New Year's Day.

This privilege has been extended universally by Pope Pius XII in connection with two hours of prayer and supplication for peace and concord among the nations. This mass will begin at 11.30 p.m. Sunday and continue until 1.30 a.m. on New Year's Day. Bishop Berry is communicating with parish priests throughout the diocese, and it is expected that the announcement for the Cathedral parish will be generally adopted.

It was recently recalled that at the beginning of this century special prayers were offered by Most Rev. R. A. O'Connor, then Bishop of Peterborough, asking God's blessing on the community. With the beginning of the second half of the century on New Year's Day, Bishop Berry will likewise invoke the blessing of God on "our beloved country and the city and diocese of Peterborough."

Cut To 2,000 Cards, Letters

Christmas cards with wrong or no addresses are on the last lap of their journey at the post office. For most of the 2,000 cards and letters or this type now there, the journey has been by two or three postmen trying to find the right destination.

A week ago assistant postmaster Claire Stuart, reported that the office had collected 10,000 wrongly addressed cards or letters. Throughout this week after the daily mail has been sorted, the sorters worked on this mail trying to find the proper address.

Today the cards and letters, now down to approximately 2,000, were sorted alphabetically. The letter carriers will then make one last attempt. Those not identified will be forwarded to the dead letter office.

Teachers Win Oshawa 'Spiel

A Peterborough rink, skipped by Wesley Switzer, won the fifth annual Ontario teachers' bonspiel and the J. Douglas Waugh Trophy yesterday in Oshawa. The trophy was presented by Mrs. D. Waugh, widow of the late J. D. Waugh, who originated the 'spiel in 1946. It is considered the largest teachers' curling competition in the world.

Members of the championship team from Peterborough were: H. R. Wilson, lead; Dr. Russell Morgan, second; J. H. Moeous, vice-skip; and B. W. Switzer, skip. The team won three games with a score of 22 plus. Another Peterborough rink of J. W. McDermid, F. B. Smitheram, O. M. Steer and skip R. F. Downey took two wins in the all-day 'spiel which drew 26 rinks. The Downey quartet lost out to Stanley Ellis of Toronto.

Other winners of prizes were: D. Sinclair, Toronto; O. O. Worden, Toronto; G. Macdonald, Port Perry; A. Louden, Toronto; W. Robinson, Toronto; L. Beaton, Oshawa; E. Ellis, Toronto; and F. Waugh, Toronto. The trophy last year was taken to Toronto by the Art Louden rink.

After accepting the trophy and being congratulated by the bonspiel officials on his initial success following five years of competition in this event, Mr. Switzer said: "It is one of the biggest thrills of my life to have been skip for a team that captured the coveted award."

PREDICT SURPLUS

The Board of Education's financial accounts for the year are not yet balanced but it is expected that the surplus will be "substantial." The financial statement will be given at the Board's inaugural meeting on January 4.

Lachlin-Mackay 101 Years Old New Year's Day

Peterborough's Grand Old Man, Lachlin Mackay of 325 Sherbrooke St., is still in the best of health on the eve of his 101st birthday on New Year's Day. He was born in Scotland on the very day the city was incorporated as a town, Jan. 1st, 1850, and Peterborough citizens have a very kind regard for his welfare. "Although his sight has totally gone during the past year," said his daughter, Mrs. M. Todd, with whom he lives, "father still goes up and down stairs several times a day and is in good health."

Mr. Mackay was a blacksmith by trade in his native Scotland in a locomotive factory which turned out engines for the Canadian Rocky Mountain run. He and his wife came to Canada at the urgings of their sons who had already immigrated here.

The parents settled in Peterborough 36 years ago where Mr. Mackay worked at his trade in different city factories. He retired at the age of 75 years.

In his younger days he was an enthusiastic violinist and gave lessons. But since his retirement 25 years ago his activites have been restricted to gardening and he has only given this hobby up three years ago.

Mrs. Mackay predeceased him but his large family of sons, grandchildren and great-grandchildren are always close at hand for visits and especially his birthday celebrations which take place each New Year's Day. Although he has received several cards of greeting, Mr. Mackay is still waiting for that cherished letter of congratulations from His Majesty the King.

Excellent Skiing Expected Over Holiday

Skiing conditions for New Year's weekend in the Peterborough district are expected to be very good. Packed snow on all the hills has been providing fast skiing this week and weather predictions indicate cold and sunny days for the holiday.

If the weather man is right, both tows at Bethany and the single tow at Kemp's hill, all operated by the Peterborough Ski Club, will see action on Saturday, Sunday and Monday. Toby Westbye, president, said today that if the crowd at Bethandis too large for the boat tow the 1000-foot tow will also be put to use.

Mr. Westbye reported that there are six inches of packed snow on the slopes and eight to 10 inches in the bush. Kemp's hill is about the same, packed and without bare spots. The south side of the hill, the steep side, is slightly icy, but the north side is good.

A group of 30 skiers opend the flood-light skiing for this area Thursday night at Kemp's. The lights and tow were on from 7.30 until 10. Tuesday night was to have been the opening night but below zero temperatures postponed action. After New Year's weekend there will be skiing Tuesday and Thursday night there.

Belmont Club.

J. D. Cumming reports from the Havelock area that the Belmont Ski club is opening this weekend. Since last year many improvements have been made including a new rumpus room and on open sundeck. A capacity crowd is expected to take advantage of the open slopes and woodland trails near this club.

Skiing conditions are reported from good to excellent in most of Ontario except in the Toronto area. Temperatures today ranged from zero at Fort William and Port Arthur to 25 above at Barrie.

The Ontario Travel department said Thursday skiing was poor at Toronto Summit with bare spots in the open. Skiing was fair at Barrie on the tow hill but good in the bush. Other Ontario centres ranged from good to excellent with powdery or packed snow in most places.

Walker, a former Peterborough boy, received the US Navy's gold life saving medal from Rear Admiral Murray, USN. Walker is shown (Above right) receiving the medal. He is the son of Mrs. R. Walker, formerly of Peterborough and now of London, Ont., and is stationed in New London, Connecticut.

Fines of $300 or 4 Months Given Young Joyriders

Two youths were fined $300 or four months in police court today when they pleaded guilty to charges of joyriding. William Burns, 19, 69 Maple St., will probably have his fine paid. William Kerr, 18, Bowmanville, will probably serve the time.

The two young men were arrested the evening of Dec. 2 near the junction of Highway 7 and 35 near Lindsay. Burns was behind the wheel of a taxi owned by Gerald Montgomery.

Montgomery's driver, Carmen Deck, testified he had parked the cab on King St. opposite the taxi office while he had a cup of coffee. He left the keys in the ignition.

Burns said about noon Dec. 2 he went downtown to do some shopping. With Kerr he went into a hotel and drank during the afternoon. They came out about 6.30 p.m.

"I suppose we were very intoxicated," he said. They took the car from King St. He said he hadn't had a drink since he was married Sept. 18.

His father, Fred Burns, described Burns as a "model boy outside of when he was drinking." He said he drank only periodically and otherwise stayed at home. He said he was a fairly steady worker. He said his son had started to drink when he was 16.

Norman Graham, president of the local Alcoholics Anonymous, said he had known Burns since his birth and described his upbringing and character as "very good."

He said Burns was 'creeping on to being an alcoholic," and had joined AA three weeks ago, since his arrest. He said as far as he knew Burns hadn't had a drink since then.

Had No Trouble

Burns' wife said they hadn't had any trouble since their marriage. She said before their marriage Burns had promised there would be "no more drink and no more trouble." Dec. 2 was the first time had had broken his promise.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, KC, said that Kerr's father was an army colonel who had been in charge of a prisoner of war camp in Bowmanville.

The crown attorney said he wanted to make it clear to the public that drinking was no defence of a crime. The most it could do was nullify intent, such as reducing a murder charge to manslaughter. He said there had been a growing feeling among members of the public that drinking was an excuse for crime. "It isn't," he said.

Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, said "I have the greatest of sympathy for your father and your wife. I have very little for you in comparison."

He said that in many cases, such as this one, joyriding was little different from straight theft.

Burns was on two years suspended sentence for theft of gasoline. He was previously fined $50 on another charge of joyriding.

Kerr had a record of breaking, entry and theft and in the United States served a year in jail when convicted of a breach of motor vehicles act before being deported to Canada in July, 1950.

PREMIER FROST TO SPEAK

Premier Leslie Frost will be guest speaker at the first annual dinner of the Bobcaygeon Chamber of Commerce to be held at the Rockland House, Bobcaygeon, tonight at 6:30.

Council Plans Tour Of PCVS

The first general meeting of the Peterborough Branch of the Ontario Industrial Education Council will be held at PCVS on Wednesday at 8:00 p.m.

The local branch was instituted several weeks ago, but Wednesday night will offer the first opportunity for the public to attend its meetings. The purpose of the council is to seek further co-operation between the industries of Peterborough and all departments of the Collegiate and Vocational School.

The program will include an outline of the aims and progress of the Ontario Industrial Education Council by Stanley R. Adamson. The executive and committee chairmen will be introduced and a tour of the school will also be a part of the evening's agenda.

The executive of the Peterborough Branch are: C. B. Neal, chairman; S. R. Adamson, vice-chairman; C. J. Cameron, second vice-chairman; B. W. Switzer, secretary-treasurer.

The committee chairmen are: J. M. Fraser, public relations and membership; J. H. Moebus, guidance and industrial relations; L. J. Sparrow, skilled occupations and apprenticeship; T. P. McMillan, semi-skilled occupations; G. H. Batley, clerical occupations; J. J. Taylor, supervisory training; R. R. Reid, program.

2 Baby Deaths Said Due To Pneumonia

Two babies died suddenly on Thursday. In each case pneumonia was believed to be the cause.

The first, two-month-old daughter, Luella Margaret, of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Davis, Indian River village, third concession of Douro township, was found dead in its crib by its mother about 2 a.m. She had put the baby to bed about half an hour before.

Dr. Herbert Young coroner, said a post mortem revealed the baby had died of pneumonia.

Second Death

Pneumonia was suspected in the death of eight-weeks-old James Clarke, son of Mr. and Mrs Frank Clarke, 26 Park St., who died Thursday night despite the efforts of three doctors and three firemen with a pulmotor.

A private post mortem may be performed to verify the diagnosis.

City police were called to the Park St. home at 10:18 p.m. when they arrived the firemen were using a pulmotor. They used it unsuccessfully 36 minutes.

A few minutes later, three doctors, Dr. Herbert Young, coroner, Dr. R. M. Matthews and Dr. John Anderson arrived. Dr. Matthews pronounced the child dead at 11:40 p.m.

The father told Constables Gordon Trennum and Edward Patterson his wife had given the child a bottle at 8 p.m. About 10 p.m. the mother looked in on the child and turned him on his side. About 20 minutes later the father noticed the back of the baby's head and neck were bluish white. He called the telephone operator to get a doctor and the fire department was also notified.

Firemen who answered the call were Captain Frank Shearer, William Torrance and Harold Cain.

The Clarke infant is survived by one brother, Garry Franklin. Funeral service will be held at the Nisbett Funeral Home on Saturday at 2 p.m., The Rev. H. G. Douglas, of Knox United Church, will officiate and burial will be at Little Lake cemetery.

Infant Luella Margaret Davis is survived by one sister, Marlene. Funeral will be held at the Belleghem Funeral Home on Saturday at 1.30 p.m. Major Cyril Everitt, of the Salvation Army, will officiate and burial will be at Little Lake cemtery.

Ottawa Primps For Gay Debutantes Ball

OTTAWA, Dec. 29 — (CP) — Capital city society is primping for what promises to be one of the gayest events of the holiday season—the young people's ball tonight at Government House.

Given annually by the Governor-General for Ottawa's younger set, the ball this year has added significance. It also will serve as the "coming-out" party of Hon. Rose Alexander, only daughter of Canada's Governor1General, Viscount Alexander.

Wearing a frothy gown of lace and net, slim, black-haired Rose will curtsey to her father together with the 34 other beutantes who are making their bows this season to Ottawa society.

Among them are Helen Claxton, daughter of Defence Minister Claxton, and Sandra James, daughter of Air Vice-Marshal A. L. James.

Flowers Add Color

Flowers from the Rideau Hall greenhouses will add color to the richly-furnished lobbies and anterooms for this occasion. And in the great oblong balrloom two thrones will be set near the life-size portrait of King George V and Queen Mary. Here the Viscount and Viscountess will sit as the debutantes pass before them.

Tis is understood to be the first time Ottawa debutantes have been presented to a governor-general at a government house function.

The "debs" will go into the ballroom to wait while their excellencies receive the other guests. Then the governor-general and his lady will proceed to the thrones. The orchestra will play six bars of "God Save the King," and the "debs" will pass before their excellencies, curtseying first to Viscount Alexander and then to the Viscountess.

DOROTHY DIX

Mature People Well Aware Of What they Want in Mate

DEAR MISS DIX: What are the advantages and disadvantages of a late marriage?

WALTER

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: That early marriage does not make for happiness is abundantly proved by the fact that it ends far oftener in divorce than does the marriage contracted later in life. Development is determined by Nature, not by propinquity. The kind of men and women we grow into depends upon our heredity, our education, our brains, the way we were trained in babyhood, and it is just chance when a boy and girl start out with the same menial and moral equipment, the same background and develop along the same lines.

Dorothy Dix

Youth Not Adaptable

Nor is there any truth in the other sentimental theory that young people can adapt themselves to each other better than older people. Nothing in the world is so unadaptable as youth, because youth is pure selfishness and arrogance. It takes time. It takes age. It takes experience. It takes batting up against the world to teach us the folly of trying to break down stone walls instead of walking around them.

So those who marry late in life need not feel that their waiting has been a total loss. They may not have quite so many illusions, but they will have a lot better chance of happiness.

Then they will know they are getting what they want in a life companion, instead of gambling on it as the young do. The men and women they marry will be mature. Their habits and tastes formed. They will be intelligent or dumb. Dependable or flighty Domestic or play girls and boys. Extravagant or thrifty. Interesting or boring. Marriage will be a sure thing, not a grab-bag proposition.

Furthermore, those who wait to marry until they are financially able to marry certainly stand a great deal better chance of making a success of marriage than than those who marry on a shoestring, or no string at all. For starving together doesn't seem as romantic an adventure after marriage as it does before.

All of which adds up to saying that marriage, like all other good things, is worth waiting for and working for.

DEAR MISS DIX: I have an only son 24 years old. He has been going with a fine girl—the very one I would select for him as a wife. But lately they have broken up because they do not feel they should marry without having something saved up. My son has a job which doesn't pay much, but he has had a couple of advancements for his good work. Now the question is: Shall I give my son enough money so he and the girl can marry? I am in comfortable circumstances, but not rich. Should I give him his money now, or leave it to him when I die? Should I let him lose this splendid girl and maybe never marry? Should parents help their children, or would help spoil them?

AN UNCERTAIN FATHER

ANSWER: Give the money to the boy right now so that he can marry this girl whom he loves and of whom you approve so highly. If they are forced apart now, it may be the ruination of two lives.

I believe that parents who are able should help their children to marry, just as they should help them to get a start in business. For a girl to get a good husband settles her in life. For a boy to get a good wife is to give him not only the most steadying influence and the greatest spurt to his ambition that you can, but also to provide him with an invaluable working partner. And so the parents who can help their daughters to marry the worthy but poor young men they are in love with, and who can help their sons to marry the right sort of girls, make the best investment of their lives.

As to how much parents should help their children, that depends on circumstances. Fathers and mothers are very foolish when they give everything to their children and impoverish themselves. They should keep enough of their property so that they will always be independent and so that they will not have to live with their children or be burdens on them; but after they have done that, they should not wait until they are dead to give anything to them.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I want to get married, but I know no men. My job does not bring me in contact with them. I cannot afford to travel and my vacations are limited. I've tried evening courses at the university for contacts, with no results. Each class was jammed with girls like myself, I presume, hunting for a husband. Can you help me? Or it is a lost cause?

CH9CKMATED

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I know of no particular spot where men who want to marry abound. The world is full of men, according to the census report, and every girl has to take her chance in catching one. It is just a matter of luck.

SKI WEAR which is at once pretty and practical. Reversible ski jacket (above) is pure silk print on one side, ice blue cotton poplin on the other. Of Interest to Women

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Porridge for Breakfast One of Finest of Foods

A great many ordinary people eat porridge for breakfast because they like it.

I am one of them.

It also happens to be one of the finest of foods.

I think many porridge-dodgers could be won back to eating it—at least every other morning—if it were made with meticulous care.

(Besides—it looks as if anything that is going to be done about this high and going-higher cost of food has to be done by we housewives. Serving porridge for breakfast will definitely help.)

The packages of uncooked cereals bear specific instructions for cooking them, but tend to stress speed of preparation. The womenfolk who are astute enough to use their own judgment and give these cereals a little extra cooking in a double boiler, are the ones who have a higher per capita consumption of the whole potful.

These smart girls provide brown sugar for those who like pletny of flavour, and rob the milk of their cream-top to give more glamour to this homely dish.

First, I am giving you exact proportions and times for the popular ones: rolled oats, cornmeal, farina (cream of wheat) and the whole wheat and the mixed whole grain cereals.

Secondly come the variations that are going to turn the trick of winning back the porridge-passer-uppers.

Rolled Oats Porridge

To one cup rolled oats use 3 cups boiling water and 1 to 1¼ teaspoons salt. Have water boiling in top part of double boiler which is standing over diect heat. Add salt. Shake in the porridge from the measuring cup in the left hand while you stir with a wooden spoon in your right (that is if you are right-handed). (If you are left-handed you are so used to being the forgotten woman you adapt without quibbling.) Place over bottom of double boiler to cook for at least ½ hour.

Cornmeal And Farina

(cream of wheat)

To one cup of cornmeal or farina use 4 cups boiling water and 1½ teaspoons salt. Have water boiling in top of double boiler and sift fine cereal in very slowly as you stir to avoid all lumps. Good porridge contains no lumps. Place over bottom of double boiler to cook for at least 20 minutes.

Cracked Wheat And Mixed Cracked Whole Grain Cereals

Same as rolled oats but cook at least 40 minutes.

Most porridges are improved by longer cooking than stated above.

Variations

1. Milk may be substituted for most of the water but the cereal should be started in boiling water and the milk added when it is transferred to double boiler. Obviously this is more nutritious and the flavour is richer. Wonderful for youngsters who will eat cereal but will not drink their milk.

2. Add cold water to the coarse cereals—especially cracked wheat and cracked rye and allow to soak overnight. This has the double advantage of shortening the cooking time in the morning and of extracting all the flavour from the grain. This has the disadvantage of requiring constant stirring while it is coming to boiling point.

Remember to glamourize the cereal occasionally by putting honey, or some sliced moist dates, or extra heavy cream on the breakfast table.

THE EXPERTS SAY

Suggest Christmas Club To Help Yuletide Funds

By KAY REX

OTTAWA, Dec. 29—(CP)—If you've been waking up these mornings suffering from the high living of the holiday season, don't be alarmed. Plain wholesome food and plenty of rest is the cure for post-holiday dyspepsia.

If you're also getting up with empty pockets, that's another problem. About the only answer is a New Year's resolution to do better—to begin setting aside a few shekels in advance for next year.

Before the last war several of the banks used to maintain "Christmas Club accounts. Men, women and children could contribute 50 cents, $1, or $5 weekly, and at the end of the year found themselves with a nice little stack of money for Christmas spending.

If there's a bank in your town which still gives the public a "Christmas Club"—now's the time to join. If there isn't—open a savings account. Even a "sugar" tin in the kitchen cupboard is handy for stray nickels and dimes.

The catch is not to let the fund fade through lack of nourishment. And come a lean week it sometimes takes plenty of will power to keep from dipping into the Christmas savings.

Incidentally, now's the time to teach the youngsters the value of money—while they're at the habit-forming age. Don't dole out nickels at every request—set the kids on a weekly allowance and make them stay within it.

Finally, get them used to keeping a notebook account of their expenditures—the practical value of this will show in later life.

Don't be in too much of a hurry to banish those pretty Christmas cards to the garbage-can. Maybe they can be put to good use.

The children's wing of the local hospital might be glad to receive some of them. A sick child often will spend many of the long hours in bed happy just to look at the pictures or to paste them into a scrap-book.

They also look most interesting on wastepaper-baskets—the outside, not the inside. A plain basket can be turned into an artistic curio for den or living-room with these bright cards.

Choose the better ones—the Canadian prints, snow-scenes, which have been so popular this year. Cut out the pictures and glue on the basket until there is a solid "Mosaic" design. Cover the whole with a coat of shellac.

Finally, the cards still have definite "party" value. They can be fashioned into attractive place-cards and can also be used as table decorations. Scatter them over the table beneath a transparent plastic tablecloth. Your guests will wonder why they didn't think of the idea themselves.

In Memoriams

CLARK—In loving memory of our dear friend, Muriel, who passed away a year ago December 29th.
We walk through our garden of memories,
And there mid the blossoms of blue
We find in our garden of memories
Forget-me-nots blooming for you.
—Audrey and Doug Hamilton

PYM—In loving memory of Mrs. E. P. Pym, who passed away December 29, 1949.
Her life is a beautiful memory,
Her death is our silent grief.
She sleeps in God's beautiful garden
In the sunshine of perfect peace.
So we leave her in God's keeping,
The rough road safely o'er,
And our dear one we loved so dearly
Has only gone before.
—Ever remembered by her husband.

RUSSELL—In loving memory of Arthur Russell of Woodville, who passed away one year ago today.
And while he lies in peaceful sleep
His memory we shall always keep.
—Ever remembered by daughter Irene and son-in-law George Smith of Peterborough, Ontario.

School Board Elects New Members

HASTINGS, Dec. 29 (ENS) — Annual meeting of the Hastings Public School Board was held Wednesday evening in the public school.

Four new members are to be elected—the members whose two year term of office expires, C. M. Baker, F. Parker and H. P. Henry.

The chairman Mr. L. W. Humphries, whose resignation has been accepted had one more year to run.

Mr. Humphries stated he was following doctor's orders when he handed in his resignation. He had enjoyed his work on the school board and was sorry not to be able to carry on. Mr. Humphries has been a member of the school board for nine years. Mr. L. E. Kelly acted as chairman and F. S. Crate as secretary.

Nominations followed and the candidates are: C. M. Baker, F. Parker, L. Switzer, C. O. Phillips, and E. Hess. F. S. Crate expressed on behalf of the other members of the school board the regret of the board on resignation of Mr. Humphries.

Mrs. C. M. Baker and Mr. Humphries counted the ballots and final standings were: C. M. Baker, E. Hess, L. Switzer, F. Parker. Mr. Parker is filling in the year of Mr. Humphries term. F. S. Crate and F. Scriver are the two members elected last year.

Mrs. J. G. Thompson, president of Home and School, thanked the board for their attendance at Home and School meetings and for their co-operation. Mr. Humphries thanked Mrs. Thompson.

Herb. Henry last year's member, wished the new board a successful year.

LOL Sponsors Euchre In Centreville Hall

BAILIEBORO, Dec. 29 (ENS)— A euchre dance and draw was held in Centreville Hall under the auspices of Bailieboro LOL on Wednesday evening.

Sixteen tables of euchre were played. Mrs. H. C. Howson and Mrs. Jas. Johnston were the winning ladies., R. Kidd and H. Fair carried off the honors for the men.

The draw resulted as follows: H. Challice, Millbrook, goose; Mrs. F. Barnard, Christmas cake; D. Benson, Bewdley, chicken; Rose Johnston, Christmas pudding; R. McConnell, pair of nylons.

The large crowd enjoyed modern and old time dancing to the music of the Challice and Todd orchestra.

Mrs. Parsons, an old resident of the village, is in Civic Hospital. Her condition is said to be critical.

Mr. John Heaslip is making satisfactory progress after his recent operation.

Stephen H. Beavis

Funeral service for the late Stephen Henry Beavis, 93, of Lakefield, was held today from the Hendren Funeral Home. The Rev. Horace Kaye of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, officiated and pallbearers were Kenneth, Gordon and Ralph Beavis, Thomas Webster, Walter Jones and William Clark. Burial was at Lakefield cemetery.

HASTINGS, Dec. 29—(ENS)— The Hastings Skating Club held a meeting Thursday evening with the newly-elected president, Mrs. E. J. Petticrew, in charge. Discussion was held and it was decided to charge $3.00 per season.

The rink committee has given the club use of the rink Tuesday afternoons for lessons and 11 to 12 on Saturday mornings for practise, and whenever they can allow the Club time.

Taking A Rest

ROME, Dec. 29 (AP)—Finnish Premier Dr. Urho Kekkonen arrived in Rome Thursday night by plane. He will spend three weeks here and on the Sorrento peninsula south of Naples resting up after a recent illness.

Canada Enters A Year Of Uncertainty

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Korea was the compelling word in business in 1950, replacing the words "cold war" which had governed the business background for two years.

For "cold war" and now Korea, with all they portend, have said that no business judgment can be made along the lines of historic economic laws. Sometimes they have said it quietly, sometimes in flaming headlines, but always they have said it.

They have created international political situations which have brought forth floods of money; they have ensured, if nothing else would, that there must be a flow of goods among countries.

They have considerably obscured another great factor which might accomplish these results in peace and happiness. This is the fact that most of the world is in need and that the productive part of it must be continually busy if that need is to be filled.

Must Meet Need

They have hardly obscured the fact that if the need is not met in considerable measure, then war or war alarms must continue.

These are concerns of business and the background against which it operates.

Once in a while the concerns seem less urgent, and people again talk in terms of old-time supply and demand, as though the old-time bases were unchanged. Then the facts of the world situation kick such talk aside, as Korea seems to have done.

There now is no talk of recession as there was at the beginning of the year; we do not hear of surpluses but of shortages.

It would be grim commentary if this meant the world can keep itself busy only through making goods for destruction.

Benefits All

If the great aid given by North America to Europe was in the first instance dictated by international threats, in the later result it has shown that help to others by those who can afford it, results in benefit to all.

Canada was additionally fortunate in that her own needs as well as the needs of the world had sent her into an unprecented development of her resources which showed little sign of running down.

Even before the Korean fighting started in June, it was evident that the civilian boom, buttressed by relatively moderate defence spending, was far from spent.

Korea placed upon this virtual boom new armament demands, and now virtually all slack is taken up, and shortages of materials, labor and plant are developing.

Too Small

Canada's great industrial expansion now seems all too little; her considerable increase in population all too small.

The great economic worry is inflation—that prices may keep going up and up and wipe out much of the value of people's money.

Present policy seems to be to apply controls as gradually as possible and give business and industry a chance to show to what extent production and price problems may be solved without them.

In 1950 Canada's gross national product, her output of goods and services, probably exceeded $17,000,000,000; capital investment, money spent on expansion or maintenance of industry, roads, homes, and so on, will be close to $4,000,000,000; labor income probably was above $8,000,000,000—all records. Farm income, however, was down from its previous high levels.

Former Writer, Editor Leslie Bradshaw Dies

NEW YORK, Dec. 29 (AP). — Leslie Havergal Steel Bradshaw, 55-year-old writer and editor who served as first assistant to former President Herbert Hoover in organizing the food administration in 1917, died Thursday night. He also was a well-known theatrical manager.

Born in Liverpool, England, Bradshaw worked on the editorial staff of Everybody's Magazine, and as a reporter and desk man on the old New York Herald.

He came to the United States in 1907 and established his own theatrical producing company after the First World War. Among the players presented in his plays were Violet Heming, Mrs. Lionel Barrymore Brandon Tynan and Cecilia Loftus.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Douglas Grimston, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, said Thursday relations between the CAHA and the National Hockey League look brighter.

The New Westminster, B. C., man made this comment to reporters as the CAHA met in Toronto to discuss resumption of negotiations for continuation of an operational agreement between the amateurs and the professionals.

"Relations between the CAHA and the professionals certainly have a much brighter future than when we met in July," said Grimston.

"Several suggestions have been made by both sides to clarify the player-contract problem in the major and junior A series and there are other matters of mutual benefit that must be confidential until ratified."

The CAHA Thursday gave its branches until Feb. 1 to file any further claims on payment of players who turned professional during the 1949-50 season. The Quebec branch was granted $250 to pay for the printing in French of several thousand playing certificates.

May 22-25 were set as dates for the 1951 annual meeting in Halifax.

Defenceman Joe Desson of Johnstown, (Pa.) Jets was fined $100 Thursday for punching a referee.

Thomas Lockhart, president of the Eastern Hockey League, disclosed the penalty. In addition, Lockhart said Desson will be placed on probation for an indefinite period. If he takes any more punches at referees, Desson will be banished from the league permanently.

Lockhart said Desson punched referee Herb Gallagher in the face Friday night during a Johnstown-Boston game in Boston.

An association of French boxing writers has unanimously voted world welterweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson the next boxer of the year.

On his recent European trip Robinson defeated two of France's best fighters, Jean Stock and Robert Villemain.

Alvin Dark, captain and shortstop mainstay of the New York baseball Giants, is the fifth regular to sign his contract.

No terms were disclosed, but it was believed that the 27-year-old athtlete will receive about $20,000 a boost of $2,000 over his 1950 salary.

Montreal Canadiens Thursday night squared their junior exhibition hockey series with Winnipeg Monarchs with a 2-1 win in Winnipeg. Monarchs won the first game of the two-game series, 3-1 Boxing Day.

Bill Sinnett and Dave McCreedy scored for Montreal. Bruce Bell connected for Monarchs' singleton at 5:54 of the second period while both teams were short-handed.

Canada's two top golfers will play in the Bing Crosby pro-amateur tournament starting at Monterey, Calif., Jan. 11.

An invitation arrived Thursday for Bill Mawhinney of Vancouver, Canadian amateur champion. Stan Leonard of Vancouver, Canadian professional champion, was invited previously.

Mawhinney now is headed south for the Los Angeles open Jan. 5. Leonard will not compete in it.

Hamilton Thistles Put Out Curlers

TORONTO, Dec. 29 (CP). — A Hamilton Thistles curling rink skipped by C. Cassels yesterday reached the third round of the main event of the third annual Chisholm bonspiel at the Toronto Curling Club before being knocked out by a Toronto foursome led by Gordon Denison.

The Cassels rink stopped Dr. R. Clark's Peterborough rink 10-7 in the first round, trimmed the F. Miller rink from Orillia 11-2 in the second, then bowed to the Denison rink 8-5 in the third round.

In one of the first-round matches of the main event the Denison rink defeated T. Doughty's Peterborough rink 9-2.

Out-of-town scores in the first round of the consolation included:

Hamilton Thistles, C. Campbell, 11; Peterborough, T. Doughty, 2.

Hamilton Thistles, R. Tarlton, 9; Peterborough, Dr. R. Clark, 4.

Say Western Canada May Not Make Final

TORONTO, Dec. 29 CP). — There is a possibility that western Canada may not be represented in the final for the Alexander Trophy, it was revealed on Thursday with the release of the tentative play-off schedule for the new major hockey series.

The Alexander Trophy is to supersede the Allan Cup as the emblem of senior amateur hockey superiority under a new play-off system.

The schedule, announced at the semi-annual meeting here of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, shows that the final can develop into a strictly eastern affair with the west eliminated in an earlier round.

Shoemaker Still Trails Culmone On Winners

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 29 (AP) Jockey Willie Shoemaker rode six times at the Fair Grounds here Thursday but still trails Joe Culmone 378-380 in their race for the most winners ridden by a jockey this year.

Shoemaker had but one winner Thursday while Culmone, riding at Tropical Park, had two.

Shoemaker, registered his lone win aboard Roseborough in the seventh. He placed third in the third race with Lillie's Best. In the fifth he was third on Dr. Reed. In his other three rides Shoemaker was out of the money.

Down Indians 3-1 Bears Cut Bison Lead

By The Canadian Press.

Hershey Bears still are in the thick of the American Hockey League battle for leadership of the eastern division.

The Bears Thursday night cut the lead of Buffalo Bisons to three points by downing Springfield Indians 3-1. In the only other game scheduled, Indianapolis Capitals climbed into a tie with St. Louis Flyers in the western division's fourth place by pounding Buffalo 6-1. Thus, the Caps climb out of the cellar was at least half accomplished.

Must Improve Living Standards To Beat Reds, Labor Heads Say

OTTAWA, Dec. 29 (CP)—The leaders of Canada's two largest labor congresses said Thursday Canada must work to defeat Communism by meeting obligations abroad and by improving living standards at home.

These points were stressed in year-end messages from Percy R. Bengough, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, and A. R. Mosher, president of the Canadian Congress of Labor.

Both placed emphasis on the current drive of labor organizations with more than 1,000,000 members to bring down living costs by the reimposition of price controls and the retention of rent controls, due to expire next April 30.

Mr. Bengough, whose congress has 300,000 members, said:

"We can defeat Communism. We must. We shall succeed if we fight on three fronts. Our military defences and strength must be increased. Our assistance to those in under-developed areas should be pushed with all possible speed and efficiency. And on the home front we must make our democracy work through protecting the economic and social standards of our people and assuring equitable treatment for all regardless of who they are, or where they came from, or what vocation they have chosen."

Not On Witch Hunt

Referring to labor's drive to clean out Communists in union ranks, Mr. Bengough said Canadian labor is not on a witch hunt. "We are taking these strong measures," he said, "not as the result of any feeling of the jitters, but because we know and understand the workings of Communists; and we will not permit the use of our platforms and organizations to those who seek to destroy us."

Turning to the campaign for living-cost controls, he said the upward swing of prices shows no sign of slackening.

Mr. Bengough urged Canadians not to be "misled by the bosses' propaganda that price control is not possible without wage control." Wages already were controlled, through the negotiating process and in other ways.

What is necessary, President Bengough said, is that prices be negotiated in the same way as wages. This should be done through a board representing all affected groups, including labor and farmers.

President Mosher, who heads a Congress with 360,000 members said the outlook for the New Year is far from bright. But it would be foolish to adopt an attitude of panic, pessimism or helplessness at the magnitude of the problem.

"Canadians had played an important part in the work of the United Nations and the country had won respect as desirous of peace but willing to take its full share of whatever fighting was necessary to repel aggression.

Must Co-operate.

"Much more than this is necessary, however," Mr. Mosher said. "Canada is comparatively one of the most fortunate countries in the world, and we must be willing to co-operate to the fullest possible extent in the endeavor to improve living conditions for the masses in the depressed areas."

But international responsibilities did not excuse failure to protect and improve living standards at home.

"Even to provide adequate defence for our nation requires that we should make the nation world defending," Mr. Mosher said. "Too many people in Canada are living in overcrowded slums. Too many of them are ill-clothed and ill-fed. It is easy to forget these fact, and those who have not only the obligation, but the power, to remedy such conditions have failed to give them the attention they deserve."

Thieves Enter Rockcroft Store

Provincial police are still investigating the breakin Saturday night at the store of reeve-elect Charles Flynn, of Rockcroft. The thieves got away with nearly $120 worth of candy, gum, cigarettes, and cigarette lighters.

As yet there have been no arrests.

The thief or thieves entered the store section of the building, located on Highway 36 and the Rockcroft road, by breaking the glass in a rear door and then reaching through and unlatching it.

Provincial Constable Roy Feeley is continuing the investigation.

T. J. Lang Buried St. Paul's Cemetery

The funeral of the late Thomas James Lang, well known business man of Millbrook for more than half a century, who died in Oshawa on Saturday after a long illness at age 83, was held from the Comstock Funeral Home on Tuesday. The Rev. E. C. Moore, rector of St. George's Anglican Church, officiated.

Mr. Lang was the son of the late John Lang and Ann Newell, and was the last surviving member of his family. Predeceased by his wife, the former Julia Maud Mitchell, in Feburary of last year, Mr. Lang had been in failing health for several years.

"T. J." as he was known to his many friends, operated a retail shoe business for a great many years in Millbrook. A member of the council for 15 years, he took a prominent part in civic affairs of the village. A staunch Conservative, he was keenly interested in politics. In his youth, he was a member of the Millbrook lacrosse team.

While he lived in Millbrook, Mr. Lang was always an active member of St. Thomas' Anglican Church, of which he was a sidesman. He was also chairman of St. Paul's cemetery board for many years. He was a member of the Masonic Order, and of the Independent Order of Oddfellows.

Burial was in the family plot in St. Paul's cemetery where the graveside service was conducted by the Millbrook Lodge, IOOF, of which Mr. Lang had been a member for nearly 50 years. Pall-bearers were T. N. Belch, G. T. MacPherson, L. Winslow, L. M. Fallis, R. Bothwell and E. L. Monden.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Walter E. Wright (Muriel), Peterborough, Mrs. Ivan A. McKenzie (Patricia) and Mrs. Cyril G. Norris (Marguerite), both of Oshawa, and six grandchildren.

County Farm Notes

Conventions of Agricultural Producers Signalize The Annual Time Of Stock Taking — Some Memories As 1950 Closes — Warble Fly Discussions Locally Suggest Business As Usual — Markets A Continuing Problem.

Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, has booked several meetings in the county to assist farmers in promoting the campaign for control of the warble fly which was recommended several weeks ago by R. H. Graham, Toronto, in a talk to the township representatives.

The first meeting will be at Ennismore community hall Tuesday Jan. 2 at 8 p.m.; at Westwood Friday Jan. 5 at 2.30 p.m. and Norwood that evening at 8 p.m.

"This is a matter farmers have to decide for themselves," Mr. Paterson said today, "and if they want to go after the warble fly in an organized way we'll be glad to do all we can to help.

Petitions should be signed before the end of January, and it is understood that application has to be made to local municipal councils for action on the township scale.

Reeve James Gifford asked for the Ennismore meeting, and there is also lively interest showing in Asphodel. That looks promising, and it should tend to stimulate action in the townships between those two."

PERSONAL MEMORIES

As time begins to roll up the scroll of 1950 for deposit in the past, some memories stand out in the retrospect. The late Arthur D. Runions of the department of animal husbandry, Ontario Agricultural College, and former agricultural representative in Peterborough county, who lives on in spirit among his friends here and elsewhere. Sam S. Staples, reluctant to the last in acknowledging that the heavy horse had become virtually obsolete as a power factor in farm work; Arthur McIntyre, Case agent, and secretary-treasurer of the Brotherhood of Threshermen whose conventions were held here for years, with prandial accent on their early spring dinner supplied by the excellent cooks of Stewart Hall, Otonabee; Wallace Brealey, active direct of the Peterborough district Ayrshire Breeders' Association.

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Stewart of Otonabee for the success of the first local Folk School which was held in their home for a week last winter . . . Robert Armstrong of Cavan for the crop improvement meeting and the demonstration plots of grain at his farm . . . Frances Walsh and Murray Pimmett for winning the provincial judging competition in beef cattle at Toronto . . . Saturday Sept. 30, Black and White Day at Keene, a fine show of Holstein cattle, but especially an afternoon of enchanting autumn beauty along the bank of the old mill stream paralleling the Indian River . . . Ernie McWilliam of Dewart Milling for continuing his fertilizer tests in growing crops . . .

To the boys and girls of the calf clubs for the projects they carried through the season to achievement day; to their parents for encouraging these juniors, and to Frank C. Paterson and his assistant, Robert E. Bell for the five clubs, including forestry and tractor, that were organized in an expanded program . . .

CROP PRESIDENT'S TALK

"Where alfalfa can still be grown, it is the best forage plant in this country," said Bruce Mehlenbacher of Cayuga, president of the Ontario Crop Improvement Association at the annual meeting of the Elgin branch in St. Thomas.

In the use of alfalfa, red clover, timothy, brome and orchard grass for long term pastures he found in Haldimand that the timothy orchard grass and brome tended to crowd out the alfalfa. He recommended some reed canary grass seed in mixtures for low ground, and also suggested trying some Bird's Foot Trefoil. He warned Elgin farmers that both it and reed canary grass were hard to harvest, but they made a lot of good feel as well as hay.

Changes were gradually developing in farm practice, Mr. Mehlenbacher said, any they should be regarded with an open mind. As a farmer and operator of a seed cleaning plant, he made it a policy of getting young men around him because of their drive and readiness to adopt new ideas and changes.

"Development of the rural youth of Canada is one of the most important 'crops' demanding attention."

Mr. Mehlenbacher predicted that the forage harvest was going to be a farming process of the future, and the answer to the problem of preparing grass silage. And, an era of barn driers was coming soon.

He also advocated the use of the swather. Grass cut with it was found to be about two weeks ahead of mower cutting. It facilitated the laying and curing of hay in such a manner that rain seemed to go right through.

Welcomes Youth

Mr. Mehlenbacher said he saw an influx of mounted machinery to challenge the imagination and resourcefulness of youth.

"I'm afraid that if we depended on the older men to make changes on the farm, we would still have more horses in use than we have today. We are pioneers in some particulars yet. Barn construction hasn't changed much in 100 years. Grass silage and barn driers will help in the new types of barns.

One of his topics was overhead irrigation with the use of farm ponds, declaring that there was too much run-off. On his 600 acre farm he has four large ponds and is introducing a system of overhead irrigation.

Irrigate Pastures

"We hope to pick up a tremendous amount of summer pasture with irrigation. In the United States it is being used extensively for hay and pasture. We have a large pond near our barn, and we expect to raise 200 hogs with about one-half the feed with irrigation of our hog runs next year."

Too many farmers, he said, were missing the boat by not treating their barnyard manure with phosphates to tie up the nitrogen which otherwise would evaporate. Use of stable phosphates stepped up the fertilizer value of manure 200 per cent. It was like a shot in the arm on a human being.

Warden A. V. Coulter commended the high yield crop clubs. He said the only person who did not win was the farmer who did not join and compete. The Crop Improvement Association and its science could have been founded on the parable of Jesus and the seeds sown on rocks, among tares and on fertile soil.

"Down through the generations, good practice in agriculture has been fundamental. Faith without work and knowledge is of no avail. In the final analysis the farmer who makes the hay is one who harvests the grass that grows under the other fellow's feet."

✦ ✦ ✦

JANUARY 1950 AND NOW

The Christmas message of His Majesty the King exhorting his people to cast out fear in facing the new year may be applied on the industrial plane to the industrial program for 1951.

At this time last year Ontario farmers were demanding at sectional meetings adequate assurance of a profitable market for the staple commodities they were expected to produce. Their worries embraced the future of prices of dairy products, bacon, beef, poultry, eggs. Such circumstances as the increasing domestic consumption backed by a high volume of general employment, with substantial exports to the United States, brought a sustaining influence to agriculture, and the year was more satisfactory than was visualized in that winter of discontent.

Factors of support are continuing into 1951, braced by intimations of export prospects in volume but still lacking the price essential to make them attractive to the Ontario farmer. Both the cheese and bacon contracts with the United Kingdom have been unfilled, and reports of the outlook for the new year have not yet developed into clarity of prices.

A defence program that has been forced upon the western world broadens almost daily, and will require the necessary background of ample food supplies. The home population is increasing at approximately 300,000 persons annually. These are facts on the present side of demand, but farmers are still almost as concerned about prices as they were a year ago.

Farmers would understand the causes affecting them and their necessary income which prompted Earl Kitchen, secretary of the Dairy Farmers of Canada, to appeal to dairymen at Listowel recently not to reduce their milking herds. But his assurance was simply that "everything leads us to believe that there will soon be a good market for all the dairy products which Canadians can produce."

What farmers need is more definite information of their prospects in the new year which assumes nationally greater importance than it did at Jan. 1, 1950.

A Look Into The Future

(By R. H. GRAHAM, Associate Live Stock Commissioner, Ontario Department of Agriculture)

A LOOK INTO THE FUTURE

The ending of 1950 has been to many of us the beginning of wonder, perhaps despair and a feeling of bewilderment, all created not by depression but by the turn of world events. Defense preparations, talk of war, and higher taxes take our minds away from the thoughts we had last spring. At that time rising prices at home and lower prices abroad made conditions seem somewhat unsettled. Suddenly everything, including our thinking, changed. Everyone began to ask, what does the future hold?

Immediately our thoughts turn to what we might expect in so far as agricultural commodities are concerned. Hogs, you will recall, were frequently discussed last January. Higher prices were being demanded, and as predicted only a part of our UK contract was filled. Now we have an outlet in the form of a new contract for 130,000,000 lbs. Are we in a position to fill it? I doubt it very much.

Our present domestic consumption is around 88,000 hogs per week, a figure nearly equal to current marketing and hence does not provide any surplus in quantity. In 1949 we shipped 100,000,000 lbs., and in 1950 we exported 35,000,000 out of a 60,000,000 contract. However, I do look for a considerable increase in the amount of bacon available for export. Much depends on sows bred. If freight assistance should disappear, feed costs will determine the number of hogs fed. On the other hand, if no change occurs, production in Ontario will increase. Western farmers may increase production because of the surplus of feed wheat. This trend appears only natural. Therefore we must look to the English market to take our surplus, which we hope will be at a price suitable to producers.

Still Profit in Beef

Never in our history has beef been at such a high level of price, yet rumours of an increase across the line continue to be heard. From 1949 to 1950 we saw the greatest all time increase, satisfying it is true to those engaged in beef production. However, with our dollar again on the free market a reduction took place, not severe but nevertheless a lesser price. With cattle at present prices, good profits can be made without any price increase. The pounds gain will pay well if cattle are bought and sold at the same price. A steer weighing 800 lbs. and bought at 27 cents cost around $216, and sold at 1100 lbs. will bring $297.

What about the future? Even with the conditions previously mentioned, there is no need for pessimism. Just as long as pay cheques are coming in, labor will continue to eat meat, and with our ever increasing population it will take more and more to supply our needs.

Population and Production

As an integral part of the American economy, we find our American market requiring Canadian cattle. In 1900 the US had a population of 63 million and 60 million cattle, while in 1950 there are 155 million people and 80 million cattle. In 1900 there were 55 million hogs, and in 1950, 60 million. Sheep and lambs have decreased from 39 million to 25 million. The same ratio of increase and decrease has taken place in Canada, hence the opinion that no surplus meat over the combined American and Canadian demand is yet on hand.

Our consumption per capita is rather interesting:

Argentine, 229 pounds; Australia, 217; New Zealand, 206; USA, 145; Canada, 129; United Kingdom, 92.

Should we ever increase our consumption in North America to 170 lbs. per person in 1960, it would probably take 7,400,000,000 lbs. more meat or the use of a billion bushels of corn or other grain per year to keep up with the increase in population.

Much depends on the weather and employment, and these two factors alone will determine how much we shall eat. The future seems bright providing world conditions do not take on a really bad turn.

Champion Cow Long Obscure In Hilton Herd

"My father always knew she was a great cow, and I wish he were here to see what she has done," said Douglas Morrow of Hilton regarding the great milking record by the Holstein cow "Re-Echo May Burke," owned by J. E. Houck of Brampton, as announced through Canadian Press Dec. 14.

(The official figures released by the Record of Performance Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture: "The 365-day, three times a day, milking record of Re-Echo May Burke is 35,314 lbs. milk and 1,261 lbs. of butterfat; average test 3.57 per cent.")

The report properly referred to the Houck farm and herd, but few knew Re-Echo was from the hills of old Northumberland, and that she was born and lived to maturity at Hilton, the property of the late Roscoe Morrow, whose son, Douglas, now has the Morrow herd.

This cow worked away under farm conditions, and supplied milk to Cedar Creek cheese factory until two years ago. Then, Norman McConkey of Holstein fame around Peterborough, saw her, and as usual was a good judge in buying her from a herd never in ROP work.

Re-Echo changed from his stable to the farm of Jack Houck on the Centre Road between Brampton and Cooksville.

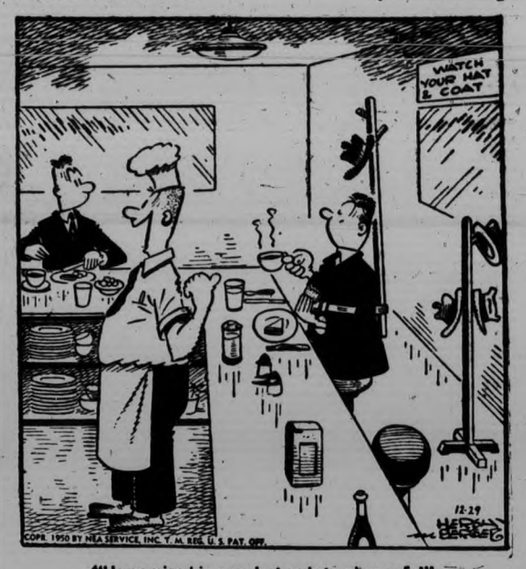

In that transfer she fell into the hands of an outstanding Holstein man who developed her to this world record. The whole story is not definite as there are other countries to hear from before the world's record is certain, but the recognized record up to the present has been 35,250 pounds.

This cow is of the same strain as other Morrow cattle, as the farm has not puchased any females for many years. The sire was bought from the McLaughlin 'Elmcroft Farm' herd of Oshawa.

We think there will be much more to hear about this outstanding individual when the Holstein breeders get busy with the details of her family tree.

We regret that the full significance ws not known so that county Holstein officers would have seen that the breeder and others interested attended the banquet on Dec. 13 at the completion of Re-Echo's milking test."

Tribute To G. A. Brethen

If some trophy were awarded annually to the farmer contributing most to the cause of agriculture in Peterborough, the name of G. A. Brethen of Norwood should be at the top of the list for consideration.

On two counts of productive activity, Mr. Brethen deserves special mention. He is remembered for those meetings here last winter rallying the poultry industry of the district dismayed by the uncertainties of price and marketing conditions as they appeared for 1950.

The invited speakers were C. F. Luckham and Albert Seiling, both bringing messages of timely inspiration of faith and courage.

One result was the petition from Peterborough poultry interests appealing to the federal government for some form of price support. Eventually, the government did establish a 38-cent guarantee to storage companies. It was not all that was desired, but it helped check the trend toward reduction and in some instances dissolution of flocks.

Mr. Brethen was also largely instrumental in organizing the Beaver oats club, sponsored by the directors of Norwood Fair. It was an outstanding success, and to such an extent that it received official commendation from representatives of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Mr. Brethen has been requested to review that club project in east Peterborough at the annual convention of Ontario agricultural societies and fairs in Toronto Feb. 9.

His endeavor, example and leadership deserves warm recognition. His efforts were well conceved and planned, and they were put forward in a manner that attracted a large measure of co-operation.

Maybe some day he will realize his dream of a 25,000 crowd at Norwood Fair, but that is far too sanguine an objective for all the district folks who do their best for its realization by motoring to Norwood for the big Thanksgiving Day event.

Something to remember

This is one of a series of words and expressions whose origins and meanings are published in the interest of a better understanding, use and knowledge of the English language.

"SATISFY"

The word "satisfy" comes to us from simple parents—the Latin satis, enough, plus facere, to make. This combination resulted in the Old French satisfier, which, when clad in the clothes of our English language, became "satisfy."

Thus, if you make enough of something, or have enough of anything, you are presumed to be satisfied.

Biggest Air Battle Fought In Korea, UN Pilots Hold Own

TOKYO, Dec. 30—(AP)—Swift F-86 Sabre jets and Russian-built MIG-15 jet planes fought the biggest air battle of the Korean war late today near the Manchurian border. Forty MIGs swooshed out of the Manchurian skies and tangled with 15 American Sabres in a dogfight of dazzling speeds. Two MIGs were damaged. All the American planes returned safely to their base. In an earlier, smaller jet fight Saturday, American Sabres shot down one MIG and damaged another near Sinuiju in northeast Korea.

The American pilots said they saw one MIG plunge into the earth in flames from 1,500 feet. They said the other was on its back, streaming smoke in a downward plunge at low altitude.

On the ground, two Communist forces swung 12 to 13 miles deep into South Korea on the U.S Eighth Army's icy eastern flank.

An Eighth Army spokesman said United Nations defenders were "in contact" with the larger force of 5,000 Reds. It was operating in the hill country 32 miles inland from the Sea of Japan.

The smaller Communist force of 2,00 troops was only 10 miles inland from the east coast.

No Official Report

There was no indication from army headquarters that a battle had begun.

Details of the war's biggest air battle was sketchy. The air force said the fight began at 3:15 p.m. (1:15 a.m. EST).

The Migs with their swept-back wings and the sleek Sabres fought from 25,000 feet down to 3,000 feet.

The Communist air force has shown increasing willingness to fight as its ground forces of Korean and Chinese Reds massed along Parellel 38 for the second invasion of South Korea.

Gen. MacArthur has predicted the invasion will start rolling between Jan. 1 and 10.

Lt.-Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, the new U. N. field commander in Korea, stressed the gravity of the situation confronting allied troops. In a year-end statement he told his command:

"We face severe trials. We shall need dogged determination in attack and utmost tenacity in defence." He added: "I have complete confidence in your ultimate success."

Sudbury Teachers Return To Work As Board Meets

SUDBURY, Dec. 30 (CP). — Sixty-two teachers who had tendered letters of resignation effective Dec. 31, agreed Friday night to carry on beyond that date after a meeting with the Sudbury High School Board.

The teachers' action conformed with a suggestion made to them earlier Friday by I. M. Robb, field secretary of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation, that settlement of their salary dispute with the board be left in the hands of a reference board appointed by the provincial government.

It also means that Sudbury's two secondary schools will reopen Jan. 3. Only seven of the 69-member staff had not joined the mass resignation move initiated two weeks ago to enforce salary demands.

"The teachers are going back to work until it is settled," J. G. Lowe, board secretary, said after Friday night's meeting. "It is a good move on their part, as the schools will open. They must be given credit for the move."

Give Board Chance

Mr. Robb said the teachers agreed to return to school on a day-to-day basis, at their present salaries, until the reference board has ruled on the dispute. Judge James M. Cooper of Sudbury has been appointed chairman of the board.

Mr. Lowe said an effort to resolve the salary question was made during Friday night's meeting but neither the teachers nor the board would make any concessions. Three previous attempts in the last week to reach a settlement also failed.

He said the action of the teachers to continue teaching still leaves the way open for a solution to the dispute without a board of reference.

Dr. W. L. Whitelock of Hamilton was named to the board by the school board, and the teachers have not yet named a representative.

Council Wants Vote Recount

WINDSOR, Dec. 30—(CP)—Windsor council Friday night voted 6 to 4 in favor of making application for a recount into the Dec. 6 Mayoralty election which saw Thomas R. Brophey defeat Mayor Arthur J. Reaume by 38 votes.

There definitely will be a check of ballots in the city's closest Mayoraly race in history, as Council's request cannot be questioned by any court.

The Council called for the recount after an application launched by Mayor Reaume himself had been stopped by Mayor-elect Brophey through an injunction by an Ontario Supreme Court judge. Mayor Reaume's recount reached only preliminary stages with no ballot boxes opened.

The first recount, adjourned until Jan. 22 in case Mayor Reaume sought to appeal Mr. Justice Spence's injunction, will be thrown out and a new one instituted before a County of Essex judge, likely Judge J. A. Legris, who was to preside over the other one.

The six-to-four vote favoring the recount came after three hours of heated discussion at Friday night's meeting, called specially to consider a vote check.

UK, France, Italy Get Big Share Of ERP

LONDON, Dec. 30 (Reuters)—Britain, France and Italy received the largest shares of Marshall Plan aid during the first 11 months of 1950 the Marshall Plan Mission to Britain announced today.

From Jan. 1 to Nov. 30 1950, Britain received $463,900,000 worth of food, fuel raw materials and machinery out of Marshall Plan funds.

France received the second largest amount, $373,000,000 and Italy was third with $275,300,000.

Marshall Plan purchase approvals for all the 17 western European countries and Trieste in the 1-month period totalled $2,431,000,000. In the corresponding period of 1949 Marshall aid payments totalled $3,563,800,000.

Railway Strike Ends In New Zealand

WELLINGTON, N.Z., Dec. 30—(Reuters)—New Zealand's railway strike, which paralyzed services the last week, ended today.

Deputy Prime Minister Keith Holyoake announced the settlement talks between the government and railway unions. He declined to state on what terms it was reached but said it was "satisfactory."

The railwaymen struck for pay increases and a speed-up of a hearing of their claims by a tribunal.

Normal business will resume at midnight Dec. 31.

Typhoon Strikes

MANILA, Dec. 30—(AP)—Forty-five - mile - an - hour gusts of wind swept through Manila tonight as a swirling tropical typhoon struck within 20 miles of the city. The storm, with winds of 80 miles an hour at its centre, swept up the east coast of southern Luzon today, leaving behind flooded roads and ruined crops. Early reports said several houses were destroyed at Naga City. There were no reports of casualties.

Parliament To Meet January 29

New Defence Moves To Be Discussed St. Laurent Reveals

OTTAWA, Dec. 30—(CP)—Parliament, with a heavy Legislative program in prospect, will meet Monday, Jan. 29. On that day, it will prorogue the special session adjourned since September. The following day, it will launch its 1951 session.

This was announced late Friday by Prime Minister St. Laurent at a press conference called on the eve of his departure by air Sunday for the conference of Commonwealth Prime Ministers opening in London Jan. 4.

He declined to indicate the extent of the government legislative program, except to say that it would contain "very concrete" proposals covering "everything that we think of concern to the Canadian public at this time."

However, he did drop some hints.

May Use RCAF

RCAF units might be placed at the disposal of the North Atlantic Treaty organization—this would call for parliamentary approval — and that there might be further Canadian appropriations for the western European defence pool.

Of the special force, he said an "unfortunate misunderstanding" had arisen over the return to Canada of 300 members of an advance guard which had gone to Korea. The press had interpreted this as meaning the main force would not be going to Korea.

But, he added, those men were returning to train with their units and the position regarding the use of the force still was this: that it would, when trained, go to the theatre where it would be of the most use. This could be either Europe of Korea.

If it appeared desirable, the RCAF fighter squadron going to Britain next month "quite probably" would be put at the disposal of the North Atlantic Treaty organization in Europe. Further air units might be placed under the North Atlantic command.

Question Doesn't Arise

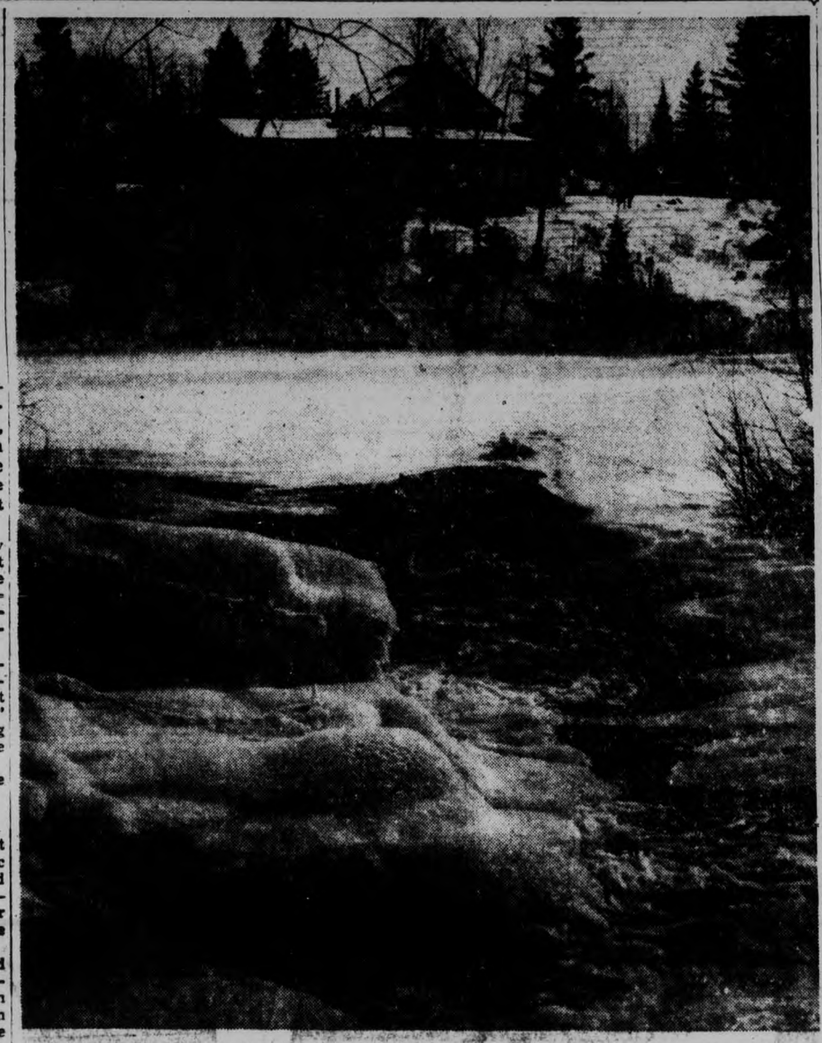

The question of sending Canadian food supplies to Europe had not arisen.

He stressed, when asked how he viewed world prospects for 1951, that he still does not think failed to develop on that day of an outbreak of another world war.

When parliament meets, the address in reply to the speech from the throne will be moved by Dr. W. H. McMillan, newly-elected Liberal member for Welland. Maurice Breton, new Liberal for Joliette - L'Assomption - Montcalm, will second it.

Report Jail Robbed It's 'Outside Job'

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Dec. 30—(AP))—Sheriff Dorsey J. Schultz said Friday some one broke into his jail through a coal chute and took $45 from an open safe. The money belonged to the jail's 25 prisoners. He called it an "outside job."

Thugs Snatch $7,000 Payroll From Factory

TORONTO, Dec. 30—(CP) — Two bandits, one armed with a revolver, held up two payroll clerks in a west-end factory Friday and escaped with $7,000. They left behind two solid clues: their hats.

The headgear was lost apparently during a scuffle with paymaster Earl Haley, 39, and his assistant, Percy Carey, 27, as they headed down a rear stairway to pay the employees of Graham Nail and Wire Products Limited.

The armed man, pointing his weapon, said: "Hand it over."

"We started fighting with them," said Haley. "We grappled but they didn't shoot. They managed to grab the cash box and when I yelled for help they ran."

Bandits Flee

Police said the bandits fled on foot and apparently disappeared into late-afternoon shopping crowds on King St. west. Detectives were told that one was seen to throw an overcoat into a parked automobile, identified later as having been rented a short time earlier from a downtown agency. A school janitor reported that about 10 minutes after the robbery he saw two men drop a small box in the school yard.

"It contained only cheques," he said. "The men were stuffing something into their pockets when they ran out of the yard."

St. Laurent Sure War Far Distant

OTTAWA, Dec. 30 —(CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent, who will be 69 Feb. 1, Friday night told reporters he does not expect to see another world war in his lifetime.

"I have said that before and I feel the same way now," he said, "and I am in pretty good health."

"Is it still 50 to one?" asked a reporter, referring to the Prime Minister's recent approval of a Lloyds of London insurance policy giveing 50 to one odds against a general war before Sept. 1, 1951.

Mr. St. Laurent said he had been invited to visit Lloyds' "coffee house" when he is in London next week for the meeting of Commonwealth prime ministers.

Offer To Surrender Stone If Relic Left In Scotland

LONDON, Dec. 30—(CP)—An anonymous petition to the King offering to give up the stolen Stone of Scone if he agrees to leave it in Scotland quickened Scotland Yard's search for the weighty relic today. The cream of British sleuths, tracking the 458-pound sandstone block since it was lugged out of Westminster Abbey early Christmas morning, were cagey about the petition's genuineness but made quick contact with Glasgow police who have a copy.

A Scotland Yard official said "in view of the absence of any signatures, we feel it must be regarded as rather inconclusive."

The stately petition appeared in a letter to a Glasgow newspaper. The communication was anonymous, "His Majesty's Petitioners," as the authors put it, "being in fear of apprehension."

Just Waiting For Chance

Scotland Yard would love to get its mitts on the abductors of the cherished Coronation stone, especially after police fished for it in a Hyde Park Lake Friday and landed a rusty iron safe.

Grammar Intricacies Throwing Experts

NEW YORK, Dec. 30 (AP)—Next time you try to figure out if it should be "shall" or "will", or "who" or "whom," take comfort.

Even the experts are trying to figure it out.

The Modern Language Association closed its 65th annual convention here yesterday with plans for a dictionary of modern American usage, designed to end grammatical confusion.

Allan D. Hubbell, assistant professor of English at the University of Denver, said the dictionary would be based on studies of writings by newspaper editors, novelists and other users of the language.

He said "shall" and "will" create "an anxiety neurosis" among the public. But he added that the fretting is useless since the contraction, "'ll," — as in "he'll and you'll"—serves for both.

The public probably will have to fret for a long time since Hubbell said compilation of the dictionary will take several years.

Until then, Hubbell advises: "Use whichever (form) seems perfectly natural to you and you'll be right."

U.S. Traffic Deaths Total 35,000 In 1950

CHICAGO, Dec. 30. (AP)—The American 1950 traffic death toll will climb to an estimated 35,000 —the highest since 1941 and the sixth worst in the history of motor vehicle travel in the United States.

The National Safety Council's estimate of this year's traffic deaths includes 330 persons it predicts will lose their lives in motor accidents over a 78-hour period, from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Monday.

The 31,230 killed in the first 11 months this year was only 270 less than the traffic fatalities in 1949 and compared to the 32,259 killed in 1948. The record high was 39,969 in 1941.

In last weekend's Christmas holiday, 545 persons were killed on the highways — one of the highest totals on record for an extended holiday.

Today's survey showed five traffic deaths since the count started Friday night.

Commons Turns Over Leaf Bans Choicest Expressions

LONDON, Dec. 30 (AP)—You can smile all you want, pardner, but you can't call a man a cheat, a stool pigeon or a bastard in the House of Commons any more.

And when a lawmaker, growling with rage, looks across the aisle at members of the Opposition parties, he'll have to think twice before shouting "not a damned one of you opposite."

For these four expressions have been banned on the floor of the Commons, where some of the choicest selections of vituperation have been heard for centuries.

The new bans were disclosed in the latest edition of Sir Thomas Erskin May's "Treaties on the Law, Privileges, Proceedings and Usuage of Parliament." This book governs the procedure and conduct in the House.

For many years now parliamentarians have been gradually cutting out the blue words used in house debates to describe political enemies.

So far these expressions are among those declared verboten: "Scurrilous," "dishonest," "vicious and vulgar," "criminal," "corrupt," "insulting dog," "lie down, dog," "behaving like a jack-ass," and "swine."

This still gives the members of parliament plenty of leeway, however. Commenting on the new rules, the scholarly Manchester Guardian said:

"These are rather more rounded than some of the ephithets adjudged as unparliamentary in earlier years and which remain on the index."

Then, dryly, it added:

"It must clearly be a great strain on zealous politicians to keep the rules, and members are fortunate in having Erskine May to help them."

Fans Huddle Over Stoves For Ice Bowl Rugby Classic

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Dec. 30—(AP)—It won't do the gamblers any good to know it but they are "scoting" up here today for a football game that already is on ice.

We aren't just a-punning either. Its the third annual ice bowl contest between the Ladd Air Base flyers and the University of Alaska Polar Bears.

Boundary lines, grid lines and goal lines are marked with coal dust for visibility against the snow.

It's a game that already has a tradition. No touchdowns.

And the players wear fur mukluks (shoes), parkas and special wool face masks. They will stumble through ankle deep snow—barring a somewhat unprecedented thaw—in sub-zero temperatures.

Spectators? They will sit around air force Herman Nelson heaters watching through a haze of ice and fog as the traditional opponents try for their first touchdown in three years. Neither team has crossed the other goal line. The first game was scoreless; last winter, the Polar Bears won 3-0 with a last-minute field goal.

Rules for the game have been adapted to the climate, the locality and the time of year. Neither side will be penalized for time lost due to moose, caribou or runaway dog teams cluttering up the grriron.

The game will consist of regulation 15-minute quarters if the temperature stays above 30-below zero. If it drops below that mark, quarters will be reduced to 10 minutes.

Time will be alloted for warm-up between quarters but the contest must officially end before midnight of Dec. 31.

Sailor Faces Magistrate Whose Home He Robbed In Series Of 25 Burglaries

Police Find 7 Suitcases of Jewels, Silver In Seaman's Room; Turned To Burglary After Shipping Strike

NEW YORK, Dec. 30—(CP)—A handsome Canadian seaman, charged with robbing at least 25 houses of jewelry and furnishings valued at from $30,000 to $50,000, today faces a judge whose home he has admitted looting. William Alan Cole, 25, who police said called his home Saint John, N.B., was arbar and confessed to the burglaries. At the time of his arrest Cole was fashionably attired in a stolen suit.

Cole will be arraigned today before Magistrate Peter M. Horn whose home in Jamaica estates was looted last August in one of Cole's less-successful efforts. Horn and his family had been away on vacation and all valuables were stored in the attic where Cole did not find them.

Police estimated that in the last nine months Cole had stolen $30,000 to $50,000 in valuables from homes in the Riverdale district of the Bronx and in Jamaica estates, Queens, both quiet, prosperous residential sections. In Cole's furnished room, police found seven suitcases and his seaman's duffle bag filled with jewelry, silverware, cameras and other valuables whose owners are being traced.

Pawned Loot

The pawning of some of the loot and the use of allegedly stolen visiting cards led to Cole's arrest after a 19-day search, police said.

Sav Alexander Won't Be Called

OTTAWA, Dec. 30 — (CP) — Military officers and men will go to Europe from Canada next year to join Gen. Eisenhower's staff but so far there is no sign that one of them will be the greatest soldier in the country—Field Marshall Viscount Alexander.

Formation of headquarters for the new integrated European army has led to a new crop of rumors that the governor-general will be called back into military harness to serve under his old friend, Ike.

A high official source here says that if there has been any approach to the field marshal the Canadian cabinet is unaware of it. The subject wasn't raised with cabinet here by either Prime Minister Attlee or Defence Minister Shinwell of Britain on their recent visits.

As it is seen here, there are several reasons why his appointment to the Eisenhower staff in the months ahead is unlikely.

One is that only recently his five-year appointment as governor-general here was lengthened for a year, taking him into 1952. Another is that there already is one British field marshal causing worries for the pact countries. They don't quite know what to do with Field Marshal Montgomery. He is No. 1 man for the joining Brussels power army but that force will be absorbed by Eisenhower. A Frenchman is slated to have the No. 1 army post under Eisenhower.

Ontario Teachers Seeking 25% Pay Boost

TORONTO, Dec. 30—(CP) — The Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation Friday asked a maximum salary range for secondary school teachers of from $4,575 to $6,000, depending on the size of staff at each school.

The proposed scale represents an increase of 25 per cent over the Federation's previous salary policy, set in 1948. It was described as "an interim step to take care of the period needed to formulate a broader policy for professional services."

Adoption of the suggested increase as federation policy caps a determined drive by the high school teachers for more money. Though the situation in Sudbury has overshadowed other salary requests, most school boards throughout the province are faced with demands for substantial increases from teachers.

In Toronto, secondary school teachers have asked for more than a 25 per cent increase. Their last boost, in 1948, set the maximum at $4,500. A 25 per cent increase would give them $5,625 but they are asking $5,890.

A committee of school board officials is working on a new salary schedule.

Delegates to the Federation's annual assembly elected George L. Roberts of Oshawa president for 1951, succeeding T. W. Mayor of Kingston. J. T. Stubbs, Sault Ste. Marie, was elected first vice-president and Clair E. Coughlin, Windsor, second vice-president.

Elected to the board of governors of the Ontario Teachers Federation, of which the O.S.S.T.F. is a member, were G. T. Hosie, Stratford; E. G. Marcy, Sarnia; Evelyn Rutledge, Port Arthur; F. D. Sawyer, Markdale; and C. C. Toon, Hamilton.

May Take Girls Back In Forces

OTTAWA, Dec. 30—(CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent disclosed Friday the government is considering the use of women in Canada's armed forces and said something more will be said in parliament on the subject.

He admitted consideration had been given to the enlistment of women, particularly for the air force, though no final decision had been taken.

CWAC personnel in the Second World War made an extremely valuable contribution, particularly in the field of radar, and the Defense Department would like to see them back at their jobs. Enlistment in the other services might follow later.

At peak strength, women in the three armed forces during the war, numbered about 36,000, with nearly 15,000 in the air force, about 16,000 in the army and the rest in the navy.

Man 100 Would Join U.S. Army In Korea

NEW YORK, Dec. 30—(AP)—"Bronco Charlie" Miller, the last of the Pony Express riders, gives up hard.

In the First World War, he recalls, he served with the Canadian Cavalry when he was 65.

In the Second World War, he tried to enlist at 91 but the United States wouldn't have him.

And now he faces his 101st birthday on New Year's Day with only one regret.

"I'd like to be fighting over there in Korea," he says.

The last time Bronco Charlie Miller got on a horse was for a parade on Labor Day, 1949.

Won't Shed Allies U.S. Pledges

Collective Security Said Only Hope Of Safety From Reds

NEW YORK, Dec. 30—(AP)—John Foster Dulles appealed to the United States last night to build its defence on a foundation of collective security rather than a Gibraltar of solitary preparedness.

The top Republican foreign policy adviser, in a speech before the American Association for the United Nations, said five years of cold war with Russia had shown that "only as we sought to help others could we save ourselves."

"Solitary defence is never impregnable," he said in a cloaked reply to former Republican President Herbert Hoover's recent demand for a revised foreign policy.

Hoover urged that the US withdraw from Europe and Asia and make its oceans the frontiers of an American Gibraltar.

Instead, Dulles suggested an economic political and military ring around the Soviet world to make Russia pay dearly for any new aggression.

Then, the free world will have the "capacity to counter-attack" if all-out war comes, Dulles declared.

All Not Safe

However, Dulles admitted that not every free country on the rim of Soviet power can be made safe against possible Russian assault.

"To attempt this would be to have strength nowhere and bankruptcy everywhere," he said.

"The places of assembly should be chosen, not as places to defend, but as places suitable for launching the means of destroying the forces of aggression."

Dulles, a foreign policy advisor to the state department, told a reporter he was speaking for himself and not in an official capacity.

Loud applause interrupted Dulles when he altered his prepared text to say:

"The whole world can be confident that the US will not at a moment of supreme danger shed allies who are endangered and to whom we are bound by solemn treaty, by common heritage, and by past fellowship in war and peace."

Roseneath Girl Wins Scholarship

ROSENEATH, Dec. 30 (ENS)—Miss Marion Harvey was awarded the $100 cash scholarship for upper school English at Cobourg Collegiate commencement exercises.

This scholarship is an annual award given by the Cobourg Sentinel Star. Miss Harvey was chosen by the school faculty, having top proficiency in English, originality and facility in writing for the year 1949-50.

Miss Harvey is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Harvey, Roseneath. Prior to attending Cobourg Collegiate, she attended Woodvale Public School (S.S. No. 1 and 25, Alnwick township) and is now a nurse-in-training in Oshawa General Hospital. The presentation was made by Mrs. Foster Russell.

Other Roseneath pupils who were prize winners at the C.C.I. commencement exercises held in Cobourg in December are: proficiency in Grade 9, John Winkworth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hector Winkworth, Roseneath; Roma Braithwaite, proficiency in Grade 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Braithwaite; Carolyn Atkinson, for proficiency in Grade 13, daughter of Mr. Warren Atkinson and the late Mrs. Atkinson, Roseneath.

Marmora WA Asked For Clothing For Girl

MARMORA, Dec. 30 (ENS) — December meeting of St. Paul's Women's Auxiliary was held in the rectory on Thursday evening. Mrs. W. D. Lavender presided.

Rural Dean J. M. Brownlie opened the meeting with prayer. Mrs. Brownlie, in absence of Mrs. J. W. Hickey gave the treasurer's report, showing a favorable balance and that a good amount accrued from the sale of church calendars and birthday and Christmas cards.

The requisition was received for clothing to be sent to a girl at All Saints' Residential School, Prince Albert, Sask., and each member was asked to donate a quilt block, eleven by eleven inches, at the next meeting.

Rural Dean Brownlie took the study book on "Islam."

Mrs. George Kerr invited the members to her home for the annual meeting in January which will be marked with the election of officers.

The meeting closed with prayer following which the committee in charge served lunch.

Crokinole Party

COLDSPRINGS, Dec. 30 (ENS) —The YPU held a progressive crokinole party in the Sunday school rooms of St. Paul's United Church.

Fawn Captured In Street At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 30 — (ENS)—If Santa Claus discovered one of his reindeer missing when he got back to the north pole, here's a tip for him—go look in Reg. McCulloch's back shed. A 100-pound fawn is regaining his strength at Mr. McCulloch's home after being picked up on a street in Campbellford Friday afternoon.

Reeve R. J. Locke, who operates a wholesale business in Campbellford walked out his front door on Frank Street shortly after dinner on Friday to find the fawn lying near his home. He went over to the animal but it got to its feet and bounded away a short distance where it collapsed again. Mr. Locke called for the assistance of his son Murray and Oscar Mason, who were both nearby.

The three men cornered the animal and tied it up, much to the delight of a number of children who quickly gathered to see Rudolf in person.

Mr. Locke called the local police and notified Reg. McCulloch, who is the local Conservation Officer of the Department of Lands and Forests, and Mr. McCulloch arrived to take over from there. He transported the young deer to his farm home in Seymour where he will look after it until it regains its strength.

Just how the deer came to wander up Frank Street is still a mystery, but one theory is that it was being pursued by two dogs who arrived on the scene, and had probably come from a property known as Ferris' Woods on the southeastern outskirts of the town.

The deer was completely exhausted when found by Mr. Locke, and can thank him as well as Murray and Oscar Mason for the comfortable surroundings he now enjoys.

Sault Ste. Marie Hopes To Be Uranium Capital

SAULT STE. MARIE, Dec. 30 (CP)—This city, already a great steel centre, dreams of becoming a uranium capital.

The dream is based upon exploration going on around the mouth of the Montreal River, 70 miles north of here, and flowing into the eastern shores of Lake Superior.

Since 1948 mining companies have spent more than $500,000, in the hunt for the substance from which atomic power is produced, and they have earmarked a further $800,000.

To date they consider they have outlined a pitchblende-bearing area, the ordinary source of uranium in Canada, 28 miles long, 15 miles wide, with an area of 420 square miles, and that further exploration may enlarge the field.

Engage Red Petrols

MacArthur's war summary said U.N. troops engaged Red petrols in sporadic action.

The Communists forced allied troops to pull back on the eastern flank. MacArthur reported a thickening of enemy forces on the western flank.

Allied troops made minor gains in the Chogyo-Oron sector of the eastern central front.

But on the eastern front the southward-driving Reds had scored gains of 7½ miles as early Thursday.

A.P. correspondent Hal Boyle reported the capital of Seoul has become a ghost town.

In a four-hour clash 27 miles north of Seoul, an allied patrol crossed the icy Imjim river but ran head-on into Chinese Reds. The Communists drove the patrol back. The patrol said it destroyed an enemy pillbox, killed 21 Chinese and wounded 15.

Cut Off Supplies

AP correspondent William Barnard reported from Eighth Army headquarters there was evidence of Communist infiltration of Allied troops and cutting of U.N. supply routes in the fluid eastern sector.

He said also that the Reds appeared to be pouring more troops into the area. One U.N. division reported four enemy regiments in its sector.

U.N. elements gained from 1,000 to 1,500 yards oi a light engagement 20 miles northeast of Chunchon. See-saw fights have flared in this area the last few days. Chunchon is 45 air miles northeast of Seoul.

A small North Korean patrol was captured in the Korangpo area 27 miles northwest of Seoul. Near Sindong, 27 miles north of the Republican capital, a small enemy force was engaged. A Chinese Red regiment was observed moving through Yonchon, 35 miles due north of Seoul. It was headed toward Red-held Kaesong.

Truman Move Upsets Air Force Plan

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 (CP)—Six years of airforce mobilization was thrown out of joint by President Truman's declaration of a national emergency.

And the aircraft industry is complaining because of the contracts it expected under the plan are going to automobile companies.

The air force began in 1944 to study methods under which its supplying industry would be ready for rapid expansion in a future emergency. Millions of dollars were invested in such projects.

In general, the program called for an initial stage of expansion —a first phase preceding an actual emergency—by having aircraft companies reoccupy plants built during the war. There are 75 such plants in reserve, some in use by non-aviation industries and some used merely for storage.

The next step in the plan called for full mobilization. In this phase automobile manufacturers would be converted to airplane builders as some were in the Second World War.

But things didn't work out that way. Rapid expansion of air power to meet the national emergency caused the air force to skip the first phase of its planning and give automobile companies a sizeable share of aircraft production.

The aircraft industry doesn't like this change, coming without warning in the middle of its plans for expanding production facilities.

Cole, formerly a ship's steward, told police he turned to burglary two years ago when a shipping strike put him on the beach. He fumbled one of his early efforts, he said, and as a result served a jail term in Toronto.

Released last March, he entered the United States on a sightseeing bus from Canada to Niagara Falls. When the bus left, Cole remained behind—illegally—the former seaman told police. He came to New York and maintained himself by robbing expensive houses. Part of the loot was used to entertain friends in night clubs where he posed as a playwright.

Police said Cole made a practice of stealing men's haberdashery. If the suits did not fit his six-foot frame, he would have them altered.

Only One Left Examiner Staff Of 50 Years Ago

E. S. Clarry, Toronto, was one of those from out of town who attended the funeral of the late R. M. Glover. Mr. Clarry looking back over the past 50 years finds that he is now the only living member of the editorial and business staff of the Examiner at the turn of the century.

When he joined the Examiner as a cub reporter in the spring of 1899, the editorial and news staff consisted of three only. They were F. R. Yokom, who wrote the editorials and edited most of the public addresses of the publisher, the Hon. J. R. Stratton; Alf Terrill the city editor, and Mr. Clarry who covered the police court, lacrosse, baseball and other athletic events, weddings, funerals, inquests, and sundry other assignments.

The business office at that time was made up of F. J. Jamieson as manager, Wm. Menzies, who looked after the advertising, and Rolly Glover who did the bookkeeping, assisted by one girl. Mr. Clarry is the only one now remaining of the staff of 1899. Throughout the half century, although his residence was for years in Western Canada and of later years in Toronto, he and Mr. Glover always kept in touch with each other and when they did meet many interesting and amusing incidents that occurred during their days together on the Examiner were recalled.

Mr. Clarry says that Peterborough never produced a more amiable and honourable citizen than Rolly Glover, and he keenly feels the loss of his friend of over 50 years.

Carried Mail For 20 Years

After drawing the mail from the post office to the railroad stations and then returning with another load from the trains to the post office for 20 years Ed Reid, manager of Reid's Transfer had indicated that he will be through on March 31 next. At that time his last four-year contract with the Post Office Department will expire.

Already posters calling for tenders had been circulated for trucking concerns to carry the mail from the post office to the rail stations and from the stations to the office. These must be submitted to the Postmaster-General in Ottawa by January 26.

Mr. Reid said: "We're all through". He indicates there was a reason for the decision to not submit a tender but refused to comment further. He added that he had worry enough without having a day which last from 4 a.m. until 2 a.m. the next morning.

some concrete, and an iron chair instead.

A large throng, alternately cheering and groaning, watched the police efforts, which were resumed today because a large object on the slimy lake bottom kept hope alive. But when police finally pulled up the object, it turned out to be just another slab of concrete.

The difficult lift of the slab was delayed momentarily, after 30 hours of preparations, because a black and white dog, too intent on the work, fell into the water and had to be rescued.

The petition to the Crown said its authors were the persons who carted off the stone. It cited as evidence of good faith certain hitherto unpublished details on defects in a wrist watch left at the scene of the brazen robbery.

The petitioners said the stone's "proper place of retention is among His Majesty's Scottish people who above all hold this symbol dear."

Nab Fifth Columnists Among Seoul Refugees

SEOUL, Korea, Dec. 30 (AP)—Police today disclosed the arrest last week of 28 suspected North Korean fifth columnists who they said had entered Seoul with refugees.

Charged as Communist spies, they are members of the North Korean Communist Political Bureau and the North Korean youth organization, "Minchung," police said.

More than 130 suspected fifth columnists have been arrested in Seoul since North Korean civilians began streaming south after United Nations forces retreated in late November.

Among those arrested was Kim Ho deuk, 35, director of the Red radio station in Pyongyang, the North Korean capital.

Police Find 17 Bodies In Airliner Wreckage

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Dec. 30—(Reuters)—Police today found 17 bodies in the burned-out wreckage of an Argentine State Airliner which crashed south of Buenos Aires late Friday.

They said the only survivor was an eight-year-old girl who was badly injured.

The plane, on its way from Buenos Aires to Mal del Plata, crashed about 60 miles north of its destination.

Police identified three of the bodies as members of the crew.

Car Hit By Train

OTTAWA, Dec. 30 (CP)—Rene Vanasse, 28, of Windsor, escaped serious injury Friday when his automobile was struck by a Montreal-bound Canadian Pacific Railway freight train at a crossing in Ottawa West. The car was knocked clear of the tracks and the driver escaped with a shaking up. Damage to his car was estimated at $200.

New York Plans To Celebrate At $50 Couple

NEW YORK, Dec. 30 (AP) — Americans, in their various ways, will bid farewell Sunday to an old year and one old half century.

Some will do it with revelry, and some with prayer. Across the country the recreation spots and the places of worship prepared to mark the advent of 1951 and of the second half of the 20th century.

With the world beset by deep anxieties, hundreds of churches, under the leadership of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A., have set a day of prayer. Some will hold night-long services.

New Year's Day is a Roman Catholic holy day, so Catholics will attend mass both Sunday and Monday.

For sports enthusiasts, it is a day spiced with varied fare. The feature is the windup of the football season, with six bowl games. The dean of these is California's Rose Bowl, which annually draws about 90,000 fans to Pasadena.

Make Whoopee

In the nightclubs and showplaces, there will be funny hats, noise and what is generally known as whoopee.

New York's liquor laws permit Sunday sales so there is no handicap for the saloons this New Year's Eve. Some of the better ones are charging up to $50 a couple for the evening's entertainment.

One spot in mid-Manhattan will hand out bottles of milk as patrons leave—to help those who need it to sober up.

Chicago, also unhampered by Sunday liquor laws, expects sellouts in its nightspots. So does New Orleans.

On the other end of the scale is Philadelphia, where the thirsty have to do their drinking today. Pennsylvania bans Sunday liquor.

Terrorists Staging New Malayan Trouble

SINGAPORE, Dec. 30—(Reuters)—Ten Communist terrorists, 10 members of the Security Forces and three civilians were killed in clashes in Malaya in the last 24 hours, it was announced today. Four other members of the Security Forces were wounded.

Authorities announced many suspected terrorists had been arrested. Six bandit camps in the jungle have been destroyed.

The killed included one British soldier shot by terrorists who ambushed an Army vehicle near Kuala Lumpur. Another soldier with him was seriously wounded.

One of the terrorists killed was a Chinese woman who was surprised in a bandit camp and shot down as she fled.

Crashes On Beach

SYDNEY, Australia, Dec. 30—(AP)—A Royal Australian Air Force plan on shark patrol crashed on a crowded beach today.

Farm Manager Claims Cow Stolen From Barn

COBOURG, Dec. 30 (ENS)—John B. White of Brougham was committed for trial in Magistrate R. B. Baxter's court Friday on a charge of retaining a cow, the property of Dr. A. J. Andrews of Brighton township on December 8. On a charge of theft of the same cow, judgment was reserved.

Garrett Pouli, farm manager for Dr. Andrews, told the court that on November 20 he was awakened by the lights of a vehicle shining toward him from the brow of a hill about 150 yards away. He said he could hear the motor running and when he turned on the light in his room and looked out the window, the lights of the car or truck went out. Next morning when we went to the stable he saw that a Holstein cow was gone. It was marked with more black on one side than the other. Early in December he went to a barn in the township of Pickering where he saw a cow which he identified as the missing one, by the markings.

Ira Rickerson of Brighton testified that he had raised the cow in question and had sold it to Dr. Andrews. It was due to freshen from December 8to the 10. On December 9 he saw the same cow in the barn in Pickering township.

Provincial Constable Don Erskine of Campbellford testified that after making a visit to Dr. Andrew's farm he went on Dec. 8 to John White's barn in Pickering township and examined a cow there which had just freshened. It was a holstein. He testified that White told him he had paid $250 for the animal about two months before and could not recall who he had purchased it from. On the next day Mr. Pouli and Mr. Rickerson came to see the cow and identified it as from Dr. Andrew's farm.

Western Gazette Wins Southam Trophy

Two Peterborough boys are staff members of the prize-winning University of Western Ontario newspaper, the Gazette. It was announced yesterday that the Gazette won the Southam Trophy awarded annually for the best college newspaper with more than 3,000 circulation.

The two are: Ross Cutmore, who was business manager of the paper, and Charles Coon, staff writer.

Mr. Cutmore is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Cutmore, 272 Burnham St., and is in his final year of business administration. Mr. Coon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Coon, 430 Donegal St., and is in his second year of honor English.

Killed By Car

OTTAWA, Dec. 30 (CP)—Roland Wright, 16, of Ottawa, died in hospital of injuries received early Friday when struck by an automobile five miles west of here. Two other Ottawa teenagers were taken to hospital with injuries after the automobile, driven by H. Max McFadden of Ottawa, plowed into a group of 16 boys and girls who were running to catch a bus.

1951

The hopes and fears of the world are centered in the question of the United Nations' ability to stop aggression. Here and in lands across the sea freedom-loving people are praying that this year will mark the beginning of an era of universal peace.

Say New Year's Celebration Expected To Be Quieter

By The Canadian Press

Canada's New Year's celebration may be quieter than usual.

Most Canadians observed Christmas with such enthusiasm that many of them are expected to mark the arrival 1951 with family gatherings in their own homes. Others, off work for the Christmas festivities, will be at their jobs.

A Canadian Press cross-Canada survey today indicates also that the revelry will probably be subdued to some extent due to New Year's Eve falling on Sunday. Public liquor sale is ruled out on Sunday. Many hotels and night clubs have shifted their New Year's parties to Saturday nights while others, including two Toronto hotels, have cancelled them.

Still other night spots plan to hold New Year's Eve parties with programs changed from the usual pattern. The celebrations will start late Sunday night with special dinners and floor shows and then three hours of dancing will get under way after the whistles blow at midnight.

This type of party will be staged in Halifax, Toronto, Vancouver, Ottawa and Winnipeg. Ticket prices range from $12 to $20 a couple but free-spenders expect to foot the bill for up to $40 with the inclusion of such items as taxis, corsages and tips.

Motion picture theatre operators expect midnight shows to draw large crowds in Vancouver, Saint John, NB, Winnipeg and many other cities.

Private Parties

In both the big cities and smaller centres, indications point to an unusually large number of parties in private clubs and in homes.

Traditional "jour de l'an" feasting and house-to-house family parties will be the highlight of the year-end in most sections of Quebec province. In many French-Canadian homes, New Year's still is gift day.

Numerous Canadians of Scottish ancestry also will concentrate their close-of-the-year celebrating on the coming weekend, rather than on Christmas.

The din of Halifax harbor sirens greeting the New Year will be louder and more raucous this season than in other recent years. Ocean traffic is unusually heavy at present at the Atlantic port.

Stern warnings against driving after drinking have been issued by police chiefs across the land. Law officers who exercised special vigilance during Christmas weekend will again be on the watch in case tipsy New Year's celebrants try to get behind the wheel.

Stocks Register New High Mark After 2 Sharp Drops In Year

By FORBES RHUDE

TORONTO, Dec. 30 —(CP)— Prices on the Toronto Stock Exchange advanced strongly in 1950, throwing off early-year uncertainty and overcoming two sharp drops caused by the Korean fighting.

The exchange's index for industrial stocks reached 291.31 Nov. 23, highest since it was started in 1934, and compared with 1949's close of 207.36. Base metals reached 164.25 Nov. 24, highest since it was started in 1938, compared with 1949's close of 113.19. Both ended the year around their peaks.

Despite progress in exploration, increased facilities and laying of pipelines, Western Oils were relatively tame. This may have been partly due to lack of sensational developments of the nature of Leduc or Redwater fields; partly because of heavy capital expenditures required to develop the oil industry; and partly the result of waiting for the opening up of new markets.

Oils finished the year ahead, but their high points in the index were 90.34 June 23, and 92.85 Oct. 2. They ended the year around 75, compared with 1949's close of 64.13.

Golds Down

Golds, faced with a fixed price for gold at the same time that production costs are rising, drifted, in the main, on a downward course, with their index finishing the year around 75, compared to 1949's close of 105.30.

In general the market, after the early-year hesitation, seemed at last to throw off the doubts that had assailed it since 1946. It seemed to become convinced that, come peace or war, there would be high business and industrial activity. Large sums of investment money decided that common stocks were good buys. Many people sought this way of owning a piece of something tangible

Canada's Half-Century

As Britain was entering her greatest period of power and wealth, following the Napoleonic wars, her population was about the same as Canada's is now. The population of Britain in 1815, after Waterloo, was thirteen million. As Canada enters the second half of this century, it is interesting to speculate if the comparison between Britain of 1815 and Canada of 1950 can be stretched farther. Are there enough similarities to justify a hope that Canada may be entering a period of prosperity, power and peace equal to Britain's from 1815 to 1914?

* * *

By 1815 Britain's population was fast increasing. So is Canada's now. Expectation of life in Britain in 1815 was better than it had ever been before, even in the new industrial towns. The life expectancy in Canada is now the highest it has ever been. As in Britain in the second decade of the nineteenth century (compared with the eighteenth century), in Canada now people are better fed, better clothed, less likely to contract disease, and better cared for now than they were in the nineteenth century.

* * *

In 1815 most Englishmen still worked on the land, but new trades and industries were springing up to draw people into old and new towns. There began almost immediately the urbanization of England. Today Canada, which used to be considered primarily an agricultural country, has more urban than rural people, and the wealth of the country is increasingly being gained from industry, rather than from agriculture.

* * *

When the survivors of the 30,000 British men who fought the battle of Waterloo returned to their country, they found it fast changing in appearance and character. New industries, new methods of manufacture and transport were being established, and the country was booming industrially, partly as a result of the wars just ended. When the survivors of the million Canadians returned from the last war to civilian life they too found conditions at home vastly changed, commerce and industry booming, and great new wealth. In 1815 power-spinning was driving out hand-spinning, weaving factories were being established on a big scale, and heavy industries were becoming chief sources of national wealth. In Canada today industry has expanded, its technics are changing and manufacturing and heavy industry (among which aluminum must be counted) are chief sources of national wealth.

* * *

In Britain in 1815, transport was changing from lanes to macadamized roads, from horse to locomotive power and the networks of canals were almost complete. Today transport in Canada has been transformed from rural roads to complete networks of four-lane highways and from wheels to the air. New political and social forces were at work in Britain in the first part of the nineteenth century, which led to the enfranchisement of most of the people and a decline in power of the squirearchy and nobility. New political and social forces are now at work in Canada, leading to greater concern for the welfare of the people (though we have no Cobbett—probably because no Cobbett is needed), and greater power for the people who man the machines of industry.

* * *

Britain in the nineteenth century shielded herself and protected her far-flung commerce by the Royal Navy. Is that the role of Canada's air force today?

* * *

It may be argued that these similarities are few and superficial. Where are Canadian colonies comparable with those which in the last century brought riches to Britain? Canada's colonies are her north country, whose untold riches are only now being exploited. Further, British trade was with the whole world, and not merely a closed trade with colonies. Canada today is becoming one of the great trading nations of the world, and her markets are over the seven seas.

* * *

Where in Canada is the heavy industry which was the basis of British power and wealth? Canada has tremendous iron deposits now being unearthed. She has minerals galore (and some of the most potent, like uranium and oil). Where is the power which drove British machines? Canada is not depending on coal and steam. She has in abundance, and is developing momentously as the second half of the century begins, her hydro-electric resources.

* * *

Many analogies can be found which could indicate that in the next fifty or a hundred years Canada may develop in her power, her wealth, her society and her culture as Britain did between the Napoleonic Wars and the first German war. There is the fateful, necessary condition which Britain had in her great century: relative world peace. What are Canada's chances of having that opportunity to develop? It must be remembered that Britain did not have a century of peace thrust upon her. She imposed it on the world. She made the peace which she enjoyed—through her power, her diplomacy and her alliances. Britain came out of the Napoleonic wars on top of the heap, as the United States has from these two twentieth century wars. Canada, as a junior partner in the American-Canadian entente, and in association with the Commonwealth countries and the Atlantic Treaty nations of the west, can impose peace, given in co-operation with these countries, the power, and the skilled diplomacy which Britain had during the century 1815-1914. These are grim international times, but there were grim wrangles among nations almost immediately after Waterloo, too, and throughout the century following. Great times are ahead for Canada—and even the peace to enjoy them, if the atomic bomb does not scare people out of their wits.

Sympathy For The Americans

Although it is U.N.'s war in Korea, American soldiers are bearing the brunt of it. There have been, thus far, 50,000 American casualties (killed, wounded and missing). That means that 50,000 American homes and families are directly hurt and emotionally touched by the war in Korea. Considering this fact, we Canadians and citizens of other member nations of U.N. should be able to sympathize better with the Americans, to understand more humanly their anxiety, dismay and anger, and to tolerate without aspersion the clamour, heroics and excitement which come out from their magazines, their newspapers, their photographs and their newspapers.

To Honour Lord Rutherford

The Royal Society of Canada is sponsoring in Canada an appeal launched by the Royal Society of London to provide a permanent memorial to Lord Rutherford through establishing scholarships and endowing a series of Rutherford lectures. Rutherford was the founder of modern nuclear physics. Without him the atomic age would have been either postponed or ushered in by, say, Russia. Perhaps we could have got along for another century without the A-bomb, but it would not have been good for the western world had one of Russia's clever scientists tumbled to true character of radio-activity and split the atom. For this Rutherford was awarded a Nobel prize in 1903.

Rutherford was one of the great scientists of modern times. From his fundamental research have come Chalk River as well as Hiroshima. If men keep their heads and do not steel their hearts, the kind of work going on at Chalk River and other atomic physics plants devoted to putting atomic energy into other receptables than a bomb, will benefit mankind vastly. Certainly the fruit of Rutherford's genius will change the face of history, whether through A-bomb war or peaceful uses of atomic energy.

Canada has a special relation to Ernest Rutherford because from 1898 to 1907 he was Macdonald Professor of physics at McGill University and there did much of the work which made him world-famous. From Montreal he went to Manchester, and thence to Cambridge, where he made the Cavendish Laboratory a mecca for students of physics the world over. He was created a baron in 1931 and died in 1937 at Cambridge. Our sister dominion, New Zealand, has also a special interest in Rutherford, for he was born in New Zealand in 1871 and did his undergraduate studies at the University of New Zealand.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The Calgary Herald reassuringly remarks "You'll never be as big a fool as your wife thinks you are". And, indeed, if you were, she would be an even bigger fool for having married you.

Federal civil servants have been given a ten per cent. increase in pay, and a seven per cent. increase in working hours. Well, office people should know what underwriting is.

Having read that a single atom bomb costs $10,000,000 to make we are even more opposed to the use of this weapon. A matter which is too often overlooked in discussions of war is The High Cost of Being Nasty.

You will never be poor if you have enriched your mind, says a contemporary. Nevertheless, we learned a verse in childhood which said that:

Seven towns of Greece
Claimed Homer, dead,
Through which the living Homer
Begged his bread.

The recent pay boost for the Civil Service will cost Canadian taxpayers about $46,500,000 a year. As the Halifax Chronicle points out, the total Budget in 1896 was $36,949,142. Just more evidence of the growth of Canada, or the growth of the Civil Service, and indisputable evidence of the growth of taxation.

The Marchbanks Correspondence

To Chandos Fribble, Esq.
Dear Fribble:

During the last few days I have received a horrifying number of invitations and supplications from people who want me to join or support something new. They talk as though the beginning of a New Year were some kind of wild adventure, instead of a chronological fiction; they all appear to want to create something which has never been known on earth before. But not me. I am sick of novelties—or what pass for novelties among easily-satisfied people. And for that reason I am organizing a one-man society for the Resurrection and Preservation of Words which Have Been Permitted to Lapse into Unmerited Disuse. Let's deal with something old, for a change.

There are many such words, and from time to time I may issue bulletins about them. But for the time being these will do:

(1) Huzza: an excellent word which has been dropped in favour of "hurrah". But huzza has a nice, genteel air about it; it expresses enthusiasm, but not too much. It is the ideal word to use when, for instance, somebody suggests that you go for a good long tramp in the country, just as you have settled down for a nap in your chair. It is a good word to shout, in a well-controlled voice, when unpopular officials pass you in procession. My typewriter ribbon has just broken, and luckily I have another, which I shall have to put in the machine myself, getting my hands dirty and abrading my temper. Huzza!

(2) Hosanna: another useful word of praise, expressing goodwill without overdoing it. It has hardly been used in ordinary speech since the following limerick was current, around 1905:

There was a young maiden named Anna
Who sang as a High Church Soprana;
When she fell in the aisle
The Dean said with a smile,
"We have heard, now we see, your hosanna!"

(3) Heyday: the dictionary calls this "an exclamation of gaiety or surprise". Yes, but not of ecstatic gaiety or complete surprise. This seems to me to be just the word to use when unwrapping a gift of handkerchiefs which looks precisely like handkerchiefs, which has been presented to you by somebody who always gives you handkerchiefs.

Words for the expression of limited emotion are not too common in our language. The three I have listed above should not be allowed to die, and so far as I am concerned, they shan't.

Yours,
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS.

To Samuel Marchbanks, Esq.
Dear Mr. Marchbanks:

It is with a heavy heart, Mr. Marchbanks, sir, that I write to tell you that your lawsuit against Richard Dandiprat finally came to court on Tuesday last, and that you have lost it. It was a most unhappy chance that brought a case of such delicacy to the attention of the judge on Boxing Day. His Honour had obviously been keeping Christmas in the great tradition, and as soon as he took his place on the bench, it was plain that his mind was occupied with old, unhappy, far-off things. Our Mr. Cicero Forcemeat was also somewhat indisposed, having been called to the bar repeatedly the day before; the lustre of his eloquence was, shall we say, dimmed. Dandiprat's lawyers, Craven and Raven, were in like case, and the court presented a hapless picture. Nobody could hear anybody else; everybody was drinking bromo-seltzer; the janitor had neglected to turn on the heat. The trial occupied precisely seven and one-half minutes. The judge was annoyed that you were not present, and has fined you $100 for contempt of court. This, with the costs of the suit, will amount to a rather larger figure than you have probably anticipated. But without the Unforeseen, Mr. Marchbanks, life would be intolerable and the law would be an exact science, instead of the tantalizing jade that she is.

A complete statement is enclosed, and prompt payment will be appreciated by,

Your most faithful,
MORDECAI MOUSEMAN
(for Mouseman, Mouseman and Forcemeat).

To Samuel Marchbanks, Esq.
Well, Sammy Old Pal:

The trial is now over, and no hard feelings, eh? All good pals as before. Drop in any time, and bring your own bottle with you. Like I say to the Little Woman—"No use getting mad at Marchbanks; it takes all kinds to make a world; so let's be big about this thing, Goo Ball, and forgive him for all the hard things he has thought about us; after all, like President Truman says, he's probably an eight-ulcer man in a four-ulcer job".

By the way, one day when you were out I borrowed your wheelbarrow, and it just came apart in my hands. You can have the pieces back any time, but you'd be better off to get a new one.

All the best for a neighbourly 1951,
DICK DANDIPRAT.

To Amyas Pilgarlic, Esq.
Dear Pil:

Here we are at the end of another year, if you will permit me to make a novel observation. I read recently in an article on astronomy that the world, in the course of revolving once on its axis, achieves 22 separate and discernible wobbles; this means that we are not merely whirled, but wobbled 8030 times in the course of a year. No wonder everything is in a mess. You would think that modern science would apply itself to the task of making the world revolve more smoothly. Or perhaps it would be a good notion if the world stopped revolving at all for a while; it might be a trying time for whatever hemisphere was turned from the sun, but it would give us all a chance to catch our breath, and make a fresh start. And a fresh start is what we badly need.

However, I suppose that we must do what we can with the artificial fresh start which comes every year at this time. We make resolutions for the New Year and keep them as well as we are able. My own resolution is that I shall resume my habit of keeping a diary. Wretched though it may be as a record of achievement and as the growth of a human soul, I feel the need of it. And as my diary will take much of my time, and will drain off the energy which I might otherwise put into this correspondence you may expect that in future, my dear friend, you will hear less often from,

Yours most sincerely,
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS.

To Big Chief Marchbanks:
How, Marchbanks:

Us fellows in jail fix New Year dance. Ball and Chain Ball, we call it. We got no women, so no dance. We got no booze, so no drink. We got no money so no gamble. But we got peace and plenty dirty story. You want ticket? Fight cop. He give you ticket.

"YOU'LL NEVER KNOW HOW I'M COUNTING ON YOU!"

Everyone Will Have To Pay

(FINANCIAL POST)

IF, as seems almost certain, income taxes are to be moved higher this coming year, there should be no misconception as to who will contribute the largest share.

It won't be just "the rich," for the simple reason that there are not enough rich left in this country to shoulder the load. The bulk of any extra taxes levied, will have to come from the rank and file of citizens of moderate income, because this group outnumbers "the rich" 50 to one and its members have a sizeable income left to tax after normal exemptions have been allowed. Of more importance, this middle group handles the great bulk of the money circulating in the country and invariably that is where the tax collector turns when he wants more revenue.

At present almost 60% of the total income taxes collected by Ottawa come from the 1.6 million citizens with annual incomes from $2,000 to $10,000. Those below the $2,000 mark (there are about 1.2 millions of them) contribute less than 14% and 32,000 who enjoy incomes of over $10,000 about 25% of the total.

The top "rich" — 1,050 persons who, in the 1948 tax year, had an income of over $50,000 —accounted for only a little over 5% of the total collected. While the latter pay more in proportion to their income than the others, unfortunately there are not enough of them to make much difference in the load left for those of smaller incomes to carry.

Here is the official summary for the 1948 tax year, which is the latest for which such details are available:

Peacetime Taxation

Income Group	% of Total Income Reported	% of Total Tax Paid
Under $2,000	25.57	13.29
$2,000-$10,000	65.53	58.64
Over $10,000	8.9	28.07
	100.00	100.00

Higher rates of income tax, or lower exemptions or both—changes which may be expected as defence costs mount—would result in some shift in the proportions paid by the income groups in the first table. As during the last war more people of lesser means might be called upon as well as increased levies all along the line. This was the picture at the height of wartime taxation (1944 tax year):

Wartime Taxation

Income Group	% of Total Taxable Income	% of Total Income Tax Paid
Under $2,000	47.8	26.3
$2,000-$10,000	45.1	49.3
Over $10,000	7.1	24.4
	100	100

While the income figures in the two tables are not exactly the same the trend is clear enough. The big bulk of the tax money comes from the moderately well off, rather than the extremes of income, because the tax collector must go where the most money is.

Letter To The Editor

CENTENNIAL MUSINGS

Sir: The centennial year is coming quickly to its end; it has been highlighted by the building boom, the resumption of war, the premediated ousting of farmers from their market, and now the business play of Christmas, all irrevocably related.

The building spree (which should have been done in depression) is now being done in spite of exorbitant costs involving excruciating taxes, upon taxes—sending people to build in country, adding burdensome taxes in the country. Thus they (from the city) miss both and help no one but themselves (no doubt they find that enough with high building costs) but the fact remains only the farmer cannot afford to build it seems. The hospitals and schools also add to country taxes, as these add (or are supposed to) to a country's good. Surely, surely these two, hospitalization and education, should be undertaken and shouldered by the governments. Then people would see something for their money. People should be educated; be well, think well, work well, physically, mentally and spiritually, because all are related. But if one gets sick in any way, then it would be a Christian democracy's duty to get him well and without the "inquisitional" means test of the hospital.

Our war as I see it is the failure of Christianity (so-called) not the threat of Communism. In the last war, times grew better (for those not in the war itself) after a terrible depression. Would we still be in the depression if war had not happened? But if the city gained in the tools of destruction, the country gained (though much less) in the labour to feed life. The country (ploughman) ploughs his field, cultivates and sows, stores in barns, only to feed for further products of food—keeping only enough seed to sow and reap again. But the city ploughs its fields of thought over and over again, but only in time of war is that fruit (seed or money) broadcasted, but remains uselessly in banks (barns), books and dreams.

Those who say the farmers do not need the market forget the lively market of the past when farmers, producers, sold their own products—cities have confiscated these to build up dairies, creameries, packing houses, groceterias, etc. The only thing the city does not count is the labour of producing. Now they wish to have the handling of what remains vegetables, eggs, poultry (and flowers?). More fitting and benefitting would it be to turn the whole market block into a vast market and parking centre but minus the stick-'em-up sticks (meters).

In the bright display of Christmas store windows have no hint of the magic of birth (symbol of Christmas) only a play for business via a Santa Claus, even the Jewish race (not that I blame them, we are no better). Religion concentrates its powers, strength, and thought on the denominational (or reverse) and marvels of both — they swallow camels and strain at gnats—and so are born the Devil's Witnesses. All birth is marvellous, supernatural, because of God. It is past time to take God out of the cellar and the stable, and put Him in the windows of our homes, business, and souls. It is Christ we should follow, not the Apostles, after all Peter denied his Saviour three times. He (Christ) did not vision man as a disembodied spirit like modern art but as 'three in one', now.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Behold, the days come, saith the Lord, that I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel, and with the house of Judah: not according to the covenant I made with their fathers in the day that I took them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt; which my covenant they brake, although I was an husband unto them, saith the Lord: but this shall be the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel; After those days, saith the Lord, I will put my law in their inward parts, and write it in their hearts; and will be their God, and they shall be my people.

And they shall teach no more every man his neighbour, and every man his brother, saying, Know the Lord: for they shall all know me, from the least of them unto the greatest of them, saith the Lord: for I will forgive their iniquity, and I will remember their sin no more. (Jer. 31: 31-34.)

But continue thou in the things which thou hast learned and hast been assured of, knowing of whom thou hast learned them; and that from a child thou hast known the holy scriptures, which are able to make thee wise unto salvation through faith which is in Christ Jesus.

All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness: that the man of God may be perfect, throughly furnished unto all good works. (II Tim. 3: 14-17.)

OLD LOW'S ALMANACK. PROPHECIES FOR 1951

The dancing and prancing of each little hoof that the kiddies were so sure they heard on their rooftops on Christmas Eve is no myth to a few adult ethnic groups in Canada—the Finns, Norwegians and Swedes—who originally came to Canada from the Lapland districts of their respective countries. Reindeer to these peoples are real, in fact, the very economy of the Laplanders. A native who owns 3,000 animals is in a financial bracket comparable to a captain of industry in other countries.

This symbolic Christmas animal is the only domesticated member of the deer family. Trained to harness as our northern natives use sleigh dogs, the reindeer can pull a 225-pound load on a single-runner toboggan called a pulkka, singly hitched. The Skelt Lapps come nearest to Santa Claus' familiar flying formation with three animals hitched to a troika, or sleigh.

Besides being a beast of burden, the reindeer provides Laplanders with meat, hides for hats, boots, mitts and sleeping robes, spoons and tools from their horns and sewing sinews. Laplanders live on reindeer and the animals live on reindeer moss which they locate by smell in winter under three feet of snow. Animal herds scatter off to high hills in summer to escape the torture of insects and return in the Fall to be lassooed by natives on skiis for killing or domestication.

Although Laplanders can be said to have contributed the reindeer symbol of Christmastime—and they are technically Christians—they still don't exchange gifts at Christmas. Instead, reindeer sacrifices, until recently, were their common custom. Heaps of ten thousand antlers were dedicated to Storjunkaro, the lieutenant-god in charge of all fish, foxes, bears, wolves and other animals. This frightening Deity resembled a man dressed in a conservative black suit which all but covered his bird-like feet.

• • • •

Disliking young lads' latest fad in 'coonskin Dan'l Boone winter headgear, I was forced to shut up about it at home when Bright Boy blossomed out in one on Christmas morning. Perhaps if the slow-witted Canadian manufacturers had called them Raddison, Cartier or Champlain skimmers, instead of aping an American frontiersman, I could park my lid alongside the 'coonskin, without beefing so much.

USA Wants Wolves For Parkas

The United States, as they gear for war, are calling on Canadian natural resources for several items. Top of the list is fur to trim parka hoods for winter troops' clothing. It is likely that most of this sort of thing will come from the coyote or prairie wolves out in the West, chiefly in southern Saskatchewan. Trappers' weapon for killing the coyote in those parts is poison bait. Another item is deerhide for Army mitts. Although the latter item has not been requested from Canada, their government are seriously considering re-opening the deer season in several of the Western States to supply the demand. If this situation ever develops in Canada, in future, there will be less waste of deer hides after our seasonal shoots. A good hide should make about eight or nine pairs of mitts, depending on the pattern. Wonder what district deer hunters do with hides—make vests, windbreakers, or what?

It's quite a thrill to hear from one's contemporaries, if only once a year, via the Christmas card circuit. A lot of them came to my desk from coast to coast and down in the USA. One from canoeist Nick Power of Brooklyn, New York City, recalls a story I did on him and his pal Sid Picker who paddled from the George Street Wharf to Gotham in 1948. Of course the card theme was a canoe scene and an enclosed note informed me that Sid is now fighting in Korea.

Progress of Peterborough: LI

Bustling Decade of 1860-70; Fires Keep Sweeping Town

By HOWARD PAMMETT, M.A.

There was a race between construction and destruction in the sixties, and Chief Engineer E. Poole (1859-73) with the 30 men of the Volunteer Fire Brigade were kept very busy. 1860: Industrialization leaped ahead when Samuel Dickson sent the water surging through his new raceway extending from above the London St. dam, about 100 feet west of the riverbank, and discharging into the Otonabee just south of Hunter St. bridge, where a bay covered the area now used as a freight yard. Between the river and the raceway was a road, and wooden bridges crossed the raceway at London, Murray and Hunter Sts. Among the mills getting power from the raceway were: the Dickson sawmill and flourmill, the McFarlane shingle mill, the Brooks woollen mill below the Courthouse hill, and McDonald's wagon-factory. James Stevenson and T. Bradburn built a 4-storey brick block on George below Hunter St. Henry Dennis started a pump factory with 5 workers producing 500 pumps a year, on George St. William English, assisted by Samuel and James English, started making canoes on the north side of Charlotte St. by the creek. 1861: May—Fire starting in the Hazlitt store corner of George and Hunter, spread to the Dickson and Cluxton blocks (stores of Menzies, Glover and Robinson, and Bisbee). August—Fire starting in a stable behind Chartrain's Saloon burnt out the Harper Bldg. on George St. and spreading destroyed the whole north half of the Water-Hunter-George-Simcoe block, 31 business properties and the postoffice, value $68,000. This property was all rebuilt in brick; the postoffice stayed on Water St. until near the end of the decade when it was moved to the ground floor of the new brick block at the northeast corner of George and Brock Sts. Dan Brooks took over the old Towns woollen mill on Jackson Creek, with six looms; here 20 workers produced 800 yards of cloth annually.

1862: T. Fisher opened a livery at George and Hunter streets, and William Armstrong started the St. Lawrence Hotel at the same corner. J. Johnson started the Stewart House at Water and Hunter Sts. Wm. Toole built a sash and door mill next door to Martyn's Mill, on the river. T. Fitzgerald started a wagon-factory on Brock St. employing 11 men. L. Glover leased Blythe Mills just north of town. July—a strong wind and rain-storm destroyed and damaged many buildings. The Council decided that in future only brick and stone buildings could be built in the business section of town.

1863: Brick blocks were built by J. Stevenson and Wm. Cluxton on the east side of George south of Hunter St., also two stores by Hopkins and Cox, and two more by I. Robinson. Across the street, Nicholls and Hall built two stores, and R. Stevenson and W. Coulter one apiece. In October, the Auburn Woollen Mills were opened by a Montreal firm, two 3-storey stone buildings with 9 looms and 649 spindles, employing 40 workers, powered by water but using steam in processing. Later the Auburn mills were taken over by Jas. Kendry with Robt. Brodie as Superintendent. In 1864 their cloth won medals at the Dublin and Montreal Exhibitions. By 1870 the Mills were employing 300 workers.

1864: April — Blythe mills burned down—Snyder's sawmill, Carnegie's flourmill, Sperry's shingle-mill, Schneider's turning-shop, and a carding mill—value $22,000. Next year Carnegie rebuilt the flourmill of stone, and G. Hilliard rebuilt the sawmill. November—the Separate School burned down.

1865: A larger stone jail was completed on the Courthouse Hill. In a series of fires through the year, the following were destroyed: Fisher's Livery, Boyd's store, Britton and Renfrew cooper shops, Fry's paint shop, Graham's store, McDonald's wagon factory, Bradfield's store (built in 1831), Baguley's store, McDonald's store, Trenwith block on Simcoe St., and Dunn's Tavern on Simcoe. In the midst of all this, the firemen in July went by SS "Ogemah" to Oak Orchard at the north end of Chemong Lake with their friends to enjoy picnicking, boating, races and refreshments, returning home 11 p.m.

1866: Wm. Coulter, who sold drugs, chemicals, seeds, paints, oils, glass etc. on George St. built a new block with Victoria Hall above the store used for entertainments. Edmund Allen was making "superior waterproof matches" at the corner of London and Brock Sts. George Tanner was making cabinets, chairs and bedsteads in his "Cabinet and Chair Emporium" on Hunter between George and Aylmer Sts. West and James Hope were making sash, blinds, doors etc., at their steam planing-mill on Dublin west of George St. "We manufacture and sell the Victoria Washing-Machine and a Superior Churn." March: The Bisbee, Cooney and Brennan and Giles stores on George St. burned down. The McFarlane shinglemill and the Dickson sawmill (the old Hall Mill) on the raceway burned down — loss $20,000. April — James Hamilton foundry at the corner of King and George Sts. burned, loss $15,000; this foundry was rebuilt and expanded. Later in the year the Stewart House (hotel) burned, but was soon rebuilt as "a 19-room monstrosity." In August there was a Fire Company complimentary dinner to Capt. McNaughton "with entertainment by Mr. Detcher of the Metropolitan Saloon." Mrs. Jos. Dixon completed a row of brick stores on George St. above Simcoe on land recently burned over. The wooden drillshed was built on Murray St. north side just west of George. J. Doharty and Pat Galvin started new wagon-factories on Hunter St., John Douglass put up a larger one on Bethune and Jas. McWilliams still another on London St. George Cronn opened his Terrapin Restaurant and Billiard room on George St.

1867: March — Brownscombe's pottery shop on Murray St. burned. Later the block at the southeast corner of George and Simcoe Sts. burned again, including Graham and Stratton's bookstore, Clarke's Jewellery Store, Lauder's Store, Pentland's Dental Office, and the office of S. Smith and Fitzgerald and Bolger — loss $16,000. Samuel Dickson built a new woollen mill on his raceway and leased it to D. Brooks, also a new flourmill. John Metherall built a wagon-factory at the corner of George and Murray Sts. The Whyte and Hamilton foundry on the creek west of Reid St. was expanded.

1868: July—Morrow's American Hotel at the corner of George and Brock Sts. burned down.

1869—the McKellar and Cameron Harware Store at southeast corner of George and Hunter Sts. and the Lemay building next door, burned down; one man was killed and five injured when gunpowder in the hardware cellar blew up—loss over $10,000.

Great Storm and Thaw

The decade ended with a great snowstorm March 13-20, 1870, which left five feet of snow on level ground and drifts up to twelve feet deep closing all stores, schools, churches etc. for several days and blocking all roads and railways; the first train from Port Hope on March 21 took 16 hours to make the trip. Attempts to plow the streets with oxen failed. The male population turned out to dig pathways, but before the town started functioning again some people were near starvation. This was followed by mild weather, which in April and May brought the worst floods in history. Most of the bridges and dams along the river were either carried away or badly damaged, and Little Lake Cemetery was isolated by a wide expanse of water covering the whole area south of Dalhousie St. and west to Monaghan Road. The Dickson sawmill at the east end of the London St. dam (which had also been used for early attempts at papermaking) was swept away in the flood. On April 26 while Mr. Dickson was standing on a pier by his mill, the raging torrent smashed some logs against it, and he was crushed in the mass of churning logs. The Town Council passed a special vote of regrets for the death of one of Kawartha's leading industrialists and at his funeral the Council and the Fire Brigade marched in mourning. His son-in-law, T. G. Hazlitt, his assistant from 1865 became manager of the Dickson Lumber Company. At that time the Dickson properties extended along both Otonabee banks from Smith to Hunter St. also an area west of Aylmer above London [illegible] where lumber was piled, and other lots. Mr. Dickson, on his property which is now Nicholls Park, had built two houses (one facing Smith St. the other still standing) and lived in one of them. The company also owned a farm on Clear Lake (now called Kawartha Park) where shanty teams were pastured in summer.

SPARROWS

Should you awake some Early morn, when the world
Is dull and grey, perhaps
You'll hear the sparrows
Cheep at first half light
Of day.
Or you may hear a lusty cry
From barn-yard cock, or gull
On high.
But from the misty nests in
Eaves and from a thousand
Throats issues a sound, so sad,
So clear. 'Tis the dawn's most Poignant note.

Oh, the sparrows' faint, sad
Plaint as dawn breaks Winter sky
I hold as a childhood memory.
'Tis there until I die.

FRED HORN,
Beverley Street.

THE LARGE SERIES OF PAINTED HEADS on the wall of the former barroom of the Mount Julian hotel were discovered in 1928 when the room was being remodelled. The composite painting was hitten under a dozen layers of wall-paper. The painter was identified as John Clague who farmed in a vague sort of way at Stony Lake in the last century. —Photo by Ralph Greenhill

Farmer's Paintings Found Under Hotel Wallpaper

When the former barroom of the Mount Julian Hotel was being altered in 1928 an interesting discovery was made. Dozen layers of old wallpaper around the old barroom were taken off, the walls stripped to the boards. And on the boards was a series of paintings a pattern of the heads of people.

The owners of the hotel, the Thompsons, were as much surprised to discover these as were anybody else. They had the painted wall carefully attended to, and visitors now to the hotel can see for themselves the work of a genuine "primitive" painter. The painter was obviously untaught, and his handiwork is no model of line, colour or likeness, but there is a vitality and unconventionality in them which has caught the eye of professional artists in Toronto and Montreal.

After some sleuthing and the confirmation of local stories, the work has been laid to the brush of one John Clague who was born between 1825 and 1830 and died in 1907.

Not too much is known about this Stony Lake farmer and erratic character who seems to have received a grant of 100 acres of land in the district in 1867, under the name of James E. Clague. But he has left his mark in these Mount Julian hotel paintings, other paintings in the area, and in local stories.

Eccentric

By all accounts he was an eccentric individual fond of the bottle and with a stiff beard described as being "tough as horse bristles". His unusual home made a great impression on visitors and their description corresponds with that in the obituary. Different people report having seen the pictures painted on the walls of his cottage and the fort on the barn. They also mention signs on the gate, kennel and barn—"Leave me as you find me", on the gate, "Beware of the dog and the ram," etc.

The cottage is now part of a modern summer home and is not in its original location. Mr. William Guillet, the Upper Canada historian, has taken away two doors covered with paintings. Paintings are said to still exist under the wallpaper of the main room. The cottage is the property of Miss L. Hales and adjoins the farm of Mr. Jo Hamilton.

Clague was vain and egotistical and often irritable. He is reported to have once become enraged with a balky horse and take a bite filling his mouth with horse hair. He would visit the Mount Julian Hotel, have several drinks with guests before getting into a painting mood. At a tea party he became drunk on brandy and turned a chair upside down and used it as a piano, greatly shocking the ladies. One prejudiced informant described him as a "dammed crazy old farmer".

Self-Portrait?

The paintings at the Mount Julian Hotel were discovered in 1928, when the former barroom was being considerably altered. They had been covered by at least a dozen layers of wallpaper. The wainscotting around the room covers probably one-third of the painting and it is assumed that the entire work is an approximate square with the ass's head as its centre. The measurements of the exposed part are 86½" x 52". The bearded sailor is reputed to be a self-portrait. The background of the design consists of alternating squares of yellow ochre and olive green, presumably dulled by age. The border consists entirely of flags. It is painted on pine boards.

Obituary Notice

As useful and intriguing a document as any, for information about Clague, is the obituary notice of his wife written by Clague himself. There is more praise of Clague than of his wife.

"The 'family doctor' of North Dummer—Mrs. Elizabeth Clague—a lady esteemed for her amiable, kind and hospitable disposition and one known throughout the county for these unfailing qualities, died at her home, about three miles from McCracken's Landing, on Monday, May 21st. Many a person had been enabled to leave a bed of sickness through the untiring efforts of Mrs. Clague, who was known throughout the district as the 'family doctor'. The deceased was born in Wales 76 years ago and married Mr. John Clague, her now bereaved husband. Mr. Clague was a sailor and for many years endured the difficulties of ocean life, the last vessel on which he was employed being the 'Sir Walter Raleigh'.

"For some years afterwards he sailed on Lake Ontario and then he decided to purchase a farm, but he was so fond of the water that he would not make a deal unless there was a body of water in the vicinity. After some exploring he found a satisfactory place on the shores of Stony Lake in North Dummer and still resides there. Mr. Clague is an enthusiastic mariner, which is well shown by the singular device he has arranged on his property.

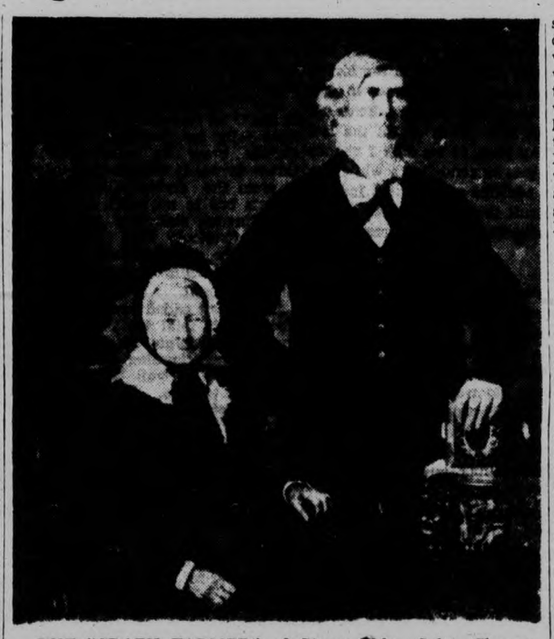

"On the roof of his barn a fort, which he terms 'Fort Royal' has been carefully arranged with mechanical skill. It faces the lake. In this small but striking representation a figure of a marine officer scanning the water looms forth. This arrangement Mr. Clague takes unmistakable pride in.

"As an artist Mr. Clague also is very enthusiastic. Many a summer tourist has registered in the art gallery register at Mr. Clague's and viewed the numerous paintings in the quaint little gallery. In Mrs. Clague the campers and residents of the northern section of the county have lost a staunch friend, the Methodist church a good woman, and the surviving husband and adopted daughter a loving wife and kind mother.

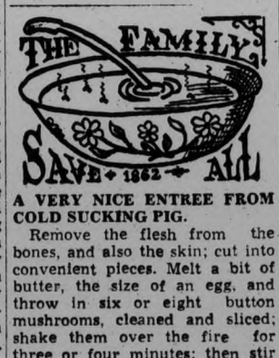

"The sympathy of a host of friends will go out to the bereaved ones in their sad loss".

The date and newspaper in which this appeared are unknown. A guess has been made that it was written in 1893.

John Clague himself passed to the shades in 1907, but not to the mists of anonymity, which was the fate of most folk artists and provincial itinerant painters in the mid-nineteenth century of this continent.

THE "CRAZY FARMER" of Stony Lake, John Clague, whose paintings on the wall of the Mount Julian hotel and on barn doors and elsewhere are now attracting the notice of art connoisseurs. With him, his wife, for whom Clague wrote an enthusiastic obituary notice in 1893.

A VERY NICE ENTREE FROM COLD SUCKING PIG.

Remove the flesh from the bones, and also the skin; cut into convenient pieces. Melt a bit of butter, the size of an egg, and throw in six or eight button mushrooms, cleaned and sliced; shake them over the fire for three or four minutes; then stir to them a dessertspoonful of flour, and continue to shake or toss them gently; but do not allow them to burn. Add a small bunch of parsley, a bay-leaf, a middling sized blade of mace, some salt, a small quantity of cayenne or white pepper, half a pint of white stock, and from two to three glasses of light white wine. Let these boil gently until reduced nearly one-third; take out the parsley and mace, lay in the meat, and bring it slowly to the point of simmering; stir to it the beaten yolks of three fresh eggs, and the strained juice of half a lemon. Serve hot.

"DOCTOR BOOK"—Mammoth tome weighing some six or eight pounds, of which the actual title was "The Common-sense Household Physician and Encyclopaedia of Medicines Required in the Prevention, Treatment and Cure of all Diseases of the Human System." Since "The Structure and Functions of the Human Body" and "The Habits of Men and Women" bordered at times on the indelicate, the neo-Aesculapian treatise was sequestered behind a false frontage of boxes and cans of various dried "yarbs" on the top shelf of the pantry where theoretically it was beyond children's reach. Frontispiece of the book was a full-color lithograph of a more or less amorphous Apollo (or Apollinaris) whose facade had been laid open with a scalpel, exposing a labyrinthine mass of larger internal organs, muscles, nerves, arteries and veins with an intestinal tract of prodigious coiled mileage, all seemingly in constant need of a thorough medicinal "toning up." The compiler of the work was none other than Dr. Alfalfa Dilldock, discoverer and manufacturer of "Dilldock's Magic Golden Drops and Blood Purifier"; "Dilldock's Penetrating Liniment for Man or Beast"; and "Dilldock's Fleece-lined Liver Pad"; and a vegetable pill of high fluency. Happily enough the Dilldock "Ague Cure" was available to shaking sufferers from this all but universal "swamp fever". The "Doctor Book" went in for Common Sense (within reasonable limits). If an emergency arose in which a bottle of Dilldock's Elixer of Sal Ammoniac was not at hand to dredge the pulmonary tract of accumulated effluvia, goose oil and turpentine might be applied to the neck of a croup sufferer on a superannuated wool sock. Clergyman's Sore Throat (as distinguished from common ditto) was diagnosed as the consequence of a striving for an unnatural (perhaps sepulchral) tone of voice in pulpit delivery. The cure for the Cure of Souls was simple: each Monday for twenty-four hours clergymen should stop talking. We have no precise record of the consequences of this incidental lapse into the mode of Vis Medicatrix Naturae. Indeed, (in the absence of a Dr. Kinsey) there has been no quantitative survey of the mortality rate among the tens of thousands who faithfully followed the prescriptions of the Medical Bible of the non-cognoscenti. All we are sure of is that most of them have been gathered long since into the neighborhood churchyards.

FAMILY ALBUM — Large plush or leather-covered book to be found in any standard parlor of the Victorian age, containing photographs (including sundry daguerreotypes or tin types) of all respectable members of the family who had contrived to outrun the bailiff. The volume was displayed for Sabbath afternoon "company." Fittingly honored with Page One position was the statuesque Cousin Concertina standing in her pleated wedding dress, with a slight list to starboard as she leaned upon the shoulder of her newly-captured helpmeet (seated with rear of his head in an invisible iron clamp). Then following pages of physiognomies of the whole Blinken Family until the visitor either slumped into a coma or rushed about in homicidal frenzy.

Ladle In A Pot Of Gold

Old Song

'Tis a dull sight
To see the year dying,
When winter winds
Set the yellow wood sighing
Sighing, O sighing!

When such a time cometh
I do retire
Into an old room
Beside a bright fire:
O, pile a bright fire!

And there I sit
Reading old things,
Of knights and lorn damsels,
While the wind sings—
O, drearily sings!

But close at the hearth,
Like a cricket sit I,
Reading of summer
And chivalry—
Gallant Chivalry

Then with an old friend
I talk of our youth—
How 'twas gladsome, but often
Foolish, forsooth:
But gladsome, gladsome!

Or, to get merry,
We sing some old rhyme
That made the wood ring again
In summer time—
Sweet summer time!

Then go we to smoking,
Silent and snug:
Naught passes between us,
Save a brown jug—
Sometimes!

And sometimes a tear
Will rise in each eye,
Seeing the two old frier
So merrily—
So merrily!

And ers to bed
Go we, go we,
Down on the ashes
We kneel on the knee,
Praying together!

Thus, then, live I
Till, 'mid all the gloom,
By Heaven! the bold sun
Is with me in the room
Shining, shining!

—Edward Fitzgerald (1809-1883)

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

— Happy New Year, folks—we trust that '51 will be the best yet. As memories pile up on one this week-end, and resolutions are in the making, let's recall a line or two from Robert Burns:

And there's a hand, my trusty fiere!
And gies a hand o' thine!
And we'll tak a right gude-willie waught,
For auld lang syne.

No, there isn't much Scotch in us, but we have a general idea of what the bard is talking about. So, our best to you as the new year comes in.

* * * * * *

Sports as a whole had a good year in '50 and prospects are bright for the coming twelve months in city and district. As mentioned elsewhere, several important recreational advances were made in Peterborough the past year. Like lights for ball at Riverside, artificial ice at last for hockey, and a fine big outdoor swimming pool just east of the bridge. Major and minor athletics did well generally, though we did have a mild first-half winter in 1950 and a cool summer. The city is growing pretty rapidly and more and more youngsters have to be looked after in sports and the various recreational phases. And more grown-ups, too, both as active participants in sports and as spectators. We must keep pace with our growth.

One Recalls The Ups

There have been good times and bad the past year and down the years. But mostly good, since Time has a generous trick of glossing over the rough spots and gilding the happier events—holding them up as shining memories to fondle later. As sports chronicler here for some years, the writer has had his ups and downs, too. At this time he prefers to recall only the ups, and to be forgiven for any toes he trod upon while swinging enthusiastically down the sports' trail. Let's just say he may have been careless at times, but he meant well. Let's all pull together again for the game and for auld lang syne. Let's just have fun.

Along with a puck schedule of the Otonabee Rural League, Jim McCarthy of Keene sends greetings. Also this note: "I still think that the ball team I picked last summer was away better than yours. Your .350 hitters would have taken quite a slump against the pitching of Goyer, Oulette, Williams, Gallagher, etc. Anyway, a prosperous and happy 1951 for yourself and sports." Thanks, Jim, and we won't argue that point with you now. You might even be right, though we can't quite subscribe to it. After all, distance does lend enchantment, whether looking forward or back. Yet, this interest and these arguments are what keep sports going.

Keen League At Keene

But getting up to date, the Otonabee puckists started play last night, and they resume on Thursday next. Games are in the Keene arena, which was opened for play last winter, and teams in are: Downer's Corners, Hiawatha, Indian River and Keene. Schedule appears tonight. It runs till the end of Feb. They've got the last date Feb. 29, but this new year isn't leap year, so we took a chance and changed it to Feb. 28. Everyone gets in semi-finals while the finals are three out of five games. The addition of Hiawatha Indians should make for more interest in a circuit that was popular a year ago. Jim McCarthy is president, Gavin Shearer vice-prexy and Frank Woods the secretary-treasurer.

* * * * * *

For a time at the arena last e'en, it looked like Wally Bent's strategy of shuffling his lines would pay off. Belleville led the Eagles for two frames, though 'twas close. But strategy can't do too much when there's a difference in goaltending. Nicholls was much better in the nets than Keays and that was that. Also, the Eagles always finish strong. They did last night for a 4-1 margin in the third and it ended 9-7 for the group leaders. Still, it was a good speedy scrap, much different from that 13-2 thing down in Bella Villa earlier in the week. An odd grouping, and you can't take anything for granted from game to game. Eagles really had to work for this win. Reg Stewart, Bill Crowley and Joe Rochetta were their main snipers. Lalonde hasn't been out with 'em lately, and probably won't be now.

IOOF Juniors Earn Win Over Rockets

Bun Kingdon's junior Oddfellows finished the year in great style last night in Belleville as they handed Rockets a stinging 5-3 defeat in a rough, hard-fought game before a large crowd. It was the seventh win of the season for the colorful squad still in first place with 15 points.

Oddfellows staged a strong finish in the final frame as Dean West, Bob Wyatt and Ab Buckton scored sparkling tallies against a single marker by Houle, crack Belleville center to wrap up the verdict after the teams had battled on even terms for two hectic periods.

Close Play

Play was close in the first as the rivals battled hard and fast, and each scored a pair. Jim Shearer found the range early on a neat play with Wyatt scoring from near the enemy blue line at 1.50 but Rockets equalized later as the Mason, Desjardins, Strahan line clicked. The first two each scored one in the first while Jim Morrow potted Links second tally at the three-quarter mark in the frame as Dean West set him up on a beautiful passing play.

The second stanza proved the roughest and most exciting of all from a spectator's standpoint as no less than 18 penalties were meted out with 25 in all for the game and both teams threw all they had with the penalty pew constantly occupied for a variety of offences. With first place at stake between two teams who play much the same style of hockey, tempers flared but the arbitrators were firm.

A Penalty Shot

IOOF's third goal to open the third came from the stick of West on a penalty shot by the rule penalizing the team guilty of tripping an oncoming player with a clear path to the goal. The referee had to reverse his original decision awarding a goal late in the second on the play as Tripp was in the net. (The rule calls for a goal award if the goalie is out of the net at the time the alleged offence occurs).

Oddfellows held a decided edge in the third frame despite Houle's final tally for Rockets as the Quinte crew in over-anxiety threw forwards out continuously to stem the flying Oddfellows thrusts but to no avail. Instead, the Kingdon stalwarts attacked more effectively than ever to completely overshadow their game but reckless opponents.

Adds To Total

Bob Wyatt added two points to his season's total to bring his count to 20 points. He is second in the league standing. Dean West did likewise to trail Wyatt with 18 points to date. Ab Buckton's tally to ensure victory was a dilly, a fitting reward after a fine night's work.

Dean Wasson again played an outstanding game earning a star with Wyatt and the entire brigade shone to a man in a fine triumph. For Belleville, the first line went best.

IOOF—Goal, R. Wasson; defence, Shearer, Armstrong; centre, West; wings, Wyatt, Morrow; alternates, B. Robinson, G. Robinson, D. Wasson, Clapper, Buckton, Floyd, Douglas, Batley.

Belleville—Goal, Tripp; defence, Trumble, Green; centre, Desjardins; wings, Mason, Strahan; alternates, Houle, Gilmour, Doren, Henhawcke, Carey, Brown, Turland, Barclay; Mantle.

Fighter Suffers TKO Doctor Orders Rest

NEW YORK, Dec. 30—(AP)—J. T. (No Name) Ross, San Jose, Calif., stringbean, is on the shelf for six months after a third round knockout loss to Gene Hairston, up and coming New York middleweight.

Dr. Alexander Schiff, New York Athletic Commission physician, ordered Ross into drydock after examining him in the dressing room last night following his Madison Square Garden defeat.

"He has a certain amount of concussion," said Schiff, "the ordinary kind after a knockout. He seems to be all right."

Ross left the ring under his own power and retired to his hotel room, planning to fly back to California today.

Hairston had no trouble polishing off Ross. He knocked J. T. down for a six-count in the second and ended it with a right to the jaw at 1:12 of the third round.

Dutchmen Beat Out Irish 6-3 In Overtime Play

By The Canadian Press.

Until Friday night Toronto St. Michael's Monarchs shared first place in the Ontario Hockey Association major series with Toronto Marlboros. One of the big reasons Monarchs today are in second place, two points behind the Marlies, is the league's last-place team, Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen.

The Dutchmen scored three times in overtime in Waterloo Friday night to beat St. Mike's 6-3 They have beaten the Toronto squad for four of the seven losses charged against St. Mikes this season.

The league-leading Marlies also contributed putting St. Mikes in the runner-up spot by fashioning a 6-3 victory over the third-place Hamilton Tigers, coming from behind with a four-goal barrage in the last period to turn the trick.

Marlies' goal-getters were Bob Hassard, Howie Lee, Ross Johnstone, Frank Davis, Eddie Stankiewicz and Bus Wycherley. Harvey Fraser, Miocinovich and Tom Smelle tallied for Hamilton.

In the Waterloo fixture scoring also was well distributed, Dutchies' goals were scored by Dinny Flanagan, Art Hurst, Billy Flick, Bob Wrightsell, Dick Behling and Bill Mitchell. Tom Fowler, Gord Hannigan and Frank Sullivan were St. Mike's marksmen.

Drop Guelph

In the junior division the league leading Toronto Marlboros went three points ahead of the idle second-place Barrie Flyers by defeating Guelph Biltmores 5-4. The winning goal was sniped by Paul MacDonald while other Toronto goals were fired by John Lumley, Ron Hurst Dan Windley and Bill McFarland. For Guelph Chuck Henderson tallied a pair with Harry Howell, and Ken Laufman shooting the others.

Windsor climbed to within two points of Barrie and three up on fourth place Guelph, Galt Black Hawks and t. Catharines Teepees by scoring a 7-1 victory over the cellar-dwelling Waterloo Hurricanes. The third-place Spitfires handed Hurricanes their 25th loss this season. Eldor Thomas fired three goals, Erwin Grosse got two and John Offidani and John Danilovich notched singletons. Charlie MacDonald bagged Waterloo's counter.

Fall Before Rally

In St. Catharines the Teepees fell victim to a brilliant third-period rally by the ninth-place Toronto St. Michael's whose comeback netted them a 6-4 victory their seventh win this season. Collegian goal-getters were Willie Marshall, Tom Fyles, Bob Schiller, Murray Costello, Harold McNamara and Mike Ratchford. Wayne Brown scored twice for Teepees and Pierre Pilote and Skip Teal got the others.

Galt climbed to fourth by beating the Kroehlers 4-2 in Stratford with goalie Clark Sommerville in the Black Hawk nets laying a standout game. Don Hogan, Jack Price, Tony Poeta and George Gosselin scored Galt's counters. Ray Ross and Bob Bailey collected Stratford's markers.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Officials of Ottawa's Rough Riders soon will be scouring the United States sports front for a possible new football coach for the Big Four entry.

E. K. Emerson, president of the Ottawa Football Club says both he and team manager J. P. McCaffrey are preparing plans for a U. S. scouting trip.

Meanwhile, no decision will be made as to renewal of Wally Masters' contract, Mr. Emerson said, Masters has coached the team for the last three years.

In 1948, he took the team to the Grey Cup final against Calgary Stampeders. The Stampeders scored a 12-7 victory. The following year the Riders lost out to Montreal Alouettes in the league playoffs. Last year the Ottawa entry ended up in the Big Four cellar.

A three-judge special sessions court has decided that Hugh Casey, former Brooklyn Dodger pitcher, was the father of a child born out of wedlock.

After 15 minutes deliberation the three judges unanimously decided that Casey was the father of the year-old son of Hilda Weissman, 25-year-old bmrun

The court ordered Casey to pay $20 a week to the young woman for the support of the child until Jan. 29 pending an investigation and report by the probation bureau.

Heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles and contender Lee Oma have signed contracts for their 15-round title bout in Madison Square Garden Jan. 12.

After the ceremony Oma left for Greenwood Lake, N. Y., to continue his training. He has been working there for 2½ weeks.

Charles limbered up at the uptown gym in Harlem and will start boxing there today with Lloyd Gibson and Al Smith as spar mates.

Neville Sellwood, Australia's top jockey, won with his first American mount Friday at Santa Anita.

The down-under champ took Valor II from way behind to nip the favored My Chief by a half-length. The $3,500 race was for maiden two-year-olds over seven furlongs.

Sellwood called the victory "the greatest thrill in my life."

It was his first ride outside his own country. Valor II paid $9.50 $3.70 and $3.30.

The Sporting News in its annual selection has named George Weiss of New York Yankees as the top major league executive of the year.

The national baseball weekly described Weiss as "the unseen hand behind the success" of the New York Baseball Club. Weiss is vice-president and general manager.

Selected along with Weiss was the Yankees' shortstop, Phil Rizzuto, as No. 1 player of 1950.

Red Rolfe, who steered the Detroit Tigers into second place, was designated tops among major league managers.

Rollie Hemsley, who piloted Columbus of the American Association and who will handle the Texas city entry in the Gulf Coast League next season, was picked as the outstanding minor league manager.

Alfred G. Vanderbilt's filly Bed O'Roses won the $15,000 Anita Chiquita purse Friday as Santa Anita opened its winter meeting.

The usual gaiety of Santa Anita's opening, as well as the big punch of the feature race, was dimmed by the death in Florida of one of the turf's best known figures, Warren Wright, and the subsequent withdrawal of his horses from Friday's program at Arcadia, Calif.

Grads Triumph 62 to 46 Against PCVS

The Old Boys triumphed in exhibition basketball at Collegiate last night over the PCVS senior boys by a score of 62 to 46. About 200 fans saw a wide-open and interesting cage contest, with the grads in command throughout. They took an early lead and held it, though the game was pretty close at times. Grads led 20-15 at the half, and their more accurate shooting was the main difference.

Plunkett and Menzies led the winners with seven points each. As Estlick got six, and Taylor and Nelson five apiece. Northcott went good on the attack for the losers with a dozen points, while Evans was next with nine, Thompson garnering half a dozen, and Frise accounting for five. Teams:

Old Boys: Griffin 4, Dinsdale, H. Dibben 4, D. Dibben 4, Taylor 5, Sergeant 3, Plunkett 7, Estlick 6, Thomson 4, D. Richardson 3, Menzies 7, Ackford 4, Nelson 5, Green 2, McKee 4.

Jack Murray Leads In Men's Bowling

Jack Murray led individual trundlers this week in the City Bowling League with a 352 single and top three of 847. Fashion-Craft led in pinnage with 3,502, as Shockey's hit high single of 1,245. The F-C bowlers blanked Campbell & Best, as 4-2 margins were gained by Dunn's, Shockey's Cavanagh's, Moore's and Esquires' respectively over Swartz, Clapper's, Bond's, McGillis and Sunocos.

Good singles were rolled by Buck Legrow with 347, Mike Caccavella 343, Fred Martin 335, Bill Boon 331, Bill Stanbury 314 and Bill Harris 307. Fred Martin of Bond's surged ahead of Roy Suddards in the average race with 240 for 45 games, according to Secretary Mel Akers. Cavanaghs are tied for first with Shockey's, while McGillis and Fashion-Craft are fighting it out for second spot. The league expressed good wishes to all bowlers and the readers.

Prize winners in the turkey roll Dec. 21 were: for turkeys, Geo. Walton, Phil Pryde, Carl Signorotti, Gene Reynolds, Bill Lewis, Irvin Haynes, Jerry McDonald and Roy Suddards; for chickens, Maurice Caccavella, Roy Lewis, Mel Akers, Vern Ferguson, Tony Mattucci and Fred Martin; cigarettes, Eric Martin, Buck Legrow, Jack Playford, Ed Young, Alf Mattucci, Ross Jordan, Harold Davis, Bill Boon, Len Williams Bud Goodson, Len Anthony and Bob Crowe.

Eagles Beat Redmen, 9-7 To Lengthen Lead In Race

GOOD SHOW—Reg Stewart turned in a good show for Eagles last night as they beat Belleville 9-7 here. Stewart aiding on three markers and checking well.

Downing Belleville Redmen 9-7 here last night with a furious third-period drive, the local Eagles lengthened their lead in the OHA senior "B" race before some 700 chilly fans. The game was speedy and marked by some rugged checking, though generally clean, each side drawing five penalties, including a misconduct each. Wally Ben's revamped line-up made it a close fight all the way, the Quinte crew leading 3-2 in the first frame and 6-5 going into the third when the Eagles struck hard.

Penalties affected the scoring considerably, Belleville driving hard to tally three goals with the Eagles short a man once in the first. Eagles got one later on with Belleville shy a man, and they scored one another time when the home team had a penitent sitting it out in the sin bin. Nicholls in goal made the difference as the teams on the night appeared well-matched otherwise.

In On Three

Stewart, Rochetta and Crowley were in on three goals for the Eagle men, with Wharem, Hill and Milne figuring in on two each, and Montgomery, Parnall and Doug Mortimer one apiece. Johnny Godfrey got a nasty cut on the nose in the third from a flying puck. Mulvihill led the way for the Bent bunch with three points, Jones having two, and one apiece counted by Day, Free, Bastedo, Schmidt and McDonald. Goyer and Burns did yeomen checking.

Goyer went on early for interference, followed by Montgomery for tripping. Later on, Hill scored on a return pass from Stewart. Smith went over for elbowing and Milne drew a misconduct for talking out of turn. Three Belleville goals were rapped in before Smith got back, Day and Free scoring in scrambles and Mulvihill tallying from Jones. Eagles got one back later when Montgomery scored a nice one from in close from Stewart.

Even Frame

Crowley counted early in the even second chukker from Vitarelli but Bastedo got that back shortly in a pile-up at the goal mouth. Jones cuffed in a rebound then, with Day and Mulvihill aiding on the play. Green was gated for holding and banging his stick angrily cost him a misconduct. Crowley roared in to score from Vitarelli and Rochetta. The latter was lifted for elbowing and Milne promptly checked and recovered in close to sift one by Keays. Mulvihill's screened shot beat Nicholls, and Goyer and Montgomery got the nod for high-sticking as it warmed up late in the stanza.

Rochetta tied the coun to open the third from a corner faceoff. Wardhaugh climbed he wall for high-sticking but was back when Hill slapped one home from Stewart and Milne with Keays sprawling. As the Redmen ganged up hotly, the Eagles kept breaking away, scoring twice on breaks. Crowley got the first one from Rochetta fast, and Parnall followed with a nice tally from Doug Mortimer's forward flip. Schmidt got one back then from McDonald, but Jones drew a roughing penalty near the close and it ended that way. Teams:

Belleville: Goal, Keays; defence, Goyer and Schreider; centre, Jones; wings Green and Mulvihill; alternates, McDonald, Wardhaugh, Bastedo, Free Semark, Williams, Day and Schmidt.

Eagles Goal, Nicholls; defence, Burns and Montgomery centre, Rochetta; wings, Vitarelli and Crowley alternates Parnall, D. Mortimer, Coombs, Hill, Milne, Stewart, Godfrey and Smith.

Referee, W. Wilson, linesman, R. Ouimet.

Primeau Finds Coaching Has Its Trials

By PIERRE DUBOIS,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

For the first time this season, gentleman Joe Primeau is finding that coaching a National Hockey League club also has its trials and tribulations.

Joe, a first-year NHL coach who had his Toronto Maple Leafs winging in front throughout nearly all the first half of the 70-game grind, today feels like reaching for a headache pill.

Not only have his charges been knocked out of first place, there are six cripples in camp with a vital home-and home series coming up with the new league leaders, Detroit Red Wings.

Pivot Ted Kennedy, a key man, made the injury roster by spraining an ankle in a tumble down the basement steps at his suburban home Thursday night.

Already sidelined are forward Howie Meeker and defenceman Hugh Bolton. Doubtful starters against the Wings tonight are forwards Joe Klukay and Cal Gardner, and Bill Juzda. All nursing injuries suffered at New York this week.

Detroit All Out

Detroit will be all out to extend their slim one-point lead over the Leafs as well as stretch their longest undefeated string of games this season to 12. The Leafs snapped Detroit's earlier unbeaten streak of 10 games at Detroit Dec. 23, winning 2-1.

The Wings, who'll take the Leafs back home with them for a New Year's eve game, have one cripple on their roster: Gaye Stewart. But he'll play with a special cast protecting a fractured hand.

Home-and-home series between the other four clubs in the second flight feature the rest of the NHL holiday weekend bill. Only four points separating the third-place Chicago Hawks and the last place New York Rangers.

Montreal Canadiens, now in fifth place two points out of the cellar, entertain the Hawks tonight and play in Chicago Monday.

The Rangers play host to the fourth-place Boston Bruins Sunday night, and the Bruins do the entertaining on the holiday.

McKINLEY IS TOPS

Several Events Stand Out During Centennial Year To Make 1950 Noteworthy

By C. J. PERDUE

The year 1950 long will be remembered as Peterborough's centennial year—and athletics aided considerably in the 12-month celebration. The recreation commission co-operated with the centennial committee to have sports take their part in the doings. It was recognized that sports play a large part in the community life of this city, and will continue to do so. Several other events in the athletic pattern of the place made 1950 a notable year. Artificial ice was installed in Civic Arena to finally bring the city up to date with other good hockey centres and greatly prolong the skating and hockey season. Instead of three months of so of hockey, there now is at least six months, regardless of the weather. Teams like Toronto Maple Leafs, and the Boston Bruins—who help sponsor the local junior "B" IOOF team—have shown here already in exhibition games. There is still no sign of the Memorial Centre.

Lights At Last

Baseball lights were installed in Riverside Park late last summer and, immediately, interest in the senior Toronto league diamond sport perked up. Floodlight ball will bring out the crowds in '51 and put baseball back as one of the major sports of the city. It will also aid minor ball considerably. Vern Dawson, one of the few men chiefly responsible for getting the floodlights, died shortly after his dream was realized—and the game will miss him a lot. Rollie Glover, another great friend of Peterborough sports, died just recently.

A fine new outdoor swimming pool was completed last summer by Riverside Park, and it proved an instant hit, despite chilly season. Ornamental and competitive swimming again had a good year here, and a huge crowd by Little Lake enjoyed a big water and fireworks show on July 1st. It may well become an annual event.

Largest Yet

The largest paid sports crowd in the city's history saw a softball exhibition at the Ashburnham Bowl last summer when the King and His Court—noted touring four-man team—drew 4,500 for a local service club. However, inclement weather much of the summer cut down the attendance at girls' and men's games. But softball, as a whole, held its own from the kids' games up during the season. Lights at the Bowl are helping the sport plenty.

Senior lacrosse under the lights also proved quite popular. The Petes had a good season in a strong league before big crowds, even winning a game in playoffs over the powerful Owen Sound Crescents, who went on to win the Dominion title. Again, the PMLA went over well, and the local junior "B" team took the OLA title.

Another Title

Another provincial crown came this way when Black's girls won the Ladies' Ontario Basketball Association intermediate title in a hot series with Stratford. PCVS had a flock of good cage squads, girls and boys. St. Peter's had two teams and Marines again went into OABA playdowns. Both the YM and YW loops dished up some keen hoop action throughout the past winter, and they're at it again now.

Football was the main autumn sport, with PCVS juniors taking the COSSA championship for the third straight year, a record here. PCVS seniors lost out in their finals to the powerful St. Kitts' crew. The re-organized Orfuns made an excellent start along the comeback trail in the ORFU intermediate series, and prospects appear bright for the coming grid campaign of 1951. St. Peter's juniors won a lakeshore title and the seniors saw nifty action in their new conference.

Lots of Hockey

Three OHA teams entertained many hefty crowds at Civic Arena last year. The senior "B" Legion team went furthest, losing out to Brantford in provincial finals. They are back now as the Eagles, along with the Petes and the junior Oddfellows in good groups. Their season started at the end of October—a new record here—and will go until well out in the spring on artificial ice. Another big and well-organized PMHA is in action, and there are plenty of other Peterborough puck squads playing in various setups ranging from school kids to oldtimers. The district, too, has a lot of fine hockey games regularly through the winter. Artificial ice is also available for the many curlers here, as well as figure skaters and the ordinary skaters.

These are but a few of the highlights of a busy sports' centre, mentioned briefly at year's end. There are many other good winter games going like ski-ing, bowling, carpetball, volleyball, indoor swimming, gym games, wrestling, and so on. As well as the batch of summer activities like water sports, golf, tennis, soccer—which is becoming more and more important here—cricket, lawn bowling, badminton, track, harness racing, and the rest.

A Fine Centre

Peterborough has been a first-class sports' city for many years, and it continues to be one of the best of its size in the province. Competent officials organize the games, good local—and sometimes imported—players make Peterborough teams strong contenders in every line of athletics in every season, and large crowds of fans support sports here. City officials as a rule are behind sports, through the recreation commission, though sometimes the public has impatiently pushed ahead to accomplish needed recreational facilities. And the public as it bids adieu to a good sports' year can look forward with confidence to one at least equally as good in 1951, barring war or some other unforeseen circumstance.

Lionel Conacher Best Athlete Half Century

By JACK SULLIVAN

TORONTO, Dec. 30 —(CP)— Now it's official.

Lionel Conacher is Canada's outstanding all-round male athlete of the half century.

By an overwhelming vote of sports editors and sportscasters in Canadian Press 50-year poll, the man who still bears the marks of eight fractures and more than 50 stitches in his 200-pound six-foot frame, won in a walk. Seven others were mentioned, but the sportsman-politician from Toronto romped home a clear-cut choice.

His choice confirmed what many experts had figured for years—that there wasn't another figure in the country's sports picture to equal the all-round ability of 50-year-old Conacher. It was the second tribute paid Conacher this week. Two days ago he was judged the outstanding football player of the 50 years in the CP ballot.

And, to point up his versatility, the Big Train was the only athlete in the 22-question ballot to receive votes in more than two sports. He gained recognition as a fighter by a choice in the boxing division. He grabbed votes in the lacrosse poll and his 33 votes in the "outstanding male" poll were the highest received by any athlete or team.

Record Talks

Conacher's record speaks for itself—a glittering all-star performance that marked a 20-year career, practically unprecedented in Canadian sports history. He was almost a one-man show in football. He was better-than-average in lacrosse, baseball, hockey, boxing, wrestling, sculling, swimming and track.

There isn't much doubt he would have scaled the heights in golf had there been more than 24 hours in a day. Endowed with a powerful physique and almost-phenomenal endurance, he sometimes participated in two separate sports in a space of hours.

There was, for instance, that unforgettable day in Toronto 30 years ago when he tripled in the winning run for the city baseball championship and dashed to the other end of town to find his club trailing Brampton 3-0 in a game for the Ontario Lacrosse title. He took over, scored four goals and assisted on another that brought victory to his team.

Seventeen years later the "Conacher era"—at least Lionel's great days—ended. The date was April 23, 1937, when Montreal Canadiens skated off the Forum ice after dropping a 4-0 decision to New York Rangers. That was the night the Big Train played his last professional game and not many months later he was embarked on his political career, first as Liberal member of the Ontario legislature for Toronto Riverdale and then in 1949 he won the House of Commons seat for Toronto Trinity—a post he still holds.

Gets 33 Votes

Conacher was the choice of 33 writers, exactly 31 more than the No. 2 nominee, shared by Vancouver's Percy Williams, voted earlier as the 50-year great in track and field, and Harvey Pulford of Ottawa, defenceman with the famed Ottawa Silver Seven hockey team who also was a football player, boxer, oarsman, paddler and squash racquets player.

Other choices for the "outstanding" label were:

Walter Knox of Orillia, all-round athlete in the early part of the century whose career in track and field from 1900 to 1920 produced more than 400 first prizes, 126 seconds and almost 100 thirds; the late George Hainsworth, Montreal Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs goalkeeper, three-times winner of the Vezina Trophy (1928-30) whose record of 22 shutouts in 71 games set in the 1928-29 season still stands; Tom Longboat, the late Six Nations Reserve Indian who burned up the marathon

Edmonton Grads Basketball's Greatest Team

By JACK SULLIVAN

TORONTO, Dec. 30—(CP)—A girls' team, the fabulous Edmonton Grads, was selected tonight as Canada's greatest basketball team in the first half of the century.

Voting in a Canadian Press poll, sports editors and sportscasters chose the team Percy Page led to dozens of championships in the '20s and '30s as the best. The Grads got half the votes cast and no men's team received more than two.

Norm Baker, 27-year-old player from Nanaimo, B.C., who now is a $400-a-month professional with Boston Celtics, walked away with the best player award. No other came close to the tall, blonde coast star who has been playing the game since he was 16.

The Grads ruled Canadian girls' basketball from the time the Dominion championship series was inaugurated in 1922 until the team disbanded 10 years ago. As an indication of what the voters thought of them, many decided they were just as good one year as another. Two picked the 1932 edition, one the 1935 and another the 1939 team, but most just filled in the ballot with "Edmonton Grads—any year."

Always Tops

The Grads were tops in just about any year from the time Page, a school teacher at McDougall Commercial High School in Edmonton, formed the first team in 1915. In 25 years, they played 522 games, won 502 and lost only 20. Once they scored 136 points in a single game, in one stretch of 25 consecutive games they rolled up 2,016 points—an average of better than 80 a game.

Dr. James Naismith, inventor of basketball, said once that "the Grads have the greatest team that ever stepped out on a basketball floor."

The Grads, all through their history, were deadly shots. Their field accuracy record for the final season's play was 38.6 per cent, said to be unequalled by any other team. In a game against Queen's University in 1939, they scored 44 baskets from 77 shots.

Roamed Country

Undoubtedly the most successful Canadian team in any sport, the Grads roamed the North American continent and Europe. They won titles 40 times in the Edmonton League, they never lost a Canadian championship series winning 29 of 31 games, they took the North American crown three times in four tries.

They played 120 games in international competition against American clubs, winning 114 and losing only six. They won all 24 exhibition games they played on three European tours. Against men's teams they won seven games and lost two.

Tied For Second

Two men's teams—Montreal YMHA of 1950, and Vancouver Clover Leafs of 1947—were tied for second place in the voting, far behind the Grads who compiled a record unique in the annals of any sport.

Also mentioned were the Winnipeg Toilers of the late 1920s and early '30s, Victoria Dominoes of the early '40s, the 1945 St. Catharines Hellcats and New Westminster Adanacs of 1929. Voters who mentioned no year liked Vancouver Blue Ribbons.

BASKET STAR—Norm Baker, 27-year-old set-shot artist from Vancouver, has been tabbed as Canada's outstanding basketball personality of the last 50 years by Canadian sports writers. Baker started his senior career with Victoria Dominoes at 16 and was the star of several Dominoes championship teams and with the Pat Bay Air Force team that won the Dominion title in 1943. With Vancouver Hornets of the former Pacific Coast League, he set a professional scoring record of more than 1,600 points for the 1946 season. He now is with Boston Celtics.

Hockey Casualty Policies To Be Stopped

CLEVELAND, Dec. 30 (AP).—The Cleveland News said Friday the National Casualty Company of Detroit will stop writing new policies covering hockey casualties on Jan. 1.

The News quotes C. Jean Caspar, Jr., manager of National Casualty's profession sports policy department:

"During the last two years, injuries in hockey have been increasing at the fastest rate ever. This season there have been more to date than ever before.

"We kept reducing the benefits and raising the premiums, but even that did not permit us to keep the hockey division on a paying basis."

Casper said there is a clause in the policies that they may be renewed by players, but the company would not write new ones except for those covered by the clause.

In Montreal, an official of the National Hockey League said he did not think that accidents had been more frequent than usual this season.

"There have only been about eight major accidents—of the type that would keep a player out of action for some time — this year," he added. "Chicago Black Hawks have been the worst hit."

The brogue type of shoes with heavy stitches and punchings originated in Ireland.

iscovery Of Insulin

In 1922 the name of Frederick ant Banting rang round the world as the co-discoverer of Insulin for the treatment of diabetes. His achievement was hailed as the greatest since those of Pasteur. In the field of medical science the young Alliston, Ont., doctor's discovery ranks as the most outstanding by a Canadian. He was awarded the Nobel Prize in medicine and later honored with knighthood.

Nineteen years later, Sir Frederick, then 49, died in line of wartime duty in a plane crash Feb. 21, 1941, on Newfoundland's east coast.

An historic religious event in 1925 was the union of Methodist, Congregational and the major part of the Presbyterian churches as the United Church of Canada.

Running counter to the achievements of the first quarter of the century were a number of disasters, some of them the worst in the Dominion's history.

Town Wiped Out

On April 29, 1903, 70,000,000 tons of rock fell from the Turtle Mountain in the Crow's Nest Pass, obliterating the little town of Frank and killing 66 persons. Toronto's "great fire" occurred on April 19, 1904, destroying 122 downtown buildings and causing damage of $11,000,000.

Forest fires in Ontario's Porcupine area took 400 lives in 1911. Late autumn storms on the Great Lakes in 1913 resulted in sinking or stranding of a score of vessels and 248 sailors drowned. Bound for Britain, 1,024 persons were lost when the CPR liner Empress of Ireland sank in collision with a freighter in the St. Lawrence, May 29, 1914.

Burning of the parliament buildings at Ottawa, Feb. 3, 1916, cost seven lives and destruction of one of the finest examples of Gothic architecture on the continent.

Still Has Scars

Halifax still bears the scars caused by the explosion of a chemical-laden ship in the Narrows collision, Dec. 6, 1917. A conservative estimate gave 1,600 dead, 6,000 injured and 10,000 made homeless. Property damage was estimated at $33,000,000. A year later the Canadian steamship Princess Sophia sank off the Alaska coast and 393 lost their lives.

William Lyon Mackenzie King headed the successful Liberal party in the 1921 election. He remained in office when the 1925 election resulted in a virtual stalemate and the 15th parliament brought on the now famous constitutional issue, Hon. Arthur Meighen's conservative "shadow cabinet" and the election of 1926. Mr. King again became Prime Minister without a majority but with the support of Liberal-Progressives and other groups.

"Equal Status"

When Mr. King was in London for the 1926 Imperial Conference he figured in a symbolic incident.

Watching the pouring of molten metal for bells of the carillon to be erected in the Ottawa Peace Tower, Mr. King threw in a Canadian cent. Then as an afterthought he tossed in an English halfpenny, uttering the significant words, "equal status".

The steady growth of Canadian nationality reached its culmination at that conference. Led by Mr. King, Prime Minister Hertzog of South Africa and President Cosgrave of the Irish Free State, the demand for dominion nationhood brought an epoch-making document that has been called "the new Magna Carta of British imperial unity."

Canada became one of "the autonomous communities within the British Empire, equal in status, in no way subordinate one to another in any respect of their domestic or external affairs, though united by a common allegiance to the crown and freely associated as members of the British Commonwealth of Nations."

Significantly, Canada celebrated the Diamond Jubilee of Confederation a year later and thus the stage was set for adoption of the Statute of Westminster at the 1930 Imperial Conference when Conservative Prime Minister R. B. Bennett represented the Dominion. It became law on Dec. 11, 1931.

Canada's economy was dealt a crushing blow by the 1929 financial debacle. Few foresaw the lean years that became the "depressed '30's." Domestic and external trade declined, unemployment threw new burdens on the Federal Government which also was forced to aid provinces in danger of defaulting their debts.

Ottawa Trade Agreements

The Bennett administration was returned in the 1930 election. At the Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa two years later the much-discussed trade agreements marked an effort to expand empire trade.

The "depression years" are stamped as those of bread lines, unemployment relief coupons, palliatives, of the price-spreads probe, of royal commissions on transportation, banking and Dominion-provincial relations, of the transient problem, labor unrest and mounting wheat surpluses.

They saw the rise of the CCF with its program of state socialism, the end of the United Farmers of Alberta as a political force, birth of William Aberhart's Social Credit party and emergence of the short-lived Reconstruction party.

Mr. King was back in the saddle in 1935 and Canadians watched with apprehension the growing menace of Hitlerism.

But the war-clouds failed to dampen Canada's enthusiasm during the bright interlude that marked the royal tour in the early summer of 1939. For a month Canadians played host to their King and Queen with breezy informality.

Behind cheers and flag-waving lay the knowledge that history was being made. The visit was the first occasion that a British sovereign and his consort had crossed the seas to greet subjects in a self-governing nation of the "Free Association of Members of the British Commonwealth of Nations."

Second World War

The flags had hardly been furled when on Sept. 10, 1939, the Dominion plunged into the Second World War. Canada declared war in her own right for the first time in her history.

Manpower and industries were geared to war with increasing momentum. The Canadian First Army became "a dagger pointed at the heart of Berlin." The home front became an empire arsenal.

Of a population slightly more than 11,000,000, Canada put 1,086,771 men and women into uniform for service on many battlefronts. When it was over, the country counted 41,992 killed and 53,145 wounded. Sixteen Canadians won the Victoria Cross.

The cost of the war and post-war demobilization to Canada has been placed at $20,255,000,000, more than 12 times the $1,670,000,000 it cost the country for her share in the First World War.

Spectacular Role

Canada played a spectacular part in the production of the war's most deadly weapon—the atom bomb. A prospector's lucky flight after a 17-year radium search made possible a ready supply of uranium for Allied scientists.

Back in 1930, Gilbert LaBine was searching for radium at Great Bear Lake, 900 miles north of Edmonton. About to quit, he decided to make one more flight over MacTavish arm. Through binoculars he spotted outcroppings he had sought for years. He called the spot Port Radium, took in mining equipment and operated until 1940 when the demand for radium fell off.

Two years later the government ordered Labine to reopen the mine fast. Uranium oxide, a by-product, was needed urgently. Under close censorship Canada's part in the invention of the A-bomb was kept a top secret.

The war developed Canada's productive capacity. Today she is the world's third trading nation. Still in the reconstruction period she is struggling with inflation, bilateralism, divergent price levels between sterling and dollar areas and other problems. World trade and prosperity are necessary to her welfare.

Oil, Iron Wealth

The last decade has seen rapid development of natural resources. Discovery of great oil wealth has changed the west's economic picture. Vast iron-ore deposits in Northwestern Ontario and in isolated Quebec-Labrador's Ungava may change the steel and iron economy of North America.

As a middle power Canada has undertaken new responsibilities. In 1945 she signed the United Nations charter at San Francisco and assumed an active part in the work of the United Nations. At the same time Canada maintained its traditional association with other members of the Commonwealth.

The Dominion's growth was rounded out by advances in scientific research, education, social welfare and by improvement in labor conditions.

Enter Confederation

A Confederation dream of 1864 came true nearly a century later. In July, 1948, the people of Newfoundland in a national referendum voted to enter the Canadian Confederation. The island became Canada's 10th province March 31, 1949.

In the same year an amendment to the British North America Act gave the Canadian Parliament power to amend the constitution in Federal matters without reference to the British Parliament. Final authority in judicial matters was also vested in the Supreme Court of Canada.

Flood Damage

The worst disasters in the second half of the half-century came as it ended. Millions of dollars damage was done by the Fraser river flood in 1948 and the Red river flood this year. Quebec suffered heavily this year when fire destroyed a large section of Rimouski.

In bold type across the pages of Canadian political history of the last century appears the names of John A. Macdonald, Wilfrid Laurier and William Lyon Mackenzie King.

But the last half-century politically, largely belongs to Mr. King. His death at 75 on July 22 was recorded as "the end of an era."

Canada's destiny—and to some extent that of the British Commonwealth—was determined by his statesmanship. The statute of Westminster bears the marks of his thinking.

ROYAL VISIT—The early summer of 1939 meant one thing to Canadians—the Royal Visit of their majesties the King and Queen. They are seen here on their arrival at Wolfe's Cove, Que., May 17. To the left is Justice Minister Ernest Lapointe; right is Prime Minister Mackenzie King. A month later, after visiting all Canadian provinces and the United States, they left for Newfoundland June 17.

PARLIAMENT BUILDINGS BURN — Burning of the Parliament Buildings in Ottawa Feb. 3, 1916, cost seven lives. Fire broke out in the reading room and soon was out of control. There was a strong belief that the fire was deliberately set, but no evidence was found. Reconstruction of the almost completely destroyed buildings cost about $5,750,000.

BURIED TOWN—A heap of rock marks the site of the town of Frank, near the entrance to Crow's Nest Pass in southwestern Alberta, which was buried in a slide that took the lives of 66 residents in 1903. A section of Turtle Mountain, 1,300 feet high, 4,000 feet wide and 500 feet thick, crashed through the town.

LARGEST CONVOY—A major contribution in the Second World War was use of Halifax harbor—often called the finest natural harbor in the world—as a base for trans-Atlantic convoys. Shown at anchor is part of the largest convoy of the war.

Stately Relic

ESPANOLA, Ont. (CP)—An ancient horse-drawn hearse was displayed here by Alfred Paquette, who feels it should be preserved in a museum. The finely-equipped vehicle was brought from Ottawa in 1919 and until 1934 was the only hearse in this town, used at nearly 500 funerals.

For Parents Only

By NANCY CLEAVER

"A Happy New Year!" we wish our friends on New Year's Day. If we had one request that we, as parents, could have granted for our children for 1951 it would likely be that they should be happy. Sometimes we forget how vital a part our ideas and our ideals play in making this dream come true. To a great degree, all through life, we create or fail to create, our own happiness.

Parents who do all they can from day to day to train their child in sound health habits are laying one of the foundations for happiness. Well balanced meals, comfortable clothes, and play out-of-doors, all these contribute to a child's well being. Innoculations against disease, semi-annual visits to a dentist, and a yearly physical examination by a doctor, are other important safeguards against sickness.

The excitement of Christmas, the fun and special treats which mark the holiday season may have been more tiring to children than adults suspect. "I don't know what is the matter with my child. He is so cross and unreasonable," many a mother complains. "Usually he is quite co-operative and has such a sunny disposition." The child is likely suffering from fatigue. It is not just a re-action from too much celebrating but weariness which makes him feel "out of sorts." As soon as he catches up on his rest, he will again be a happy youngster.

Be sure you child's schedule allows for sufficient rest. Many a mother, as soon as she finds her child is no longer going fast asleep in the afternoon stops tucking him into bed in the day time. This is a mistake for the pre-school child. Even if the younster does not sleep, but only lies quietly talking to himself or to a dolly or looking at a picture book, this little period of time by himself is a value. He is learning to be happy in his own company as well as resting his body.

A child must also learn how to get along with other people, especially those in his own age group. Parents, who have their child's happiness at heart, must be willing to welcome their children's friends into their home. Other youngsters do add to the noise and the untidyness and they may track in mud on their shoes. But a child discovers the joy of companionship by having opportunities to be with other little friends.

Every father and mother must keep the goal of preparing a child for adult life in mind. Parents want their children to be happy from day to day. But they are also hoping that their child will grow into a useful citizen, finding joy in his work and happiness in his leisure time.

Encouraging a child to find quiet satisfaction in tasks well done is one way a parent builds for the child's future happiness. Another way is by helping a boy or girl discover creative hobbies. Experts warn us that it is this inability to use free time well which adds greatly to the lack of mental health on the part of many adults.

Handcraft, nature lore, photography, reading, music, painting —there are so many doors which open a whole new world to those who participate in these rewarding activities. Children can learn at an early age to experience satisfaction in making their own good times.

They are likely to do this if their parents are the kind of people who are not wholly dependent on spectator amusements. Parents who are themselves happy, well adjusted people, by their attitude to their work and their leisure, point out the path of happiness to their children far more effectively than by giving them good advice. Thoreau spoke truly when he said: "Man is the artificer of his own happiness."

Searchers Find Empty Lifeboat

BUFFALO, N.Y., Dec. 30 (AP) —A lifeboat found Friday near the scene of an oil slick and underwater obstruction indicated searchers soon may solve the mystery of the missing tug Sachem.

Diving operations for Friday were called off, however, because of drifting ice fields.

The 80-foot diesel tug and her crew of 12 vanished from Lake Erie Dec. 18 while ne route from Buffalo to Dunkirk, N.Y., 45 miles to the southwest. The United States coast guard and Canadian police joined the search.

Belief that she sank with all hands aboard was strengthened last Saturday with discovery of the oil slick and obstruction four miles offshore and 10 miles from Dunkirk.

Added evidence was Friday's finding of the lifeboat and recovery of two lifebelts Sunday not far from the scene. All bore the name Sachem.

$20,000 Blaze

BRAMPTON, Dec. 30 (CP) One of Brampton's oldest buildings, the 80-year-old Orange Hall was gutted Friday by a $20,000 fire. Volunteer firemen fought for more than six hours in zero weather to prevent the blaze from spreading.

SHOES THAT WILL STEP LIGHTLY into summer are airy in feeling, their slim lines set off by polished leather soles. Sandals (upper left) have multi-colored uppers, with heel in solid color and two-toned ankle strap. For evening, there's a silver kid strip sandal (lower left) with rhinestone-studded circlets and heels. The sling-back brown-and-white spectator pumps (centre) with shaped high heel are worn with a linen sheath dress with knitted top, a Brigance design. Spectator pumps (upper right) have a tartan plaid inlay to contrast with deep red leather trim. The sheath look in shoes (lower right) is found in hot orange unlined glazed kid casuals.

Markets Forge Ahead On Week

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Stock markets made over-all gains this week, but turned indecisive Friday.

After the Saturday and Monday holidays they were sluggish Tuesday, with downward tendencies, but made sharp advances Wednesday and continued into high ground Thursday.

Western Oils came to life Thursday on Canadian exchanges, gaining more than four points in the Toronto Stock Exchange's index; while in New York the Associated Press average of 60 stocks reached $88.40, a high since February, 1931.

Oils and base metals held their own Friday, but in general prices tended off, and entered today's last trading session of the year somewhat uncertainly.

Opinion differs as to whether or not the present bull market, in action since last spring, is due for a setback; and as to whether recent strength is simply the traditional year-end surge.

Here is a Canadian comment from Moss Lawson and Co., Toronto:

"We think 1951 will offer good investment opportunities but discrimination will be more than ever necessary in the selection of individual securities."

Across the border, the Wall St. Journal comments on recent bullish enthusiasm and adds:

"Technicians are sour about it all. The intermediate reaction which so many of these have predicted for many weeks has failed to develop . . .

"Technicians who are not actually bearish say they are watching for widespread distribution, particularly in some of the leaders. Other experts contend the bull market may not end until there has been participation by many medium and lower-priced issues. Funds from all investment sources still are large."

In general, plenty of fingers of caution are bing pointed at the present state of the market.

Statistics:

Toronto Stock Exchange indices showed the following changes from last Friday to Friday's close: Industrials up 4.81 at 290.09; golds down 1.73 at 74.86; base metals up 4.80 at 162.40; Western Oils up 4.34 at 79.47.

Montreal averages showed banks up 0.16 at 32.23; utilities up 10.4 at 85.1; Industrials up 3.7 at 192.1; Combined up 2.6 at 156.4; papers up 20.87 at 650.37; golds up 0.61 at 55.94.

In New York the Associated Press' average of 60 stocks was up $1.30 at $88.20, which was 20 cents down from Thursday.

CIVIL SERVICE

First civil service reform in Canada, a law creating a board of examiners for applicants, was passed in 1882.

Historian Refutes Indian Heirs' Claim

FORT WILLIAM, Dec. 30 (CP)—J. P. Bertrand, Fort William historian, said Friday that Louis Denys de la Ronde French nobleman and early explorer of this district, died more than 200 years ago.

Mr. Bertrand, a past president of the Thunder Bay Historical Society, said de la Ronde, therefore, could "hardly have been the grandfather of three Indians of the Nipigon district who are claiming to be his direct heirs.

The Fort William historan was interviewed in regard to a report from Nipigon Thursday that John Deschamp, 77, Mrs. Louis Deperry, 68, and Joe de la Ronde were seeking to establish themselves as heirs to a $500,000 fortune left by the French nobleman.

EDITOR RETIRES—Victoria Daily Times publisher Stuart Keate wishes Harry P. Hodges, retiring editor-in-chief, good luck as he ends 34 years with the newspaper.

Hotel Rates Being Increased

OTTAWA, Dec. 30 (CP) — Room rates in all Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railway Company hotels across Canada have gone up as a result of incresed operating costs, including the wage increases recently awarded to railway workers, a CNR spokesman here said Friday.

The new rates, result of an agreement between the two companies, became effective Dec. 26.

The increases are 25 cents a day a person in single rooms without bath and 50 cents a day a person for better accommodation, which includes single and double rooms with bath.

New Club Rooms Central Group Of AA's Opened

The Central group of the Peterborough Alcoholics Anonymous moved into new club rooms on the second floor of the Schneider Block on George St. The club spent $1,000 on renovations and furniture to make this meeting place for the 40 members as attractive as possible.

The largest of the seven rooms that make up the club quarters is the meeting hall. A large room, 50 feet long and 22 feet wide, the hall is used for meetings and social evenings. It is furnished with 50 folding chairs, three tables, a studio couch and two easy chairs, an end table and lamp and attractive drapes. Friday afternoon additional festive decorations had been added for the New Year's dance to be held tonight.

The first room entered when coming into the club room is the waiting and dining room. It is equipped with tables and chairs for dinners, a bulletin board for notices and a coat rack.

From there, you enter the kitchen complete with a stove, tables and chairs and a soft drink bar. Adjoining the kitchen are a storeroom, stock room and a washroom.

Attractively Decorated

The lounge is a large room which has been attractively decorated and furnished. Two new rugs on the floors, drapes, three chesterfield suites, a radio, tables, chairs and pictures make up the furnishings.

The card room is the remaining of the seven club rooms and is equipped with tables and chairs.

Combining attractive surroundings with comfort, the members of the Central Group operate these rooms at a cost of approximately $200 a month. This includes rent, lights and meals for the two men who take care of the rooms.

The Central Group is one of three Alcoholic Anonymous clubs in the city. Its organization and operation is the same as hundreds of other clubs in North America which have a total membership of approximately 110,000 members.

The club rooms of the Central Group are always open. Someone is always there, day and night to answer the phone and give assistance when it is needed.

Regular meetings are held every Thursday evening in the meeting hall which are open to anyone who wishes to attend. Special speakers, who are always members of the AA, are guests at these meetings. They come from other centres at their own expense.

Fridays and holidays, the rooms become the centre for social evenings. The wives of the members are encouraged to attend both the meetings and social events, so that they may become more familiar with the club's work.

Voluntary Donations

The management of the club is carried on by a chairman and a secretary. The club work and expenses are financed completely by voluntary donations of the members. Donations are not accepted from non-members.

A great deal of the club's work is carried on with the co-operation of the management of the city's industries, hospitals and doctors. However, many of the average 20 new contacts the club makes each month are personal appeals for help.

"We never go out looking for contacts," stated one of the members. "We wait until a person comes and asks our help before we interfere and offer assistance. Membership has to be purely voluntary or our assistance is of no avail."

Assistance could almost be called the watchword of this organization.

This assistance does not stop short with the attempt to solve drinking problems, but extends much further. Financial assistance is often given and contacts for employment made. If clothing or other necessities are needed they are provided.

This idea of assistance was behind the operating and furnishing of the club rooms as well. Their purpose is to provide a centre where members can meet for enjoyable times in comfortable and attractive surroundings. Hospitality is not limited, but is extended to all who believe that they need the help and companionship that the club offers.

Won't Have Lineup For Quebec Licences

QUEBEC, Dec. 30 (CP)—Quebec car-owners won't have to stand in line for hours to buy your 1951 licence plates.

Provincial Treasurer Gagnon announced Friday the Bureau of Public Revenue will send out to each car owner during January a registration form already filled in.

All the motorist has to do is sign the form and return it to the treasury with a cheque covering the licence costs. Then licence plates for 1951—aluminum-colored with black numerals—will be sent to the motorist by mail.

Papers Lead 1950 Trading In Montreal

By ROMEO MAGERA

MONTREAL, Dec. 30 —(CP)— Securities on the Montreal Stock Exchange and Curb Market marched ahead in 1950, overcoming setbacks with strong recoveries.

Early 1950 talk of an economic recession or readjustment of "post-war" business conditions failed to materialize and corporate earnings reports in the last few months of the year revealed the expectation.

Stock market prices are near their highest levels, as a result of more optimistic attitudes on the part of the investing public.

The year has also witnessed a sharp increase in United States speculative funds appearing in Canadian exchanges.

Newsprints, in particular, drew a large portion of the buying with the result that prices in many cases more than doubled their value at the beginning of the year. Senior metals were also prominent.

Dividend payments for the current year were at a new peak and amounted to more than $472,000,000 compared with nearly $418,000,000 in 1949.

Notable Gains

A representative list of Canadian pivotal issues shows that over the year's trading, Abitibi had advanced from 21⅛ to 45½, International Paper from 37½ to more than 60, St. Lawrence Corporation from 12½ to 33, Consolidated Mining and Smelting from 91¾ to 128⅜, Aluminium from 52¾ to 93¾, Consolidated Paper from 17⅞ to 34, Imperial Oil from 21⅛ to 30, Seagrams from 19¾ to 31⅞ and Massey-Harris from 21¾ to 44½.

Industrial volume of more than 20,000,000 shares was the heaviest recorded since 1933, when compilations first began. This figure almost doubles last year's volume.

Increased volume and advancing prices moved the dollar value of shares traded up from $300,000,000 in the preceding year to $875,000,000 in the current year.

Freeing of the Canadian dollar was a factor in the increased interest in the mining section of the Montreal curb market, where lower-priced issues benefited greatly.

Toronto Post For Cardiff Minister

TORONTO, Dec. 30 (CP)—The Rev. Emlyn Davies of Cardiff, Wales, is scheduled to arrive here Wednesday to assume his duties as minister of Yorkminster Baptist Church, the largest Baptist Church in Canada.

Mr. Davies preached at Yorkminster earlier this year after attending the Baptist World Alliance in Cleveland. He accepted the post as minister succeeding the Rev. W. A. Cameron, who retired in June, 1948, after 40 years as pastor.

Yorkminster Church is modelled on the famous Yorkminster Cathedral in York, England.

Mr. Davies has been professor of church history and financial secretary of South Wales Baptist College.

Firefighters Overcome

QUEBEC, Dec. 30 (CP)—More than a dozen firefighters, trapped by smoke and flames, were overcome Friday night in a two-alarm fire which caused considerable damage to a three-storey building housing a branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia. Six of the firemen were restored to consciousness with the help of respirators.

"Little a little cow-catcher I rigged up so I can walk through the room without stumbling!"

Facing Year Opportunity In Torn World

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D

The fact that a Sunday intervenes between Christmas Day and the beginning of the New Year is always of interest and significance.

If everything in religion and history had worked out with the mathematical exactness and certainty that many matter-of-fact people dote upon, there would be no intervening Sunday, nor two days to celebrate, for Christmas Day and New Year's Day would be the same day. This is obvious, for ostensibly we date our years from the birth of Christ and it is that birth that we celebrate on Christmas Day.

It is a deep reminder to us, or ought to be, that the deep realities of religion and life are not bound up with exactness and mathematical certainty, but consist in essential truth and spiritual values.

To know the Christ, to feel the power of His love, and to love Him as He has loved us, has little to do with exact knowledge of the year, or day, in which He was born.

One might almost suppose that a wise Providence had left some things enexact so that all the emphasis might be on the deep important realities of spiritual truth and values. Yet, it is sad to realize how much these are neglected for relatively unimportant matters of uncertainty and speculation.

However this may be, there is value in that Sunday that intervenes between Christmas Day and New Year's Day. Here is time for reflection upon the great event celebrated at Christmas; sometimes, unfortunately, with more of pagan exuberance than of real joy and devotion in the coming of the Savior. It provides time for thought and introspection, for bringing Christian facts and values into the preparation of mind and heart as one enters upon a new year.

It is, of course, not actually a new year upon which one enters, but only upon the opening day of a new year. The truly Christian life is a day-by-day matter. Jesus emphasized this in the prayer He taught His disciples, "Give us this day our daily bread."

That prayer led the soul into great heights and depths, and sublime, far-off goals, "The kingdom come; Thy will be done in earth as it is done in heaven"; but it was evidently intended for a daily prayer, not only in quest of bread, but bringing all the supreme range of God's life toward man, and man's life toward God, into daily experience.

So, the New Year for the Christian takes its guidance and goal, its hopes and aspirations, its joys and enrichments, from the Christmas story of the coming of the Christ, and of all that the Gospel of His life, His teaching, His example, His guidance, and His divine leadership mean for mankind.

Far and wide the world has celebrated Christmas. What a world it would be, if that celebration meant an actual devotion to the Prince of Peace, dispelling the fears and distrust, the hatred and violence, by the power of the more abundant life! "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly."

To the many, who have written me recently, and to others who read this column, I offer sincere wishes for a happy and prosperous New Year—prosperous in all that pertains to life's best attainments and deepest satisfactions.

Deadly Epidemic Of Distemper Among Dogs

An epidemic of deadly distemper is raging in Peterborough and shows no signs of dying down for some time, Humane ociety Inspector Gerald Dunford reported today and local veterinarians agree.

Since last Saturday, he has collected 30 dead dogs, about 22 of which he estimates died of distemper. Local vets can add considerably to that total.

The highly contagious disease has killed about 80 dogs in December that Inspector Dunford has collected and taken to the incinerator. This figure is swelled by the number of dogs disposed of by vets. They don't keep records but agree it's an epidemic.

Peak Month

December is usually regarded as the peak month of the year of this cold weather disease, but there are no signs that the epidemic will abate as January is about to begin. The disease does not die out completely but when the cold weather begins in November, it usually increases and lasts through into May.

Inspector Dunford says this month has been the worst in his memory. He collected 60 dead dogs in November and 54 in October. He estimates that about 75 per cent of these were victims of distemper.

Bewildered dog owners who got puppies at Christmas and are afraid of losing them can do something about it. Dogs three months old and over can be given three vaccination shots which are effective in giving permanent protection to their dogs. The cost is $6. For pups younger than three months the best way to avoid distemper is to isolate them from other dogs. They can also be given temporary immunity.

Signs of Disease

The first signs are puss-like discharges from the eyes and nose, loss of appetite, diarrhoea and a very high fever. As soon as these symptoms appear, the dog had better be taken to a vet. Even with the very best treatment available it is still only a 50-50 chance that the dog will survive.

In the more advanced stages of the disease which is caused by a virus, chronic diarrhoea, sets in, the dog may take fits, there may be a trembling of the legs similar to palsy, known as chorea more pronounced discharging from the eyes and nose and a cough.

When a dog has these symptoms it is hopeless.

When he takes fits, he may run in circles, shiver and shake and froth at the mouth. But he doesn't become vicious.

The disease seems to attack all breeds equally severely. It is most dangerous to dogs from three months to a year and a year and a half old, the normal growing period.

Dogs four or five years old seem to develop an immunity and rarely contract the disease. A pup which is still suckling its mother apparently gets immunity through the milk and is safe until weaned. Growing dogs do not seem to have much resistance against it.

The distemper is not contagious to cats or to humans. But cats contract a similar virus which is just as deadly or even worse. This year the peak month for cats was October with 77 disposed of by the humane inspector. In November there were 62 and so far this month 60.

Nepheline Miners Making Townsite To East Of Chilly Blue Mountain

By NICK NICKELS

Pear-shaped Blue Mountain, 35 miles north-east of Peterborough is one of the coldest spots in the county a person could visit at this time of year. West winds sweeping across the surrounding bushland, far below, do nothing to hinder quarrymen from drilling, blasting and trucking more than 8,000 tons of nepheline ore each month from the bleak rocky benches. The white crushing plant machinery grinds 'round the clock spreading its white dust down the lee side of the mountain.

One hundred people are employed there in a mining enterprise that started humbly a few years ago and is now slowly gearing itself to the largest nepheline mine on the continent, working on the only deposit of its kind in the Americas.

Aside from the serious business of mining that goes on day in and day out, 12 months of the year, the employees are about as happy a lot of people as you will find anywhere.

Future Solid

Future plans for the mine have been so solidly laid that a permanent townsite is being built east of the mountain. It would not be correct to say that it sprang up. Far from it. Work on eight new homes started in June under the directing eye of company field man Archie Cameron.

A visit to the mine this week showed that eight homes are having the last building touches put on them. Three of them are already occupied; Mr. Cameron and master mechanic Walter Turner's family moved into their new homes just before Christmas and company secretary Harry Stabler set up his essential furnishings early on Thursday morning.

Treat to See People

Four families had already built their homes on the townsite and now their houses are being surrounded by a row of new houses across a curving street. Mrs. John Mather, wife of the mill superintendent, said she had been living there without neighbors for some time and it was a treat for her to look out and see new families moving in, new friends to visit with, new children for her little family to play with. There are now about a dozen children on the new townsite.

The eight new homes, although their exteriors are decorated in different color schemes, are as alike as three blueberries on a stem. Each building is 28 by 44 feet, single story with cement foundations but no basements. The interiors contain a living-dining room, kitchen, three bedrooms, utility room, bathroom and ample cupboard space. Heating is by fuel oil and a central sanitary plant takes care of plumbing requirements. Water comes from a drilled well.

All Company Owned

The whole project is company owned, of course, and was financed by a combined company and mortgage loan arrangement. Employee tenants will pay a regular rental each month and this figure is now being worked out in their head office in Toronto. The mortgage company building inspector, during a visit to the townsite a few days ago, said the mine houses were the best built of 1,000 homes he had inspected elsewhere.

Construction is under the direction of master carpenter Joseph Keaney who directs 20 workmen on the project. After they are finished on the townsite, they will swing to work on a new bunkhouse, 28 by 72 feet. Foundations are already laid for this building and when completed, it will accomodate 30 men, two men to a room, with common showers, washroom and living room.

Chiefly from District

The 100 workmen now employed at the mine come chiefly from the district. Out of 24 families living near the mine and at Jack's Creek settlement, 23 of the breadwinners work at the property. Others come from Havelock, Norwood and Ansley, some driving to and from work each day, others living through the week in the bunkhouses and eating at the company mess hall.

A new rink within the boundaries of the townsite has been built and two workmen are employed at erecting a small dressing room and making ice. It is expected, if cold weather continues, ice will be in shape for general skating and hockey games within a few days time.

During 1950 a new machine shop, mine office and assay office building have been completed at the minesite and early in 1951 work will be started on a townsite school. At present the children of employees have to travel by bus to Buffer's Hill school—as a Dummer, located at Jack's Creek.

Plans Paying Off

"Our slowly moving plans are paying off and the future of the mine is assured, regardless of the present state of world affairs," said vice-president and general manager Ernest Craig. This statement, coming from a veteran mining executive who thinks long thoughts and says little, makes for a bright assurance and successful future for the mine. There will be more employment, good wages earned and spent, and hundreds of thousands of dollars spent locally by the company for supplies, a benefit to everyone. This surely makes the nepheline mines the newest and brightest industrial star of the year in the Peterborough district.

Looking back at the Blue Mountain townsite, which has no official name yet, the project is truly a New Year story. New community, new homes filled with happy families, a new industry with great plans for the future. There is something solid about it all as jittery 1950 comes to a close.

Qualities of Calmness, Confidence Guided R. M. Glover Through Life

His next door neighbor of recent years delivered the address at the funeral service in memory of Roland M. Glover at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church Friday afternoon. Rev. Dr. Bruce Gordon of Trinity United Church announced that illness prevented Rev. Charles G. Boyd of St. Paul's from being present, "and I feel that it is an honor and privilege in trying to take his place on this important occasion." To the large congregation of men and women assembled in a last tribute to "a man who had left a deep mark on this community", Rev. Dr. Gordon quoted "a great principle which the Prophet Isaiah placed before his people: 'Thus saith the Lord the holy one of Israel, in quiet and confidence shall be your strength'. These words express the character and the nature of Mr. Glover."

Those qualities of calmness and confidence had guided Mr. Glover through the demands and responsibilities which had crowded in upon him through an exceptionally active life.

To comparatively few men is given the medium of influence of those who have a hand in directing the public press. This was specially true, Rev. Dr. Gordon said, during the first quarter of this century when there was no other agency similarly reaching out to the minds of men. In that work of his in Peterborough, Mr. Glover had wielded a wide and deeply appreciated service. Much was due to his creative thought and quietly exercised influence of mind and nature for the deep foundation of sanity and good judgment in the community "for which we of this new generation owe a great deal".

Dr. Gordon mentioned in passing some of the phases of Mr. Glover's life, a man greatly attached to his home, a promoter of cultural affairs, engaging in the civic and social welfare of his community, and displaying good sportsmanship in athletics. He was also a man of the church, taking his place in responsibility on the board of managers of St. Paul's, and contributing to its worship and strength by his presence Sunday after Sunday. And it was in the church that he found that steady assurance which made him strong.

"The final value of the church is in the Christian lives of its members. The value is deepened by such a life as that of Mr. Glover. We are grateful for his life, that he found strength through service, in quiet and confidence. We mourn his passing from us to join those who no longer see through a glass darkly. But, we must take up our journey again and go forth, and seek in quiet and confidence our strength for the daily task".

Rev. W. A. Moorhead assisted in the service, and members of the choir led in the singing of selected hymns.

The congregation reflected a wide diversity of Mr. Glover's association in public affairs and also minor echoes of private concerns of his in helping others not too well placed as himself during a long period when too many persons sorely needed help and the kindness that inspired it.

The active pall bearers were: three sons-in-law, E. A. Ayrhart, William McFadden, James White; two nephews, R. Leigh Glover of Islington and Charles P. Glover of Toronto, and Frank Sheedy.

The immediate mourners were: Mrs. Glover, with her son Maxwell, and three daughters; Mr. Terrett H. Glover, brother, with his wife and their daughter-in-law, Mrs. R. Leigh Glover.

Honorary pallbearers were: Mayor Swanston, James Hamilton, Chris G. Graham, William C. Akerman, G. A. Gillespie, MBE, G. H. Thompson, G. Wilson Craw, Charles S. Cummer, James Dutton, Sr., T. J. Carley, KC, Frank Buckland, A. L. Killaly, Arthur H. Lewis, Ernest H. Howson, Edward Humpage, Gordon K. Fraser, MP, Melville H. Johnston, Ross L. Dobbin, Ernest S. Clarry of Toronto, R. F. Downey, Bruce Johnston, W. A. Richadson.

Municipal representatives included the members of this year's council, and also members of past councils: Senator J. J. Duffus, George A. Macdonald, William G. Ovens, former mayors; Herbert I. Bradburn, J. E. Sullivan, Malcolm McIntyre, Robert S. Cotton, Fred T. Tuggey, James Juby; also City Clerk E. A. Outram and City Engineer A. E. Chalmers.

Woman Aged 102 New Year's Day

WARKWORTH, Dec. 30 (ENS) A well-known summer visitor to the Warkworth area, Mrs. Eliza McGinnis will celebrate her 102nd birthday New Year's Day. This year's celebrations will be at the home of her daughter Mrs. George Fife of Wemyss, Ontario.

For the past few summers Mrs. McGinnis has visited with her daughter, Mrs. Edward Pratt of RR 2, Warkworth. Several years ago while on a visit to Mrs. Pratt's she suffered a slight stroke but that incident has bothered her little and her health now is good. She can still read without glasses.

Born in 1849

A New Year's baby in 1849, she was born at Bedford, Ontario, the daughter of James Bertrim and Mary Ann Carleton.

On May 23, 1874, she married George McGinnis of St. Catharines and lived in Niagara Falls where her husband was a foreman with the CPR. About 45 years ago the family moved to Perth where many of the family now reside. They had nine children. Her husband died in 1928.

Seven children are living, and there are also 26 grandchildren, 17 great-grandchildren and 13 great - great - grandchildren. A granddaughter is Mrs. E. A. Doxtator of Peterborough. Her daughters are Mrs. D. Avery (May) of Maberly, Mrs. George Fife (Maud) of Wemyss, Mrs. William Ennis (Margaret) of Fallbrook, Mrs. Edward Pratt (Christena) of Warkworth and her sons, George of Perth, Charles of Maberly and Arthur of Kingston.

Low-Grade Ore Iron Mining Has Big Future

Future mining of low-grade iron ore will be a major factor in the development of Eastern Ontario, Premier Leslie M. Frost of Ontario predicted Friday night. He was speaking to 135 guests at the first annual meeting of the Bobcaygeon chamber of commerce.

In a 20-minute address the Premier briefly sketched the industrial expansion of the province during the first 50 years of the present century.

"Despite all the turmoil and difficulties of these 50 years we have made tremendous progress . . and the prediction of Sir Wilfred Laurier that the 20th century would be Canada's has become a fact."

"Precious metals have made a great contribution but the greatest development of this country will come from base metals," the Premier said. "Already there are 12,000 well-paid base metal workers at Sudbury."

His key to the future development of the province, and of the country generally, was the two basic resources — iron ore and power.

Bring Industrial Greatness

"History has shown that these two bring industrial greatness," he said.

The United States is vitally interested in Canadian iron mines, he said. At least two United States steel companies are carrying on test drillings in that belt of low-grade iron ore running through Somerville township, touching Haliburton and Peterborough counties, and running off toward Kingston.

At one time there was extensive mining for iron in part of that belt, the Premier reminded his audience. But because it was low-grade ore it was by-passed after the discovery of the great Mesabi range at the western end of Lake Superior.

Will Find Way

He predicted that science will devise a means of extracting the iron, and "you will see the development of Eastern Ontario because of the mining of this low-grade ore."

Premier Frost suggested that the half-century progress of Ontario was largely due to four innovations.

One was the hydro-electric power system that generated 3½ to 4 million horsepower and made possible the province's rapid industrial expansion.

Silver At Cobalt

Second, the building of the Ontario northland railway. Until silver was found at Cobalt in 1905 the north was "virtually unknown," and the construction of the railway opened up that vast region.

Three, the internal combustion engine. This invention changed industry, revolutionized transportation, and changed our way of life."

Because of the internal combustion engine people in agricultural or rural communities are able to have good roads, snow plowing, hydro-electric power and better educational facilities (for example, school areas whose pupils are transported by bus).

But the fourth—and most important in the Premier's opinion—was the application of scientific technique. It was on scientific know-how that he was pinning his faith for the eventual extraction of the low-grade ore in this district.

All these techniques and industrial processes were aimed at one thing: a more abundant life for the people.

He said he hoped the United States Congress would finally ratify the St. Lawrence Seaway Pact. Two of the major benefits to Ontario would be an additional source of hydro-electric power and ships bringing coal from the Maritimes.

WHERE FIVE DIED—London, Ont., firemen are unable to use more than a trickle of water in fighting fire in a bedroom where five children were burned to death. A frozen hydrant forced firemen and civilians to establish a bucket line to keep an auxiliary tank full. Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Bezeau, parents of the five dead children who ranged from 2 to 12, are in hospital, as are three other daughters. An oil heater explosion splashed blazing oil through the four-room house.

Fire Relief Fund

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 30 (CP)—Organization of a city of London fire relief fund to aid four families who within three days have been hard hit by fire, losing homes, family possessions, and in one case, five of their children, was announced Friday, with the approval of Mayor Allan Rush.

Dies In Sleep

BLOOMSBERG, Ont., Dec. 30 (CP)—Believed to have suffocated in her sleep, Mary Eleanor Jillerd, one-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Jillerd, was found dead in her bassinet Friday at her home four miles north of Simcoe. Her father is a student at McMaster University in Hamilton.

Miss Mildred Dawson

Pallbearers at the funeral of Mildred Dawson, 37, Lot 5, Concession 5, South Monaghan, were Bruce Fisher, Lloyd Jackson, Merton Thompson, Herbert Dawson, Gerald Anderson and James Wood.

Miss Dawson died Sunday after being in ill health for 10 years. The funeral was Wednesday at the residence with the Rev. Bernard Heywood of Bensfort United church officiating. Burial was in Dawsons' cemetery, South Monaghan.

Miss Dawson was born and educated in South Monaghan and lived there all her life. She was the daughter of the late Edmund Dawson and Pearl Fisher. She was a member of Bensfort United church, the WMS and WA.

Britain is allocating $410,000,000 for colonial welfare and development between 1951 and 1957.

Mariners Different Lands Mark New Year Old Way

VANCOUVER, Dec. 30 (CP)—Jenever, Risengroed, Torrone E Mostarda, oil balls and herring will be passed around in Vancouver harbor New Year's Eve.

Ships of a dozen different nationalities are berthed here and the crews have made elaborate preparations to welcome in 1951.

Let's take the Dutch first, or, rather, double Dutch. The crew of the Stad Breda, making her maiden voyage to this hemisphere, will celebrate twice in the Dutch fashion.

First they mark "Owde Jaars Avond," old year's eve, Dec. 31, then New Year's Eve Jan. 1.

For these occasions they have a double drink, Jenever, a "ne gin and the Dutch national drink.

"We must each drink two glasses of Jenever before we start to eat," explained steward Cornelius Plu of Rotterdam. "Always two glasses. One is not correct."

Quite The Thing

This double treatment seems to be the thing in The Netherlands. At Christmas, the Dutch get two Santa Clauses, one who fi the wooden shoes Dec. 5 and another who places presents under the tree in Christmas fashion Dec. 25. The first gentleman is Sint Niklaas, the second the Christmas Man.

To top things off New Year's, the crew of the Stad Breda will eat oil balls, a cake fried in deep fat.

The crew of the Danish freighter Tranquebar will feast on roast goose stuffed with prunes and whole apples. The meal is preceded by Risengroed, a rice milk pudding with a well of melted butter in the centre.

Italians on the freighter Leme will enjoy Torrone E Mostarda, a candied pastry.

On some of the British ships, Scots will observe hogmanay first footing. When entering a mate's cabin, the Scot should at least be carrying a herring. There should be plenty of herring available here.

Oh, yes, the Canadian crews. Rum, please.

A MESSAGE TO OUR MANY FRIENDS & CUSTOMERS

It is with sincere appreciation that we again address you, our customer. In just over two years we have watched our business grow from a small beginning until it now is the largest outlet of automotive and farm equipment units in the county. We are deeply appreciative of the confidence you have placed in our organization and in the product which we sell to make this record possible. In order to keep pace with the growing demand for our products, our service facilities have been further expanded, new and modern equipment has been added to our shop, and our "factory-trained" mechanics are ready to accord to you the best possible service. Our parts and accessory department has also been expanded to handle the increased volume of genuine parts that you have been good enough to place with us. The Sales Department has been specialized and trained in modern merchandising methods and is fully competent to advise on any of your automotive or farm equipment problems. It has been an honour and a privilege to serve you and all of our employees join with us in saying "Thank you" and in extending the most sincere good wishes to you on this happy holiday occasion.

Very cordially yours,

WOMEN'S EVENTS OF YEAR

Women of City Contribute To Centennial Celebration; Civic Study Group Aid To Better Understanding

Effect of the Centennial Year 1950 on Peterborough women was to intensify their interest in the social and domestic lives of their grandmothers. With this came a deeper appreciation of the relics of earlier days which are now in their possession and many were proudly brought to view at teas and events and loaned for an exhibition at the Public Library to make up a tangible history of the city.

With two plays written especially to mark the 100th birthday they saw enacted the daily lives of first settlers and the highlights of the early period. One called "Centennial Pageant" was an enterprise by the student body of the Normal School and with its presentation in mid-February was the first showing of treasures of the century from city homes. The students' research in dusty newspaper files enabled them to produce a facsimile of the George St. business section in 1850 and they procured the furniture to set up a typical pioneer home.

"At My Heart's Core," written by Robertson Davies and presented by the Peterborough Summer Theatre, was based on the life of district settlers and in book form it is bringing this industrial centre's beginning into much wider knowledge.

Interest in Civic Affairs

Women's interest in civic affairs has very greatly increased this year with the organization last March of a "Study Group on Civic Affairs." This step made by wives, mothers, teachers and publicly active women is not only producing a better standard of citizenship all around but is having a decided effect on the conduct and actions of the City Council and the Board of Education.

Most outstanding civic events of the year were the opening of a new 500-bed wing at St. Joseph's Hospital, opening of the new Civic Hospital and nurses' residence and laying of the corner stone for a new City Hall.

Prime Minister of Canada, the Hon. Louis St. Laurent performed the official opening ceremony for the new hospital. He was accompanied by Madame St. Laurent in whose honor a tea was given at the home of Mrs. Hugh Waddell. The Hon. Leslie Frost, Premier of Ontario, officiated at the other ceremonies and was also present for the hospital opening, accompanied on each occasion by Mrs. Frost whose graciousness has endeared her in local circles. She was guest of honor at teas given on each of her visits.

Chapel is Singular

Wearers of the Silver Cross, the wives and mothers of men who died in overseas service, funished and had dedicated a chapel in the new Civic Hospital which is singular in such institutions in Canada. They were handsomely supported by the women of the city when a tea was held to finance this project.

Citizens rallied to the aid of their provincial neighbors last spring with generous donations of money and clothing to the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund and some had evacuees from the flooded area as guests in their homes.

Revival Ideas

There was a tendency throughout the year to a revival of abandoned forms of entertainment with military euchres, a military ball in the Armouries, and "fun nights" in the schools. Preference for the classics in art, literature and music was shown and a few outstanding movies brought to a local theatre drew capacity crowds. Monthly Sunday afternoon musicales by the Salvation Army Band and choristers were attended by up to 850 citizens.

Some of the social highlights of each month are listed below so that happy incidents may be recalled as Peterborough begins a new century and a new year.

THE EXPERTS SAY

Alexander's Daughter Makes Debut at Classic Soiree

By KAY REX

OTTAWA, Dec. 30 — (CP) — An insurance-office clerk in the workaday world, Hon. Rose Alexander emerged proudly Friday night as queen of the Governor-General's young people's ball.

As first daughter of the land, the 18-year-old miss was formally "presented" to her father, Viscount Alexander, along with a number of other Ottawa girls and a sprinkling of out-of-towners.

The only daughter of the Governor-General and Lady Alexander, she set a precedent in the capital by being the first daughter of a governor-general to have her coming-of-age party during her father's term of office.

The dance was a fine success, and the occasion gave some 35 Ottawa debutantes the first opportunity which has ever occurred for debs to be presented to the King's representative at a government house function.

Has Gardenia Corsage

Wearing a gardenia corsage on one shoulder of her white net-and-silver lace gown, Rose appeared in the ballroom at Rideau the party was due to begin.

Photographers' bulbs flashed as she and the other debutantes posed for pictures and received last-minute instructions about their presentation to the Governor-General.

A diamond tiara in her hair, the Viscountess Alexander wore a full-skirted gown of off-white satin with bottle-green bodice. The skirt was embroidered with green ivy leaves and tiny roses.

Multi-colored lights blazed from the Christmas-tree which stood ceiling-high at the head of the oblong - shaped ballroom. Salmon-pink Azaleas and poinsettas filled the anterooms.

It was a fairy-tale ball—such as most teen-agers dream of one day attending.

The brilliant dresses of the women guests lent color to a scene still further enhanced by the scarlet uniforms of the Mounties on duty.

But the frothy white and gossamer-like creations worn by the debs drew first attention.

Billowy skirts and bare shoulders occasionally covered with sheer net or lace led the favored fashion.

Gay Crowd at Firemen's Ball Annual Holiday Week Event

This year's firemen's ball was, as usual, a grand success. The gay crowd enjoying the dance Friday evening at the Club Aragon was in holiday mood and with fancy hats and noisemakers given as favors, presented a preview of the coming new year welcoming.

Valuable prizes had been presented to the firemen for their lucky guests. The door prizes were drawn for by Mr. Gordon K. Fraser, M.P., and won by Miss Catherine Crocker and Mr. Bob Clifton. Chairman of the dance committee, George Gimblett, Jr. handed out the gifts.

Spot dance winners were Miss Mary Mann and James Jacobs, Mr. and Mrs. C. Reid of Picton, Mrs. H. Griffin and Frank Heath, Miss Bernice Ayotte and E. Mattucci.

In the receiving line to extend welcome to the ball were Mr. Clarence Bennett, president of the Fire Fighters' Association, and Mrs. Bennett, Mayor and Mrs. M. J. Swanston, Mr. and Mrs. Ian McRae, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon K. Fraser, the Hon. H. R. Scott, MPP and Mrs. Scott.

Second Marriage Can Make For More Successful Match

A correspondent asks: "Are second marriages as a rule happier than first?" It is impossible to answer that question definitely because there is no way to tell which marriages are happy and which are mere endurance tests. There are no statistics on the subject to guide us unless they be found in the fact that more first marriages end in divorce than do second marriages. But, to the casual observer, when widows and widowers remarry they seem to get along more peacefully and harmoniously with their second mates than they did with their first.

Dorothy Dix

Of course according to all sentimental tradition, a first marriage should be the closest approach to heaven that anyone ever makes on earth. It is wreathed in all the glamour of romance, and starry eyed with all the dreams and hopes and illusions of youth and lit by the fire of passion when the bloods runs hot, and it would seem that such a marriage must have a thousandfold more chances of happiness than that of the couple who come to the altar as repeaters and can bring nothing to the wedding feast but warmed-over romance and rehashed affection.

But, in reality, the very things that seem the disabilities of the second marriage are its chief assets. For they are experience and knowledge and they count for as much in marriage as they do elsewhere in life, and many a man and woman make a success of their second marriage just because they made such a mess of their first ones. Through suffering and self-reproach they have realized the mistakes they made in their first marriages. Many a pampered second wife and many a spoiled second husband are unknowingly collecting conscience money for the way their mates treated their first wives and husbands.

No Illusions To Shatter

There are, of course, many explanations to be offered for why second marriages are generally happier than first. One is that those who have been married do not expect so much of marriage as those who have never tried it. They know that marriage is full of bills and ills and temper and unreason and little ways that get on a man's nerves, and still for all that it is worth all it costs.

And so the man and woman who marry a second time take marriage "as is" and make the best of it, and thus they escape the awful disillusion and letdown that comes to the young husband and wife when they discover that marriage is a working partnership instead of a dream walking, and that they have married mere, ordinary, faulty human beings instead of a cinema hero and heroine.

Those who have been married before have the inestimable advantage of entering marriage a second time as professionals instead of amateurs and hence they have a double chance of winning out in it. The man knows from previous experience that no woman has the ability to conjure groceries, rent, coal, gas and clothes out of the air, so he is not shocked and horrified, as the inexperienced bridegroom is, over the household bills. One of the reasons that widowers are in such demand as husbands is that they are proverbially good providers and generous in the matter of allowances.

And on the woman's part she knows also from experience that a wife's most potent spell is woven in the kitchen with the pots and pans. Furthermore, she has learned how to cook and run a budget on her first husband's stomach and pocketbook. And given this combination of the man who brings home the bacon and the woman who fries it to his taste, you have the real basis of domestic felicity.

Know Art Of Adjustment

Then the man and woman who marry for the second time are bound to have acquired some inkling of the fine art of how to adjust themselves to each other. Marriage is a great enlightener and each can say with Mr. Kipling's hero "and I learned about women from her"—or men from him—thinking of their previous spouses. No second husband tries to drive his wife into doing his way. He lollies her into doing it. He doesn't criticize her new dress because he knows from experience that she will go downtown and buy another one if he does. He doesn't tell her that the pie isn't fit to eat. He merely remarks that it isn't up to her usual standard. And she breaks her neck to live up to his praise of her cooking.

No second wife is as monopolistic as a first wife. She knows that the way to keep her husband at home is to leave the latch on the latch. Nor does she take it to reform her husband. She lets him over. She laughs in No. 2 that she rages over in No. 1, and all harmony between the

And last but not second marriages are more than first because so. In and wife try to make their first marriage for a miracle to second their behalf, but of marriages they husband marriage is a success and wife must

Something to remember

This is one of a series of words and expressions whose origins and meanings are published in the interest of a better understanding, use and knowledge of the English language.

"HARMONY"

Today we understand "harmony" to indicate a combination of musical sounds so fitted together as to be comfortably pleasing. In a strict technical sense, "harmony" is the science of combining sounds of different pitch.

The word is Greek in origin. The strange part is that originally "harmony" was not a musical term, but one used in carpentry, from the Greek harmozein, meaning to fit together. Tracing this word through the realms of philosophy and mythology, we arrive at the point where it found its way into the dictionary of musical terms. It is at this address that "harmony" lives today.

Portrait Artist Does Miniature Of 2-year-old Prince Charles

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

LONDON —(CP)— First portrait painting of Prince Charles two-year-old son of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, has just been completed.

A 3½ inch miniature framed in an oval, gold-edged case, it matches similar miniatures of the Prince's parents, done by the same artist—Australian-born Mrs. Stella Marks.

The Prince, says Mrs. Marks, is a painter's dream with his thick gold hair, deep blue eyes and very long lashes.

He is also an excellent sitter, she added. Intensely interested in everything, his attention is easily engaged and held. The portrait was completed in eight sittings—a good record for a child.

Gains Confidence

When she first saw him, to gain his confidence, Mrs. Marks showed Prince Charles her sketch book, turning the pages to rough sketches of his mother and father.

"Poppa, momma," said the young Prince, without hesitation, and on her next visit, Mrs. Marks was greeted by the request: "Can I see poppa and momma?"

Although the Prince generally turns a serious face to the public camera, Mrs. Marks found him a happy child who smiles readily. One of the easiest ways of making him smile, she says, is by asking him to smile like his baby sister, Princess Anne.

Loves Baby Sister

Prince Charles finds the baby Princess a great source of interest. Told he must help to look after her, he runs into the night nursery daily to ensure that she's still in her cot.

The strong family feeling built up by the King and Queen in their own family, is being handed on by Princess Elizabeth to the first of their grandchildren.

This is seen in Prince Charles' love for his "granny." When accompanying his mother and Princess Anne to Scotland this fall, a promise that "he was going to see granny," helped to keep the young Prince quiet on the overnight journey.

On arrival at Ballater, the end of the line, however, Prince Charles completely forgot his manners. He made a bee-line for the waiting Royal car, ignoring the local provost and his officials.

"Haven't you anything to say to me," asked the provost.

"No," said Prince Charles. "I want to see my granny."

Health Officials Scoff at Claims For Raw Molasses

OTTAWA — (CP) — Crude molasses has been given a set back. In fact health department officials are holding their noses and suggesting the "dear" public get wise to itself—there's no magic in blackstrap.

In fact there are no more mystical properties in this gooey stuff that in foods such as liver, pork and cracked wheat.

The torpid treacle which mom has been taking mornings for her arthritis has about the same nutritional qualities as peanut butter and eggs.

Mind you that's nothing against the molasses. Peanut butter and eggs are just easier to take—that's all.

As Dr. L. B. Pett, head of the health department's nutrition division puts it: "So far as we know the nutritional value (of blackstrap) lies principally in the amount of minerals such as iron, that are good for anaemia, and the amount of B vitamins.

"The darker forms of molasses . . . must be considered along with other common food sources of iron and B vitamins such as liver, kidney, dried beans, pork, rolled oats . . . eggs, peanut butter —as well as special foods such as dried yeast."

The molasses boom began six or seven months ago when someone—no one seems to be quite sure who—heard that crude molasses cured everything from tuberculosis to flat feet.

The good word was passed along to a neighbor and in no time at all molasses had become the early-morning pick-me-up in homes from Vancouver to Toronto, Montreal and Ottawa. (One teaspoon in half a glass of warm water.) The feed stores and drug stores were doing a roaring business.

Yes, feed stores. Because blackstrap is the same stuff farmers buy to mix in feed mash for their livestock.

A Montreal dietitian warns that it has "so many impurities that it is not registered under the Food Act as a food at all."

Dr. Pett feels the Canadian public should be "more discriminating" in what it eats and warns against "possible unsanitary handling" of blackstrap.

"You don't know its history unless you get it in a container that has been handled by food processors," he says.

"The people like to believe in in magic." That's why Dr. Pett thinks blackstrap suddenly has acquired such a following.

For years the health department has recommended dark cooking molasses (which incidentally is properly inspected) as a good source of iron and B vitamins.

But blackstrap—"we have no evidence at the moment that this extremely strong-tasting and smelling stuff is any better," says Dr. Pett.

Readers' Saturday Column Conducted by Mary Moore

QUESTION: Will you please send me Garny's recipe for those delicious hot biscuits you enjoyed the other week.

I put it in a "safe" place—you know what happened. So—thank you so much. (Mrs.) E. A.

Biscuits Supreme (or Anna's Biscuits)

Two cups all-purpose flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon cream of tartar, ½ teaspoon salt, 2-3 cup milk, ½ cup shortening (this may be butter, or margarine, or good quality shortening), 2 teaspoons sugar.

Cut the shortening into the sifted dry ingredients until it appears crumbly. Add milk all at once and just stir until it mixes barely. Pat out and roll to ½-inch thickness on very lightly floured board. Bake on ungreased cookie sheet at 450 deg. Fahr. for about 10 minutes.

QUESTION: Please repeat the recipe for French Dressing when you have space. Iris.

ANSWER:

French Dressing

In a bowl combine ⅓ cup cider vinegar or lemon juice, 1 tablespoon paprika, 1½ teaspoons salt, dash red pepper, slice of garlic, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 egg. Beat very well, then slowly add 1 cup cold oil and beat. Store in covered bottle and shake very well just before using.

QUESTION: I read in your column that "Lil" requested recipe for Vina Torte. The right name is Vinarterta and it is an Icelandic cake. My parents are Icelandic so it's a great favorite in our house and with whoever has tasted it.

So here it is:

Vinaterta (contributed by Lea A.)

One cup butter, 1½ cups granulated sugar, 2 large eggs, 2 tablespoons cream, 4 cups flour, 1 teaspoon ground cardamon.

Cream butter, add sugar gradually, and eggs one at a time. Sift dry ingredients and work into first mixture. Add flavoring. Knead in all the flour and divide dough into 5 equal parts. Pat each part into 9 inch round cake tin and bake till golden brown in 375 deg. Fahr. oven. Remove from tin while hot as it becomes quite hard. Cool and put together with

Prune Filling: 1 lb. prunes, boiled, stoned and put through food chopper, ½ cup water that prunes were boiled in and 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup sugar (this is optional, I find prunes are sweet enough). Some add 1 teaspoon cinnamon or a little cardamon to prunes. "Good Luck."

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: This does have an authoritative ring. Thanks so much Lea. Do let us know when we can help with Canadian cooking.

This is my last line to you in 1950. I earnestly hope that I have helped you with your cooking. Cooking is the most important job a housewife has. Mothers have to train children to have good characters. Most of us have to combine both. If I have given you a lift that has helped to make 1950 a successful year.

Happy New Year to You!

6—In Memoriams

CRAWFORD—In loving memory of a dear brother and son who passed away January 1st, 1947.
Four years have passed since that sad day,
When our dear Jack was called away.
We miss him just as much as in the hour he passed away.
—Sadly missed and remembered by mother, dad, Harold, Roy, Orland, Don and sister June.

FALLIS—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, William Herbert Fallis, who passed away two years ago today, December 31, 1948.
Asleep in God's beautiful garden,
Sheltered from sorrow and pain,
Safe in God's wonderful keeping,
Until we shall meet him again.
—Lovingly remembered by his wife Isabel, son and daughters and grandchildren.

SMITH—In loving memory of George H. Smith, who passed away one year ago January 1st, 1950.
Loving and kind in all his ways,
Upright and just to the end of his days,
Sincere and kind in heart and mind,
What a beautiful memory he left behind.
—Ever lovingly remembered by wife Helen and daughter Marjorie, Dorothy, Linda, Sharon and son Grant.

WILSON—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Margaret K. Wilson, who passed away December 31, 1949.
Peacefully sleeping, resting at last,
Her weary trials and troubles are past,
In silence she suffered, in patience she bore,
'Til God called her home to suffer no more.
—Lovingly remembered by husband and daughter Audrey.

Use Propaganda Attack Soldiers

By JIM BECKER

TOKYO, Dec. 30 — (AP) — Chinese and Korean Communist soldiers in Korea are being showered with new counter-propaganda leaflets urging them to quit the war, Gen. MacArthur's headquarters disclosed today.

The leaflets are being dropped by United Nations planes on Red troop positions. The heaviest emphasis is on front-line forces.

One leaflet in Chinese tells Chinese troops their government has completed a "secret treaty" with the Soviet Union to reduce China's population by 100,000,000 people. Illustraated by a graphic picture of four Chinese soldiers with a red cross marked on one of them, the propaganda missive adds:

"Already the Communists are putting this evil scheme into operation. Last spring they let thousands of Chinese die in floods and famine and refused American offers of rice and wheat to relieve the suffering.

Picture Sacrifice

"Now, they have sent you to Korea so that you can be killed ina foreign war. Is this all part of their secret plot to eliminate one out of every four Chinese?

"Do you want to be sacrificed for the Communists?"

Other leaflets are aimed at Korean Red soldiers. One with a photograph of smiling, obviously healthy North Korean prisoners of war in a United Nations camp, urges the Reds to surrender. It adds that Chinese Communists "are making you risk your life needlessly so that they can continue to exploit Korea for their own benefit."

Last week the Chinese Reds air-dropped propaganda leaflets on South Korean lines south of the 38th Parallel, advising them to surrender because they were outnumbered four to one. The leaflets said a big Communist offensive would start on Christmas Day. The offensive, however, ailed to develop on that day.

Cover 3,000,000 Miles

LONDON, Dec. 29 (Reuters)—Ships of the Royal Navy steamed over 3,000,000 miles in 1950, or about 120 times around the world, an Admiralty survey issued tonight said.

HOUSE No. 99 — Clapboards, stucco are carefully combined here to produce a home with an air of refinement. Every line indicates the hand of a connoisseur. It presents a dramatic picture bathed in sunlight on its high sloping site rising from the roadway. Using the floor plan as suggested here, the house contains five rooms, plus a first floor utility room and a big screen porch. The latter is just visible at the extreme right of the photograph. Both bedrooms are ideally situated both in relation to the bathroom and to the living area of the house. Since there is sufficient room in the utility room for the furnace and laundry facilities, the basement could be eliminated. With full basement the house contains approximately 28,500 cubic feet. For information regarding plans, write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

Stocks Register

which would go up in value in case inflation continued, and so increase the amount of their money and make up to some extent at least for any loss in its buying power.

Perhaps most impressive were the rebounds from the mid-and-late-year setbacks caused by bad news from Korea.

A Strong Start

The market started the year from the highest levels of 1949, and a feeling that it was due for an adjustment from recent advances was followed by a mid-January drop. February also was uncertain.

Corporation news continued good, however, and in general there was evidence that people were willing to keep on buying goods. In line with this the market launched on an advance in March which continued through April and May, with May seeing the largest volumes of trading in the history of the exchange. Only golds lagged.

June continued the advance until the outbreak of Korean fighting brought the steepest decline since 1929. In the period between June 23 and July 13 industrials declined 31.07 points, base metals 14.99, Western oils 23.25, and golds 26.90.

Recovers Ground

By mid-August the general market had more than recovered the lost ground, and an upward course was followed, with minor dips here and there, until Nov. 28. Then, the entrance of Chinese forces into the Korean fighting brought something of a repeat of the June break, but on a smaller scale.

This time the market bounded back fast, though in generally quiet trading, and was in a strong position at year-end.

Volume for the year was more than 500,000,000 shares, compared with 249,000,000 in 1949, while value of the trading was around $885,000,000, compared with last year's $453,000,000.

routes of Canada and the United States in the early part of the century; Fred (Cyclone) Taylor of Vancouver, one of the all-time hockey speed merchants, and Joe Wright, Sr., of Toronto, previously voted the greatest oarsman since 1900.

Lionel Conacher was born May 24, 1900, and from his earliest competitive days could truly be termed great.

Good in All Sports

This peerless athlete's prowess was demonstrated in any sports he tackled. His first year of senior football he led Toronto Argonauts to a 23-0 victory over Edmonton Eskimos in 1921, the start of the East-West Grey Cup final series. He starred with Montreal Maroons of the International Professional Lacrosse League. He played triple-A baseball for Toronto Maple Leafs in the International League in 1926, the season they won the Little World Series.

He was Canadian light-heavyweight boxing champion and once boxed four exhibition rounds with heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey. He ran 100 yards in 10.4 seconds—in baseball uniform. He played on two Stanley Cup-winning hockey teams—Chicago Black Hawks in 1933-34 and Montreal Maroons in 1934-35—although he didn't begin skating until he was 16 years old.

Six years after his first uncertain steps on a school-yard rink near his home he was offered a professional contract with Montreal Canadiens of the NHL.

He was chosen on the CP all-star NHL alternate team in 1933 when he was with Montreal Maroons, graduated to the first team with the Hawks a year later and losed out his athletic career as defenceman with the Maroons in 1937, again being picked on the alternate all-star squad.

He appeared briefly, and starred, with a professional football team in Toronto in 1933.

Urges Canadians Support Fight On Inflation

WINNIPEG, Dec. 30—(CP)—The 5,000,000 Canadians who own life insurance have a particular reason for urging the government to fight inflation courageously and effectively, Gordon C. Cumming, president of the Canadian Life Insurance Officers' Association, said today in a year-end statement.

They are, he stated, probably the largest single group among millions of thrifty Canadians "who have accumulated savings and who are inevitably the first victims of price inflation.

"I urge each of them to tell their representative in parliament of their steadfast support of any government actions calculated to protect the purchasing power of the Canadian dollar. It would be a national tragedy to win the battle against Communism and lose the war against inflation."

He said the principle steps necessary to check inflation "are well known: increased government taxation, reduced government expenditures for other than defence purposes, a balanced budget, tightened monetary and credit controls, allocation of materials in short supply, increased productivity, and reduction in non-essential consumer expenditures"

Up To Ottawa

Most of these are in the realm of the federal government, Mr. Cummings said, and added:

"The fact that life insurance companies take in dollars and pay out dollars and that, therefore, their solvency is not affected by price inflation, affords little satisfaction to company managements which see the purchasing power of the dollars paid out by them in benefits increasing just about as fast as the volume of life insurance is increasing.

"That fact also affords very little satisfaction to policy-holders who can see the proceeds of their policies buying less than they expected. Measured in terms of purchasing power, Canadians enjoy less life insurance protection per capita today than they did five years ago, notwithstanding the increased volume of business transacted by the companies."

Mr. Cumming said that in the last year Canadians have added some $1,750,000,000 of new protection, and total life insurance in force in Canada in the 60-odd Canadian, British and United States companies operating here, will reach an estimated $15,750,000,000 at year-end.

Reporter Makes Resolutions For Film Stars

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 30 (AP)—Making New Year's resolutions can be fun, especially if you make them for someone else.

I have taken the liberty of penning some proposed resolves for various figures in the entertainment world. Here they are:

Elizabeth Taylor — To ponder a long time before choosing her next guy.

Samuel Goldwyn — To stop writing so many magazine articles and start making some pictures.

Bob Hope — To keep up his good work for men and women in the service, but take a vacation now and then.

Bing Crosby — To give one good interview.

Gloria Swanson — To find another good picture.

Clark Gable — To read his scripts more carefully before accepting them.

Errol Flynn — To try to stay out of the newspapers for at least one week.

Joan Fontaine and Olivia De-Havilland — To kiss and make up.

Deanna Durbin — To come home and make a movie.

Orson Welles — To quit wasting his talents and do something worthwhile.

Jennifer Jones — To drop the Garbo act.

Judy Garland — To do her recuperating outside night clubs.

Humphrey Bogart and Lauren Bacall — To find another film as good as "To Have and Have Not."

Gary Cooper — To let people know he can say something besides "yep" and "nope."

Get Peek Inside

LONDON, Dec. 29 (Reuters)—British television audiences will get their first look inside 10 Downing Street, home of the prime minister, next Thursday. The BBC will televise the start of the Conference of Commonwealth Prime Ministers.

CAYUGA WINS ESTHER—A plaque with a photo of movie actress Esther Williams has become a competition trophy among wardrooms of United Nations ships in the Far East. The idea is for crew-members of one ship to lift it from another, either by force—firearms and knives excluded—or by "low cunning." H.M.C.S. Sioux held the plaque briefly and Lieut. J. B. (Pop) Fotheringham, Toronto, of the Sioux examines a "battle copy" that goes to each ship that has held the plaque. The Sioux swiped Esther from the Australian destroyer Bataan, but lost her to HMCS Cayuga in a midnight raid.

Early Frost Hits Grain Exports Cut Sharply

By ALAN VICKERY

WINNIPEG, Dec. 30—(CP)—Heavy August frosts cut western Canada's 1950 wheat crop sharply from an estimated 544,000,000 bushels to 427,000,000 bushels.

The output still was 90,000,000 bushels more than in 1949, but only 12,000,000 bushels qualified as top grade.

The frost, a late harvest, scarcity of railway box cars and lake ships combined to cut export business—wheat available for export being nearly 8,000,000 bushels less than in 1949.

Saskatchewan was hardest hit by the unseasonable frost—first severe early frost since 1928.

The large scale of frozen grain in the year's harvest—and the subsequent low grades received by farmers for their harvest — brought demands from farmer organizations for a change in the grading system.

Urge Caution

But the Board of Grain Commissioners and other expert bodies urged caution in disturbing a grading system which over the years has won world confidence in the quality of Canadian wheat.

A preliminary estimate of field crops by the Bureau of Statistics valued the wheat crop at $435,490,000 as compared with $512,870,000 in 1949. Barley was valued at $116,350,000 as against $142,880,000 last year. Oats, rye and flaxseed all were higher this year.

The over-all total value of the five crops, however, was lower—$708,550,000 this year compared with $812,674,000 in 1949.

The Board of Grain Commissioners, which graded only 12,000,000 bushels of wheat as No. 1 Northern, said 57,000,000 bushels would grade No. 2 Northern; 77,000,000 as No. 3 Northern; 62,000,000 as No. 4 Northern; 196,000,000 at lower grades. The first three are the choice milling grades.

The harvest of Durum, or soft wheat used for macaroni and similar products, totalled 19,000,000 bushels.

Another development of the 1950 grain season was the announcement in April by Trade Minister Howe of a $1.40 initial price for wheat for the 1950-51 crop.

Many agricultural leaders in the west termed the price "disappointing," but described as "fair" the initial price of 65 cents a bushel for oats and 93 cents a bushel for barley.

They said they thought the initial payment for wheat should at least reach the $1.54 minimum price under the international wheat agreement.

Meanwhile trading continued on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange as it had done since the wheat board took over the marketing of oats and barley on Aug. 1, 1949.

Following are the high and low points reached in the four top grades of futures commodities on the exchange during 1950 (all prices cash basis the lakehead):

Oats—No. 2 Canada West: high $1.24⅞ (June 7); low 78¼ (Jan. 19).

Barley—No. 2 C.W. 6-row: high $1.86⅜ (July 4); low $1.24⅝ (Jan. 21).

Rye—No. 2 C.W.: high $1.71 (Dec. 18); low $1.35⅝ (Feb. 7).

Flax—No. 1 C.W.: high $4.13⅞ (Dec. 18); low $3.52 (Jan. 21).

Harwood News

Mr. and Mrs. Switzer, Paul and John, of Oshawa, spent the Christmas week end with Mrs. Switzer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Baker, and her uncle, Mr. Leonard Baker.

Mr. Alfred Crick returned from Cobourg hospital on Wednesday, and is much improved in health.

The annual meeting of Harwood public school was held in the school house Wednesday evening. The trustees for 1951 are: Major R. E. Drope, Russel S. Johnson, and Glenn E. Hogg.

Donald Sandercock of Camborne visited relatives here this week.

Those from Harwood to the Shearer-Wright wedding on Tuesday in Norwood were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shearer, Neil and Morris; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Shearer; Mr. and Mrs. Glenn E. Hogg; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hogg; Mr. and Mrs. Hilton Graham; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burrison; Mr. and Mrs. Osler Burrison.

Mrs. Russel S. Johnson was in Warsaw recently visiting her parents.

Aid For Yugoslavia

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29—(AP)—President Truman today signed legislation providing an additional $38,000,000 in food aid for drought-stricken Yugoslavia. The fund raises to approximately $69,000,000 the amount of assistance to the Balkan country, which is Communist ruled but is at odds with Russia.

No Heavy Holiday Rush Expected On Bus Or Train

Although not expected to reach Christmas weekend's peak, New Year's travellers began to arrive Friday by bus and railroads. The Colonial Bus lines reported that an increase was felt Friday morning and the railways Friday night.

The Colonial lines had extra drivers and buses standing by Friday. Everyone available was called in to assist over the weekend.

No extra trains have been added on either the CPR or the CNR lines. The CNR said that they will have extra coaches to the limit of the engine's drawing power.

Edward Ryan, city passenger and ticket agent, said that New Year's travel is seldom as heavy as at Christmas. Christmas weekend is more the season's holiday in Ontario while in Quebec New Year's is the holiday. The travel there is equal to and perhaps heavier than at Christmas.

The CPR ticket office said late Friday that the sale of tickets was good, indicating a fair number of people travelling.

All trains, the spokesman said, will have their full limit of coaches. The office had not received any indication of extra sections as were added over Christmas holidays.
